

The Ann Arbor Argus.

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY MORNING... In the third story of the brick block corner of Main and Huron streets.

JOHN N. BAILEY, EDITOR AND PUBLISHER.

TERMS, $1.50 A YEAR IN ADVANCE.

RATES OF ADVERTISING Made known upon application at the office.

JOB PRINTING.

Business Cards, Letter Heads, Circulars, Cards, Bill Tickets, Labels, Blanks, Bill-Heads and other varieties of Plain and Fancy Job Printing executed with neatness and in the best possible style.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

MRS. S. B. JOHNS, Fashionable Dress-maker... W. H. JACKSON, Dentist, Office Corner Main and Washington streets... D. H. TAYLOR, Attorney at Law...

AN EFFECTIVE CURE.

BY L. D. V.

I said I should go, and he said I should not. I was proud and hot tempered, with a horror of being domineered over, and I insisted that I had some rights which the man I was engaged to was bound to respect, and I had promised to marry him, and he was coming to see me, and I had a right to know what he was doing...

THE ANN ARBOR SAVINGS BANK.

Capital paid in - $50,000.00. Capital security - 100,000.00. Transacts general banking business; buys and sells Exchange on New York, Detroit and Chicago; sells Sight Drafts on all the principal cities of Europe...

EMANUEL MANN, Druggist and Pharmacist.

PURE DRUGS, MEDICINES, CHEMICALS, CHOICE PERFUMES. Sole Agents for the following: Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy; Chamberlain's Cough Remedy; Chamberlain's Stomach and Bowel Remedy...

EBERBACH & SON, Druggists and Pharmacists.

12 South Main St. Have on hand a large and well selected stock of DRUGS, MEDICINES, CHEMICALS, DYE STUFFS, Artists and Wax Flower Materials, Toilet Articles, Trusses, Etc.

PURE WINES AND LIQUORS.

Special attention paid to the furnishing of Physicians Chemists, School-Teachers, with Philomathean and Chemical Appointments, Bohemian Chemical Glass, Foreign Pure Wine, Pure Cognac, etc. All medicinal preparations carefully prepared at all hours.

Abstracts of Titles.

All parties who are desirous of ascertaining the condition of the title to their lands, or parties who wish to loan money on real estate will do well to call at the Register's Office and consult a Compaired Set of Abstract Books. Said books are so far advanced that the Register can furnish on short notice a Perfect Statement as to the Title of any parcel of land in Washtenaw County as shown by the original records.

Decide the Bara.

By MARGARET R. SANDFESTER.

Grandmother's knitting has lost its charm; Unfolded it lies in her ample lap. While the sunset's crimson soft and warm, Touches the frills of her snowy cap. She's gazing on two beside the bar, Under the maple-whispering air. For the growing dusk, or the rising stars, Or the hint of frost in the autumn air.

One is a slender slip of a girl, Her eyes are dim and her hair is white, The maiden pure as the purest pearl, The lover strong in his steadfast truth. "Sweet, my own, as a rose of June!" He says, full low, o'er the golden head. It would sound to her like a dear old tune, Could grandmother hear the soft words said.

AN EFFECTIVE CURE.

BY L. D. V.

I heard her say to the Doctor, as he stood behind the door. "How did this happen, doctor?" "He replied in a whisper, which I did not catch, and then beckoned to me. "Madam," he said politely, "it is against the rules of this institution for visitors to remain with the patients beyond an allotted time, but as this case is rather an exceptional one, and as I have confidence in your power to cure rather than to aggravate your friend's ill, I shall allow you to return with him, but you must remain with him till nine."

How England Takes Her Census.

In Great Britain a census has been taken every ten years since 1801, and the system is now one of the most perfect of the last century, there was no real method, and all previous estimations of the population of the United Kingdom were mere guesses. It seems the more strange that such should have been the case, considering that, in the American colonies, enumerations of the population had often been made by order of the home government. In 1790, a beginning was made in Scotland by Sir John Sinclair, who, through his personal efforts in collecting the cooperation of all the clergymen of the established church, collected returns which were of great value, though necessarily incomplete. After seven years he completed his compilation, and published the results in twenty-one volumes, probably the greatest statistical work ever undertaken and carried through by one private enterprise. Under the system adopted in Great Britain, the census of 1871 was taken in one day, the 31st of March. In 1851, 30,610 enumerators were appointed in England and Wales by the 2,190 district registrars in those countries, each enumerator having a list of names of the persons assigned to him. In Scotland the thirty-two sheriffs appointed the temporary registrars—generally parish schoolmasters—and 8,130 enumerators. For the smaller islands, the government appointed special enumerators in Ireland the census was taken by the constabulary. Some days before the census day printed schedules were delivered at every house or tenement; in Wales they were printed in Welsh for the benefit of the lower classes. These schedules contained questions about the name, relation to head of family, condition, age, sex, occupation, and birthplace of every person in the household, and also the names of deaf, dumb and blind. Measures were taken to secure accurately the names of night laborers, persons out of the country, travelers, seamen, soldiers, etc. These schedules were all filled in by the 31st of March 1871, and were taken up at an early hour on March 31, the collector filling up the parts that had been left blank through their negligence or inability. All unoccupied houses and buildings in course of construction were included in the floating population—persons who spend the night in boats and barges, in barns, sheds, etc., were required to be estimated as nearly as possible. The enumerators were allowed one week to make their returns, and the schedules, and the summaries and estimates completed according to detailed instructions. The district registrars had to complete their revision of the returns of their subordinates in a fortnight. The collector's attention was directed to specially defined points. These revised returns were again revised by the "superintendent registrars," and then transmitted to the census office. The census of 1871 was conducted with the greatest accuracy, and the results are of the highest value to statisticians and economists. The British system has served as a model for many other countries, where it has been introduced, and has been improved by means of printed schedules.—Boston Herald.

The Nationality Principle.

The Cologne Gazette publishes an article very interestingly looking at the Italian and their reckless agitation relative to the acquisition of neighboring territories. The nationality principle, though important in itself, it says, is modified by historical right and existing treaties. The limits of the nationality principle, which does not think of hankering after the German parts of Switzerland or Austria. South Tyrol never belonged to Italy, and Trieste and Istria were Italian only temporarily; and if the coast population of Dalmatia were even purely Italian, a claim to the possession of that country could not be so easily raised; for the frontiers of the European States coincide nowhere exactly with the limits of the nationality principle. If that principle were to be applied generally, it would bring about a war of everybody against everybody.

Can a Sheep Reason?

By G. S. J. JOHNSON. We think that a sheep that stands No. 1, as far as sagacity is concerned, is a male, and during the summer was pastured with some calves in an apple orchard adjacent to the residence. There were several trees in the orchard well loaded with early fruit. The trees were about six inches in diameter. One evening Mr. Clark heard considerable noise in the orchard, and, upon investigation, found the sheep and calves quietly eating apples under one of the trees; in a few minutes all the apples were eaten, when, to his surprise, he saw the sheep back of several yards from the tree and butting it with all force, bringing down a quantity of fruit; this they proceeded to eat as before, and when the supply gave out the sheep replenished it as before. This was continued until appetite was appeased. So persistent was the sheep in his novel mode of tree-shaking that Mr. Clark was obliged to protect the trees, lest the continual bruising of the bark should cause permanent injury.

What a Sheep Reason?

By G. S. J. JOHNSON. The other day, says a Nebraska newspaper, a wounded old Pinto was painfully sawing wood in the street. Cold as the weather was, the nature of the work forced the Indian to lay aside his blanket and toil in his shirt sleeves. As the old man worked, a sturdy tramp, with a flour bag and a very high forehead, approached. He stood for some time idly watching the interesting sight, the tramp plucked up the courage and walked off with it, despite the expostulatory cries of the Indian, who followed in great distress. A deputy constable was attracted by the noise, and when the poor old Indian had, in broken English, explained the cause of his woe, the tramp was taken into custody, and the blanket turned over to its owner, who hobbled back to his work. The next morning the tramp, who gave his name as Belford, was brought before Justice Knox. "What's your plea?" asked the Court. "What's your charge?" demanded the deputy. "Petty larceny," answered Belford, starting back. "Do me ears deceive me?" "No, your ears are all right," said his Honor. "What's your plea, now?" "Steal it, sir? No sir; I took it. It was mine because I wanted it. The irresistible antagonism of races justifies the transfer of ownership." "So, sir, you are an Indian undoubtedly, is it not inevitable, in the opinion of your Honor, that the Indians of our Anglo-Saxon civilization in its onward march across this broad and glorious continent crush red man beneath its progress?" "That which maintains the Indian in savage and ill-fed idleness, under the peaceful air of the white man blossoms and blooms, and teems with life. Where the red man roamed following the clouds, are now busy cities and fields of golden corn. The Indian has passed away. "Who shall say the cruelty which expelled him from his hunting grounds was not a work of mercy to him?" "For every savage who drew his bow in the solitude, a thousand civilized men and women now toil, sow, reap and are happy. "Standing on the peaks of time, and taking the continent for the field of observation, I— "Yes, but what about the blanket?" interrupted the court. "Well," replied Mr. Belford, "I can't say but that the blanket is a good thing, and old brick's blanket as Congress has to fire the Utes of their reservation just because there's been some good ledges struck on 'em." "I agree with you Mr. Belford," said the court. "Thank you, your Honor," returned Mr. Belford, reaching for his hat. "But permit me to add," continued the court, "that the moral ideas of Congress don't always jibe with my notions. I'll give you six months in the county jail to study up the Indian question." "That could not have occurred in a civilized community," muttered the dazed Mr. Belford as he was led off to the bastille.

What a Sheep Reason?

By G. S. J. JOHNSON. We think that a sheep that stands No. 1, as far as sagacity is concerned, is a male, and during the summer was pastured with some calves in an apple orchard adjacent to the residence. There were several trees in the orchard well loaded with early fruit. The trees were about six inches in diameter. One evening Mr. Clark heard considerable noise in the orchard, and, upon investigation, found the sheep and calves quietly eating apples under one of the trees; in a few minutes all the apples were eaten, when, to his surprise, he saw the sheep back of several yards from the tree and butting it with all force, bringing down a quantity of fruit; this they proceeded to eat as before, and when the supply gave out the sheep replenished it as before. This was continued until appetite was appeased. So persistent was the sheep in his novel mode of tree-shaking that Mr. Clark was obliged to protect the trees, lest the continual bruising of the bark should cause permanent injury.

Rain-Making by Explosions.

