Wallace Holloway Steele died Monday morning at the residence of his father, Rev. Dr. R. H. Steele, on South Fifth street. His death was very Mr. George Feiner is visiting in Clinsudden and a great shock to his friends. ton, Iowa. For the past three weeks, he had been growing weak, but it was not known until last Friday that he was suffering from diabetes. Saturday he drove out and Sunday morning he attempted to dress himself. He proved too weak and in a short time he became unconscious. He slowly sank until Monday morning, when death called him home. Thus passed away a bright young life, with promise of a bright and useful future. He was twenty-one years old on the thirteenth of last March. He graduated from the high school in 1886, delivering an oration at the graduating exercises which was very highly spoken of at the time. The same year he entered the University, and was in his junior year at the time of his death. He was a faithful, thorough and conscientious student and always stood well in his studies. There are Two Distinguishing Characteristics

Which, more than anything else, have contributed to the phenomenal growth of The Chicago Daily News, giving it a circulation larger than that of all other Chicago dailies combined. It seems strange that the first practical, combined application of two such common sense principles in journalism should have been left to a paper as yet only twelve years old. And yet true it is that in this fact lies the real secret of the unparalleled success of The Chicago Daily News. Briefly stated these principles are:

THE DAILY NEWS First.

Is a daily paper for busy people.

Of all mankind the people of Chicago and the busy northwest are the busiest. And yet perhaps no equal number of people are to be found who appreciate so keenly the necessity of an intelligent knowledge of the world's daily doings. They recognize that they, more than anyone else, are the world's providers one's party and candidate to the skies, and to cry down the in many of the most important necessaries of life. How important, then, that they should have their daily intelligence of every event, the world over, which by any possibility can affect nalism become that they pass unnoticed, and are accepted as a their diversified commercial holdings. And in all the higher interests of life where can be found a like number of people more keenly appreciative of all that contributes to progress in can people are intelligent enough, thoughtful enough, fair enough art, literature, science, religion, politics, and the thousand and one things which make up modern civilization.

And yet, strange to say, right here in this great, busy northwest, in its busy metropolis Chicago, there has taken place the creation and development of that most cumbrous, unserviceable, time-destroying thing, the "blanket-sheet" newspaper. With the blindness of very fatuity this monstrosity of journalism, this breeder of mental dyspepsia, has steadfastly imposed its mountain of unthreshed straw to the demand of the people for the winnowed grain of fact. It was out of the very incongruousness of such a condition of things that THE DAILY NEWS had its birth. People wanted the News,-all the news-but they demanded it apart from the overpowering mass of the trivial and inconsequential. It is because THE DAILY NEWS satisfactorily meets that demand that its circulation is over "a-million a-week."

R. M. LAWRENCE, Williamsville, Ill., says: "The 'big daily' is too much for me. Not that a person is obliged to read everything printed in the 'blanket-sheets,' but one having anything else to do doesn't have time to hunt through the long-drawn twaddle for a few grains of digestible food."

Second. THE DAILY NEWS Is an Independent, truth-telling newspaper.

The reader can count on one hand the known newspapers whose statements in matters of politics can always be accepted as at least intentionally truthful, and commonly so in fact. On the other hand, it is the all-but-universal rule to praise opposition party and its candidate to the verge of the disreputable. So common have such silly and reprehensible methods in jourmatter of course-as an evil inseparable from practical politics. But this is only another mistake of the thoughtless. The Amerito appreciate and endorse honest, truth-telling journalism-in truth to prefer it to the misleading, the truth-discoloring dishonesty of the "organ,"

The demand is more and more for the fair, impartial, independent newspaper which give the reader all the news, and gives it absolutely free from the taint of partisan bias. This done, an expression of opinion, based upon facts, will commend itself to the thoughtful reader even when he may not find himself in agreement with the conclusions deduced from the premises. Disagreements are of small moment if only confidence in honesty of purpose remains. With no mere political ambition to gratify, no "ax to grind," the impartial and independent newspaper may truly be "guide, philosopher and friend" to honest men holding every shade of political faith. And this is why THE DAILY NEWS has to-day a circulation of over "a-million-a-week."

