CLEVELAND'S THE MAN.

THE WASHTENAW DEMOCRACY HEARTILY ENDORSE HIS POLICY.

A Rousing Club at Chelsea—Sudden Death of H. E. H. Bower—A Fence to Come Down—Why County Clerk Howlett's Office is Not a Sinecure.

He is Waiting a Reply.

A good many cheeky letters from people living out of the county are received by the county clerk, his well known good humor and obliging disposition no doubt tending to increase their numbers. Among the latest of these is one from a Fremont, Ohio, man who asks the clerk to send him a complete list of all the notaries and justices of the peace in Washtenaw county, of all pensioners in the county, of all persons likely to become pensioners or likely to want an increase of pension, etc. The gratuitous announcement is made that the favor of a reply will be appreciated and a wee bit of a stamp is enclosed for that purpose. The clerk and his deputy will hardly employ their spare time for the next two months in this work.

A Rousing Chelsea Democratic Club.

The democrats of the township of Sylvan organized a Cleveland Club here on Saturday. Nearly all the democrats of the township were out in full force—and a rousing time was had. The following officers were elected: M. J. Cavanaugh, president; Thos McKone, secretary; Joseph Taylor, treasurer; vice-presidents, Jas. Beckwith, Mathew Lehman, M. Merckle, Geo. Rank, M. Wackinhut, John Looney and Henry Paul. Delegates were also elected to the several county conventions. Those chosen to attend the convention for nominating county officers were M. J. Cavanaugh, Frank Sweetland, Fred Kilmer, Mathew Lehman, Michael Merckle, James Hogan, G. Grau. All were unanimous for M. J. Lehman for the nomination for prosecutor this fall.

That Campus Fence.

Just think of it! Commencement comes around again next month! And now is about time for the annual parade of prinking up the city, putting on its store clothes, trimming and shaving neat and trim, shining its boots, and sprucing up generally for this gay and festive occasion, when it will be the "observed of all observers." Supposing this is all carried out to perfection which can easily be done by each family taking care of its own what will it all amount to if that scraggly, delapidated, old campus fence, which looks like combs with half the teeth broken or gone, or crooked under teeth crossed and twisted, or loose pins or anything else not beautiful you please to compare it with, is allowed to deface the beautiful city with its hideous, senseless uselessness. If it is the Regents business, why can't they let the old sticks be taken away? If a fence must be there, better have ropes or chains stretched around the campus to let the beauty inside show. It is a disgrace now.

Death of H. E. H. Bower.

Henry E. H. Bower, editor of the Ann Arbor Democrat, died at his home on First street, last Monday, at about noon. He had been ill for some years, suffering greatly from Bright's disease and dyspepsia, and had been confined to his house much of the time this winter. But with the approach of spring he seemed to recuperate and was around on the streets again. He was out Monday forenoon and appeared to be feeling as usual, making business appointments for the day and week. Hence, the suddenness of his death, which resulted from rheumatism of the heart, was a most decided shock to his many friends. He was taken with a sinking spell suddenly, without apparent warning, at about eleven o'clock, and was carried to his home, all medical skill proving unavailing.

Mr. Bower was forty-three years old, having been born in Manchester, April 20, 1845. He was a small lad when his parents removed to this city, and his whole life has been spent in the county. He obtained his education in the schools of the city, and graduated in the law department in 1866. In 1877 he was elected alderman of the city from the Third ward and did good service in the council for two years. He was at one time correspondent for the Detroit and Chicago dailies and did a vast amount of work aside from his local work on the Democrat. He had a natural gift for news gathering and a decided genius for condensing his information into short paragraphs. He gave a marked individuality to his paper and was somewhat of a free lance, causing many a man to smart under the sharp paragraphs he published.

He was the son of the late Henry Bower. His mother, Mrs. Margaret Bower, of North Ingalls street, survives him. B. Frank Bower, city editor of the Detroit Evening Journal, is his brother, and Misses Emma and Maggie Bower, his sisters. He leaves a wife.

The funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon from his mother's residence. Rev. S. Earp read the Episcopal service. Among the floral offerings were some very handsome flowers from Detroit friends. The press of the city sent a floral design of the first page of the Democrat, with inverted column rules. The pall bearers were J. E. Beal, K. Kittredge, E. J. Morton, F. B. Howlett, Geo. H. Pond and H. M. Holmes. The burial was private.

Democratic County Convention.

The democratic county convention was called to order by County Chairman Schuh and Dr. D. P. Mc Lachlan of York was elected temporary chairman and Jas. R. Bach, of Ann Arbor, temporary secretary. The chair then appointed J. Doyle, M. Brenner and A. Brown a committee on Credentials, H. Stumpfenhusen, A. J. Warren, A. T. Hughes, a committee on permanent organization and order of business, C. R. Whitman, E. B. Pond and M. J. Lehman, a committee on resolutions. The convention then took a recess until half-past one.

After dinner the committee on credentials reported the following delegates.

Ann Arbor City—J. F. Schuh, E. B. Pond, Chas. H. Richmond, Arthur Brown, Chas. W. Grossman, Geo. B. Schwab, Gustave Brehm, M. J. Martin, James Kearns, T. D. Kearney, W. H. McIntyre, P. J. O'Hearn, W. J. Miller, J. T. Sullivan, J. R. Bach, H. T. Morton, Charles R. Whitman.

Dexter—Chas. Dwyer, T. McQuillan and Wm. Arnold.

Freedom—J. Knapp, H. Bertke, Gustave Weiss, J. Breining.

Lima—Adam Schmid, W. H. Dancer.

Lodi—Philip Blum, Leopold Blaess, James Sage, George Mann.

Lyndon—George Shanahan, J. S. Gorman, George Greening.

Manchester—M. Brenner, Henry Kirchofer, Jacob Miller.

Northfield—T. P. Kearney, James Welsh, George Gerlock, N. E. Sutton.

Saline—A. J. Warner, E. DePue, John Gillen, J. M. Gross, J. A. Alber, J. H. Hammond.

Scio—C. S. Gregory, A. T. Hughes, David Allmendinger, E. Jedede, E. Moore, C. Stebbins.

Sylvan—E. Kirkby, M. J. Lehman, M. J. Cavanaugh, Frank McNamara, D. W. Maroney, Joseph Goodrich.

York—D. P. McLachlan, J. Doyle, M. J. Kelsey, Geo. Coe, Jesse Warren, A. J. LeBaron.

Ypsilanti town—H. Stumpfenhusen, G. B. Roberts, Frank Armstrong, H. N. Benham.

The temporary officers were made permanent. Dr. Mc Lachlan made a rousing speech setting the stakes for the democratic majority this year at 2,000.

The following brief, pointed, clear and ringing resolutions reported from the committee on resolutions by Hon. Chas. R. Whitman were adopted amid great applause.

The Democracy of Washtenaw County in convention assembled most earnestly and heartily approve of the wise and patriotic efforts of our president, Grover Cleveland, in the work of progress and reform.

We denounce the continued exaction of $80,000,000 a year in excess of the needs of government, as indefensible robbery.

We demand a reduction of the tariff burdens of the people and that this surplus shall be reduced by an abatement of war taxes on the necessities of life.

The following executive committee, nominated by a committee for that purpose was chosen by the convention. J. F. Schuh, chairman, Jas. R. Bach, secretary, Jacob Knapp, N. Schmid, John Terns, M. J. Lehman, Dr. D. P. McLachlan. The chairman of the township and ward committees were made members of the county committee and the following delegates were elected to the state convention.

Delegates at Large.—J. Willard Babbitt, Nelson E. Sutton, Charles R. Whitman, Chas. S. Gregory.

First District.—James Kearns, Jas. Bach, S. W. Beakes, William Walsh, Chas. Sutton, Wm. H. McIntyre, Philip Duffy.

Second District.—Leopold Blaess, J. Manly Young, Jacob F. Miller, James Doyle, George E. Roberts, John Terns, Wm. H. Wells.

Hon. Chas. R. Whitman being called upon referred first to the growing democratic majority in the county. The people all over the country are coming to see that there is something in the demand made in 1876 by that gallant democratic leader, Samuel J. Tilden, the growing demand for tariff reform (applause). The republican policy is to continue to hoard up a surplus in the treasury and to compel the laboring man to pay on the average, forty-seven cents on every dollar they earn for the benefits of the monopolists. The rich have been growing richer, and the poor, poorer. The council then adjourned.

A dry, hacking cough keeps the bronchial tubes in a state of constant irritation, which, if not speedily removed, may lead to bronchitis. No prompt remedy can be had than Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which is both an anodyne and expectorant.

AN EMPORIUM OF FASHION.

A VISIT TO ANN ARBOR'S LARGEST DRY GOODS STORE.

What Can be Seen Over the Well-Filled Counters Any Day Now—Why Mack & Schmid Have Built up Their Immense Trade.

