Flattering Reports of Our Schools.—Prohibitionists Have a Fight for Nominations.—Big Circus Coming.—New Bank Organized.—Penalty for Not Visiting Ypsilanti.

Shot for Not Wanting to go to Ypsi.

Last Saturday evening George Grenville, a painter of this city, shot Jacob Anspaugh in the arm. The two went in a barber shop together. Grenville urged Anspaugh to go down to Ypsilanti with him but was refused. Anspaugh left the shop but Grenville followed him, ordering him to return, and shot him in the arm. The bullet was not found in a long time. Grenville claims it was an accident, but the pistol used is not a self-cocking one. He was immediately arrested and placed under $500 bonds to appear for examination before Justice Pond next Tuesday.

Sells Bros. Coming.

Sells Brothers' celebrated circus is coming to Ann Arbor. It will exhibit here on Thursday, September 22. It has just returned from a triumphal tour of Australia and is the leading and longest established of the great circuses of the country. Their advertisement will be found in another column and a more extended notice will be given next week. Suffice it to say this week that it carries a monster menagerie, a whole tribe of Bedouin warriors, a royal Japanese troupe, a Roman hippodrome, and is three big circuses combined. But nearly all old circus goers know what the name Sells Brothers signifies.

Death of Charles Treadwell.

Charles Treadwell died at his home on Broadway just adjoining the city limits, Wednesday morning. He was born in Dutchess county, New York, Sept. 19, 1812. When two and a half years old his parents removed to Orange county, N. Y., and later to Cayuga county, where he learned the tanner's trade. He ran a tannery at Union Springs and engaged in the manufacture of boots and shoes. In 1854 he came to Michigan and purchased the farm where he resided at the time of his death. He was married to Miss Betsy A. Macomber in 1836. Mr. Treadwell was a pronounced abolitionist and afterwards was identified with the republican party. He was a man who enjoyed the respect and esteem of his acquaintances.

Ann Arbor's New Bank.

The new bank in Ann Arbor will be known as the State Security bank. Its location has not yet been fully determined, but it is said that in all probability it will be on Eberbach's corner. The capital stock consists of $75,000 divided among numerous stock holders. The following directors were elected last Friday night: A. L. Noble, N. J. Kyer, Wm. Arnold, W. J. Booth, J. H. Wade, J. D. Ryan, E. F. Mills, J. V. Sheehan, Herman Hutzler, C. S. Millean, H. J. Brown, Herman Hardinghaus, Eugene E. Beal, John Heinzman, Ernest Eberbach, David Zimmerman, W. F. Stimson, A. D. Seyler, John Koch, John Harrer, and George P. Glazier. At a directors meeting A. L. Noble was chosen president, N. J. Kyer, first vice-president, and Wm. Arnold, second vice-president.

Report of the Ann Arbor Schools.

From the excellent annual report of Superintendent Perry of the Ann Arbor public schools we glean the following interesting facts: The total enrollment in the schools of the city last year was 2,155, of which 448 were non-resident students. There were 705 students in the high school, 538 in the grammar department and 912 in the primary. The enrollment is 119 more than the preceding year. The schools have 10 men teachers and 38 women teachers. The cost per capita for instruction was $16.66 and for incidentals, $3.00. The average daily attendance has been 1,740. The non-resident pupils were distributed as follows: High school, 348; grammar school, 52; primary schools, 48. In the high school the greatest number of students were studying general English, there being 441 in these classes. There were 369 studying algebra; 272, latin; 213 U. S. history; 204, general history; 200 arithmetic, and the balance of the studies had a lesser number of students. German was the next most popular language after Latin, there being 156 engaged in its study.

The Cost of Our Schools.

According to the report of the Ann Arbor school board the expenses of the schools of this city last year were $47,959.34, of which $4,810 was paid on bonds and interest. The salary of teachers amounted to $29,964.00, fuel amounted to $1,971.68, janitor's to $1,589.25, librarian $450, insurance $458.50, improvements $1,867.84 and repairs $2,873.13. The receipts from foreign tuition last year were $7,925. The estimated expense for next year is $43,305, of which $30,915 is for teachers' salaries. The estimated receipts from tuition and the state tax is $16,500, which leaves the amount needed to be raised by tax about $26,800, or $6,700 less than raised last year. The bonded indebtedness of the district is now $16,000. The board states that it has been decided that German shall be taught in the first four grades of the third ward school as well as in the second ward school, and Miss Gundert has been placed in charge of both schools. The board of education are to be congratulated upon the very successful school year passed.