The ingenious plan for rain-making proposed by Gen. Ruggles, of Virginia, is in accordance with a theory of rain-formation long held by eminent savants. The plan is to send up into the moist strata of the atmosphere dynamite cartridges, lodged in balloons, to be exploded by time fuses, or electric wires connected with the earth. The explosion, it is claimed, will have the effect of bringing together masses of air of different temperatures and humidity, and producing rain. The vapor aloft sufficient to produce rain. If we suppose, on a dry day in summer, the passage overhead of a large current of moist air, such as constitutes the well-known upper "anti-trade" current, and that an explosion of dynamite takes place within its vaporous strata, the sudden displacement and rarefaction would probably invite a downward movement from the strata of moist air, and induce a sphere to form in the vacuum formed by the explosion. This is, theoretically, good reasoning; is unquestionable; but the practical difficulties of adjusting the explosive blast to a given point in the air, and of timing the explosions would necessitate much experimentation and would require the most skillful handling. But the experimenter would need to be given more practice in whether to give more practice in which he was about to explode dynamite was laden with vapor and superimposed by the cold condensing air upon which he must rely to produce precipitation. But impracticable as this plan appears, it is possible that experiments would clear away many of the difficulties. It is an uncommon thing in a long drought to be tantalized with the sight of a shower of rain, and the severe plans, rich in longest-for moisture, overpreads the earth and sails onward without depositing a drop of rain, unless its under surface impinges against the cool tree-tops of some hill or mountain, where the moisture is broken and the shower falls. If it be true that forests, by slightly lowering the temperature of passing clouds, effect condensation sufficient to make them drizzle their moisture on adjacent districts, it is far more plausible that an explosion in the vapor-laden mass, by invoking the descent of the cold upper atmosphere, would occasion very considerable amount of rainfall. The upper current in which the cirrus clouds drift, is far more pliable than the lower, and according to the estimates of the best meteorologists, has the polar temperature of 40 degrees below zero, and converts the vapor particles in its midst into ice-crystals. There are probably a great many persons who, during the long brightening drought in the autumn of 1871, when the Chicago drought was broken by a heavy rain which succeeded the fire. But for some persons, even the most skeptical, been generally dismissed as impracticable. The new plan of rain-making by explosions is, however, free from the objection of excessive cost for the agent employed. The investment in a small quantity of dynamite, which can be conducted under the direction of skilled meteorologists and Signal-Service officers and observers.—St. Louis Republican.

The Instincts and Emotions of Fishes.

At the opening meeting of the session of the American Psychological Association, Dr. Francis D. Mott read a paper on the "Instincts and Emotions of Fishes." The study of the subject had, he said, received but very little attention in late years, most naturalists appearing to have been content with the existence of fishes as a silent, monotonous, and joyless one. This, however, by no means the case, though we cannot, of course, expect to find special expressions so well marked as in higher animals. Fishes have, however, invariable eyes, have their checks covered with scales, and have no external ears, whose motions in some animals are so expressive. The most numerous records of observation are those which relate to the behavior of the young. Some fishes are polygamous, but among the monogamous there is seen a watchfulness over the young, in which the male often plays as important a part as the female. In some species, as in the duty of the male to prepare the nest, as well as to take care of the young. In some classes, which are not neat builders, the eggs are carried in the cheek hollows of the female. In other species, the male, besides being guarded by the male, is gradually opened more and more to the action of the water, and a current is directed by a motion of the body, as in the case of the salmon, where the male is called by well known, though as this is generally associated with feeding; it may not be taken to mean much. Cases have been noticed of male fishes remaining at the same spot in a river until such the female has been removed; and, in one case, where a pair were separated for three weeks, they became miserable and seemed near death, while on being reunited they displayed a great amount of affection. It has been known to attach themselves to particular spots and battles to ensue with intruders. Such combats have been watched, and it has been noticed that while the conqueror assumes more brilliant hues, the conquered snuffs off with his gay colors faded. In their artfulness in obtaining food, fishes show much intelligence, which is more marked with the larger species. They are able to entice within their reach. That some classes are capable of an organization for acting together for common good is shown by the way they unite to attack a common enemy. The sub-ject is one that deserves much more attention than it has hitherto received.

What a Sheep Reason?

By G. S. J. JOHNSON. The other day, says a Nebraska newspaper, a wounded old Pinto was painfully sawing wood in the street. Cold as the weather was, the nature of the work forced the Indian to lay aside his blanket and toil in his shirt sleeves. As the old man worked, a sturdy tramp, with a flour bag and a very high forehead, approached. He stood for some time idly watching the interesting sight, the tramp plucked up the courage and walked off with it, despite the expostulatory cries of the Indian, who followed in great distress. A deputy constable was attracted by the noise, and when the poor old Indian had, in broken English, explained the cause of his woe, the tramp was taken into custody, and the blanket turned over to its owner, who hobbled back to his work. The next morning the tramp, who gave his name as Belford, was brought before Justice Knox. "What's your plea?" asked the Court. "What's your charge?" demanded the deputy. "Petty larceny," answered Belford, starting back. "Do me ears deceive me?" "No, your ears are all right," said his Honor. "What's your plea, now?" "Steal it, sir? No sir; I took it. It was mine because I wanted it. The irresistible antagonism of races justifies the transfer of ownership." "So, sir, you are an Indian undoubtedly, is it not inevitable, in the opinion of your Honor, that the Indians of our Anglo-Saxon civilization in its onward march across this broad and glorious continent crush red man beneath its progress?" "That which maintains the Indian in savage and ill-fed idleness, under the peaceful air of the white man blossoms and blooms, and teems with life. Where the red man roamed following the clouds, are now busy cities and fields of golden corn. The Indian has passed away. "Who shall say the cruelty which expelled him from his hunting grounds was not a work of mercy to him?" "For every savage who drew his bow in the solitude, a thousand civilized men and women now toil, sow, reap and are happy. "Standing on the peaks of time, and taking the continent for the field of observation, I— "Yes, but what about the blanket?" interrupted the court. "Well," replied Mr. Belford, "I can't say but that the blanket is a good thing, and old brick's blanket as Congress has to fire the Utes of their reservation just because there's been some good ledges struck on 'em." "I agree with you Mr. Belford," said the court. "Thank you, your Honor," returned Mr. Belford, reaching for his hat. "But permit me to add," continued the court, "that the moral ideas of Congress don't always jibe with my notions. I'll give you six months in the county jail to study up the Indian question." "That could not have occurred in a civilized community," muttered the dazed Mr. Belford as he was led off to the bastille.

What a Sheep Reason?

By G. S. J. JOHNSON. The other day, says a Nebraska newspaper, a wounded old Pinto was painfully sawing wood in the street. Cold as the weather was, the nature of the work forced the Indian to lay aside his blanket and toil in his shirt sleeves. As the old man worked, a sturdy tramp, with a flour bag and a very high forehead, approached. He stood for some time idly watching the interesting sight, the tramp plucked up the courage and walked off with it, despite the expostulatory cries of the Indian, who followed in great distress. A deputy constable was attracted by the noise, and when the poor old Indian had, in broken English, explained the cause of his woe, the tramp was taken into custody, and the blanket turned over to its owner, who hobbled back to his work. The next morning the tramp, who gave his name as Belford, was brought before Justice Knox. "What's your plea?" asked the Court. "What's your charge?" demanded the deputy. "Petty larceny," answered Belford, starting back. "Do me ears deceive me?" "No, your ears are all right," said his Honor. "What's your plea, now?" "Steal it, sir? No sir; I took it. It was mine because I wanted it. The irresistible antagonism of races justifies the transfer of ownership." "So, sir, you are an Indian undoubtedly, is it not inevitable, in the opinion of your Honor, that the Indians of our Anglo-Saxon civilization in its onward march across this broad and glorious continent crush red man beneath its progress?" "That which maintains the Indian in savage and ill-fed idleness, under the peaceful air of the white man blossoms and blooms, and teems with life. Where the red man roamed following the clouds, are now busy cities and fields of golden corn. The Indian has passed away. "Who shall say the cruelty which expelled him from his hunting grounds was not a work of mercy to him?" "For every savage who drew his bow in the solitude, a thousand civilized men and women now toil, sow, reap and are happy. "Standing on the peaks of time, and taking the continent for the field of observation, I— "Yes, but what about the blanket?" interrupted the court. "Well," replied Mr. Belford, "I can't say but that the blanket is a good thing, and old brick's blanket as Congress has to fire the Utes of their reservation just because there's been some good ledges struck on 'em." "I agree with you Mr. Belford," said the court. "Thank you, your Honor," returned Mr. Belford, reaching for his hat. "But permit me to add," continued the court, "that the moral ideas of Congress don't always jibe with my notions. I'll give you six months in the county jail to study up the Indian question." "That could not have occurred in a civilized community," muttered the dazed Mr. Belford as he was led off to the bastille.

What a Sheep Reason?

By G. S. J. JOHNSON. The other day, says a Nebraska newspaper, a wounded old Pinto was painfully sawing wood in the street. Cold as the weather was, the nature of the work forced the Indian to lay aside his blanket and toil in his shirt sleeves. As the old man worked, a sturdy tramp, with a flour bag and a very high forehead, approached. He stood for some time idly watching the interesting sight, the tramp plucked up the courage and walked off with it, despite the expostulatory cries of the Indian, who followed in great distress. A deputy constable was attracted by the noise, and when the poor old Indian had, in broken English, explained the cause of his woe, the tramp was taken into custody, and the blanket turned over to its owner, who hobbled back to his work. The next morning the tramp, who gave his name as Belford, was brought before Justice Knox. "What's your plea?" asked the Court. "What's your charge?" demanded the deputy. "Petty larceny," answered Belford, starting back. "Do me ears deceive me?" "No, your ears are all right," said his Honor. "What's your plea, now?" "Steal it, sir? No sir; I took it. It was mine because I wanted it. The irresistible antagonism of races justifies the transfer of ownership." "So, sir, you are an Indian undoubtedly, is it not inevitable, in the opinion of your Honor, that the Indians of our Anglo-Saxon civilization in its onward march across this broad and glorious continent crush red man beneath its progress?" "That which maintains the Indian in savage and ill-fed idleness, under the peaceful air of the white man blossoms and blooms, and teems with life. Where the red man roamed following the clouds, are now busy cities and fields of golden corn. The Indian has passed away. "Who shall say the cruelty which expelled him from his hunting grounds was not a work of mercy to him?" "For every savage who drew his bow in the solitude, a thousand civilized men and women now toil, sow, reap and are happy. "Standing on the peaks of time, and taking the continent for the field of observation, I— "Yes, but what about the blanket?" interrupted the court. "Well," replied Mr. Belford, "I can't say but that the blanket is a good thing, and old brick's blanket as Congress has to fire the Utes of their reservation just because there's been some good ledges struck on 'em." "I agree with you Mr. Belford," said the court. "Thank you, your Honor," returned Mr. Belford, reaching for his hat. "But permit me to add," continued the court, "that the moral ideas of Congress don't always jibe with my notions. I'll give you six months in the county jail to study up the Indian question." "That could not have occurred in a civilized community," muttered the dazed Mr. Belford as he was led off to the bastille.

What a Sheep Reason?

