Meeting of the Board of Regents—The Work of the Choral Union—Musical Treats for the Season.—For the Ladies' Library Association.
—News Gathered About the City.

Death of a Former Ann Arbor Lady. The many friends of Mrs. W. D. Washburn, nee Miss Ella Stevenson, of this city, will be pained to learn of her death, which occurred at her home in Chicago, Thursday, October 15, after a short illness, of pneumonia. The funeral was held at the family residence in Chicago on Monday.

Mrs. Washburn was the daughter of Mrs. J. J. Parshall, of this city, who was with her during her illness. Mrs. Washburn grew up and received her education in Ann Arbor, and won many friends by her many attractive and noble traits of character. In October, 1886, she was married in the Congregational church of this city to Mr. William D. Washburn, a graduate of the literary department in the class of '79, who with one child, a little boy three years old, survive her. They have the heartfelt sympathy of their Ann Arbor friends.

A Concert To-morrow Night.

The ladies of the Library Association are making a great effort to pay the debt on their building. The original mortgage which was $2,600 has gradually been reduced until at the last annual meeting in April it was $900. Mr. Henning then offered to give one hundred dollars on condition that the remainder was raised before the next annual meeting. Since then members of the board and other friends have subscribed on the same conditions such generous sums that only $523 remain to be raised.

Prof. Stanley has very kindly consented to give an organ recital for this object to-morrow evening, Oct. 24th, in the Congregational church, and it is hoped that the friends of the Ladies' Library will do what they can to make the concert a success. Once relieved from the burden of debt, the association will, it is confidently believed, be able to carry on its useful work in this community with greater success than ever before.

Prof. A. A. Stanley, organist, will be assisted by Mrs. Frank Bulkeley, soloist; Mr. Edward Bilbie, violinist; Prof. Kempf and others.

The State Druggists Assemble.

The ninth annual meeting of the State Pharmaceutical Association has been held in the chemical laboratory in this city this week, commencing Tuesday. The attendance was light, not a hundred members being present. On behalf of the city, Mayor Doty extended the association a welcome at their opening meeting. He said:

Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Pharmaceutical Association of Michigan.

A few days ago, it was my fortune to visit one of those palatial structures with which the large cities are familiar, and which are commonly, if not euphoniously, classed under the generic title of "drug stores."

I noted particularly the large and airy rooms, the long and glittering array of glass and metal, the lavish ornamentation and the cunning skill of the decorator's art, and instinctively my mind reverted to the ancient and "peaceful Pergamum" and that musty little shop near the amphitheatre, where the good old Galen is said to have "put away" his healing herbs, his potions and his lotions, and which the Grecians and the Romans called his "apotheca."

Verily, said I, behold the changes time hath wrought.

Seventeen hundred years of human history have evolved from that little upper room, that semi-storehouse, as it were, the magnificent apothecary stores of to-day; from that little "apotheca" has come the honorable title which the term "pharmacist" has so lately and so largely displaced, sturdy spirit of his free eclecticism has descended to characterize the apothecaries of to-day.

For surely, Mr. President, the broad and catholic spirit which so distinguishes and animates the men of your profession can owe its origin to no better and no nobler source than the sleepless vigils of Claudius Galenus and his tireless sifting of the chaotic mass of medicinal formulas and beliefs in patient search for the good and true.

Happy, indeed, has it been for our poor humanity that your great profession can have for its chief exemplar the scholar and the sage who owned no Hippocrates and no Praxagoras for his lord and master and wore the chain and collar of no sect or school in token of servility.

It is therefore with peculiar pleasure that I, as chief executive of a free American city, welcome this association to its hospitable homes.

You are very near to us, Mr. President, in more degrees than one. You are free, as all Americans are free, you are liberal, as all true Americans ought to be. You are enterprising, industrious and studious, and these are the qualities, especially the latter, which in Ann Arbor please the men and captivate the hearts of the ladies.

Oh, that gentler sex
"In her hours of ease Uncertain, coy and hard to please,"
How near you are to them!

They may vex your souls when they search your stocks for all the fancy gear, the nick-nacks, the notions and possibly the lotions, with which the average drugstore is so plentifully supplied, but how trustingly they and the lords of their households come to you when pain and sickness, disease and death

"With equal pace
knock at the cottage
and the palace gate."

The ponderous tomes where is stored the ripe fruitage of learning, which is your heritage from the ages are the wonder and the delight of this book-loving city, and the mighty pharmacopoeias the dispensatories and the cabalistic formulas with which you are constantly versed inspire our reverential awe.

From the Nicolaus Magnus and the Nicolaus Parvus of your infancy and the Valerius Cordus of your more recent years down to the superb and stately volumes which to-day are rushing from the presses of the world, what a mass of technical learning is yours to command.

The crucible and the alembic of the laboratory are your play-things and to distill, to triturate, to mix and to compound are the sports as it were of your idle hours.

How appropriate it is that this great University and this building, one of the largest and the finest of the chemical laboratories of the world, should be the place of your meeting. Many of you doubtless are now within the walls made sacred by memories of college days.

The President of the University, himself, doubtless, will soon address you and bid you welcome as only he can do, to these academic shades. It would be idle for me to attempt anything beyond.

Whomsoever the University approves Ann Arbor ratifies its decree. Whomsoever her President is pleased to commend has his calling and his election sure in the hearts of our citizens. And so, Mr. President and gentlemen of the association I simply bid you welcome to Ann Arbor.

We regret very much that the queenly beauty of her summer radiance has taken a little of the sadness of the advancing year.

We should have much preferred that your visit had been timed for warmer sunshine and for brighter skies, but even as she is, with the sombre tinge of autumn upon the royal drapery of her apparel, our beautiful city extends to you her courteous welcome to all the hospitality and all the friendly offices which are in her power to bestow. "Silver and gold," Mr. President, "have we none, but such as we have give we unto thee."

The president of the association attempted to respond, but could not find words to express himself. Later in the afternoon, President Angell delivered an address of welcome on behalf of the University.

The meetings have been occupied by reports, discussions and papers on topics of interest mainly to themselves. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: H. G. Coleman, Kalamazoo, president; Stanley E. Parkill, Owosso; L. Paule, St. Ignace; and A. S. Parker, Detroit, vice-presidents; Chas. Parson, Detroit, secretary; Wm Dupont, Detroit, treasurer. Grand Rapids was selected as the place for the next meeting. Wednesday evening, a brilliant reception was tendered by the local members and their ladies in the Chemical building. The session closed Thursday.

BAKING POWDER FACTS.

BROUGHT OUT BY THE OFFICIAL GOVERNMENT TESTS.

Purity of Food Demanded by the People—Which Baking Powder Will Give It?

From Chicago Tribune.

The public is always responsive to suggestions about the food it eats. Great interest has been taken in the investigations made by the United States and Canadian governments and by the different boards of health to show the purity or impurity of milk, baking powders, spices, and other articles of daily use in the culinary department of our households.

Just now the subject of baking powder is claiming public attention. We all desire pure and wholesome bread and this cannot be had with the use of impure or poisonous baking powder. There can be no longer any question that all the cheaper, lower grades of baking powders contain either alum, lime, or phosphoric acid.

The official analyses by the United States and Canadian governments have therefore been studied with interest and have pretty clearly established the facts upon this subject. The United States government report gives the names of eighteen well-known powders, some of them advertised as pure cream of tartar baking powders, that contain alum.

The report shows that the Royal baking powder was found the highest in leavening strength, evolving 160.6 cubic inches of gas per single ounce of powder. There were eight other brands of cream of tartar powders tested their average strength being reported to be 111.5 cubic inches of gas per ounce of powder.

The Canadian government investigations were of a still larger number of powders. The Royal baking powder was here also shown the purest and highest in strength, containing 129.32 cubic inches of leavening gas per ounce of powder. Nine other cream of tartar powders were tested, and their average strength was 89 cubic inches of gas per ounce of powder.

These figures are very instructive to the practical housekeeper. They indicate that the Royal baking powder goes more than 33 per cent further in use than the others, or is one-third more economical. Still more important than this, however, they proved this popular article has been brought to the highest degree of purity—for its superlative purity this superiority in strength is due—and consequently that by its use we may be insured the purest and most wholesome food.

The powders of lower strength are found to leave large amounts of inert matters in the food. This fact is emphasized by the report of the Ohio State Food Commissioner, who, while finding the Royal practically pure, found no other powder to contain less than 10 per cent of inert or foreign matters.

