MILAN IN FLAMES.

A Hotel, Six Stores and Two Barns Destroyed by Fire.

LOSS $12,000 WITH LIGHT INSURANCE.

The High Wind Threatens the Rest of the Village With Destruction-Aid Summoned-A Lucky Change in the Wind Averts Further Disaster,

Milan was visited by a disastrous. conflagration Tuesday morning, which destroyed a part of its business portion, and reminded its citizens of the foolhardiness of any village trying to get along without fire protection. Fortunately the fire was confined to the poorer class of store buildings and the result will in the end be beneficial to Milan, as they will be replaced with better buildings, but the loss falls heavily on the owners.

The fire broke out about 1:30 in Wolcott's harness shop, a frame buildng standing next to Blackmer's brick block. East of this were five other frame stores, all occupied with the exception of one, while still further east was Rice's Hotel and barn. The wind was blowing almost a gale, and these frame buildings offered no resistance to the flames, but rather helped it on its way. These buildings were all burned, together with numerous sheds, and a barn belonging to Supervisor Davenport. The cause of the fire is unknown.

At the first alarm, the bell of the Baptist church was rung until it wakened all the villagers and even brought in farmers living two miles away. The male portion turned in and worked like beavers, part carrying out goods and furniture, while the rest endeavored to arrest the sheds and pouring water on the flames. This latter was slow work, as the water had to be carried in pails. Nearly all the wells and cisterns gave out, and water had to be carried from the river. It looked for a time as though the whole part of the town would be destroyed and the Ann Arbor fire department was telegraphed to for assistance, but before the department here got the engine loaded on a car, the wind volunteer pail brigade had the fire under control, and a second dispatch was sent telling Chief Sipley that assistance was not needed.

Davenport's house, next to the hotel was badly dmaaged by an attempt on the part of some of the citizens to tear it down and arrest the flames in that | tianized in ten years. direction. The sills were cut and a rope passed through the house, a hundred hands trying then to tear it down, but it could not be moved. They then directed their attention towards saving it and were successful, The insurance on the buildings and stocks was very light, as the place was a veritable fire-trap and the insurance rates were high. One poor widow woman, Mrs. Moore, had a piece of good luck. She had a policy for $100 on her building, which expired at noon Tuesday, just ten hours

The eighteenth annual district meet ing of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society began Wednesday afternoon and the first day was taken up by addresses by Dr. Meta Howard, a return missionary from Corea, and the first medical woman missionary sent to Corea. Corea, she said, was as large as Michigan and had 13,000,000 inhabitants. It is situated between China and Japan, and is seventy-live miles distant from Japan. The people are nearly as white as Americans. They are a brave people and have had to defend their country against the Chinese and Japanese. 'The czar of Russia now has his eyes on the country as a point from which to attack course of the fire by tearing down China. The missionaries are favorably received by the government, which doesn't object to their teaching the children, but is unfriendly to Catholic missionaries. The children marry when ten years old. The bride, when she goes to the bridal altar, has her eyes closed with pitch and her face painted. After marriage, she lives with her mother-in-law as her servant. she has to make obeisance to her several times and to wake her up at one o'clock for that purpose. The women changed towards the river and the are never allowed to leave the house, and in high life if a woman is found out of doors she disgraces her family and they lose caste. The Coreans have no religion of their own. They Portions of the stocks of goods were have no alphabet and their language is all in monosyllables. ### ORANGE BLOSSOMS.

Marriage of A Denver Editor to An Estimable Ann Arbor Young Lady.

A STUDENT ELOPES WITH CHUM'S SISTER.

Taxes for This Year-Death's Summons Answered by Several of our Citizens.

The Hawley-Mack Wedding-

The wedding of Mr. Henry W. Hawley, of Denver, Col., and Miss Clara L. Mack, of this city, was quietly celebrated at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Christian Mack, on S. Fifth aevnue, Wednesday at But few guests aside from the immediate relatives of the party were for those who have not these tickets present. Rev. Max Hein, of Zion church, performed the ceremony, after which a sumptuous wedding dinner was served, the bridal couple leaving on the 2:19 train for the west

The bride wore a simple traveling costume and was attended br Miss Grace Hawley, of Kansas City, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid. Edwin F. Mack, of Detroit, a brother of the bride, acted as groomsman.