By G. S. J. JOHNSON. The other day, says a Nebraska newspaper, a wounded old Pinto was painfully sawing wood in the street. Cold as the weather was, the nature of the work forced the Indian to lay aside his blanket and toil in his shirt sleeves. As the old man worked, a sturdy tramp, with a flour bag and a very high forehead, approached. He stood for some time idly watching the interesting sight, the tramp plucked up the courage and walked off with it, despite the expostulatory cries of the Indian, who followed in great distress. A deputy constable was attracted by the noise, and when the poor old Indian had, in broken English, explained the cause of his woe, the tramp was taken into custody, and the blanket turned over to its owner, who hobbled back to his work. The next morning the tramp, who gave his name as Belford, was brought before Justice Knox. "What's your plea?" asked the Court. "What's your charge?" demanded the deputy. "Petty larceny," answered Belford, starting back. "Do me ears deceive me?" "No, your ears are all right," said his Honor. "What's your plea, now?" "Steal it, sir? No sir; I took it. It was mine because I wanted it. The irresistible antagonism of races justifies the transfer of ownership." "So, sir, you are an Indian undoubtedly, is it not inevitable, in the opinion of your Honor, that the Indians of our Anglo-Saxon civilization in its onward march across this broad and glorious continent crush red man beneath its progress?" "That which maintains the Indian in savage and ill-fed idleness, under the peaceful air of the white man blossoms and blooms, and teems with life. Where the red man roamed following the clouds, are now busy cities and fields of golden corn. The Indian has passed away. "Who shall say the cruelty which expelled him from his hunting grounds was not a work of mercy to him?" "For every savage who drew his bow in the solitude, a thousand civilized men and women now toil, sow, reap and are happy. "Standing on the peaks of time, and taking the continent for the field of observation, I— "Yes, but what about the blanket?" interrupted the court. "Well," replied Mr. Belford, "I can't say but that the blanket is a good thing, and old brick's blanket as Congress has to fire the Utes of their reservation just because there's been some good ledges struck on 'em." "I agree with you Mr. Belford," said the court. "Thank you, your Honor," returned Mr. Belford, reaching for his hat. "But permit me to add," continued the court, "that the moral ideas of Congress don't always jibe with my notions. I'll give you six months in the county jail to study up the Indian question." "That could not have occurred in a civilized community," muttered the dazed Mr. Belford as he was led off to the bastille.

What a Sheep Reason?

By G. S. J. JOHNSON. The other day, says a Nebraska newspaper, a wounded old Pinto was painfully sawing wood in the street. Cold as the weather was, the nature of the work forced the Indian to lay aside his blanket and toil in his shirt sleeves. As the old man worked, a sturdy tramp, with a flour bag and a very high forehead, approached. He stood for some time idly watching the interesting sight, the tramp plucked up the courage and walked off with it, despite the expostulatory cries of the Indian, who followed in great distress. A deputy constable was attracted by the noise, and when the poor old Indian had, in broken English, explained the cause of his woe, the tramp was taken into custody, and the blanket turned over to its owner, who hobbled back to his work. The next morning the tramp, who gave his name as Belford, was brought before Justice Knox. "What's your plea?" asked the Court. "What's your charge?" demanded the deputy. "Petty larceny," answered Belford, starting back. "Do me ears deceive me?" "No, your ears are all right," said his Honor. "What's your plea, now?" "Steal it, sir? No sir; I took it. It was mine because I wanted it. The irresistible antagonism of races justifies the transfer of ownership." "So, sir, you are an Indian undoubtedly, is it not inevitable, in the opinion of your Honor, that the Indians of our Anglo-Saxon civilization in its onward march across this broad and glorious continent crush red man beneath its progress?" "That which maintains the Indian in savage and ill-fed idleness, under the peaceful air of the white man blossoms and blooms, and teems with life. Where the red man roamed following the clouds, are now busy cities and fields of golden corn. The Indian has passed away. "Who shall say the cruelty which expelled him from his hunting grounds was not a work of mercy to him?" "For every savage who drew his bow in the solitude, a thousand civilized men and women now toil, sow, reap and are happy. "Standing on the peaks of time, and taking the continent for the field of observation, I— "Yes, but what about the blanket?" interrupted the court. "Well," replied Mr. Belford, "I can't say but that the blanket is a good thing, and old brick's blanket as Congress has to fire the Utes of their reservation just because there's been some good ledges struck on 'em." "I agree with you Mr. Belford," said the court. "Thank you, your Honor," returned Mr. Belford, reaching for his hat. "But permit me to add," continued the court, "that the moral ideas of Congress don't always jibe with my notions. I'll give you six months in the county jail to study up the Indian question." "That could not have occurred in a civilized community," muttered the dazed Mr. Belford as he was led off to the bastille.

What a Sheep Reason?

By G. S. J. JOHNSON. The other day, says a Nebraska newspaper, a wounded old Pinto was painfully sawing wood in the street. Cold as the weather was, the nature of the work forced the Indian to lay aside his blanket and toil in his shirt sleeves. As the old man worked, a sturdy tramp, with a flour bag and a very high forehead, approached. He stood for some time idly watching the interesting sight, the tramp plucked up the courage and walked off with it, despite the expostulatory cries of the Indian, who followed in great distress. A deputy constable was attracted by the noise, and when the poor old Indian had, in broken English, explained the cause of his woe, the tramp was taken into custody, and the blanket turned over to its owner, who hobbled back to his work. The next morning the tramp, who gave his name as Belford, was brought before Justice Knox. "What's your plea?" asked the Court. "What's your charge?" demanded the deputy. "Petty larceny," answered Belford, starting back. "Do me ears deceive me?" "No, your ears are all right," said his Honor. "What's your plea, now?" "Steal it, sir? No sir; I took it. It was mine because I wanted it. The irresistible antagonism of races justifies the transfer of ownership." "So, sir, you are an Indian undoubtedly, is it not inevitable, in the opinion of your Honor, that the Indians of our Anglo-Saxon civilization in its onward march across this broad and glorious continent crush red man beneath its progress?" "That which maintains the Indian in savage and ill-fed idleness, under the peaceful air of the white man blossoms and blooms, and teems with life. Where the red man roamed following the clouds, are now busy cities and fields of golden corn. The Indian has passed away. "Who shall say the cruelty which expelled him from his hunting grounds was not a work of mercy to him?" "For every savage who drew his bow in the solitude, a thousand civilized men and women now toil, sow, reap and are happy. "Standing on the peaks of time, and taking the continent for the field of observation, I— "Yes, but what about the blanket?" interrupted the court. "Well," replied Mr. Belford, "I can't say but that the blanket is a good thing, and old brick's blanket as Congress has to fire the Utes of their reservation just because there's been some good ledges struck on 'em." "I agree with you Mr. Belford," said the court. "Thank you, your Honor," returned Mr. Belford, reaching for his hat. "But permit me to add," continued the court, "that the moral ideas of Congress don't always jibe with my notions. I'll give you six months in the county jail to study up the Indian question." "That could not have occurred in a civilized community," muttered the dazed Mr. Belford as he was led off to the bastille.

What a Sheep Reason?

By G. S. J. JOHNSON. The other day, says a Nebraska newspaper, a wounded old Pinto was painfully sawing wood in the street. Cold as the weather was, the nature of the work forced the Indian to lay aside his blanket and toil in his shirt sleeves. As the old man worked, a sturdy tramp, with a flour bag and a very high forehead, approached. He stood for some time idly watching the interesting sight, the tramp plucked up the courage and walked off with it, despite the expostulatory cries of the Indian, who followed in great distress. A deputy constable was attracted by the noise, and when the poor old Indian had, in broken English, explained the cause of his woe, the tramp was taken into custody, and the blanket turned over to its owner, who hobbled back to his work. The next morning the tramp, who gave his name as Belford, was brought before Justice Knox. "What's your plea?" asked the Court. "What's your charge?" demanded the deputy. "Petty larceny," answered Belford, starting back. "Do me ears deceive me?" "No, your ears are all right," said his Honor. "What's your plea, now?" "Steal it, sir? No sir; I took it. It was mine because I wanted it. The irresistible antagonism of races justifies the transfer of ownership." "So, sir, you are an Indian undoubtedly, is it not inevitable, in the opinion of your Honor, that the Indians of our Anglo-Saxon civilization in its onward march across this broad and glorious continent crush red man beneath its progress?" "That which maintains the Indian in savage and ill-fed idleness, under the peaceful air of the white man blossoms and blooms, and teems with life. Where the red man roamed following the clouds, are now busy cities and fields of golden corn. The Indian has passed away. "Who shall say the cruelty which expelled him from his hunting grounds was not a work of mercy to him?" "For every savage who drew his bow in the solitude, a thousand civilized men and women now toil, sow, reap and are happy. "Standing on the peaks of time, and taking the continent for the field of observation, I— "Yes, but what about the blanket?" interrupted the court. "Well," replied Mr. Belford, "I can't say but that the blanket is a good thing, and old brick's blanket as Congress has to fire the Utes of their reservation just because there's been some good ledges struck on 'em." "I agree with you Mr. Belford," said the court. "Thank you, your Honor," returned Mr. Belford, reaching for his hat. "But permit me to add," continued the court, "that the moral ideas of Congress don't always jibe with my notions. I'll give you six months in the county jail to study up the Indian question." "That could not have occurred in a civilized community," muttered the dazed Mr. Belford as he was led off to the bastille.

A Tramp on the Indian Problem.

The other day, says a Nebraska newspaper, a wounded old Pinto was painfully sawing wood in the street. Cold as the weather was, the nature of the work forced the Indian to lay aside his blanket and toil in his shirt sleeves. As the old man worked, a sturdy tramp, with a flour bag and a very high forehead, approached. He stood for some time idly watching the interesting sight, the tramp plucked up the courage and walked off with it, despite the expostulatory cries of the Indian, who followed in great distress. A deputy constable was attracted by the noise, and when the poor old Indian had, in broken English, explained the cause of his woe, the tramp was taken into custody, and the blanket turned over to its owner, who hobbled back to his work. The next morning the tramp, who gave his name as Belford, was brought before Justice Knox. "What's your plea?" asked the Court. "What's your charge?" demanded the deputy. "Petty larceny," answered Belford, starting back. "Do me ears deceive me?" "No, your ears are all right," said his Honor. "What's your plea, now?" "Steal it, sir? No sir; I took it. It was mine because I wanted it. The irresistible antagonism of races justifies the transfer of ownership." "So, sir, you are an Indian undoubtedly, is it not inevitable, in the opinion of your Honor, that the Indians of our Anglo-Saxon civilization in its onward march across this broad and glorious continent crush red man beneath its progress?" "That which maintains the Indian in savage and ill-fed idleness, under the peaceful air of the white man blossoms and blooms, and teems with life. Where the red man roamed following the clouds, are now busy cities and fields of golden corn. The Indian has passed away. "Who shall say the cruelty which expelled him from his hunting grounds was not a work of mercy to him?" "For every savage who drew his bow in the solitude, a thousand civilized men and women now toil, sow, reap and are happy. "Standing on the peaks of time, and taking the continent for the field of observation, I— "Yes, but what about the blanket?" interrupted the court. "Well," replied Mr. Belford, "I can't say but that the blanket is a good thing, and old brick's blanket as Congress has to fire the Utes of their reservation just because there's been some good ledges struck on 'em." "I agree with you Mr. Belford," said the court. "Thank you, your Honor," returned Mr. Belford, reaching for his hat. "But permit me to add," continued the court, "that the moral ideas of Congress don't always jibe with my notions. I'll give you six months in the county jail to study up the Indian question." "That could not have occurred in a civilized community," muttered the dazed Mr. Belford as he was led off to the bastille.

