OUR HIGH SCHOOL.

A GRADUATING CLASS OF SEVENTY-TWO BRIGHT SCHOLARS.

The Commencement Exercises in University Hall, Synopsis of the Orations and Essays.

The twenty-ninth annual commencement of the Ann Arbor High School occurred last Friday and the exercises were held in University hall in the presence of a good sized audience. There was an abundance of floral offerings for the graduates and a fine display of plants and flowers on the platform. The hall was appropriately decorated and occupying a prominent place in the back ground of the platform was the senior class motto "Esse Quam Videri" in letters of white on a dark blue background. On the platform were the graduating class, Superintendent Perry, Profs. Pattengill and Nichols, Rev. Mr. Ryder, Rev. Mr. Earp, Rev. Mr. Neumann, and Messrs. Harriman, Mack, Doty, Smith, Gruner, and Whedon of the school board.

The Chequamegon orchestra furnished the music for the day and opened the exercises. Rev. Mr. Earp made the prayer and after the Chequamegons had played Ein Frohlingsidyll, William Blair, of Chambersburg, Pa., spoke in answer to the question "Are We Free?" He spoke of the pessimistic spirit which occasions this question to be asked in this country. No nation had ever passed a more prosperous century than this. The great object of the United States had been to establish a government without aristocracy, where all men are equal. This government is no longer an experiment. It has successfully put down a civil war, and maintained peace with all nations. And yet some are found who ask, are we free. Prominent among these are the anarchists. Anarchy is the want of government, each person exercising his powers in whatever way he pleases. The weak then must submit to the strong and the result is monarchy. Communists also ask the question. Communism is a better organized system. Jamestown had it for five years, the Puritans attempted it. The experiments were not the most successful. Socialists also ask, are we free. Socialism is a plan for re-organizing society on the basis of state ownership, the state to determine all wages and all prices. Where is the freedom in such a government? A communist is one who yearns for an equal division of unequal earnings. This government has withstood the dangers of war and the temptations of peace and what it has been it is now, free in its broader sense, morally, socially and politically.

Miss Hannah M. Anderson, of Greene, Iowa, read an essay entitled "We Girls" in which she contrasted the various limits of a girl's life of two hundred years ago with her greater opportunities of to-day. Now the trades and professions are open. No restraint is laid upon the girls in the number of occupations which she may enter. Miss Anderson spoke earnestly of the necessity for each girl finding the place for which she was most fitted. "We must find our positions and fill them. We must not crowd into professions for which we have no ability and end life a failure."

Miss Lizzie M. Bailey, of this city, spoke of the Law of the Conventional—the law fixed by a larger legislature than our political bodies, membership in which was confined neither to wealth nor popularity but which consisted, in fact, of the whole people. The essay was a well written production and was received with favor by the audience.

After more music by the Chequamegons, Miss Nellie Cutler, of Fisher, read her essay entitled, "Root vs. Blossom." The beautiful blossoms spring from the hidden root. Mental beauty is above all other beauty. The advancement of the world depends upon it. Character is the root, life the blossom. No person can live for any good purpose without possessing the foundation of good character. When we see the blossom we often forget the root, and so when we see the life, we forget the character. The truest politeness comes from the root of sincerity. The beautiful character surpasses all other ornaments for they perish.

Donald O. Douglas spoke from the text "Wanted-Men." After describing the creation he said that to-day there was a demand for men of great intellect and moral courage. We need more men in the factory and shop, behind the counter and in the counting room, men who will be found in the family circle rather than in the beer garden. Wanted—business men, who were honest, honest bank cashiers, who were getting scarce in this country. Wanted—bank directors who don't leave all the details to the cashiers. Wanted—fewer sharpers, more honest men. Now we find instead of the Bible the pernicious Sunday newspaper. Wanted—wiser men in Washington, men in the senate and house who will do right without regard to the coming election, men in the state government who have brains enough to draw up laws which will hold, men in council chambers who will not place their own opinions above legislative laws. Wanted—men in every calling of life.

Miss Hattie V. Haviland, of Ann Arbor, read a well written essay on "Liberty's Gift to the Old World."

After the Chequamegons had played Rollin's Demon Galop, Austin C. Gormley, the orator of the class, spoke enthusiastically concerning the new west. It seems strange that so few of the founders of the republic had any idea of the vast west that at the time of the founding of the government it was thought that not for a hundred years would the population west of the Alleghenies demand attention. To a great number to-day, the west is the west of thirty years ago. The great west of to-day lies beyond the Mississippi. Its useful land is twice that east of the Mississippi. Already it surpasses in mineral wealth, as it is destined to surpass in agricultural products and eventually in manufactures. It is destined to have twice the population of the west of to-day. One day it will be a giant. It is not only a larger but in most respects a better New England. Sectional feelings here give place to the love of the whole. Freedom is ever sought in the recesses of the mountains. He closed with a quotation concerning the future when "the whole nation will be a plural unit, with one constitution, one liberty and one destiny."