Mr. Babcock Will Wed.

Wednesday evening's Chicago Herald contains the following dispatch which will be read with great interest here:

Waukesha, Wis., Aug. 30.—The engagement of James L. Babcock, of Ann Arbor, Mich., and Miss Ella Stanley Butler, of this village, is announced. Mr. Babcock is the man who was made famous by the provisions of his uncle's will, which left him a fortune contingent upon his marrying within five years of the testator's death. Miss Butler is a popular young lady and a fine singer. The wedding will take place in the latter part of September. Babcock has been visiting Waukesha annually for twenty years. He was a mere boy when coming to Milwaukee from Chicago with his uncle, Luther James, and hearing of the discovery of the Bethesda spring they came here. After that they came every year. The uncle was an old man and Babcock gave him the greatest care. In the summer of 1889 Mr. James died here, aged 83 years. His will provided that his estate, which amounted to several hundred thousand dollars, should be kept intact for five years and then if Babcock had married it was to go to him, otherwise it should be divided among the heirs. The will caused Babcock to be much sought after and to receive numerous offers of marriage. He is a quiet, retiring man and has solved the problem for himself.

Prohibition County Convention.

The Prohibition county convention met in the court house on Friday last. Quite a number of delegates were present. A. A. Crozier was made chairman and J. R. Bowdish, secretary. The committee on resolutions and order of business was J. B. Steere, O. R. L. Crozier, B. J. Conrad, Dr. F. H. Brown, and A. W. Angir. Dr. F. H. Brown, F. M. White, and J. S. Lethers were appointed tellers but had nothing to do but count the vote of the secretary. The following were nominated for county officers, the secretary casting the vote of the convention: Judge of Probate, Noah W. Cheever, of Ann Arbor; County Clerk, Cone C. Warner, of Lodi; Sheriff, Joseph Doane, of Salem; Register of Deeds, Romeyn P. Chase, of Sylvan; Treasurer, Benjamin J. Conrad, of Ann Arbor; Coroners, Joseph Falk, of Ypsilanti, and Charles Smart, of Augusta, Surveyor, Arthur A. Crozier, of Ann Arbor town. The prosecuting attorney and circuit court commissioners were left with the committee.

The resolutions reviewed with deep concern the inception of civil war as shown in the Homestead difficulties, declared the right to strike as a protest cannot be questioned, deprecated violence as unwise on the side of either capital or labor, condemned the unfair leaning of authority in favor of rich employers, and condemned the placing of 7,000 state militia in the command of one of the employees of the railroads.

In the representative conventions J. R. Bowdish, of Ann Arbor, was named for representative from the first district and Benjamin F. Bailey, of Ypsilanti, for representative from the second district. The old county committee was re-elected.

An Important Letter From the Mayor.

All householders in the city will appreciate the following important letter from the mayor on the subject of the cholera:

City of Ann Arbor,
Mayor's Office, Aug. 30, 1892.
To the Honorable the Board of Health of said City:

Gentlemen—It seems to me that it is imperatively necessary that your honorable board take immediate and if necessary summary proceedings to place our city in proper sanitary condition to ward off the scourge of Asiatic cholera which now menaces the land. Almost any morning we may read of cholera making its appearance upon the Atlantic seaboard. And then it will be only a question of days for it to reach the great distributing centers of the northwest to be carried from thence along the arteries of travel to the cities and towns which invite its devastating presence. So far as human wisdom and approved sanitary precaution can protect our beautiful city, it is our duty as officials and good citizens and lovers of our fellow men to exert ourselves to the utmost limit of our authority, to protect the precious lives, committed, in a degree at least, to our official keeping. Permit me, therefore, to suggest that you inaugurate a house to house inspection of the city's sanitary condition, noting particularly the cess-pools, drains, closets, ponds, alleys, gutters, etc., and demanding and enforcing the proper cleansing and disinfecting, or even destruction and eradication of all things and conditions which menace the public health and safety.