Among the relatives and friends present from out of the city were the following: The Misses Grace and Bessie Hawley, of Kansas City, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. N. Schmid, of Manchester; Miss Helen Smith, of Chicago; Ed. F Mack, of Detroit; Miss Clara Meiser, of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. W. J Abbott, of Chicago.

Probably two more popular young people in this city never united their fortunes. The bride has always been prominent in social, church and charitable affairs. The groom, a graduate of the literary department, was city editor of the Register in 1882-4 He went from here to Minneapolis, where he became interested in the Journal, and built that paper into a strong organ. Ill-health made it necessary for him to give up newspaper work for a time, but he has again taken hold and is at present a large stockholder and manager of the Denver Daily Times.

How a Law Student Won a Bride.

Dispatches from Bad Axe give the following account of a romantic epi sode, in which a law student was one of the prominent actors. That it is undoubtedly correct is shown by the record of marriage licenses in this county, which contains the names o the parties mentioned. The dispatch

"Bad Axe, Mich., Oct. 27 .- A ro mantic marriage took place at Bayport, this county, Saturday, between Ed. Reed, a student in the law department of the University of Michigan, and Miss Anna, daughter of Robert Wallace, of Port Austin.

Mr. Wallace is a very wealthy pio-neer quarryman, having operated quarries for many years at Grindstone He has four sons: Lee and John, who have a quarry at Grindstone City; Will, manager of the Bayport quarries, and Sam, a medical student at Ann Arbor and a chum of Mr. Reed's. The latter has long been an admirer of his chum's pretty sister, but was not acceptable to her parents. Her father had gone so far as to sternly forbid him to offer any attentions to his daughter.

Last week Miss Annie went to the Bayport quarry to visit her brother The Saturday morning train brought Sam and Reed from the university. On their arrival Mr. Reed was asked his business by Will. answered that he had an invitation to spend Sunday with Miss Wallace, Will promptly ordered him to leave by the first train.

Mr. Reed, however, stayed around till later in the day, when Sam and Annie drove over to the Bay Port summer resort for some fish, taking Reed with them. On arriving at Bayport, Sam went down on the pier to buy the fish, very considerately leav-ing the other two alone. Reed hunted up a clergyman, and having previously obtained a marriage license, was united to Miss Wallace, immediately leaving on the first train for parts unknown. Sam, with the fish, drove home alone, secretly rejoicing."

Deaths in Ann Arbor.

Roy, the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Gooch, of Pontiac street, died on Sunday, of diphtheria.

Mrs. Phoebe P. Woodruff, wife of Peter D. Woodruff, of Forest avenue, died on Monday of heart disease, aged 75 years. Mr. and Mrs. Woodruff are both pioneers of this city and county and were married in 1847. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at the residence, the Rev. J. M. Gelston officiating.

John R. Clancy, son of Mrs. James Clancy, of East Williams street, died Monday evening of lung trouble. The Emma, M., the wife of John J. West, of Chapin street, died Sunday, aged 45 years, of tumor on the brain. The funeral was held at the Second Baptist church, Tuesday.

Tuesday morning T. Dwight Townsend died at the residence of Christian Schumacher, on W. Liberty street. of heart disease. At an early hour he wrapped for Mrs. Schumacher, who found him sitting in a chair in great agony. She sent for a physician but Mr. Townsend died before he arrived. The deceased was known to nearly everybody) in the city. He was deaf and dumb, but was a great reader and always kept himself posted. He was 71 years of age and came to Ann Arbor about five years ago. Dr. T. C. Christie, of Pittsburg, Pa., who married a niece of the deceased, arrived here Wednesday and took his remains to Kinsmann, Ohio, for inter-

The City's Valuation Again Rrised.

The board of supervisors yesterday equalized the cities and townships in reference to state and county taxes. As usual the city of Ann Arbor was given a goodsized increase, $204,000. The first district of Ypsilanti was raised $60,000 and Sylvan was raised $15,000. Augusta, Lima, Pittsfield, and York remain the same as last year, while all the rest of the county was lowered in value. The committee on equalization was divided. The majority report was signed by Messrs. Young, Dansingburg and Burtless and the minority by Messrs. Kearns and Duffy. There was considerable difference in the reports. The following towns were raised in both reports: Majority. Minority.