Miss Matilda A. Neumann, of this city, read an essay on "The Mission of the Bells" in a decidedly musical voice and with good elocutionary effect. Memories of the dear old bells are woven with the human heart in childhood. As we grow older their charm still clings to them. Miss Neumann described the deep melodious bells of a perfect Sabbath morning, the bridal bells for a young couple on a beautiful day in May, the bells tolling mournfully that tell of a tired child, home at last, the clamorous fire bells and the bell in countries far over the sea, with the beautiful mission to perform every evening of calling to prayer.

Fred C. Kent, of Dundee, spoke on the subject, "Great Occasions make Great Men" and proved this by illustration. Luther, he said, did not make the Reformation. That was actually in progress at the time of Luther's birth. He was lifted into leadership by a period of revolution and owes his greatness to the Reformation, which phenomenally developed his greatness. The French revolution gave Napoleon his opportunity. Without the revolution, Washington's military career would have been a very unimportant one, as would have been his career as statesman. So it was with Lincoln, Grant and many other men developed by the late war. Great occasions make great men.

Miss Roba Pulcifer, of Ann Arbor, read an essay on "Tongues" describing the tongue, hung in the middle which wagged at both ends; the scolding tongue, the cause of so much unhappiness, the sarcastic tongue, which finds the weak part in our armor; the mean tongue, which brings out our most conspicuous failings; the witty tongue which delights and amuses all; the pleasant tongue, which smooths the rough corners in life, and the most powerful tongue of all, the eloquent tongue.

The orchestra played an "Expectation Song" and David McMorran, of Port Huron, answered the question, "Should Science be made Popular?" in the affirmative. He referred to the popular misstatements so often made by lecturers. The ultimate aim of all knowledge is to benefit mankind, so that one should endeavor to make that knowledge popular. The speaker referred to the interdependence of the sciences and the necessity of popular enlightenment upon them.

The topic of the oration by Frederick B. Ryder, of this city, was "Commissioner Atkins' Order." When the new administration came into power and Atkins was appointed Indian commissioner, he turned his attention to the best means of conducting the schools for educating Indians. After consultation he issued an order that in government schools everything should be taught in the English language except that Indian words might be used to explain English words. In missionary schools all secular instructions were to be given in the English language. The speaker defended the order from various attacks made upon it and spoke highly of its wisdom. There were sixty five distinct languages and two hundred dialects among the Indians.

Miss M. Eloise Walker, of St. Johns, read an essay "Guilty or not Guilty," which in well chosen words traced the progress of trials by various ordeals through trials by duel to trials by jury.

The orchestra played Overture Comique, and Prof. Perry then presented diplomas to the seventy two graduates of the school whose names were published in the ARGUS last week.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK.

FOUR HUNDRED AND TWELVE GRADUATES AT THE UNIVERSITY.

Class Day Exercises, Reunions, Senior Reception Concert and Commencement Exercises Mark the Close of Their University Education

University hall was well filled Sunday night. The music was furnished by the Choral Union, and by Mrs. Sylvester, of Berlin, who sang a solo. Miss Winchell and a male quartette also sang Mendelssohn's "Forty second Psalm." Rev. Martin L. D'Ooge read the passages from the Bible and made the prayer. Dr. Angell's address was on the "Propulsive Forces in the Christian Life." He spoke of the church as the friend and promoter of learning and called attention to the fact that the overwhelming majority of the greatest scholars since the Christian era have been men of pronounced Christian character. In conclusion he urged upon the graduates the necessity of adding to their other preparations for life "that spiritual preparation which surcharges a human life with something of divine power and molds the character into the likeness of the one perfect character."

MEDICAL CLASS DAY.

The medical class day, Monday morning, was not well attended, owing to the rain, but it proved a very enjoyable affair. George H. Conklin, of Battle Creek, glorified the profession in his poem, "Vis Medicatrix." Miss Christina K. Anderson, of Greene, Ia., read a witty class history and Dr. Will L. Griffin, of this city, told the many opportunities for advancement now offered the physician in the class oration entitled "The Outlook." After the class prophecy, written by Horace Wilcox, of Wakefield, R. I., Henry Hulst, of Grand Rapids, made the President's address. The music was furnished by the Chequamegons.

LAW CLASS DAY.

The exercises, which were held in University hall, at two o'clock Monday, were of a very interesting nature and consisted of the President's address by W. S. Frost, of Ann Arbor, the poem by Charles Alling, of Madison, Ind., the oration by Marion De Vries, of Woodbridge, Cal., the history by Perley F. Gosbey, of San Jose, Cal., the prophecy by Miss Almeda E. Hitchcock, of the Hawaiian Islands and the consolation by Lodowick F. Crofoot, of Pontiac. The oration was on the subject of "Government by Law." The class history showed that there were 123 of the class born in America, 2 in the Hawaiian Islands, 2 in Japan and one each in Austria, Ireland, Denmark, England, Bohemia, New Brunswick and Ontario. Sixty of the class were sons of farmers, 21 merchants, 21 lawyers, and 33 of other occupations. Their religious beliefs were, protestants 118, catholics 10, mormon 2, Jew 1. Politically the class was nearly evenly divided, there being 57 republicans, 56 democrats, 7 prohibitionists and 6 mugwumps. But as for president the choice of the class, seemed to be Cleveland. Fifty-seven preferred him for president, 19 preferred Blaine, 6 Fisk, 5 Sherman, 5 Alger, 3 Lincoln, 2 Hill, 1 Cullom, 1 Depew and only 2 Harrison. Eleven of the class are married, one hundred and eight of the class spent $43,985 last year, the highest spending $700 and the lowest $200.