The public interest in this question has likewise caused to be made investigations by our local authorities. Prof. W. S. Haines, of Rush Medical College, consulting chemist of the Chicago Board of Health, has found results similar to those reported by the national and Canadian authorities. Dr. Haines says:

RUSH MEDICAL COLLEGE, CHICAGO, ILL.

I have recently obtained samples of the chief baking powders in the market, and have subjected them to careful chemical examination to determine their purity, wholesomeness and leavening power. As the result of my tests I find the Royal baking powder superior to all the others in every respect. It is entirely free from all adulterations and wholesome in purity, and in baking it gives off a greater volume of leavening gas than any other powder. It is, therefore, not only the purest, but also the strongest powder with which I am acquainted.

WALTER S. HAINES, M. D., Consulting Chemist, Chicago Board of Health.

The statistics show that there is used in the manufacture of the Royal baking powder more than half of all the cream of tartar consumed in the United States for all purposes. The wonderful sale thus indicated for the Royal baking powder—greater than that of all other baking powders combined—is perhaps even a higher evidence than that already quoted of the superiority of this article, and of its indispensableness to modern cookery.

TWO DECADES AGO

Since President Angell Took Charge of the State University.

THE CONTRAST BETWEEN THEN AND NOW.

The President Reviews the History of the University Since he has Been Here
—More than Doubled in Size—
Strengthened in its Curriculum—Interesting Report to the Board of Regents.

In 1871, President James B. Angell took hold of the reins of government of the University of Michigan, and that those then in power chose the right man for the place, none can doubt who have witnessed the growth and prosperity of the institution under Dr. Angell's able management. Reviewing the changes and contrasting the condition and standing of the University now with what it was in 1871, President Angell in his annual report to the Board of regents, Wednesday, says:

"It is now twenty years since I began my official connection with this institution. It has occurred to me that it might be instructive and encouraging to mark some of the changes which have occurred in the University in that period and to glance at the contrast between its condition in 1871 and its condition in 1891. I trust I may be acquitted in advance of any purpose by such a comparison to commend my own services. No one knows better than I how little they have had to do with assuming the growth which we are to observe. That growth is due in small degree to the wisdom and labors of any one man. It is due rather to the hearty and devoted co-operation of many, including regents, teachers, students, graduates and other faithful friends, and to the generous support accorded by the state of Michigan."

"One who should not have visited the University since 1871 would on coming into our campus, be struck at first with the increase in the number of our buildings. Those then here were the two wings of the present University Hall, originally erected for dormitories and recitation rooms; the law building; the chemical laboratory, one story high forming about one-fifth or one-sixth of the present edifice; the medical college, and four dwelling houses, of which one was used as a hospital, one was occupied by the President, and the other two were rented to professors. The astronomical laboratory and the dwelling attached to it had also been built on the site they now occupy, half a mile away from the campus."

"Since then the following buildings have been erected on the campus: The large central building of the University Hall, connecting the two wings; the scientific laboratory; the library, with the art gallery; the physical and hygienic laboratory; the engineering laboratory or workshops; the anatomical laboratory; the two hospital wards, and the two boiler houses. The chemical laboratory has been several times enlarged, and a wing was added to one of the houses, which, thus enlarged, has for years furnished a home for the dental college. In the observatory grounds, a small observatory for the instruction of students has been built, and on a site purchased for the purpose, two new hospitals have just been constructed. As has before been said, the law building and the building so long appropriated to the dental college are about to receive large additions. The President's house is also to be altered and enlarged."

"Not less marked is the increase in the teaching force and in the number of students. In 1871 there were in all the faculties 36 persons. In 1891 there were 92 resident professors, assistant professors, lecturers and instructors, 11 non-resident lecturers, and 27 assistants, making a total number of 130. The increase has been chiefly in the additions to the literary faculty. The faculty of the department of medicine and surgery has increased from 9 to 17. The law faculty has added only one to the number of its regular professors, but has called in several non-resident lecturers to give brief courses and employs quiz-masters for purposes of drill. The literary faculty, which consisted of 23 persons in 1871, now numbers 70. Only the three departments of arts, medicine and of law existed in 1871. Though instruction in pharmacy was given at that time, the school of pharmacy was not organized as a separate department with its own faculty until 1876. The homoeopathic medical college was organized in 1875."

"Twenty years ago the students numbered 1110; last year, 2,420. The following table shows the attendance by departments at both dates:

| | 1871 | 1891 |
|---|------|-------|
| Department of Literature, Science and the Arts..... | 488 | 1,170 |
| Department of Medicine and Surgery..... | 315 | 375 |
| Department of Law..... | 307 | 581 |
| School of Pharmacy..... | 91 | |
| Homoeopathic Medical College..... | 71 | |
| Dental College..... | 182 | |

Total..... 1,110 2,420

"The proportionate and absolute gain has been much larger in the literary department than in any other, as we are glad it should have been. The law department has, however, in spite of the establishment of numerous law schools in the west, nearly doubled its numbers."

"Women were not admitted to the University until 1870. Therefore we need not be surprised that there were but 24 here in 1871, of whom 14 were in the literary department, 18 in the medical and 2 in the law department. Last year there were 445 women in attendance."

"Twenty years ago the students were drawn from twenty-six states and territories, but none from foreign lands. Last year they represented 44 states and territories of our union, and 12 foreign states and provinces. Then we had from Illinois, Ohio and Indiana respectively 115, 122 and 67; last year 282, 205 and 113. It is interesting to observe that contrary to the impression cherished by many, the proportion of Michigan students is greater now than it was twenty years ago. In 1871 Michigan students formed only 46 per cent. of the whole number, while last year they formed 48 per cent."

"The law library has grown from 3,000 volumes to over 10,000; the general library from 17,000 to 60,000, containing the McMillan Shakespeare library of 3,000 volumes and other special collections."

"The collections in the scientific museum have quadrupled in extent. The whole exhibit which the Chinese government sent to the exposition at New Orleans was presented to us in 1885. The art gallery has been enriched by many gifts. Especially worthy of mention are the casts of all the works of the sculptor, Randolph Rogers, and the large collection of pictures bequeathed by the late Henry C. Lewis."

"But the changes in the range and the methods of instruction are even more striking and important than the increase in the buildings, in teachers, students and in the apparatus of the University. The two professional schools, that of medicine and that of law, had in 1871 two courses of six months each. Now they as well as all the other professional schools, have terms of nine months. And as has before been pointed out, the department of medicine and surgery is henceforth to require four years' study of medicine as the condition of graduation. Much more drill work is done than formerly in all the professional schools. In medicine the laboratory processes are resorted to in many of the branches. Laboratories are employed in the instruction in histology, physiology, electro-therapeutics, bacteriology, pathology, materia medica and toxicology. Instruction is no longer in methods mainly didactic and descriptive, but experimental and scientific."

"In the department of literature, science and the arts, the changes made in twenty years amount almost to a revolution. The requirements for admission have been materially increased. For admission to the course leading to the degree of A. B., there are asked beyond what was asked in 1871, three more books of the Aeneid, solid and spherical geometry, physics and botany. For entrance on the Ph. B. course the same additional requirements are made, and also two years' work either in French or German. For admission to the scientific courses the requirements have been increased by the addition of Latin, a modern language, physics, solid and spherical geometry, elementary work in botany and in two other sciences. A new course leading to the degree of Bachelor of Letters has been established. We may say that the requirements for admission to the courses leading to the degrees of Ph. B. and B. S. have been increased by at least a full year's work, and those for entrance upon the classical course by two-thirds of a year. The accomplishment of this result was possible only through the most hearty co-operation and lofty aims of the high schools."

"The scope and the variety of the instruction have been greatly enlarged. In 1871, there were 57 courses of instruction given. In the last calendar no less than 378 courses were announced. In every branch taught in 1871, there has been a very great expansion of the work. For instance whereas then one professor gave all the instruction in English and elocution, now one professor, three assistant professors and one instructor are employed; and whereas one professor and two instructors gave all the instruction in the modern languages, now two professors and five instructors are found necessary. A similar increase of the force and of the work has taken place in other branches. The following subjects which were not taught at all in 1871 now form a part of the curriculum: The science and art of teaching, international law, music, Sanskrit, Hebrew, Assyrian, Gothic, Danish, Norwegian, old French, hygienic and physiological chemistry, and electrical engineering. Others now treated with great fullness received only slight attention, for instance, political economy and mechanical engineering."

"There was then no laboratory but the chemical, whereas now we have physical, zoological, botanical, histological, morphological, physiological, hygienic and engineering laboratories open to collegiate students. The laboratory method of teaching science has very largely supplanted the method of teaching merely by text book or by lectures or by both combined."

