DRESSING FOR CHURCH.

Has anybody heard the bell?
You have? dear me, I know full well
I'll never dress in time
For mercy's sake come help me, Jane;
I'll make my toilet quite plain,
(This is for the sake of rhyme.)

Here, lace this gaiter for me—do;
A hole, you say? plague take the shoe,
Please Jane try to hide it.
I know it's Sunday—but my soul,
I cannot wear it with a hole,
The men will spy it.

They're always peeping at our feet,
(That, to be sure they needn't peep
The way we hold our dresses.)
I'll disappoint them, though, to day.
"And cross myself" pray did you say?
Don't laugh at my distresses.

How beautifully this silk will rustle?
("Please hand my self adjusting bustle,
My corset and my hoop.")
There, now I'll take five skirts or six;
Do hurry, Jane, and help me fix—
You know I cannot stoop?

"How shall I say my prayers to-day?"
As if girls went to church to pray!
How can you be so foolish?
Here, damp this ribbon in cologne,
"What for?" to paint, you silly one—
Now, Janey, don't be mulish!

It's no more harm than "lily white."
(Please see if this cheek's painted right,
And hand my box of chalk.)
Now damp this towel, Janey dear,
And wipe this eyebrow—much I fear,
I shall be late to walk.

Now my bonnet if you please—
That's as big as all out doors,
The awful sugar scoop!
Then my mantle's handsome, though,
It cost enough to be I know,
(Straighten this horrid hoop.)

My handkerchief and gloves you'll find
Just in that draw—you're very kind.
(Does my dress trail?)
It's all the fashion now, you know,
(Pray does the paint and powder show
'Thro' this laced veil?')

Thank you, my dear! I believe I'm dressed
The saints be praised! The day of rest
Comes only once in seven;
For in all the other six
This trouble I should have to fix,
I'd never get to heaven

HOWARD STREET.

A Capital Story of Human Nature.

The long walk down town from Madison street, where Mrs. Jefferson lived, could be very much shortened by passing through a dirty alley, designated "Howard street." Mrs. Jefferson seldom availed herself of the advantage this cross-way afforded, but, one day being in great haste, she said to herself: "I think I will venture to go through the dirty lane."

Accordingly she drew down her face to its greatest possible length, and, with a frown upon her brow, set her pretty gaitered foot on the walk. Passing along, bewailing the necessity which subjected her to the annoyance of such miserable spectacles and offensive odors she approached a group of boys amusing themselves with pop-guns. Half a dozen voices shouted 'Pop goes the Weasel,' and the potatoes from the guns af the accurate marksmen came in contact with Mrs. Jefferson's nose. Darker grew the frown on her brow, and darker still as she received the unmistakable evidence that the next aim was taken at her back. An expression of disgust mingled with Mrs. Jefferson's frown as she discovered a dirty little child smiling at her through a cobweb curtained window. The baby's sister saw the look on her face and treated her to a splash from a mud puddle by the door.

"You nasty thing!' said Mrs. Jefferson but was interrupted by another splash from the puddle

Some boys were making miniature locomotives of mud on the walk. They did not notice the lady's approach until her fretful voice inquired:

"Can I pass?"

"Yes, jest as quick as we get this injine done," said one.

"Let her go by, Bill. Only don't tip the cars over with your hoops," said another.

The boys considered this a very witty remark, and they sent forth long and boisterous shouts, which were anything but musical.

Howard street was full of dirty, ragged, saucy children; and it needed only a passing glance to see that they lived in places too filthy to be honored with the name of home.

Mrs. Jefferson was glad enough when she reached the broad and decent thoroughfare, she tried to put on a cheerful, pleasant face, but she could not help seeing the mud splashes on her dress; she feared the potatoe from the pop-guns had left its mark on her face, and her gaiter boots had not been at all improved by coming in contact with the dirt. The faces of those "horrid children" seemed to haunt her, too.

She went home the farthest way round, resolving, whatever her haste might be never again to try to save time by passing through Howard street. Just behind her tripped along her little neighbor, Mrs. Baldwin.

"Rather uninviting," said she to herself, as her happy face looked down the dingy alley, "but I'll try and see how many smiles I can get from the dirty little folks.

With grateful feelings in her heart that God had drawn her lines in pleasant places, she reached the pop-gun marksmen who had just taken such successful aim at Mrs. Jefferson

"Now for my smiles," thought Mrs. Baldwin, as she greeted the boys with such a frank, genial look that won pleasant answering smiles from all but one.—He was so busy getting his pop-gun into running order, that he did not see her face until the other boys exclaimed:

"Hold on, Tom! Don't shoot that lady?

Tom looked up with an expression which said, "I will if I have a mind to." But the lady gave him such a merry smile that he drew back a little, and Mrs. Baldwin heard him say:

"Well, I'd rather not shoot her, I reckon!'

The dirty baby was still peeping through the cobwebs. He caught a glimpse of her sunshiny face, and instantly commenced such a crowing and capering, that the lady had to stop and look at her and say aloud:

"What a dear baby you are."

Baby's sister saw the admiring look and heard the praise bestowed, and hurried to the door, broom in hand, but not this time to improvise a shower from the mud puddle; but said:

"The walk is so dirty for your nice dress, that I want to sweepit off for you."

The little engine makers were engrossed with their tops, and hesitated about leaving their work long enough to let the lady pass; but she said pleasantly:

"These are very nice locomotives, boys, I'll try and not come in collision with them."

The boys made way for her right quickly and from the lips of more than one of them came a 'beg pardon madam.'

Every little child was ready to give back smile for smile, and it was with a face perfectly radiant with happiness that she greeted her friends as she passed down Main street. Mrs. Baldwin told her husband all about her walk, and her adventure, and he, (silly fellow,) kissed her and said:

"Bless your heart, dear wife! You are a perfect sunbeam. Who, besides you, could find anything but wretchedness in Howard street?"

Mrs. Jefferson thought she would never go near the dirty alley again; but on talking with some ladies of a benevolent asssociation, of the degradation of its inhabitants she consented after considerable urging, to go as a missionary to the 'poor miserable creatures." She supplied herself with a bundle of tracts; and taking care to wear clothing which would not suffer the least injury from dirt, she sallied forth on her mission.

"Dear! dear me!" she said, as she entered a wretched domicil, "I sho'd think you would infect the whole city with fevers and cholera! Don't you know it is shamefully wicked for you to be so dirty? Are you a friend of the Savior?" she added, in a simple tone

"I don't want to be, if you are," was the reply.

"Here are some tracts I would like to have you read if you can.'

The woman snatched the tracts from her hand tore them to pieces, and threw them in her visitor's face

Shaking the dust from her feet Mrs. Jefferson passed from that dwelling to another making similar remarks, and meeting with a similar reception.

"Here comes that cross woman, who looks so ugly at baby's sisters and companion," and she slammed the door in Mrs. Jefferson's face.

"I should think you would be sick, and I should think your husband would drink, says Mrs. J. to a pale, feeble looking woman. I am not surprised at it all. You ought'nt to live in this miserable way."

Mrs Jefferson did her duty in distributing her tracts but she had the satisfaction of seeing the most of them follow her into the street and the rest were consigned to flames.

"Those creatures are hopelessly depraved," said Mrs. Jefferson. "There is no use trying to do anything for Howard street.'

Mrs Baldwin could not help feeling an interest in the children who responded so readily to her kind looks, and so without telling even Mr Baldwin what she proposed to do, she sat out to make some calls among them. She thought she would call first where the baby lived, for she felt quite sure of a kind reception.

'Twas a right joyful welcome they gave her, for the baby's sister exclaimed:

"O, here is the pleasant lady, who stopped to look at Patsey, the other day! O, she is coming right in here."

"It is too dirty a place for the like o'ye" said Patsey's mother.

"Never mind," said our sunshiny Mrs Baldwin. "I felt like dropping in, and I thought I would take the liberty."

"Bless ye for it! I am ashamed to have a rale lady to see my house. Things didn't use to go so wid me! No indade!' And the poor woman poured her life's history into the stranger's ear.

Tears filled the listener's loving eyes and she replied:

"I think I can understand your feelings, my good woman A poor, weary body must require rest after she has been over the wash-tub all day; but this smart little girl, who swept the walk so nicely the other day, could make a capital housekeeper. I am sure. Won't you try it, my little girl? Won't you place everything up clean, and keep nice and tidy?—Try! so when I call again I can see how nice you look here Wash your dear little baby-brother's face, and brush his hair, and have his clothing clean, and I shall love to tend and kiss him, for he is a beautiful baby I think."

"Mrs. Baldwin called upon every family in Howard street that afternoon.—None treated her rudely, and many opened their hearts to her, as the baby's mother had done. They promised to follow the kind advice she offered while her tears fell with theirs, and the kind look and encouraging words left sun-beams in the cheerless home after she had gone.

In two or three weeks Mrs. Baldwin called again. Baby's sister bounded to meet her, exclaiming with delight:

"The sweet lady has come at last! she's come at last."

The "sweet lady" could not believe it was the same place where she had called before. The cobwebs had been brushed down—the old broom, instead of doing service in the mud puddle, had swept and scrubbed the floor. Everything was in order. A few weeds and common flowers formed a boquet for the table, and the crowing, capering baby, was perfectly bewitching in his wholesome cleanliness.

"Well done, my brave little girl! I hope you will keep on."

"Keep on, indade, and I will keep on ma'am! Father says he won't stay away nights, as long as everything is so nice and pleasant here—and mother says she can rest a great deal better when she comes home and her face looks so happy, too. O, ain't it nice to be clean?"

Some had failed to carry out their plans of reform, but others had succeeded, and testified to the delights of a neat orderly home. The indolent and discouraged housekeepers were roused by the good example of their neighbors and one by one they followed suit, until at length the leaven had leavened the whole lump.

After two or three such friendly visits, Mrs. Baldwin took some tracts with her. They were not only kindly received, but different families met together to hear them read, not so much for the good they might get, as for the kind lady's sake.—The tracts produced good effects, however, and from time to time there were added to the various city churches from the inhabitants of Howard street, of such shall be saved.

It was two years ago that Mrs. Baldwin made her first call at the dirty alley; and now the walk which shortened the way down is lined with neat cottages, with flowers in the yards, and vines curtaining the windows—the homes of sober, contented working men and women.—Mrs. Jefferson wonders, with many others, what can have wrought such happy changes. Mrs. Baldwin has never blazoned her successful work abroad, but she thanks God that he has made her the humble instrument of beginning the good work in Howard street.—Moore's Rural New-Yorker.

From the Waverly Magazine.

Boy Lost

He had black eyes, with long lashes, red cheeks, and hair almost black and almost curly. He wore a crimson plaid jacket, with full trousers buttoned on. Had a habit of whistling and like to ask questions. Was accompanied by a small black dog. It is a long while now since he disappeared. I have a very pleasant house and much company. My guests say, "Ah! it is pleasant here! Everything has much of an orderly, put-away look—nothing about under foot, no dirt!'

But my eyes are aching for the sight of whittlings and cut papers upon the floor, of tumble-down card-houses; of wooden sheep and cattle; of pop-guns, bows and arrows, whips tops, go-carts blocks and trumpery. I want to see boats a-rigging, and kites a-making. I want to see crumbles on the carpet, and paste spilt on the kitchen table. I want to see the chairs and the tables turned the wrong way about; I want to see the candy-making, and corn-popping; and to find jack-knives and fish-hooks among my muslins; yet these things used to fret me once.