Webster was lowered $5,000 in the majority report and increased $20,-000 in the minority report.

The minority report was defeated by a vote of 7 to 19 as follows:

Yeas-Duny, Baumgardner, Forsythe, Kearns, Miner, Oesterlin and Speechley. Nays-Bibbie, Bennett, Breining, Burtless, Ball, Case, Dansingburg, Depuy, Gilbert, Hughes, Howard, Hunter, Jedele, Osborn, Sweetland, Van Siekle, Walter, Weidmayer, Young.

The majority report was then adopted by a vote of 19 to 8. Under the new equalization the city pays within a very few dollars one-fifth of the state and county taxes. The state taxes this year are $39,610.03 in th ecounty, a decrease over last year, while the county taxes are $35,-000, an increase of $15,000 over last year, when the board raised less money than necessary to pay running ex-

More than one of our contemporaries have alluded facetiously to the "baking powder war." There is no war of the character indicated. A certain baking powder achieved fame because it was better than anything that had previously been prepared, and because it was advertised in a liberal, original and judicious manner. of this powder led to imitations as success always does, but to assert or to intimate that there is war between the Royal Bakng Powder and its more or less feeble imitators suggests the picture of a death grapple be-

The editor of the Dexter Leader must have enjoyed himself at a recent entertainment, judging from the ecstacies of the following: "The Autumn Fete, held according to announcement by the Epworth League, in the parlors of the M. Geo. Michael Stapish died at his residence in Lyndon, last Saturday night, of Bright's disease, at the age of sixty-eight, the second day of last February. He suffered much but bore it with Christian fortitude. He leaves a wife, three sons and two daughters to mourn his loss. He and his estimable wife settled in Lyndon at an early day and passed through all the privations of pioneer life to build up a comfortable home for themselves and family. Mr. Stapish was highly es-teemed by all who knew him. He leaves a vacant place in the family, in the church and community that cannot be filled. He lived an exemplary Christian life, worthy of the emulatino of the rising generation. He followed the golden rule remarkably close and passed away regretted by the entire community which sympathizes with the bereaevd family in their great loss. A very large funeral cortege followed the remains to their last resting place in Mt. Olivet cemetery, last Tuesday.

The right thing, in the right place, at the right time, experience has proevd it to be. Upon this it has won public confidence and esteem, for while St. Jacobs Oil, the great remedy for pain, thus makes its annual rounds and renews its pledges of prompt and permanent cure, its continual success is the guaranty that what it says is true and what it does is sure. Its best recommendation is its true reputation, upon which all may depend for cure and comfort.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1891.

Samuel J. Tilden was regarded as one of the ablest lawyers in New York, and yet his will, which bequeathed a large sum of money to New York City, has just been declared void by the New York court of appeals, the court of last resort. This only illustrates the uncertainty of the law.

The Detroit House of Correction made in the past nine months over and above expenses, $40,889.41. It was run by democrats. The late republican administration of the prisons showed that only did not the prisoners of the state earn their living, but the taxpayers of the state had to put up a large sum of money for their support.

Mr. Casgrain, the young Canadian who married a rich girl and is now the candidate of the Thompsonians for city attorney of Detroit, showed his mental calibre when he stated in public speech that the Evening Sun of Detroit was a better democratic paper than the Free Press. A man with no more mental capacity than that is unfit for city attorney.

The turf has a new queen. Sunol trotted a mile on the Stockton, California kite shaped track, last week, in, 2.08 1-4, just half a second under the best time of Maud S. The speed record is being often broken in these latter days. To make this record Sunol had to travel over 41 feet in every second. To make a record of 2:20, a horse goes 37 feet per second. If a horse can be found who will average 42 feet a second for a whole minute, his record will be 2:05 3-4, and that record will be struck yet.

That the road of a congressman who has postmasters to appoint is a hard one to travel is again exemplified in the case of exCongressman Belknap, of Grand Rapids, who is now running to fill a vacancy. He runs mainly on his soldier record. He promised the Ionia postoffice to T. G. Stephenson, a prominent G. A. R. editor who had done veoman service for him. But Alger, McMillan, Stockbridge and others had another man for the place and Belknap had the other man appointed. Stephenson has just bolted Belknap's nomination and denounces his treachery in bitter terms.