THE LITERARY CLASS DAY.

At ten o'clock, Tuesday morning, Moritz Rosenthal, of Dixon, Ill., delivered the oration before the literary graduating class, in University hall, on the subject of "The College Man in the World." He urged the duty of bearing the responsibilities of government and the entering into the political life of the world. J. N. Mc Bride, of Burton, Mich., read the class history. From the statistical part of the history we glean the facts that the class is the largest ever graduated, being 123. The largest previous class during the past eight years was 105. Of the 123 students, 50 were born in Michigan, 21 in Illinois. One was born in the Netherlands and one in the Hawaiian Island. The oldest of the class is 30 and the youngest 20. The average age of the class was 23 years and seven months. The average age of the ladies was 23 years and five months. The tallest senior is six feet, two inches, the shortest, a lady, four feet, eight inches. The average height of the class was five feet, eight and a half inches and the average weight, 146 pounds and eight ounces. Forty of the class have blue eyes, twenty-six brown, fifteen grey, and thirteen black. A quarter of the class were farmers' sons, a tenth of the class merchant's sons, one twentieth, physicians' sons and one twelfth, clergymen's sons. The religious inclination of 20 are to the Congregational church, 16 to the Methodist, 11 to the Baptist, 11 to the Presbyterian, 7 to the Unitarian and 5 to the Episcopalian.

The republicans number 50, the prohibitionists 15 and the democrats 13. The average expenses of the class was $393.44 annually. The most lavish expenditure by any one student was $850 per year and the least $200 a year.

Eleven per cent of the expenditures were met by the students' own earnings. The employment of 43 of the class will be teaching, 20 law, 10 engineering; 8, medicine; 4, ministers; 3, editors.

In the afternoon, under the Tappan oak, Miss Elsie Jones read the class poem, entitled the "Gift of the Gods." It was a poem of considerable feeling and literary merit and Miss Jones was warmly congratulated on the conclusion of her reading. Miss Laura O. Tupper, of Bay City, read the class prophecy in which she predicted a pleasing future for the class. After Class President John H. Powell, had delivered a short farewell address, the class song of '88, written by Ross G. Cole, closed the exercises of the day.

THE SENIOR RECEPTION.

The brilliantly illuminated arch way in front of the main entrance to the hall, where almost innumerable Chinese lanterns lent a pleasing effect to the scene, told that the senior reception was in progress Tuesday evening. Tickets for this had been in demand all day. Under the new rules, for the first time, visiting members of the alumni found difficulty in securing tickets. The rooms were not crowded as usual. The music for the occasion was excellent and the floor was well filled with dancers. The senior reception always is a brilliant affair and this year proved no exception to the rule. The absence of the alumni was however marked. The committee on refreshments provoked considerable unfavorable comment by denying admission to the refreshment room to guests who came five minutes after the moment designated on their tickets, although the tables were not filled. It was hardly the exhibition of a hospitable spirit to guests to require them to go around with watches in their hands or go without refreshments. Mention is made of these little minor details that future classes may profit by it and keep the senior reception what it is and has been—one of the main features of commencement week. The dancing programme consisted of thirty numbers and was well arranged and the dancers greatly enjoyed the evening.

ALUMNI DAY.

A very small number of the alumni were in attendance. The rainy weather detracted much from the meetings. The oration, which was delivered by Floyd B. Wilson, '71, a prominent New York City lawyer, was a very scholarly and instructive one, entitled "A Neglected Science," in which he gave most excellent reasons for studying the science of finance, and making it a part of the University course. The necrologist, T. R. Chase, reported the deaths of Myron E. N. Howell, '58, in Washington, in April; Prof. B. W. Cheever, '63, Ann Arbor, March 6; E. O. Haven, '70, Evanston, Ill., April 6; Mrs. H. Fox, '73, Detroit, Nov. 19, '87. The officers elected for the next year in the literary department were Sidney D. Miller, '47, Detroit, president; C. H. Towne, '81, Marquette, orator; Miss Cora Benson, '77, poet, and Miss Elsie Jones, '88, alternate; Calvin Thomas, '76, secretary, and Z. P. King, '64, treasurer. Prof. Spaulding reported $4,000 subscribed for the establishment of a fellowship, which was one-half the amount desired to be raised.

The law alumni were addressed by James L. High, LL. D., of Chicago. Judge Cooley was elected president, ex-Gov. Felch, treasurer, and Prof. Rogers, secretary.

The medical alumni were addressed by Dr. Lewis S. Pilcher, of Brooklyn, N. Y. Dr. H. M. Hurd, of Pontiac was elected president.

CLASS REUNIONS.

The class of '58 held a reunion Wednesday at which fourteen were present. Twenty two other members of the class are known to be alive. The class banqueted at the Arlington.

The class of '68 held a reunion Wednesday evening at Prof. Harrington's, sixteen members being present. Among them were Profs. Harrington; Demmon and Pattengill of the University.