They say—'Ah! you have leisure—nothing to disturb you; what heaps of sewing you have time for.' But I long to be asked for a bit of string or an old newspaper; for a cent to buy a slate-pencil or pea-nuts. I want to be coaxed for a piece of new cloth for jibs or mainsails, and then to hem the same; I want to make little flags, and bags to hold marbles; I want to be followed by little feet all over the house; teased for a bit of dough for a little cake, or to bake a pie in a saucer. Yet these things used to fidget me once

They say—"Ah! you are not tied at home. How delightful always to be at liberyt to go to concerts, lectures, and parties; no confinement for you."

But I want confinement; I want to listen for the school bell mornings; to give the last hasty wash and brush, and then to watch, from the window, nimble feet bounding to school. I want frequent rents to mend, and to replace lost buttons; I want to obliterate mud stains, fruit stains, and paints of all colors; I want to be sitting by a little crib of evenings, when weary little feet are at rest, and prattling voices are hushed, that mothers may sing their lullabies, and tell over the oft repeated stories. They don't know their happiness then—those mothers. I didn't. All these things I called confinement once.

* * * * * *

A manly figure stands before me now He is taller than I, has thick black whiskers, and wears a frock coat, bosomed shirt and cravat. He has just come from college. He brings Latin and Greek in his countenance, and busts of the old philosophers for the sitting room. He calls me mother, but I am rather unwilling to own him.

He stoutly declares he is my boy, and says he will prove it He brings me a small pair of white trousers, with gay stripes at the side, and asks me if I didn't make them for him when he joined the boy's militia He says he is the very boy, too, that made the bonfire near the barn so that we came very near having a fire in earnest. He brings his little boat to show the red stripe on the sail (it was the end of the piece,) and the name on the stern—"Lucy Low"—a little girl of our neighborhood, who because of her curls and pretty round face, was the chosen favorite of my little boy. Her curls were long since cut off, and she has grown to be a tall handsome girl. How the red comes to his face when he shows me the name on the boat. Oh! I see it all as plain as if it were written in a book. My little one is lost, and my big one will soon be. Oh! if he was a little tired boy in a long white gown, lying in a little crib with me sitting by, holding his hand in mine, pushing his curls back from his forehead, watching his eye-lids droop, and listening to his deep breathing.

If I had only my little boy again, how patient I would be. How much I would bear, and how little I would fret and scold! I can never have him back again; but there are still many mothers who havn't yet lost their little boy. I wonder if they know they are living their best days; that now is their time to really enjoy their children! I think if I had been more to my little boy I might now be more to my grown up one.

APPLES.—There is scarcely an article of vegetable food more widley useful and more universally love than the apple. Why every farmer in the nation has not an apple orchard, where trees will grow at all, is one of the mysteries. Let every family lay in from two to ten or more barrels, and they will find it to be to them the most economical investment in the whole range of culinaries. A raw mellow apple is digested in an hour and a half; while boiled cabbage requires five hours The most healthy dessert that can be placed on a table is a baked apple If freely used at breakfast, with course bread and butter, without meat or flesh of any kind, it has an admirable effect on the general system, often removes constipation, correcting acidities, and cooling off febrile conditions more effectually than the most approved medicines.

If families could be induced to substitute the apple—sound, ripe and luscious—for the pies, cakes, and other sweetmeats with which their children are too often indiscreetly stuffed, there would be a diminution in the total of doctors' bills in a single year, sufficient to lay in a stock of this delicious fruit for a whole season's use.—Hall's Journal of Health.

EUGENIE IN ENGLAND.—At present the Empress of France is the most notable member of royalty engaged in traveling. She visited London recently in strict incognito, riding from the railroad station to a hotel in an ordinary street cab From London she proceeded to Scotland for a change of air, and will be the guest of the Duke and Duchess of Hamilton.—While in London she went out shopping on foot, and seemed to enjoy greatly her immunity from courtly restraint.—Post.

Hints for the Season

The farmer has now enough to do in threshing and marketing his grain and other produce, husking corn, and underdraining his land, with the hundred other little things that has always to be done at this season of the year, but among the pressing work he must not forget to see that—

I. His barns are in good order, and all loose clapboards and shingles are nailed down securely—that doors are hung on hinges and closed well Many a barn is reduced to ruin during a high gale, by the carelessness of the owner in not fixing up at the proper time. And nothing is a better index to a farmer's thriftiness, than the condition of his barns and out houses. We doubt if any farmer ever became rich whose buildings were allowed to remain in a tumble-down state.

II. Save feed now, and you won't be stinted three or four months hence. The worst fed cattle are those that wade among feed in December and starve in March Give them all they can eat, but do not waste anything. Have good racks, and the feed will be kept clean; none but half starved animals will eat that which they have lain and trampled upon. By boiling and cutting corn stalks, &c., they will be eaten up clean, and besides a less amount is required, than of uncooked food. Give a variety, occasionally; a uniformity palls the appetite in both man and beast.

III. Feed hogs rapidly; for this purpose, cooked food is preferable to any other. Corn, of course, is best. A few cooked potatoes, occasionally, are good. It fed in pens, keep clean and dry, and give abundance of bedding. Hogs kept all the time wallowing in their own filth, can neither be healthy nor make good nutritious pork. The stench of the pen permeates the tissues of the animal through the medium of the lungs. Still fed pork is in our opinion, not fit to eat, and should be used in the making of lard oil only.

IV. Feed horses well. With grain, give a good share of carrots; of all roots, these are the best for the horse, and keep him in better condition than when fed grain and hay only. Bed well, and keep the stalls clean, letting the urine run off into tank made to receive it. Fresh air is absolutely essential to the health of the horse, and a stable without proper ventilation is the cause of a vast proportion of the diseases common to horse flesh The old-fashioned barn with a thousand air holes in its sides, is really, better for the horse than the tightest well finished building, without the necessary means of ventilation at all times and seasons No animal can breathe its own effluvia with safety, even for a limited time.

V. We have said again and again "make all the manure you can," and this is the best time to begin. Recollect that unless you return to the soil an equivalent for that which is annually taken off your farm, it is the high-road to barrenness. To increase the value of your ground, it is necessary to add to its capabilities of production. No one wants to buy or even live upon a worn-out farm, for it often costs more than its original price to reclaim it, and besides, time is lost. Every farmer should make enough manure, and a margin over, to keep it in its best possible condition, and thereby realize yearly from its maximum crop. Minimum crops are no evidence of good farming, and we are no believers in 'luck.' Bad luck is usually another and more gentle word for bad management.—Ohio Farmer.

Beginning to Believe.

"Bubble," of the California Golden Era, goes off the following:

I begin to believe that, now a days, money makes the man, and dress the gentleman

I begin to believe that the purse is more potent than the sword and the pen together.

I begin to believe that those who sin the most during the week are the most devout upon Sundays.

I begin to believe that honesty is the best policy—to speculate with until you have gained everybody's confidence, then line your pockets.

I begin to believe in humbugging people out of their dollars. It is neither stealing or begging, and those who are humbugged have themselves to blame.

I begin to believe that man was not made to enjoy life, but to keep himself miserable in the pursuit and possession of riches.

I begin to believe that the surest remedy for hard times and a tight money market is an extravagant expenditure on the part of individuals—to keep the money moving.

I begin to believe that none but knaves are qualified to hold office under Government—with the exception of a few natural born fools and lunatics.

I begin to believe that a piano-forte is more necessary to a family than meat and potatoes.

I begin to believe that a boy who doesn't swear, smoke and chew tobacco, may be a very good boy, but is naturally stupid.

I begin to believe that if the devil should die, one-half of the world would be thrown out of employment.

I begin to believe that he has the most merit who makes the most noise in his own behalf; and that when Gabriel comes, not to be behind the times, he, too, will blow his own horn pretty loud.

"Jacob kissed Rachel," is the earliest record, we believe, of a love kiss.—Though we feel assured that long before this LUXURY was indulged in. In olden time people used to greet each other with a real hearty kiss, but fashion has substituted the formal bow, and the shaking of hands. Poor exchange, we say. Mark Antony resigned the world for a kiss. Our poets have written some of their sweetest lines in praise of kissing. We humbly beg our friends, those who are so insensible as not to feel the pleasure of a kiss, not to pester themselves in picking us to pieces, because we have thus expressed ourself. If they do we'll pay them back. There's one thing pretty certain, there's only ONE objection WE would raise to kissing; if any one wishes to know, let them inquire thro' the Herald We do not condemn kissing; but if any one was to attempt to kiss us—well, never mind the rest.

Do you want Eggs in the Winter?

Then give the manufacturers materials to work in. Let the egg-less say what they will, we speak what we know, when we assert that it is perfectly feasible to keep the hens laying all Winter. Give them animal food to supply the place of the insects they catch in Summer, and then let them have a warm place to run into, with plenty of unfrozen water, not snow, and a frequent taste of green food such as cabbage leaves, potatoes, etc., and remember to supply some gravel for their grinding mill, and lime to make shells out of and we'll warrant the animals to repay all the care and food, in nice plump eggs—no matter what the particular breed may be. Try it.

A hen without some kind of meat, and gravel, and lime, compelled to eat snow for water or go without, can't make eggs. If she has to keep constantly changing from standing on one foot to the other to keep both from freezing, she can't stop to think about getting up eggs. If all she eats and can digest, must be expended in keeping up the heat of her body, she has nothing left to turn into eggs. If her body is all shrunk up with cold, she hasn't room inside for an egg of respectable size, and though her instincts may sometimes induce her to produce a thin shelled "pullet's egg" at the expense of the lime in her bones, her pride revolts against such a dwarfed production, and she seldom furnishes beyond two or three.

Give Madam hen the odd bits of fresh meat, and the other fixings named above, not forgetting the water. and make her quarters so free from air-holes that she is comfortable, and she can't help giving attention to her natural occupation of manufacturing eggs, much to her own satisfaction, and the profit of her owner.—*Amer. Funny Finale to a Serious Affair.

A writer in The Vicksburg Sun furnishes the following incident of the celebrated duel between Judge Gholson S. S. Prentiss of Mississippi:

The facts are these: At the first fire, Gholson leaped exactly three feet one inch and a half from the ground, not with a ball through his heart, because the ball had struck the toe of his right foot, glancing in a westwardly direction, hitting Gholson's second in the pit of the stomach, causing him to "double up" with such violence that an empty pistol he had in his hand flew forward with such a force as to hit his principal on the head, causing him to jump as aforesaid, because he was so completely astonished, believing his antagonist's ball had hit him on the back of the head! Gholson was cured of a corn on his right foot, but had the tooth-ache for a week. Gholson's second took the cramp colic.

The ball of his adversary passed so close to the lips of Prentiss as to take away his breath, causing him to fall upon the ground, from which ever afterwards he had a slight lisp in his speech.

The parties were reconciled on the ground in this manner: After they had untangled and unrolled Gholson's second out of a hard knot, and somewhat relieved him, Prentiss, lisping considerably, said, "Gholson, you owe me a dollar." "What for? said Gholson. "For curing your corn," says Prentiss. 'No," says Gholson, "you owe me a dollar:' "What for?" says Prentiss. "Because," said Gholson, "your ball hit my second in the stomach and caused him to hit me on the head, which gave me a toothache, and now I'll have to have the tooth pulled, which will cost me a dollar."

"Well,' says Prentiss, "let's call it square." They shook hands on the spot.

A Yankee View of Marriage.