Prompt municipal and domestic precaution now will cause the disease if it reaches us to fall upon sterile soil. It is said that previous epidemics of cholera have been most virulent in undrained and filthy cities and those with a polluted water supply. It is possible that the peculiar soil upon which our city rests and its natural drainage will afford us some immunities from noxious exhalations, far beyond those of other unsewered cities of our class. But it is not possible that filth and polluted water will be any different in their dangerous character in Ann Arbor than in any of our sister cities. Therefore, while I urge upon your honorable board and upon our municipal authorities generally prompt and decisive and harmonious efforts to minimize our danger, I am reminded that our labors will avail but little unless the citizens themselves assist by such wise and provident domestic precautions as your honorable body may see fit to recommend and which sanitarians have approved.

It can do no harm at least, to boil all suspected water used for drinking and culinary purposes, to prepare and liberally apply disinfectant solutions to closets and gutters and to cleanse and purify wherever offensive odors betray the germs of disease.

Let us remember that "cholera is not caused by fear," neither is it to be apprehended from any particular article of diet alone, but from the germs which directly or indirectly spread from the person or persons infected. Let us sterilize the soil upon which these germs will seek to find a resting place. Let us hope that God's mercy will avert from our shores "this pestilence which walketh in darkness and this destruction which wasteth at noonday."

Respectfully,
Wm. G. Doty, Mayor.

Prohibition Congressional Convention.

The Prohibition congressional convention had a wide awake session in this city last Friday. An unusual feature was contested nominations over which as much feeling was shown as if the nominees had a good chance of election. R. C. Safford, of Plymouth, was chairman, and E. R. Bragg, of Monroe, was secretary. Delegates were present from every county. The Washtenaw members of committees were B. J. Conrad on credentials, D. B. Taylor on organization and order of business, and O. R. L. Crozier on resolutions. While the committees were out Rev. John Russell, the Prohibition candidate for governor, made a speech in which he told the convention that every other issue than prohibition was of trifling moment. The platform endorsed the national and state platform and thanked Congressman Watson, of Georgia, for exposing drunkenness in congress and demanded a congressional committee to investigate the liquor traffic. Prof. Steere nominated O. R. L. Crozier, of Washtenaw, for congress, saying that he was a man either of the old parties would gladly use if he belonged to them. Mr. Crozier was a man who had studied the labor problems. Prof. Steere said he was himself a labor unionist, because he believed it for the welfare of the people. Wayne presented the name of Robert C. Safford, of Plymouth. Sagendorph, of Jackson, plead for Safford, hinting that Washtenaw was striving to pack the convention in favor of Crozier. O. R. L. Crozier read a letter from Editor Grandon, of Adrian, advocating the nomination of Rev. G. S. Bradley, of Hudson. Mr. Bragg, of Monroe, nominated D. P. Sagendorph, of Jackson. The first ballot resulted: Safford, 21; Sagendorph, 17; Crozier, 5; Bradley, 1. The second ballot resulted: Safford, 33; Sagendorph, 5; Crozier, 3; Bradley, 2 and Safford's nomination was made unanimous.

For presidential elector, Sagendorph nominated Dr. L. M. Jones, of Brooklyn; J. R. Bowdish nominated Prof. J. B. Steere; Monroe nominated William Bloch; Lenawee nominated Rev. G. S. Bradley. Steere hinted at declining and O. R. L. Crozier made a speech bearing down on Sagendorph, after which the first ballot resulted: Jones, 11; Bloch, 15; Steere, 12; Bradley, 7. The second ballot nominated Prof. Steere, the vote standing, Steere, 39; Jones, 2; Bradley, 2.

William Bloch, of Monroe, was unanimously nominated for alternate elector.

The congressional committee was named as follows: Jackson, Levi Decker; Lenawee, G. W. Grandon; Monroe, H. T. Roach; Wayne, R. C. Safford; Washtenaw, D. B. Taylor.

Peck's Boomerang.

From the way the Republican papers are shouting over Labor Commissioner Peck's report it would seem that they had discovered a real mare's nest. But they do not mention the fact that this report is the work of manufacturers exclusively concentrated over the name of one man, not one laborer having been consulted as to whether his wages had been increased or not. If any one should ask Mr. Carnegie if wages were increased by Protection, to be sure, his answer would be "yes." But, ask his employees; they are the men who will tell you the real truth. We all know the cause of the Homestead lockout. Wages were reduced. The papers are full of accounts of lockouts and strikes every day. Peck's Republican boomerang collapses immediately before the facts.

