WEDNESDAY'S PARADE

Proves A Great Success—Four Bands and Many Societies in Line.

THE ARBEITER BUND CLOSED ITS SESSIONS
YESTERDAY.

Every Thing Passed off Pleasantly—The Visitors Pleased With Their Reception—Bay City Gets
the Bund Next
Year.

The state convention of the Arbeiter Verein is over. Everything passed off pleasantly and the visitors left with many encomiums for Ann Arbor. In Tuesday's Argus we gave the addresses of welcome. They were responded to by President Carl Kaufmann, who among other things said that as much as the German Americans retained their love for their father-land, they loved their adopted country better.
One hundred and fifty-one delegates were present from fifty-one associations. The annual report of President Kaufmann showed that the total membership was 6,945, an increase of 287 in the year.

Treasurer Nathaniel Schmid, of Manchester, reported the receipts of the year at $45,047.90 and expenditures $42,625.25. The cash on hand is $6, 438.64.

The membership of the various societies in this county is as follows:
Ann Arbor, 143; Chelsea, 79; Manchester, 140; Saline, 62; Ypsilanti, 54.
The receipts from Ann Arbor Verein were $928.60. The sum of $500 had been paid to each of the families of Jacob Dengler, Michael Weinmann, William Exinger, John Weitbrecht, August Mogk and Augustus Kajuska, who had died in the city during the
year.

Tuesday evening a concert was given by the Gesang Verein Lyra, the Harugari Maennerchor, the Ann Arbor Zither club and Fraulein E. Hazzard, of Ypsilanti, and Aid. Walter Taylor, of this city. A large audience listened to the music which was of a high order and greatly appreciated.

On Wednesday the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Ann Arbor Arbeiter Unterstuetzung Verein was celebrated.
Excursions came in from all quarters.
The parade started from the court house about eleven o'clock under the marshalship of Frederick Schmid and Titus Hutzel. The fire department led and Ann Arbor had every reason to feel proud of her department. Then followed the Ann Arbor band, the mayor, president of the council, aldermen, city and county officers in carriages, the Gesang Verein Lyra in carriages. Then followed the Jackson, Belleville and Milan bands with members of the various German societies of this city and the visiting societies from Jackson, Detroit, Saline, Ypsilanti Manchester Lansing and other towns. The procession was a fine one and passed through streets which had been well decorated with patriotic colors, to Relief Park where the day was spent.

In the afternoon Editor Paul G. Suekey, of the Hausfreund, delivered the oration of the day in German, in the course of which he traced the history of the Ann Arbor society from its organization in 1866. In the twenty-five years it had paid in sick benefits $9,500 and in funeral expenses $3,280.
The assets of the Bund to-day are $3, 000. It became part of the state bund in 1875. Since then 340 persons have joined and 79 have died. The speaker forcibly proved the truth of the motto
"In union there is strength."

The question which occupied the bund Wednesday afternoon was what action should be taken concerning the action of the Missouri Lutheran synod in refusing to recognize as a delegate any member of the Arbeiter Bund. It was finally resolved that they would receive members into the Bund, even if they were connected with the Missouri synod, if otherwise of good moral character.

A spirited time was had over the selection of the place of meeting next year. Muskegon, Jackson and Bay City wanted the meeting. Bay City finally won the plum.

The following officers were elected yesterday: President, Fred Louden, Saginaw; vice-president, M. Riegel, Salzburg; secretary, Louis Hertmann, Kalamazoo; trustees, Jacob Pilschke, Grand Rapids; J. H. Roennau, Kalamazoo; Frank Meyer, Sebawing; Valentine Becker, Port Huron; Albert Frank, Jackson.

Before adjourning the Bund passed resolution of thanks to the mayor, city officers, the ladies, the Ann Arbor Arbeiter Verein and the press for the warm hospitality extended to the convention.

Praise For Dr. MacLachlan.

The last issue of the Lowell Journal contains the following in praise of our medical department:

Daniel Ranney returned last week from Ann Arbor, where he has been for the past month having his eyes treated, one eye being removed and the other operated upon for glau-coma. He is loud in his praises of the University and thinks every citizen should be proud of the institution that reflects credit on our state. The college grounds consist of forty acres, situated nearly in the center of the city and embellished with beautiful avenues and groves of maple, elm and spruce, while the stately buildings are scattered, apparently at hap-hazard over the tract. The University supports two medical schools, the faculty for each having been selected with the greatest care and the most wonderful and difficult surgical operations are of daily occurrence. The man who did so much for Mr. Ranney in preserving his sight was Dr. D. A. Mac-Lachlan, professor of eye, ear, nose and throat diseases. He is a tall, fair Scotchman, scholarly and earnest and has done a good job for Mr. Ranney. This school is a state institution, and a free hospital is one of its adjuncts, where treatment is given.
It is a state institution; but its faculty is chosen for the ability they possess in their several lines, and up to the present time there has not been a suggestion of its professorships being a political plum.

Newberry Hall.

Ann Arbor, June 9th, 1891.

Mr. Editor:—I desire a small portion of your space this week, in which to make a brief statement of our finances and a final appeal for funds with which to meet our indebtedness. There has been raised for lot, building and furniture about $34,500. To finish the building will cost about $3,000, and to finish paying for the chairs and some needed furniture about $500 more.

That the building will be a credit to the University and city can admit of no doubt.

That there has long been need of such a building here all will acknowledge. The following letter also goes to prove it:

Detroit Journal:—Inclosed please find my order for fifty (50) cents. It is all I can spare. Although a prisoner behind these horrid bars and walls, I look back from my prison cell to my young schoolboy days in Ann Arbor and am compelled to say, how much different would my past life have been if such a building was there 20 years ago. The christian influences which are spread around the students have much to do with their future success in life. The absence of that influence has brought many a good, noble young man to just such a position as I now occupy. With best wishes for its success, I am, Respectfully,

No. 4790.

Jackson, June 3, 1891.
The feeling, I believe, is universal that the building has stood long enough unfinished, and it should be put in shape to be used at once. While it will be under the control of the Christian association, it is for the benefit and use of every student or any one else who will avail himself of the advantages offered.