Can't marry a woman now-a-days, till you're so deaf you have to cock your head like a parrot to hear what she says, and so long sighted you can't see what she looks like nearer than arm's length. I look at them girls and feel as the fellah did who missed catching the trout: 't'ood a'cost more butter to cook him 'n he's worth, said the fellah Takes a whole piece o' goods to cover 'em. I'd as lief undertake to keep a span of elephants, and take an ostrich to board, too, as to marry one of them What's the use? Clerk's and counterjumpers arn't anything. Sparragrass and green peas arn't for them Hossback ridin' arn t for them, except once a year—on Fast Day. And marryin' arn't for them. Sometimes a fellah feels lonely, and would like to have a nice young woman to tell her how he feels. And sometimes a fellah would like to have one of them small young ones to trot on his knee and draw about in a little wagon. It's odd enough, but it seems to me nobody can afford the little articles except the folks that are so poor they don't want anything. It makes nice boys of us fellahs, no doubt! And it's pleasant to fine young girls sitting, like shop-keepers, behind their goods, waitin' an' waitin' an' waitin', an no customers; and the men lingrin' round, an' lookin' at the goods like folks that want to be customers and havn't got the money!—Ex.

Preserving Butter.

The farmers of Aberdeen, Scotland, are said to practice the following method of curing their butter, which gives it a superiority over that of their neighbors;

Take two quarts of the best common salt, one ounce of sugar, and one ounce of sal petre; take one ounce of this composition for one pound of butter, work it well into the mass, and close it up for use. The butter cured with this mixture appears of a rich marrowy consistency and fine color, and never acquires a brittle hardness nor tastes salty. Dr. Anderson says: "I have eaten butter cured with the above composition that had been kept for three years, and it was as at first." It must be noted however, that butter thus cured is to stand three or four weeks before it is used. If it is sooner opened the salts are not fully blended with it, and sometimes the coolness of the nitre will be perceived, which totally disappears afterwards.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Washington, Dec. 5.

SENATE.—The Senate assembled at noon.

A prayer was offered up.

Mr Pugh appeared and took his seat

The journal was read.

Mr Hale moved that a number of volumes be published in relation to the Pacific railroad for the use of the Senate.

Mr. Powell moved the reference of the President's message so far as it relates to the present political affairs of the country, to a special committee.

Mr. Green offered a resolution for an inquiry into the expediency of establishing an armed police force in the border States, slave and free, for maintaining general peace and an efficient execution of the fugitive slave law.

The credentials of Senator Baker, of Oregon, were presented.

Mr. Hale moved to reconsider the vote to print the President's message, and made a speech attacking it as failing to look the secession movement in the face.

Mr. Brown said—If you of the North will go to the right we will go to the left, and vice versa

Mr. Iverson—The States withdrawing disclaim any further allegiance. We intend to go out of the Union before the 4th of March, peaceably if we can, forcibly if we must. Five States will go out, and Louisiana and Arkansas will call conventions pretty soon.

Mr. Wigfall thought the President would precipitate the measure he intends to avoid.

Mr. Saulsbury, of Delaware, said, his State having been the first to adopt the constitution, it would be the last to do any act, or countenance any, calculated or having a tendency to lead to the separation of the States. [Applause.]

The Senate afterwards adjourned.

HOUSE.—Mr. Sherman, from the Committee of Ways and Means, reported a bill making appropriations for the payment of the invalid and other pensions: also, a bill for the support of the West Point Military Academy. Referred to the committee of the whole on the state of the Union.

The House, by 68 against 135, refused to lay on the table Mr Grow's motion to reconsider the vote by which the Committee on Agriculture's homestead bill was last session referred to the committee of the whole on the state of the Union.

The house then reconsidered the vote.

The bill was thus brought up for action.

Mr. Grow did not desire to discuss the measure, the principle involved having been familiar to the country for the past ten years. This bill, however, avoids the prominent objections in President Buchanan's veto message. It does not propose to donate land, but requires payment of $10 for 160 acres. He might, if necessary, quote Jackson against Buchanan, to show that the former was of opinion that the public lands should not be a source of Federal revenue. He moved the previous question, under the operation of which the bill passed—132 against 76.

After some debate on other matters, the House went into committee, and considered the military Academy bill, which, as well as the pension bill, was passed.

Adjourned,

Washington, Dec. 6.

SENATE.—After prayer and the reading of the journal, Mr. Latham presented the memorial of the Chamber of Commerce of San Francisco, praying for the establishment of a daily overland mail. Laid over for the present.

Mr. Hale moved that when the Senate adjourn to-day, it be until Monday.

Mr. Powell, according to notice given yesterday, introduced a resolution that so much of the President's message as relates to the present agitated and distracted condition of the country, and the grievances to the slave holding and non-slaveholding States, be referred to a special committee of thirteen members, and that said committee be instructed to enquire whether any additional legislation than already within the sphere of Federal authority and duty, will be necessary for the protection and security of the property of the United States, and if so, to report it by bill, and that the said committee be also instructed to consider and report whether it is deemed expedient to propose an amendment or amendments to the Constitution of the United States, so as to insure a prompt and full protection to the rights and property of citizens of every State and Territory, and to insure the equality of the States, and insure the equal rights of the citizens aforesaid under the Federal Constitution. Laid over for the present.

Mr. Bigler moved to adjourn. Carried, and the Senate adjourned at 12:15.

NOTE.—Mr Latham's memorial provides for carrying the entire letter mail by Pony Express, and the residue of the mail to be divided between Mr. Butterfield, and the daily route to run through San Jose and Placerville. The statistics exhibited show its feasibility.

HOUSE.—Mr. Morris, of Illinois, said it would be remembered that on Tuesday he sought to introduce a resolution concerning the perpetuity of the American Union. Since then he had been called upon by various members and requested to again present it. He therefore gave notice that he would do so on Monday.

Mr. Vallandigham, from the special committee appointed at the former session on the Senate bill abolishing the franking privilege, made a report thereon and proposed certain amendments.

The Speaker appointed the following Special Committee under Mr. Boteler's resolution, to consider questions connected with the perilous condition of the country.

Ohio, Mr. Corwin, chairman; Virginia, Millson; Mass., Adams, N. C. Winslow; N. Y., Humphrey; S. C., Boyce; Penn., Campbell; Ga., Love; Conn., Ferry; Md., Davis; R. I., Robinson; Del., Whitby, N. H., Tappan; N. J., Stratton; Ky., Bristow; Vt. Merrill; Tenn., Nelson; Ind., Dunn; La., Taylor; Miss. Davis; Ill., Kellogg; Ala., Houston; Me., Morse; Mo., Phelps; Ark., Rust; Mich. Howard; Fla., Hawkins; Texas, Hamilton; Wis. Washburne; Iowa, Curtis, Cal. Burch; Minn., Windom; Oregon, Stout.

The Speaker desired to say that the parliamentary usage was to name on the Committee the mover of the resolution, under which the Committee was ordered to be formed. He had omitted the name of Mr. Boteler at that gentleman's own request. He had endeavored to appoint the Committee to the best of his judgment, and at the earliest period, in view of the important business with which the Committee was entrusted.

Mr. Hawkins, of Fla., said, last Tuesday, I begged to be excused from voting. For similar reasons, I ask to be excused from serving on this Committee. I have consulted with older members as to whether it is voluntary or not for a member appointed on a Committee to serve, and have been informed that he is compelled by the rules of the House to serve unless excused, and that if he does not serve he subjects himself to something like rebuke or reprimand on the part of the House. Now, as long as I am a member of this body, I am anxious to respect all its rules, and am unwilling to draw upon myself rebuke or reprimand. I, therefore, ask the House to excuse me from serving as a member of the Committee. If I am compelled by the rules or custom to serve, I will be a very unimportant, not an efficient member. I know I can not act with all the Committee as to the idea of getting up a compromise with unanimity or peace and in a union-saving manner I have been opposed to anything of the kind in the past, and am now, believing that the time for compromise has passed forever.

Mr. Jno. Cochrane, of New York, said that he heard with a great deal of regret, his friend ask to be excused from serving on the committee It has well been said here to day in the Chaplain's prayer, that the grey shadow of the dark wing of dissolution has been extended over our house and country, and so deep is the gloom that we can scarcely discover one gleam of light to enable us to transact the ordinary business of legislation. Men's minds have been devoted for weeks past, to the great absorbing topics of controversy, which enlists all thoughts, and demands of every individual, his best exertions, and his purest emotions and wisdom It is of importance to this issue that the Republic should command the exertions and efforts of all its citizens. I believe now in the midst of this crisis, with the perils impending over the country, that there is no reason why this House, representing the patriotism and wisdom of the country, should excuse the gentleman from Florida I believe that from all parts of his State where the people are looking with solicitude on passing events and with anxious eyes, if the voice of his constituents could be heard, it would be in tones beseeching and appealing to their Representatives to stand forward in this issue, and assume the brunt of the controversy. He did not believe, with the gentleman; that it was important to the welfare of the country that there should be a unanimous report on the subject referred to the committee. However, God grant it may be. (Applause in the galleries; accompanied by cries of order on the floor.) God grant that it may be stamped with the unanimity patriotism demands.

If this country is not to be saved, if patriotism is not sufficient to command this glorious result, it is due that the people of the United States should know it. It is due to the benighted regions of the country, that the facts should be impressed on their minds, and ignorance no longer be pleaded as an excuse for the acts which have brought us to this fearful precipice. If we are not to have a unanimous report to save the country upon the pangs and agony of secession, let us know what demands are made by one section of the country from the other, and let us feel what is the pulsation of the country; and let us answer the examinatory inquisition that comes from every portion of the land, 'Watchman, what of the night?' clearly and conclusively; whether storms and madness rule the hour; whether there is a harbinger of peace, or whether there is one gleam of morning in which we may yet discern the stars and stripes floating from yonder dome.

These remarks were greeted with applause.

Mr. Garnet hastily rose, saying: I trust in our grave deliberations the Chair will stop applause, whether on the floor or in the galleries. I will give notice (here he was met by hisses from the galleries) I now move that the galleries be cleared. (Renewed hisses.) These disgraceful blackguards who violate the rules of the House, and the decorum and dignity which are due to the representatives of the people, should be forthwith expelled from the hall.

The Speaker said he had no doubt that the suggestions of the gentleman from Virginia would be sufficient for a respectful auditory, and insure quiet.

Mr Morris, of Ill., appealed to Mr. Cochrane to refrain from further discussion of the question.

Mr. Cochrane resumed: I deprecate, with all others, these testimonials either of approbation or censure, from the galleries or floor of this House; yet an excuse might be found in the character, of the theme before us, which appeals to the emotions and feelings of all, however humble they may be, in the Republic. But it is eminently proper that the rules of order be observed, and the subject discussed with the gravity its nature demands, and that the American Congress, even in the pangs of dissolution, if it is to fall, should fall decently, with its official robes gathered around it.

I had not intended to even allude to the great principle which reposes at the base of this question. It would be unwise and improper, but the allusions I have made were necessary in order that I might bring to the intelligent heart of the gentleman from Florida, considerations applicable to his own patriotic nature and consistency, which are as common, general and catholic as is the great and glorious republic in which we live. I appeal to him on the ground of common humanity. I appeal to him in the peril of a common country. I appeal to him by the memories of the past. I appeal to him by the prosperity and existence of the sovereign State of Florida, to remain on the Committee. If these appeals are to be ineffectual, I now appeal to those here representing a common country. I ask them without any reflection on the gentleman from Florida, but in pursuance of a duty to be performed, to negative the request that he be excused.