What a Sheep Reason?

By G. S. J. JOHNSON. The other day, says a Nebraska newspaper, a wounded old Pinto was painfully sawing wood in the street. Cold as the weather was, the nature of the work forced the Indian to lay aside his blanket and toil in his shirt sleeves. As the old man worked, a sturdy tramp, with a flour bag and a very high forehead, approached. He stood for some time idly watching the interesting sight, the tramp plucked up the courage and walked off with it, despite the expostulatory cries of the Indian, who followed in great distress. A deputy constable was attracted by the noise, and when the poor old Indian had, in broken English, explained the cause of his woe, the tramp was taken into custody, and the blanket turned over to its owner, who hobbled back to his work. The next morning the tramp, who gave his name as Belford, was brought before Justice Knox. "What's your plea?" asked the Court. "What's your charge?" demanded the deputy. "Petty larceny," answered Belford, starting back. "Do me ears deceive me?" "No, your ears are all right," said his Honor. "What's your plea, now?" "Steal it, sir? No sir; I took it. It was mine because I wanted it. The irresistible antagonism of races justifies the transfer of ownership." "So, sir, you are an Indian undoubtedly, is it not inevitable, in the opinion of your Honor, that the Indians of our Anglo-Saxon civilization in its onward march across this broad and glorious continent crush red man beneath its progress?" "That which maintains the Indian in savage and ill-fed idleness, under the peaceful air of the white man blossoms and blooms, and teems with life. Where the red man roamed following the clouds, are now busy cities and fields of golden corn. The Indian has passed away. "Who shall say the cruelty which expelled him from his hunting grounds was not a work of mercy to him?" "For every savage who drew his bow in the solitude, a thousand civilized men and women now toil, sow, reap and are happy. "Standing on the peaks of time, and taking the continent for the field of observation, I— "Yes, but what about the blanket?" interrupted the court. "Well," replied Mr. Belford, "I can't say but that the blanket is a good thing, and old brick's blanket as Congress has to fire the Utes of their reservation just because there's been some good ledges struck on 'em." "I agree with you Mr. Belford," said the court. "Thank you, your Honor," returned Mr. Belford, reaching for his hat. "But permit me to add," continued the court, "that the moral ideas of Congress don't always jibe with my notions. I'll give you six months in the county jail to study up the Indian question." "That could not have occurred in a civilized community," muttered the dazed Mr. Belford as he was led off to the bastille.

What a Sheep Reason?

By G. S. J. JOHNSON. The other day, says a Nebraska newspaper, a wounded old Pinto was painfully sawing wood in the street. Cold as the weather was, the nature of the work forced the Indian to lay aside his blanket and toil in his shirt sleeves. As the old man worked, a sturdy tramp, with a flour bag and a very high forehead, approached. He stood for some time idly watching the interesting sight, the tramp plucked up the courage and walked off with it, despite the expostulatory cries of the Indian, who followed in great distress. A deputy constable was attracted by the noise, and when the poor old Indian had, in broken English, explained the cause of his woe, the tramp was taken into custody, and the blanket turned over to its owner, who hobbled back to his work. The next morning the tramp, who gave his name as Belford, was brought before Justice Knox. "What's your plea?" asked the Court. "What's your charge?" demanded the deputy. "Petty larceny," answered Belford, starting back. "Do me ears deceive me?" "No, your ears are all right," said his Honor. "What's your plea,

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

The Democratic State Convention, to appoint delegates to the Democratic National Convention...

Each County will be entitled to six delegates for each Representative to which, under the last apportionment, it is entitled in the lower branch of the State Legislature...

Why does not some advocate of a "strong government" nominate Grant for a fourth term?

Bosses Conkling, Cameron and Logan say Grant shall be the republican candidate.

It is gratifying to read that Acklen of Louisiana fails to secure a re-nomination.

Vanderbilt who recently swore he had no property liable to taxation will soon invest six millions more in government four per cents...

Gen. Grant attended the Methodist church, at Bloomington Sunday, and, strange to say, was not insulted by any of the people...

Of Mrs. John Sherman this anecdote, said to be current in Mansfield, is told by the Cleveland Herald: While a girl at school she became engaged one day in talking to several companions on the subject of marriage...

Democrats of New York met in two conventions at Syracuse on Tuesday. The regular convention largely composed of friends of Mr. Tilden was presided over by senator Jacobs of Brooklyn...

Rev. Mr. De La Matry is one of the accidental firebreakers who, indorsed by the democrats, got into congress from the Indianapolis district.

What have we done that ex-senator Henderson of Missouri should impute to us a willfulness to run Grant? Said Henderson, "he would not be surprised to see the ex-president running for a third term as an independent candidate."

Sunday night's storm was of almost unexampled scope and severity. It extended, with more or less violence, from Kansas and Nebraska across Missouri and Illinois and north into Wisconsin.

A GOOD PLATFORM.

The Democratic Party of New York Speak in no Uncertain Sound.

The Democratic party of New York renew their fidelity to the principles set forth by the National Democratic Convention at St. Louis, and approved by decisive popular majorities in the Presidential election in 1876.

But the Democratic party of New York have not been content with the success of their party against the people's constitutional sovereignty, which by forgeries, bribes and frauds they have secured.

Despite a century of broadening precedents, the maintenance of the Declaration of Independence, of every bill of rights of the Federal Constitution, and of every State Constitution...

As for the Democracy, the people's rule, the people's right to rule, is the very breath of its life.

This, then, is the momentous issue, the right of the people to exercise and enjoy an elective self-government without impediment by force or fraud from any quarter, least of all by fraud and force from their temporary but discarded servants.

The Democratic party of New York are to the election of the electoral college, a conspiracy of 1876 an emphatic declaration of their confidence in the character, ability and fitness of the best qualified citizen of New York who was then elected to the highest office in the people's gift...

Resolved, That the delegation to the Democratic National Convention to be appointed are hereby instructed to endeavor to convert such a unit as shall be a unit with the will of the majority or the members thereof, and in case any of its members shall be appointed a delegate by any other organization and shall not forthwith, in writing, decline such appointment, his seat shall be vacant and the delegates shall proceed to fill the vacancy and are hereby empowered to supply all vacancies by death, absence, resignation or otherwise.

Resolved, That in case any attempt should be made to dismember or divide the delegation by electing the seats of a portion of the delegates, and any of the delegates appointed by this convention should contemn such an attempt by assuming to act separately from the majority of the delegation appointed by this convention, or to enter the National Convention separately from such majority, or should fail to co-operate with such majority, the seats of such delegates shall be deemed to be vacant.

The members of the appropriations committee of the house of representatives will make Mr. Heister Clymer's bride a handsome present.

State News.

Township treasurer Hebb of Weesaw, St. Joseph county was last week robbed of $500.

Two boys have stolen $500 from the treasury of Sanilac county and promptly started west.

Nancy Wright is in jail at Charlotte, charged with adultery, her husband making the charge against her.

Emma Ort, 18 years of age, a respectable girl of Allegan, seduced by Chas. E. Smith, drowned herself.

A Bay City servant girl has fallen heir to $6,000, bequeathed her by a relative who recently died in Germany.

Grand Rapids has had another beautiful legal fizzle. The case against William Addis (the great divorcer) for subornation of perjury has resulted in his discharge.

The Laingsburg correspondent of the Owosso Press affirms that four-fifths of the United States pensions now issued to ex-soldiers in that vicinity are on fraudulent claims.

Eaton county was visited by a gale Sunday night which unroofed barns, destroyed other buildings, uprooted orchards, blowing down standing timber-killing stock, and demolishing fences.

John Dickson of Manistee county, is 61 years old, and is now living with his fourth wife, who has presented him a daughter, which makes the tally of his children just 36. He is also granddaddy to 33 others.

Although the residence of D. B. Noble of Lawton, Van Buren county had a rod on it, lightning struck it on the 17th inst., entering the roof, chamber and ceilings doing $400 damage, but only frightening the inmates.

Joseph Stevens, who died suddenly at Truchman, a few days ago, was laughing most comically at the result of the election when he suddenly fell into the chair, the Chief Magistrate there to administer the government according to a policy condemned by the people.

The land excitement has spread over the entire upper peninsula, and the land office at Marquette is crowded with business; more acres have been located at that office in the last three months than for three years preceding.

A condemned convict, used to throw a line to the wreck of the schooner Chris. Grover of Bay City, to which six men were clinging, burst at the first fire killing John W. Glennie and injuring John C. Gram and Henry Loud.

Trux, of Ella, Lapeer county, lost eight fat hogs recently, and he charges that Samuel Lemon, a rich farmer living near him, and his two sons stole the hogs, drove them into the woods and killed them, salting the pork down in his cellar.

In the Eaton county circuit court, after three days of trial and one night of jury deliberation, Robert Dishrow has been awarded a verdict of $50 against Dr. J. E. Johnson, who was accused of taking undue liberties with Mrs. Dishrow while attending her professionally. The woman will also bring suit, it is said.

The Muskegon Chronicle says: "Last week Mrs. August Ball was presented with a girl baby weighing almost two pounds. The infant is about 11 inches long, with a head about the size of a common rubber ball, and fingers a little larger than a match. It is well formed and healthy, and has a pleasing look. Its little sister rocks it to sleep in an ordinary cot cradle."

During the campaign of 1876 a committee of six gentlemen took hold of the Saginaw Republican and ran it as a daily, Barnes Bros., of Detroit, supplying the paper. The bill was unpaid and Barnes Bros. brought suit against the parties mentioned—William Callum, John Welch, A. P. Brewer, C. L. Ortman, C. Stuart Draper and Chas. W. Willas—claiming that they were responsible for the debts of the concern, while the defendants claimed that they were simply an advisory committee. A jury in the Wayne circuit court returned a verdict for the full amount claimed, $1,023.08.

Forest fires are raging in the Virginia wilderness. Several persons have been burned to death, and a great deal of property destroyed.

Keamey's sentence having been affirmed by the superior court, he will appeal to the court of last resort. The said lot orator has been quiet lately.

Col. Bob Ingersoll offers $100 to any Boston clergyman who will read to his congregation such a chapter in the Old Testament as Ingersoll may pick out.