Although the work will not be quite finished, the board of trustees have decided to dedicate the building on Sunday, June 21st, at 4 p. m. It is hoped that we will be able to raise in pledges the amount needed to cancel all indebtedness, before the hour of dedication. This should not be a difficult thing to do. There ought to be 1,000 persons in this city who will give on an average $3 which would help us out. If you cannot give a large sum, a small one will be very acceptable. If you cannot pay now, give us a pledge payable in 60 or 90 days or even on or before Jan. 1, 1892.
It is impossible for me to ask you all personally, so don't wait to be seen, but send me your contributions immediately. Any sum however large or small will be highly appreciated.
It is a matter in which the old and young can assist.

Fill one of the blanks, cut out and send at once. We must have them by Saturday, June 20th.

For the purpose of aiding the Students' Christian association of the University of Michigan, in finishing Newberry hall, I promise to pay to the treasurer of the board of trustees of the association at Ann Arbor the sum of Dollars.

American Tin Plate Once More.

It is really about time that the owners of American rolling-mills, who were instrumental in securing the insertion of the additional duty clause in the tariff bill, bestirred themselves and did something practical in the way of preparing for the manufacture of tinplate. We have long ago had enough of talk and newspaper drivel on the subject. The average reader of the daily journals ought to be about sa-tiated with legends, which have been reeled off like so much thread from a spool, for the purpose of proving that the industry has already been established and is thriving in this country.
We have pointed out at different times that there is nothing to gain by this misrepresentation. The American Manufacturer, a reputable trade journal, which advocates the millmen's interests and supports the higher duty clause, has finally seconded our efforts to impress upon those in whose behalf the law was enacted, that they have a task before them which cannot be accomplished by the power of subsidized newspapers or the alchemy of printers' ink, unless these aids are supplemented by vigorous work and the exercise of inventive skill of the highest order. Will the manufacturers listen to their Mentor? It is to be hoped that they will. It certainly could not be other than gratifying to every patriotic citizen who desires to see the needs of home consumers supplied by domestic makers, to have the manufacture of tin-plate established upon a firm basis in this country, providing the manufacturers themselves would stand the cost of transfer of the industry from the country where it is now carried on to the satisfaction of all concerned, except an insignificant few who suffer from political astigmatism.

The recent meeting of the manufacturers interested in this subject gives room to hope that as the date approaches for the imposition of the higher duty upon imported plates, they are becoming convinced that their promises must now give way to actual performance if they would redeem the pledges made through Mr.
Cronmeyer to the tin-plate consumers and to the nation. Of course, it could hardly be expected that a tinplate industry would grow up under the mere stimulus of the knowledge that a protective measure had been incorporated in the tariff bill, before the law became actually operative.
We have never found fault on this score. It takes time to build mills of any kind, and the mushroom process is one which does not obtain to a great degree where fly-wheels, roll trains, and pickling-pots are necessary, even in climates where the directors of such industries are unaffected by the changes, actual or expected, in the political atmosphere. Our points have been these: (1) that the tariff was unnecessary, for the reason that nobody but the manufacturers wanted it; (2) that it was insufficient for the purpose for which it was ostensibly passed, and (3) that the people who engineered it have been making themselves ridiculous by crowing over an industrial chick before it had even attempted to emerge from its shell. When American-manufactured tin-plate is actually made and upon the market in any quantity, we expect to chronicle the fact and to indulge in our share of jubilation, if it can be done without a feeling that we are paying a price for a whistle which should entitle us to a grand organ with additional stops thrown in. The folly of pretending that there is any manufacturer now prepared to fill orders for tin-plate of American-make is well illustrated by the admission of the American Manufacturer, quoted in our issue of the 16th. That journal acknowledged that an order for 50,000 boxes could not be filled, and commented thus: "The magnitude of the order was designed to prevent its acceptance;" which is a very possible fact; but how can the journal explain the attitude of one of the most emphatic tin-plate "boomers"—F. G.
Niedringhaus, of St. Louis, who has found himself unable to accept an order for even so small a quantity as 6,000 boxes of domestic plate? There is no doubt, we believe, that a New York firm of dealers made such an offer and that it was not accepted, but in case the statement should be doubted, we reprint the correspondence between Mr. Niedringhaus and a leading New York paper of free-trade proclivities, which has done good service in exposing American tin-plate fables and thus earned at least the thanks of all business men of integrity:

New York, May 23, 1891.
To F. G. Niedringhaus, St. Louis:

If your representative will call at our office, full particulars of an offer to purchase 6,000 boxes of American tin-plate will be given him.

St. Louis, May 23, 1891.
Your telegram asking for price for 6,000 boxes American tin-plates, received. I know that newspaper men don't deal in tin-plates, but if you are willing to publish an article of information regarding the manufacture of American tin-plates under the McKinley bill, for the enlightenment of your readers, I will gladly prepare and send it to you. F. G. NIEDRINGHAUS.

New York, May 25, 1891.
To F. G. Niedringhaus, St. Louis:
We shall be glad to print the article you propose, not exceeding 2,000 words, if you will fill the order already sent you of N. L. Cort & Co., of No.
245 Water street, New York city, for 6,000 boxes American tin. We will print another article of similar length from your pen if you will accept the other order which we hold for your whole product of American tin for the year 1891, mentioning, of course, what the probable amount will be. Answer.

At last accounts Mr. Niedringhaus had not answered. As this gentleman has had more to say about the great progress made in establishing this industry here than any other one individual, it is a matter for regret that he has given the critics this remarkable "scoop." Perhaps he has been prevented from snapping up the order by the sober second-thought supplied by the vice president of the company of which he is the head. That gentleman, if he is correctly quoted, averred when questioned in regard to the cost of making tin-plate that "the sheet iron, or 'black sheets,' cost about 3 1-2 cents a pound, and the labor and material used in dipping these sheets add about 2 cents. You see that is why I don't think the McKinley bill, as far as it is directed toward tin-plate, will have any influence. If there really was a desire to build up a new industry in this country, the tariff should be made fully 2 cents a pound higher. Unless this is done, I believe the duty on tin-plate should be taken off entirely."

Is it possible that after all our original prediction will come true—viz:
that the 2 1-2 cents per pound duty will only serve as an excuse for an increased demand on the part of the manufacturers? In view of this unpleasant outlook it is cheering to remember that the next congress may not be so complaisant as was the last.—

Furnisher.

