EXPENSIVE POLITICS.

The New Ward to Cost Ann Arbor a Pretty Sum.

CITY EXPENSES INCREASED TEN PER CENT.

Outside of Sewer Expenses.—What Have We to Show for it?—City Salaries Increased.—An Article for Taxpayers' Reading.

Now that the city charter has been amended, against the protest of the newspapers of the city and in defiance of much public opinion, it may be of interest to note what changes have been made, how they have been brought about, and also to count the cost.

Aside from the creation of a new ward, the term of the mayor and president of the council has been lengthened to two years each, the mayor has been given the absolute power of appointing and removing the police without consulting the council, and several minor changes have been made in the powers of the council.

These changes were recommended by the council by a narrow vote. The council also by a divided vote approved of the creation of the seventh ward, but they fixed the limits of the ward as south of Hill street and east of Main. This was the way the bill went to Lansing. It comes back with an entirely new boundary for the new ward, and the change was made without any notice whatever to the citizens of this city. The change was made entirely out of partisan politics, and for the purpose of making sure of an additional republican supervisor and two republican aldermen. The boundaries of the new ward are now Main street from the south city limits to Madison, Madison to State, State to Monroe, Monroe to East University, East University to Hill street, Hill to Washtenaw, and Washtenaw southeast to the city limits. The Argus protests against this legislation without the knowledge of the people. The republican leaders may believe in the Vanderbilt doctrine, "the people be d—d," but we don't want them to tell it to us quite so plainly.

Why was the new ward created? Simply to elect two more republican aldermen and one more supervisor. Why was the change in the boundary made in so bold a manner and positively without consulting the public? Simply because the boundary as fixed by the council left the new ward somewhat doubtful politically and party expediency required the throwing in of a solid mass of republican voters to turn the wavering scale. We do not care to go into the question of the relative merits of the old proposed straight boundary and the present crooked boundary. The point we make is that good or bad, the public were allowed to know nothing of the crooked boundary until after the bill was passed. This sort of political work may be good politics, but it is not the kind that the thinking American people are wont to approve of.

What will the new ward cost? First, it will make an extra cost for holding elections. There must be an entire new election board with inspectors, clerks and gate-keepers for each election. A polling place must be built or hired. The board of review will cost one-sixth more for salaries each year, new chairs and desks must be purchased for the council room, and many other like expenses as yet unthought of will arise.

Already the inhabitants of the new ward are agitating a new ward school building. This will have to be built and built soon. The site and new school building will cost from $15,000 to $20,000. It will cost at least $3,500 or more a year for teachers, janitor, heat and light. And all this expense in spite of the fact that a $5,000 addition to the first ward building has only just been completed.

Does the new ward pay? Are not the people of the city of Ann Arbor paying a pretty big price for a republican supervisor and two more republican aldermen?

What is this namby-pamby, republican-municipal club local administration good for anyway? Taxes. From the first of March, 1894, to the first of March, 1895, the city administration expended $66,838.66. Lest this big sum may falsely be charged to the sewers, it is fair to state that of this sum $17,156.49 was expended for sewers, leaving $49,682.17 to carry on the city government, an increase of nearly ten per cent. in expenses over the preceding year, when the expenditures outside of the sewers were $4,081.62 less than the past year. Not a dollar of this went to the support of our school system. And this big increase in expenditures comes in spite of the fact that our street work was neglected on account of the sewers.

What is there to show for it? Better police administration? Never in the history of Ann Arbor have there been more bad characters on the streets. Never have they had more rooms. Never have they been bolder in endeavoring to secure customers. Never have there been more arrests for drunkenness. What is there to show for the nearly $5,000 increase in taxation?

What will the tax-ridden people say to an increase in salaries? This is another feature of the charter changes, which fixes the salaries of the marshal $200 higher, the city attorney $300 higher, and the city clerk $200 higher. This makes a $700 increase for next year. It is pretty near time the voters of Ann Arbor rose in their might, threw off the municipal club hoodwink, and elected an administration pledged to true economy.

Ysaye at University Hall. Monday evening, March 25, Eugene Ysaye, the Berlin violinist, who has been making such a sensation as has only been equaled by Paderewski in late years, will appear in University Hall. Following out the principle that all should have an opportunity of listening to this artist the price has been placed at 50 cents. It will require a large audience to pay expenses but we are confident that Ann Arbor will respond as usual.