M. WYGANT, Sibley, Iowa, writes: "I am well pleased with THE DAILY NEWS, although I am a 'bred-in-the-bone' Republican with a carpet bag experience in the South ending in 1872. The extreme fairness of THE DAILY NEWS, giving credit where due regardless of party, meets my approval."

When to two such comprehensive elements of popularity THE DAILY NEWS now adds a third in its unparalleled price reduction to One Cent a day, it offers a combination of attractions at once unique and unapproachable by any other American newspaper, and one which will surely multiply its friends throughout the Northwest by the thousands.

The Chicago Daily News is for sale by all newsdealers at One Cent per copy, or will be mailed, postage paid, for $3.00 per year, or 25 cents per month. The farmer and mechanic can now afford as well as the merchant and professional man to have his metropolitan daily. VICTOR F. LAWSON, Publisher The Daily News, Chicago. Address COMPARISON SOLICITED. - A wise discrimination should be exercised by all who take medicine. The proprietors of Hood's Sarsaparilla solicit a careful comparison of this medicine with other blood purifiers and medicines, being confident that the peculiar merits of that the people will unhesitatingly pre-fer it to any other preparation. Hood's Sarsaparilla is not a mixture of molasses and a few inert roots and herbs, but it is a peculiar concentrated extract of the best alterative and blood purifying remedies of the vegetable kingdom. The enormous sales of Hood's Sarsapa-rilla, and the wonderful cures effected, prove even more than has been claimed for this medicine. If you are sick the best medicine is none too good. Therefore take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Democratic Representative Convention.

A democratic convention for the second representative district of Washtenaw county will be held at the village of Saline, on Saturday, September 22nd, 1888, at 11 a.m. local time, to nominate a candidate for representative in the state legislature. Each township and ward is entitled to the same number of delegates as to the county convention.

H. STUMPENHUSEN, C. N. HOWE, D. G. ROSE,

MICHIGAN will be represented in Congress next year. There will be Stearns and Ford, Whiting and Tarsney, Yaple and Barnes, Chipman and Fisher.

IT is time for the republicans to nominate Jerome Freeman for county clerk. They can't elect their candidate any way so they might as well recognize the claims of the colored voters. That's their way of doing business.

Thus early in the campaign it is seen that our nominee for congress for his antagonist, Mr. Allen. Mr. Stearns has also the advantage of being on the right side of the issue.

President Cleveland's letter of acever written. It presents the issues clearly, it maintains throughout a dignified tone, and is a masterpiece in English. The president uses lofty ideas in concise terms.

back to Ann Arbor. This is hardly ustice, as Mr. Stearns promptly consented that he would occupy just half the proposed time, and instead of three hours speaking there was only an hour and a half and it was just five o'clock when Mr. Stearns closed over the drying pole. The liveryman there promised to put Mr. Allen in Ann Arbor at 7:30 or 8:00 o'clock at latest. Mr. Allen however telegraphed that his health would not warrant the journey and so he went to Adrian and spoke at a little pole raising. Mr. Allens decision to take care of his health is very timely. He will need to be robust.

THE TARIFF AND LABORERS.

Four years ago the republicans declared that in the event of the election of Cleveland dire ruin would run rampant-from east to westand north to south, business of every name and nature he paralized, and stop the wheels of their factories and turn their employees over to idleness and starvation if the free people of the United States dared to defeat Blaine and g. o. p. Cleveland was elected. Blaine issued his after-election pronunciamento, shook the soil of his native Pennsylvania and adopted Maine from his garments, and hied himself to Europe to witness, from a safe retreat, the predicted explosion. It didn't come, and so Blaine has ventured to return, to setting off another bunch of firecrackers and throwing up a few sky convulsion, failing a political revo-

Forgetting the utter failure of the prophecy of 1884, the same birds of evil omen are again croaking in unison all over the land. Again ruin is staring the manufacturer in the face; again is the mechanic and day laborer to be turned into the street, and his family condemned to eat the bread of the pauper, or compete for his bread with the pauper laborer of Europe. And this because the democratic house has passed the Mills bill, which puts lumber, salt, wool and a few other the evening Capt. C. H. Well, it may be so, but we have wholesale slaughter which took place between the years 1876 and 1881 under the highest tariff ever imposed on wool. And mechanics pure English and clothes the most and laborers, even in Ann Arbor, are daily told that protection is what insures high wages, and that the moderate reduction of the tariff duties, proposed by the house at the instigation of the president, will throw hie away to his farm in Gilead. Cleveland and Harrison Will Lead Their Parties.