Prof. B. Walker did not ascend in his balloon as advertised Saturday or Monday owing to the balloon taking fire both times. He will try again next week and come down with a parachute leap if all goes well.
Miss Satie Speer has gone to visit relatives at Rives Junction.

Remarkable Facts.

Heart disease is usually supposed to be incurable, but when properly treated a large proportion of cases can be cured. Thus Mrs. Elmira Hatch, of Elkhart, Ind., and Mrs. Mary L. Baker, of Ovid, Mich., were cured after suffering 20 years. S. C. Linburger, druggist at San Jose, Ill., says that Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, which cured the former, "worked wonders for his wife." Levi Logan, of Buchanan, Mich., who had heart disease for 30 years, says two bottles made him "feel like a new man." Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold and guaranteed by Eberbach & Sons. Book of wonderful testimonials free.

Chelsea.

The basement walls of the new school building are nearly finished.
Will Stedman and wife were in Detroit, Thursday of last week.
Junius E. Beal, of Ann Arbor, was here on business, Tuesday last.
Isaac Letts, of Unadilla, visited his brother here the first of the week.
Haying will be in order week after next. The crop will be a good one.
Mr. J. W. Speer and child went to Battle Creek, Tuesday, to visit relatives.

Cold Ways

Are predicted with reliable accuracy, and people liable to the pains and aches of rheumatism dread every change to damp and stormy weather. Although Hood's Sarsaparilla is not claimed to be a positive specific for rheumatism, the remarkable cures it has effected show that it may be taken for this complaint with reasonable certainty of benefit. Its action in neutralizing the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of rheumatism, constitutes the secret of the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla. If you suffer from rheumatism, give Hood's Sarsaparilla a fair trial; it will do you good.

Mrs. J. A. Campbell and daughter will visit friends in Jackson this week.
Guinset Cook and daughter of Meadville, Pa., are visiting at Alfred Cook's.
M. F. Galpin recently sold 18 spring lambs to Mr. Vogle of Ann Arbor, for $3.50 apiece.
F. A. and R. Shuart are building Frank Bush's barn. It will be done in time for hay.

Cuaranteed Cure for La Grippe.

We authorize our advertised druggist to sell you Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, upon this condition. If you are afflicted with La Grippe and will use this remedy according to directions, giving it a fair trial, and experience no benefit, you may return the bottle and have your money refunded. We make this offer, because of the wonderful success of Dr. King's New Discovery during last season's epidemic. Have heard of no case in which it failed. Try it. Trial bottles free at Eberbach & Son's Drugstore. Large size 50c. and $1.00.

The Chelsea Cornet band will play in the open air every Saturday night if the people will build a stand for them to play on. By all means let us build the stand.
Mrs. Priestley and daughter left here last Thursday for Philadelphia to visit relatives there and will sail about the first of next month for their home in Yorkshire, England.
Joseph Heim, living a few miles south of here, recently had a tubular well put down by G. H. Foster. At the depth of 12 feet a stream was struck which throws the water seven or eight feet above the ground and is a fine flowing well.

The Methodist, Baptist and Congregational churches will hold union services Sunday nights during the heated term. The first one was held last Sunday night at the Baptist church.

Increasing the tariff on wool has not prevented it from going lower, while taking the tariff off of sugar and partly of of binding twine has made both those articles much cheaper. The moral of these facts is evident.

The body of Calvin Kempf arrived Monday morning and the sad funeral was held at the M. E. church, Tuesday morning. It seems that a mis-step entangled him in the lines and whiffletrees of his own team which ran away and kicked and dragged him to death.

A business men's organization was effected here Tuesday night to guard against dead beats. F. P. Glazier was elected president, W. P. Schenk, secretary and M. Boyd, treasurer. Twenty-six states are now organized for self protection with headquarters at Chicago.

The markets have been very dull the past week and generally lower. Wheat still comes in slowly and brings $1.02 for white and 99 cts. for red. Rye is all in and nominal at 80 cts.; brley, the same at $1.25; oats bring 42 cts., eggs, 13 cts and butter 12 1-2 cts. Potatoes, 85 cts., beans, $1.75.

A National Event.

The holding of the World's Fair in a city scarcely fifty years old will be a remarkable event, but whether it will really benefit this nation as much as the discovery of the Restorative Nervine by Dr. Franklin Miles is doubtful. This is just what the American people need to cure their excessive nervousness, dyspepsia, headache, dizziness, sleeplessness, neuralgia, nervous debility, dullness, confusion of mind, etc. It acts like a charm. Triale bottles and fine book on "Nervous and Heart Diseases," with unequalled testimonials, free at Eberbach and Son's. It is warranted to contain no opium, morphine or dangerous drugs.

Mooreville.

Sheep shearing seems to be the order of the day.
Mrs. Cole has been sick with the grip the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas Clark of Ypsilanti, are visiting relatives here.
Milo Clark and his invited friends in Tecumseh over Sunday.

Mrs. A. A. Tuttle is here visiting her daughter, Mrs. Arooa Sandford.
Children's day will be observed at the M. E. church June 14th. A fine program is being prepared.

Mooreville last Saturday afternoon was what might be styled the deserted village, as nearly everybody went to Milan to see the races and balloon ascension, but the balloon met with an accident so failed to go up. Some went down Monday afternoon as it was expected to go up sure, but it caught fire and so was a failure again.

The closing exercises and picnic at the school Friday afternoon went off all right and everything was lovely until in the night when the youngsters began to be heard from. Something that they ate did not seem to agree with them. Nearly everyone who ate at the first table was affected. It is supposed to have been caused by the ice cream.

There are no less than thirty-nine shades of brown in dress goods of to-day.

A Miracle of the Nineteenth Century.
I have been afflicted with rheumatism for twenty years, and have used crutches for ten years. From using powerful liniments to get a little sleep, my hip and knee had lost nearly all strength. When I commenced to take Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup I could not take one step without the aid of a cane. I can now walk without my cane from my house to my office and wish I might herald to all afflicted with rheumatism, the merits of this wonderful medicine.

Its Excellent Qualities
Commend to public approval the California liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs. It is pleasing to the eye, and to the taste and by gently acting on the liver and bowels, it cleanses the system effectually, thereby promoting the health and comfort of all who use it.