The following is from the New York Evening Post:

While the hard times seems to have affected some of the musical organizations in this city, it is gratifying to record that our oldest and best concert institute, the Philharmonic Society, has never before been so prosperous as it is now. Not only have all but about fifty of the seats been disposed of for the whole season, but it has been ascertained from official sources that the audiences of last Friday and Saturday were the largest the society has ever had in the fifty-three years of its existence, nor does the oldest subscriber probably remember scenes of greater enthusiasm than those witnessed on these occasions. They were regular Paderewski audiences, in size and behavior.

M. Ysaye reminds one of Mr. Paderewski both by his complete absorption in his music and by the utter disappearance of technique as a factor in his performance. One does not consciously attend to his fingering and bowing, to see whether his scales are even, his double stops true, his octaves astonishing, his staccati crisp, his harmonics clear. All these things taken for granted, as in all the truly great artists, who make technique a means, not an end. What one does note is his tone, which is rich and luscious like that of Wilhelmj, now broad and sonorous in the open G string, like a violinello, now delicate as gossamer. A few weeks ago, in classifying violinists, we said that they might be divided into two classes, those whose strength lies in agility of left-hand fingering and those whose greatness lies in their manipulation of the expressive bow. M. Ysaye is one of these righthand artists. We forget his left hand, but are entranced by his expressive bowing. Not that he is unequal to the dazzling left-hand tricks; on the contrary, he beats the left-hand fiddlers on their own ground; but he has higher resources for fascinating an audience.

Death of Mrs. Pulcifer. Mrs. Caroline L. Pulcifer, widow of the late Zerach S. Pulcifer, died at the residence of her son in Toledo, Sunday, of old age and heart disease, aged nearly seventy-eight years. Mrs. Pulcifer's maiden name was Doty. For over sixty-two years she was a resident of the fifth ward in this city, fifty-eight years of which were spent with her husband to whom she was married, April 3, 1839. She leaves three sons, Milo S., of this city, George, of Toledo, and John, of Owosso, and her brother, George W. Doty, of the probate office. The remains are brought here this afternoon.

BUILD OR RESIGN.

The Council's Mandate to the Board of Public Works.

NEW SEVENTH WARD MACHINERY STARTED

The City to Vote on Buying Sites for City Buildings.—Ysaye Coming Monday Night, Etc.

The Seventh Ward.

At the council meeting last night it was decided to submit a proposition to raise $5,000 for the purpose of purchasing sites for city buildings. G. Frank Allmendinger, Nelson J. Kyer and B. M. Thompson were made members of the board of election commissioners. Ewart H. Scott, Ernest Eberbach and Fred H. Belser were appointed inspectors for the seventh ward for registration and election purposes.

The expenses for the new seventh ward began. Besides the board of inspectors, it was decided to hire Hammond's shop on State street for registration and election purposes. Bids were called for a double desk and chairs for the council room. The clerk was instructed to have handbills printed announcing the entire reregistration to the electors of the ward. The board of public works were instructed to have three booths, railing, etc., constructed for the ward.

Build or Resign.

The council, last night, served a tart notice on the board of public works notifying them that they should obey the lawful orders of the council. The resolution was passed by a unanimous vote. The discussion was started by Ald. Martin, who called attention to the extremely disgraceful condition of the streets. Ald. Manly found fault with the inventory furnished by the board of public works. There were no lamps mentioned in the inventory. The whole of the main sewer had been built and not a single lamp, not a single wheelbarrow, only two plows, only thirty-one out of a hundred jackscrews purchased. The board of public works didn't feel like doing anything the council directed. The council had held two meetings and directed the board to build a dog pound. They hadn't done it. Ald. Prettyman was glad to agree with the aldermen from the fifth occasionally. He didn't see why the board did not go ahead. Manly then introduced a resolution instructing the board of public works to obey the resolution of the council relating to the building of a dog pound, and asking them, in case they did not obey the resolution, to present their resignation at the next meeting of the council. The yeas and nays were called for and the resolution passed unanimously.

For Commissioner of Schools.