It is believed by those best informed that called Whittier bound and gagged himself in order to gain sympathy. The matter is still undergoing investigation.

The case of the widow Oliver against ex-senator Cameron was called in the Washington court on Wednesday, but was postponed until the end of the month.

A jealous husband, at Marshall, Ill., played the business-engagement-elsewhere ruse on his wife, and, returning suddenly met his paramour, whom he shot dead.

A son of Stephen M. Pillsbury, of Chelsea, Mass., guillotined himself, on Sunday. He constructed the machine, a very ingenious affair, without assistance, and it did its work well.

Joseph Dunn, a Toronto milkman, exhibited a placard in front of a debtor's door, making public the amount of his indebtedness, and has been committed for trial on a charge of criminal libel.

John Best, the oldest mason in the United States, is dead. He was in his 96th or 100th year, and had been for seventy-seven years a mason.

The Rev. Wm. Wis., common council has passed a resolution forbidding license-keepers to sell liquor to W. H. Bloomfield, who was, last fall, the prohibition candidate for governor in that state.

A Colorado girl only 18 years old, on the death of her father, took charge of his family and farm, and now manages her mother and her brothers, and also her sisters, her cousins and her ranch.

The Giant Powder Works located across the bay from San Francisco, exploded Saturday afternoon killing twelve white men and as many more Chinamen. 6,000 lbs. of powder were ignited.

A good Sunday-school story, though one which will hardly be adopted, comes from New York. Attacked by a crowd of thieves, an officer shot two of them. Unfortunately, one of them had a prayer-book in his pocket, against which the force of the bullet was spent, and his life was saved.

State News.

Louise Cary has brought suit for seduction against Royal Phelps, a wealthy New York merchant, claiming $50,000 damages. According to her own story, her favors were cheerfully bestowed and liberally paid for.

President Hayes has affirmed the sentences of courts-martial dismissing two young lieutenants, one for getting drunk in full uniform and falling asleep on a billiard-table, and the other for cowardice in the field in Oregon.

Dr. Stringfield of Topeka, says the negro exodus was inaugurated and is controlled by Gov. St. John, of Kansas, who wishes to introduce every republican voter in his state not very well acquainted with him to secure his election.

A colored woman, living in Philadelphia, makes application for a pension. Her affidavit states that she enlisted in the 6th Maryland regiment as a common soldier, and served for three years or more. She was wounded three times and confessed her sex when in the hospital, but was permitted to again enter the ranks. She exhibits her wounds as evidence of the truth of her story.

Robert Ferguson, administrator of the estate of John Adams Brock, in the matter of the estate of John Adams Brock, deceased.

David Webb, the administrator of said estate, claims that the probate court in no way prepared to render his final account as such administrator.

It is ordered, that Saturday, the eighth day of May next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, the probate court, in the matter of the estate of Robert Ferguson, deceased, do hold a session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at said session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, to receive the account of said administrator, and to hear and determine upon the same, and all other persons

Democratic County Convention.
The Democratic County Convention will be held at the Court House, in the city of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, May 27, at 10 o'clock A. M. The convention will elect delegates to the Democratic State Convention, to be held at East Lansing, Mich., on the 25th day of June, 1915. The convention will also elect delegates to the Democratic National Convention, to be held at St. Louis, Mo., on the 12th day of August, 1915. The convention will also elect delegates to the Democratic State Convention, to be held at East Lansing, Mich., on the 25th day of June, 1915. The convention will also elect delegates to the Democratic National Convention, to be held at St. Louis, Mo., on the 12th day of August, 1915.

City.
Dollars and Cents at the opera house this evening.
Judge Cheever will hold forth at the opera house Sunday.
A sign "Scarlet Fever" is placarded in front of Dr. Frothingham's office.
Mrs. Samuel Chapin will make her home hereafter with her son, Dr. Chapin of Grass Lake.
Lettuce and onions fresh from hot houses are quite plenty, and not very dear, considering the season.
A prominent Boston Unitarian, Rev. W. R. Alger, lectured twice and occupied this church pulpit on Sunday.
Rev. Mr. Chalabert announced on Sunday that on May 1, there would be a baptism of infants at the M. E. church.
The steam fire engine purchased by Mayor Smith and Chief Engineer Dawson at Waterford, N. Y., cost $2,200.
The supervisors when in the city the other day agreed to comply with the law in making assessments this spring at cash value.
Our citizens were placed under obligations to the city hand for music dispensed from the court house south side balcony Saturday evening.
The fifth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hancock was the occasion for a gathering of relatives and friends on Tuesday evening.
Geo. Reid signals the opening of his campaign for the gubernatorial nomination by dressing up the Courier building in a coat of paint of a bright red color.
A third sewing machine agency, a branch from Detroit from which the Singer machine only will be offered, is opened by W. H. Pease in the Gregory House block.
Monday evening members of the A. O. U. W. met at their lodge room to take leave of their fellow-member, Jacob Berolzheimer, who left for Kalamazoo yesterday.
Saloon keepers and liquor dealers must pay their taxes and have their bonds approved by the first of May, before selling liquor. The penalties on failure to comply with this requirement are quite severe.
Expressman Earle will appear about May 1 with a new and handsome bus for public accommodation. He will run to and from the depot and deliver passengers to any portion of the city for ten cents.
Last Saturday night burglars entered the hotel of Louis Schlieger, on Detroit street, near the Michigan Central Depot, and carried off a revolver, a watch and $5 in change taken from the money drawer.
The defeat of O. F. Webster nominee on the republican ticket for recorder at the late election, has proven to be a benefit, financially. His friends in the Council elected him treasurer, an office that pays several hundred dollars more than the recordership.
Prof. Olney of the building committee believing that an important saving can be effected by substituting stone for brick in the walls of the new Baptist church building, said walls will therefore be constructed of stone, contrary to the original intention.
Business men should bear in mind that it is cheaper to have their statements and bill heads printed, than to do business without them, simply because in sending bills through the mails, a written one will cost three cents postage, while one printed will cost only one cent; and then how much more business-like and genteel it is.
The incendiary lingers in our midst. He applied the torch to the east side of the old Presbyterian church building, which was a meat market by John Gall, on Tuesday evening about 9 p. m. The fire was observed very soon after it started by a passer-by and easily extinguished with slight damage, although the fire companies were on the spot in response to the alarm.
The young man arrested on suspicion last week of being a fire bug, is a law graduate of the university, located in San Antonio, Texas, and now visiting his native home in Watertown, N. Y. His name was suppressed because there was no grounds upon which to hold him. His queer actions were doubtless owing to an expectation to meet by appointment a woman in one of the alleys he was seen to visit.
Circuit court commissioner McMahon was poisoned in a peculiar manner. The process of shaving completed, the barber took a comb and in sliding down his whiskers, a broken tooth ended the skin. Nothing was anticipated until a soreness arose which Dr. Maclean pronounced to be poison arising from the comb which may have been used in dye stuffs, or coming into contact with some diseased face communicated disease to the "next gentleman."

500 REWARD
was for years offered in every paper of the land by the largest proprietor of Dr. Sugi's Catarrh Remedy for a case of catarrh it would not cure. It cures by its mild, soothing, cleansing, and healing properties. Snuff or dust of any kind does not reach and drives it to the lungs. This remedy has stood the test of time, having been a popular remedy for a quarter of a century. Sold by druggists at 50 cents.

The University.
The sophomores are to have a hop April 20.
President Angell and Sunset Cox were classmates at Brown university over a third of a century ago.
Prof. Winchell closed the Howell lecture course on Wednesday evening.
The lifetime of a world.
The senior and sophomore football team last Saturday defeated that chosen from the junior and freshmen classes.

Real Estate Transfers.
WARRANTY.
Alpheus Fitch to Isaac N. Demmon. Parcels of land in Ann Arbor. Consideration $400.
Richard A. Cook to Cyrus B. Malby. Land in York. Consideration $20.
Thomas Davis to Caleb Harrington. 20 acres in York. Consideration $716.
Jacob Van der Burgh to Barbara E. French. Manchester village lot. Consideration $500.
Alonzo H. Smith to Lee L. Forsyth. Ypsilanti city property. Consideration $900.
Maria Blaisdell to George Oversmith. 10 acres in Bridgewater. Consideration $500.
John S. Hotrum to Geo. Hotrum. 75 acres in Saline. Consideration $4000.
Lucinda Rogers to Patrick Hoy. 1 acre in Saline. Consideration $20.
Nelson J. Alport to De Vinney and Carrie Alport. Land in Webster. Consideration $500.
David R. Dixon to George Taylor. Chelsea village lot. Consideration $1,600.
Alfred Roe to Jas. L. Hobbs. Lot in York. Consideration $75.
Jas. L. Hobbs to Cyrus B. Malby. 1 acre in York. Consideration $75.
John Oliver to Cyrus B. Malby. 1 acre in York. Consideration $75.
C. A. Busenbark to N. E. Sutton. 45 acres in Northfield. Consideration $2,500.
Geo. Sutton to N. E. Sutton. 60 acres in Northfield. Consideration $3,200.
Addison Fletcher to Fred E. Reese. 45 acres in York. Consideration $1,000.
W. H. Ellis to Beltram Byer. Land in Saline. Consideration $1.
QUIT-CLAIM.
John Karr to Nelson Rogers. 28 acres in Northfield. Consideration $75.
W. H. Cook to Amanda A. Cook. Parcels of land in Northfield. Consideration $1.
Geo. W. Slayton to Chas. Fleming. 85 acres in Ypsilanti. Consideration $1.
Chas. Fleming to G. W. and M. Slayton. 2 acres in Ypsilanti town. Consideration $1.
Margaret H. Trip to Geo. O. Ide. 1 acre in Ann Arbor city. Consideration $500.