Mr. Hawkins demanded the previous question on his motion for that purpose.

Mr Millson moved to adjourn.

Mr. Crawford appealed to Mr. Millson to withdraw his motion' so that a vote might be taken to see whether Mr. Hawkins would be forced to serve. He hoped others would not ask to be excused from voting.

Mr. Hawkins declared that he was not acting under impulse, but from conviction of twenty years.

Mr. Adrain rose, and Mr. Underwood and others called him to order.

Mr. Adrain said the committee ought to be settled to-day.

Mr. Adrain was called to order from the Southern side of the Hall.

The question to adjourn was carried. 104 against 92. The House had previously decided that it should be till Monday.

Washington, Dec. 10.

Senate.—On motion of Mr. Bigler, the standing committees of last session were ordered to be continued.

Mr. Latham moved that the resolution relative to the overland mail be referred to the Committee on Post offices and Post Roads

Mr. Sumner offered a memorial from Thaddeus Hyatt, providing relief for the sufferers in Kansas Mr. Sumner cited similar instances and suggested the relief called for be afforded either by an appropriation of money or land Referred to the Committee on Territories.

The Homstead bill passed its first reading.

Mr. Powell's resolution on Federal affairs was called up.

Mr. Powell said events were rapidly crowding upon us which, were they not speedily suppressed, would result in a dissolution of the government. The resolution proposed legislation to give power for the correction of evils. Our duty to the country requires us to act promptly. The eleventh amendment to the Constitution was made in 1794 and in 1803 the 12th was made. Our fathers acted in emergencies, and so can we.

Mr. Collamer moved to strike out part of the resolution, leaving in only so much as refers to Federal affairs, and that it be referred to a special committee.

Mr. King inquired whether additional legislation was necessary to maintain the Constitution.

Mr. Yulee inquired what was intended by the amendment.

Mr. Green said he would vote for the resolution and amendment to the Constitution, or a legal enactment. Unless popular sentiment goes with it, it is not worth a straw. Our efforts must be to bring about public sentiment, or alternatively we must arm the Federal Government with physical power to enforce the Constitution everywhere.

Mr. Latham said California would remain with the Union—the great North and West—no matter what occurs. The Pacific Railroad was the the great desideratum of her people.

Mr. Powell accepted Mr. Collamer's amendment to strike out.

Mr. Dixon said—we can't shut our eyes to the great truth that nothing less than the disruption of the government is the peril to which we are now exposed. It is enough for us to know that it would be not only a great event, but its effects on the race of mankind the great calamity of the age. The controversy on the subject of slavery had now reached a point where its honorable and rightful adjustment, consented to by the people of both sections, seem indispensable to the continuation of the government in its present form. The election of Lincoln hastened the critical day: his defeat could only have postponed it. I don't intend to say that one section is more to blame than the other, whether both were equally at fault or whether the blame was wholly on one side. Criminations and recriminations are now useless—nay, dangerous. If possible, the first thing done should be to restore the fraternal spirit which once existed. How shall this be done? By cheerfully and honestly assuring to every section its just constitutional rights. No section ought to ask more; none ought to offer less. As to what are these constitutional rights, that is a subject to be considered in a spirit of confidence, mutual good will and devotion to the Union, for the preservation of which my constituents are ready to make any sacrifice any reasonable man asks or any honorable man can grant consistent with principle. In this spirit I shall meet this great question, and in doing so shall be sustained by an immense majority of my constituents. If time shall show that I am wrong in this belief, I shall instantly cease to represent them here. The people, under God, must save this nation if it is to be saved.—The politicians cannot do it. What I may be willing to do, or the Senate be willing to do, will avail nothing unless sustained by the intelligence and confidence of the people. There is a class of men North, perhaps South, small in numbers and influence, who assume the present controversy is a conflict of two civilizations; freedom or slavery must perish. The great body of those I represent do not thus believe. We believe there is no conflict of system of labor in different States incompatible with the peaceful existence of our Union. We believe the slaveholding ago slavingholding States may still revolve in harmonious spheres; that, if the question of slavery destroy the Union, it will be because the statesmen of the day are incompetent to the task.

After further debate by Messrs. Brown, Pugh, Hale, and others, the Senate adjourned.

House.—Mr. Hawkins gave additional reasons why he asked to be excused for serving on the Union Select Committee. Florida is a small State, but nevertheless, is entitled to all the rights and immunities of the other States. She cannot be forced to remain in the Union, and the Southern States are pledged to defend her in the event of attempted coercion. He was satisfied of unanimity prevailing in that State to seek redress of its grievances in its own way, and by means of other than Congressional compromises, which latter have never accomplished a successful purpose. He regarded the component parts of the Committee as peculiarly unfortunate. He criticised the composition of this Committee, especially objecting to Mr. Davis of Maryland, as not a fit representative of that State, arguing that all who voted for Mr. Pennington as Speaker, were disloyal to the rights of the South. He regretted that the resolution for the appointment of the Committee came from one of the most gifted sons of the South. He gave fair warning that Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, and South Carolina, were certain to secede, and be followed by Arkansas, Louisiana, and Texas.

Mr. Vallandigham argued in favor of excusing Mr. Hawkins, for the reason that the Committee was raised with a view of peace. We should use no coercion to make members serve. He adverted to the composition of the Committee in condemnation, saying there was no Democrat on the Committee from the great North west which has such a deep interest in the subject, and which does not intend to be a dependent province either of the East or South. If the people of that section could not otherwise go to the sea, they would cleave their way with the sword.

Mr. McClernand remarked that a troublous future opened up before us, but he did not believe our Government could be dissolved by the consent of any one of its parties. There was more strength in the Government than is generally believed. He was amazed that the entire Democracy of the North should be excluded from the Committee, but was not willing to excuse Mr. Hawkins.

Mr Sickles, in dispelling the prevalent delusion, maintained that the Union can be made perpetual by justice, but not an instant by the application of force He believed with the city of New York, that the power to deal with the pending political question rests on the Republican party, whti those who have control of the legislation of the Northern States; let the legislatures be convened, that we may see in what manner they are prepared to deal with the question.

Mr. Sherman, from the Committee on Ways and Means reported a bill authorizing the issue of ten million dollars worth of Treasury notes of a denomination of less than one hundred dollars. The faith of the United States is pledged for their redemption. The money is authorized to be borrowed from time to time, as may be deemed expedient. The bill, after debate, was passed without taking the question.

On Mr. Hawkins' request, the House adjourned.

The Secession Movement.

Special Dispatch to the N. Y. Tribune.

Washington, Dec. 7.

There will be about $1,500,000 due for interest on public indebtedness on the 1st of January, which must be paid in coin. Unless relief is obtained promptly, so that the small payments into the treasury in gold may be reserved for that purpose, the Secretary will be compelled to apply to the Mint for funds.

Some members of the House of Representatives were sharp enough to get the Speaker's certificates for pay and mileage, and present them personally at the Treasury instead of collecting them through the Sergeant-at-Arms—thus securing their own dues, while others have been denied even the pro rata, the Secretary already acknowledging an exhaustion of means.

An amendment to the constitution has been suggested providing for two counselors, to be chosen by the North and South respectively, both of whose signatures shall be necessary to all measures of legislation, in addition to that of the President.

Mr. Cobb has neither resigned nor left the city, as reported. He is confined to his house by a painful indisposition.

Messrs Fessenden, Simmons, Adams, and Foot are most named to represent New England in Lincoln's Cabinet, and probably a selection will be made from among them.

Special Dispatch to the N. Y. Herald.

Washington, Dec. 7.

Secretary Cobb's recommendation to sell the untaken United States stock by an act of Congress, and to hold the bidders responsible for the loss, meets with condemnation by business men. They say nothing would be better calculated to crush the Government credit and injure the parties who tried to help him

Mr. Douglas has not yet fully determined his plans, nor is it probable that he will do so until he learns the result of the Southern caucus Mr. Crittenden, singularly enough, advocates the reenactment of the Missouri line by Congress, notwithstanding the decision of the Supreme Court. This proposition is not well received by either side.

Messrs. Pearce, of Maryland; Bayard, of Delaware; Bigler of Pennsylvania; Pugh, of Ohio; and others favor the idea of a convention of all the States, and Mr Pugh will propose a resolution advising all the States to invite Congress to provide for a convention, as required by the constitution. These men hold that the disease is too deep to be met by legislation, and that no remedy will ever be furnished by politicians, or rather by men elected in the party strife of the country

Mr. Pugh is an open advocate of the right of secession, and is said to differ with Mr. Douglas on this point. He advocated this doctrine at Charleston. Mr. Bigler, whilst agreeing mainly with the President, does not believe the remedies suggested by him will give the country permanent peace. He, with many others, is for a final settlement on some arbitrary principle, like the Missouri line, by amendment to the constitution through a convention of the States.

Members of Congress complain bitterly because Secretary Cobb will not pay them. He says he has have no money. Notwithstanding this statement, Collector Whitney, of Boston, got a warrant passed to-day for thirty thousand dollars to pay off his subordinates. He says the receipt of customs, which usually is half a million per months, does not amount for the last month to twenty thousand dollars. He says this is occasioned by the fact that the merchants allow their goods to go into storehouses for want of the money to pay the duties upon them.

In conversation to-day, Senator Douglas said, "Secession is anarchy, and it would be better that a million men should fall upon the battle field than that anarchy should prevail in this country."

Submissionists in the South are now stigmatised as abolitionsts Whatever Union sentiment exists South is placed in the same rank, and considered accordingly. There is no question about the disruption, and that it will occur within forty days is the conviction of sound thinking men at the national capital.

Virginia will undoubtedly form one of the seceding States. That is the unanimous voice of the representative men from the Old Dominion now here

All efforts to rescue the country from disruption and anarchy are falsified. among the unquestioned resolutions of the South for a reconstruction of the constitution. That reconstruction will not be satisfactory to the North or the South, and arrangements may be made accordingly in each section.

The committee of States, as arranged by Speaker Pennington, will not have a meeting until Tuesday, and there are strong reasons to doubt that it will ever meet in a body. Florida, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, and other southern States will never consent to discuss, in committee or otherwise, any proposition calculated to lessen their position as sovereign Statas in the Confederacy. Of this fact there cannot be the slightest doubt. Virginia says, let those States that have violated the constitution in the passage of personal liberty bills be sent out of the Union. Ceasing to affiliate in common bond, they are no longer entitled to respect or consideration in the Union, and, if the Union be dissolved, these States should be sent adrift, and the remaining States including the entire South, constitute a confederacy.

Washington, Dec. 8.

The committee of States will meet on Tuesday, perhaps Monday. South Carolina and Florida may not be represented. The chairman of the committee, Gov. Corwin, of Ohio, is disposed to advance conciliatory measures The feeling of conciliation is growing more and more provalent. Gov. Seward is not disposed to yield but he may be overwhelmed by the power of the incoming administration. There are many matters of moment in abeyance, which the country at large may regard with satisfaction. There is more Union sentiment to-night among prominent eminent classes than has recently been exhibited. Every one now hopes for the best, and better things will occur within a fortnight than the most ultra of either side anticipate.

There is a rumor here this evening that Jeff. Davis has received a dispatch from Mr. Lincoln, the President elect, stating that he (Mr. Lincoln) was preparing a letter for publication defining his position on questions now distracting the two sections of the country whichwill, it is said; give entire satisfactionto the South.