No one in the city needs an introduction to Mack & Schmid's store, yet our reporter, who was shown over the store on Wednesday, saw so many things that he thought would prove of interest to the lady readers of THE ARGUS, that he could not resist the temptation of saying a few words about the firm and the goods they carry.

It is surprising to see what a business they are doing this year and the extra efforts they are making to secure the lion share of the spring and summer trade in this city.

The dry goods trade has come to be a science in itself. Care and discrimination is needed in selecting the goods and in buying them at such figures as will enable the dealer to sell to his customers for low prices. Mack & Schmid have shown themselves possessed of these qualities in an eminent degree. They run two large stores, one here and one in Manchester, and by purchasing goods for both at the same time, they are enabled to take advantage of the reductions to be obtained for purchases in large quantities.

The store in this city is by far the longest and widest of the dry goods stores of the city, and the two stories are filled with merchandise of every description and every conceivable style. The store room is the best lighted in the city.

An endless assortment of dress goods in all the new colors and ranging in prices to suit all purses, from the finest imported goods down to the cheaper goods for those with smaller purses, who yet wish to appear well dressed, greeted the reporter's eye, and he was told that the stock carried this spring in dress goods was larger than ever before, and certainly the ladies ought to be able to find in it just the goods they want. And this is what the customers in the store at the time of the reporter's visit seemed to be doing. The various kinds of dress trimmings were found in profusion to suit the taste of a princess or a quakeress.

They have parasols in endless variety, to harmonize with the various costumes. Some very handsome lace-covered parasols are shown and many novelties in handles. There are also numerous styles in fans, and handkerchiefs of every description from the finest for the fair to the wee bit of linen for the household pet, the baby, and from the plain white for the priest to the gay colored for the dude.

A special sale of black and colored silks is in progress, in which customers are manifesting considerable interest. A very large variety of velvets and plushes in plain colors, stripes and brocades delights the eye; over this part of the stock many will delight to linger, but the reporter's time was precious and he passed on to the profusion of house furnishing goods, the damask table linen, the napkins and towels, the elegant lace curtains, the heavy curtain goods and the thousand and one other articles which only the good housewife can appreciate, all in stock and all shown in great variety.

The long tables in the rear of the store remind one of the wholesale departments of the stores in larger cities, so crowded are they with many goods. The hosiery and gloves make up a separate department, which contains all the novelties in this line.

Up stairs are found the cloaks and wraps, furnishing goods and many white goods.

Both here and in Manchester the firm of Mack & Schmid has been long in the lead of the dry goods stores. The stores are carefully watched over and the care taken in securing bargains for customers should keep all the trade in the city and draw customers from villages at some distance. No one certainly has an excuse for purchasing dresses in Detroit after looking over Mack & Schmid's stock.

Considering their long experience, the large purchases they make for their two stores, the push and activity with which the whole force seem imbued, it is to be wondered at that Mack & Schmid lead the dry goods business in the county?

High School Doings.

The juniors will have a social gathering to-night at Miss Jessie Penny's, 23 North University avenue.

The seniors have decided to have their class day exercises at Whitmore lake, as has been the custom.

The high school nine will probably play a game of ball in a short time with the Detroit high school boys.

The senior class historian, R. J. McColl, circulated his questions among all members of the class this week.

An examination in grammar was given last Wednesday, and one in Arithmetic will come on the same day next week.

A social will be given the senior class to-night by Miss Virginia Law, at 49 East Washington street, to which all members of the class are cordially invited.

H. Collum's accident in the flouring mills last week necessitated the amputation of one finger which Doctors Chandler and Oakly performed Wednesday.

Julius Feldkamp has been trying with the help of Dr. J. A. Dell to save a valuable horse from typhoid Pneumonia. The animal was doing well at time of last report.

Miss Lola Bell returned from the west a short time ago to visit friends and attend business matters before settling in Elkhorn, Wis., where she will make her future home. She departed thence Wednesday.

Rev. Reynolds, State secretary of Sunday School Association, held a meeting here last Friday evening to set on foot, if possible, the organization of Sunday schools in some of the country school districts in this vicinity. We hope his labors may be rewarded more than they now promise to be, although the meeting was quite well attended.

Miss Lola Bell returned from the west a short time ago to visit friends and attend business matters before settling in Elkhorn, Wis., where she will make her future home. She departed thence Wednesday.

Rev. Reynolds, State secretary of Sunday School Association, held a meeting here last Friday evening to set on foot, if possible, the organization of Sunday schools in some of the country school districts in this vicinity. We hope his labors may be rewarded more than they now promise to be, although the meeting was quite well attended.

THE BEST

ROAD MACHINE

You ought to have one in your township. It will save money. Better roads at less expense. Speak to your supervisor about it. Call the highway commissioners attention to this advertisement. It's to your interest if you pay taxes.

THE AMERICAN

CHAMPION ROAD GRADER

The best made, the most enduring, greatest capacity, easiest of operation, steadiest motion, turned in narrower space than other machines. P. W. Richardson, Tremont, Me., writes that he can build more roads for $100 with it than could be built for $2,000 the old way. Dimon Roberts, road commissioner of Lynn, Mass., says "road expenses since purchasing American Champion half as great as formerly and more than twice amount work done each year." The

LITTLE WONDER GRADER

Warranted to do any work possible to any two-wheel machine and do it with lighter draft and less friction on the axles.

The New Daisy Road Machine

A low price machine, the best thing for the money in the market. Read what Supervisor Dansingburg of Augusta says

WHITTAKER, MICH., Dec. 2, 1887.

DEAR SIR—I would say that the New Daisy Road Machine bought of you last May is all that you represent it to be. I consider it superior to the Boss, on account of its hollow all-steel bar, allowing the dirt to move away freer and causing a good deal less side draft, consequently running easier. I think any one who buys one will be satisfied with it.

Yours,

WM. DANSINGBURG.

For 1889 is better than ever, and should be in the hands of every person contemplating buying SEEDS, BULBS or PLANTS. It contains 3 Colored Plates, thousands of Illustrations, and nearly 100 pages, telling what to buy, and where to get it, and naming lowest prices for honest goods. Price of GUIDE only 10 cents, including a Certificate good for 10 cents worth of seeds. JAMES VICK, SEEDSMAN, Rochester N. Y.

The town assessment is being taken.

Drummers are numerous here every day.

Cows have been out to grass here since the first of May.

The prospect for fruit about here this summer is reported good.

Work has begun on H. S. Holmes new residence on East Middle street.

Mrs. E. A. Avery goes to Three Oaks next week to spend the summer.

The measles are abating some and no new cases have been reported lately.

A few loads of wheat have been bought here this week at 85 cents per bushel.

Some traveling horse traders here have been camping north of this town this week.

Miss Joe Ruche is said to be going to Lansing to engage in dress making at the Capital.

C. Hasselschwerdt is going to move his restaurant into the Wilkinson building on Middle street.

Thos. Congdon, of St. Johns, came here last Tuesday night to visit relatives and attend to some business affairs.

The donation at the town hall Wednesday night for Elder McIntosh was largely attended and a pleasant time had and $80 realized.

Vegetation has developed rapidly since the late rain. It was everything to wheat and young clover. An unusual acreage of barley and oats have been planted about here.

Mrs. Goodwin, widow of the late George Goodwin of Lyndon, died at the family residence on Tuesday of some ailment of the kidneys. She was about 55 years old and a pioneer in Lyndon.

Charles Young died at the residence of his daughter in this village Wednesday evening from the effects of an injury to his hand by a saw some ten days ago. He was sixty-seven years old and removed to this township with his family from England at an early day; bought land and out of the wilderness has carved for himself a competence of this world's goods. He has enjoyed the respect and confidence of his neighbors and many friends. Five children and his second wife survive him.

The value of a remedy should be estimated by its curative properties. According to this standard, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best and most economical blood medicine in the market, because the most pure and concentrated. Price $1. Worth $5 dollars a bottle.

Ouida has at last consented to write a novel "with a typical American family in it," and "all the sprightly freedom of customary American love-making."

"If a woman is pretty, To me 'tis no matter, Be she blonde or brunette, So she lets me look at her."

An unhealthy woman is rarely, if ever, beautiful. The peculiar diseases to which so many of the sex are subject, are prolific causes of pale, sallow faces blotched with unsightly pimples, dull lustreless eyes and emaciated forms. Woman so afflicted, can be permanently cured by using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription; and with the restoration of health comes that beauty which, combined with good qualities of head and heart, makes women angels of loveliness. "Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrappers, and faithfully carried out for many years.

Parrots are fashionable pets in Philadelphia. One young woman has a parrot named "Dude" who salutes gentlemanly visitors by shouting out, "Hello, chappie!"

Nothing Like It!