German Day at Ypsilanti this year will be held next Thursday. Speeches will be made by P. G. Suekey, Mayor Glover, and Judge Babbitt. J. Terns is marshal and W. L. Marquardt president of the day.

Manchester has been asked to pay Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Welsh, of Bridgewater, $4,000 damages for injuries received by their horse backing off the embankment at the East Manchester bridge. E. B. Norris has been employed by them.

A singular accident occurred just north of the "red bridge" Monday morning, which might easily have had a more serious and even fatal termination. Mrs. Andrew Miller, of Webster, accompanied by Samuel Freese, her uncle, was driving home from town. When the open space between the two bridges was reached, the horse became frightened at a dog which had been swimming in the race and came out shaking himself, and, turning quickly, jumped over the bank into the river just below the waste gate, carrying with it the carriage and its occupants. The distance down is several feet and the bottom is filled with large boulders and it is certainly a miracle that no one was seriously injured. Beyond a few severe bruises and a general shaking up of the rig, no damage was done.—Dexter News.

John Reymond, of Willis, while building a swing recently had his nose broken by being struck in the face by a sledge hammer.

A farmer on the town line between Lodi and Scio is said by the Dexter News to have threshed 89 bushels from 20 acres of wheat.

Jacob Slinduyer, of Scio, fell from a barn loft twelve feet, striking on his head. His head was badly cut but he was not permanently injured.

Prof. Chisholm, one of our county board of school examiners, has gone to Newberry, where he receives a salary of $1,300 as principal of the schools.

Charlie, a young son of James Fuller, living three miles northeast of here, was hurt very seriously by the cars very early Friday morning. He was out to the dance held in connection with the German picnic at Whittaker, and on his way home must have fallen asleep on the railroad track. He arrived home about four o'clock in a very weak condition and with a broken shoulder blade and a bruised and bleeding head. He is unable to tell how he was hurt; has no recollection of lying on the track, of getting struck or of coming home, but by tracking blood marks they find he was carried some distance by the cow catcher, then thrown one side, where he must have lain insensible several hours. He is improving.—Milan Leader.

Fall to do their Duty.

Everybody has at times failed to do their duty towards themselves. Hundreds of lady readers suffer from sick headache, nervousness, sleeplessness and female troubles. Let them follow the example of Mrs. H. Herbercher, Stevens Point, Wis., who for five years suffered greatly from Nervous Prostration and sleeplessness, tried physicians and different medicines without success. But one bottle of Dr. Miles' Nerve caused sound sleep every night and she is feeling like a new person. Mrs. Elizabeth Wheeler, Laramie City, Wyoming, who tried all other remedies, declares that after three weeks' use of the Nerve for Headache, Nervous Prostration, etc., she was entirely relieved. Dr. G. C. Osgood, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

WHO PAYS THE TAX?

Governor McKinley in his speech in University hall claimed that the foreigner paid the tax. He has been contradicted officially by the national government. A bill appropriating $15,000 for signal display stations on Middle and Thunder Bay Islands in Lake Huron was referred to the U. S. weather bureau for suggestions. Prof. Mark W. Harrington, chief of the weather bureau in his communication of February 8, '92, in reply says:

"This bill is of the same general character as senate bill No. 295, which I returned to you December 26, 1891, and which appropriated $12,700 for this purpose. The estimate for this bill was originally made by this office, but since that time a change in the tariff laws has nearly doubled the cost to the government of telegraph cables. The government cannot now import free of duty, as formerly. Instead of $1,500 a mile the estimates should be increased to

7 miles cables at $3,000 per mile	$21,000
22 miles land line at $100 per mile	2,200
Total.....	23,200

MARK W. HARRINGTON,
Chief of Weather Bureau.

This communication is indorsed by J. M. Rusk, the secretary of agriculture as follows:

"Respectfully referred to the committee on Interstate and Foreign commerce, House of Representatives. I approve the recommendation of Prof. M. W. Harrington.

J. M. Rusk, Secretary." Now if the foreigner paid the tax, why should it cost double the amount to build a cable line after the raising of the tariff as before. Of course in the case of the United States government the tax is paid out with one hand to be taken in with the other, but if the foreigner pays the tax, why does he not pay it in this case?

Senator Morrow, of Lenawee, who made an excellent record in the state legislature will probably be nominated for senator in the Monroe-Lenawee district. If nominated he will undoubtedly be elected and would prove a most excellent legislator. His worth was shown from the fact that although but a new senator, he was the Democratic leader in the senate in the short session.