LETTERS OF ACCEPTANCE OF EACH.

The Document of Mr. Cleveland Devoted to the Tariff Question and an Argument in Favor of Lower Duties-Mr. Harrison Indorses Protective Tariff and Favors Civil Service Reform.

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 11.—President Cleveland gave his letter of acceptance to the public Sunday night. It is addressed to the Democratic notification committee, P.

A. Collins, chairman: The letter begins with some reflections on the relations of a candidate for the presidency to the people, and the necessity of the self-consecration of the man elected to the duties of his office, and says the experience of the past three years has taught the writer the value of the trust reposed in him by his countrymen. He then gives the most important of the objects, in his view, that should be the aim of the national administration. Among these are protection to American citizens at home and abroad; the regulation of a sound financial system; the construction of means of defense from foreign aggression; the preservation of the national domain for the settlers; proper care of the interests of American labor; the checking and limitation of trusts and monopolies; represent record for the reflect of complete settlers. generous regard for the welfare of surviving soldiers and sailors, and the widows and orphans of those who are dead, and prevention of the appli-cation of the pension fund to the benefit of those who have no claim upon it; protection against foreign servile immigration; steadfast adherance to civil service reform; the guaranty to negro citizens of all their rights of citizenship; a humane Indian policy, and economy in all departments of the government.

Mr. Cleveland then devotes most of his letter to the tariff. Of the surplus, he says it is an evil carrying others in its train, such as an incentive to extravagance, and a general hoarding of money by the people, brought on by the scarcity of currency caused by the large sum in the treasury, which latter makes investors timid and stops enterprise. He declares that all parties are agreed as to the necessity of reducing the income to the needful expenses of the government and that unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation; that when the government extorts more money from the people than is needed for legitimate expenses the creature has rebelled against the creator and the masters are robbed by their servants. tor and the masters are robbed by their servants. He assumes that it is well known that all tariff taxes are added to the cost of the things imported, and also to the cost of things produced at home, and says this increase of price is a form of taxation as inevitable and certain as though annually paid into the hands of taxgatherers. This increase is a burden that ought not to be tolerated. Very heavy burdens, which are uncomplainingly borne when dens, which are uncomplainingly borne when necessary, become grievous when not justified by necessity. While our citizens scan closely the slightest increase in state and county taxes, they are expected in some quarters to view with indifference the invidious taxation of the tariff. The surplus revenue, he says, furnishes the conclusive proof of too much taxation. The question is how to get rid of it. He then defends the Mills bill as a very moderate measure of tax relief, but declares that there is no hint of free trade in it; that the Democracy has always looked to the interests of the workingmen, and that now no measure is suggested that will leave those industries which have been taught to rely on tariff protection, without it; but by letting in raw materials free it is proposed to onlarge our markets to take in the world and compete with foreign countries in those markets from which we are now shut out. He says, in this connection, that the tariff nurtures trusts and combinations of that kind, which increase the cost to the consumer, and tariff reform would make them invocating.

With reference to the Republican proposition to take the tax off only such things as can not be produced in this country, he says most of them are already on the free list, and that the existence of a protective system is entirely consistent with the regulation of the extent to which it shall be applied and the correction of its abuses. Our people, he says, ask relief from burdensome tax-ation on the necessaries of life, and they are of-fered by the Republicans instead—free tobacco and whisky, and he submits that the relief asked can be better supplied by a tariff reform on the lines laid down by the Democracy.

In conclusion he says that the difficulty of applying a remedy to this condition of national tax-ation will never be less, and "with firm faith in the intelligence and patriotism of our countrymen, and relying upon the conviction that misrepresentation will not influence them, prejudice will not cloud their understanding, and that menace will not intimidate them, let us urge the people's interest and public duty for the vindication of our attempt to inaugurate a righteous and beneficent

MR. HARRISON'S LETTER.