From Washington.

Washington, Dec. 10.

There now seems no doubt that Mr Cobb has resigned the Secretaryship of the Treasury. His friends say he will repair to Georgia on Thursday, he being a candidate for member of the State Convention to assemble on the 7th of January. He did not attend the three last Cabinet meetings.

The Times' Washington correspondent says: "Mr. Trescott, bearer of the President's message to South Carolina, was also charged with the duty of consulting the State authorities as to their purpose after the ordinance of secession was passed. He returned last evening and reports everything quiet and no danger of a collision with the Federal Government. To-day the arrangement is perfected, and things remain in statu quo, until after the Commissioners shall have failed to arrange for a peaceable separation.

"Secretary Thompson will soon follow Mr. Cobb. He entered his office to-day, but did nothing more than look over a few letters on his table.

Secretary Cobb has at last resigned, but his successor has not been nominated, although rumor says differently.

"A messenger from South Carolina arrived to-day, bringing the vote of that State for President, for the ensuing four years. He delivered the vote and drew the pay for his services."

The World's Washington correspondent says: "It seems well credited, that Postmaster Holt will be transferred to the Treasury, and Mr. King, First Assistant, will be made Postmaster-General. Erastus Corning is also named as the successor of Mr. Cobb.

"Messrs. Miles, Bonham and McQueen called upon the President to-day, and had a long consultation with him in regard to the secession of South Carolina, and the terms on which she will go out of the Union.

"The business of the Treasury was entirely suspended to-day, as the President did not commission Mr. Clayton (Mr. Cobb's assistant) to fill the office temporarily, as heretofore. This omission was considered significant.

"Reverdy Johnson, who has just returned from California, declares himself for the Union at all hazards, and against all opposition."

Washington, Dec. 11.

The Democrats from the North-west have had several conferences relative to the present condition of political affairs. They generally take the position set forth in Messrs. McClernand and Vallandingham's speeches, yesterday, namely, that the Union cannot be dissolved peaceably: that the North west will, under no circumstances consent to be cut off from the Gulf of Mexico and the city of New York, that the government, whatever may be its faults, is of inestimable value. The leading idea is a central government, embracing the Middle, Western, and border slave States, but depending for its consummation on future circumstances.

Lieutenant-General Scott will arrive here to-morrow.

The Postoffice Committee of the House met this morning, to consider an overland mail bill, submitted to them by Mr. Colfax, chairman. After consultation, they unanimously adopted the bill, the details of which are as follows:

That the Postmaster-General advertise for proposals for carrying the entire mail overland daily, between St. Joseph, Mo., and Sacramento, Cal., by the central route, from July, 1861, to July 1865; Denver City and Salt Lake City to be supplied weekly without extra charge; the amount not to exceed $800.000; letters and papers to be carried through by the contractors in 20, and pamphlets, magazines and public documents in 30 days. The bill also authorizes temporary steamship service from New York to San Francisco, at the rate paid to Commodore Vanderbilt. The service is to be subject to discontinuance on 90 days notice, and is to continue until otherwise ordered by Congress, in case the daily overland mail contract is not taken within the sum limited. The bill is to be reported to the House this week.

The Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Toucey, was to-day requested by the President to act as Secretary of the Treasury, in addition to his present duty, until a successor to Mr. Cobb shall be appointed.

Mr. Cobb formally took leave of the President, the interview being pleasant and of a private character.

Gen. Scott has prepared a plan for adjustment between the North and the South, which the Committee of thirty-three desire to have before them. The Committee organized to-day, the members from Arkansas, Florida and South Carolina declining to appear. Houston, of Alabama, urged prompt action, and freely expressed the opinion that the Committee might adopt a report which will restore Union feeling at the South and avert secession.

The Committee, after organizing, adjourned till to-morrow.

Arrival of the Steamship Europa.

Cape Race, Dec. 11.

The royal mail steamship Europa, from Liverpool on Saturday, Dec. 1st, via Queenstown, 2d, was boarded off Cape Race at 4 o'clock this (Tuesday) morning, by the news yacht, and the following summary of her news obtained.

The political news by the Europa is not of an important character.

The situation of the Italian question was unchanged. The Garrison of Gaeta had made a sortie, and were repulsed with great loss.

The American money crisis has caused specie shipments from England, and the Europa has a considerable amount on board. Large shipments were expected to be made by the Atlantic, to sail on the 5th. These movements caused a renewal, on the 30th, of gold withdrawals from the bank, which had previously reduced its rate of discount to 5½ per cent.

FRIDAY MORNING. DEC. 14. 1860

The President's Message.

In an extra accompanying our last week's edition, we gave our readers the fourth annual message of President Buchanan. As all have doubtless read it ere this and formed a deliberate opinion of its merits or demerits, it is hardly necessary for us to enter upon extended comment. We are free to say, however, that while not much disappointed in it, we are not satisfied with its positions and arguments. It falls short of meeting the emergency. The President, for instance, tells us in one breath that no State has a right to secede, and in the next that there is no power given to the Executive or to Congress to prevent secession; thus virtually saying to South Carolina, you have no right to secede, but secede and the General Government is powerless to lay a straw in your way. It is without doubt true that Congress or the Federal Government cannot compel a State to elect officers, to be represented in Congress, or to keep up a State government; but it is an absurdity to say that it is not the duty of the General Government to enforce all the laws of Congress in each and every State, despite the threats of secession. Had President Buchanan expressed this view, it would have had a restraining effect, rather than given countenance to the secession movement. There is no such thing as secession. No one State can go out of this Union without the consent of the others, and disunion must be accomplished by means awful to contemplate. It is not to be wondered at that the President's views have failed to satisfy anybody in Congress or out.

Again, we dissent from the President's declaration that slavery goes into the Territories under the constitution, and that the Territorial governments are powerless to restrain or prohibit it. This argument is ill-timed and not calculated to produce good.

Upon these points alone do we desire to express our dissent at present, and upon these shall refrain from lengthy comment. The advancement of such views by the President has complicated the existing difficulties, a fact which we seriously regret, but for which he is alone responsible.

The Burch Case.—Our readers have all heard of the Burch case, and too many of them have read the disgusting details, as furnished by the leading dailies, which now-a days, under the pretence of supplying the demand for news delight in spreading out the minutest particulars of that class of crimes involving the rupture of sacred family ties and the forsaking of the paths of virtue and chastity. We have never prostituted our columns to the gratification of the vitiated taste for such kind of news, and shall not do so in this instance. We are happy to say, however, that the trial has terminated, and that the attempt of Burch to crush his wife has failed, signally, disgracefully failed. On Monday afternoon, after an absence of only one hour and a half the jury returned a verdich in favor of Mrs. Burch. We remember in all our reading of no verdict that has given us more satisfaction. Mrs. Burch is not a woman of strong character, but a little, affectionate, loving woman, yoked to a heartless husband. She may have been imprudent, but he was the cause of tha imprudence; some may believe her guilty but they can hardly avoid laying the sin at his door. His treatment of a woman he claimed to love, his carefulness to send her adrift a beggar who had brought him his fortune, his letter to her friends vilely traducing her and cautioning them against receiving her, have destroyed all sympathy with him. The trial resulted in producing no evidence against her, except her own confessions, and it was proved by Burch's own statements and letters that those were procured by deception, fraud, and violence Besides, the defence disposed of the charge by the evidence of David Stuart, himself, sustained by other witnesses successfully proving an alibi in each case charged in the complaint.—By his own witnesses Mr. Burch proved nothing, and the examination of each only turned the tide of sympathy in Mrs. Burch's favor. The verdict was received with applause by the spectators in the little Court room, and with demonstrations of great joy in Chicago. And we think we may say that the country generally, upon whose notice the details have been forced, are satisfied with it.

☞ Michigan is represented in the House Committee of one from each State, to which was referred so much of the President's message relative to the State of the Union and the pending secession of the Southern States, by W A. Howard, and we may therefore predict that the voice of Michigan in that Committee will be for war rather than peace, for disunion rather than Union. He will act upon the motto of "let the Union slide," and commit the State, as far as his action can so against all concession. It is to be deplored that Michigan has not a man in Congress to "throw oil on the troubled waters;" but so, it is, and all hope is well nigh vanished if a majority of the Committee are men of the Howard stripe.

☞ A grand Union demonstration was to be made in Philadelphia yesterday in accordance with a proclamation issued by the Mayor. Philadelphia should speak from "Old Independence Hall."

☞ The full returns from California show the following vote for President:

Total vote,	119,597
For Lincoln,	38,702
" Douglas,	38,060
" Breckingidge,	34,041
" Bell,	8,794

And this is the State the influence of Senator Gwin carried over to the seceders at Baltimore. The conspirator is severely rebuked.

☞ A large an enthusiastic Union meeting was held at Trenton, New Jersey, on Tuesday. Men of all parties participated. Col. W. C. Alexander presided, and Commodore Stockton was made chairman of the committee on address and resolutions. The address and resolutions adopted are out spoken for Union; and under one of them, Messrs R F. Stockton, M Price Peter D. Vroom, Jas. Randolph, Benj. Williamson, and W. C. Alexander, were appointed a commission to consult and advise with other States as to the emergency.

The New York Society Festival.

We have heretofore informed our readers that our citizens who hail from the "Empire State," with descendants of New Yorkers born, had organized a society for the perpetuating of memories of the old "home State" and the days of yore. The first anniversary of the Society was celebrated on Thursday of last week, by an address in the afternoon and a dinner in the evening.

The address was delivered at the Presbyterian Church, at 4 o'clock, P. M., by Rev. Dr. Tappan, President of the Society. As our notes of the address are rather meager, we shall not indulge in a lengthy synopsis. It was not simply a eulogy upon New York, but was rather a sketch of the history of the Nation, and especially of the "old Thirteen" and the races which colonized them, Puritans, Hollanders, Cavaliers Hugenots, Catholics, Protestants, Quakers. After thus detailing the progress until the present, the Dr. spoke in feeling terms of the present dissension, and invoked the interference of Providence to preserve the Union. It was an interesting and instructive address.

The meeting at the Church was presided over by Vice President Seaman, and the address was preceded with prayer by Rev. J. M. Gregory.

At 7 o'clock, P. M. a business and social meeting was held at the Franklin, and while the ladies were exchanging grettings, the society was convened. Vice President Morgan in the chair, and after the transaction of other business, elected the following officers for the ensuing year:

President—E W. Morgan, Esq.

1st Vice President,—Thos. M. Cooley, Esq.

2d Vice President.—Rev. L. D. Chapin.

Secretary.—Prof. A. D White.

Treasurer.—H. D. Bennett, Esq.

At the hour of 8 o'clock the announcement was made that dinner was ready, and the members of the Society with their ladies, invited guests and others, to the inspiring strains of the Steuben Guards Band, proceeded to the large hall on the fourth floor, where the tables had been bounteously spread by "mine hosts" of the Franklin, Messrs. Barstow & Irish. Grace having been said by the Rev. D. F. Lumsden, the company did ample justice to the substantials and luxuries served up in the best style. The attack upon turkey, oysters, ice creams, fruits, etc., having come to an end, from the fact that the best of appetites can not always hold out the "feast of reason and flow of soul," we so often read about, was entered upon.

Dr. Tappan, presiding, announced the following regular toasts:

The State of New York:—The land of our nativity richly endowed by nature, advanced by knowledge and industry, the home of great men and true patriots —an Empire within herself. Her sons have brought with them into the Great West, Industry, Art and Education.