There are only about 15 1/2 sheep per square mile in the United States, while there are 276 sheep per square mile in Great Britain and Ireland. This country has a high tariff on wool. The high tariff on wool in this country has a depressing effect upon woolen manufactures and hence lessens the demand for wool, which brings down the price. The price of wool this year under the McKinley bill is a great object lesson as to how that bill helps the farmer.

The Courier, in response to our question as to whom it referred to when it spoke of the Democratic boss of this county, names the editor of this paper. As the Courier at the time it spoke of the Democratic boss referred to the editor of the Argus as the "first lieutenant of the Democratic boss" we presume he is captain, first lieutenant, corporal, private and chief bottle washer. If the Courier has any more names to call him, now is the time to trot them out.

The price of steel rails in the United States in 1882 was $57 per ton. In England the price that year was $31.10 per ton, a difference of $25.90. The labor which entered into the production of a ton of steel rails that year in the United States was $11.59 and in England $11.32. In other words the working men received 27 cents more on a ton for their work and the capitalists $25.90 more a ton for the rails. The tariff protects the capitalists.

The Michigan Farmer has lost its correspondent, "Old Genesee" and took occasion last week to thank him for withdrawing from its columns. The trouble with "Old Genesee" is that he is a democrat, while the editor of the Farmer is one of the most rabid republicans in the state. Their editorial comment is notice to the democrats that their contributions are not desired by the Farmer, for which none but republicans should write. We think that when the campaign is over, the editor of the Farmer will try to withdraw his paper from politics into its legitimate domain of agriculture. It is a pity that the Farmer does not show a desire to discuss the effect of politics on agriculture, if at all, by giving equal space to both sides. The farmers of Michigan would feel better pleased if their agricultural paper was not tied down to any party. They don't take it for its politics.

Morse is evidently getting a large Republican support. The Courier this week is filled with appeals to Republicans not to vote for Morse. These appeals show the danger is recognized by the Courier, and are simply the swish of the party lash used in the endeavor to compel Republicans to vote for the candidate nominated by the railroad corporations and the federal office holders. The election will show whether or not all Republicans wear the collar of the party bosses.

William McKinley, in a speech in Rhode Island, last spring, said: "No one ever claimed that protective tariffs were intended to increase wages." We thought they had claimed it but that the facts would not bear them out. As to the claim, Roswell G. Horr says in the New York Tribune, "The tariff is levied in the first place simply to enable the people of the United States to pay the high wages everywhere prevailing in this country." As to the facts, simply think of Carnegie's reduction in wages of the Homestead employees, and the fact that England pays much higher wages than high tariff Germany.

Some people do not appreciate the beauties and advantages of nature as she is, or was, rather. The street commissioner or somebody else has made a cut through the hill on Summit street just west of Fountain. This hill used to afford a fine view of the rolling country westward; but now, alas!

The large crop of Canadian thistles on the grounds of the Standard Oil company on Felch street is in full blossom, and the seeds will soon be ready for the winds and the birds to carry them broadcast. This thistle is the hardest possible to eradicate when it once gets a foothold. They should have been cut long ago. Who is responsible?

Two advance cars belonging to the Sells Brothers circus are side-tracked on the Toledo road, near Summit street. They contain all the necessary materials for billing the city for the great show on the 22d, and a force of men to do the work. The cars, which are quite attractive, are now undergoing critical inspection by all the boys in that neighborhood.

Gertie Carmo, the aeronaut who was injured in this city last fall, by falling in a tree, the parachute refusing to act, was killed in Detroit last week while making an ascension on the Exposition grounds. An Adrian dispatch to the Evening News says: "J. Douglass Underwood, one of the brightest young colored men in the state and very popular in Lenawee county, has just passed a creditable examination into the ministry of the African baptist church, and accepted a call from the Ann Arbor society of the denomination. Those of our readers who have heard Mr. Elder will unite with us in admiration of his fine voice.

Luick Bros. are making preparations for the erection of a Cleveland and Stevenson pole at their planing mill on Kingsley street. As their new chimney is 9 1/2 feet high, and would therefore, from certain points of view, hide any ordinary campaign pole, they intend to erect one about 150 feet in height. It may be of interest to state that the chimney mentioned above is nine feet square at the base, and tapers to six feet square at the top. Look out for their Democratic streamer.