"So also what is called the seminary method of instruction of advanced students, an adaptation to our wants of the German 'seminar,' has been introduced and is largely used by us. Its advantages in promoting habits of research and independent study are very great. I am not aware that it was so early introduced at any other American University as here."

"The elective system which was used only in a very limited degree in 1871, has been for several years much more widely applied, and, as we believe, to the great advantage of both students and teachers. Speaking broadly, we may say that except for students of engineering, about one-half the studies required for graduation are prescribed, and about one-half may be chosen. In some courses the ratio of prescribed to optional studies is a little less than one-half; in others a little more. This use of the elective system has conducted to the interest, heartiness and success of the work of students, and so to their manliness and industry, and to the good order of the University. It has also strengthened the interests and also strengthened the interests and friendly relations between students and professors."

"Closely connected with the adoption of the elective system was the fixing of a certain amount of work rather than the pursuit of studies here for a certain period in a passable manner, as the condition of graduation. That change was made years ago, and has proved to be beneficial. It has enabled strong students to complete their course in a shorter period than four years without being held back by those who needed or desired more time than they. They have then been permitted to take up at once graduate studies or enter upon professional studies, and thus to save time in their preparation for life."

"It is perhaps worthy of mention that in the middle of the year 1871-2 in substituting voluntary for compulsory attendance on the service of prayer in the chapel, we have seen no reason to doubt that the change was wise. The attendance if sometimes not as large as could be desired, is always of those who with reverent spirit make the service a genuine communion with God and a means of devout refreshing of the soul. Several institutions have imitated our example and made attendance upon prayer voluntary."

"Some changes in undergraduate students in twenty years are observable. They are younger by a full year or more on the average when they come here. The ability to enter the University at an earlier age, in spite of the increased requirements for admission, is due to two causes: First, the schools are better than they were; and secondly, the more prosperous condition of the parents makes it less generally necessary than it was for the youth to spend years in earning the means to gain a college education. This increased prosperity of the parents is manifest in a somewhat more generous style of life on the part of many students than prevailed 20 years ago. In some individual cases this brings its perils to young men, but happily the general style of student life still remains simple and inexpensive compared with that of some eastern institutions. If this should be otherwise it would be a subject of regret."

"I think all who knew the University twenty years ago and who know it now, will say that the morals and manners and spirit of good order are better now than they were then. There is less vice. There is a nicer sense of decorum. There is an entire absence of the spirit of petty mischief about the buildings and the grounds. No precautions are now necessary. The relations of students and faculties, between whom there used to be not a little unpleasant friction, are now almost ideally good. Not that our University community has reached sainthood or perfect wisdom or absolute self-control under all circumstances. It is made up of persons of an age at which the blood is hot, the sympathies are quick, the lungs are strong. Waves of excitement sometimes suddenly drown their reason for the moment, and their feelings find vent in demonstrations more expressive than wise. But they have a keen sense of justice and at heart a love for what is right. Under tactful leading they soon return to their normal state, regret their mistakes, and can be thoroughly trusted in their assurances for the future. The great mass of them have the spirit of earnest work. Nothing is more erroneous than the opinion sometimes expressed that the moral sentiments of great bodies of students are below those of society about them. On the contrary, from no single class of young men—the women are by common consent left out of this discussion—could hundreds be assembled and left so largely to themselves as students are, who would maintain so high a moral standard of life and action. Never was the moral and intellectual elevation of students in American colleges and universities higher than it is to-day. And in none of our large institutions, I believe, is it higher than it is among the great company gathered here."

"Among the more striking changes of the last twenty years is the increase in the number of graduate students of the literary department. In 1871 there were six. Last year there were ninety-five. The higher degrees have for years been given only on examination. This pursuit of advanced studies by so many is a large step towards the building up of genuine university work and is a most encouraging fact."

"One of the most important features in the development of the university during the period under consideration is the strengthening of its relations with preparatory schools. The plan of receiving students 'on diploma' or certificate from schools which have been visited and approved, was first put in execution in 1870, and students were first received in 1871. The number of schools from which students were then received were few. The number from which students could be received on diploma last year was 82. Several of these schools are outside of the state. If we consider either the effect on the schools or on the University it would probably be just to say that no act of the University has in the last twenty years been more serviceable than the careful development of the policy, by which it has brought itself into so close and fruitful relations with the preparatory schools in this state and with some in neighboring states."

"It may well be imagined that the important changes in the method of work in the literary department have not been made without prolonged and careful consideration and discussion by the literary faculty. I desire to bear witness to the intelligence, earnestness and devotion with which the faculty have always given themselves to the study of the intricate problems of university education, and to the conciliatory and harmonious spirit in which they have acted. While every proposition for innovations on old usages has been most thoroughly examined, and while in so large a body differences of opinion on many subjects must necessarily exist, it has been an unwritten law of that body which has seldom been disregarded that no important step should be taken until it had been approved with substantial unanimity. When it was thus decided to act, action was taken with courage and persistence. To this spirit in the literary faculty is the success of the literary department for the last twenty years largely due."

"In reviewing the history of the University one is impressed with the changes which have occurred in the faculties in the last two decades. Of the thirty-six names upon our roll of teachers in the calendar of 1870-1 only seven appear in our calendar of 1890-1. One, Professor Adams, is now president of Cornell University. Three, Professors Wood, Tyler and Merriman, are connected with the faculties of other institutions. Fifteen, nearly one-half of the whole number, have been removed by death, namely: Professors Frieze, Williams, Sager, Douglas, Pitcher, Palmer, Winchell, Campbell, Watson, Olney, Cocker, H. S. Cheever, Crosby, Morris and E. Jones. Rich indeed was the University that had such men to lose. Her greatness to-day is largely due to what they did for her. The memory of their character and services she will ever cherish as among her most precious possession."

"While we cannot but be gratified by the growth of the University during the last twenty years we also observe with great satisfaction that there has been a rapid development of the state universities generally throughout the west. Their progress and we may say in the case of almost every one, their assured success are proofs that the principle on which this institution was founded is sound, and make it reasonably certain that the great universities of the west and southwest are as a rule to be those established and supported by the state. They have all frequently and gratefully testified to the helpful influence of this university upon their life. They have in large degree followed our methods. In their success and in their great promise we can heartily rejoice. From their increasing strength we also draw strength. Every state from Ohio to California and from North Dakota to Texas now has its state university. Some of these institutions have encountered great difficulties and bitter opposition. But in almost every state of the west the state university is the best endowed, the best equipped, and the most numerously attended institution of higher education in the state. The objections raised to them at the outset have proved to be in the main groundless. The states are committed to their support by the large expenditures already made upon them and by the power of public sentiment which naturally looks with favor on universities that offer the best type of higher education in arts, in technology and in the professions, almost without money and without price to every young man and every young woman. While in the east the higher education will continue to be furnished by institutions resting on private endowments, in the west and the southwest, though similarly endowed colleges will furnish and do a useful work, the great universities will almost exclusively be those sustained by the states. We may without boasting, cherish the belief that the success of this University has contributed not a little to secure the beneficent result, that over three-fourths of our land the states are to furnish forever almost free of cost to the student, the best education with which to prepare him for every worthy pursuit. If it is not without grateful appreciation that Michigan sees what this University has done for her own sons and daughters, it is not without just pride that she may see what the University has done also for spreading the Michigan ideal of higher education over all the vast region stretching from her to the Pacific."

The Beauty Standard.

The standard of female loveliness varies greatly in different countries and with individual tastes. Some prefer the plump and buxom type, some admire the slender and sylph-like, and some the tall and queenly maiden. But among all people of the Caucasian race, one point of beauty is always admired—a pure, clear and spotless complexion—whether the female be of the blonde, brunette, or hazel-eyed type. This first great requisite of loveliness can be assured only by a pure state of the blood, active liver, good appetite and digestion, all of which are secured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is guaranteed to accomplish all that is claimed for it, or money refunded. If you would have a clear, lovely complexion, free from eruptions, moth patches, spots and blemishes, use the "Golden Medical Discovery."

When the editor of the Grass Lake News gets back from New York, he will feel like scalping his substitute who, in the item noting his absence from his accustomed desk, describes him as "an old gentleman, eighty-eight years of age." If Carlton cannot have his youth as an excuse for the exuberance of his spirits, he will be in a very bad way.

A Normal student whose name we will not mention, was taken out by several of his companions the other night on a snipe hunting expedition. When some considerable distance in the country the victim was stationed in the brush with a snipe bag and a lantern. The light of this latter he was told would lure the birds right into the bag. After seeing the student located in the brush his companions left in various directions, to scare up the game and of course wended their way homeward. At six o'clock the next morning the faithful hero of this o'er-true tale returned home, the light still trimmed and burning, but with an empty game bag. It was not until he saw the smiling faces of those who awaited him that he realized that he had been sold.