He States His Position on the Political Issues of the Day. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 12.—The following is a synopsis of Gen. Harrison's letter of acceptance, which was given to the press

last night:

The letter opens with an expression of grati-tude for the confidence shown in him by his nom-ination, of a full sense of the responsibilities of ination, of a full sense of the responsibilities of his position, and an acceptance of the honor offered. He then takes up the tariff question, and says that no matter what the Democratic position is called, its ultimate and logical purposes is free trade, such as England has. He congratulates the party upon the plain and emphatic tone of the Republican platform in dealing with this main question, and also, upon the equally plain meaning of Democratic position, as interpreted by the president's message and the utterances of the Democratic leaders in the debate on the Mills bill. The important point, he says, is not how long a step has been made in the direction of free trade, but its direction, and he declares that the two parties are separated declares that the two parties are separated widely, not by a schedule, but by a principle. The arguments used by the Democrats that the unpaid duty has to be paid by the consumer as well as many millions more upon domestic goods whose prices are raised by the tariff, inevitably will lead to a revenue tariff which puts the duty upon those articles of foreign manufacture that come in competition with home products. He does not propose to stop at this time to refute this doctrine, but those, he says, time to refute this doctrine, but those, he says, who advance it, are students of maxims, and not of markets.

In opposition to the Democratic view he says the Republicans hold that a tariff laid for protection has a worthy object. The effect of lower rates upon the public revenue is doubtful, but not the effect on the wages of American workmen; increased offerings of foreign foreign goods in our market must surely make less work and less wages for American workmen. The offer of recompense made by the Democratic that if the wages are decreased their purchasing that if the wages are decreased their purchasing power will not be, is, he says in effect, a bird in the bush, and for this our workingmen have the opportunity to make choice of the bird in the hand. They now have better wages and more comfortable lives than those of any other zountry, and will decide for themselves whether they will exchange those advantages for the de-been wasted by those who affect to deprecate it been wasted by those who affect to deprecate it and that abundant opportunity is offered for its reduction by buying bonds and saving the interest thereof. The contingency of repealing the internal revenue taxes in the present circumstances is, he says, very remote, and a proper reduction of the revenues does not necessitate that step. The Republicans will revise the tariff with a steady purpose always of protection to the industries of this country, and the reneal of the intertries of this country, and the repeal of the inter-nal revenue laws need not enter at all into the

Of foreign immigration he says that we are no

our markets from the competition of the Old World; the effect will be different only in degree, if at all, whether the cheap labor be across the street or across the sea. Foreign competition will soon reduce wages here to that point that foreign labor will have no inducement to come here, and laws forbidding their importation will be needless. Especially are laws to prevent the immigration of those who can not assimilate themselves to our civilization necessary. The Chinese of this class and the objections to their immigration are so distinctive and conclusive as to have put the que tion beyond the stage of argument Upon this point he expresses himself as entirely in harmony with the Republican platform, and would, if elected, promptly approve all necessary legislation to that end.

The next paragraph is devoted to the free ballot question. The right of every citizen to cast lot question. The right of every citizen to cast and have counted one free ballot, he says, must not be questioned. Fraud and intimidation in the end react upon those who produce them, and the refusal of the right of suffrage to any citizen is a violation of the civil compact of the government, which provides for the rule of majorities.

The colored people do not ask special legislation, but they do ask to be made secure in their rights

He then declares his belief in national assistance to the common schools, disapproves the refusal of congress to admit territories having all the requisites of states into the Union, but declared against the admission of any territory in which a majority of the people cherish institutions re-pugnant to our civilization as inconsistent with Republican form of government. He indorses the convention's declaration on the subject of trusts, and its advocacy of liberal pensions to the veterans of the war and their widows and or-phars. He heartily indorses the clause in the platform relating to civil phans. service reform and believes in its extension; that fitness for office and not partisan considerations should be the qualification, and fidelity and efficiency the only sure terms. The declaration in favor of virtue and temperance is warmly indorsed, and he closes with the declaration that in our foreign relations the honor and dignity of the nation should be upheld, and our relations with the South American states made closer. He be lieves diplomacy to be equal to the settlement of the fisheries trouble, and remarks that Canada can not expect more hospitality at our hands than she grants to us. In conclusion he says he is in entire agreement with the whole platform and submits the declara-tions therein to the candid consideration of the people, believing that Providence will lead them to a wise conclusion.