Rev. Robert A. Holland, for the past year assistant rector of St. Andrew's parish and curator of Harris hall, has accepted a call to the rectorship of St. Luke's church, Boston. This church is situated on Beacon street in the suburb and has a small but wealthy congregation. Rev. Mr. Holland is a preacher of talent and his friends while regretting to lose him from this city will rejoice at his good fortune. He leaves for Boston next week.

"From Greenland's icy mountains to India's coral strand," (only you should turn the couplet end for end, so to speak,) would pretty nearly describe the flop the weather has taken here this week, the mercury having fallen from somewhere up in the nineties to between fifty and sixty degrees. This is pretty trying to most people, and may be dangerous for many. There is one grain of comfort in it, however, and that is that it is very unfavorable for an inroad of cholera in this direction.

At the Sylvan Democratic caucus held Tuesday evening in Chelsea the following delegates were elected to the county convention to nominate county officers: H. Lighthall, W. Caspary, Martin Merkle, F. Staffan, Tim. McKone, Luke Hagan, C. Klein, C. Hummel, A. C. Pierce, and James Taylor. It is stated that Peter J. Lehman has Mr. Staffan's proxy. The delegates elected to the representative convention were J. Beckwith, Thomas McKone, Charles Kaercher, J. H. Egan, J. Hagan, George Beckwith, Michael Merkle, Gottlob Grau, Charles Whitaker, and Thomas McNamara. The caucus was very harmonious.

If it were possible that the reporter for the Argus could be ubiquitous, he might have been a little more "previous" in noticing the handsome row of new houses on the south side of Cherry street, in the third ward, immediately north of the old Bower property, and extending between Spring and Fountain streets. The street is only one block in length, but contains five of these new houses, all built within a year. They are indeed architectural beauties, and belong respectively to George Crocker, engineer on the Toledo road, Nelson F. Estabrook, Andrew R. Peterson, of the City mills, George H. Groh, and William Grenman, the latter two being also employees of the T. & A. company.

An unsuccessful attempt was made last Saturday night, between eleven and twelve o'clock, to steal three horses from the barn of Comstock Hill, of Lodi. It is surmised that three men were concerned in the transaction. That they effected an entrance into the barn was evidenced by the large number of burnt matches strewn about the floor. They found it impossible, however, to get the horses out, and for a very substantial reason. Some time ago a similar raid had been unsuccessfully made upon Mr. Hill's stock, and he had since then taken the precaution to place iron bars across the inside of the doors in such a way as that the thieves were unable to remove them and get the horses out, and were thus balked in their designs. There is as yet no clew to the thieves.

ENLIGHTENED WOOL GROWERS.

New York Sheep Men Discover That the Wool Tariff is a Delusion.

The farmers are beginning to understand this matter. The Wool Growers and Sheep Breeders' association, of Ontario and Livingston counties, in New York, is one of the oldest and strongest and most representative organizations of that kind in the United States. There, sir, is one of the great centers of the fine wool growing and sheep breeding industries. The members of that association are in the main Republicans. They were protectionists. They are so now on everything but wool—the one thing they know about.

But when they got together and looked each other in the face in January, 1891, they concluded to stop political wool growing and to look at that matter in a practical way. They had not neglected their political duties as they saw them. They had only a short time before elected to represent them from Livingston county Mr. Raines, and from Ontario county Mr. Wadsworth. But when these wool growers and sheep breeders got together after election, and their party was not at stake and all they had to consider was the wool business, here is the conclusion to which they came:

Whereas, it has been the policy in the past for this association to annually pass resolutions praying congress to restore the wool duty of 1867 or its equivalent; and

Whereas, this association finally recognizes the unsoundness of its past position on this question, and, ever ready to correct any error into which it may have fallen, we beg leave to submit the following:

First—We recognize that the wool duty is a delusion and a snare to the wool growers, and that it has been largely instrumental in driving to the wall an industry it was calculated to benefit.

Second—Prior to 1867, under the various changes of the wool duties, the price of wool fluctuated not in sympathy with the tariff, but by reason of the ever controlling law of demand and supply, the grower having received high prices and low prices under high tariffs, and, conversely, low prices and high prices under low tariffs.