The one thing which strikes an outsider as peculiar in the democratic split in the Detroit city election, is that some otherwise able and |respectable democrats should follow the leadership of such a man as William G. Thompson in dividing the democratic party. Thompson is a former republican mayor. He was fighting in the republican ranks last fall. He is a man whose personal character is disgraceful, whose vile debauches should lead respectable men to hold aloof from him. The street railway's support of Thompson can be justified on the ground of self interest, but what can justify democratic support of him when a respectable candidate is on the democratic ticket.

New York Day by Day.

The Washington Post gives the following notices of the company which plays in the opera house next Monday evening.

"The National was again crowded, the occasion being the return of Miss Lottie Williams and her admirable company in 'New York Day by Day.' This, her second engagement, bids fair to outdo her former triumphs. Her company is the same and comprises some of the best artists in their respective lines in America. The scenery is new and attractive-the Footpads' Den, the Battery in 1868, the Harlem Bridge, the Burning Canal Boat in a Snow Storm, are very effective. Miss Williams as "Rags" captured and captivated her audience. The Irish policeman caused endless amusement. Too much cannot be said in praise of the management, Messrs. Melville and Thompson, for the excellent manner in hwich they have staged this play, and feel confident that they have found a gold mine in Miss Williams and 'New York Day by Day.'

The Two Sams have on exhibition in the window of their store, two remarkable curiosities. The first is a horned toad, noted for its ability to live for months without eating-a feat so many times, from necessity, tried by newspaper editors. This was brought from Nebraska by Mr. Blitz. The second curiosity is a trio of bright purple-hued fowls, designated as the wonderful "Chinese dream fowls." These have more the appearance of the dyers' art than of nature, and were imported here (from Syracuse,) for exhibition.

Lew H. Clement had an agreeable surprise, Tuesday evening. His wife riving there he found the entire Chequamegon orchestra to greet him. After Mr. Clement had recovered from his surprise, the orchestra played a number of pieces of "ye olden time",' and then enjoyed an excellent repast which Mrs. Clement had prepared.

The Midnight Alarm.

The standing room sign went out early last night at the Academy of Music. The potent attraction was "The Midnight Alarm," a play new to Buffalo theatre goers, but which has established itself for the future as a sterling attraction. The play is full of bright spots; dark villainy is relieved by flashes of delicious comedy. There was an appreciable lack of that inconsistency so often seen in modern melodrama. The author, Jas. W. Harkins, ir., has evidently studied his sub ject until he has it at-his finger-ends, or say, his pen-point. The centering episode is the end of the fourth act when the midnight alarm is struck. Here is presented one of the most effective scenes ever presented effective scenes ever presented in this city. Truck, engines, and all the various paraphernalia of the fire service, dash across the stage in full view of the spectators. This must be seen to be appreciated. was beautifully and becomingly set and some fine scenery presented. Miss Katie Pearson, who personates the Living Statue Clock, is the centre around which the manager of the play has gathered a company of ster-ling merit. The Midnight Alarm Straith, on the Fairview farm, promises to eclipse all previous records at this popular house before the end of the week.—Buffalo Courier.

Memorial to Rev. Benjamin Day.

At a meeting of the official board of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Ann Arbor, held Oct. 20th, sent for him to come home and on ar- 1891, the following memorial was ordered placed on the records as a testimonial of the love in which Brother Benjamin Day was held by his fellow members of the board, and the church in which he had so long been a faithful and efficient member. It was also ordered that copies be sent to the family of th edeceased, and furnished to the press for publication: of one dear to us all.

In the death of Rev. Benjamin Day we are made to mourn the loss of one who has long serevd the church or Ann Arbor and the cause o fChristianity with singular faithfulness, and it is meet that the records of our society attest our common sorrow at the death of our venerable brother and our sympathy with those who are stricken with this great affliction.