Every day swells the volume of proof that as a specific for all blood diseases, nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Remember, this is an old established remedy with a record! It has been weighed in the balance and found fulfilling every claim! It has been tested for many years in thousands of cases with flattering success! For Throat and Lung troubles, Catarrh, Kidney disease, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache and all disorders resulting from impoverished blood, there is nothing like Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—world-renowned and ever growing in favor!

A "crusade" against cigarette smoking has begun in several localities along the Hudson River.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Two littleurchins were gazing with undisguised admiration at the display made in the window of a well-known Tremont-st. establishment the other day, and one remarked to the other: "Bill, what'd yer do if you had all that shop full of flowers?" "Do? I'd just roll myself in 'em and go to sleep forever!" rhapsodized the poetic youngster.

TWO STATES FOR GRAY.

WISCONSIN DEMOCRATS ELECT DELEGATES TO ST. LOUIS.

Who Are for Cleveland and Gray—The Resolutions—City Elections in Indiana—New Hampshire Democracy—The Republican Clubs—Blaine the Man for California—Alger Delegates Selected.

MADISON, Wis., May 2.—The Democratic state convention for the election of delegates to the national Democratic convention met at noon yesterday in the capitol, and after organization proceeded to select the following representatives to the St. Louis convention: Delegates-at-large—G. W. Woodward, of LaCrosse, chairman; E. Shandlin, Milwaukee; G. W. Bird, Madison; J. H. Knight, Ashland. District delegates—J. E. Dodge, R. R. Kirkland, O. A. Wells, S. W. Lamoreaux, W. W. Smith, T. U. Brooks, Ed Hackett, James Kneeland, W. H. Semon, W. Sykes, A. W. Patton, R. C. Falconer, N. J. Patterson, S. W. Dickinson, T. F. Frawley, R. J. McBride, J. Edwards, A. B. McDonald.

The permanent chairman was J. M. Morrow, of Momee, and in his speech he roused his auditors and brought out generous rounds of applause. The resolutions were brief and went through with a whoop as follows:

The Democrats of Wisconsin, in convention assembled, heartily and fully indorse the wise, conservative and patriotic course of Grover Cleveland as president of the United States. We take pride in the manly courage with which he has defied the hosts of protected monopoly and advocated the reduction of war tariff taxes now retained only upon the every-day necessities of the farmer, the artisan, and laborer, having long since been removed from the incomes, the bank capital, and the bank checks of the rich.

We denounce a system of tariff taxes that, while it creates a dangerous annual surplus in the national treasury of $155,000,000, at the same time indirectly taxes the producers of the west for the sole benefit of protected manufacturers $9 for every dollar that goes into the treasury.

We therefore declare that the burden of taxation should rest upon those who use luxuries, rather than upon those who use only the necessities of life; that taxation should be limited to the requirements of the government; that a greater tax is robbery under the name of law.

We demand that taxation be limited to the needs of the government, economically administered, and be levied on the luxuries rather than on the necessities of life, and that taxation be reduced in strict conformity to the principles laid down by President Cleveland in his message to the Fifteenth congress.

The delegates and alternates are for Governor Gray, of Indiana, for vice president.

INDIANA DEMOCRATS.

They Nominate a State Ticket and Indorse Gray for Vice President.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 27.—It took the representatives of the Indiana Democracy less than five hours yesterday to place in nomination a lengthy state ticket and to present Governor Gray to the country as Indiana's candidate for the vice presidential nomination.

W. P. Richardson called the convention to order, and the preliminaries having been arranged at meetings Wednesday night Charles I. Jewett, of Floyd county, took the permanent chairmanship, as per report of the permanent organization committee. The report also named William A. Peelle, Jr., of Marion, for secretary, and Daniel W. Voorhees, of Terre Haute; David Turpie, of Indianapolis; John G. Shanklin, of Evansville, and John H. Bass, of Fort Wayne, for delegates-at-large to the national convention, and Thomas E. Cobb, of Vincennes, and John E. Lamb, of Terre Haute, for electors-at-large. The report was unanimously adopted.

Nominations for a state ticket were then in order, and the result on supreme court judges was as follows: First district, W. E. Niblack, of Vincennes; Second district, George V. Hawk, of Floyd county; Fourth district, Allen Zollars, of Ft. Wayne.

Gen. C. C. Matson was selected for governor, the first ballot going so overwhelmingly in his favor that W. R. Myers, his chief opponent, moved that the nomination be made unanimous before the result was announced. Congressmen Bynum and Holman were also named. Matson was called upon for a speech, and thanked the convention for the honor bestowed upon him. Myers was made candidate for lieutenant governor by acclamation. The remainder of the ticket is as follows: Auditor, Charles G. Munson, of Allen; treasurer, Thomas Byrne, of Vanderburg; reporter supreme court, John W. Kern; attorney general, John R. Wilson. Green Smith, the president of the state senate during the contest in the last legislature, was a candidate for this last nomination. G. V. Griffiths, of Frankfort, was nominated for superintendent of public instruction.

INDIANA CITY ELECTIONS.

Returns from the Ballot-Boxes of Several of the Counties.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 2.—Elections were held in various cities of Indiana yesterday. Mount Vernon, Logansport, Bluffton, Shelbyville, Columbus, Jeffersonville, Madison, LaPorte, and South Bend went Democratic. Terre Haute elected a Democratic mayor, and councilmen in every ward for the first time in the history of the city. Rushville elected a citizens' ticket in opposition to the regular Republicans. Lebanon, Greenville, and Anderson went Republican.

At Fort Wayne the Republicans elect four out of ten councilmen and besides the six remaining councilmen the Democrats elect three water works trustees.

At New Albany only councilmen were voted for. The Democrats carry the councilmen in the Second, Third, Fourth, and Sixth wards by a total majority of 341. The Republicans elected councilmen in the First and Fifth wards by a total majority of 726, giving a Republican majority on the popular vote of 385. The city usually goes 50 Democratic. The Prohibitionists had a candidate in every ward, but they polled but a small vote. The Republicans had no candidates in the Second and Third wards.

At Delphi the Republicans elected the assessor and two out of three councilmen. It is a Republican gain, as all the positions were filled by Democrats.

Illinois Union Labor Ticket.

DECATUR, Ills., April 28.—The Union Labor party of Illinois held its first state convention here Thursday. The platform declares that the ballot is the only means to get bad laws off the statute books. It favors taxation of mortgage holders, popular election of senators and other officers, state ownership of transportation systems, and a graduated income tax. It demands that the employment of armed men by private persons shall be prohibited, and favors the prohibition of the liquor traffic.

Willis W. Jones, of Camargo, was nominated for governor; Charles Dixon, of Chicago, lieutenant governor; Bert Stewart, of Decatur, secretary of state; George W. Collings, of Evanston, auditor.

The convention was a very noisy one, chiefly because the Democratic element failed in its efforts to nominate A. J. Bell for governor. Col. S. F. Norton, one of the Independent straight party men, led the fight against Bell and knocked him out. Senator

Rohrbach, Ling, Riley and Detwiler, of Chicago, raised a great row about the slate after the ballot was taken, and all boiled the convention.

Report on Republican Clubs.

NEW YORK, May 2.—The national sub-executive committee of the National League of Republican clubs met yesterday and made reports indicating thorough organization in every northern state except Colorado and Nevada. It was decided to hold a great ratification meeting in Chicago the evening after the adjournment of the national convention. The secretary reported the total number of clubs as 3,500, and the enrolled membership as 500,000. They expect 5,000 clubs and 1,000,000 members by the time the national convention meets. The committee wished it announced that the league has no preference as to candidates.

New Hampshire Democracy.

CONCORD, N. H., May 2.—The Democrats held the largest state convention here yesterday ever held by them in the state. All allusions to President Cleveland in the speeches were vociferously applauded, and resolutions adopted heartily indorsing the administration and approving his tariff message. The delegates at-large to the St. Louis convention are Daniel Connor, of Manchester; J. C. Moore, of Guilford; A. W. Sulloway, of Franklin, and Frank Jones, of Portsmouth. They were not instructed, but are unanimously for Cleveland.

Blaine Sentiment in California.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 2.—The Republican state convention was called to order at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It is probable that an unpledged delegation will be sent to Chicago, but Delegate Knight made a speech for Blaine, and said the sentiment was such that it should not be smothered in committee. [Applause.] Delegate Wisner said he believed Blaine would be next president, but in view of his letter it would be bad taste to force him immediately upon the convention.

Illinois Congressmen Renominated.

CHICAGO, April 28.—Hon. R. R. Hitt was Friday nominated by acclamation by the Sixth Illinois Republican district convention for re-election to congress. Hon. Thomas J. Henderson, member of congress from the Seventh district, and Hon. L. E. Payson, member from the Ninth district of this state, were likewise unanimously nominated for re-election by the Republican conventions of their respective districts Thursday.

Iowa Prohibitionists Nominated.