Good Looks.
Good looks are more than skin deep, depending upon a healthy condition of all the vital organs. A Miracle of the Nineteenth Century.
I have been afflicted with rheumatism for twenty years, and have used crutches for ten years. From using powerful liniments to get a little sleep, my hip and knee had lost nearly all strength. When I commenced to take Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup I could not take one step without the aid of a cane. I can now walk without my cane from my house to my office and wish I might herald to all afflicted with rheumatism, the merits of this wonderful medicine.

From Nature's Storehouse.

It stands to reason that a medicine which will destroy the germs of contagious blood poison and counteract the effects of mercurial poisoning may be depended on to overcome the diseases that have their origin in malaria, or that have their seat in an impure condition of the blood. This is what S. S. S. has done, and what it will do, as its popularity attests. As a preventive, and a remedy for the long list of affections that display their activity during the spring and summer months, it stands without a rival. The secret of this is that it is a remedy drawn from nature's own storehouse.

Died—At Willis, June 7th., of heart and lung trouble, resulting from la grippe, Willis L. Potter. Born in Burlington, Otsego county, N. Y., May 9th., 1807, came to Michigan in 1836 and had lived at the town of Augusta fifty-five years and with the exception of about a year had lived on the farm on which he died. He cleared about 140 acres of Michigan's wilderness and caused it to bloom, and the village of Willis stands on a part of his farm and bears a part of his name. He leaves a wife and five children, two sons and three daughters. The funeral was held on Tuesday at 2 p. m. at his late residence, the services being conducted by Rev. Mr. Cheney, of Ypsilanti, six of his grand-sons acting as pall bearers.

A DEADLINE FOR CROOKS

WALL STREET AND BIG BUILDINGS CLOSELY GUARDED.

Why Men of Doubtful Reputation and Questionable Appearance Are Prohibited from Being Inside of New York's Recognized Money Center.

The Equitable building is one of the largest general office buildings in the world. Its actual floor space is about 400,000 square feet, equal in extent to eight or ten city blocks. It is a busy, bustling city in itself, and is occupied by nearly 4,000 tenants.

A special police force of seven men are constantly on duty in the halls and corridors. They are under the command of ex-Detective Sergeant Dusenbury, who for nearly thirty years was on the detective force of this city, and was one of the best known and most successful of Inspector Byrnes' staff. There are few men who have a wider acquaintance with the outlaws of society. He has been the guardian ever since the arcade was opened, and it is owing to the vigilance displayed by him and his subordinates that so little annoyance has been suffered by the tenants and the general public.

It is thoroughly understood by the lawless element and by professional criminals that they are not allowed below John street. Inspector Byrnes long ago issued an order to his down town detectives to arrest any known thief, burglar, confidence man or others of that class who intruded upon that section of the city. Broadway, Nassau, Wall and Broad streets are constantly patrolled by the sharpest and keenest officers in the inspector's command. Professional criminals, aware of the sharp lookout, as a usual thing give the financial center of the city a wide berth.

But in spite of the vigilance occasional visits are made by the more daring or by those who believe they are not personally known to the detectives. But they are so soon spotted and so closely watched that no serious case of deprecation has been known for a number of years. When these people do venture down town they invariably visit the Equitable building.

WATCHING "CHECK BEATERS." In the Cafe Savarin another special detective is employed to look after the undesirable customers in that favorite resort of down town business men. Theodore Wandell, who was for a long time one of Pinkerton's agents, looks out for this special corner in the busy city. He, too, keeps a bright lookout that no professional rogues enter the place and rub elbows with their honest neighbors. But with Dusenbury and his force keeping general guard over the whole building he is seldom called upon to exercise his authority over the more serious characters, and his duties are generally confined to looking after check beaters.

"Check beaters are our special annoyance here," said Mr. Wandell to a reporter. "You would be surprised to see how many men attempt to beat the bar and the lunch counter. Their method is a very simple one and nearly the same in all cases. An apparent gentleman comes in, steps up to the bar and calls for a drink and receives his check. He then goes to the lunch counter, orders a more or less elaborate lunch, which he eats leisurely, and receives another check. Then he visits the cigar counter, selects a cheap cigar and gets another check, and finally walks to the cashier's desk, throws down his cigar check and the change and walks out with the other two checks in his pocket. They may be successful for a few times, but eventually we discover their game and then we take our innings.

"We are very careful not to make a mistake in following up gentlemen of this ilk. We sometimes allow them to go through their operations several times in succession until we are absolutely certain that it is their intention to cheat the place. We quietly inform them that they are discovered, and tell them to make restitution for the checks they had not formerly paid for. Of course these men are never allowed in the place again."

A BIG CHANCE FOR THIEVES. There is one roving class of people that even the sharp eyed detectives are not always able to discover. Their ostensible business is honorable enough, and there are sometimes honest men among them. They are the "fakirs," peddlers and agents. There is an army of them in this city, and they circulate freely wherever men gather. Generally they are cheeky, plausible and voluble. An innocent looking parcel, such as any business man might carry, often contains their stock in trade. More often they carry their entire stock in their pockets. It is these people that invade offices and stores under the guise of legitimate business, but too often are nothing more or less than sneak thieves on the lookout for every opportunity to steal.

The reason for the strict police regulations as to the Wall street district are obvious to the casual visitor to that section. Every day men and boys may be seen going from office to office and from bank to bank with bags of coin on their shoulders or packages of bills in their hands. Messengers are scurrying hither and thither with stocks and bonds for delivery, sometimes in large amounts. Clerks and porters with boxes and satchels containing securities of great value are constantly coming and going to and from the different safe deposit vaults.

Express wagons with gold and bills are on the streets at all hours, and even trucks loaded with silver bricks are seen daily in front of the assay office or the bullion brokers'. There is no place in the world where so much portable wealth is handled with such apparent carelessness, and yet there is probably no place where a successful robbery could be less easily effected.—New York World.

The president of France, who is of course the best paid official of the republic, receives a salary of $120,000 a year, to which is added $60,000 for household expenses and $60,000 for traveling.

LOYALTY.

They live in the halls of the heroes— True knights, who in storm and battle Flung the scabbard of life away.

Following a single watchword, Dying and undismayed, For the red rose of the Lancaster Or the Stuart's white cockade.