Mrs. Florence Johnson Stair, whose sudden death we announced last week, cast a shadow of gloom over her many friends in this vicinity. She was the daughter of George and E. A. L. Johnson, of Lodi township. Florence Johnson was born at the home of her parents May 24, 1867. The early part of her life she spent at home. Her education she obtained mostly from the Saline union school where she with four others formed the graduating class of 1884. The others of her class survive her. November 20, 1884, she was married to Orrin Stair. The wedding, which was a large one, was a happy one as well, and the joyful couple launched out in life with only the brightest prospects ahead of them. Little did they think that their matrimonial tie was to be broken in a little over six years, and little, too, do we know what awaits us. About three years of their wedded life were spent in Howell, after which they moved to Lansing, where they remained till her death, which occurred at Grass Lake, Oct. 7, 1891. The funeral was held at Grass Lake and her remains brought to Lodi cemetery and interred beside her mother, last Sunday morning.

The sleeping girl, May White of Meadville, Ingham county, up to last Wednesday, has slept one hundred and eighteen days, except for a few minutes when aroused to partake of food or medicine. When awakened, which is quite difficult to bring about, after partaking of a small quantity of food she immediately falls into slumber again. Her sleep is not refreshing, but appears to take away her strength. Since she has been sleeping her weight has been reduced from 148 to 80 pounds. She is very weak and can hardly move, and the suffering girl is very nervous. Her eyes lack lustre and there is a feeling of weariness exhibited. Miss White is a bright girl about 23 years of age, and until this strange malady afflicted her, was an active student. Of late she has not been able to retain the medicine administered, but for the past few days has been more easily roused, and when awakened engages in conversation; at times she suffers severe pain. The case has so far baffled medical treatment. Miss White has been under the care of Dr. Brown, of Stockbridge, since her affliction and the doctor has had her removed to his home in order to study the case. He feels hopeful of restoring her to health. The case has attracted much attention and there are numerous callers at the doctor's house to see the girl. They are denied admission. At the beginning of her sickness Miss White was suffering from Bright's disease. It is thought that the malady from which she now suffers was occasioned by a fall while attending school at Ypsilanti. Miss White was an industrious student who was fitting herself for a bookkeeper when taken sick; at that time she was caring for her father's family and working hard. The case is wonderful and excites interest all over the country.—Jackson Citizen.

The Invisible Army

Of microbes (micro-organisms) is a mighty host, which indeed no man can number. Invisible to the naked eye, the poisonous part of this army is the cause of four-fifths of all the diseases of the human family—they destroy more lives than war, famine, fire, murder and shipwreck combined, and they actually abbreviate the average term of human life by three-fourths. The way to relieve the human body of these microbes is to take Swift's Specific. When this medicine gets well into the system the poisonous germ must leave—he cannot exist there, hence he seeks an exit through the pores of the skin. After he departs a continued use of the Specific will force out the poison, and the patient is well.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1891.

In the Swiss canton of Zurich, voting is made compulsory. Every legal voter who does not cast his ballot is fined. Such a regulation prevents party men from being bribed to stay away from the polls.

President Seth Low, in an article in a recent Century, on the Government of Cities in the United States, advises that the authority of the city to borrow money be restricted and that the limitation take the form of percentage on the assessed valuation. In this respect Ann Arbor must be an ideal city. The limitation on the power of the city to borrow money is absolute. The only way in which the city can be run into debt is by an appeal to the legislature. This feature of Ann Arbor's charter has for many years kept our taxation low.

According to Henry Cabot Lodge, one of the high priests of republicanism says in a recent magazine article that there have been in this country 12,243 men who "by their ability have raised themselves even slightly above the general level." In making up this number he gives Michigan only 44 men who have ever risen "even slightly" above the mediocre and puts Massachusetts down for 2,686. Lodge has been trained in the Republican school of misstatements and the effect of his training is shown in the above estimate.

Death of Rev. Benjamin Day.

Rev. Benjamin Day died at his residence on Washtenaw avenue, Saturday evening, from an attack of bronchitis with which he had been suffering for about a week.

Probably no more generally beloved man, energetic Christian or more patriotic and peace-loving citizen ever resided in Ann Arbor. He was born in Essex county, New York, in 1807, his father being Rev. Stephen Day. He grew to manhood in his native state. His early training was in anticipation of a ministerial career, and he received an excellent classical education. In 1834 he was ordained to the ministry, belonging to the Methodist denomination. His first charge was at Bloomfield, N. J., and afterwards at Jersey City, N. J. and Milford, Pa., and several other places. About twenty-five years ago he was obliged by ill-health to give up active work in the ministry, much to his regret. About 1870 he moved to Ann Arbor and soon after purchased the property on Washtenaw avenue, where he died. Since coming here he has been an active worker in the Methodist church in this city, and very often in the absence of the regular pastor, he has filled the pulpit. Mr. Day was not a member of the Detroit conference, but held his membership in the Eastern conference of New Jersey.

While living in New Jersey, he was united in marriage to Mary A. Taylor, who during their long wedded life proved a willing helpmate, and still survives to mourn his loss.

The funeral was held at the Methodist church, Wednesday afternoon, and was largely attended.

The Choral Union.

The Choral Union held a very enthusiastic rehearsal last Tuesday evening, and the Chorus is in point of quality of tone even superior to last year. Negotiations are now in progress looking to the engagement of Herr Andreas Dippel, one of the finest tenors in the world, for the part of Faust in the Damnation of Faust, by Berlioz, which will be given at the final concert. We wish to impress upon the people the importance of securing tickets at once, for the expenses of such a course as proposed by the Choral Union are simply enormous and can only be met by the sale of a large number of tickets. It must be generally conceded in view of the success of the last two years, that the Choral Union series is far and away the most important series in the state, and it to be hoped that the immediate sale will be of such proportions as to relieve the society from any embarrassment it may labor under with reference to the engagement of artists of national as well as international reputation. The three last concerts in the series would cost at the regular city prices for entertainments of such artistic importance double the price of an associate membership ticket for the whole series, and it must be borne in mind that this series as announced can only be given in case the required number of tickets are taken. These tickets costing but $2.00 can be obtained from canvassers in the University, at Calkins' drug store, State street, and at the Ann Arbor Organ Co's music store, Main street.

As many persons have made inquiries respecting the proposed concerts in the Choral Union series, we give an accurate list of attractions:

- I. Detroit Philharmonic Club. Miss Fannie Bloomfield-Zeisler, pianist; Mr. E. B. Spalding, baritone; November 13.
- II. Oulde Musin, the celebrated Belgian violinist, and a superb company, December 9.
- III. Mockridge Concert Company; Mrs. Mayo-Rhodes, soprano; Mr. Whitney Mockridge, tenor; Mr. Arthur Beresford, bass; and Miss Belle Botsford, violinist. January 30.
- IV. Choral Union, (240 voices) assisted by Miss Ginevra Johnston-Bishop, soprano, and a full orchestra. February 12.
- V. Boston Symphony Orchestra (70 performers), Arthur Nikisch, conductor. May —.
- VI. "Damnation of Faust," Hector Berlioz, Choral Union, Mrs. E. M. Hascall, soprano, Mr. Heinrich Meyn and other soloists to be announced later, and an orchestra of 60 performers. May 17.

The date of the Symphony concert cannot be announced until the details of the western trip have been settled. It will be the first week in May in all probability.

The Catholic Fair.

The fair now in progress at the rink, under the auspices of St. Thomas' parish, opened Tuesday evening. Nearly 400 persons attended the opening evening and each evening since the attendance has been good. The decorations in the rink are beautiful, the taste in colors and arrangement being excellent. Each evening a musical program by one of our local associations adds to the entertainment of the visitors. On Tuesday evening Bishop Foley was present and gave a short talk in a happy strain.

The variety of wares displayed for sale is great and includes nearly everything useful as well as ornamental. These goods are displayed in four unique booths, over which the young ladies of the parish preside. A lemonade booth stands in the center of the hall, and in the north end a refreshment booth from which none need go away hungry. The arrangement and decorating of the booths is excellent. The fair will continue another week yet, and is worthy of as good attendance and patronage as it has had this week.

REPORT OF POLICE COMMITTEE.

To the Common Council:

Your Committee on Police, to whom was referred the nomination of Jas. R. Murray as truant officer, respectfully report that they have had the matter under consideration and are of the opinion that the Marshal has now all of the duties which it is prudent to impose and that such nomination ought not to be confirmed.