Benjamin Day was born in 1807

in Essex county, N. Y. He was a son of Rev. Stephen and Elizabeth (Wood) Day. He received a classical education in an eastern academy. In 1834 he was ordained a minister of the Methodist Episcopal church. His first enarge, in 1832, was at Bloom-field. N. J., Newark conference, where he had a large congregation. He filled many important pastoral charges in the east. Among them, Jersey City, N. J., and Milford, Pa. He was presiding elder for eight years and was very successful in his ministry, and had a familiar and influen-tial acquaintance with the higher authorities of the church and its min-

He retained his membership in New ark Conference to the time of his During the 37 years of his connection with the conference, up to the time of his permanent retirment in 1869, he was compelled by over work to temporarily leave the ministry, to recuperate his never very vigorous constitution.

April 6th, 1840, he married Miss Mary Taylor, daughter of Moses Taylor, of New Jersey

Owing to ill health he was obliged to permanently resign active duty in the year 1869, and with his wife removed to Ann Arbor, where they have since lived. Theirs was an ideal happy home, the abode of Chrisian hospitality, and from which radiated an ever widening Christian in

It is but a short time since their many friends assisted in celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of their wed-

He filled manyimportant positions of trust in the church chiefly in conference relations.

He had suffered for many years from a chronic bronchial affection, which culminated—after an exposure he died October 17th. His funeral h edied October 17th. His funeral services were held in the church, October 21st.

His last attendance at the church was to deliver an address of welcome in behalf of the church to our present pastor.

Brother Day exemplified in a marked degree, the beauties of a character, developed from a cheerful, sanguine temperament, with a disposition of rare natural sweetness, refined by devout Christian faith, and cultivated by the habitual practice of the graces of unaffected piety. In him the elements were gently and kindly mixed. He was interested and well informed in public affairs, and all that concerned the welfare of mankind. He was broad, catholic, charitable and consistent. He had the courage of his convictions, and was unswerving in his adherence to principles of right, but liberal and conciliating in non-essential forms.

His character was unique in goodness, and so rare as to deserve special recognition. It is no disparagment to ordinary men, to say that the barest unadorned truth as to the life and character of Benjamin Day, would be enlogy applied to the average of mankind. It is given to but few mortals as it was to him, to so unconsciously impress people as to receive the spontaneous respect all who met him; a feeling which grew with acquaintance, into admiration, and ripened into veneration as years went on.

It was a privilege to know him, In conversation he loved to dwell upon the interests of the church, and his mind and heart seemed filled with the great moral and spiritual questions and interests that encompass our humanity.

In his last illness he maintained the same unvarying Christian serenity of spirit that characterized his life when taking a more active part in the affairs of men. His influence for good was of the sweet, persuasive kind, that prompts to nobler life by unconscious example, rather than by precept alone.

And the memory of his somewhat frail body, with a face which seemed illuminated with a halo of Christian faith, and beamed with tender and kindly interest in humanity, lingers as a pleasant picture of our friend and brother.

The example of such a character cannot but be an inspiration and a guide to all who feel the impulse towards a better life.

To his bereaved widow, the willing and able helpmate in his long and useful life, and sharer in his joys; and to the family and friends mourning a common loss, we offer this testimonial of respectful sympathy, and our affectionate love for the memory

Poison in the Kitchen.

No article entering so generally into the food of every household is so generally and villainously adultered as baking powder. These adulterated powders are shoved upon the public with the greatest persistency.

Throbbing advertisements in newspapers claiming this brand or that is absolutely pure, backed by analyses and certificates, and yet they are adulterated with ammonia or alum. It is to be hoped the law will take hold of these merciless manufacturers and punish them for destroying the stomachs of the unsuspecting consumer.

Amid all this fraud and deceit Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder stands almost alone battling for pure food and continues to furnish a pure cream of tartar powder at almost the same cost to the people as the ammoina and alum powders are sold at, yet it costs much more to manufacture.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is of the highest strength. It produces the largest amount of leavening power attainable in a pure baking powder. It is free from ammonia or any other adulteration. No powder does such work. Housewives who have tested all use Dr. Prices only.

Sayings of the Press of Michigan:

The Two Sams clothing house is the finest and most complete single store

Savings of Commercial Men on the Road:

"At the Two Sams, Ann Arbor, I can find more Fine Clothing, Furnishings and Hats, at a less price, than in any other city in the State, and it is the most complete establishment of its kind in the County."