The Ypsilanti Commercial, an independent paper, has this to say of the democratic candidate for commissioner of the schools:

"The many friends of Hon. D. A. Hammond, irrespective of party, will doubtless be ready to lend him a hand in his canvass for the school commissionership. Mere political connections, it will be conceded, should in a matter of this kind, have relatively little influence. What can a man do for the schools? What has he done?"

Whatever may be said in favor of others it is known that Mr. Hammond has peculiarly good qualifications for the position. He is a teacher of long experience and very successful experience. He knows the country schools not less than city and village schools. He has had much experience upon examining boards both for his county and for the state. Through his connections with the Normal school he is thoroughly familiar with the preparation and qualifications of teachers. He is in hearty sympathy, it is known, with the common elementary schools, and understands the conditions under which their work must be done.

Mr. Hammond is so situated as to do the work of such office in a more economical and efficient way than would one who is less familiar with schools and who has had less experience. His age and scholarship would give him influence among teachers. His counsel would have weight. His advice would be safe.

1000 Miles of Advertising.

The extent to which printers ink is relied upon in successful business enterprises the general public has very little conception of. It reads the advertisements it finds in the weekly and daily newspapers and its opinion of a business house is largely made up from the impression it receives from that source and so largely is an advertisement a true reflection of the character and business methods of the firm that places it before the people that the impressions it imparts and opinions molded thereby are very seldom erroneous. The public is a very just and discerning judge and is seldom deceived by matter found in newspaper columns. Like the character or business it represents, it gives it a casual glance or passes it unnoticed as being of no importance, or if it strikes the eye favorable and is found to contain the proper ring denoting that it is the agent of a progressive, wide-awake, and up to date business house, sent out for the purpose of informing the public of what its principal is doing, the goods it has to offer, the styles, prices, intentions and business methods all faithfully stated, the purchasing public soon finds itself interested in that kind of matter, it soon learns that there is intelligence there which it wishes to possess, that is of personal advantage, of vital importance in its every day personal transactions. An example of this kind of advertising is sent out by one of our business houses in this city and denotes a management that has a fine appreciation of what it requires and which has profitably occupied more newspaper space at given periods than any other business house great or small in the state. Some idea of the extent to which they have used printers ink in the past twelve months may be gained when we state that if all the advertising matter they have sent out during the past year were placed in one column it would make a column over one thousand miles long and this enormous space has all been occupied with matter in which the public is interested and was all circulated inside the limits of Washtenaw county. It is scarcely necessary to say the firm referred to is

MACK & SCHMID.

The question will naturally arise in the mind of the reader. Does this kind of advertising pay? Can a firm in Ann Arbor advertise to this extent with profit to themselves? This question is best answered by Walter C. Mack their manager who says, "The only way such advertising can be made profitable is by taking the public into partnership dividing the profit with it, making buying and selling a mutual benefit, making the interest of the buyer identical with that of the seller in doing business at 'THE STORE'—keeping what the public requires. In a word, placing before it advantages in the way of selections that are positively unmistakable and unapproachable. Where it can get the best with pleasant surroundings courteous treatment, ready service and a hundred other things to encourage trade that make us grow to our advantage."

To be the leading trading place—"the trading center of Washtenaw county" with its 40,000 inhabitants is a desideratum they fully appreciate and have lost no opportunity, have spared no effort that they might gain that proud distinction. That they now occupy that position no one will question and the immense trade they have enjoyed the past years is a fitting recognition by the public of their efforts and their sound business principles.

Past achievement with them means future inspiration. Not content to stand still or go back they are now more active than ever laying plans for the present year to still further increase their business and the great provision they have made to supply the spring trade, the tempting things they offer in desirable fabrics and bargains attest the success of their activity. Many months before the tariff schedule went into effect contracts were made with foreign manufacturers of several lines of Dress Goods and Linens very favorable to themselves on an anticipated market and at prices which have proved far below that possible to obtain at any importers in this country. These goods are now being sold at sensational prices and as a result their sales during February surpasses all previous corresponding months, largely, when counted by dollars, immensely when measured by bulk and "THE STORE" has presented an appearance such as is usually found there during the heavy fall trading, a condition of things most gratifying and encouraging to them and eminently satisfactory to their customers.