The fall field-day sports will be contested on the fair grounds, Saturday, Oct. 31st. The usual races and sports are on the program, together with a rugby game with the team from Butler University.

A stranger walking along the campus and viewing the "foot-ball wrecks," students with black eyes, broken cheek-bones and sprained ankles and arms, would not doubt but that rugby is a pleasant diversion from study.

A stranger watching the slugging qualities of the Albion team and being told that they hailed from a Methodist college, remarked: "You don't mean to say those fellows are being educated for the ministry. I should judge they would make better prize-fighters."

Reuben Huntington, of Ontonagon, and Miss Amanda Wood, of this city, were united in marriage at the residence of W. W. Saunders, on Catherine street, Wednesday evening.

The supervisors re-arranged the representative districts, yesterday afternoon, changing Freedom and Superior the former from the second to the first district, and the latter from the first to the second district. There was no opposition, but one vote being recorded against the measure.

Percherons at Auction.

In another column of this issue will be found an advertisement offering about 80 of T. W. Palmer's Percheron horses at auction, Thursday, November 5th, 1891, at the Log Cabin Stock farm, near Detroit. To those of our readers who are interested in breeding horses would say that this is an excellent opportunity to purchase first-class stock on easy terms at low prices.

The Senator is desirous of reducing his stock of horses to such a number as the farm will sustain. Neither time, trouble or money has been spared in the selection and breeding of this stock, it is the best that could be purchased and bred, and purchasers, therefore, may rest assured that what they are offered will be first-class.

The above is a wonderful Farm Gate, patented by Wm. R. White, of Bloomington, Ill., who had lost his farm by mortgage. This is a new plan on the principle of the pendulum, and the levers are up whether opened or closed, having thirteen advantages over any gate in use. It is so convenient and durable that from $2,000 to $3,000 worth have been sold in some counties. This gate was shown at the fair grounds. It is patented in this country and Canada. It can be seen at the Franklin House, Ann Arbor. My sales for this week are nearly $200. Call and see patentee at Franklin House. The Secret of Fine Pastry.

Is wholly in using Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder. The only pure Cream Tarter Powder sold on the market. Other brands contain either ammonia, alum or some other adulterant. Ammonia or alum powders dry out, make the dough too porous, leaving a bitter taste, etc.

No agency has assisted so much toward perfection in cookery as Price's Cream Baking Powder. Its ingredients are simple and so blended as to exist in exact chemical proportions, so after use there is never any excess of either left in the food. Hence there can be no impurities whatever left in the finished food. No bitter taste, no taint of ammonia, but food raised with Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder partakes of the natural sweet flavor of the flour and keeps moist and fresh for days. This powder possesses qualities peculiar to it alone. No other makes such delicious pastry. No other contains the white of eggs.

McMillan Hall.

At the synod of the Michigan Presbyterians, Dr. Radcliffe, of Detroit, made the report on the Tappan Presbyterian Association. The following are extracts:

"McMillan Hall, which was in process of erection at the time of our last report, has been completed by the generous donor at a cost of about $20,000. We hope to complete the furnishing of the rooms and arrangement of the library in a few weeks, when we will be ready for larger better work. The reading room in Sackett Hall was furnished with religious newspapers and magazines, and is kept open upon Saturdays and Sabbaths through the gratuitous service of the Young Peoples' Association in the Presbyterian church of Ann Arbor. Our work for the coming year will include: First, the general use of McMillan Hall—we expect to open it day and evening during the term time and invite its use. There will be social evenings occasionally, under the auspices of the Young People's association of the Presbyterian church of Ann Arbor. The library, consisting of several thousand volumes, will be available not only to the students but to any of our ministers for consultation. The gymnasium will not be completed until later. Second, the training course—This will be continued as usual during the second semester upon the general line already announced, viz., the English Bible, church history and applied Christianity. Third, the securing of endowments—For assumed and effective work we should have for the Presbyterian electorship, $15,000; training course, $5,000; general expenses, $10,000. We hope within the year to have the work upon a substantial financial basis, so we can attempt with courage and success the increasing work at the University. There are this year over 2,600 students in attendance, of whom fully 500 are of Presbyterian affiliation and training."—M. of M. Daily.

The New Medical Professor.

The history of the chair of Theory and Practice in the medical department of the University, is of a somewhat checkered character. More than the ordinary number of changes have been made in connection with this chair during late years and as a result a feeling of uncertainty and unsettledness has prevailed among the medical students, regarding this special field of work. This feeling has without doubt been dissipated by the accession of Dr. Dock to this professorship. A young man with marked scientific attainments, a splendid record for original research and ability in medical lines, has taken up the reins and is bound to do work which shall be satisfactory and redound to the credit of the institution. The doctor was born in Hopewell, Bedford county, Penna. His early education was gained in the common schools of that place, and later in Harrisburg academy.

He entered the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania in 1881, and graduated with honors in '84. He now became an interne in St. Mary's hospital, Philadelphia, which appointment was gained by a competitive examination. After a year spent in this work, he went to Germany, and for two years was connected with the great Universities of Berlin, Leipzig, Frankfurt and Vienna. Five years were spent in a close and scientific study of pathology, internal medicine, and various special branches, bearing on medical diagnosis, such as the throat, skin, eye and ear.

On returning to this country in '87, he was appointed director of the clinical laboratory of the University of Pennsylvania, and physician to the medical dispensary of the University hospital. On the following year, he received a call to the chair of Pathology in the Texas medical college, located at Galveston. He was at the same time pathologist to the Loly hospital and St. Mary's infirmary, and physician to the former. While in Galveston, Professor Dock made most of the original investigations and discoveries which have since given him a reputation among the scientific men of the country, and a place in their midst.

While here, in the home of malaria, he carried out investigations with reference to this disease. Observations were also made on the etiology and pathology of dysentery and tropical abscess of the liver. Two cases of sporadic leprosy, hitherto unknown in Texas, were reported by him, and articles on various subjects have been contributed to medical journals.—U. of M. Daily.

Adrian Press Washtenawians.

Philander Perkins, of the Adrian Press, writes as follows: A pleasant stranger last week at Ann Arbor, discoursed so entertainingly with Tony Schiappacasse, in front of his store, that he was unaware of the presence in the store, of the stranger's confederate, who tapped Tony's till of $100, or nearly as many dollars as Schiappacasse had letters in his name. A pursuit was instituted and at Chelsea five men, being hotly chased, sprang on a dray and ran the horse to a swamp, where they jumped off and plunged in. One was caught and $20 in silver were found on his person.

At the Methodist church in Ann Arbor recently, the minister gave out the closing hymn, and all rose and waited for the organist to begin the disturbance. That functionary scored several times unsuccessfully, and got as red in the face as a prize beef at a fair, the minister coughed and the audience looked foolish. The organ stood with mute anguish depleted on its countenance, as though it would say, "Don't be hard on me; I guess I've got a stroke of paralysis." Then someone thought to go around behind the instrument and kick the boy that is hired to blow the bellows. He woke up with a snort, seized the lever, and the strains of the Doxology were soon jarring the walls of the edifice.

There have been thirty-two commitments for insanity from Washtenaw county, during the past year. Physicians do not assume to determine the cause of this frightful increase of lunacy, but from the disordered ravings of many of the patients, it is believed that most of them lost their mental balance, trying to reconcile Capt. Allen's promises concerning the price of wool, with the facts.

Mr. January is an attorney-at-law in Detroit; Mr. March, is a republican chaw-em-up quick editor, and postmaster at Hillsdale; Mr. April resides at Ann Arbor; Ex-Lieutenant Governor May is a resident of Kalamazoo; Mr. June lives near Clinton, and Mr. July carries on an existence in Deerfield.

A new Ann Arbor attorney tried his first case in the Washtenaw circuit last week, where a man was before the bar of justice for smashing into a baggage room and stealing a valise. The jury considered that he had been punished enough by his lawyer's defense and found him not guilty.

Charles B. Woodward, formerly of this city, now clerk of the Normandie, has just been given a full-blooded English greyhound, of which the Free Press says: "The animal is in as perfect state of attenuation as ever a greyhound was, its ribs stand out with the distinctness of stripes on a harber pole. The dog is an exceedingly supple, agile brute, however, and the graceful ease with which it leaped over an omnibus standing in front of the Normandie yesterday afternoon, somewhat alarmed Carr & Reeve, proprietors of that hotel, who were afraid it would be jumping its board bill in the course of a week or two. The dog is very appropriately called Cassius, because it's so 'lean and hungry' looking, and after it had slipped over its head and devoured, brass nails and all, a handsome and costly sole-leather collar, that Mr. Woodward had just clasped around its tapering neck, the brass cuspidors were removed from the hotel office, and 'Cassius' was tied fast to a stone pillar in the basement."