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 28.—The third party Prohibitionists of Iowa met in state convention here Thursday, twenty-two delegates being present. A state ticket was nominated, as follows: Secretary of state, J. Mickelwaite of Mills county; state auditor, Malcolm Smith of Linn county; treasurer, J. L. Adams of Dubuque; clerk of the supreme court, E. O. Sharpe of Polk.

Pennsylvania Prohibitionists.

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 2.—Four hundred and fifty delegates arrived here last night to attend the state Prohibition convention. The session will last two days. It will be the largest convention the party has ever held in this state. Chairman Barker says he thinks the platform will speak favorably of Cleveland's administration.

Instructed for Gen. Alger.

DETROIT, Mich., May 2.—The second district Republicans elected C. T. Mitchell, B. F. Graves, Gen. George Spalding, J. L. Gilbert, delegates to the national convention at Chicago, and instructed them for Alger.

OCEAN TERRORS AFLOAT.

Two of Our New War Vessels Glide Into Their Proper Element.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 30.—Thousands upon thousands of people were gathered Saturday afternoon in the vicinity of Cramp's ship-yards to witness the launching of the two new war vessels, the gunboat Yorktown and the dynamite cruiser, and delegations from Washington and of leading citizens of Philadelphia were embarked at the scene on the steamer Columbia and the revenue cutter Hamilton. The shipping which was gathered in the river was thick with humanity and gayly decked in colors.

A few moments before 3 o'clock, which was the hour set for launching, Secretary Whitney and a portion of his party left the Columbia, and proceeded to a platform near the bows of the two vessels. The signal being given the blocks were cut from under the Yorktown, and at 3:05 she slowly moved toward the water. At this moment Miss Mary Cameron, daughter of Senator Cameron, broke a bottle of wine over the bow and christened the vessel "Yorktown." The steel monster glided gracefully into the water amid the blowing of whistles, waving of handkerchiefs and hurrahs of the crowd which lined the docks.

Five minutes later the dynamite cruiser moved toward the water. Miss Eleanor Breckenridge, daughter of Representative Breckenridge, of Kentucky, christened her "Vesuvius."

Boiler Not Used for Six Months.

RUSHVILLE, Ind., May 1.—The boiler of Caldwell & Conde's mill exploded yesterday with deadly results. It had not been used since last fall. Mr. Caldwell was making a tour of inspection about 8 o'clock and found the inspirator somewhat defective. Norman E. Conde, a neighbor, had called to see the mill started, and was conversing with Caldwell when the explosion occurred. Both men were killed instantly. Joseph Lakin, an employe, had his skull crushed, and is dying. Those seriously injured are: Leonidas Pea, Joseph Wade, Allen Lakin, Frank Frenndr (13 years old), and Jordan Calmes, colored.

Navigation Open at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 1.—Navigation at this port may now be regarded as fully open. Three steamers passed out Saturday and three arrived Sunday. Twenty-two propellers and fourteen schooners left yesterday. The Union steamboat fleet is already through the ice.

Twenty Thousand Women Voted.

TOPEKA, Kan., May 1.—Hon. F. G. Adams, secretary of the Kansas Historical society, has received returns from the municipal elections which indicate that about 20,000 women voted.

Arrested for Bank Robbery.

ANTIGO, Wis., May 2.—George West, a well-known crook in Wisconsin and Minnesota, was arrested at Rhineland by Sheriff Robbins Monday for robbing the Antigo bank last Thursday. He was identified as the man who was seen leaving the rear of the bank at the time of the robbery. He gives no satisfactory account of himself. Several parties are sure he was seen here that day. None of the money has been recovered.

Why are the house and senate legislative journals, not yet published? The legislature adjourned months and months ago and we are still waiting for the official records. Are the republicans so ashamed of the records that they are delaying the publication until after this years campaign? It begins to look that way.

The enthusiasm felt for the cause of tariff reform was shown by the outburst of applause which greeted Hon. Charles R. Whitman in the democratic convention Wednesday, when he proposed to read out of the party such republicans, masquerading as democrats, as Randall and others of his ilk. Any democrat expecting to get the enthusiastic support of his party in this section must be a tariff reformer.

The scene on the floor of the senate, Tuesday, was a disgrace to the nation. The billingsgate indulged in by Ingalls and Voorhees marks the want of the instincts of a gentleman in both. The senate, which elects such a vituperative individual as Ingalls its president, will soon be a thing of the past. And the democratic majority which will come in power with the next senate will not elect such a man as Voorhees its president.

THE unfairness of the argument on which the Courier bases the statement that the republican vote of South Carolina is suppressed by the democrats is shown by its own statements. It rants about the small vote cast in South Carolina for congressmen and then shows that the republicans had no candidates for the office in six of the seven districts. The Courier neglects to inform its readers that the republican leaders suppressed all the republican votes by failing to nominate candidates. It is not to be wondered at that a party which nominates no candidate polls no votes.

NINE members of the common council, including the mayor, are on record as voting that they will not obey the liquor law.—Register.

That is a silly statement to make. "Nine members of the common council, including the mayor," voted down a resolution saying what persons they would accept as bondsmen. The law defines that and the resolution was a useless one. There is no necessity of passing useless resolutions, and it is time the practice ceased. The council can't define the meaning of a state law by resolution. Where there are two constructions to be placed upon a law, the council may place the one that seems the most probable upon it without opening itself to the charge of deciding not to obey the law.

The president is noted for making good appointments to office and the selection of Melville W. Fuller, of Chicago, for chief justice of the United States is no exception. He is a lawyer of prominence and the fact that he has never been an office holder is not to be reckoned to his discredit. The fact that even the partisan republican press can find nothing to say against him except that he is a democrat speaks volumes in his favor. The independent press is full of his praise, while Chicago seems to have gone fairly wild with delight. We are glad the new chief justice comes from the west, that he is only fifty-five years of age and that he is an eminent lawyer. He will be an honor to the bench and an honor to the party and the president who placed him there.

A BURSTED BOOM.

The Republican scheme to capture the Fifth Congressional district has proved a dismal failure. Capt. Chas. E. Belknap, their strongest man, whom they elected mayor of Grand Rapids in 1884 by 723 majority, was again put on the track backed by a colossal campaign fund, which was calculated to elect him mayor by 1,000 majority and put him in Congress next fall. But I. M. Weston took the Fusion nomination, polled the biggest vote ever given a candidate for mayor in Grand Rapids and knocked out the Republican champion.

Now Belknap is further disgraced by the unlawful action of his Republican managers who are on record in the late decision of the Supreme court as guilty of a midnight raid on the ballot boxes and a high-handed attempt to defeat the will of the people by an illegal recount of the votes in the exposed boxes before an illegal tribunal. This settles Belknap's aspirations and assures Congressman Ford's re-election by a round 1,000 majority.—Grand Rapids Leader.

Miss Mary Ann Gilshanan, of the Fourth ward, died Friday from cancer aged fifty-four years. She was noted for her kindness to the poor and the sick and her praises were sung by many lips. The funeral was held Monday from St. Thomas church.

Edward Comiskie died in Northfield, on Wednesday, of last week. He was born in Queen county, in the Province of Lynster, in Ireland, in 1795, and after coming to maturity had come to New York city. He removed to Northfield, in 1830, where he has since resided. He was a man of excellent physical health and had never called in the services of a physician until very late years. His widow survives him. He had ten children, seven of whom are now living. The funeral services were held last Friday from the Northfield church.

The great union concert in University hall last Saturday evening was a decided musical success. The Choral Union and the united choral societies of Ypsilanti harmoniously blended into one chorus, with 170 voices. The attendance however was small and the concert resulted in financial loss. The audience, however, looked smaller than it really was, as it takes a good many hundred people to make a good sized audience in University hall, the immense size of which makes it look almost empty when it is not full. The small attendance on these concerts both here and in Ypsilanti must be exceedingly discouraging to local musicians. Musical entertainments of not half the merit are greeted with crowded houses and if the idea is to take the money out of town, it would seem that the audiences are all the larger. On the other hand, the counter attraction at the opera house Saturday evening and the many entertainments calling upon the purses of our people lately gives the reason why many did not attend.

A Bergh Society.

As the following call denotes a society for the prevention of cruelty to animals will be formed in Firemen's hall this evening. We whose names are hereunto appended believing that kindness to dumb animals is a moral obligation, and believing that it is the duty of every good citizen so far as it lies in his power, to employ all suitable means for the prevention of cruelty to animals, and for the observance of the laws relating thereto, do hereby unite in this call for a meeting at Firemen's hall on Friday, May 4th, at 7:30 o'clock, of all who are in sympathy with the above sentiment, to consider the propriety of effecting an organization under the statute for the protection of animals, or to take any other action upon this subject that the meeting may deem proper.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD OF THE PAST SIX DAYS.