Record of Circuit Court.
Hon. GOVERNOR MORRIS, Presiding.
Thursday, April 15. G. W. and S. W. Parsons brought an action against N. Booth and H. Johnson in Justice Forsyth's court to recover on promissory note executed by Johnson and endorsed by Booth. Plaintiffs recovered against Johnson but not against Booth. By writ of certiorari case was brought to this court where judgment of court below is affirmed.
Friday, April 16. Motion for new trial granted in case of Bacheider vs. Douglass.
Three cases in which Tobias Hehr, Philip Gauss and James Davis are plaintiffs and Joseph Andette, defendant are put over the term.
In the case of Andrew Birke vs. Doane and Ellis, plaintiff enjoining defendants from use of water by injunction, said injunction was, after argument, dissolved.
Friday, April 17. Fred Vogel vs. Christina Strieter, Jacob Strieter and L. Gruner, guardian. Decree heretofore granted in this cause set aside by consent of both parties and another taken to stand in lieu thereof.
Saturday, April 17. Milford N. Wells vs. Henry C. Waldron. Plaintiff replevied surveyors instruments of value of $216 in hands of defendant and this court gave him six cents damages, in default of defendant's appearance.
Jonathan Smalley of Manchester seeks a divorce from his wife Elizabeth who comes into court and prays for allowance for support of herself and for the payment of counsel while defending.
Common Council of Dexters vs. James McGuinness and Christopher McGuinness, Jr. Plaintiff appeals from costs below. Appeal dismissed with costs unless plaintiff pays entry fee of $2 and attorneys fee of $5 in ten days after service of a copy of this order.
Monday, April 19. Major D. Wallace brings action against Joseph Bickford, administrator &c., of his brothers estate, to compel said administrator to deliver to him a deed of a lot in Saline village, which deed was lotly executed by deceased and his wife but not delivered. Prover of claimant granted.
In the case of Benj. Allen vs. Peter Madden, plaintiff's petition for new trial denied.
Luther James vs. Alfred Buchoz and others. Decree of foreclosure in amount of $14,000, granted.
In the case of C. Moore vs. V. Davenport, hearing for new trial set down for first day of next term.
Wednesday, April 21. Christina Eckhard vs. M. C. R. R. Motion for judgment for defendant denied, and one for plaintiff ordered.
Sentence suspended in case of People vs. Geo. Hack charged with larceny of a horse, on account of youth and weak intellect.
Thomas McKernan granted a petition against John Boyle in which title to real estate and possession of personal property has been in dispute. Court adjudged sine die.

The Common Council.
The city fathers met on Monday evening, with full board present, and proceeded to elect city officers for the ensuing year.
John G. Johnson receiving all the votes for marshal was declared elected.
An informal ballot for city treasurer showed the following:
J. C. Knowlton.....8
E. D. Kinne.....6
A formal ballot resulted:
J. C. Knowlton.....11
E. D. Kinne.....12
An informal ballot for city treasurer showed the following:
O. F. Webster.....8
W. A. Clark.....6
A formal ballot gave
Webster.....11
Clark.....3
An informal ballot for three members of board of health resulted:
Dr. Breakey.....11
Dr. George H. Taylor.....10
Dr. Allen.....9
Dr. O'Neil.....6
Dr. O'Neil.....6
Mr. E. B. Taylor.....5
The three former receiving a majority were declared elected.
Aldermen Hutzel and Keech and Recorder Douglas were constituted a committee to settle with the ex-treasurer. The mayor announced the standing committees as follows:
Finance—Aldermen Keech, Martin and Kellogg.
General Street—Aldermen Besmer, Ferdon, Ross, Fleming, Mathewson, and Martin.
Sidewalks—Aldermen Kittridge, Kellogg, and McComber.
General Fund—Aldermen Hutzel, Ferdon, and Fleming.
Police Commissioners—Aldermen Fleming, Kittridge, and Hutzel.
John G. Taylor, Recorder Douglas, and Aldermen Ferdon and Thompson.
Fire Department—Aldermen Martin, Keech, and Kellogg.
Bonds of saloon keepers were fixed at same amount as last year.

Justice Court.
Justice Frenault sent James Carl to jail ten days for drunkenness.
Patrick O'Connor was acquitted in Justice Granger's court on Monday, on a charge of assault upon John Quigley.
William Jackson procured a warrant in Justice Clark for John Barber, charging him with assault and battery. Plead not guilty. Acquitted.
Daniel Strieter plead not guilty before Clark, J. P., to charge of assault and battery on John Geo. Myer. Tried by jury which disagreed. Adjudged to May 4.
Henry Burgraff convicted as a disorderly person in Justice Granger's court, received one year at Ionia in default of bonds for good behavior for twelve months.
Christian Sanzi, charged with selling liquor to John George Laubengayer. Jury disagreed and cause by consent set down for re-trial to May 4.
Louis Dozzet, veterinary surgeon entered complaint on Monday before Frenault, J. P., charging Chas. French with petty larceny in that of stealing a $5 bill. Adjudged one week.
On Thursday of last week before Frenault, J. P., John George Blumhardt was tried on charge of imputing theft to David Mandt. Acquitted. Mandt has commenced an action in circuit court against Blumhardt for slander. Parties reside in Saline.
Christian Sanzi, charged with selling liquor to John George Laubengayer a confirmed inebriate was tried by jury in Justice Granger's court, convicted and fined $25 the minimum penalty in such cases, and costs amounting to $19. Sanzi has appealed and entered into $200 bonds with two sureties.

Supervisors are making annual assessments.
—Mr. James Bush of Saline is reported seriously ill.
—Lawyer Hewitt of Manchester has taken a partner.
—Gen. Sam Cary lectured twice at Saline, and the Reform club lost about $9 by it.
—B. B. Norris has been appointed attorney, and H. L. Rose marshal of Manchester.
—Messrs. Berkely Osborn and John J. Rochester have purchased the McGee farm in Sharon.
—At the woman's temperance convention for the second congressional district held at Monroe, Mrs. Ann Basset of Ypsilanti presided over the deliberations of about twenty-five delegates.
Mrs. J. D. Stannard of Dexter was one of a committee of two on credentials.
Mrs. J. S. Wood of Ann Arbor was placed on the committee on order of resolutions and resolutions. Mrs. W. led in discussing the question: "What is the best mode of conducting temperance work?" Mrs. O. B. Schuyler of this city addressed the audience on "Home Protection" or, the temperance ballot for women. This country bore away the offices for ensuing year: Pres., Mrs. Basset, Sec., Mrs. Cheshire of Ypsilanti, Treas., Mrs. Stannard.
—John Philanthropy of Canton, an old bachelor, with 90 acres of land and a little cash, decided to live a life of single blessedness no longer. He wanted a wife but did not know where to find one, so he got George Collins, the auctioneer, to aid him. He introduced him to Mrs. Desire Thurston, a woman who has been living with James B. Gould on Adams street, as housekeeper, for nearly two years. Gould had promised to marry her but had kept putting off. She claims she did not promise to marry Philanthropy but just wanted to see what would intend to do. Philanthropy understood it differently, and came to town Wednesday morning for the purpose of marrying her. While he was getting shaved Gould and Mrs. Thurston were married by Justice Skinner. Nothing daunted Philanthropy sought out Collins, who introduced him to Mrs. Elizabeth Robinson, who had been working for Mr. Moreman, and was boarding for a day or so at Alwood's restaurant. In 20 minutes they were man and wife. Justice Skinner did the job. A few minutes after another couple whom Collins claims to have brought together called on Skinner and were united: Jonathan Curry and Sarah Reed, both colored. Now, all you old maids and bachelors who are longing for companions give Collins a call. He says he has married off 15 couples lately.—Ypsilanti Commercial.

Company A's Shoot.
Members of Co. A annually enter into competition for possession of a badge presented by its captain to the person making the best score. This badge has been in the hands of Mr. S. B. Revenga the past year, but on Wednesday it was won by Mr. J. W. Hamilton. The following is the score in full:
300 yds. 500 yds. Total.
C. H. Manly.....17 15 32
J. F. Schull.....17 10 27
A. Nichols.....12 7 19
Z. Roath.....10 6 16
H. Ross.....9 14 23
G. S. Pitkin.....7 12 19
M. G. Stetson.....4 20 24
Joseph Ditz.....2 2 4
P. Bross.....17 11 28
E. Bellard.....12 7 19
Gilbert Bligh.....14 10 24
J. W. Hamilton.....16 14 30
John Chase.....17 4 21
J. G. Lutz, Jr.....12 7 19
J. McNeil.....7 20 27
E. H. Hillton.....14 11 25
John Kahoe.....4 4 8
L. F. Wade.....16 9 25
S. B. Revenga.....16 9 25
L. F. Wade.....7 14 21

Personal Glimpses.
—Mr. Daniel Gott of Syracuse, N. Y. spent Sunday in this city.
—H. J. Myrick, local editor of the Register, is looking over Chicago this week.
—Miss Clara Gott left on Tuesday last in company with her uncle for Syracuse, N. Y.
—Mrs. Norman Chapin returned to her home in our city after a three months absence.
—Lawrence Hobson of Wayne returned home on Wednesday after spending a few days among his friends in this city.
—G. S. Pitkin was appointed Quarter Master Sergeant of Co. "A" on Monday last in place of J. Berolzheimer resigned, also Company clerk.
—Visiting his plantation at Hastings, Mr. D. Craner reports prospects of wheat crop in Barry county so far as he was able to see and hear, as excellent.
—The Denver Republican of April 12 chronicles the arrival at that city of J. T. Toomey of Dexter, Mich., and J. F. Frenault, of Leadville, who was returning from a visit east.

Record of Circuit Court.
Hon. GOVERNOR MORRIS, Presiding.
Thursday, April 15. G. W. and S. W. Parsons brought an action against N. Booth and H. Johnson in Justice Forsyth's court to recover on promissory note executed by Johnson and endorsed by Booth. Plaintiffs recovered against Johnson but not against Booth. By writ of certiorari case was brought to this court where judgment of court below is affirmed.
Friday, April 16. Motion for new trial granted in case of Bacheider vs. Douglass.
Three cases in which Tobias Hehr, Philip Gauss and James Davis are plaintiffs and Joseph Andette, defendant are put over the term.
In the case of Andrew Birke vs. Doane and Ellis, plaintiff enjoining defendants from use of water by injunction, said injunction was, after argument, dissolved.
Friday, April 17. Fred Vogel vs. Christina Strieter, Jacob Strieter and L. Gruner, guardian. Decree heretofore granted in this cause set aside by consent of both parties and another taken to stand in lieu thereof.
Saturday, April 17. Milford N. Wells vs. Henry C. Waldron. Plaintiff replevied surveyors instruments of value of $216 in hands of defendant and this court gave him six cents damages, in default of defendant's appearance.
Jonathan Smalley of Manchester seeks a divorce from his wife Elizabeth who comes into court and prays for allowance for support of herself and for the payment of counsel while defending.
Common Council of Dexters vs. James McGuinness and Christopher McGuinness, Jr. Plaintiff appeals from costs below. Appeal dismissed with costs unless plaintiff pays entry fee of $2 and attorneys fee of $5 in ten days after service of a copy of this order.
Monday, April 19. Major D. Wallace brings action against Joseph Bickford, administrator &c., of his brothers estate, to compel said administrator to deliver to him a deed of a lot in Saline village, which deed was lotly executed by deceased and his wife but not delivered. Prover of claimant granted.
In the case of Benj. Allen vs. Peter Madden, plaintiff's petition for new trial denied.
Luther James vs. Alfred Buchoz and others. Decree of foreclosure in amount of $14,000, granted.
In the case of C. Moore vs. V. Davenport, hearing for new trial set down for first day of next term.
Wednesday, April 21. Christina Eckhard vs. M. C. R. R. Motion for judgment for defendant denied, and one for plaintiff ordered.
Sentence suspended in case of People vs. Geo. Hack charged with larceny of a horse, on account of youth and weak intellect.
Thomas McKernan granted a petition against John Boyle in which title to real estate and possession of personal property has been in dispute. Court adjudged sine die.