NEWS FROM THE HARVEST FIELD. A Big Crop of Corn in Prospect-The

Wheat Yield-Other Cereals. WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 11.—The report of the department of agriculture for September 1st makes the average condition of corn 94.2; wheat, 77.3; oats, 87.2; rye, 92.8; barley, 86.9; buckwheat, 93.7; potatoes, 91.6, and tobacco, 87. The returns show but very slight falling off from the exceptionally high August report of maize, the general average having declined but one point during the month. The loss is almost entirely in one state, Kansas, where drought and hot dry winds caused a decline of eleven points since last report. This high average of condition has been exceeded but once during the past ten years, in 1885, when it stood at 95, and the largest crop ever grown was harvested. In the seven corn surplus states the average condition is 95, against 64 at the same date in 1887. The averages of those states are: Obio, 99; Indiana, 99; Illinois 98; Iowa, 99; Missouri, 92; Kansas, 80, and Nebraska, 97. The average condition of spring and winter wheat when harvested was 76.3, against 82 last year, and 87.8 in 1887. In 1885 it was 72, and in 1884 98. The winter wheat states show a slight improvement over the last re-port of condition, in July, but there has been a serious decline in the spring wheat region of the northwest. Chinch bugs were again a serious evil in portions of Minnesota and Wisconsin, while unseasonable rains at and after harvest materially lowered the condition in these states, and in portions of Iowa. Frost between the 16th and 18th of the month did some injury in the Red and Jim river valleys. The averages of the principal states Winter wheat-New York, 86; Penn. are: sylvania, 92; Tennessee, 96; Kentucky, 90; Ohio, 70; Michigan, 73; Indiana, 64; Illinois, 72; Missouri, 75; Kansas, 90; California, 85; Oregon, 94. Spring wheat—Wiscons n, 78; Minnesota, 70: Iowa, 73; Nebraska, 80;

Dakota, 78. The general average of oats at the time of harvest was four points lower than at last report. In only one year since 1881 has the September report made condition less than 90—1887—when it was 83.4. The decline this year was mainly in the spring wheat region Of foreign immigration he says that we are no longer in need of immigration bureaus, and though proper immigrants will always be welcome those who come here under contract to perform services are not proper immigrants, and should be shut out. But it will make little difference whether we have laws to restrict this sort of immigration if we do not also protect year was mainly in the spring wheat region of the northwest, and on account of rust and unfavorable meteorological conditions at time of harvost. State averages are: New York, 93; Pennsylvania, 96; Ohio, 95; Illinois, 92; Indiana, 93; Minnesota, 80; Iowa, 73; Dakota, 9.

WASHINGTON STATESMEN.

A SUCCINCT REPORT OF THE WEEK'S

Things of Interest Put in Condensed and Readable Shape-A Very Brief Summary of All Important Matters Transacted by Our National Law-Makers at Washington.

Washington City, Sept. 6.—Sherman offered a resolution in the senate yesterday asking the president whether China has or has not ratified the recent treaty. Sherman thought that this information should be in the hands of the senate before action was taken on the house Chinese bill. The conference report on the army bill, with a disagreement on heavy ordnance, was presented and a new conference ordered. Pasco spoke against Chandler's resolution relative to the families and friends, and by Monday night recent Louisiana election. The Chinese bill it was estimated that 150,000 strangers were was then taken up, a yea and nay vote was ordered, and then George spoke at length in favor of its passage. When he had concluded the vote was taken—yeas, 32; nays, none -but no quorum being present and voting the senate adjourned with the bill still pend-

The house non-concurred in the senate amendments to the fortification bill and ordered a new conference. Stahlnecker rose to a question of privilege and read a newspaper article stating that he was the man referred to in Kelley's resolution of Tuesday. He denounced the charge as false in every particular and demanded a prompt investiga tion. Oates introduced a concurrent resolution for adjournment Sept. 20, which was applauded. The bill to limit the jurisdiction of United States courts (district and circuit) was passed, and the retaliation bill debate was resumed. The debate was pending when the house adjourned.