If Your Congressmen Are Taking Any Active Part in the Nation's Affairs You Can Find Out All About It by Reading This Column—A Condensed Summary of Both Branches.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 26.—The senate yesterday received a number of bills from committees and appropriately disposed of them, and then took up the motion to refer the president's message and Voorhees made an argument in favor of the tariff views in the message. He closed his speech with a defense of the Democrats of the south, and of Hancock and McClellan against the attack on them made by Ingalls some weeks ago. When he concluded the conference report on the bill for a pan-American conference in 1889 was non-concurred in and another conference ordered. The animal industry and unearned land grant bills occupied the remainder of the session, but no action was taken and at 5 p. m. the senate adjourned.

The house adopted the conference report on the bill authorizing the postmaster general to adjust claims of postmasters for losses by fire and burglary, and then in committee of the whole continued the tariff debate, speeches being made by Bynum and Brown of Indiana and Dockery of Missouri. A resolution agreed to by the ways and means committee was then submitted providing that seventeen days and two evening sessions weekly after April 25 shall be devoted to general debate on the tariff. A recess was then taken to 8 p. m., the evening session to be for tariff talk. At this session Shaw of Maryland, and Glass of Tennessee supported the bill, and at 10:25 the house adjourned.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 27.—A bill was reported to the senate yesterday granting right-of-way through Indian territory to the Kansas City & Pacific railway. Ingalls then announced that on Tuesday next he would reply to Voorhees' speech of Wednesday. The conference report on the resolution accepting the invitation to take part in the French exposition of 1889 and appropriating $250,000 therefor was agreed to. The land forfeiture bill came up next, and Palmer of Michigan opposed any amendment in the interest of the claims of the Lake Superior Ship Canal company to title to lands granted to the state of Michigan. Dolph compared the land policies of the Republican and Democratic parties in a political speech, and the bill went over. Hale wanted to pass the bill retiring Gen. Fremont, but Reagan said he desired to speak against it, and the matter was postponed. The senate then adjourned until Monday.

The house passed the bill for the relief of the Omaha tribe of Indians in Nebraska, and adopted a resolution calling upon the treasury for the number of persons engaged in agriculture and manufactures who are subjected to foreign competition. In committee of the whole the tariff discussion was continued, Buchanan of New Jersey, and Osborne of Pennsylvania speaking against the Mills bill, and Hemphill of South Carolina, Hudd of Wisconsin, and Sayers of Texas (the latter at the night session) in favor thereof. The house adjourned at 9:10 p. m.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 28.—The only business done in the house yesterday of general interest, outside of the debate on the tariff, was the adoption of a resolution calling upon the interior office for information relative to the Alaskan seal fisheries. Mill's bill was opposed by Brewer of Michigan and Goff of West Virginia, and advocated by Ford of Michigan and Landes of Illinois. A night session was held, at which seventeen private pension bills were passed, and at 10:30 the house adjourned.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 30.—Saturday's session of the house attracted but thirty-five members, and they spent the day in colloquial discussion of the Mills bill, Springer in the chair, in committee of the whole. The committee rose at 5 o'clock, and after passing a bill authorizing a bridge across the Mississippi at Hickman, Ky., the house at 5:30 adjourned.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 1.—Among the bills reported from committees to the senate yesterday were the following: Fixing salaries of United States district judges at $5,000; increasing the endowment of the Louisiana state university; house bill providing for purchase of additional ground for public building at Indianapolis, and for improvement of the building, appropriating $125,000; house bill appropriating $150,000 for a public building at Duluth. Stewart introduced a bill to make the silver coinage $4,000,000 monthly; also a resolution inquiring as to amounts of silver purchased by the government, prices and sellers. Bills were reported for public building at Atchison, Kan. ($100,000); Emporia, Kan. ($100,000), and Fort Dodge, Ia., ($75,000). Senate bills for public buildings at Youngstown, O. ($100,000), and Akron, O., ($75,000), were passed. The land grant forfeiture bill was discussed briefly and laid aside, and then the international copyright bill was taken up and amended so as to allow a newspaper or magazine publisher to import two copies of any foreign publication for his own use. Beck then opposed the bill, Vest advocated it, and without action the senate adjourned.

Mrs. Donald Maclean died at her home in Detroit last Friday night. She had been in poor health for some years. She was born in England and was the daughter of Weir Anderson, a prominent Liverpool lawyer, who moved to Toronto in 1870. She married Dr. Maclean in 1871 and they have two children, one a son of 15 years and the other a daughter of 10 years. The funeral services were held Monday afternoon.

The evening services at the Unitarian church which have been very successful during the past winter, closed for the summer last Sunday evening. From this time on there will be morning services only. During the winter Mr. Sunderland has given two courses of Sunday evening lectures, one on "Practical Themes for Students," and one on "Religious Problems," and Mrs. Sunderland has given an extended course of fourteen lectures on "The Books of the Bible."

CHAPTER XXXII
TOO LATE.

It was the afternoon of the Wednesday that the steamer Salvator was to sail. But Philip Breton and the woman he had hoped to save were yet in their house in Bretonville, hundreds of miles from the pier. The clock in Bertha's drawing room had struck three. It was the very hour; the last bell must be ringing now, and friends were saying their farewell adieux, with here and there a teardrop. Home seemed very sweet at this moment of separation, and dreams of joys in strange lands seemed too vague to comfort many a heart that had been light and merry till now.

Philip had not slept these two nights for anxiety. The very air had seemed so full of danger he had feared the storm would burst upon them before today. Now, haggard lines had come into his face. He had watched all the countenances of the villagers for signs and warnings. Would his enemies give him time? Well, they had given him time, and yet he waited.

He had driven to every train for his old friend Philbrick, but he had failed him. He had strained his blood shot eyes so eagerly last night to make him out of the solitary arrival on the evening train. If the old man had known how much depended on him, he would surely have hastened. Philip dared not trust his mills in any hands but his. The old man would be gentle with his charge; he was patient, he had broader ideas than Philip Breton, he was less of an aristocrat. And his mills were very dear to Philip—only less dear than his wife. Perhaps the old man might come yet, before the next steamer sailed, but there were three long days for his terrible secret to work its way to the light—three long, dark nights for a blow to fall.

Philip found Bertha in the drawing room, waiting for him. The excitement that flushed her face seemed to have smoothed out the lines of care, her eyes were brighter than love for him had ever made them. She seemed grown young as the first day in the garden she had fallen asleep on his shoulder. How the poor girl longed to go. He stood a moment before her, and love and sorrow swept over his soul in alternate waves. She was his beautiful wife, who looked to him for her only protection. And out of pity for the mob that had insulted her he had let slip, perhaps, his last hope of saving her. What did the wretches deserve? Yet perhaps he had sacrificed his wife to them. Perhaps this delay would make those sweet, eager eyes weep forever; that queenly, gold-crowned head bow in humiliation. How the world would wonder that he had not saved her from a felon's cell, with such wealth and power as his to command. He had risked her salvation to soften the fate of the thousand ungrateful creatures in his mill who cared nothing for him.

"Oh, Bertha, forgive me!" he cried as if his heart broke that moment. All his hope seemed dead then; the waters of desolation were sweeping in ceaseless swelling waves over his soul.

For a moment the woman looked at him in silence, trying to interpret for herself the meaning on his wan, passion marked face. It was for him the supreme moment of an agony such a soul as hers could not even conceive of. The man suffered more in that moment, than the foulest dungeon in the world, or the scuffs of a city rattle, or the contempt of every woman that ever spoke her name could hurt her. Then she drew herself back from him; she thought, poor creature, she understood the expression on his face.

"Then you have missed the steamer, and you know, too, how much I have depended on it. He did not speak, but a pitiful look of confusion was struggling into his face.

"When can we go, then?" she asked coldly. "The next steamer sails Saturday." Saturday! Poor girl! Poor Bertha! The furies are folding their black wings this instant to settle about her soul. She only thought it was her pleasure trip was deferred; it was his plan to save her from impending ruin failed. One of the ministers of evil was at the gate this moment; now at the door; in the hall. Then the servant announced a name, and Mrs. Ellingsworth stepped into the room.

She had been smiling her best, but every smile vanished at the sight of the shawls and traveling bags. She looked sharply at Bertha, who was dressed in her blue traveling suit; her hat was on the sofa beside her. She glanced about the room. The chintz covers were placed over the damask upholstery; the piano was closed and packed. Bertha looked listlessly at her.

"Oh, won't you sit down?" But this strange visitor stood as if rooted to her place.

"You are going away?" Philip turned a surprised glance at her, the tone she assumed was crisp and imperious. He saw the dangerous look come into the dark, brilliant eyes, which forgot their dissembling for the moment. The woman knew everything. In some way she had learned the secret. Would she dare denounce his wife before him? Was he so poor a man a woman like this dared to brand him? He did not speak. Her message of scorn and infamy would come in a moment, she would tear down the veil he had spread before his wife's crime; he saw her red lips fairly trembling with the bitter words. Then Philip looked at her no more, but his eyes rested pityingly on Bertha. How would she meet it? Would she flush into rare passion? Would she turn pale and faint in overpowering shame?