Oh, clear as the blue far ringing From the tips of Roland's horn, That word and its passionate meaning On the breath of the past is borne!

What though the cause were worthless, Though the faith rang false when tried? With as godlike self surrender They fought on the erring side.

Borne down in the tide of battle They died, and are conquerors still, By Culloden or Roncesvalles, By Cressy or Malvern Hill!

Where the forces of life are meeting, Strong souls, like warriors, stand On the side of their Lord's Anointed, Still ready, sword in hand.

For the white ideal of honor, The crown of their manhood's pride, For the rose of a love unswollen, Into the fight they ride.

Strong in a faith unshaken, Loyal as those of old, They lift over storm and struggle Their orichalme's white fold.

They raise up hands of power, They strike where wrong defies, For a dream, a trust, a symbol, In a rapture of sacrifice.

Their shield still flings its shelter The weary and weak above— For the loyal arm gives justice, And the loyal heart gives love! —G. A. Davis in Frank Leslie's.

The Australian Tree Well.

In the vast rainless tracts of central Australia, where water in the shape of streams, ponds, wells, etc., is unknown, and where thousands of gold seekers, travelers, hunters and others have perished with thirst, the country is found to be tolerably populated by a hardy race known as "Bushmen." For the past century it has been a standing wonder how these human beings managed to exist in such an arid region. It now turns out that nature has made provisions for the welfare of living creatures even in that inhospitable section of the antipodes. Here the eucalyptus tree, which grows 200 to 300 feet high in more favorable localities, grows to but eight or ten feet, gnarled and thickly jointed, like a reed.

Herein lies the secret of the Bushman's existence. The joints of this dwarf eucalyptus are hollow and filled with pure water, the size of the joint regulating the amount of water to be found within. More than one unlucky being has laid down in the shade of one of these Australian well trees to die of thirst when one stroke with his knife or "machete" would have caused a life giving stream to burst forth.—St. Louis Republic.

Dr. Judson Tells a Story.

The Rev. Dr. Edward Judson tells of a Baptist who had been very sick. The physician had given him some medicine, and told him he could go out, but under no circumstances was he to get wet. The man went out on the farm, and a shower of rain came up suddenly. There was no shelter near, and to save himself he crawled into a hollow log. The action of the rain caused the log to shrink so as to endanger his life.

He could not move, and being brought face to face with death the whole of his past life came before him as in a panorama; he remembered the days of his childhood, his entrance upon life, his successes and his sins; then he remembered, last of all, that when he left home that morning he refused his wife, when she asked him, for fifty cents for the church, and the thought made him feel so small that he had no difficulty in walking out of the log.—New York Herald.

A plumber says that rats only gnaw a lead pipe when they are ravenous for water.

How Aerated Water is Produced.

In the neighborhood of the extinct Eifel volcano, near the Rhine, in Germany, are found springs of mineral waters which give off large volumes of natural carbonic acid gas. This natural gas becomes thoroughly purified in passing up through some two or three hundred feet of water, which of course means a considerable pressure upon the gas. This gas, being duly collected on the surface, is subjected by means of pumps to the pressure of five or six hundred pounds per square inch, condensing it into a clear transparent liquid, which is forthwith stored in steel or wrought iron cylinders of special construction and exceptional strength.

The manufacture of aerated waters is now readily carried on by means of these tubes, which are easily transported in a manner at once simple, rapid and inexpensive, no machinery whatever being required. The apparatus consists simply of a closed copper vessel of any required size, nearly filled with ordinary pure water and connected with a tube of compressed gas.

On turning a tap on the table the liberated gas rushes under high pressure into the copper vessel, becomes thoroughly incorporated with the water, and produces forthwith the aerated mineral water which is so largely consumed and so justly appreciated at the present day. The aerated water can now be drawn off for immediate consumption or bottled for future use. Mineral water thus produced is stated to be entirely free from any flavor of chemicals, sometimes discernible in that which has been prepared from artificial carbonic acid gas.—Chambers' Journal.

Once Too Often.

A recent German paper tells the story of an elderly man who had for a wife one of those trying persons who, according to their own ideas, are always in the right, and who make it a point of conscience to prove every one else in the wrong.

The poor man was never allowed to make any statement without having it instantly disputed by his accurate but irritating spouse. She had acquired such a habit of correcting and contradicting him that, according to the story, she one day made a mistake which gave her suffering husband a chance to laugh at her.

"Do you remember, my dear," he said in a retrospective mood, "the letter case embroidered with pearl beads that you made for me with your own hands, when we became engaged? It was worn out years ago, but I can still see it very plainly. On one side there was embroidered a beautiful butterfly, and—

"The butterfly was on the other side!" interrupted his wife, in her most dejected tone.

And she always complained that Mr. Underfeld "was fond of telling stories without any point," whenever he referred to this conversation afterward.

Weighing Machines.

Weighing machines and scales of some kind were in use 1800 B. C., for it is said that Abraham at that time "weighed out" 400 shekels of silver, current money, with the merchant to Ephron, the Hittite, as payment for a piece of land, including the cave and all the standing timber "in the field and in the fence." This is said to be the earliest transfer of land of which any record survives, and that the payment was made in the presence of witnesses.

The original form of the weighing scale was probably a bar suspended from the middle, with a board or shell suspended from each end, one to contain the weight, the other to contain the matter to be weighed. The steelyard was probably so called from the material of which it was made and from its former length. It is also known as the Roman balance, and is of great antiquity.—St. Louis Republic.

THE SONG OF THE "No. 9."

My dress is of fine polished oak, As rich as the finest fur cloak, And for handsome design You just should see mine— No. 9, No. 9.

I'm beloved by the poor and the rich, For both I impartially stitch; In the cabin I shine, In the mansion I'm fine— No. 9, No. 9.

I never get surely not tired, With zeal I always am fired; To hard work I incline, For rest I never pine— No. 9, No. 9.

I am easily purchased by all, With instalments that monthly do fall; And when I am thin, Then life is I am thin— No. 9, No. 9.

To the Paris Exposition I went, Upon getting the Grand Prize intent; I left all behind, The Grand Prize was mine— No. 9, No. 9.