Washington City, Sept. 7.—Hoar offered a resolution requesting the president to supply the information asked for by resolution adopted Aug. 28 as soon as possible. Vest said the secretary of state could probably give a good reason for not supplying the desired information and the resolution went The Chinese bill was taken up and debated. Sherman opposed taking action until it could be known whether China had rejected the treaty. While he was for the bill if the rumored rejection was a fact, to pass the bill and then find out that the rumor was false would be embarrassing for the senate. Brown Brown offered an amendment permitting Chinamen to land who are now on their way, but Teller raised the point that the amendment was too late, and the point was sustained. The debate close I and a vote was taken, resulting—yeas, 37; nays, none—Hoar and Sherman not voting. There was no quorum, and the senate adjourned.

The time of the house was largely taken up by an attack by Brumm upon Scott, both of Pennsylvania. Brumm charged Scott with hiring Pinkerton police and issuing store orders at his mines. Scott denied the charge. The latter gentleman then proceeded to discuss the retaliation bill, and when he had concluded the house adjourned. WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 7.-Very little business was done in the senate yesterday, except to consider the Chinese exclusion bill. While the matter was under debate a message was received from the president giving the latest news from China-two telegrams from Minister Denby, the first dated the 5th inst., saying he had demanded information from the Chinese government, and the sec ond dated the 6tn to the effect that the Chinese government had postponed the treaty for further deliberation. Some debate followed, and several atwere to amend tempts Gorman moved to send the bill to the for-eign relations committee. The vote was ayes, 17; nays, 19-Sherman, Platt and Hoar voting aye. No quorum voted and a second vote resulted in its defeat. The bill was then passed—yeas, 37; nays, 3—Brown, Hoar and Wilson of Iowa; Sherman and Ingalls not voting. Blair moved to reconsider and after some debate a vote was taken, showing no Ann Arbor. ators present. Two other votes resulted the same way and Blair asked leave to withdraw, journed until Monday leaving the matter still unsettled.

The house spent the whole day on the retaliation bill. A number of Republicans spoke, among them Cannon, Adams, and Post of Illinois, all taking the ground that Post of Illinois, all taking the ground that the president had power enough. Finally it was agreed that a vote should be taken at 4 All of these were the objects of great p. m. to-day, and recess was taken to 8 p. m., at which time thirty-two private pension bills were passed, and the house adjourned at 10:45.

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 10.—As soon as the house met Saturday debate on the re-taliation bill was resumed. White of New York, Lind of Minnesota, and Bayne of Pennsylvania spoke against it, declaring they would not vote for it. Wilson of Minnesota, O'Neil of Missouri, and Cummings and Cockran of New York spoke for it. The latter making an eloquent defense of the president. White moved the recommittal of the bill with instructions to strike out the first section, but the motion was negatived, and the bill passed—yeas, 174; nays 4—Bayne, Dalzell, Lind and White. The house then at 5:20 p. m. adjourned to Monday.

Washington City, Sept. 11.—Vest's resolution for an inquiry into the publication by the senate librarian, McKee, of a campaign work was adopted by the senate yesterday after a short debate. Morgan introduced a bill appropriating $276,000 to compensate Chinese subjects in this country for loss at the hands of mobs, etc., and urged that the treaty be withdrawn, and the Scott exclusion bill, amended by his [Morgan's] bill passed. Sherman favored the reconsideration of the passage of the Scott bill, as did George, and Evarts urged its reference to the foreign relations committee. Wilson of Iowa favored reconsideration. The bill was finally left as it was Saturday—passed, but with a motion for reconsideration pending. The house retaliation bill was presented and referred, and the conference reports on the for-tifications and army bills agreed to. The senate adjourned at 4:15 p. m.