"Won't you lend me a few things, to get me over a few days, everything is packed up, and our baggage on the way, you know," and Bertha went on to explain in detail her ludicrous necessities. "To-morrow will do." "Certainly, I only wish you had let me help you get ready." But her light laugh could not deceive Philip again, but it was too late now to guard against her. "I will run right home and get the things you spoke of ready for to-morrow."

Yes, and there were some other things she had not spoken of, Jane Ellingsworth would have ready for to-morrow, too.

CHAPTER XXXIII
THE LAST STRAW.

"You are too late, my friend," Philip had been sitting in his study in the darkness which was not more black than his life. But he arose to give his cold hand to Mr. Philbrick, who had come at last.

"Why too late? This is only Wednesday. Have you changed your mind? I did not suppose there was so much hurry, and I wanted to have everything ready."

"It is too late," answered Philip gloomily. What was to tell the old gentleman that Philip Breton's wife was a criminal before the law, that the transfer of the mill property was only a part of his scheme to save her from an infamous penalty, that their deadliest enemy knew all their plans now, and no doubt her sleepless eyes watched their every movement, lest they should escape her hate.

The servant came to the door. "If suppose you will have lights, sir. Some men from the mill folks want to see you."

"Oh, yes; show them in," he said carelessly. There were no chairs, enough for the four workmen, who came standing in like laborers at a country funeral, but Philip did not seem to look at them. One took his place by the window, and soiled the curtain with his hands; another, apparently the spokesman, disdained to lean against anything, but stood stock still in the center of the room, bent forward a little in an attitude borrowed from the prize ring. His feet were planted well apart, and his arms bowed out at the elbows.

"I suppose you have some complaints to make," said the young mill owner with a gentleness of tone that was quite uncharacteristic of the delegation, who immediately tried to look very fierce.

"Ye're right, sir," answered the man in the center of the room. "Ye know yerself, ye aint doin' the right thing by us."

Philip did not speak for a moment, and Mr. Philbrick would have thought him had not heard the fellow, only for a little twitching at the corners of his mouth. Apparently the young man was deeply hurt by his failure to satisfy his men.

"I have done the best I knew." "Wal, we kin tell yer, if ye don't know no better," resumed the workman insolently. Philip's eyes flashed at him, then dropped to the carpet again. "Pay us more wages for one thing, shorten up our hours for another."

"You fare better than others. I divide the profits with you. You thought I was very good with you once." The young man's tone was not argumentative, it was too hopeless for that.

"Ye don't divvy even; our share don't amount to much," put in the man who was soiling the window curtain.

"I am sorry for you, but you can't expect me to make you all rich." There was such a sadness of reproach in Philip's voice that a mist gathered before Philbrick's kind eyes. But the workmen got the idea they were frightening the young master.

"I have gone as far as I can see my way. Don't you think you had better be patient with me?"

"Be ye goin' to raise our pay?" Philip shook his head thoughtfully.

"I cannot understand it is my duty or my right." "Are you goin' to shorten up our hours?" asked the man at the window.

Philbrick gazed at him in astonishment. Philip seemed in such a terrible state of excitement. His pallor was replaced by a burning flush, his eyes that had been so dull shone with unnatural brightness. "Your plans will succeed better than mine, and you can't find such a good place as this. You will take my mills."

"Of course I will, but I thought you said—"

"Never mind," cried the young man, "never mind what I said. Draw the papers at once. But no, I cannot wait." Philip can't find such a good place as this. You will take my mills.

"Where shall I sign them—quick?" demanded Philip.

"No, no, not there, that is my note to you; sign here, and here, and here."

"I can hardly see; everything dances before my eyes. Is it all done now?"

He hardly waited to take the papers Mr. Philbrick had signed for him. Then, without another word, he rushed from the room and bounded up the stairs. Freedom! safety! oh, thank God, thank God! He could save her yet. A castle on the Rhine, a palace in Venice; he would find the rarest homes for her. How sweet it would be to hide with her, the awful sense of hourly peril would lift from his soul.

He pushed open the door of the white chamber. Bertha had been sleeping. The tear marks were on her cheeks that had lost their beautiful flush. She was so disappointed, poor girl; and yet she never guessed.

"Wake up, wake up, my darling." She started from the bed and fell to weeping on his shoulder.

"I dreamed they were taking me away from you, Philip." But he dried her tears with merry kisses.

"We are in time yet. The steamer don't go till 3 to-night."

BASE BALL ATTRACTIONS.

Scores of League Clubs in the Contest for the Pennant.

CHICAGO, April 26.—Yesterday's National league base ball games resulted: At New York—New York 3, Philadelphia 5; at Washington City—Washington 0, Boston 1. The other four clubs did not play.

CHICAGO, April 27.—Base ball playing yesterday resulted in the National league as follows: At Pittsburg—Pittsburg 1, Chicago 9; at New York—New York 11, Philadelphia 5; at Indianapolis—Indianapolis 3, Detroit 3; at Washington City—Washington 2, Boston 9.

CHICAGO, April 28.—Yesterday's base ball playing in the league showed the continued success of Boston and Chicago, those clubs having won 7 and 6 games respectively and lost none. The scores were: At Pittsburg—Pittsburg 2, Chicago 7; at Washington City—Washington 2, Boston 4; at Indianapolis—Indianapolis 16, Detroit 7; at New York—New York 2, Philadelphia 1.

CHICAGO, April 30.—The first week's playing of the National Base Ball league shows Boston ahead with an uninterrupted series of games won. Chicago had the same record up to Saturday, but dropped a game to Pittsburg then, and fell behind in percentage, as it was already behind in number of games played. The schedule is as follows:

Table with columns: Played, Won, Lost, Percentage. Rows for Boston, Chicago, New York, Pittsburg, Indianapolis, Detroit, Washington, Philadelphia.

CHICAGO, May 1.—Pittsburg gave the Windy City boys another black eye yesterday while Boston continued its triumphant work. The league scores were: At New York—New York 3, Boston 4—ten innings; at Philadelphia—Philadelphia 3, Washington 1; at Pittsburg—Pittsburg 8, Chicago 2; at Indianapolis—Indianapolis 1, Detroit 13.

CHICAGO, May 2.—The feature of the league ball playing yesterday was the defeat of the Boston club by New York, thus spoiling the heretofore straight record of the bean-eaters. The scores were: At Chicago, Chicago 8, Indianapolis 4; at Philadelphia, Philadelphia 12, Washington 4; at New York, New York, 6, Boston, 1; at Detroit, Detroit 10, Pittsburg 1.

THE CHIEF JUSTICE NAMED

A CHICAGO MAN SELECTED TO FILL THE VACANT CHAIR.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 1.—Speculation as to who was to be the successor of Chief Justice Waite was ended yesterday by executive action, the president having sent to the senate the name of Melville W. Fuller, of Chicago, for that high office. The nomination seems to give general satisfaction to Democrats while no unfriendly criticisms are heard from Republicans. Senator Culton says Mr. Fuller is an excellent lawyer and will make an excellent chief justice. Senator Spooner speaks in the highest terms of Mr. Fuller, and says he is a man of profound learning and eminent respectability. No opposition from Republican senators to his confirmation is apprehended. Judge Cooley, chairman of the inter-state commerce commission at once wired his congratulations to Mr. Fuller. He says the appointment is in every way a fit one, and that Mr. Fuller will make a perfect chief justice.

HANGMAN'S DAY. Three Men Hanged at Fort Smith, Ark., and One in Maryland.

St. Louis, Mo., April 28.—A special to The Post-Dispatch says three men, Jack Crow, George Moss, and Owen D. Hill, were hanged at Fort Smith, Ark., Friday morning for crimes committed in the Indian territory. All the men were negroes with Indian blood. Seven men were sentenced to hang there Friday, but consumption removed Sandy Smith and the sentences of three others were commuted by the president.

A Negro Murderer Executed. LEONARDTOWN, Md., April 28.—John B. Biscoe, colored, was executed here Friday for the murder of Capt. R. P. Dixon on the Potomac river at the close of August, 1886. The execution was private, as under the law only twenty persons were permitted to be present.

Two More. St. Louis, Mo., April 28.—A special to The Post Dispatch from Columbia, S. C., says: Jack Prater, negro, and Jasper Davis, white, were executed Friday. The latter was hanged at Orangeberg, S. C., and the former at Columbia, S. C.

Since the Quincy girls have taken to early morning walks it is noticed that the boys wake much earlier than usual. There's nothing like a proper incentive for the right performance of life's duties.

A Nashville man is roosting in the calaboose because he didn't support his wife. But it's not always in the power of an everyday, common sort of a man to clothe his frau in silks and satins these hard times.

Chelsea people are tired stubbing their toes on poor sidewalks, and so the common council has ordered 140 property owners to build anew, or repair old ones.