At the Universal Exposition of 1889, at Paris, France, the best sewing machines of the world, including those of America, were in competition. They were passed upon by a jury composed of the best foreign mechanical experts, two of whom were the leading sewing machine manufacturers of France. This jury, after exhaustive examination and tests, adjudged that the Wheeler & Wilson machines were the best of all, and awarded that company the highest prize offered—the GRAND PRIZE—giving other companies only gold, silver and bronze medals.

The French government, as a further recognition of superiority, decorated Mr. Nathaniel Wheeler, president of the company, with the Cross of the Legion of Honor—the most prized honor of France.

The No. 9, for family use, and the No. 12, for manufacturing uses, are the best in the world to-day.

And now, when you want a sewing machine, if you do not get the best it will be your own fault. Ask your sewing machine dealer for the No. 9 Wheeler & Wilson machine. If he doesn't keep them, write to us for descriptive catalogue and terms. Agents wanted in all unoccupied territories. WHEELER & WILSON MFG. CO. Chicago, Ill.

The Tuesday ARGUS will be discontinued, and the price of the ARGUS reduced to one dollar a year: Two or three things have combined to bring about this discontinuance of the Tuesday edition. But the main one is the outrageous, unjust and preposterous rulings of the postoffice department under which the ARGUS was excluded from the mails because it had the enterprise to publish twice a week. The carrier boys have failed to deliver the papers properly and we have received many complaints of persons missed in distributing the papers. The extra expense incurred for carrying the papers sufficed to make the Tuesday paper an unprofitable one, especially as it has been furnished at the small sum of twenty-five cents extra. The change in the dress of the ARGUS, allows us to get very many more words in a column. And the weekly ARGUS will be made much brighter and better than ever. Our readers are advised to look for next Friday's issue.

We expect that the rulings of the postoffice department will in time be reversed. If this should be so, we would be glad to renew the Tuesday edition.

Those subscribers who have paid ahead at the rate of $1.25 a year, will be given credit for the extra amount they have paid by having their subscriptions extended.

Dr. N. P. Hollenbeck, Detroit, Dec. 14; 89 years. Old resident of county.

Lorenzo Davis, ten years secretary Washtenaw Pioneer Society,

Ann Arbor town, Dec. 21, in his 79th year. Born at Covington, N. Y., April 29, 1812. At the age of ten he left home and lived in the family of Mark Norris, a pioneer of Ypsilanti. He settled permanently in the territory of Michigan in 1831—being thus a resident for 59 years. Licensed to preach by the Ohio conference of the M. E. church in 1834, for nine years he followed this sacred calling. In 1845 came to Ann Arbor and engaged in the drug business. In 1850 was elected Register of Deeds, filling this office two years. He then engaged in the publishing business—first of the Ann Arbor Journal for five years, then, selling out, he purchased the Local News, changing its name to Michigan State News. This paper he also conducted for five years and then engaged in farming. He married, June 11, 1839, Miss M. Derby, of Vermont. Five children were born to them, three of whom survive him. He filled for many years the office of County Superintendent of the poor with honor and credit. But it is as secretary of this Society that he will be longest remembered. To his zealous untiring efforts not a little of the success of this Society may be attributed. But now all is over, and he who so many times lifted his voice to commemorate the virtues and hallow the memory of the noble pioneers of Washtenaw rests from his labors and has gone to meet the friends of the long ago in the morning land, where none grow old and die, but in eternal youth enjoy the bliss of life forevermore.

Peter Hendrick, Ypsilanti city, Dec. 28; 88 years, 5 months and 5 days. Came to Michigan in 1826, settling in Plymouth. Helped to raise the first barn and grist mill there. Moved to Ypsilanti in 1858. Resident of county 32 years, of state 64 years.

Robert Woolsey, Ypsilanti city, Dec. 30; 73 years. Resident 34 years.

Mrs. Ann Rawthorn, Ann Arbor city, Dec. 27; 84 years.

Josiah Newell, Portland, Oregon, Dec. 28; 75 years. Old resident of county.

John Shipman, Jan. 5, 1891, Ypsilanti town. Resident of Pittsfield and Ypsilanti-nearly 60 years.

Capt. Eli Lyon, South Bend, Ind., Dec. 9, 1890; 79 years. Resident of state 34 years.

Dr. John W. Babbitt, Ypsilanti city, Jan. 8; 88 years, 5 months and 21 days. Native of Vermont. Resident of Ypsilanti 42 years.

Mrs. Eliza Rice Clarke, Ypsilanti city, Jan. 10; 62 years. Life-long resident of county.

Mrs. A. Coyle, of Ypsilanti city, Jan. 10; 74 years. Resident 42 years.

Mrs. H. S. Frieze, widow of Prof. Frieze, Ann Arbor city, Jan. 12; 69. Resident of Ann Arbor, 34 years.

Chauncey H. Millen, Ann Arbor city, Jan. 17; 70 years. Resident of state most of the time since 1835 or 56 years.

Mrs. Hannah Pacey, Dexter, Jan.; 95 years.

S. H. Dimick, Ypsilanti city, Feb. 9; 69 years. Resident of state 57 years.

Isaac Wertman, Ypsilanti city; 64 years. Resident of state 49 years.

Prof. A. Winchell, Ann Arbor city, 67; Feb. 19. Resident 40 years.

Mrs. Lucy A. Hale, Ypsilanti city, March 2; 77 years. Resident 48 years.

Bernard Williams, Ypsilanti city, March 5; 85 years; old resident.

Mrs. Geo. Gould, Ypsilanti city, March 2; 67 years; old resident.

Sherman Hinckly, Pittsfield, March 9; 87 years. Resident 60 years.

Zeno Carpenter, Ypsilanti city, March 10; 83 years.

Selah B. Collins, Lyndon, April 18; 78 years. Pioneer settler of that town.

Esther Near, Ypsilanti city, April 9; 67 years. Resident 55 years.

Moses Lepronce, Ypsilanti city, May 15; 77 years. Resident 55 years.