A Michigan Central Railroad Employee Wins His Case after Seven Years' Contest. While employed as agent of the Michigan Central railroad company at Augusta, Mich., my kidneys became diseased, and from an impoverished and impure state of the blood, my general health was entirely undermined. I consulted the leading physicians of this city and Ann Arbor, and all pronounced my case Bright's disease. In October last, I began taking Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup, and am to-day a well man. It affords me pleasure to render suffering humanity any good that I can, and I wish to say that I think it the greatest blood, kidney and liver medicine in the world.

A Society Fable.

A Horse, made restless in the night by reason of the sounds of revelry in his Master's Palatial Mansion at the other end of the lot, slipped his Halter, and in the absence of the Hostler, who was in the basement making love to the Chambermaid, he strolled leisurely out into the back yard and came to the House.

Peering into the windows, which were open for Ventilation, the Horse heard the conversation of numberless Nice Young Men present, and old ones also, and observed, too, the general style of them. The more he heard the less favorably he became impressed, and when One at a rear Window blew a cloud of Cigarette smoke into his face the limit was reached, and the Horse boldly walked up through the portico and was half way into the large and elegant hall of the Mansion, when his Master, hearing the unusual disturbance, came forth.

"Get out!" he exclaimed angrily, "what in Thunder are you doing here?"

"Going into Society," replied the Horse in a soft, pleasant voice.

"Well, you cannot come in here. This is no place for you."

"Why not?" inquired the Horse very respectfully.

"Because it isn't. You belong in the stable!"

"Rats," answered the Horse, forgetting his training and manners; Society relegates a Horse to the Stable when it welcomes so many Donkeys to the Parlor."

His Master was so greatly shocked by this heretical utterance that he caught up a heavy Whip from the Hat rack and lashed the Horse until he was really glad to get back into his Stall.

Truly Resigned.

There was once a certain old lady, whose son, late in life, married against her wishes. The wife was everything that could be desired, and yet the old lady had not intended her middle aged "boy" to marry at all, and loud were her complaints thereat. Finally the minister called to essay consolation and remind her that it was hardly best to make the neighbors the confidants of her woes.

"I am sure Huldah will prove a dutiful daughter to you," said he.

"She'll do as well as she can," grumbled the old lady, "but her best 'll be bad enough."

"Well, you know the deed is done now, and nothing you can say will prevent it."

"I know it. If he had only heard to me in the first place it never would have happened."

"But, my dear madam, this is not making the best of things."

"There ain't any best to some things," snapped she.

"If you could only be resigned?"

"Resigned? I'm always resigned when things go as I want them to."

The Choral Union.

That the Choral Union series is by far the finest and most ambitious series of concerts ever given by or under the auspices of any student organization is a matter of intense interest and justifiable pride to all loyal U. of M. students, as well as to the entire community. It may not be generally known, however, that this is the most important series given in the state. That such a series, involving the expenditure of several thousand dollars, is possible at such extremely low prices shows conclusively that there is a true appreciation of music in this busy community, and that almost any thing is possible if the students and citizens combine to secure it. There is an ever increasing pride in University enterprises, which the DAILY rejoices in, and which it hopes to develop still more fully. The work of the Choral Union itself has always been one of the most interesting features of these entertainments, and we are glad that ten Choral concerts are announced. The quality of tone in this year's chorus is even superior to that of last year's, and the enthusiasm shown last Tuesday evening at the first regular rehearsal proves that the new members have become imbued with the true spirit of loyalty to the Choral Union. The first concert at which the chorus appears is No. 4 in the series, and occurs Feb. 12. The chorus will be assisted by a full orchestra, Miss Ginevra Johnston Bishop (whose singing at the Commencement concert invoked much enthusiasm) and other soloists to be announced later. The final concert of the series will be a memorable one, for the work to be performed is one which has never been given outside of the very largest cities, and a work of such importance has never been attempted by any student organization. "The Damnation of Faust," by Berlioz, requires a superb chorus, the finest soloists and an exceptionally large and well balanced orchestra. The orchestration is simply gorgeous, while the whole work illustrates the most dramatic portions of Goethe's poem with a power for which we seek in vain in Gounod's Opera. This final concert will represent an expenditure nearly equal to the expenses of the entire series of the year before last. The Boston Symphony Orchestra, under Mr. Nikisch, will again rejoice the hearts of our music lovers. Did the Choral Union present nothing but these three concerts, it would still give more than an equivalent for the price of an associate membership ticket. But on Nov. 13 we find included in the series the Detroit Philharmonic Club, (one of the four leading quartets of the country) and Madame Fannie Bloomfield-Zeisler, the one pianist who could take Miss Ausder Ohe's place. She is a pianist of wonderful genius, and we can surely predict that her appearance will be an ovation. Dec. 9, Ouida Musin, the eminent Belgian violinist, assisted by Madame Musin, soprano, and several others, will appear in a fine program. Jan. 30, a concert which will be almost entirely one of songs will be given by Miss Nayo Rhodes, a soprano of exceptional ability; Mr. Arthur Beresford, base; and Mr. Whitney Mackridge, tenor, assisted by a charming young violinist, Miss Belle R. Buttsford. The sale of tickets must be large to warrant so expensive a series, but the Choral Union has always more than redeemed the pledges given the public, and it is hoped that the support given will enable it to give more than promise. These tickets may be obtained of canvassers, also at Calkins' drug store and the Ann Arbor Organ Co.'s music store. Season tickets, price, $2.00. No single admission tickets sold, except under the restrictions imposed by the by-laws of the society.—U. of M. Daily.

Sunday evening, a horse belonging to John Gordon, of Saline, was stolen from the barn of Cumstock Hill, of York. The horse was a large brown animal, with three white feet and a white star in forehead, about fifteen hands high, and weighing 1,100 pounds. The thief also took an open buggy and two blankets. Sheriff Dwyer wants the thief and will pay $50 reward for the arrest of the thief.

Class Elections.

The Senior laws met, 227 strong, in the law lecture room at 9 o'clock Saturday morning for the election of officers. They succeeded in electing only their president, and adjourned at 11:45 until 9 o'clock next Saturday. Alexander Charles MacKenzie, of Cleveland, Ohio, was elected president on the 5th ballot. The nominations were made as follows: Adams, of Iowa, by Young, of Ohio, and seconded by Budge, of Utah; Duffy, of Michigan, by Burnett, of New York, and seconded by Moore, of Illinois; MacKenzie, of Ohio, by Combs, of Ohio, and seconded by Welsheimer, of Indiana and Hall of West Virginia; Sheldon, of Michigan, by Carbaugh of Michigan, and seconded by Wentworth of New Hampshire and Martin of Idaho.

There were five ballots as follows:

| | (1) | (2) | (3) | (4) | (5) |
|----------------|-----|-----|-----|-----|-----|
| Adams..... | 43 | 51 | 55 | 46 | 33 |
| Duffy..... | 45 | 45 | 46 | 47 | 48 |
| MacKenzie..... | 58 | 59 | 63 | 92 | 134 |
| Sheldon..... | 79 | 72 | 61 | 32 | 3 |

There were a few misguided members of the class who wished to continue the election Saturday afternoon during the foot-ball game, and had it not been for the prompt appeal of Duffy, the class would probably have taken a recess for dinner and continued the election in the afternoon. The attempted action of these few members of the class was ill-considered, to say the least. The athletic interests of the University should be held paramount to any class election.

FRESHMAN DENTAL ELECTION

was held in the homeopathic amphitheatre Saturday morning, and the following officers were elected: President, C. Terry; vice-president, R. B. McKenzie; treasurer, M. Green; secretary, Miss Miller.

The sophomore medics met this morning in the upper lecture room of the medical building, at 10 o'clock, and elected class officers: President, S. C. Glidden; vice-president, Miss Sturgess; secretary, W. Wright; treasurer, Mr. Hooker, sergeants, Adams and Deary.

SENIOR MEDIC ELECTION.

Saturday morning the officers of the senior medics were elected in part. The offices of prophethess, poetess and historian were not filled, but a committee was appointed to canvass the class and report where the best ability for the offices lay, and whether class day shall be observed next spring or not. The following officers were elected: President, L. Southmayd; vice-president, Miss Anna Flynn; secretary, G. W. Moran; treasurer, G. S. Davenport; orator, J. D. Parker.—U. of M. Daily.