Visitors from Detroit and other Cities:

"We cannot find the same class of goods in our stores. The Two Sams have no equal in producing fine styles at a less cost than other Houses either in Clothing or Furnishings."

The Doctors, Lawyers and Ministers Say:

"We are proud of having an establishment such as the Two Sams are conducting. Everything first class, at a less price than other concerns sell inferior goods."

The Farmers from Every part of the County Say :

"We would rather buy our clothing at the Two Sams than at any other clothing house in the city. They have better styles and a brighter store. They have but one price for all. We would not trade at any other if we could."

WHAT THEY SAY.

The Mechanic and Laboringman Say :

"The Two Sams is the only place at which we Mechanics ought to trade, They have the line of goods we need, overcoats, suits and pants, at right prices."

The old Students that have Graduated Say ;

"The Two Sams have the only store we were ever in where a person can purchase a first class article at a reasonable figure.'

Such are the expressions of thousands of people that daily crowd that store. It will certainly pay to call this week and see the immense bargains in overcoats, pants and hats, shown in the show window at

The term "University Extension" said President Angell, is used rather loosely, and he thought it not altogether a happy manner of expressing what it really means. It has been vancement of learning, even so far faculty. There are three or four upon," said the President, "we men. The English fellow, who has nothing else to do but study, with vast libraries at his command, and whose whole time is for the advancement of his own learning, can amply spare the time to impart his knowlcollege professor has duties which should not expect too much from the ministers.

no doubt that the great discussion which is going on might result in some wise organization. The Michigan University has not yet made any promises, he stated, because it is too important a question to be solved hastily. The subject is being investigated, and if additional assistance be assured to carry out the plan the university may lend its influence.

Prof. M. L. D'Ooge followed with a more detailed statement of the subject than Dr. Angell gave. The movement began in England, he said, in what was known as local examinations given for the purpose of stimulating the character of secondary schools. Out of this grew the practice of university professors visiting the lower schools for the purpose of increasing their advantages. Formerly the colleges of England were aristocratic institutions, affording opportunities but for the rich and noble. In 1850 a movement was made to popularize higher education in England, but had been preceded by a similar move in this country. This popular idea has developed in England until last year 400 courses of lectures were given under the auspices of English and Scotch universities. These courses were given by sixty-eight regular lecturers, and were patronized by 40,187 students. The aggregate cost per student per lecture was one shilling. This is what is known as university extension, and Prof. D'Ooge thought it has grown out of the American summer school system or the Chautauqua literary circle. As an example of how popular the movement is, Prof. D'Ooge said that last year in England diplomas were granted to a schoolmistress, a young lawer, a railroad switchman and a plumber in one class. University extension there, is made more popular by an offer being made to a student, to be chosen by his abilities, to an Oxford fellowship .- U. of M. Daily.

Ann Arbor, if the people look to their own interests. We have the goods. We have peculiar facilities for making prices. Having purposely visited the Eastern Market after the rush was over, we purchased goods upon our own terms. We had wonderful success. Wholesalers were overloaded. We relieved them, saving to customers $2.00 to $5.00 on every garment.

OUR SATURDAY SALE WAS A HUMMER.

IT WAS A GRAND SUCCESS. MORE CLOTHING WAS SOLD FOR THE MONEY THAN WAS EVER HEARD OF BEFORE.

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY (150) OVERCOATS AND ULSTERS

From the Wagner purchase—all desirable styles—still going at one-quarter off from regular price. Everybody remembers our June cyclone.

LOOK OUT FOR THE OCTOBER NOVEMBER WHIRLWINDS

They are coming your way. We are offering splendid inducements in suits at $10.00, $12.00, and $15.00. Goods way out of sight of the ordinary suits sold elsewhere. But we are determined to give everyone the rarest bargains going. So,

We Have Selected One Hundred Suits (100), Good Value at Marked Prices,

AND IN THEY GO FOR $8.67.

$8.67—that figure may cover cost of cloth and trimming—making and profit not being counted. These are in part from the Wagner purchase, winter weights, goods laid aside after our June rush and just opened to create A CLOTHING SENSATION, but