The Common Council.
The city fathers met on Monday evening, with full board present, and proceeded to elect city officers for the ensuing year.
John G. Johnson receiving all the votes for marshal was declared elected.
An informal ballot for city treasurer showed the following:
J. C. Knowlton.....8
E. D. Kinne.....6
A formal ballot resulted:
J. C. Knowlton.....11
E. D. Kinne.....12
An informal ballot for city treasurer showed the following:
O. F. Webster.....8
W. A. Clark.....6
A formal ballot gave
Webster.....11
Clark.....3
An informal ballot for three members of board of health resulted:
Dr. Breakey.....11
Dr. George H. Taylor.....10
Dr. Allen.....9
Dr. O'Neil.....6
Dr. O'Neil.....6
Mr. E. B. Taylor.....5
The three former receiving a majority were declared elected.
Aldermen Hutzel and Keech and Recorder Douglas were constituted a committee to settle with the ex-treasurer. The mayor announced the standing committees as follows:
Finance—Aldermen Keech, Martin and Kellogg.
General Street—Aldermen Besmer, Ferdon, Ross, Fleming, Mathewson, and Martin.
Sidewalks—Aldermen Kittridge, Kellogg, and McComber.
General Fund—Aldermen Hutzel, Ferdon, and Fleming.
Police Commissioners—Aldermen Fleming, Kittridge, and Hutzel.
John G. Taylor, Recorder Douglas, and Aldermen Ferdon and Thompson.
Fire Department—Aldermen Martin, Keech, and Kellogg.
Bonds of saloon keepers were fixed at same amount as last year.

Justice Court.
Justice Frenault sent James Carl to jail ten days for drunkenness.
Patrick O'Connor was acquitted in Justice Granger's court on Monday, on a charge of assault upon John Quigley.
William Jackson procured a warrant in Justice Clark for John Barber, charging him with assault and battery. Plead not guilty. Acquitted.
Daniel Strieter plead not guilty before Clark, J. P., to charge of assault and battery on John Geo. Myer. Tried by jury which disagreed. Adjudged to May 4.
Henry Burgraff convicted as a disorderly person in Justice Granger's court, received one year at Ionia in default of bonds for good behavior for twelve months.
Christian Sanzi, charged with selling liquor to John George Laubengayer. Jury disagreed and cause by consent set down for re-trial to May 4.
Louis Dozzet, veterinary surgeon entered complaint on Monday before Frenault, J. P., charging Chas. French with petty larceny in that of stealing a $5 bill. Adjudged one week.
On Thursday of last week before Frenault, J. P., John George Blumhardt was tried on charge of imputing theft to David Mandt. Acquitted. Mandt has commenced an action in circuit court against Blumhardt for slander. Parties reside in Saline.
Christian Sanzi, charged with selling liquor to John George Laubengayer a confirmed inebriate was tried by jury in Justice Granger's court, convicted and fined $25 the minimum penalty in such cases, and costs amounting to $19. Sanzi has appealed and entered into $200 bonds with two sureties.

Record of Circuit Court.
Hon. GOVERNOR MORRIS, Presiding.
Thursday, April 15. G. W. and S. W. Parsons brought an action against N. Booth and H. Johnson in Justice Forsyth's court to recover on promissory note executed by Johnson and endorsed by Booth. Plaintiffs recovered against Johnson but not against Booth. By writ of certiorari case was brought to this court where judgment of court below is affirmed.
Friday, April 16. Motion for new trial granted in case of Bacheider vs. Douglass.
Three cases in which Tobias Hehr, Philip Gauss and James Davis are plaintiffs and Joseph Andette, defendant are put over the term.
In the case of Andrew Birke vs. Doane and Ellis, plaintiff enjoining defendants from use of water by injunction, said injunction was, after argument, dissolved.
Friday, April 17. Fred Vogel vs. Christina Strieter, Jacob Strieter and L. Gruner, guardian. Decree heretofore granted in this cause set aside by consent of both parties and another taken to stand in lieu thereof.
Saturday, April 17. Milford N. Wells vs. Henry C. Waldron. Plaintiff replevied surveyors instruments of value of $216 in hands of defendant and this court gave him six cents damages, in default of defendant's appearance.
Jonathan Smalley of Manchester seeks a divorce from his wife Elizabeth who comes into court and prays for allowance for support of herself and for the payment of counsel while defending.
Common Council of Dexters vs. James McGuinness and Christopher McGuinness, Jr. Plaintiff appeals from costs below. Appeal dismissed with costs unless plaintiff pays entry fee of $2 and attorneys fee of $5 in ten days after service of a copy of this order.
Monday, April 19. Major D. Wallace brings action against Joseph Bickford, administrator &c., of his brothers estate, to compel said administrator to deliver to him a deed of a lot in Saline village, which deed was lotly executed by deceased and his wife but not delivered. Prover of claimant granted.
In the case of Benj. Allen vs. Peter Madden, plaintiff's petition for new trial denied.
Luther James vs. Alfred Buchoz and others. Decree of foreclosure in amount of $14,000, granted.
In the case of C. Moore vs. V. Davenport, hearing for new trial set down for first day of next term.
Wednesday, April 21. Christina Eckhard vs. M. C. R. R. Motion for judgment for defendant denied, and one for plaintiff ordered.
Sentence suspended in case of People vs. Geo. Hack charged with larceny of a horse, on account of youth and weak intellect.
Thomas McKernan granted a petition against John Boyle in which title to real estate and possession of personal property has been in dispute. Court adjudged sine die.

The Common Council.
The city fathers met on Monday evening, with full board present, and proceeded to elect city officers for the ensuing year.
John G. Johnson receiving all the votes for marshal was declared elected.
An informal ballot for city treasurer showed the following:
J. C. Knowlton.....8
E. D. Kinne.....6
A formal ballot resulted:
J. C. Knowlton.....11
E. D. Kinne.....12
An informal ballot for city treasurer showed the following:
O. F. Webster.....8
W. A. Clark.....6
A formal ballot gave
Webster.....11
Clark.....3
An informal ballot for three members of board of health resulted:
Dr. Breakey.....11
Dr. George H. Taylor.....10
Dr. Allen.....9
Dr. O'Neil.....6
Dr. O'Neil.....6
Mr. E. B. Taylor.....5
The three former receiving a majority were declared elected.
Aldermen Hutzel and Keech and Recorder Douglas were constituted a committee to settle with the ex-treasurer. The mayor announced the standing committees as follows:
Finance—Aldermen Keech, Martin and Kellogg.
General Street—Aldermen Besmer, Ferdon, Ross, Fleming, Mathewson, and Martin.
Sidewalks—Aldermen Kittridge, Kellogg, and McComber.
General Fund—Aldermen Hutzel, Ferdon, and Fleming.
Police Commissioners—Aldermen Fleming, Kittridge, and Hutzel.
John G. Taylor, Recorder Douglas, and Aldermen Ferdon and Thompson.
Fire Department—Aldermen Martin, Keech, and Kellogg.
Bonds of saloon keepers were fixed at same amount as last year.

Justice Court.
Justice Frenault sent James Carl to jail ten days for drunkenness.
Patrick O'Connor was acquitted in Justice Granger's court on Monday, on a charge of assault upon John Quigley.
William Jackson procured a warrant in Justice Clark for John Barber, charging him with assault and battery. Plead not guilty. Acquitted.
Daniel Strieter plead not guilty before Clark, J. P., to charge of assault and battery on John Geo. Myer. Tried by jury which disagreed. Adjudged to May 4.
Henry Burgraff convicted as a disorderly person in Justice Granger's court, received one year at Ionia in default of bonds for good behavior for twelve months.
Christian Sanzi, charged with selling liquor to John George Laubengayer. Jury disagreed and cause by consent set down for re-trial to May 4.
Louis Dozzet, veterinary surgeon entered complaint on Monday before Frenault, J. P., charging Chas. French with petty larceny in that of stealing a $5 bill. Adjudged one week.
On Thursday of last week before Frenault, J. P., John George Blumhardt was tried on charge of imputing theft to David Mandt. Acquitted. Mandt has commenced an action in circuit court against Blumhardt for slander. Parties reside in Saline.
Christian Sanzi, charged with selling liquor to John George Laubengayer a confirmed inebriate was tried by jury in Justice Granger's court, convicted and fined $25 the minimum penalty in such cases, and costs amounting to $19. Sanzi has appealed and entered into $200 bonds with two sureties.