The classes of '78, '85, '86, and '87 held in formal reunions.

THE CONCERT.

The commencement concert was a great success. A large audience attended and were enthusiastic in their praise. The libretto for the cantata, written by Miss Elsie Jones, excited the warmest praise and loud calls were made for her by the audience. The music was written by Ross G. Cole and is praised by the most competent critics. It also greatly pleased the people. The Amphion and Glee clubs may well be pleased with their success.

The editor of the Ypsilantian after stepping upon a toad in the streets of that city recently exclaims: "We doubt if the toad suffers more than we do when we set an incautious foot upon him on a dark sidewalk and crush the daylight and liver out of him. We never saw such a country for toads, before. They hop clumsily under the feet of pedestrians every evening, and their collapsed and desiccated forms may be seen on sidewalks all over town. Toads are useful before they are trodden on, but of very little use afterward. We wish they would keep off the walks

There is very little enthusiasm here over the republican nominations. It is certain that it is not as strong a ticket as Blaine and Logan made. It will probably not come as near getting elected.

Wool does not move yet here to any extent. The farmers are generally firm in their demand for 25cts. or near it and the buyers are equally firm not to give over 20 to 22cts. Unless 25cts. is paid many lots about here will be carried by farmers for higher prices. Some will have to be sold soon for what it will bring. It will be a long s'ow market here this time. Some say it is the uncertainty as to what the wool tariff will be that puts the price so low, but it is probable that the uncertainty has more to do with the price than the tariff itself. It is probable that the price would be better and business safer and the farmers generally gainers if the uncertainty was settled by placing wool on the free list.

May the fifth year be as successful in the school line as the past years have been is the wish of ye correspondent.

Clothes soaked for an hour in a tub of hot water in which some of THE DINGMAN SOAP has been dissolved, and covered over with a thick cloth of any kind to keep the hot steam in the tub, will require little or no rubbing, as the dirt will squeeze or wring right out.

It is the great labor saver and invention of the age. Remember the name of Dingman, and beware of imitations claiming to be like it, as there is no soap made like the Dingman soap is made. Ask for it, and take no other until you try it.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

The Democrats of Michigan will meet in State Convention in the Detroit Opera House at Detroit, on Thursday, July 19th, 1888.

At eleven o'clock a. m. to nominate candidates for State Officers and for Electors of President and Vice-President of the United States, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention.

According to the rule adopted by the state convention held at Detroit in 1880, every county is entitled to one delegate for every 500 votes cast for governor at the last general election, and one additional delegate for a fraction of not less than 250 votes, but any county is entitled to at least two delegates.

All delegates must be residents of the counties they represent.

The delegates from each Congressional District will meet in caucus at 10 o'clock a. m., on day of the convention.

I. M. WESTON, Chairman.

W. M. J. McGEE, Assistant Secretary.

Democratic County Convention.

The Democrats of Washtenaw County will meet in county convention at the court house in the city of Ann Arbor on Thursday, July 12, at 11 a. m., for the purpose of electing 18 delegates to the Democratic State Convention to meet at Detroit on July 19, also for the purpose of electing 18 delegates to the Congressional Convention to be hereafter called and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention.

All voters who are in accord with the present Democratic administration are invited to participate in the selection of delegates to this convention.

The towns and wards will send delegates as follows:

Table listing delegates from various wards in Ann Arbor, including 1st ward, 2nd ward, 3rd ward, etc., with names and counts.

A full attendance is requested.

J. F. SCHUH, Chairman.

J. R. BACH, Secretary.

THERE are three Chinese voters in this country. They are solid for Harrison.

HARRISON has been identified with corporations all his life. Is that why he was nominated as the high tariff, monopoly candidate.

SINCE Harrison's nomination, a number of the republican business men of Columbus, Ohio, have declared themselves in favor of Cleveland.

THE republican platform demands that in order to reduce the surplus the tax be taken off whiskey. A high stand for "the party of great moral ideas."

HARRISON and Morton is the republican ticket—just as easy to beat as any other ticket. "Blood and boodle" is hardly a good war cry for the republicans.

WITH Wellington R. Burt for governor, the democrats will carry the upper peninsula and sweep the state. Count Michigan in the Cleveland column this fall.

It seems that some of the delegates to the convention of the "party of great moral ideas" attend church so little, that they forgot the spirit in which a prayer should be received and they greeted the opening prayer of the convention with cheers.

THE Detroit Tribune before Algers defeat for the nomination said that Michigan was a doubtful state. Col. John Atkinson said after Harrison's nomination that Michigan was a doubtful state. If these good republican authorities think so, why should not the democrats place it in the Cleveland column?

A dispatch from Minnesota to the Detroit Tribune a couple of weeks ago said:

"Almost all the Republican county conventions have declared in favor of some reduction of the tariff."

We cannot help wondering how thinking Minnesota republicans like the republican platform.

THE printer working for weekly wages can readily see in this tariff on type something which tends to lower his wages. However much the tariff keeps wages up, as is claimed, it doesn't help the printer apparently.—[Ann Arbor Register.

How can the Register after writing that sentence support the republican candidates running on the highest kind of a tariff platform?