Music:—Home, Sweet Home.

Rev. J. M. Gregory, a son of New York, who has attained to high honors in the "Wolverine State," responded to this sentiment, and spoke in fitting terms of the position our mother State occupies.—His praise was high-toned but fitting, and gave New Yorkers present no reason to deny their paternity or express a wish that they had been born any where else.

The State of Michigan:—In fertility and variety of soil, extent of commerce and mineral wealth, intelligence and enterprise of her citizens, and in her educational institutions, she ranko with her older Sisters.

Music:—Annie Laurie Quick Step.

Responded to by Thos. M. Cooley, Esq., who acknowledged our indebtedness as a State to New York, in our Constitution, our statutes our school system, etc., but who thought that Michigan was no longer in leading strings, could walk alone, and in broad and productive plains, teeming streams, wealth of mines, and all the elements of a prosperous State, now dared to rival even New York.

Our Whole Union:—East, West, North, and South, formed under our Glorious Constitution, an inheritance from our Fathers, an undivided patrimony to our children.

Music:—Star Spangled Banner.

Rev. F. A. Blades was called out, and made a happy response, a response which in these times of dissensions and discords went to the heart of every one present.—Himself a son of Maryland, a son-in-law of New York, and an adopted son of Michigan, he was prepared to do justice to all sections, to abjure Mason & Dixon's line, and say that no prouder boast could be uttered by mortal than, "I am an American citizen." He hoped, that by the blessings of an over-ruling Providence it would be long before that boast would mean less than it does now.

Santa Claus:—The reality of childhood, the memory of maturer years.

Music:—Auld Lang Syne.

Prof. A. D White responded briefly but humorously in behalf of the patron Saint of the early Dutch colonists of New York; complaining, however, that his worst enemies must have conspired against him, having sandwiched him in between Knickerbocker's veritable history of New York, in which the personnel of the Dutch Saint was so faithfully depited, and that other notable performance, soon to ring in every ear, beginning

"'Twas the night before Christmas."

He used to believe fully in the reality of the Saint; but, alas, like many other things, to the youth of this fast generation there was no reality in the legend, and the mythical Saint existed only in memory.

After his response, the whole company rose, and to the tune of "Old Hundred," joined in singing the following "Ode to Santa Claus," prepared for the occasion by a member of the Society:

As round this festive board we meet,
Good Santa Claus, thy name we greet;
From childhood's days with bounteous hand
The patron of our native land

To, night our early joys once more
We call to mind from memory's store,
And many a loving brother-band
By hearth stones in the native land.

Our Father God! as thought of home,
And childhood's joys and friendships come,
O, let our earnest prayers conmmand
Thy blessing on our native land.

And as the joyous Christmas chime
Tells year by year the fleeting time,
With thankful hearts we'll praise the Hand
That blesses still our native land.

The University of Michigan:—The crowning glory of our State system of Education. Its benefits are not so parsimoniously confined to the youth of the State in which it is located, but are dispensed with a liberal hand to the whole brotherhood of man who choose to come and partake of them.—May it continue to prosper until from the lips of a grateful alumni its praises shall be uttered in every land under the whole Heaven.

Music: —DeHaven Quickstep.

Regent McIntyre spoke briefly of the progress of the University, of its intimate connection with our native State through its worthy President and other members of the Faculty, and its students. He also thought it should be a Union-saving institution, as twenty-three States of the Union were represented in its classes.

Our Union School:—A monument of the liberality of our citizens. Open to poor and rich, may its destiny be to banish ignorance and vice from our midst.

Music:—Bonnie Eloise.

The announcement of this sentiment called out J. M. Wheeler, Esq, President of the School Board. He thought our Public Schools were the crowning glory of our city, the feature which was bringing us an intelligent and desirable population. He spoke in high terms of the present state of the Schools, and of the efficient corps of teachers.

Our Kindred Societies:—Representatives of different nationalities. At this board we form one brotherhood, New Yorkers give them a cordial welcome.

Music;—Red, White and Blue.

C. I. Walker, Esq., of Detroit responded in a very humorous speech, in which he logically proved that he had no birthplace but that he was a grand son of New England, and would do battle in behalf of the Puritans against these all grasping New Yorkers.

Religion and Laarning:—The sources of individual and national greatness—No people can continue prosperous or safe where their influence is not felt and their power acknowledged.

Music:—March from Norma.

Rev. S. D. Cochran responded ably, going to the root of the matter and demonstrating the truth of the sentiment.

Woman:—The fair daughters of our beautiful City, resplendent in beauty and virtue, may they ever be our chief honor.

Music:—Green grow the Rushes, O.

The company called out Rev. G. L Foster, of Ypsilanti, who gave us one of Foster's speeches, full of sound sense and sparkling wit Our Rev friend is evidently an admirer of woman; and who condemns him.

The Press:—The hand which scatters the seeds of knowledge.

Music:—Morning Salute.

E. C. Seaman, Esq, spoke for the Press in a brief, pertinent and instructive manner, tracing its direct connection with all the vital interests of humanity

This completing the regular Toasts, the President stated that the St Nicholas Society of New York, now in anniversary session, had forwarded a sentiment which he would announce, It was:

The New York Society of Ann Arbor:—We welcome our youthful Sister to her place among those who admire and would emulate the sterling virtues and staunch integrity of old Holland. God speed her in her mission of benevolence and social good.

Music:—Here's a health to them that's awa.

Dr. Tappan was called out by the company and responded to the sentiment, speaking in glowing terms of the little Dutch Republic and of the industry, energy, and integrity of liberty-loving the Hollanders.

This response called up Mr. Walker, who illustrated native Dutch honesty, by telling the story of two Dutchmen, down on the Mohawk, who attempted to imitate the Yankee method of doing business. An honest Dutchman borrowed some money of his neighbor, and Yankee like drew a note as security; but after grave consultation it was concluded that the borrower should keep the note that he might know when to pay. Here Walker stopped, and E. W. Morgan volunteered to finish the story. When the borrower paid the money, the note was surrendered to the lender that he might know that the money had been paid.

This incident was followed by some sharp shooting between Dr. Tappan and E. C. Seaman, Esq.; and by some appropriate remarks from Rev. D. F. Lumsden who was called out to uphold the fame of "Old Scotia," and the company adjourned just at the incoming of the "small hours," having enjoyed the social occasion to their utmost Much credit is due to the managers of the Society, and to Messrs. Barstow & Irish for the perfection of the arrangements. May the New-York Society flourish a thousand years.

Rays of Light.—In Boston the Democrats and Union men have elected a Mayor by over 2000 majority. Worcester, Newburyport, Roxbury, Charleston, and other Massachusetts towns have also elected Unionist Mayors If the tide is turning in Massachusetts, there is yet hope.

☞ Ossian E. Dodge.—This justly celebrated humorist and vocalist announces one of his very popular "Sociables" at Hangsterfer's Hall on Wednesday evening next. Some sixteen years ago Mr Dodge made a highly successful professional tour through Michigan. He comes again, covered with the glory of numberless triumphs, achieved in the principal cities of America and Europe, and offers his old friends and admirers a rich and sparkling programme. He is accompanied by Mr. James G. Clark, a very pleasing vocalist, and a poet withal of considerable note.

The Methodist.—We have occasionally received a number of The Methodist, a large quarto Religious Family Newspaper, published at New York, by L. Bangs, and edited by Rev. George R. Crooks, D. D., assisted by Rev. John McClintock, D. D. This journal though denominational in character is independent of official or church control, and comes before the public on its own merits. It is ably edited, and has a corps of contributors including some of the best writers in the Church, while its literary and news department will give it strong claims upon others than Methodists It is conservative in tone, a strong commendation in these days of rampant radicalism. We shall be happy to receive it regularly

See advertisement in another column.

☞ We invite attention to the advertisement of Blackwood's Magazine and the four British Reviews These periodicals are reprinted from advance sheets received from the foreign publishers, and in typography are fac similes of the original edition; and yet the American Publishers furnish the five for $10 against $31 the cost of the English edition.—The character of the works is too well understood by all to need an elaborate notice at our hands New volumes will begin with the next issues, and now is a favorable time for subscribing.

☞ Warren & Bothwel have established themselves in the manufacture of Roraback's Chemical Soap, in the building next to Matthew's Meat Market. From trials we have seen made of it we think it an excellent article for all household and toilet purposes. It cleans type finely, and that is one good test. Try it.

☞ We have received the December number of the Cosmopolitan Art Journal.—It has a magnificent full page steel plate, after Mrs. Spencer's beautiful painting, "Grand Pa's Prodigy;" and several full page wood engravings, gems of the graver's art.—Its stories, art essays, verse, and gossip, are all readable, and its typography is perfect.—It is a beautiful and valuable number. Published by the Cosmopolitan Art Association, and a subscription of $3 entitles each member to the Art Journal, the large and magnificent annual engraving, 'Falstaff Mustering his Recruits." and, perhaps to a valuable work of art when the annual distribution is made to members. Address C. L Derby, 546 Broadway, New York.

German Popular Tales and Household Stories: Collected by the Brothers Grimm—Newly Translated. With illustrations by Edward H. Wehnet Two volumes.—Boston: Crosby, Nichols, Lee & Co.

Long ago, when boys were boys and girls were girls, before crinoline and standing collars with the titles of young ladies and gentlemen had been appropriated by little lads and ladies, the tales found in these volumes were indeed "popular tales," and were nightly rehearsed around some fire side, with the approbation of open ears and eyes. Then the little folks never tired of "Cinderella," "The Robber Bridegroom," "Little Red Cap." "The Wolf and the Fox." "The Fox and the Geese," "How Six traveled through the World," "The Water Sprite," and a hundred other fairy legends which have never been heard of by precocious "Young America."—But the Publishers have here given the public a beautiful edition of these once familiar tales and we do not think more acceptable volumes can be taken into a circle of little ones during the coming holidays.

For sale by Schoff & Miller.

☞ An adjourned term of the Circuit Court for this County is to be held on Tuesday next. A Jury will be in attendance.

Conclusion of the Burch Case.

Chicago, Dec. 10.

On opening, VanArman for complainant, concluded his argument at noon to-day, having spoken nine hours. Court then adjourned till 2 P. M. On opening the afternoon session, the Judge read written instructions on behalf of both sides, forty two in all, and submitted the case at 3 o'clock. The jury, after being out an hour and a half, returned a verdict in favor of Mrs. Burch.

The verdict was received with demonstrations of enthusiasm which spread rapidly through the village.

The counsel for the defense made a motion for the custody of the children and alimony. The Court adjourned. The trial occupied nineteen days. The news reached here at seven o'clock, and was received with great rejoicings by the friends of Mrs Burch. One hundred rockets were fired from the roof of the Tremont House.

Mr. Parton has been several years engaged in the preparation of this work, and has bestowed upon it the most careful research and investigation. The first volume of the Subscribers' Edition was issued a year since the second was published last spring, and the third and last is now completed. Of the first and second volumes, the press have spoken in the warmest commendation.

"The Life of Andrew Jackson was indeed an eventful one, and the events that were crowded into his career, as a pioneer, a general, and a statesman, are among the most important in the history of our country."—Taunton Gazette. "Almost all that relates to him is peculiar, extraordinary, and interesting."—Amenia Times.

"Those who have been most familiar with the career of Jackson will be surprised at the mass of new matter the author has collected."—Boston Journal. "It exhausts the subject."—New York Day Book.