Third—The success of the wool grower depends on the success of the woolen manufacturer, while the American manufacturer is seriously handicapped by reason of being compelled to pay exorbitant tariff taxes on every pound of clothing wool imported for necessary admixture, while all foreign countries of any consequence have the benefit of free wool, and are thus enabled to undersell the manufacturers.

Fourth—The great wool tariff of 1867 resulted in driving from the eight chief wool producing states—for whose special benefit said tariff was conceived and passed—more than 50 per cent. of their sheep in a single decade, while the price of wool declined in a nearly corresponding ratio.

Fifth—The importation of foreign wool increased from about 20,000,000 pounds in 1867 to more than 120,000,000 pounds in 1871, just four years succeeding the highest duty ever imposed on wool and woollens.

Sixth—During eight of the past eighteen years the foreign price of imported clothing wools at the last port of export actually exceeded the price of our domestic fleece in the markets of Boston, New York or Philadelphia, while in no single year did the domestic price fall below the foreign price, plus the duty.

Seventh—England, France and Germany are the only three countries in the world that export woolen manufactures in excess of the imports of raw wool; in other words, these countries by admitting wool free have created a demand for their home wool in excess of all wool required to clothe their people, and are thus giving employment to labor export more wool than they have imported. The United States, on the other hand, by imposing a high duty on raw wool has not only destroyed our export trade, but so throttled our manufacturers as to ruin the market for domestic fleece and give to the English, French and German manufacturers the cream of our markets for cloths.

Eighth—The free importation of raw wool into the United States would knock out the imports of woolen goods, and would revive the present depressed state of our own manufactures, thus giving employment to labor here and create an increased demand for our strong wools for necessary admixture.

Ninth—Recognizing the truth of the above facts, therefore, we, the members of the Ontario and Livingston Sheep Breeders and Wool Growers' association, in convention assembled, most respectfully petition congress to immediately place wool and woolen manufactures on the free list, in order that their industries may again thrive and assume the magnitude commensurate with a nation of 63,000,000 of people.

—Speech of Hon. John De Witt Warner in Congress.

Distribution of the Protected Bonns.

Hon. Roswell G. Horr said some time ago in the New York Tribune that "the tariff is levied in the first place simply to enable the people of the United States to pay the high wages everywhere prevailing in this country." Yes, it may enable some of our manufacturers to pay higher wages, but they seldom do so. They have other uses for the bonns which protection puts into their pockets—some of it goes for castles in Europe and some to hire Pinkertons to compel workmen to accept lower wages, but the largest portion of all is invested in lands, stocks and first mortgage bonds to enrich the tariff beneficiaries and annex them to our army of millionaires, which has increased 10,000 per cent. since high protection began thirty years ago. The portion that reaches the wage earners, even in a second handed way, could be carried with safety in a tissue paper purse. Perhaps McKinley was right when he said at Providence last April that "no one ever claimed that protective tariffs were intended to increase wages." It was only intended, as Mr. Horr explained, to enable higher wages to be paid. There is a sharp distinction here which has caused considerable misunderstanding. It will be well for wage earners to make a note of it for future use.

Protecting American Labor.

Scarcely an immigrant ship comes from Europe that does not contain her quota of imported laborers, and it is this system of importation that causes so much demoralization of labor and distress at times in the mining regions of Pennsylvania. As soon as the imported laborers understand their rights and threaten to strike in defense of them, southern Europe is drawn upon for a fresh importation, and thus the supply is kept constantly in excess of the demand.—Philadelphia Record.

The Commandment Revised.

The commandment, "Thou shalt not steal," is being revised by McKinley to read, "Thou shalt raise thy money for public expenses by taxing the products of other nations rather than by taxing the products of thine own; and thou shalt not tax thyself so long as thou canst find anybody else to tax."

Adrian Press Washtenawisms.
Edwin DeBarr, of Ann Arbor, has been appointed to the chair of chemistry in the Oklahoma university. He is expected to give his attention to the discovery of a hair restorer for territorial skulls without scalps.

At a Saline gun-shoot, last week,
a supposed miss-fire shell was replaced with another, which tore a gun barrel in pieces. How the gun-ner's brains escaped is still the reigning wonder. The first shell had "dropped its wad" in the gun barrel.

Ex-Gov. Luce will meet the farmer picnicers at Bridgewater on the 31st, relate his knowledge of farming and incidentally set up a few grade stakes on the senatorial line. Uncle Cyrus is not dead, neither doth he sleepeth.