THE Courier takes the trouble of finding out what a number of republicans in this vicinity think of their ticket. The opinions indicate that the republicans are doing considerable whistling to keep up their courage while passing the graveyard in which Harison and Morton will be buried next November.

BENJAMIN Harrison's record on the Chinese immigration is hardly such as will gain him the votes of those who are opposed to decreasing the price paid labor in this country. Harrison favored the importation of this cheapest kind of labor—the very lowest grade of Chinese labor. How many votes of laboring men will Harrison poll this fall?

Seth Low, of Brooklyn, N. Y., is one of the strongest men in the republican party in that city. He was elected mayor of the city, which is strongly democratic, a few years ago and has always been a consistent republican. He now announces that he cannot support the republican nominees. Our advice to our republican friends in this vicinity is to follow Low's example and get in out of the rain.

For more than twenty years the republican party had possession of our government. During that time we saw the carrying trade of the world taken from us and our goods exported in English vessels. Nothing was done to better this state of affairs. It comes with ill grace from a party with such opportunities, now to begin harping upon what they would do to build up American shipping if they are returned to power, when they made such little use of their opportunities.

THE platform adopted at the republican national convention proposes the repeal of the taxes on tobacco because it says it is "an annoyance and burden to agriculture." We suppose our republican farmer friends will vote to indorse such a statement as that. The tax upon cigars greatly annoys agriculture. It is an intolerable burden upon it. The farmer can well afford to pay several dollars more for a cloak for his wife and eight dollars more for a suit of clothes for himself, fifty cents more for a pair of gloves, one quarter more for all his farm implements and so on through the long list he buys, providing he can be assured that he can buy his cigarettes a little cheaper or smoke a four cent cigar instead of a five. It was a wise head that wrote that platform.

THE republicans are now trying to deceive the farmers into believing that the democrats are responsible for the present low price of wool. The farmer, however, will remember that the democrats as a party, have nothing whatever to do with the price of wool. That is fixed by the wool buyers and the wool sellers. If the wool buyers can purchase wool for twenty cents, they won't pay any more for it. If they can't buy it for twenty cents, they will pay more for it. We have at present a high tariff on wool. It will not be altered this year. Every buyer knows that. If the bill should pass the house it would be defeated in the senate. The price of wool as fixed this year, is fixed under a high tariff, which lessens the number of woolen factories and hence the demand for wool. Increase the demand for wool and the price goes up.

THE PRICE OF WOOL.

We hope our farmers will not be in a hurry to sell their wool.

Just now a presidential election is pending and every republican dealer and manufacturer, is trying to crowd down the price of wool to influence democratic farmers to vote for protection.

The whole business is a political scheme.

They all know that the senate will never pass the Mills bill.

The democrats do not expect to get it by the senate.

But they are trying to get a start, and show the farmers of the country that they mean to revise the tariff if possible.

If the bill could pass both houses, the price of wool would go up at once.

If it is low this spring, it is because of republican scheming.

Hold on to your wool.

The tariff is the same as it has been for five years.

It can't be changed this year. Manufacturers must have wool as heretofore.

It is no cheaper abroad than in the past.

Wool will bring 30 cents per pound in less than three months.

It congress takes off the tariff it will bring 35 cents, for our manufacturers can buy no wool of our grade, in any market, and if cheap carpet wools, and dear combing wools can be secured cheaper, by our manufacturers, then they can pay better prices for home wools.

But there's to be no change in tariff this year.

The wool buyers know it and the politicians know it.

All talk about people abroad expecting to ship wool into this country and buying it on speculation abroad, because of the prospect of the passage of the Mills bill is balderdash.

There isn't a man living, who believes the senate would let the democrats pass the bill.

There isn't a man who knows enough to buy wool, but knows there will be no change in the tariff.

Farmers, hold on to your wool.

The last sales in London, of the Australian clip, show an advance of a cent a pound.

The manufacturers are short of stock and short of manufactured goods.

Wool must be had, and they can't get American grade of wool, in any country in the world for less than 33 cents per pound.

The low price does not come from tariff agitation.

That is an absurdity on its face. Democrats would like to get the bill passed in the senate, but know they can't.

So does everyone else know it.

Then why utter such silly nonsense as, to assert that tariff agitation lowers the price this year?

It is a scheme of the republican capitalists.

Farmers can knock it in the head. Put the wool into the granery, and hold it for 30 cents a pound and not a penny less.—Adrian Press.

NO MORE DETROIT DOCTORS.

To Be Given Salaries for Staying in Detroit. What the Regents Did This Week.

The regents began their meetings Tuesday morning. A number of changes in the faculty had to be considered by the board this year. Prof. C. N. Jones' resignation of the chair of applied mathematics and Dr. George A. Hendricks' resignation of the instructorship in anatomy were accepted.

The most important action probably was that taken to fill the chair of obstetrics in the medical faculty. The faculty, dominated by Detroit influence had recommended Dr. E. W. Jenks, pursuant to a well laid scheme to get a majority of the faculty, residents of Detroit. In executive session the regents decided not to appoint Dr. Jenks and to leave the chair vacant until the next meeting. When competent men can be found to reside in the city, so as to give their personal attention to their University work, the regents will hardly be found voting salaries to Detroit doctors, who have not enough interest in the University work to reside where they can look after it.