E. Reidinger lost his life at East Saginaw in attempting to rescue a drowning boy at that place, the boy grabbing him about the neck, and both going down together.

The persecution of the Nashville detachment of the Salvation Army not only did not squelch 'em, but seems rather to have infused new vigor into the organization. More projects die from neglect than from persecution, nowadays.

Jackson claims to be the banner town of the state in her observance of arbor day. 'Twas rather chilly in many places for tree planting, especially in the northland.

About $6,000 will be expended this season in the improvement of the state soldiers home near Grand Rapids.

A little New Hudson girl has been rendered permanently cross-eyed and deaf in one ear by having a log roll over her.

A Fawn river farmer had the satisfaction of paying $165 for keeping a dog with nut ton loving propensities. But the dog died suddenly soon afterward, and now the owner is minus both dog and cash.

Calhoun county has a citizen 40 years of age who never has had a ride on a railway, fired a gun or gone a-fishing. Some folks seem to be able to get along with a small share of the joys of this life.

The tramping propensity begins to develop early in some instances. An Ada, O., boy of 13 summers, "huffed" it all the way alone to a northern Michigan town whither his fancy led him.

Flint people have become so accustomed to loitering about the church doors of the town Sundays, taking their gospel second-hand as it were, that they will hereafter be required to either walk inside or stay away altogether while services are in progress.

MICHIGAN LIQUOR SELLERS.

Talk of What They Are Going to Do About Local Option.

DETROIT, Mich., May 1.—Thirty-seven counties in Michigan voted this winter for prohibition under the local option act, which takes effect "the first Monday in May," and suspends the existing tax law on May 1 in those counties that have "gone dry." This phrase in the law gives practically one week of "free run" over a large area in the state. Dispatches received yesterday from over one-half of these counties show that many saloon-keepers, taking advantage of this mistake, have taken out a government license, and will sell all the liquor possible now, and until next Monday. Others declare that they will continue in the business and defy the law. In Clinton and Morenci, Lenawee county, saloons have run for the last year without payment of the state tax, and will continue in defiance of the law. "Soft drink" places will also be started by Hudson saloonists, and Adrian druggists are purchasing a large stock and a variety of liquors. Ingham county saloonists have a defense fund to fight local prohibition. In Newaygo county "social clubs" have been formed. It is understood there will be a test case, as some saloonists claim the local option law unconstitutional.

A Michigan Political Sensation.

DETROIT, Mich., April 30.—Ex-Congressman Moses W. Field, chairman of the Greenback state central committee of Michigan, has resigned that office. The step and Mr. Field's reasons for it constitute the Michigan political sensation of the hour. His reasons in brief are that he is a protectionist and can not help elect Mr. Cleveland under his tariff reduction views.

SPRING CROP REPORT

Made Up from 446 Counties in Six Different States.

TOLEDO, Ohio, April 28.—C. A. King & Co. issued their spring crop report Saturday which is made up of reports from farmers and millers in 446 counties in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Missouri and Kansas. Indiana reports that nearly a quarter of the acreage has or will be plowed up; Illinois about a fifth; Ohio about one-eighth, while it is too early to tell about Michigan. Present prospect is for about two-thirds of a crop in Michigan, nearly that in Ohio and Illinois, while Indiana seems to be the poorest. The condition is worse in all four of the states than it was three weeks ago. Weather has been cold and dry, and the crop has suffered, warm rains being badly needed. A few of the counties in Indiana, Ohio and Illinois say prospects are better than a year ago, but they are exceptions, as a very large majority report them much worse. Missouri has fair prospects, a trifle better than three weeks ago, but somewhat worse than a year ago, when they had a very large crop. A trifle larger amounts than usual has been plowed up. Kansas reports excellent prospects—better than any year since 1884, when they raised 35,000,000 bushels, but on an acreage of over 2,000,000, while the acreage this year is only about 750,000. The weather has been favorable there and reports are nearly all better than when the April agricultural bureau report was gathered, the amount plowed up being very small. Farmers there will be compelled to sell, causing a free and early movement. In the other states the season is backward, nearly a third of the report saying there has not been enough growing weather to show the actual condition of the crop, but the majority seem to think that warm rains soon would improve the appearance.

Another Victory for Bell.

NEW ORLEANS, April 28.—Judge D. A. Pardee, of the United States circuit court, Saturday rendered a decision on final hearing in the case of the American Bell Telephone company against the National Independent Telephone company in equity. The decision is in favor of the Bell company and declared that the instruments used by the defendants are an infringement on the Bell patent, and orders them to be delivered to the court subject to further orders. The decision also gives the company judgment against the defendants for all costs in the case.

Gen. Joseph E. Johnston a G. A. R. Man. PHILADELPHIA, April 28.—Gen. Joseph E. Johnston, the highest living officer of the Confederate army was unanimously elected an honorary member of Baker post No. 8, G. A. R., of this city on last Thursday night. Gen. Johnston applied for membership for the purpose, as he said, of participating in the charitable work of the organization. Great enthusiasm was manifested over the election.

Dress the Hair

With Ayer's Hair Vigor. Its cleanliness, beneficial effects on the scalp, and lasting perfume commend it for universal toilet use. It keeps the hair soft and silken, preserves its color, prevents it from falling, and, if the hair has become weak or thin, promotes a new growth.

"To restore the original color of my hair, which had turned prematurely gray, I used Ayer's Hair Vigor with entire success. I cheerfully testify to the

of this preparation."—Mrs. P. H. Davidson, Alexandria, La.

"I was afflicted some three years with scalp disease. My hair was falling out and what remained turned gray. I was induced to try Ayer's Hair Vigor, and in a few weeks the disease in my scalp disappeared and my hair resumed its original color."—(Rev.) S. S. Sims, Pastor U. B. Church, St. Bernice, Ind.

"A few years ago I suffered the entire loss of my hair from the effects of tetter. I hoped that after a time nature would repair the loss, but I waited in vain. Many remedies were suggested, none, however, with such proof of merit as Ayer's Hair Vigor, and I began to use it. The result was all I could have desired. A growth of hair soon came out all over my head, and grew to be as soft and heavy as I ever had, and of a natural color, and firmly set."—J. H. Pratt, Spofford, Texas.

DR. DUNSTER'S DEATH.

A USEFUL PROFESSIONAL CAREER ENDED.

News of His Death Last Evening Received with Universal Expressions of Regret.

Dr. Edward S. Dunster died at his home, on Division street, at about six o'clock last evening. He had not been in good health for some time. Death resulted from pneumonia, complicated with a number of diseases. He was professor of obstetrics and diseases of women and children in the medical department of the University, highly esteemed by his friends, his associates, his students, and the medical profession, in which he had attained eminence.

Dr. Dunster was born in Maine, Sept. 2, 1834. He graduated from Harvard College, in 1856, with high honors. He graduated from the New York College of Medicine and Surgery in 1859, receiving the highest prize for proficiency in his studies. In 1861 he became assistant surgeon in the Union army, and later was appointed medical inspector. He was the editor of the New York Medical Journal from 1866 to 1871, and professor of obstetrics in the Vermont Medical College. For five years he occupied the same chair in the Long Island College Hospital, and in 1873 he was appointed to the same chair in the University here. He was prominent in the American Medical Association, and had written several medical works. His loss will be deeply felt in the faculty and by the students, to whom he had endeared himself, but most of all by his wife and three daughters.

A Valuable Work.

This year when politics is the principal topic of discussion, one needs to be posted on the principles discussed. Lalor's Political Encyclopedia we find a most valuable reference work on political topics and we have been fortunate enough to possess a copy of it for some months. It is a fair, candid and scientific discussion of different political topics all written by eminent specialists. Both sides are shown. The article on free trade for instance is written by one of the most eminent of the exponent of that doctrine in America and the article on Protection is written by a strong advocate of that policy. Every political student will need a copy of the work, which is highly spoken of by such men as Judge Cooley, Prof. Wm. H. Wells, Levi T. Griffen, C. A. Kent, Henry Wade Rogers, H. C. Adams, and many others. Prof. Rogers says of the work, "it is of unquestioned value to all students of government and political science generally." S. E. Pierce the general agent, is at the Arlington and has some choice territory for competent solicitors.

The Circuit Court.

The circuit court for the May term began its session Tuesday and as usual the docket went to pieces, most of the cases going over the term.

The following cases were stricken from the docket: Bunting vs. Keck, Davenport vs. Schaible, Bennett vs. Neithammer, Swift vs. Rogers, Sturn vs. Reynolds, Gray vs. West, VanOrden vs. Brush, Root vs. Mitchell, Lamb vs. Goodrich, Campbell vs. Smith, Calhoun vs. Toledo, A. A. & N. M. R. R.

The following cases were announced as settled: Greening vs. Hartzuff, Goodrich vs. Goodrich.