The house adopted the conference reports on the fortification and army bills and then resumed the sundry civil bill, the debate being on the proposition to appropriate $250,-000 to investigate the practicability of irrigation of arid lands in the west. The appropriation was advocated by Symes, Vandever, O'Neil, Peters and Felton, and opposed by Forney, McMillin and Oates, but without action the house adjourned. Washington City, Sept. 12.—Sherman reported to the senate yesterday a bill de-claring trusts unlawful, and providing punishment (fine not exceeding $10,000 or impris-onment five years or less) for those who are connected with them. The 4th of July claims bill, passed by the house, was then taken up and passed. It comprises 686 claims reported by treasury officers and aggregates $180, There was a good deal of opposition to the bill, Spooner saying that it was the first of fourteen omnibus bills involving $15,000,- president for all correspondence referring to the treaty, and the senate adjourned.

The house proceeded to the consideration of the amendment to the sundry civil bill appropriating $250,000 for investigating the practicability of reclaiming arid lands in the west by irrigation, and the amount was reduced to $50,000. Holman offered a substitute providing that the expenses of the investigation shall be taken from the appropriation for the topographic survey, and for the suspension of the desert land law. A vote showed no quorum and the house adjourned.

AN EXCURSION HORROR.

A Train Load of Grand Army Men En Route to Columbus Wrecked.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 11. - A freight train on the New York, Pennsylvania & Ohio railroad ran into the rear end of an excursion train at Rittman Station, O., yesterday, killing four persons outright and twenty-five others, three of whom have since died. The special train had been stopped by an accident in a deep cut and on a The freight came down a grade at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour. The passengers saw their danger and nearly all of them succeeded in escaping from the cars, but as they were scrambling up the embankment the wrecked cars toppled over on them. Nearly all those who are injured were struck by flying debris.

The following is a list of the killed: Conrad Baldinger, freight engineer; W. E. Cochran, freight brakeman; John Shook, a veteran of Tod post, Youngstown. Ohio; town; Mrs. Given, of Canfield; a woman,

"Look here Jack! you are like some old bachelor that has been jilted by one woman and goes about declaring all women are false." "Not at all! my brother Charley died of Bright's disease, brought on by using one of these so called 'blood purifiers' — the kind you see attractively advertised in every nook and corner. It contains iodide of potassium, a drug useful in extreme cases when cautiously given under a doctor's supervision, but death-dealing to all who take it in quantity. If your brother had died under such circumstances, you would hate patent medicines as I do."
"I do dislike the name of that mis called

'blood purifier,' for I have heard a first class physician say it is the cause of half the cases of Bright's disease in the country, and it is strange the proprietors have not been prosecuted for selling it. But I was recommending Vinegar Bitters and that does not contain any mineral, narcotic or other hurtful drug.'

"On, nobody supposes that old woman's remedy will hurt anybody; the question is will it cure anything? I'd as soon think of taking some of my grandmother's herb tea."
"You would be better off, Jack, if you had some of that tea to tone up your system now, instead of taking a glass of brandy to make you seep one night and perhaps a bottle of beer the next." "Is this a temperance lecture, Phil?" "No, it is a Vinegar Bitters lecture. I've taken the medicine more or less for fifteen years, and look the world over, you will not find a healthier man than I am.

"What is all this nonsense about old style and new style Vinegar Bitters; are they different.

"Yes, the old style looks like coffee with milk in, the new style like coffee without milk. The man who made the old style for twenty years-a practical chemist-made a milder, pleasanter preparation, adding to it here, and taking from it there, until he pro-duced, my wife says, the finest medicine ever It cured her of constipation, and it cures the children of hives and all the little ailments they ever have. If my wife thinks they have worms, she doses them with old style. We always have both kinds in the house, and together, they keep the doctor away

"And you insist that the proof of the pud-

"Is in the eating—precisely. Jack, get a bottle of the old style Vinegar Bitters—men, I think, prefer old style usually—try it, and you will then be like an old bachelor, who, after railing against women for years, in love with a good woman at last. You will say there are good and bad patent medicines, but Vinegar Bitters is the best of the lot." "All right, Phil, to please you, I'll try it and report results."

A WORKINGMAN TELLS THE AR-GUS READERS OF HARRISON'S GREAT UNPOPULARITY AT HIS OWN HOME.