Mr. Mack is now making preparation for his usual spring trip to the eastern markets and will spend some time there this year gathering up whatever may be found in desirable offerings Basing his purchases on present trade indication they will be more than usually large. Many specialties for Easter will be brought out for their great Easter Sale.

Head work and hard thinking has built up The Store at every point. With money anyone can rent a store, put up signs, blow trumpets, but it takes more than money to do the kind of merchandizing that is really servicable to a community. Money does not put people in possession of artistic taste and sound judgement. Genius for organization and the everlasting hammering at the thing to have it right, because nothing less than right will do, is an example of what The Store stands for, as an illustrated essay on commerce, good taste, comfortable and price, saving shopping.

THOSE DISTRESSING TIMES.

The good old Buchanan times during the reign of Buchanan, when cows sold for $2 each and a calf was ashamed to look her mother in the face, have been beaten in Iowa, where horses have been recently sold for 50 cents each, halters thrown in.—Detroit Journal.

A statement like the above betrays either a lamentable ignorance of the industrial history of this country or an intentional effort to mislead. In either case it is unworthy of a reputable journal.

Assertions of this character, concerning times too remote for the personal recollection of the present generation are, however, a favorite resource of moulders of protective sentiment. That they are not historical facts, but the creations of fertile imaginations, does not matter so long as they pass current.

This particular paragraph is supposed to relate to the low tariff period of 1846 to 1860—the nearest approach to free trade this country has made since 1816—and implies a connection between the alleged hardship and distress of those times and the present depression. The defenders of the protective system proceed upon the assumption that our greatest achievements in national wealth and prosperity, our advances in civilization and our increases in population have been due to the policy of protection, and that periods not characterized by this policy have been marked by national paralysis, by stagnation and distress, by declining prices and increasing pauperism. Upon this assumption rests the burden of their case; and with this analysis in view we may with profit compare the fourteen years, 1846-60, with any period of equal duration under the highest tariff the high priests of protection have had the audacity to fashion. Measured by any standard of success that comparison is favorable to the low tariff era.

During that time we made a greater percentage of increase in population, in wealth, in the value of our exports, and enjoyed higher prices, more general prosperity and a more equitable distribution of the products of labor than at any other period in our history. Our increase of population from 1846 to 1860 was 50.9 per cent. From 1860 to 1880, the first 14 years of superlative protection, that increase was only 39.8

per cent. From 1880 to 1890 the increase was only 24.84 per cent. The exports of 1846 were valued at $101,718,042; those of 1860 sold for $316,242,423, an increase of over 300 per cent. The exports of 1866 brought $337,518,102, a gain of only six hundred and six years. Those of 1880 were valued at $823,946,353, an increase of only 244 per cent. During 14 years of the unalloyed blessings of protection. Had the rate of increase during the so-called free trade period been maintained, the exports of 1880 would have brought this country $1,047,812,000. In 1893 the protective policy culminated in a disastrous crisis, with the year's exports valued at only $831,030,785, an increase of at fraction over one per cent. in 13 years. Again, if the ratio of 1846-60 had been maintained, the exports of 1893 should have sold for $3,143,436,000.

In 1846 we had 4,930 miles of railway; in 1860, 30,626 miles—a gain of 622 per cent. during this period of alleged prostration.

The mileage in 1874 after 14 years of republican rule was 72,385, a gain of only 238 per cent. In 1888 after another 14 years of protection the mileage was 156,168, an increase of 215 per cent. Those distressing times of democratic free trade lose nothing by the comparison in this line of progress.

The farmer has always been an object of solicitude to the party of protection. It was solely in the interest of a home market and good prices for farm products that tariff taxes were levied. As they paid the soldier in 50 cent greenbacks they are now paying the farmer with 50 cent wheat and ten cent wool. We have taken the trouble to compile a table of the annual average gold price of staple agricultural products in the New York market for each year from 1846 to 1860.

Table with 10 columns: Year, Wheat, Oats, Corn, Cotton, Beef per lb, Pork per lb, Wool. Rows for years 1846-1860.

A careful study of this data and a comparison with any 14 years since the war may prove instructive to those farmers who still cling to the idea that a protective tariff is designed to benefit the farmer. The attention of such is especially directed to the course of wheat, wool and cotton.