It is as romantic as a mediæval romance, and yet has the advantage of being true."—Home Journal. "Possesses a degree of interest which can scarcely be overstated."—New York World. "A fresher, livelier account was never written of any hero, by any author.—Boston Traveler. "No work of fiction could be better fitted to hold the attention and bear the mind along with a sustained enthusiasm, than this account of the real life of one of our own countrymen."—Boston Recorder. "From first to last, the work is intensely interesting."—Philadelphia Item. "Perfectly fascinating."—New York Day Book.—"The narrative is flowing and charming. We confess having read the whole (one volume) in two prolonged sittings."—Harper's Weekly "The most difficult task was where and how to part company with it."—New York Crayon. "Of intense and permanent interest."—New York Observer. "The most interesting political and personal history ever written of any public man in this country."—Pennsylvanian. "His style is fairly eloquent with vividness and fluency. His account of the defense of New Orleans from its inception to its climax, interests more deeply than a tale of chivalry, or an Oriental romance."—Amenia Times. "One of the most interesting and instructive books we have ever read."—Russell's Magazine (Charleston, S. C.) "A Life indeed, and before which the conventional and common place biographies of modern times sink into stupidity and insignificent."—New York Journal of Commerce.

Treasurers' Receipts.

We have on hand a stock of Township Treasurers' Receipts, printed on good paper, and for sale cheap. Send in your orders.

Also a full assortment of Justices' Blanks.

Tableaux Vivants.

The ever generous ladies of our City have arranged for two exhibition of Tableaux Vivants, which are announced to be given at Hangsterfer's Hall on this and to-morrow evenings, Friday and Saturday, December 14th and 15th. Much time and labor have been expended in the preliminary arrangements, and we are confident that two entertainments will be furnished worth enjoying. And as the ladies have voluntarily proposed to make the Rogers' Art Association the recipients of their bounty, by donating the receipts of the exhibitions to that Associations to aid in the purchase of the famed statue of Nydia., in marble, by our fellow townsman, RANDOLPH ROGERS, we are confident that our citizens will appreciate their generous offer, and give themselves the pleasure and the Association a benefit by attending en masse.

Tickets of admission can be procured at the Book Stores and at the door, and even in this festive season 25 cents can not be invested in a way to bring a richer return.

☞ "ARTEMAS WARD," the showman, whose "Snaiks" have a world wide fame, visited us yesterday. He is engineering Ossian E Dodge through the State.

THE TURKS! THE TURKS!—The lectures of Mr. OSCANYAN on Saturday and Monday evenings last, before the Students' Lecture Association, were largely attended. Mr. OSCANYAN is an interesting and instructive lecturer, taking his hearers into the heart of Turkish Society, and giving them a better insight into Turkish customs, and manners and character, than they can get from any single volume. And then they are full of humor and keep the dullest listener wide awake. Go and hear the closing lectures to morrow and Monday evenings at the M. E. Church.

IN LIMBO.—On the 7th inst., Detective MOORE, of Detroit, arrested at Kalamazoo, a man calling himself JOHN WILLARD upon a charge of passing bogus twenty shilling pieces, and he is now in the hands of Sheriff LEONARD for safe-keeping. "Improving" the currency is a laudable business, but such fellows ought to be "salted," for their bogus is no better than "Western."

☞ Wheat is not coming in in any quantity, and has no market price. Like Western money it is held at a broad discount margin, and when Western money goes up—to par we mean—wheat will go up. At present prices no one will sell it who is not obliged to. Pork is coming in quite freely, and is selling from sleighs at $4,25 a $5 the latter price being paid only in rare instances and for home packing. Those farmers who sold half fatted pork some weeks ago for the Lake Superior trade, at $6, made money and saved their corn.

☞ Rev. S. D. COCHRAN will deliver an address before the Students' Christian Association, in the M. E. Church, on Sunday evening next. Subject:—Christianity the Source and Vitality of all Progress in the World. The subject will be treated with special reference to modern infidelity.

☞ Prof. J. S. THOMSON, of Detroit, intends visiting our city between Christmas and New Years for the purpose of giving a course of lectures on music. Mr. T has the reputation of being both a thorough musician and an excellent teacher, and has provided himself with charts, diagrams, movable scales, etc., for the illustration of his lectures. He comes recommended by prominent and well known citizens of Detroit as a gentleman of high standing in his profession, and we bespeak for him a favorable reception by our citizens. At the close of his lectures, assisted by Mrs THOMSON, and HUBERT SCHONACKER, Pianist, he will give a Concert, and our music-loving people may expect a rich treat.

☞ We invite attention to the advertisement of "PARTON'S Life of Andrew Jackson." We have seen one of the volumes, and endorse the certificates of their interest. Is it is too much to ask of Messrs. MASON BROTHERS to send us a copy, and put the Argus on their editorial list?

☞ There was a fine fall of Snow on Monday last, to which slight additions were made on Tuesday. The sleighing is now excellent, and it is being improved both for business and pleasure.

☞ The January number of Peterson's Ladies' National Magazine is on our table, and a magnificent number it is. There are two most beautiful steel plates, "Cobwebs," and "Caught in the Snow," each with a story to match. Then there is a colored fashion plate; a work bag or chair seat embroidery pattern, printed in twelve colors, with numerous other engravings for the ladies; Peterson is an excellent magazine for the boudoir, and we commend it to our gentlemen friends as a valuable Christmas present to wife, daughter, sister or sweetheart. $2 a year; three copies $5. CHARLES J. PETERSON, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

P. S. Peterson and the Argus for $2,75 a year.

New England Society.

The annual Address will be delivered by the Rev. A. ELDRIDGE, of Detroit, on the 22d inst., at 6½ o'clock, at the Presbyterian Church, in this city, immediately after which the members of the Society and all others who wish to partake of the Dinner, will meet at Hangsterfer's Rooms, where the annual Dinner will take place, and other usual festivities. Members of the New York Society, and other kindred societies are cordially invited to be present.

Dinner Tickets can be obtained at the Book Stores, Post Office, and of Mr. Hangsterfer, at seventy five cents each.

It is hoped that New England Ladies and Gentlemen will not neglect to attend this annual festival.

By Order of Executive Committee,
R. S. SMITH, Secy.

☞ The Christmas Festival of St. Andrew's (Episcopal) Sunday School will be held at Rogers' Hall, on Thursday evening 20th. The admission fee of 10 cents will include (for children only) a ticket entitling the holder to a gift from the gift tree, over which Santa Claus will preside. The articles for sale will be placed upon another tree. A refreshment table will be provided with the usual variety of oysters ice creams, cake, etc. All contributions from the friends of the Sabbath School will be welcome. The doors of the Hall will be open at 7, and the distribution of gifts will commence at 8 o'clock.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

IMPORTANT.—De Land & Co.' Chemical Saleratus can be purchased from your grocers: it is pure, healthful, and will produce the most desirable results,—is always reliable, and can be depended upon to have the same effect to-morrow, upon pastry, bread, &c., as it had to-day. Why will you longer use an inferior article when you buy De Land & Co.'s Saleratus for the same money that you have to pay for a worthless preparation. De Land & Co.'s Saleratus is manufactured at Fairport, Monroe Co., N. Y., where it is for sale at wholesale. The grocers in the large villages and cities also wholesale it, and good grocers every where retail it.

☞ COUGHS. The sudden changes of our climate are sources of PULMONARY, BRONCHIAL, and ASTHMATIC AFFECTIONS. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Losenges, let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. PUBLIC SPEAKERS and SINGERS will find them effectual for clearing and strengthening the voice. See advertisement. 776m6

MOTHERS READ THIS.

The following is an extract from a letter written by the pastor of a Baptist Church to the "Journal and Messenger," Cincinnati, Ohio, and speaks volumes in favor of that world-renowned medicine—MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING:

"We see an advertisement in your columns of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. Now we never said a word in favor of a patent medicine before in our life, but we feel compelled to say to your readers, that this is no humbug—WE HAVE TRIED IT, AND KNOW IT TO BE ALL IT CLAIMS. It is, probably, one of the most successful medicines of the day, because it is one of the best. And those of your readers who have babies can't do it better than to lay in a supply."

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE AND THE BRITISH REVIEWS.

L. SCOTT & CO., NEW YORK, continue to publish the following leading British Periodicals, viz.:

1. THE LONDON QUARTERLY (Conservative).
2. THE EDINBURGH REVIEW (Whig).
3. THE NORTH BRITISH REVIEW (Free Church).

5. BLACKWOOD'S EDINBURGH MAGAZINE (Tory).

The present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the forthcoming year. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written news-items, crude speculations, and flying Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public

LUNG & BLOOD INFIRMARY.

Fisher's Block Woodward Ave Detroit,

Drs. S. J. CARPENTER & RAINARD.

DOCTORS generally pretend that Consumption is incurable, because they cannot cure it themselves; but this does not make it true.

Many mechanics will works on a job all day and after doing nothing but spoil the material they will tell you it never can be done in the way you want it. But by applying to a better workman—one who thoroughly understands his business—you will get your work accomplished in shape.

In this respect there is the same difference to be found in all trades and professions. The bunglers in mechanism, in the arts, in law, in theology, and in physic, will say such things cannot be done. And it is true that they could not be it all men were like themselves. But fortunately there is another class of men, and these, when they take your case in hand, do the job as you want it, or restore you to health, according to desire. We have only to remember this act to understand why one physician should pronounce that incurable which another can cure.

In mechanics, we sometimes find that by a possession of superior means, by some new invention, of which he has the sole use, or by the greater ingenuity of his mind, one person will make or do what no other can.

Exactly it may be so in physic. And this is the very reason why I have such great success over all others in the treatment of Consumption. By having the original genius, by possessing the Lung-Meter, which enables me to clearly determine the nature of the disease and by having such remedies for Consumption as no other Physician ever had, make bold to say that I have, and can effect a cure of this disease beyond the reach of any other man. To prove this to have been the case, I might give you numbers upon numbers of certificates from men and women given over to the grave, who have been rescued and restored to health by the persevering use of my remedies for Consumption. But it is not necessary for me to do so here, for the fact of one man doing what another cannot cannot, is evident to all men of common sense. If the Consumptive wishes further proof than this, I can only say, come and satisfy yourself by trial of my skill in the cure of your complaint

Doctor Carpenter will visit Ypsilanti, and Ann Arbor, during 1860–61. Ann Arbor, at Cook's Hotel, 3d and 4th of each month; Hawkins House, Ypsilanti, 5th and 6th of each month. The remainder of the time, he will be found at his Lung Infirmary in Detroit 1y773.

CHILDREN TEETHING

Mrs. WINSLOW,

An experienced Nurse and Female Physician, presents to the attention of mothers, her

SOOTHING SYRUP,

FOR CHILDREN TEETHING,

which greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is SURE to REGULATE the BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and health to your Infants

We have put up and and sold this article for over ten years, and CAN SAY, IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of, any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter 'WHAT WE DO KNOW," after ten years' experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILLMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the most EXPERIENCED and SKILLFUL NURSES in New England, and has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in THOUSAND OF CASES.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

GRIPING IN THE BOWELS, AND WIND COLIC and overcome convulsions, which if not speedily remedied, end in death. We believe it the BEST and SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—DO NOT LET YOUR PREJUDICES, NOR THE PREJUDICES OF OTHERS, stand between you and your suffering child, and the relief that will be SURE—YES, ABSOLUTELY—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New-York, is on the outside wrapper,

Sold by Druggists througout the world.