A liberal reward will be paid by a Milan lady, for some person who can hold his breath, under fifteen feet of water, long enough to fish up a two-gallon crock of excellent butter, that was suspended in the well,
when the thirsty hired man, without knowledge dropped the water bucket
on it and broke the cord. Alack!
that elegant butter; that July-made butter; that August-thawed butter
that hung in the well!

Ypsilanti's pickle factory, jag cure, stay factory, box factory, mineral baths, etc., etc., are all running full blast. Ypsi. is on the high road to prosperity—a fact that Ann Arbor people would do well to remember.

But what of Ypsilanti's jag factory
and her female suffrage society?
Have they no earned credits?

A Ypsilanti tax-payer who is evidently very "hot" lets off through the Commercial, these scalding
words:

When a school is conducted on the plan so that a superintendent dismisses several hundred pupils and a dozen teachers for a half-holiday because the child of a member of the board asked him to, it is time we had different material on our board.

Fletcher W. Jewell, once of Ann Arbor, recently showed up at Victoria, B. C., where he broke the marriage record into small fragments.
He met his fate in the morning, fell in love with her before dinner and married her before supper. He started in for a license at 5:25,
secured it, drummed up a preacher,
got married and was eating wedding cake at ten minutes to six. It took a Michigander to do it.

The Adrian Press intimates that truth is sacrificed in our item two weeks ago, stating that Wm. Whaley's hen hatched out a flock of quails.
This week we have the order reversed.
A man told us Saturday night that he saw a quail mothering two chickens. He has captured the chickens, but the quail is still at large.—Milan Leader.

What a man tells another at Milan,
on Saturday night, is very apt to be pronounced a lie, Monday morning,
by the narrator himself.

"It is just such fellows as you"
remarked the bull to Secretary Mills
of the Washtenaw agricultural society Wednesday last week, "it is just such fellows as you, who lead us around to the fairs with bull-rings
in our noses; give us bad feed, no
bed and quarrel about the prizes.
You are a delegate to the Democratic state convention, and are probably for bull-raiser Winans, but you'll not go, you hear me bellow." And with that he knocked Secretary Mills down and was engaged in breaking his ribs when driven off with pitchforks. By a strange cast of contraries, Mills' breaks were mended by Dr. Breakey.

When the Milanese get drunk,
some of them are for cutting down
barber poles, while others are "efry-bodish fren," according to the Leader,
which remarks:

No arrests, hence no names. If
d. d.'s desire their names to appear in these columns they must manage it so as to be arrested and fined.
This is a discrimination in favor of the very small minority who get hauled up for their misbehavior, but is not intended to debar the great majority who ought to be jugged,
but for various reasons are not.

Mike, the shaven prince and Falstaffian messiah, now doing time in the Jackson penitentiary, gives it out that he is merely fulfilling God's word, in remaining in prison,
and that should he speak the word
the prison walls would tumble in a chaotic mass of debris. Mike should not be too greatly stuck on his own ability. Samson after he was shaven remarked gayly that "he would go out and shake himself, as at other times," but wily Delilah winked slyly at her heathen brethren and remarked that Samson wasn't "in it" any longer; and so it proved.

The Ann Arbor Argus is pressed off by waterworks power. Fish in the pipes clogged the works last week making repairs necessary and delaying the publication of the paper.

Dexter workmen, while overhauling a building found a plain, old fashioned black-walnut coffin, which it appears was made to his own measure, by Henry Vinkle, now extinct;
and it is said 'twas his habit for some years, to take an after dinner snooze
in it each day, on a bed of shavings, enjoying cheerful dreams. He died in a distant state and could not send for his "wooden overcoat" in time.

NEVER A FAILURE.
The Red River Valley of Minnesota and
North Dakota
has never had a failure
of crops.
It produced 30,000,000
bushels of wheat besides other cereals in 1890.
Farms can be had on the crop plan, or long time
cash payments.
It is not an uncommon thing
to pay for a farm
from the proceeds of one crop.
It has all of the advantages of an old country in the shape of school, church,
market, postal & railway facilities
and all the chances of a new country in the way of cheap lands, rich soil, and increase in values.
It is one of the most fertile and promising regions in America
not yet fully occupied.
In the rush to the far west, however,
this rich valley has been over-looked.
It has room for a million more people.