The case of Fleming vs. Beeman was continued on application of plaintiff on terms. So were the cases of Case vs. Leonard, and Johnson vs. Litchfield.

The case of the people vs. Jacob Weidlich, charged with assault with intent to kill was called, and the prisoner plead not guilty. Densmore Cramer, Esq., was appointed to defend the prisoner.

J. G. Paul and Jacob Paul, of Manchester, plead guilty to keeping their saloon open on Sunday and was fined $25 and costs, which was paid.

In the case of Wilson vs. Nickerson, judgment was entered for the defendant, without costs to either party.

In the case of Newell Goodrich vs. George Lamb, judgment for $12 was rendered for the plaintiff without costs.

On Wednesday, the case of A. J. Welch and A. C. VanSickle was brought up for its second trial.

Two Famous Stars in Shakspearian Tragedy.

Booth and Barrett appear in the opera house Monday night. Of course they need no commendation yet we cannot resist giving the following criticism from the Boston Globe of this strong combination.

Booth and Barrett are names associated with the best achievements that American actors have won on the American stage. Each, in his own field, has won fame. Once more these distinguished players are associated together in a partnership of friendship, as well as art. And everywhere the American public has been quick to recognize the exceptional interest that characterizes a season of two such artists as Edwin Booth and Lawrence Barrett.

It is unnecessary to speak at length on the value of the work which these foremost actors have done for the advancement of histrionic art in America. Edwin Booth, unrivalled in certain portrayals of character, has in all his long career given the stage no portrayal that was not worthy thoughtful observation and critical attention. Lawrence Barrett with a repertory even more varied than that of his associate and friend, has won well-merited praise for what he has done, not only as an actor but in that direction of enriching the stage with plays that were new but none the less deserving of rank among the standard dramas of the day. Their association as stars has been pleasantly profitable thus far in more ways than one, and it bids fair to continue as a most effective illustration of the good to be accomplished by the union of artists of such high talent and noble aims.

"Julius Caesar," which opened the engagement of these stars at the Boston Theatre last evening has been made an especial feature of their present season. This Shakspearian revival recalls many a pleasant memory when Edwin Booth acted in his own elegant theatre New York, surrounded by a corps of actors, chief among whom was Lawrence Barrett. "Julius Caesar," as there produced for many weeks, was a noble representation of the tragedy indeed. Booth's Brutus, and Barrett's Cassius were central figures in a performance wonderfully complete in all matters of detail memorable in the history of the American stage.

Bonds of Twenty-Four Saloons and Two Breweries Approved.

The common council assembled in special session Monday evening to consider such liquor bonds as should be presented, a full council being present. The committee on bonds proved to be not a unit on the question of approving some of the bonds which had been before them, evidently following two distinct lines of policy, the majority favoring a rigid and close construction of the new liquor law relating to bonds and the minority favoring a liberal construction of the law, seeing that the sureties were good. The law which is loosely drawn gave opportunity for considerable difference of opinion. Ald. Allmendinger, remarking that the bonds submitted were the best he had seen since he had served in the council, read the report of the committee recommending the approval of the following bonds:

Brewers Bonds.—Herman Hardinghaus and Martin & Fischer. Malt and Brewed Liquors.—John Schneider, Jr., Adolph Kemper, Wm. F. Schlenderer, J. Jacob Koch, Gottlieb Knapp.

Spirituous Liquors.—John Reynolds, Wm. H. McIntyre, John Polhemus & Saxton, Eugene Gibney, Fred Brown, F. Rettich, Jr., Emanuel Wagner, F. Besimer, Eugene Behr, Ludwig Walz, Albrecht Gwinner, George Clarken, William Frank, Charles Binder.

Druggists Bonds.—John Moore, J. J. Goodyear, Elisha Calkins & Son.

Then began the discussion of the evening. The bond of August Herz was taken up. Ald. Wines attempted to have a resolution passed declaring for a strict construction of the law, which was laid upon the table on motion of Recorder Bach. Mr. Herz's bond was approved by a vote of 9 to 5, his sureties being sufficiently wealthy and both freeholders in the city. In the debate which preceded the vote, Ald. Ware led for the acceptance of the bond supported by Ald. Spokes and Herz and Ald. Allmendinger and Wines against it. Mr. Ortmann, by permission, was heard for Mr. Herz. The bond of Henry Exinger was approved without much discussion. The bond of Joseph Gauss was then taken up. On the decision of the council relating to the sureties in this case also depended the bond of Werner & Brenner. The Mayor called Ald. Kearns to the chair that he might participate in the debate that followed.

The committee on bonds admitted the sureties on the bonds to be good for the amount for which they signed but relied upon the decision of the city attorney that a surety could not be upon more than one bond. City Attorney King being called upon stated that as his opinion. There were two clauses, he said, in the law which contradicted each other. One clause permitted a surety to go upon two bonds, another clause permitted him to go upon but one bond. He thought the latter a special provision which governed the former on the well settled rule that a general clause gave way to a contradictory special clause. The Mayor in replying stated that it was a rule of law that every statute should be so construed if possible to give effect to every part of it. He thought a construction could be placed upon the two clauses which seemed to the city attorney to be contradictory, which would reconcile them. The law itself allowed a surety to go on two bonds. The directions as to the form of the affidavit of the surety said he should swear that he was a surety on no other bond. Could not this be interpreted to mean "a surety on no other bond—other than the two bonds allowed by the provisions of the act." Further more the object of the law to obtain good and sufficient security for the payment of damages secured against a saloon keeper in the courts, would be secured in approving the bonds in question. Recorder Bach said that competent attorneys had asserted that a surety could be upon two bonds; Ald. Miller thought the law ought to be sent back to the legislature for amendment. The bonds of Gauss and Werner & Brenner were then accepted. Two bonds were then returned to secure different sureties. The bond of C. Kapp to which the objection was made that one of the sureties was a notary public was approved on the ground that notary publics were expressly accepted by the terms of the statute from the officers who were not allowed to go upon bonds.

Ald. Allmendinger then asked that the committee on bonds be discharged on the ground that they were evidently not carrying out the desires of the council. Ald. Ware took the occasion to say that he believed that a liberal construction should be placed upon the bond law, which was even then strict in its provisions, and as chairman of the police committee, announced that in justice to the law abiding saloon keepers, it was the intention of the committee to enforce the liquor law relating to the sale of liquor. Ald. Wines thought the council itself was violating the law and wanted the committee excused. Ald. Spokes offered as a substitute a motion that the committee be retained until they had reported upon what other bonds might come before them. The substitute was carried and the council adjourned.

The American Magazine.

True to its principle of being distinctively the exponent of National thought and life, the AMERICAN MAGAZINE for May comes forward with an appropriate and varied list of attractions. The illustrations are excellent and the entire number bespeaks the prosperity which its enterprise merits. William Eleroy Curtis begins a series of illustrated articles on "The Oldest of American Cities," dealing in this number with Carthage and Baranquilla. Charlotte Adams contributes her concluding paper on "The Belles of Old Philadelphia," and shows, through the agency of portraits by the famous artists of the Revolutionary period, that whatever boasts the City of Brotherly Love may make of her belles of to-day they do not, at least, excel their ancestors in grace nor beauty. Edith M. Thomas has a characteristic poem on "The Shadow-Self," and the season furnishes Annie Bronson King with a text for a pretty poetic description of "Wood Violets." First, perhaps, in the order of importance, though not in position, is a startling article entitled "My Dream of Anarchy and Dynamite" by a gentleman whose identity will provoke considerable discussion. The Editor states that "the author is a well-known writer who stands very high in military, social and political circles, but whose name is withheld at his request." The article itself professes to be an expose of the plottings of the Anarchists, and the avowed object of its publication is to so arouse the public sentiment that has been lulled to sleep by the delusive absence of open demonstrations, that the enactment will immediately be forced of laws for the suppression of both Anarchy and Dynamite. The utter inadequacy of the present laws, and of the police and military preventive measures, is forcibly shown, and effectual remedies are presented.

Dissolution of Partnership.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership lately existing between John Koch and Martin Haller of the city of Ann Arbor Mich., under the firm or partnership name of Koch & Haller, was dissolved on the fifteenth day of March, A. D. 1888, by mutual consent. All debts owing to the said partnership are to be received by said Martin Haller and all demands on the said partnership are to be presented to him for payment as he is authorized to settle all debts due to and by the firm and he will be found at the place of business of said late firm where he will continue the same business.

Dated Ann Arbor, March 15th, '87 JOHN KOCH, MARTIN HALLER.

As will be seen from the above, I will carry on the furniture business in the same building, No. 52 South Main and No. 4 West Liberty streets and would therefore respectfully ask the people of Ann Arbor and Washtenaw county to continue their kind patronage bestowed on the old firm to me. I shall try my utmost to prove worthy of the confidence placed in me. Very Respectfully, MARTIN HALLER.