Dr. Frothingham, of the hospital committee, recommended that the system of "farming out" the hospital should cease and that the University pay the matron a salary and take charge of it; that more help be employed and the sanitary condition of the hospitals be improved and the board raised to $4 a week.

The matron of the University was paid $100 as a partial reimbursement for losses during the year.

For the pharmacy department, William F. Edwards was appointed accountant and dispensing clerk, at a salary of $600 in place of Mrs. Kate C. Johnson, resigned. Frank C. Smith was continued as assistant in quantitative analysis, Alonzo B. Stevens as instructor in pharmacy and Erwin C. Ewell as assistant in qualitative analysis.

No changes were made in the law faculty.

Joseph E. Putnam, of Rochester, N. Y., was made assistant to the chair of physics at $700 salary, Thomas C. Trueblood, instructor in elocution, $1000; W. W. Campbell, instructor in astronomy, $900; George W. White, lecturer on metallurgy during Prof. Langley's absence, $900; Dr. B. T. Trueblood, instructor in chemistry (medical) $1000.

Prof. Langley was relieved of his work in the medical department and made professor of chemistry and metallurgy at $2200. Mr. Cleary was made instructor in German instead of in French and German and a new instructor in French will be appointed.

Alfred Hennequin's resignation as instructor in French and German was accepted.

A runaway accident, which, luckily, did not terminate seriously, occurred on Main street, Tuesday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Russel were driving Mr. John Thompson's horse when the wheel of the carriage came off, which started the runaway. After the carriage had gone about ten rods it came to a sudden standstill, throwing out the occupants, the horse breaking loose and going home. Fortunately no one was seriously injured.

Leaders Selected.

The Work of the National Republican Convention at Chicago.

Benjamin Harrison, of Indiana, and Levi P. Morton, of New York, Nominated.

CHICAGO, June 25.—The national Republican convention was called to order Saturday promptly at 10 o'clock a. m., Hon. Warner Miller presiding in consequence of Chairman Estee's continued hoarseness. Bishop Fallows, of the Reformed Episcopal church, offered prayer. The convention then got to work and the fourth ballot was taken, resulting as follows:

The vote for Lincoln came from Georgia, those for Foraker and Douglas from Kentucky, and the McKinley vote from West Virginia, Texas, New Jersey, Massachusetts, and Connecticut.

As soon as the first vote—Connecticut—was announced for McKinley, he got the floor and in an earnest speech repudiated the vote cast for him.

The fifth ballot was then taken, and resulted:

Again no choice, and a motion was made to adjourn to 4 p. m. This was carried, and the convention dispersed.

At 4 p. m. Chairman Estee again essayed his duties, but the first motion was one to adjourn to Monday at 11 a. m. The motion was carried on a roll-call—496 to 323, and again the assembly filed out of the hall.

THE SIXTH DAY.

CHICAGO, June 26.—The Republican national convention was called to order yesterday at 11 a. m., with about every delegate present, and 7,000 people besides in the hall. Prayer was offered by Rev. Arthur Edwards, of this city, and then Boutelle, of Maine, read the following telegrams, which created great cheering:

EDMUNDS, June 24.—To BOUTELLE and MANLEY: Earnestly request all friends to respect my Paris letter.

EDMUNDS, June 25.—To BOUTELLE and MANLEY: I have a right to ask my friends to respect my wishes and refrain from voting for me. Please make this and former dispatch public promptly.

The convention drew a long breath, and then broke out into applause lasting several minutes, and when it died away the voice of the chairman of the Alabama delegation was heard announcing one vote for Blaine, which was followed shortly after by the ringing tones of Creed Haymond's voice as he read off the California delegation's vote of sixteen votes for the same leader. Evidently California had not given up the fight. The ballot resulted:

Blaine received 244 votes, while Harrison's net gain was just eighteen over the last ballot Saturday.

The seventh ballot was ordered amid a breathless excitement. The ballot resulted:

Blaine received 275 votes, while Harrison's net gain was just eighteen over the last ballot Saturday.

The end was begun. Henderson, of Iowa, arose and, after thanking those who had stood by Iowa's senator so loyally, withdrew the name of William B. Allison, by authority.

The third and last ballot in detail is given below:

then wait to hear from the secretary, and when he completes the reading of the votes to where Harrison is credited with the necessary ballots, 8,000 people are on their feet madly cheering.

The competing states rapidly gave in their allegiance to the chosen leader. Foraker was first on the floor with a motion that the nomination be made unanimous, which he said he did with all the more satisfaction that Harrison was an Ohio man.

The chair then put the motion to make the nomination unanimous and it was adopted with a mighty shout, and Gen. Ben Harrison was formally declared the nominee.

The roll was called for nominees for vice president, Hastings, of Pennsylvania, in the chair, Kentucky was the first to respond, and named W. O. Bradley, the speakers declaring that the south should be represented for once on the national ticket.

William Walter Phelps was nominated by Senator Sewell, and then the convention adjourned until 6 p. m.