Michigan vs. Olivet.

The foot-ball team left Ann Arbor at 7:40 o'clock Monday morning, and arrived at Olivet at 1 o'clock. The game was commenced at 2:30 o'clock, half hour halves being played. H. G. Prettyman acted as referee, Mr. Harris, of Olivet, as umpire, and Ralph Stone as time-keeper. The final score was 18 to 6 in Michigan's favor, being 6 to 6 at the end of the first half. Olivet scored two points on a safety, and 4 on a touch-down. The safety was made when an Olivet player broke through the line and stopped Duffy's kick, Duffy dropping on the ball. The touch-down was made from the 25-yard line, while two men deliberately held Van Inwagen. Michigan's touch-downs were made by Grosh, two, and Van Inwagen, one.

The greatest gains for Michigan were made by end runs, Van Inwagen and Duffy making runs of 10 and 30 yards at a time. The Olivet rush line repeatedly rushed Michigan's line for gains of from one to eight yards. The team seems to be unable to stop a short rush. The tackling, also, was much too high, although at times some beautiful tackles were made. The ball was within Olivet's 25-yard line during most of the game, but when Michigan seemed sure of a touch-down, the ball would be stopped and secured by Olivet. This occurred repeatedly. The men were more familiar with the signs than on Saturday, but they did not line up quickly, nor play with the proper snap. In both the Albion and Olivet games, Michigan started out with something like the proper vigor and snap, but after about ten minutes the playing would lag, and the opponents, by means of short rushing, would force the ball back to the middle of the field.

Olivet played a much more scientific game than Albion, and if they had Albion's "beefy" line would be formidable antagonists for the U. of M. The contest between Albion and Olivet on Saturday, the 31st, will be a close one, and it is a toss up as to the winner.

The new men on Michigan's team yesterday, were Wicks and Powers. Wickes played at centre, and played a very plucky game. He never played centre before, and he was more than a match for Olivet's centre. Powers excelled at tackling, at which he did as well as anyone on the team, Sherman, Grosh and Dygert probably excepted. Michigan's first goal was made in four minutes. Van Inwagen made some long end runs during the latter part of the first half although he was not as well blocked as he ought to have been.

Powers stopped Olivet's goal by jumping and striking the ball with his hands. Van Inwagen and Duffy made runs of 30 yards apiece in the first part of the second half, but in both instances lost the ball to Olivet by fumbles. Grosh bucked the centre in fine style, making gains of 5 yards repeatedly.—U. of M. Daily.

CHEATING IN HORSE BLANKETS

Nearly every pattern of $\frac{5}{8}$ Horse Blanket is imitated in color and style. In most cases the imitation looks just as good as the genuine, but it hasn't the warp threads, and so lacks strength, and while it sells for only a little less than the genuine it isn't worth one-half as much. The fact that $\frac{5}{8}$ Horse Blankets are copied is strong evidence that they are THE STANDARD, and every buyer should see that the $\frac{5}{8}$ trade mark is sewed on the inside of the Blanket.

THE SONG OF THE "No. 9."

My dress is of fine polished oak,
As rich as the finest fur cloak,
And for handsome design—
You just should see mine—
No. 9, No. 9.

I'm beloved by the poor and the rich,
For both I impartially stitch;
In the cabin I shine,
In the mansion I'm fine—
No. 9, No. 9.

I never get surly nor tired,
With zeal I always am fired;
To hard work I incline,
For rest I ne'er pine—
No. 9, No. 9.

I am easily purchased by all,
With instalments that monthly do fall;
And when I am thine,
Then life is benign—
No. 9, No. 9.

To the Paris Exposition I went,
Upon getting the Grand Prize intent;
I left all behind,
The Grand Prize was mine—
No. 9, No. 9.

At the Universal Exposition of 1889, at Paris, France, the best sewing machines of the world, including those of America, were in competition. They were passed upon by a jury composed of the best foreign mechanical experts, two of whom were the leading sewing machine manufacturers of France. This jury, after exhaustive examination and tests, adjudged that the Wheeler & Wilson machines were the best of all, and awarded that company the highest prize offered—the GRAND PRIZE—giving other companies only gold, silver and bronze medals.

The French government, as a further recognition of superiority, decorated Mr. Nathaniel Wheeler, president of the company, with the Cross of the Legion of Honor—the most prized honor of France.

The No. 9, for family use, and the No. 12, for manufacturing uses, are the best in the world to-day.

And now, when you want a sewing machine, if you do not get the best it will be your own fault. Ask your sewing machine dealer for the No. 9 Wheeler & Wilson machine. If he doesn't keep them, write to us for descriptive catalogue and terms. Agents wanted in all unoccupied territory. WHEELER & WILSON MFG. CO. Chicago, Ill.

Patrolman Tice was visited by two old friends, for a few minutes, Tuesday evening, neither of whom he had seen since 1865. They were Lieut. B. F. Sweet and G. C. Morehouse, who were comrades with the patrolman in the 14th Michigan Light Artillery during the war. The peculiar feature of the case is that Tice recognized both of them on the street before they spoke to him, although 26 years had passed since they had met.

Two couples were boat riding on the river near the pulp mill, Saturday evening, when in fooling one of the young ladies lost her balance and fell overboard. She was rescued by her companions, very wet and very badly frightened. A telephone message for a hack was sent to W. G. Snow's, Marshal Murray accompany the rig. The party refused to divulge the name of the young lady who took the involuntary bath, she being left however, at No. 13 Monroe street.

Tuesday morning the residents in the neighborhood of the Sager block, on State street, were aroused by screams which led them to believe that a murder was being committed. A crowd collected and an investigation by Patrolman Tice showed that a Mrs. Bennett, who lives in the third story of the block, had fainted and in some way had shut her jaws together on her husband's finger, taking out a good sized piece from one of these. Not relishing this, he had uttered the screams which had attracted the crowd.

Royal Baking Powder
Has no Equal.

The Royal Baking Powder will make sweeter, lighter, finer-flavored and more wholesome bread, biscuit and cake than any other leavening agent. It is of higher strength, and therefore goes further in work and is more economical. All government and scientific tests go to show this. Royal Baking Powder as a leavening agent is absolutely without an equal.

RUSH MEDICAL COLLEGE, CHICAGO.

"As the result of my tests I find the Royal Baking Powder superior to all the others in every respect. It is entirely free from all adulteration and unwholesome impurity, and in baking it gives off a greater volume of leavening gas than any other powder. It is therefore not only the purest but also the strongest powder with which I am acquainted.

"WALTER S. HAINES, M. D.," Prof. of Chemistry.

CHICAGO COLLEGE OF PHARMACY.

"The Royal Baking Powder, which tests the highest in strength, is free from lime, alum, lime phosphates or other adulterations. Its superlative purity, the entire wholesomeness of its ingredients, the scientific manner in which they are combined, together with its much greater strength, make the Royal unquestionably superior to any other baking powder.

"H. D. GARRISON," Prof. of Chemistry.

Jacob Stark will continue to act as janitor of the court house for another year, having been re-elected to that position by the supervisors, yesterday.

Last week, a man named Gabe Weurthner arrived in the city and spent Sunday with the family of C. Schlenker, on S. Main street. On Monday, he devolved signs of insanity and attacked Mrs. Schlenker with a pitch-fork. He was disarmed, and Marshal Murray took him to jail. His home was at Dayton, Ohio. He disappeared from there Oct. 13th, no trace being had of him until the marshal telegraphed that he was here. An officer came after him and took him back, yesterday. Weurthner was a shoemaker by trade and about twenty years ago lived in this city.

Wednesday afternoon, Stephen Jacobs, who has lived a number of years on S. Fourth avenue, met with an accident which caused his death immediately. He was walking on the T. & A. A. track near S. Main street, when he was struck by the north-bound passenger train. One foot was cut off and he was dead by the time the train was stopped and assistance reached him. Mr. Jacob was 80 years old and slightly deaf, the probability being that he did not hear the approaching train until too late, although the engineer blew his whistle vigorously. Deceased was a member of Welch Post, G. A. R.

Sheriff Dwyer and his deputies discovered the plans of a jail delivery, one evening last week, and thwarted the plotters. Concealed in a closet they found a key and a dangerous dirk, the latter being made by grinding down a table knife and providing it with a shield. The key was a work of art, made from lead pipe, the tongue being fastened together with common pins. A wooden handle was fitted to it, the whole not being very handsome. But it answered the purpose, for by reaching through the bars the sheriff was able to unlock the cage door with it. This would let the prisoners out into the lobby, and the sheriff thinks the plan was to make an assault on the turnkey when he came in at night, taking his key and thus easily making their escape. The sheriff is not positive who the plotters were, but thinks that Gow and the tramp arrested for stealing from Schiappacasse's were the ones and is keeping them under surveillance.