The fifty-third congress accomplished a great deal for which it gets no credit. In ordinary times any of the three great measures passed by that body—the repeal of the Sherman law, the repeal of the federal election law, and the passage of the tariff bill—would have been considered a fair measure for one congress. Many congresses have done less without exciting comment. But these are not ordinary times. The fifty-third congress was first called together in the midst of a panic, when the public pulse was at a fever heat, to devise remedies for a condition of things for which they were in no wise responsible. The public was not disposed to wait for cool deliberation. But evils which have been growing for a quarter of a century cannot be remedied in a hurry, and this should be considered in summing up the work of the body just adjourned.

The government estimate of the quantity of wheat in farmer's hands in this country is 75,000,000 bushels, or a trifle over 16 per cent. of the last crop, and 39,000,000 bushels less than estimated last month. The explanation for this small amount in farmer's hands is found in the fact that large quantities have been fed to hogs and other stock. Returns from North and South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas indicate unprecedented exhaustion of last year's crop, correspondents in many counties reporting not enough on hand for spring seed and necessary food supply.

The new anti-lottery law passed in the closing hours of the last congress, makes it still harder for the lottery companies to do business in the United States. Not only are they absolutely shut out from the United States mails, either for the delivery or receipt of postal matter, but express companies are prohibited from carrying lottery matter between states or from a foreign country into this country.

The appropriation by the last congress of $20,000 for the expenses of a board of civil engineers to investigate the feasibility of the Nicaragua canal scheme will give the next congress some reliable data when it comes to consider that matter.

The legislature is providing the supreme court with plenty of work. Justice McGrath cannot be spared from that body.

It is the duty of every citizen who believes in maintaining the high character of our supreme court to go to the polls and cast a ballot for Justice McGrath.

CHURCH WAR SUBSIDIES.

Police at Omaha Arrest Thirty-five of the Attacking Party.

Omaha, Neb., March 18.—In the Polish church trouble at Sheeley everything was quiet yesterday. More of the attacking party were arrested, making a total of thirty-five. All are out on bail. The hearing takes place this morning. Priest Karminski was arrested also yesterday on a warrant. A wagonload of police was sent to St. Paul's church at 9 o'clock last night in response to a hurly call. Ed Tuttle was found lying near the church with a broken leg. He had been struck with a club. It was at first supposed to be a feature of the church fight, but all was quiet when the police returned. It is believed to have been one of the individual skirmishes growing out of the church riot, many of which have occurred since.

A NEW NATIONAL PARTY.

Will Aim to Secure Prohibition and the Reform of Politics.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 18.—Preliminary steps were taken yesterday at Lafayette hall for the formation of a new national party whose main object will be to secure prohibition and the reform of politics generally. Dr. S. D. Woods of Connelville, Pa., was elected president. A number of letters of regret were read, including those from Miss Francis E. Willard, ex-Gov. John P. St. John of Kansas, and Mrs. Anna P. Hamner, president of the Pennsylvania Women's Christian Temperance Union.

The first order of business taken up was the selection of a name for the new party, and during its discussion the plans of the promoters came near being disrupted.

Without reaching a conclusion as to name an adjournment was taken.

AGAINST EIGHT HOUR LAW.

Illinois Supreme Court Declares it Unconstitutional.

Mount Vernon, Ill., March 18.—In a unanimous opinion rendered yesterday the Supreme court holds that the eight-hour law for women passed in 1893 is unconstitutional, and the section appropriating $30,000 for salaries of factory inspectors is null and void. The burden of the decision is that women in respect to contracts are on the same footing with men and that an act which abridges the freedom of a lawful occupation is unconstitutional. In far reaching results the decision is most important. It is the first decision in the United States against the eight-hour law and presents a new obstacle in the path of the movement for shorter hours.

Cuban Revolt Spreading.

Tampa, Fla., March 18.—The steamship Olivette arrived yesterday from Havana with news of the revolt in Cuba. A Cuban, who has come on an important mission, stated that a provisional government had been organized, and that Gen. Marti had been made provisional president. Gen. Gomez was made general-in-chief. The revolutionary army as now organized consists of 5,000 infantry and 3,000 cavalry.

Have by Frost in California.

