DEMOCRATIC MEETINGS.

[All meetings in the evening unless otherwise stated.] FRIDAY, OCT. 8. Iron Creek Church (Manchester)—Chas. R. Whitman, C. H. Manly.

The County Clerkship.

Rumor comes to us that friends of Mr. Clark, the republican nominee for county clerk are using several specious arguments to induce demerits the townships of Lodi, York, Pittsfield and Saline, to vote for Mr. Clark in return for votes for some candidate on the democratic ticket.

Another argument advanced by Mr. Clark's friends is, that if his opponent is elected, he will not personally attend to the duties of the office.

We hope sincerely the rumor that calls forth this article is groundless. No valid reason can exist why any democrat should cast his vote for a rock-ribbed republican like Mr. Clark at the expense of Mr. Duffy or any other of the most excellent candidates upon our ticket.

The republicans are getting desperate in their fulsome praise of DeLozier Garfield. Secretary Everts, in his speech in New York the other night, said: "Since the time of Henry Clay, Garfield is the cleanest and best candidate."

The Show-Off.

The only candidate upon the county ticket the republicans express sanguine hope of electing is their nominee for sheriff, Mr. Yeckley. Because of his popularity in the eastern section of the county, it is claimed he will run considerably ahead of his ticket.

Our candidate, Mr. E. W. Wallace is just as good a man as Mr. Yeckley; he has served as deputy sheriff a number of years, and from experience is better fitted to enter upon the duties of the office.

As a complete letter writer General Hancock must be admitted to be a decided success. The republican wisecrackers who credited his New Orleans letter to Judge Black and his letter of acceptance to Mr. Tilden, have gone out of business, and now admit tacitly that the general does his own writing.

Fallis is president of a Cincinnati bank that holds a million in bonds and one of those republicans who pretends if Hancock is elected, governments will drop to ninety. "I'll take every one of them at par" said Theodore Cook.

Vindicty.

—Diphtheria in Leoni. —Macon sighted for a brass band on coast Pacific. —30,000 people visited the capitol city last, fall week.

—The salt rock has been struck at the depth of 1,050 feet at St. Louis, Gratiot county. —Mrs. James Andrews, of Adrian, died while at work in her house Wednesday.

—The acreage of wheat sown in the vicinity of Adrian exceeds that of any former year. —John H. Fuller, an insane life convict is at large, escaping from Jackson the county seat of last week.

—The grand stand on the fair ground at Adrian has been substantially rebuilt, and there is said to be no danger of repetition of the horror of a year ago. —Wheat producers of Grass Lake township: Milo Crafts 2,600, Frank Dwellie, O. S. Watkins, Chas. Cassidy and M. Dwellie raised 2,000 bushels each.

—Death of John Hill a farmer of Seneca is attended with suspicion so strong that it is to be investigated. His stomach was sent to Ann Arbor for analysis.

—A drug and grocery dealer in Coldwater has hung up a list of names headed "dead beats" or those who don't pay their debts, in his store, and adds new names every month.

—Nelson Randall, a brakeman on the L. S. & M. S. road, was terribly crushed at the freight depot at Monroe, Sept. 28, while coupling cars. His injuries are believed to be fatal.

—Coldwater has a scandal of some magnitude. A 15-year old girl charges liver ruin upon a prominent man, having a lively wife, and who aspired to nomination of prosecuting attorney on the republican ticket.

—The Little Creek people talk of having the money to work to obtain water from Gogone lake. They propose to build 70 hydrants at a cost of $60,000. The question will be submitted to the people at a special election.

—Instead of dropping the nickels into a box for the heathen, young gentlemen of Tecumseh contribute toward a fund to purchase a suit for an ambitious lad named Kelly who wants to attend school in decent raiment.

—John P. Wright, an old resident of Flint, was found drunk and insensible on the street, Sept. 29. During the night he died, and the coroner's jury rendered a verdict of "death by apoplexy, caused by drunkenness."

—The trial of Doremus Aiken and Adrian, for shooting Policeman Lyon, terminated Saturday in a verdict of manslaughter. The jury was out over an hour. Aiken a few years ago shot a woman claiming to be his wife, in Grand Rapids.

—Friday morning when Michael Sheridan of Brooklyn, went to his store he found that it had been entered by burglars during the night, his safe blown open and a pocket-book containing about $100, and two small drafts abstracted. The work was evidently that of professional burglars. They drilled a hole in the door of the safe and blew it off the hinges, wrecking it quite badly.

—James Smithman ascended in a balloon from Jackson, on Wednesday at 4 P. M., landing at Tecumseh 45 minutes later. After clearing Jackson he intended to descend, but on pulling the valve ropes he found the valve was frozen. Making himself fast to the balloon by the chain rope, he climbed to the netting and hanging on with both hands, with his teeth to a hole in the balloon succeeded in ripping it down the neck and letting the gas out. Landing was then made in safety though drifting before the wind at the rate of 20 miles an hour. Smithman was almost overpowered with gas as well as benumbed.

—Hon. I. M. Crane had a lively experience with a cyclone last Sunday. He and his son Teatius, a lad of 15, were in a boat on Grand River at Dismondale last Sunday, about 4 o'clock, when he heard a roaring sound like a heavy train of cars. Mr. Crane took in the situation and told his son to hurry the boat to the east side of the river, the cyclone coming from the west. Hardly had the boat touched shore when the terrible hurricane was upon them. Mr. Crane threw himself prone upon the ground, and seeing his son clinging to a small tree he told him to do the same. Their boat was shattered, a gun that was lying in the boat was hurled several rods and stuck in the ground, the tree to which young Crane was clinging was utterly demolished and carried away, roots and all. The river was strewn with the wreck of trees, limbs, and debris tossed about by the resistless wind. Young Mr. Crane was bruised on the head by the boat, but not seriously. Had they been on the west side of the river they must have been killed. It was a thrilling scene.—Lansing Journal.

Chewing-Gum.

We have it upon common report that chewing gum is a substance well known to the youth and part of the community. The qualities which it possesses at the time it comes from the confectioner are all familiar to the youngest of us.

The time was when the fragrant spruce furnished the most common material for the purpose. But this is no longer the case. The reader, familiar with the process of refining coal oil, is aware that the thick, brown liquid which comes from the earth, at one stage of its manufacture, is strained through heavy linen clothes.