The Germ Theory } Shows that allepidemic, endemic, and contagious diseases are produced by minute infecting germs or microbes, peculiar to each disease, which enter the system. It being a well settled fact that any remedy which would kill the germ or microbe would destroy the life of the patient, it has been found that to force out these germs is the only safe relief from their ravages.
In this way Swift's Specific has for 60 years been curing blood and skin diseases. It forces out the microbes through the pores of the skin, and soon sends out the poison which they may have left. In this way the disease is cured, and the general health of the patient is built up.

universal satisfaction. We do not hesi-

REGISTRATION OF WOMEN.

Chicago Fair Ones Who Are Desirous of Voting at Elections.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—The chief interest in the registration of voters which began yesterday centers in the action of the women, who claim that under the new law they should be allowed to register.
This is in spite of the fact that the election commissioners and the county judge have sent out printed instructions to judges and clerks not to register any women—except those naturalized prior to 1870. But the women get behind the opinion of their attorneys, who they say have as much right to express an opinion on the subject as the attorney of the board of election commissioners. So yesterday morning many women who want to exercise the privilege of casting a ballot for the candidates for school superintendent presented themselves before the election officers.

The State of the Case.

The trouble is with the wording of the law which was supposed to grant to women the privilege of voting for school officers. It has been construed by the law officers of the election board to require that a woman, to be allowed to vote, must have been naturalized prior to 1870. The women have been fighting this before the board for a week, but the board has stuck to its decision. And another thing the women "kick" about is the refusal of the election commissioners to construe the words "male citizens" in the law as including women.

Successes and Failures.

Notwithstanding these decisions the women made raids on a 1 the registration places yesterday and tried to have their names put on the voting lists. But only at Hyde Park were they successful unless they could show naturalization papers dated prior to 1870. At Hyde Park the judges compromised and entered the women's names on slips of paper instead of the books, but none of the judges would write the word "qualified" after the name, even there. Among those who went to be registered was Mrs. Judge Tuley. She was courteously received, was sworn and answered all the questions, whereupon her name was entered, but without the necessary word "qualified" after it. At many of the precincts, however, the judges peremptorily refused to enter women's names in any manner. Miss Ada C. Sweet was one of these and she has entered a protest. There were probably 10,000 women offered to register, 5,000 of whom got their names down.

A Burglar Captured.

This morning about two o'clock,
John Wood, the well-known plumber who resides on Main street, was awakened by hearing glass break. On getting out of bed he received a blow on the head. He immediately grappled with the burglar, and after a terrible struggle succeeded in holding him until his wife obtained help. On being searched at the station, Mr. Wood's watch and wallet was found on his person. He gave the name of Robert Terry. The broken glass proved to be a bottle of Sulphur Bitters which had almost cured Mrs. Wood of rheumatism.—Exchange.

Stone—"I say, Upson, it is downright mean of you to deceive me this way.
You said you only needed my $10 to keep solid with your tailor, and here you are setting up champagne for a friend."

Upson—Why, bless your soul, this is my tailor! Those two small bottles got me a thirty days' extension.

"Sulphur Bitters saved my life. For ten years I suffered from Catarrh and Liver Complaint; I lost forty-five pounds and was growing worse rapidly. I had lost all faith in medicine, but hearing your Bitters so well recommended, I gave them a trial.
Six bottles cured me.—Smith P. Hunt,

Why the Lake Level is Low.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 19.—In explanation of the low water in Lake Erie, which is proving a dangerous impediment to navigation, Major Overman, United States engineer, states that it need cause no alarm, as it is the result of light precipitation in the great northwest. Lake Superior drains all that territory, and is the main feeder of the inland lake system.
The level of Lake Superior is lower, and as a natural result the levels of other lakes fall also. Plenty of snow and a wet spring will restore the level at once. Lake Erie is now nine-tenths of a foot below its normal level. All the great lakes are low, but it has happened before.

The Status of Gen. Logan.

dette and General Casey—met at the war department yesterday and appointed General Alger and Captain Lemon a committee to visit the studio of St. Gaudens in New York and make, if they thought proper, a selection from several models of General Logan there. Mrs. Logan will Shocking Death of a Young Wife.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 21.—About 4 o'clock Monday afternoon Mrs. Thomas Dine started a fire in a wood stove preparatory to cooking supper. A spark fell on a broom the woman had in one hand, and afterward fell on her dress. The dress caught fire and Mrs. Dine ran downstairs and into an adjacent store, her clothing all ablaze. The flames were promptly extinguished, but not before she had been fatally burned. Mrs. Dine was but 17 years old.

Rough Experience at Sea of the Steamer La Champagne.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—At 8:30 a. m. Saturday last Second Lieutenant Buche and two seamen were standing on the bridge of La Champagne as she was nearing this port when a huge wave washed over the ship's deck, ripping and tearing the bridge as if it was so much paper. The officer and seamen were thrown to the deck, Lieutenant Buche being bruised, one seaman sustaining a broken rib and the other injuries about the spine. Only the brights which supported the bridge remained, the structure itself being strewn about the deck in kindling wood. The NATIONAL HYMN AS REARRANGED FOR THE WORLD'S FAIR. SANTA CLAUS SOAP

My Country: 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty,
Of thee I sing;
Land where our fathers
died;
Land where our Mothers
cried,
Over the wash-tub tied
Let freedom ring.

My native country thee—
Land of the noble, free—
Thy name I love;
I love thy tucks and frills
But oh! what laundry bills;
My soul with horror thrills;
When I think of thee,
Let music swell the breeze,
And blow through all the trees

Hail SANTA CLAUS:
Let tired mortals wake
And gladly try a cake,
Let all for cleanness sake,
Join the applause.

OUR POSSIBILITIES ARE GREAT---YOUR OP-PORTUNITIES ARE CORRESPONDING.

Nothing need prevent one-half of Washtenaw County being clothed at the

STAR CLOTHING HOUSE

Ann Arbor. We have the goods. We have peculiar facilities for making prices. Having purposely visited the Eastern Market after the rush was over, we purchased goods upon our own terms. We had wonderful success. Wholesalers were overloaded. We relieved them, saving to customers $2.00 to $5.00 on every garment.

ON SATURDAY, OCTOBER 24

We propose to open the Greatest Overcoat Sale ever known in the County or State.

AS A FLYER AT 9 a. m.

TWENTY OVERCOATS FOR MEN AND BOYS AT ONE DOLLAR EACH.

No More---Not a Moment Earlier.

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY (150) OVERCOATS AND ULSTERS

From the Wagner purchase—all desirable styles—we shall sell at one-quarter off from regular price. Everybody remembers our June cyclone.

LOOK OUT FOR THE OCTOBER AND NOVEMBER WHIRLWINDS

They are coming your way. We are offering splendid inducements in suits at $10.00, $12.00, and $15.00. Goods way out of sight of the ordinary suits sold elsewhere. But we are determined to give everyone the rarest bargains going. So,

As a Second Flyer We Have Selected One Hundred Suits (100).

GOOD VALUE AT MARKED PRICES, BUT IN THEY GO FOR $8.67.

$8.67—that figure may cover cost of cloth and trimming—making and profit not being counted. These are in part from the Wagner purchase, winter weights, goods laid aside after our June rush and just opened to create A CLOTHING SENSATION, but

OUR CHIEF PRIDE IS THE TAILOR MADE SUITS AND OVERCOATS

In all the popular shades and shapes. These surpass the best merchant tailoring in style and workmanship.

IN THE CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENT we will only mention one leader in each line—Children's Suits, $1.79; Boys' Suits, $2.50—both worth two or three times as much. A CASE OF UNDERWEAR, worth 50 cents per garment, closed out at less than one-third of the original cost, reduced during this sale to 29 cts. Nothing in the city can touch it in value. ANOTHER DRIVE is our $1.00 White Shirt, plain and pique bosom—selling rapidly—now on third lot—only 69 cents.

EVERY DEPARTMENT Crowded to Suffocation and Aching to be Unloaded.

Take advantage of fine weather and good roads. Come at once to the

STAR CLOTHING HOUSE, ANN ARBOR,

And gather the ripe fruit of choice goods and rare bargains.

A. L. NOBLE, - Leading Clothier and Hatter.

This Case will be given when your CASH Purchases amount to $20.00.