Vacaville, Cal., March 18.—The damage done in this vicinity by the heavy frost will not fall short of $225,000. The apricot crop has been almost destroyed and early cherries that would have been on the market in two weeks are all gone. The almond crop is ruined, and it is feared that peaches, plums and prunes are also damaged.

No One Knows Why It Is So.

Curiously enough the right hand, which is more sensitive to touch than the left, is less sensitive to temperature. If the two hands be dipped in two basins of water at the same temperature, the left hand will feel the greater sensation of warmth; nay, it will do this even when the thermometers show that the water in the left basin is really somewhat colder than in the right basin. With left-handed persons the reverse would be found.

Deadly Duel Between Farmers.

Atlanta, Ga., March 18.—John C. Hamilton, a farmer living in Butler, Ga., was shot and killed last night by J. L. Stahlnecker. The killing was on the public road, and Hamilton's body was not found until this morning. Stahlnecker claims self-defense, but has fled.

CHAIRMAN H. C. THOM IS DEAD.

Leader of the Wisconsin Republicans Succumbs After a Long Illness.

MADISON, March 18.—Henry C. Thom, chairman of the Republican state central committee, died Saturday night at 9:45 p. m. He had been dangerously ill since the middle of January, being stricken with paralysis shortly after the inauguration of the Republican state officers, who owed to his earnest work during the campaign much of their victory. The cause of death was paralysis brought on by blood poisoning, which followed serious kidney derangement.

He was born March 5, 1856, in Clinton, Rock county, Wis. His parents were Alexander Thom and Mary White, the latter a descendant of the Stewart clan, and both full-blooded Scotch. Alexander Thom was a wagonmaker, and Henry was educated at Clinton and completed the best course of learning obtainable in that town and then went to Oshkosh, where he attended the State Normal school. Later he taught school and still later went into the stock raising business. He was elected county school superintendent of Rock county early in the eighties, but put in most of his time lecturing and conducting farmers' institutes.

Governor Hoard made him dairy and food commissioner in 1889, but in 1891 when the Democrats came into power he went into business again as manager of a light and power company here, and held the place to his death. He was chairman of the Republican state central committee during the last two campaigns. He leaves a wife and four children, two boys and two girls. His wife was Miss Julia Scott, a daughter of Winfield Scott, of Oshkosh.

STORM HAVOC IN ALABAMA.

Three Lives Known to Have Been Lost and Three Men Missing.

GADSDEN, Ala., March 18.—News comes from several sections of the state of great losses in houses and cattle by the big rains and strong wind prevailing for the past few days. A cyclone struck Prouto and wrecked the house of W. O. Copeland. The house was torn from over the heads of the Copeland family and six members were more or less injured.

Lucy Haversham, a 9-year-old girl, was blown some distance against a tree, breaking her arm, leg and several ribs. From Brewton and Eufla some news of great damage to farms and destruction to cattle.

The worst fatality occurred on the Coosa river, thirty miles above this place. A waterspout burst and the river rose out of its banks, unloading the house of Jacob Anderson and carried him, his wife, and baby down the stream. The house was wrecked upon a rock and the three inmates drowned.

UNDER HOT BRICKS

Twelve Men of a Railway Fire Company Caught,

CRUSHING OUT THE LIVES OF THREE.

Others Severely Wounded, One of Whom May Die, and $100,000 Worth of Property Destroyed—Reckless Use of Coal Oil and Gasoline to Kindle a Fire Has a Terrible Result—Valuable Block Burned at Cleveland—Injurious Wiped Out.

TOLEDO, O., March 18.—The round-house of the Wabash Railroad company in this city, located at the foot of South street on the dock front, burned to the ground. Three-quarters of an hour after the first alarm was sent in the southwest wall of the building, 60 feet in circumference, fell in, burying twelve men underneath it. Two of them were instantly killed, a third died a short time after being taken out of the debris, and the others were all badly hurt, one probably fatally. All but one, John Bowen, are employes of the Wabash. The dead are: R. H. Bohman, skull crushed, internally injured; J. P. Preston, back broken, skull crushed, internally injured, killed instantly.