Dexter Department.
J. McNAMARA, Editor.
—Mr. White is able to be around again.
—John Brodie the barber is around again.
—M. Bensusen improves his place by a new fence.
—Rob Rowley of Ypsilanti was in town over Sunday.
—Garden bon-fires illumine the sky these fine evenings.
—The Stevens house to be occupied by Dr. Lee is nearly completed.
—The band was out Saturday evening and played some very fine pieces.
—Jas. J. Gorman was out of town on business, the fore part of the week.
—The section foremen have received orders to enlarge their gang one man each.
—J. H. Frawley was at Chelsea last week, attending the funeral of Mr. Howe.
—S. R. Wheeler, M. C. R. R. passenger agent at Dexter is visiting relatives at Kalamazoo.
—A guitar and harmonica furnished the orchestra music for the dramatic club rehearsal.
—Rev. J. H. Magylin accompanied by Dr. Lee, were visiting at Detroit this week.
—A barbarous feeling exists between a couple of tonorialis which will yet hurt some one of them.
—G. Wall has rented the rooms over his store, lately occupied by Tim R. Toomey to John Fortchue.
—The high wind Monday, smashed signs, tore awnings and left all things outside stores in a dilapidated way.
—A load of apples attracted general attention upon the street Monday, and were soon bought at a very high price.
—The Drama "Blow for Blow" will be presented at Costello's hall Tuesday evening April 27, and Wednesday April 28.
—Mark Beard and Wm. Vanatta had some high words over some slight affair and resulted in grief for Mark who is on dry dock for repairs.
—A mixed band of amateur musicians serenaded the Holloway house Sunday evening. The proprietor called them in, set up the cigars and told them to get out.
—John Dawson was coming out of his barn Friday when the high wind blew the door from the hinges striking him and knocking him down. He came out all right with the exception of a sprained arm.
—J. P. Easter has sold out his saloon and fixtures to Wm. Quish, who formerly clerked for him. It has been reported that he will buy or rent the Holloway House and start a hotel, bar, billiard rooms, etc.
—Mrs. Pfeife an old lady of this village died Thursday morning after a long and painful illness, at the age of 79. The funeral was from the St. John Lutheran church, Saturday. Her remains were interred in the cemetery at that place.
—Chas. Boken a young man well known about here, died at the residence of Ray Johnson, Dexter township last week. He was a modest, unassuming young fellow and well liked by all who knew him. His remains were taken to Blissfield for interment.
—The late Mrs. Heiber the lost boy was enjoying himself at Chicago while his brothers were offering rewards for his body, returned home Friday. He may be insane but a person who can pay his fare to and from Chicago, retrace a fare on $5 and have money left, is somebody above the common race of lunatics.
—A modern Demosthenes poured forth his fire and whisky perfumed eloquence to an interested crowd of citizens in front of the P. Office Tuesday evening. Becoming exhausted and leg weary, and his gestures growing fiercer and fiercer he accepted an invitation from the Marshal to rest his troubled spirit and weary bones at Hotel de Tabac.
—Doctor Zeigenfus has rented the residence of Mrs. Gay, on C street, and will occupy it immediately. Dr. Zeigenfus began his career as a medical practitioner here about 6 months ago. A graduate of the Michigan university, a courteous gentleman, as well as a good physician, has gained him an enviable reputation about Dexter and vicinity.
—It isn't safe to say "Rocky Ridge" aloud in Dexter, especially when certain parties hover near. A professor of music tried it for experiment and was threatened with instant extermination and a very sore back if he did not instantly apologize. With thoughts of so dark a future, and maybe a doctor's bill, he got up, withdrew under the scornful gaze of the muscular man from "Rocky Ridge."
—A drunken man giving the name of John Gutrie, was found lying across the R. R. track on the bridge over mill creek Saturday evening, just before the Grand Rapids went through. He was totally helpless, and bleeding from cuts he sustained from the fall, and the wonder is why he had not fallen through to the river. But for the timely arrival of some persons who had seen him he would have been crushed by the cars.
—At last company I have organized and elected officers. The following is the result, elected by ballot: Capt. Jas. I. Gorman; 1st Lieut. Geo. W. Parker; 2d Lieut. Jay Warren; 1st and orderly Sergt. J. McNamara; 2d Sergt. F. H. Everts; 3d Sergt. J. Frawley; 4th Sergt. Chas. Parker; 5th Sergt. A. T. Hughes. Civil officers: President, Mr. Shafer; Vice-Pres., Richard Northern; Sec., Chas. Stobbing; Fin. Sec., F. P. Taylor; Treas., Ed. Guinan.
—Lectures are total failures here. The people don't seem to appreciate them and will not patronize them. Last week Prof. Meek was billed for Wednesday evening. No one went to the hall, and the Professor left sorrowfully. Prof. Howard was on hand Thursday evening and lectured to an audience of about 25 or 30, but, be it as it may, Prof. Howard's lecture was very fine, and delivered in a pleasing manner, and we regret so many missed so rare a treat.
—St. Joseph's church was well filled Tuesday evening with Bishop Burgess' administrator confirmation to about 40 girls and boys. Mass was at 9:30 A. M. Fr. Slatery being the Celebrant. After mass the Bishop preached a fine sermon, mostly intended for the children, but alternating from one to the other.
—There were three converts who received confirmation and a couple of other young persons who had not been confirmed. The Bishop was accompanied by his secretary, Father Maas, and assisted by Father Van Waterschoot of Northfield. The Bishop and secretary left for Chelsea in the evening.

Ypsilanti Department.
CLARENCE TINKER, Editor.
—Mr. Burt Forbes is visiting his people here.
—A great many children have the measles here.
—Mrs. F. A. Bradley has returned from her visit home.
—J. Benson of Toledo was the guest of L. V. Judd over Sunday.
—Sam Canfield has gone to Colorado, where he will open a law office.
—Albert Crane is able to ride out and will probably be in his office next week.
—The city is again to be afflicted. H. M. S. Pinafore at the opera house April 26.
—Mr. F. A. Hunt, who was going west, has postponed his journey for the present.
—Fred Johnson has sold his drug store to a gentleman from Lansing, and he is now running the Pioneer.
—E. Forsyth has opened a novelty store at the depot, in the store lately purchased by him of A. H. Smith.
—Applicants for the city offices which are to be appointed by the council are getting both anxious and nervous.
—John Schopp's horse ran away last week, throwing out a boy that was driving and smashing the buggy badly.
—The firemen have a hop at Pollett Hall Friday night. Judging from their previous entertainments it will be a success.
—Mr. G. Cornwell has commenced a suit against the Michigan Paper Company to recover some $5,000 the defunct company owes him.
—The D. H. & S. W. R. R. company now occupy an office in the Gilbert block, and they are situated much better than in their former office.
—J. K. West, who shot himself some weeks ago, was reported as being improved. Upon investigation we find he will pay nearly one hundred cents.
—Week before last the state grand master, J. W. McGrath, E. & A. M., with the lecturer, Mr. Clark of Port Huron, visited Ypsilanti lodge, No. 128.
—Mr. Charles McCormick has commenced the manufacture of brick at his brick yard, and has contracted with E. Eaton for the manufacturing of the brick.
—Mr. James Wilkinson has caused a notice to appear in the Commercial notifying all parties that he will not be responsible for bills contracted by Mrs. W. This is done in consequence of a separation between them.
—J. Demarsh's hired man drove to the river below the Huron mills to wash the buggy and backed into the river, the current being very strong carried his buggy and man down the stream where the horse was drowned and the man barely escaped with his life.
—One of the members of the local board of insurance left the board, and on his companies being notified, the specials came, and at meeting of the board and agents the gentleman found it necessary to return to the board or lose his companies. This goes to show the efficiency of the organization.
—The executive officers of the Supreme Tent of the Knights of the Macabees of the World met in Port Huron Monday. The order is fast assuming shape again, and the following is a list of the supreme officers: Supreme commander, Thos. Elliot, Brantford, Ont.; supreme lieutenant, C. S. Boynton, Port Huron, Mich.; supreme recorder, E. E. Fortman, Warsaw, N. Y.; supreme treasurer, C. Tinker, Ypsilanti.
—A man is now confined in the lock-up who is crazy. He thinks he is Christ, has a number of bottles which he claims is the elixir of life and bottles of olive oil which he proposes to be anointed with by the priests. He came to the conclusion that the people of this city were insulting him, and immediately sent a letter to President Hayes asking that it be stopped. Saturday he became angry and made the night hideous with his cries. He was finally taken to the lock-up, where he has broken everything in his reach. It took several men to take him there.

Saline.
SALINE, April 15.
—Died of fits, infant son of Geo. and Lucy J. Stephenson on the 15th, aged about 7 months.
—Mr. Ashley Van Duser is in town from Battle Creek on a weeks visit with his parents Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Van Duser.
—Mrs. G. H. Jewett has removed her stock of millinery goods, as well as herself, to Marshall. We cannot help it.
—Our old friend C. B. Woodard will go to Manchester about the 1st of May. He will be engaged at the Goodyear house, in about the same capacity he has held with credit so long at the Saline Exchange. Good luck Charlie.
—Hon. Samuel F. Cary spoke in Union hall for the benefit of the reform club, on Saturday and Sunday nights; Saturday night on temperance and Sunday evening he straightened out some of the mistakes of Ingersoll.
—Last Saturday was a very busy day in Saline and one lady made the remark that she would not come to Saline again on Saturday to do any trading. We claim here that for her stood at the counter of W. H. Davenport and Son, for two long hours before she got a chance to buy even a paper of pins. We are afraid that Reg and Barney are too slow.

Manchester.
MANCHESTER, April 21.
—The bridge near the foundry is in course of repairs.
—There will be a union temperance meeting at the M. E. church Sunday evening.
—The building vacated by French, the boot and shoe man, is again occupied, this time being filled with dry goods.
—C. A. Field, who has been running on the railroad in southern Ohio for the last 6 months, spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents.
—The dance at Goodyear Hall Friday evening was a success, notwithstanding the rainy weather quite a number coming from other towns.
—Fausel, the jeweler, has had the old "Banner Store" building out in two and will have the back part drawn away. He intends to fit the front part up for a jewelry store and move his stock of goods into it.
—The members of the alumni association of our union school, held a meeting last evening in the school building, for the purpose of making arrangements for their 4th annual reunion. It was decided to surpass, if possible, all former meetings of this kind.

Ann Arbor City Markets.
Carefully Revised Weekly by the Publisher.
NEW YORK, April 21.
Prices of wheat declined, to 88 cents on Tuesday, but since has rallied to 91.00. No arrivals except in small lots for millers.
Eggs so plenty that they have declined to 8 cents retail.
Beans—5c per quart.
Rye—10c per hundred.
Butter—20c.
Cheese—10c.
Corn—10c per bushel.
Cattle—10c per lb.
Hogs—10c per lb.
Lard—10c.
Wool—10c per lb.
Hides—10c per lb.
Pork—10c per lb.
Salt—10c per lb.
Flour—10c per barrel.
Wheat—10c per bushel.
Rye—10c per bushel.
Corn—10c per bushel.
Hops—10c per lb.
Clover—10c per ton.
Hay—10c per ton.
Straw—10c per ton.
Manure—10c per ton.
Lime—10c per ton.
Cement—10c per barrel.
Bricks—10c per 1000.
Tiles—10c per 1000.
Slate—10c per 1000.
Shingles—10c per 1000.
Lumber—10c per 1000.
Glass—10c per 1000.
Paper—10c per 1000.
Books—10c per 1000.
Stationery—10c per 1000.
Furniture—10c per 1000.
Clothing—10c per 1000.
Shoes—10c per 1000.
Hats—10c per 1000.
Trunks—10c per 1000.
Saddles—10c per 1000.
Carriages—10c per 1000.
Wheeled carriages—10c per 1000.
Tricycles—10c per 1000.
Bicycles—10c per 1000.
Machinery—10c per 1000.
Tools—10c per 1000.
Hardware—10c per 1000.
Paints—10c per 1000.
Oils—10c per 1000.
Liquors—10c per 1000.
Drugs—10c per 1000.
Medicines—10c per 1000.
Books—10c per 1000.
Stationery—10c per 1000.
Furniture—10c per 1000.
Clothing—10c per 1000.
Shoes—10c per 1000.
Hats—10c per 1000.
Trunks—10c per 1000.
Saddles—10c per 1000.
Carriages—10c per 1000.
Wheeled carriages—10c per 1000.
Tricycles—10c per 1000.
Bicycles—10c per 1000.
Machinery—10c per 1000.
Tools—10c per 1000.
Hardware—10c per 1000.
Paints—10c per 1000.
Oils—10c per 1000.
Liquors—10c per 1000.
Drugs—10c per 1000.
Medicines—10c per 1000.

Ypsilanti Department.
CLARENCE TINKER, Editor.
—Mr. Burt Forbes is visiting his people here.
—A great many children have the measles here.
—Mrs. F. A. Bradley has returned from her visit home.
—J. Benson of Toledo was the guest of L. V. Judd over Sunday.
—Sam Canfield has gone to Colorado, where he will open a law office.
—Albert Crane is able to ride out and will probably be in his office next week.
—The city is again to be afflicted. H. M. S. Pinafore at the