A Man Universally Despised by the Laboring Men of Indiana

All honor to those men who have been true to their party for over a quarter of a century. party for over a quarter of a century. The revolution has come, and I believe

of this city:

"Here in Indiana, where Gen. Harrison is best known, his unpopularity is proverbial. Indiana is not a republi-can state and Gen. Harrison is not as strong as the republican party in Indiana. His associations and sympathies are all with the enemies of the people; with the class which Gould, Vanderbilt, Blaine and Depew are the leading representatives, and whose faithful, willing and obsequious servant General Harrison has always been. He General Harrison has always been. He is exclusive and aristocratic in his tastes and habits; proud, cold and austere in his temperament and if he does not feel a hearty contempt for those whom Mr. Lincoln used to call "the plain people," he has been strongly misunderstood all these years in his own state. among those who have had the best opportunity to study and understand his character."

"Gen. Harrison cannot carry Indiana"

"Gen. Harrison cannot carry Indiana and he cannot be elected. He is identified with the cause of monopoly, and in this campaign monopoly is going to be defeated. The platform adopted at Chicago is the most outspoken, audacious and aggressive declaration in favor of monopoly that any political party in the United States has ever had certain of defeat. His personality will cut little figure in the campaign out side of Indiana. Here, his name at the head of any ticket would be enough to insure its rejection. In the country at large the issue which the republican party has raised sounds its death knell."

showed his cowardice by dodging it. It passed the senate, however, but was passed the senate, however, but was vetoed by the President Subsequently it came to another vote, with a view of passing it over the President's head. In this case Mr. Harrison voted to sustain the vote. Later on, during the same session of congress, the same bill was again introduced, except that the prohibition of Chinese immigration was prohibition of Chinese immigration was INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 4th.

DEAR ARGUS:—I have just finished reading the account of the raising of 25 democratic poles between Ann Arbor and Saline, and must say that it was a great day for the old "wheel-horses" of Washtenaw county—what a change!

Hencest sturdy this Blum and the gen-Honest, sturdy Phil. Blum and the genial John J. Robison can well remember when things were for different. And I torney for numerous railways and tele-graph companies, and no confidence is The revolution has come, and I believe that with the changes which have taken place in other counties, as well as old Washtenaw, that Michigan will be found in the column of democratic states next November.

To the workingmen of the country Ben Harrison is obnoxious. Right here at his own home he is daily shown of by the people as being one of the greatest antagonists to the laboring man in this country. Only a short time since the following appeared in the Sentine of this city:

Transparent of the masses who are seeking legislation which these institutions oppose. As an indication of his loyalty to railroad companies in times of emergency, it is only necessary to refer to his course pending the railroad strike of 1877, on which occasion he implored the Governor to order out the troops and shoot down the strikers. Governor Williams stoutly resisted his influence claiming that the men were peaceable and that there was no necessity for such action. At this he mustered up a company of his own and dvilled the men so as to have them in readiness. Upon the same occasion he readiness. Upon the same occasion he made a speech, from which the following is verbatim and substantiated by affidavits:

Were I the Governor, I'd force those men back to work or shoot them down men back to work or shoot them down on the spot.

"And upon another occasion during the same trouble he declared in a speech that a dollar a day and two meals are enough for any workingman."

"The Knights of Labor throughout the state officially petitioned for his defeat in the last senatorial contest, and at Chicago the laboring classes by the hundreds were found working for his defeat. Prominent among those quoted as being favorably disposed toward Gresham were Frederick Turner, Richard Griffiths and Thomas Maguire of the General Executive Board, Knights of Labor. The convention was warned of Labor. The convention was warned by printed circulars, signed by repre-sentatives of the Knights of Labor and other prominent labor leaders that if Harrison was nominated they would assist in his defeat.

I think that from the above any intelligent workingman will not be long about making up his mind whom he will cast his vote for .- I have endeavored to give a plain statement of the facts as the effrontery to put forth. Standing give a plain statement of the facts as on such a platform, a far stronger candidate than General Harrison would be person—and on some future occasion person-and on some future occasion may tell the laboring men why they should support Cleveland and Thur-ONE LUNG.