Eight Others More or Less Hurt. Following are the injured: F. H. Howard, head bruised, face cut, and slightly burned; John Leary, leg broken, arm crushed, skull fractured, may die; Patrick McDonogh, skull fractured, shoulder broken; Martin Greenburg, head cut; Harry Zimmerman, legs sprained, body bruised; Casper Becker, head bruised, shoulder sprained; Henry Gording, head bruised and cut; T. C. Lauer, head and neck sprained, head cut. When the first alarm of fire was given General Foreman Howard summoned the company's private fire department, consisting of fifteen men, to the scene and a stream of water was directed towards the blaze, but with little effect, as a heavy wind was blowing.

Roof Falls in on the Engines. When Fire Chief Mayo reached the fire he saw there was danger of the flames reaching the oil house, repair shops, and the Wabash elevator, all in close proximity, and he immediately sent in a general alarm. Meanwhile the road's fire company had directed its efforts toward smothering the flames in the southeast end of the structure, which menaced the oil house, and the fire at this point was held fairly in check. The roof was now all ablaze and threatened to collapse every moment, but the falling of the walls was not at this time anticipated. But the iron braces supporting the roof expanded in the intense heat, and the frail frame covering gave way with a muffled roar, falling in on the stalled engines.

Twelve Out of Fifteen Caught. At this moment the southwest wall, 18 feet high and 18 inches thick, was seen to totter outward from the lateral pressure of the falling roof, and a yell went up to apprise of their danger the fifteen men at work at this portion of the building. The warning came too late, and twelve of the men were buried in a pile of bricks several feet high. That only two were killed outright was nothing short of miraculous. Streams of water were poured on the smoking debris, and as soon as possible the work of rescue began. Preston and Bowen were buried completely and were dead some time before their bodies were reached. They were badly crushed, Bowen's features not being recognizable.

Property Loss Reaches $100,000. The firemen had a stubborn fight with the now doomed round-house, the heavy wind greatly aiding the stubborn flames. It was not practically under control until it had destroyed all that was inflammable of the building. The property loss is estimated at $100,000, probably insured. The round-house, which had a capacity of twenty locomotives, contained only six engines and these are all badly damaged. A Wheeling and Lake Erie coal car and a Baltimore and Ohio box car were consumed.

Two More Wounded Men Found. Late last night two more men were found who were injured by the falling wall. They are: J. Finlay, an engineer, of Andrews, Ind.; George Towers, a machinist—both in the employ of the Wabash. Finlay is quite seriously hurt. His chest was crushed, and he sustained a severe scalp wound. Towers has a fractured leg and is more or less bruised.

RESCUED FROM A BURNING BLOCK. Sixteen Person Saved by Extension Ladders—A Holocaust Averted. OMAHA, March 18.—Sixteen people were rescued from the third and fourth stories of the burning Withnail block, corner of Fifteenth and Harney, by Omaha firemen with the aid of extension ladders. A number of them were young women, and all were carried out in safety. Though the damage to the block was less than $10,000 the fire cut off all escape by destroying the elevator and staircase, and for a few minutes the situation of the inmates on the top floors was critical. Many of them were with difficulty restrained from jumping to the pavement below.

Theories of incendiarism were reported to Chief of Detectives Hayes and detectives examined the debris and found deposits of combustibles. The only trace of the large stock of furs that the firm of Schultz & Co. claim to have carried were about a dozen muffs, which were partially burned. As these were found where the fire was hottest it was believed that similar traces would remain of the other furs if they had been there. The firm occupied the lower floor and had $5,000 insurance on the stock. Circumstantial evidence of arson was so strong that William Schultz and his manager, James H. McCabe, were arrested and charged with firing the building. Part of the stock, $700 worth, was located in an adjoining building.

FATALLY RASH WITH COAL OIL. A St. Paul Woman Manages to Roast Herself and Niece to Death. ST. PAUL, March 18.—Mrs. Frances Sumner, of 883 Payne avenue, in lighting her fire tried a mixture of kerosene and gasoline, but as the fire did not even then start up quickly she poured out more of the mixture from the can. The can exploded and was blown up in the air, knocking down a burning lamp which also exploded. The result was that Mrs. Sumner and her niece, Miss Nellie Clonson, were terribly burned. Miss Clonson died at 3 p. m., and Mrs. Sumner died a little before 6 p. m., both having suffered terribly.

Miss Clonson was a milliner and her home was at Roscobel, Wis. Mrs. Sumner was from Richland Centre, Wis., and had been divorced. Her former husband is living with a new wife only a square away from where she perished in so horrible a manner.