H. G. Sheldon, Hastings, Nebraska, May. About 70 years; old resident.

Of the 53 names here reported, 3 were over 90 years of age; viz.: Mrs. Hannah Pacey, of Dexter, 95, the oldest; Mrs. Ann Eliza Gorton and Mrs. Bridget Tiernan each credited with 90 years; 21 were over 80 and under 90; 18 between 70 and 80; 10 between 60 and 70; 1, Capt. Randall, 49, being the youngest on the record. The most remarkable thing noted in this record is that contrary to the common rule, the number of deaths between 80 and 90 is greater than for any other decade. The last report for a full year showed 31 between the ages of 70 and 80, 23 between 80 and 90, while this year the figures for 9 months are 18 between 70 and 80, to 21 between 80 and 90. Is this a confirmation of the belief that the average duration of life is moving steadily upward? Last year's report showed 490 and upwards—a full year—to 3 this year, although the extreme age this year is one greater, viz.: 94 last to 95 this year. The average age of all here named is 72½ years nearly. All of which is respectfully submitted.

WM. H. LAY, Necrologist.

At the annual convention of the Episcopal diocese of Michigan in East Saginaw, Wednesday, the committee on the relation of the church to the University reported that $2,500 had been received for the work of Hobart Guild during the year and that $1,300 more was needed. The work seemed encouraging. Rev. Henry Tatlock was made chairman of the committee for next year.

Car No 1 of the street railway was struck by lightning, yesterday forenoon, while on South University avenue. There was no one on the car at the time but Motorman Johnson. The car was shaken up considerably, the lightning arrestor burned out and the car caught fire. The flames were very quickly extinguished by the motorman and a new lightning arrestor placed in position.

Rev. Dr. Wyllis Hall, formerly rector of St. Andrew's church in this city, has resigned the rectorship of the Marquette church. The Marquette Mining Journal says:

Rev. Dr. Wyllis Hall has tendered his resignation of the rectorship of St. Paul's, to take effect July 1st. His decision to leave Marquette will be learned with regret by a large number outside of his immediate congregation as his years in this city have placed him high in the esteem of all as a man and as a clergyman. One cause which has led to his decision has been the health of Mrs. Hall, who finds the long Lake Superior winters very trying.

City Clerk William J. Miller was married to Miss Minnie Tagge, Wednesday afternoon at five o'clock, at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. N. Tagge, on Fifth avenue south. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. J. M. Gelston. About sixty relatives and intimate friends were present, many being from out of the city. The wedding presents were handsome, numerous and costly. After the wedding supper, amid a shower of rice, Mr. and Mrs. Miller left for the Limited train for Detroit, where they were to take the boat for Cleveland. No couple ever began married life with more cordial wishes for happiness than Mr. and Mrs. Miller and none have been more deserving of them. The bride is an amiable and accomplished young lady. The groom, who is our popular city clerk, has spent all his life in this city. He is straightforward, honorable and capable. He has always made a most efficient city officer and has always taken the greatest interest in whatever work his hands found to do. Long life and much happiness to Mr. and Mrs. Miller.

The club system of selling sewing machines met with so much favor both to buyer and seller that I have decided to take names for one or two more clubs. CANADA SORROWS.

Sir John MacDonald Sleeps His Eternal Sleep.

THE VAIN STRUGGLE AT LAST ENDED

And the Dominion's Foremost Statesman Answers the Summons of the All-Conqueror—A Remarkable Vitality Succumbs as a Spark Dies Out with Rallies Almost to the Last Moment—The Tolling Bell Announces the Sad News to Ottawa—Lady MacDonald Prostrated.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 8.—Sir John MacDonald is dead. Canada is mourning its greatest statesman, and a great party in its grief for the loss of a beloved leader. Toward that sick chamber at Earncliffe public thought has been directed for the last ten days, and the sympathy of the nation has gone out in greater degree as the picture presented grew darker and more pathetic. From all parts of the Dominion and from the sovereign herself came tender messages of condolence and anxious inquiries as to the aged statesman's condition. To all of the inquiries but one answer could be given—the end might be delayed but was inevitable. The beginning of the end came early Friday morning.

The last feeble rally. The premier had slept the greater part of the night and throughout the day he slept at intervals. The Friday afternoon bulletin from the physicians at the bedside announced that the premier's strength was rapidly diminishing and then all hope fled. As the afternoon slowly waned profound stillness reigned at Earncliffe. The scene there after nightfall was impressive in its solemnity. Up to midnight anxious groups gathered upon the lawn and spoke in whispers of the dying patient's condition. At 9 o'clock Sir John's heart failed in its work and he sank so low that for some time he seemed to have ceased to live. He rallied feebly and fought his way back to the weakest hold on life a man could have. His stupendous vitality was making a grand struggle.

Watching the Vital Spark Die Out. At midnight the callers had all departed and the correspondents were left to watch the night out alone. The hours wore slowly on. The light of a new day brought with it nothing to relieve the anxious suspense. The was no change in the patient's condition. He was unconscious. His limbs were numb, and there was nothing to mark that life was not extinct but the feeble flutterings of the pulse and the almost imperceptible breathing. The family had been gathered about the bedside all night. Lady MacDonald, almost worn out by her long vigil, was there, and the premier's son, Hugh John MacDonald, had kept his place at his father's side.

Thirty Hours of Unconsciousness. There was no bulletin from the physicians Saturday morning. Nothing could be said beyond what had already been given out. It was a matter of time—perhaps moments, perhaps hours. The marvelous vitality which was staying the hand of death was slowly, but surely ebbing. The scenes of the morning and the afternoon were but counterparts of Friday. At 2 o'clock the physicians concurred in the opinion that the premier could not live until 9 o'clock, and again they err. The dying premier had been perfectly unconscious for nearly thirty hours, and still the spark of life lingered on. The action of the patient's heart at times during the evening was so feeble that Sir John was believed to be dead.

The Angel of Death at Hand. Once the family gathered at the bedside under the impression that the end had come, but it proved to be another of the dreaded sinking spells which in succession had left the aged statesman with less and less vitality. Such an unequal struggle could not much longer be sustained. Eventually the members of the family gathered about the bedside of the dying statesman waiting patiently for dissolution. Outside in the dusk were gathered the correspondents and small groups of anxious friends. The patient lay unconscious. Nature no longer asserted itself; life's fires were burning low, flickered and smoldered as though the soul would leave its tenement at each successive break. At 10 o'clock it was evident that the end was near at hand. The household was summoned to the death chamber. Lady MacDonald stood by the side of her husband, and around her gathered the members of the family. Her face showed traces of weary watching and the long suspense. She bore up bravely. Death came peacefully to the aged premier, at 10:15. He was unconscious to the last. The pulse fluttered, the breath came shorter and the pulse was still. When the announcement of Sir John's death was made the bells of the city were tolled to convey the intelligence to the thousands who were anxiously awaiting this signal that their beloved premier was no more. When the final blow had really fallen, Lady MacDonald, who had made so long and so brave a vigil at the side of her dying husband, was prostrated, nature asserted itself and she was taken from the room in a fainting condition.