When the convention assembled in the evening there was a reduced attendance. Several speeches were made seconding Phelps' nomination, and then Warner Miller took the floor to put Levi P. Morton, of New York before the convention. His speech was an earnest and impassioned one, and the convention was evidently with him. There were several seconds, the most notable being Gen. Chalmers, of Mississippi, an ex-Confederate, who declared he did not want a southern man nominated, but wanted a solid north to defeat a solid south.

There were loud cries of "vote," but one or two other gentlemen wanted to speak, and they succeeded, one of them nominating William R. Moore, of Tennessee, who subsequently withdrew his name, and the roll was called for a ballot, which, when completed, showed the following result. Morton, 591; Phelps, 119; Bradley, 103; B. K. Bruce, 11; W. F. Thomas, 1.

Kentucky moved that the nomination be made unanimous. The motion was seconded by New Jersey, and it was carried with a whoop.

On motion of Senator Farwell it was decided to appoint a committee of one of each state to notify the candidates of their nominations, and it was also decided that Chairman Estee should be made chairman of the delegation.

The convention was about ready to adjourn, but Boutelle offered a resolution declaring that the sobriety and virtue of the people and the purity of the home was the first concern of all good government, and that the Republican party sympathizes with all wise efforts to promote temperance and morality.

The resolution was violently opposed by Oliver, of Pennsylvania, and others, and the most disorderly scene of the convention occurred. It was finally adopted amid great cheering, and that being done the convention adjourned sine die.

Drowned in Sight of Hundreds.

CHICAGO, June 25.—Yesterday while hundreds of pleasure seekers were thronging the north pier of the harbor of this city Edward Egloff went sailing in a cockle-shell of a boat ballasted with loose stones, taking Mrs. Charles Sanders with him. The ballast shifted in a puff of wind and the boat overturned, throwing both of them into the water. Egloff made a brave attempt to save the woman, who frantically clasped her arms round his neck, and both were drowned a few hundred feet from the pier. The woman's brother was sailing close by, but as he was nearly in reach of her unfortunates they went down.

A Dry Time at the Branch.

NEW YORK, June 25.—In Long Branch there was no liquor sold openly Sunday. The saloons in the upper end of the town and the hotel bar-rooms were closed to all comers. Some of the hotel proprietors are so much frightened at heavy penalties fixed by the new high license law that they refused even to sell wine to the patrons of their dining-room tables. In several of the restaurants beer and liquor were freely sold to those who purchased food, even if it was nothing but a ham sandwich. The day was remarkably quiet for a Long Branch Sunday in summer. The iron steamboats began their trips to Big Ocean pier. They brought down about 1,000 pleasure seekers.

A Counter Irritant Practitioner.

COLUMBIA, S. C., June 26.—Rev. E. T. Boston, a negro, claiming to be a physician as well as clergyman, has been arrested in Anderson. He was practicing medicine among the negroes, and made a specialty of eye troubles. He would make a sore on the top of the patient's head and anoint it with some strange mixture. After having killed several persons in this way he was arrested and produced a forged medical diploma. He has no knowledge of medicine, but has been coining money out of the negroes.

A Very Good Idea, Mr. Bell.

LONDON, June 26.—The evidence which Mr. Graham Bell has placed before the royal commission for the education of deaf mutes has created a profound impression. In consequence of the tendency of deaf mutes to intermarry, Mr. Bell apprehends the possibility of a distinct family of human beings who are thus unfortunate. He advocates the training of deaf mutes in ordinary language by means of articulation methods, and strongly recommends their association with hearing people.

"Try Ayer's Pills"

For Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and Gout. Stephen Lansing, of Yonkers, N. Y., says: "Recommended as a cure for chronic Costiveness, Ayer's Pills have relieved me from that trouble and also from Gout. If every victim of this disease would heed only three words of mine, I could banish Gout from the land. These words would be—Try Ayer's Pills."

"By the use of Ayer's Pills alone, I cured myself permanently of rheumatism which had troubled me several months. These Pills are at once harmless and effectual, and, I believe, would prove a specific in all cases of Rheumatism."

"I have derived great benefit from Ayer's Pills. Five years ago I was taken so ill with rheumatism that I was unable to do any work. I took three boxes of Ayer's Pills and was entirely cured. Since that time I am never without a box of these pills."—Peter Christensen, Sherwood, Wis.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

Lightning damaged the Lapeer Baptist church $200 worth during a recent storm. Electricity seems to be no respecter of buildings.

John Sullivan, an Oakland county citizen, while driving across a bridge was somewhat surprised and injured by the thing giving way and dropping him and his team into the drink, but John's inclination to the belief that $5,000 would make everything satisfactory so far as he's concerned. The tax-payers haven't been heard from.

Lightning got in its fatal work on Johnson's tub and stove factory at Coldwater on the 14th. Loss nearly $12,000 with $3,500 insurance.

Hon. L. G. Palmer, the silver-tongued orator of Big Rapids, will represent Michigan at the northwest centennial celebration, to be held at Marietta, next month.

John McMurtie, a Homer smoker, found a $150 diamond while filling his pipe, preparatory to an evening's solace. But we don't recommend this as being a sure method of attaining wealth.

It cost $2,711.40 to entertain the publishers and their families who attended the annual meeting of the Michigan Press association at Detroit. The average newspaper man knows how to eat and drink.