BY ROB. J. CULVERWELL, M. D.

The important fact that the awful consequences of self abuse may be effectually removed without internal remedies or the dangerous application of caustics, instruments, medicated bongies, and other empyrical devices, is here clearly demonstrated, and the entirely new and highly successful treatment, as adopted by the celebrated author fully explained, by means of which every one is enabled to cure himself perfectly, and at the least possible cost, thereby avoiding all the advertised nostrums of the day. This Lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Why is Everybody trading at the "BANNER STORE?"—Because

A. P. MILLS,

the Proprietor of that Establishment has just returned from the Eastern Cities with the Largest, Handsomest, Cheapest, and Most Attractive Stock of

STAPLE AND FANCY

DRY GOODS!

ever brought to this part of the State.

Why is Everybody pleased with his Stock?

Because his styles are more beautiful, quality better, and prices lower than at any other store in the county.

Why has he always Something New and Cheap to Show?

Because he has a friend connected with one of the largest Dry Goods Houses in New York, who is continually "BOBBING ROUND" for cheap bargains and the late styles, as they appear from time to time, and in this way keeps him supplied with styles, and consequently customers can always find something Fresh,

NEW CHEAP and DESIRABLE

Why does he sell so much Cheaper than the rest?

Because he has a buyer in the city all the time to take advantage of the continual change of the market, and in that way buys his goods much cheaper than others can, and then he marks them down to the LOWEST FIGURES.

Why does he sell Ladies' and Childrens' Shoes so much cheaper than was ever heard of by the oldest Shoemakers?

Because he buys his stock in the land of shoemakers, of the manufacturers, fully 25 per cent cheaper than the New York Jobbers sell them, and much better work than they generally keep. This course enables him to sell a better than others sell at 50 cents, and a better FOXED GAITER at 50 cents, than others sell at 75 cents.

Gaiter for 35 Cents.

Has he any Hats and Caps?

Yes, I should think he has stacks of them, enough to supply the State, at prices lower than was ever heard of round these parts.

Why is his Tea so much better for the price you pay than you get at other places?

Because he takes great care in selecting it, and gives his customers the benefit of a real good 75 cent

TEA FOR 50 CENTS,

It is a way he has got.

Where should you go to get your CLOTHS and have them Cut or Made?

HERRICK & BROTHER,

PROF. L. MILLER'S HAIR INVIGORATOR.

AN EFFECTIVE, SAFE AND ECONOMICAL COMPOUND

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR to its original color without dyeing, and prevents the Hair from turning gray.

FOR PREVENTING BALDNESS and curing it, when there is the least particle of vitality or recuperative energy remaining.

FOR REMOVING SCURF AND DANDRUFF, and all cutaneous affections of the Scalp.

FOR BEAUTIFYING THE HAIR, imparting to it an unequalled gloss and brilliancy, making it soft and silky in its texture and causing it to curl readily.

The great celebrity and the increasing demand for this unequalled preparation, convince the proprietor that one trial is only necessary to satisfy a discerning public of its superior qualities over any other preparation at present in use. It cleanses the head and scalp from dandruff and other cutaneous diseases. Causes the hair to grow luxuriantly, and gives it a rich, soft, glossy and flexible appearance, and also where the hair is loosening and thinning, it will give strength and vigor to the roots, and restore the growth to those parts which have become bald, causing it to yield a fresh covering of hair.

There are hundreds of ladies and gentlemen in New York who have had their hair restored by the use of this Invigorator, when all other preparations had failed. L. M. has in his possession letters innumerable testifying to the above facts, from persons of the highest respectability. It will effectually prevent the hair from turning gray until the latest period of life; and in cases where the hair has changed its color, the use of the Invigorator will with certainty restore it to its original hue, giving it a dark, glossy appearance. As a perfume for the toilet and a Hair Restorative it is particularly recommended, having an agreeable fragrance; and the great facilities it affords in dressing the hair, which, when moist with the Invigorator can be dressed in any required form so as to preserve its place, whether plain or in curls—hence the great demand for it by the ladies as a standard toilet article which none ought to be without, as the price places it within the reach of all, being per bottle, to be had at all respectable druggists' and perfumers.

L. MILLER would call the attention of Parents and Guardians to the use of his Invigorator, in cases where the childrens' Hair inclines to be weak. The use of it lays the foundation for a good head of hair, as it removes any impurities that may have become connected with the scalp, the removal of which is necessary both for the health of the child and the future appearance of its Hair.

CAUTION.—None genuine without the fac simile LOUIS MILLER being on the outer wrapper; also, L. MILLER'S HAIR INVIGORATOR, N. Y. blown in the glass.

A Novelty in the Art World!

Photography on Porcelain!

Secured by letters patent in the United States, England France, and Belgium

THE AMERICAN PORCELAIN COMPANY

No 781 Broadway, New York, having secured their novel and ingenious invention by American and European patents, are fully prepared to execute all orders for presenting all the attractive and advantageous features of ordinary photographs, the brilliancy and finish of a water-color drawing and a hitherto unattained quality of durability, by being rendered as imperishable as the natural properties of the articles upon which they are transferred.

Miniature Likenesses of Persons on China,

As the patented process of the Company enables the reproduction of Photographs, not only on plain surfaces, but upon such as are round or of any degree of irregularity—portraits can be reproduced with faultless accuracy, and delicacy of delineation, upon Porcelain wares of any description and dimension used as articles of luxury or of household utility, such as thereby securing faithful portraits and furnishing a unique and exquisite style of ornamentation of articles in domestic use.

In order to furnish facilities for the gratification of the popular taste, and to meet the wants of those patrons of the Fine Arts desirous of having Portraits on Porcelain, the Company have imported from Europe a collection of superior porcelain goods, manufactured to their own order, which they sell at cost prices.

As the American Company are owners of the patent right, and consequently the only persons authorized to use the process they have determined, in order to make the following proposition to

To afford People in every section of the Union an opportunity to possess

Portraits on China,

Residents in the Country, who are unable to visit personally the Atelier and Galleries in New York

Persons sending a photograph, ambrotype, or daguerreotype to the office of the Company in New York, accompanied by

Five Dollars,

will receive in return by express, free of other charge,

A richly ornamented Breakfast Cup and Saucer, with the portrait transferred thereon.

By transmitting a daguerreotype and

Ten Dollars,

they will receive in like manner,

A handsome French Vase or Toilet Article, with portrait reproduced by the patent process.

By sending a pair of daguerreotypes and

Fifteen Dollars,

they will receive in turn

A pair of rich Sevres Vases, with the portraits executed equal to them nature paintings; and in like manner, portraits can be reproduced on porcelain wares of

Vases of every quality of finish, ranging in price from

Twenty to One Hundred Dollars the pair.

Horse Powers & Threshing Machines

such as are at present, or have formerly been in use in this part of the State, as well as all the various kinds of castings and machine work called for by farmers and mechanics in this section of the country.

Thankful for former patronage to the old firms, we would solicit a continuance from old friends, and a trial by all wishing for anything in our line of business.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

A compound remedy, designed to be the most effectual Alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints:—

SCROFULA AND SCROFULOUS COMPLAINTS, ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, ERYSIPELAS, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bottle.

PREPARED BY
DR. J. C. AYER & CO.
LOWELL, MASS.
Price, $1 per Bottle; Six Bottles for $5.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

has won for itself such a renown for the cure of every variety of Throat and Lung Complaint, that it is entirely unnecessary for us to recount the evidence of its virtues, wherever it has been employed. As it has long been in constant use throughout this section, we need not do more than assure the people its quality is kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all it has ever been found to do.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

FOR THE CURE OF

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and for Purifying the Blood.

They are sugar-coated, so that the most sensitive can take them pleasantly, and they are the best aperient in the world for all the purposes of a family physic.

Price 25 cents per Box; Five boxes for $1.00.

Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have lent their names to certify the unparalleled usefulness of these remedies, but our space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Agents below named furnish gratis our AMERICAN ALMANAC in which they are given; with also full descriptions of the above complaints, and the treatment that should be followed for their cure.

Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with other preparations they make more profit on. Demand AYER'S, and take no others. The sick want the best aid there is for them, and they should have it.

All our remedies are for sale by

MAYNARD, STEBBINS & WILSON, and by all Druggists and Dealers everywhere.

Dr MOTT'S CHALYBEATE RESTORATIVE PILLS of IRON.

AN aperient Stomachic preparation of IRON purified in Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen. Sanctioned by the highest Medical Authorities, both in Europe and the United States, and prescribed in their practice.

The experience of thousands daily prove that no preparation of Iron can be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions indicates its necessity in almost every conceivable case.

Innoxious in all maladies in which it has been tried, has proved absolutely curative in each of the following complaints, viz:

In Debility, Nervous Affections, Emaciation, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Incipient Consumption, Scrofulous Tuberculosis, Salt Rheum, Mismenstruation, Whites, Chlorosis, Liver Complaints, Chronic Headaches, Rheumatism, Intermittent Fevers, Pimples on the Face, &c.

In case of GENERAL DEBILITY, whether the result of acute disease, or of the continued diminution of nervous and muscular energy from chronic complaints, one trial of this restorative has proved successful to an extent which no description nor written attestation would render credible. Invalids so long bed-ridden as to have become forgotten in their own neighborhoods, have suddenly re-appeared in the busy world as if just returned from protracted travel in a distant land. Some very signal instances of this kind are attested of female sufferers, emaciated victims of apparent marasmus, sanguineous exhaustion, critical changes, and that complication of nervous and dyspeptic aversion to air and exercise for which the physician has no name.

In NERVOUS AFFECTIONS of all kinds, and for reasons familiar to medical men, the operation of this preparation of iron must necessarily be salutary, for, unlike the old oxides, it is vigorously tonic without being exciting and overheating; and gently, regularly aperient, even the most obstinate cases of costiveness without ever being a gastric purgative, or inflicting a disagreeable sensation.

It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably effectual and permanent a remedy for Piles, upon which it also appears to exert a distinct and specific action by dispersing the local tendency which forms them.

In DYSPEPSIA, innumerable as are its causes, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills have often sufficed for the most habitual cases, including the attendent Costiveness.

In unchecked DIARRHOEA, even when advanced to Dysentery confirmed, emaciating and apparently malignant, the effects have been equally decisive and astonishing.

In the local pains, loss of flesh and strength, debilitating cough, and remittent hectic, which generally indicate Incipient Consumption, in several very gratifying and interesting instances.

In Scrofulous Tuberculosis his medicated Iron has had far more than the good effects of the most cautiously balanced preparations of iodine, without any of their well known liabilities.

The attention of females cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy and restorative in the cases peculiarly affecting them.

In Rheumatism, both chronic and inflammatory—in the latter, however, more decidedly—it has been invariably well reported, both as alleviating pain and reducing the swellings and stiffness of the joints and muscels.

In Intermittent Fevers it must necessarily be a great remedy and energetic restorative, and its progress in the new settlements of the West, will probably be one of high renown and usefulness.

No remedy has ever been discovered in the whole history of medicine, which exerts such prompt, happy, and fully restorative effects. Good appetite, complete digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with an unusual disposition for active and cheerful exercise, immediately follow its use.

Put up in neat flat metal boxes containing 50 pills, price 50 cents per box; for sale by druggists and dealers. Will be sent free to any address on receipt of the price. All letters, orders, etc., should be addressed to