Soldiers Struck by Lightning. BERLIN, June 10.—While the Emperor William was reviewing the grenadiers at exercise drill about 9 o'clock yesterday morning near the Tempelhof, a storm arose, accompanied by heavy thunder and lightning. Capt. Von Naest, and three soldiers were struck by lightning, and two of the soldiers were killed. The captain and the other soldier sustained very serious injuries. The lightning also struck and killed a horse.

THE INSURGENT ITATA.

The Saucy Vessel Surrendered to Admiral McCann at Iquique.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 5.—Secretary Tracy last night received the following dispatch from Admiral McCann, dated Iquique, Chili, June 4: "The Itata arrived at Iquique from Tocopella last night, and was placed at the disposition of Admiral McCann this morning. She had on board 5,000 rifles and ammunition taken from the Robert and Minnie off the port of San Diego, Cal. She had no more munitions of war than those belonging to the ship, and transferred nothing to the Esmeralda, with whom she communicated off Acapulco, Mex. She then went direct to Tocopella. The Charleston arrived at Iquique to-day."

Will Be Sent Back to San Diego.

As soon as the Itata takes on coal and prepares for the return trip, Admiral McCann will send her back to San Diego, probably under convoy of one of the cruisers. She will be delivered to the United States court officers at San Diego, and the proceedings against her for violation of the neutrality laws will be resumed at the point where they were interrupted by the unlawful departure of the steamer, and the responsible parties will likely be called upon to answer the charge of contempt of court for running away while under injunction.

Didn't Want to Affront Uncle Sam.

The Chilean insurgents, it seems, upon hearing of the escape of the Itata while under injunction, disapproved of this action and at once determined to surrender the vessel, and a proposition was made by the insurgents through Admiral McCann to surrender the vessel as soon as she reached a South American port. Tocopella is an insurgent port, and there was nothing to prevent the Itata unloading her war munitions into the hands of the insurgents while she was there, but the insurgent junta did not care to anger the United States.

OFF FOR THE FROZEN NORTH.

Lieut. Peary's Arctic Expedition Starts—His Wife in the Party.

NEW YORK, June 6.—The arrangements for the Greenland exploring expedition of the Academy of Natural Sciences were completed Thursday. The members of the party left Philadelphia for this city Thursday night preparatory for the start. The expedition consists of Lieut. Peary, of the navy, and his wife, with fourteen associates, consisting of scientists, a surgeon and a newspaper man—A. C. Kenedy. The idea of the expedition is that Greenland is a continent, and the object will be to traverse that continent to the pole.

Gave Them a Good Send Off.

The vessel which carries the bold adventurers is the steamer Kite, 280 tons. The party arrived here yesterday and to-day the vessel steamed away on its perilous undertaking. There was a large crowd at the dock to wish the party bon voyage, the fact that a woman was going to brave the dangers of the frozen north adding largely to the interest in the event. The vessel was fitted and supplied with everything that experience dictated or suggested for the comfort and safety of the voyagers and success of the expedition.

Death of an Illinois Judge.

CHICAGO, June 10.—Judge Isaac G. Wilson, of the Geneva (Ills.) appellate court district, died at his home in Geneva Monday night of paralysis of the heart. He had been unwell for about four weeks, but on Saturday was out and around, and it is supposed that he left the house too soon, and therefore brought on the relapse. Judge Wilson was born Middlebury, N. Y., April 23, 1816, and had been on the bench—with the exception of the period between 1867 to 1876—continuously since 1851.

Taken away—sick headache, bilious headache, dizziness, constipation, indigestion, bilious attacks, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. It's a large contract, but the smallest things in the world do the business—Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They're the smallest, but the most effective. They go to work in the right way. They cleanse and renovate the system thoroughly—but they do it mildly and gently. You feel the good they do—but you don't feel them doing it. As a Liver Pill, they're unequalled. Sugar-coated, easy to take, and put up in vials, and hermetically sealed, and thus always fresh and reliable. A perfect vest-pocket remedy, in small vials, and only one necessary for a laxative or three for a cathartic.

They're the cheapest pill you can buy, because they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned.

You only pay for the good you get.

That's the peculiar plan all Dr. Pierce's medicines are sold on, through druggists.

Don't Waste your money on inferior Hose but get the BLACK LINE 300 lbs. PRESSURE TRADE "SPIRAL" MARK.

The "Spiral" Cotton Hose having no outside covering to hold the moisture, as Rubber hose does, dries like a towel. Of course there are imitations, there are 40/72 W.A.'s however, by which you can tell if the dealer is trying to sell an inferior hose. The Genuine "Spiral" has

- A Black line cover. Be sure it is BLACK, not dark blue, red or anything but black.
- The stencil "SPIRAL" patented March 30, 1850, on every length.
- THE CORRUGATED COUPLING and BANDS as cut.
- Each length is now put up with a PINK WRAPPER around the hose near the coupling.

A sample will be sent free if you mention this publication. Sold everywhere. BOSTON WOVEN HOSE CO., Manfrs. of Rubber Belting and Packing, 228 Devonshire St., Boston; 205 Lake St., Chicago; 8 Bush St., San Francisco.

ON WEDNESDAY

JUNE 10th,

We placed on sale the Wagner Stock to be sold without regard to original cost or Wagner's prices. It is conceded that Wagner & Co. were careful buyers, selecting only the best goods. Being Merchant Tailors they were competent judges both of material and manufacture. The Stock was purchased from the best houses in New York and Boston, and is largely of a staple character. When they decided to go out of the Ready Made Clothing Business, we stepped in and bought it upon our own terms—removed the stock to the Star Clothing House—re-arranged it on separate tables—cut prices about half—and now it all goes at unheard of figures.

NOTE - THE - CHANGES.