The supreme court of the state has decided that the law prohibiting one saloonist from going on another's land is off its base, and that this discrimination must cease.

Hon. E. Brownell, a resident of Hadley, was so badly hurt by falling down stairs that death resulted three days afterward. Danger oftentimes beset us when we least suspect their presence.

The world may be, and doubtless is, growing better as it grows older, but nevertheless there's some mighty imperfect specimens of humanity that still inhabit it. An Itasca man has just been convicted of a criminal assault upon his own daughter.

An $1,800 bell is one of the luxuries that Negutene Presbyterians have recently invested in. They evidently intend to be heard.

The long-continued revival at Bronson has brought some 250 sinners into the fold, and local melon growers are hoping that reformation may be permanent.

Eastern salt manufacturers thought it would be a good scheme to give the western market a whirl and the Michigan Salt association dropped the price to 50 cents per barrel. This will give people a chance to season their dollar potatoes to their heart's content.

Orin Coleman is the Omer boy who woke up a dynamite cap by poking it with a pin. He has just about fingers enough left to try one more experiment.

Grand Rapids people have $15,020,400 invested in 377 factories, employing nearly 12,000 people, with an annual output of $23,000,000. Her imports the past year cost a little less than $5,000,000.

New Haven people are puzzled over a midday shower when there wasn't a cloud in sight.

The pumps at the Calumet and Hecla mine have been steadily working for the past six or eight weeks, and now there are only 1,000 feet of dampness left. At this rate the mine will be dried out some time in the twentieth century.

Alpena lumbermen have disposed of 5,000,000 shingles and 50,000,000 feet of lumber since the 1st of January.

Somebody didn't love A. J. Loomis, a Cheshire, Allegan county, farmer, and to acquaint him of the fact, girdled his apple orchard. Some folks have strange ways of showing their likes and dislikes.

It may be true that a cow can't run, but a couple of 'em swam from Burnt Island to St. Ignace, a distance of nine miles, though they were nearly exhausted by the trip.

A bursting emery wheel at Sand Lake shook up George Mehrtens in a lively manner, but George will survive the shock, though he may never again be quite so good as new.

Jackson City authorities say the English sparrow must go, and have voted $50 as an incentive to their removal.

This is the season of the year when the truly good lie themselves away for a season of recreation and rest, leaving those with light purses and ordinary tendencies to sweat it out on the same old line, even if it takes all summer. There are fifty-three members of the Fort Street Presbyterian church at Detroit already sojourning in Europe.

The Rope's gold mine having passed into the hands of Detroit capitalists, new and improved machinery will be put in and an earnest effort made to make the mine pay a golden dividend.

FIVE MEN FALL EIGHTY FEET.

All of Them Badly Injured and Two Will Probably Die.

ST. LOUIS, June 26.—An accident occurred at Daniel Marsh & Sons' coal mine, two miles south of Belleville, Ill., late in the evening. As the miners were quitting work for the day the hoisting-rope broke and let five men fall to the bottom, a distance of eighty feet. The list of injured is as follows:

Edward Hoffman, 31 years old, both legs crushed below the knees; John A. Wottawa, 28 years old, both ankles crushed; Charles Wiesser, 14 years old, left leg crushed; George Wiesser, 15 years old, spine broken and internally injured, will die; Oscar Merrill, 37 years old, head cut and lungs injured, will die.

The last two named can not live, while the others are also in a dangerous condition. All are single except Hoffman and Merrill, each of the latter having a wife and several children.

Death of a Very Aged Woman.

GALESBURG, Ill., June 26.—Charlotte Somers, who was probably one of the oldest colored persons in the state, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Aaron Welcome, at the age of 112 years. Mrs. Somers was born in Charlottesville, Va., in 1870, and afterward reared as a slave by a man named Edward Bailey, on a plantation near that place.

At the close of the war she moved to Missouri where she lived for a short time, coming to this city in 1864. She was one of the most prominent members of the colored Baptist church and was in attendance at its meeting only one week ago. The cause of her death was old age. She was the mother of eleven children, five of whom are now living.

Tried to Poison a Sleeper.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., June 26.—Mrs. Helen Althouse, the well-known mysterious Attica sleeper, has had a narrow escape from death by poisoning. Two strange men visited Mrs. Althouse and it is thought they induced her to drink coffee which had previously been poisoned. After they had left Mrs. Althouse had every symptom of having been poisoned. The men were unknown to the family, but Mrs. Althouse is said to have an idea who they were, although she declines to talk. The case has been laid before the district attorney.

Victory for the Dry People.

CLINTON, Iowa, June 26.—Judge Howat in chambers has ordered a temporary injunction to issue against nine saloonkeepers and the buildings they occupy, restraining them from selling liquor until applications for temporary injunction can be heard in the district court in September. This is the first real victory for the element in favor of enforcing the law, and it is the direct result of Mayor Chase's efforts to close the saloons. The prominent saloonists enjoined have closed their places.

Convention of French-Canadian Societies.

NASHUA, N. H., June 26.—The seventeenth meeting of French-Canadian societies began its session with President L. P. Lucier in the chair.