OTHER VALUABLE PROPERTY RAZED.

Fire at Cleveland Burns out The World and Kellogg's Newspaper Union. CLEVELAND, O., March 18.—The Worthington block, at the corner of Ontario and Noble streets, occupied by The World newspaper plant and the A. N. Kellogg Newspaper company, was entirely destroyed by fire soon after 6 o'clock last evening.

The building was of brick and five stories in height. The basement and second floor were occupied by the Kellogg Newspaper company, with a composing room and stereotyping plant, while the World occupied the first and fifth floors. On the third floor was the Clafan Manufacturing company, makers of light hardware, and on the fourth floor was the Bandeau Bros.' Passementerie company, manufacturers of dress and eie k trimmings.

The loss on the building is estimated at $40,000, with $5,000 insurance. The loss of the Cleveland World is placed at $60,000, with $40,000 insurance. The Kellogg Newspaper company's loss is $41,000 and the insurance $21,000. The Clafan Manufacturing company and Bandeau Bros. lose about $10,000 each, which is insured.

Rescued with Great Difficulty. MILLERSBURG, O., March 18.—The Holmes county infirmary, near this place, burned, causing a loss of $25,000, upon which there was an insurance of $15,000. The forty-six inmates of the institution were rescued with great difficulty, but all were taken out safely.

Costly Blaze at St. Louis. ST. LOUIS, March 18.—The storage warehouse and elevator of Hugh Rogers & Co., dealers in salt and grain, at the corner of the levee and Bremen avenue, was burned, causing a loss of $300,000 on the building and contents; fully insured.

TWO OF THE ITALIANS ESCAPE. The List of Mob Murders at Walsenburg, Colo., Reduced to Seven. WALSBERG, March 18.—Pietro Giabano one of the men supposed to have been killed at Bear Creek last Tuesday night, has been found. He was discovered by some Mexicans about ten miles from the scene of the tragedy. His feet were frozen and he was in a pitiable condition from exposure, hunger and fright. The sheriff took him to Pueblo, where he was placed in jail. Antonio Biabotto, the other prisoner, has not yet been found, and Pietro does not know where he is. Pietro's feet were frozen, and he was unable to walk any longer. Antonio left him. If Biabotto escaped, the mob murders number seven instead of nine.

What Will He Do with Them? DENVER, March 18.—Governor McIntyre last night issued a proclamation offering $1,000 reward for the capture of any or all the men who lynched the Italians at Walsenburg.

Question of Indian Citizenship. MILWAUKEE, March 18.—Judge Jenkins, of the United States court, has handed down a decision on the petition of David Blackbird for a writ of habeas corpus, denying it. Blackbird is an Indian. His petition for a writ of habeas corpus is based on the claim that he, having taken lands under the allotment act, is a citizen of the United States, a resident of the state of Wisconsin, and amenable under the laws of the state and not the United States for the offense of which he stands convicted. Judge Jenkins has concluded that the matter had best be decided by the supreme court of the United States.

President Home from His Duck Hunt. WASHINGTON, March 18.—The president and party have reached the city on the lighthouse tender Violet. There were Mr. Cleveland and Dr. O'Reilly, his physician; Commander Lambertson, superintendent of the lighthouse district, and Commander Wilde, the secretary of the lighthouse naval board. Of the ten days the party was out but two were actually spent in hunting birds, owing to the weather. In that time the party shot 10 brant, 41 ducks, and twelve snipe. Only two brace of the largest of each were taken from the vessel. The president looked well, and said his outing had done him good.

Death of Ex-Representative Leedom. TOLEDO, O., March 18.—Ex-Congressman JOHN P. Leedom, once a well-known figure in the national political field, died in Toledo at the age of 47 years. Leedom had been living here in seclusion for the past two years at the residence of his sister. Leedom was two terms sergeant-at-arms of the house. Although entirely innocent himself his public career was ended by the defalcation of Silcott, his deputy, who robbed the funds in his charge of $100,000, a good part of the sum being salaries of representatives.

Was Careless with His Whisky. NEWARK, Conn., March 18.—William Havens, of this city, a brakeman on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, went home at night and placed a bottle of whisky on the dining room table. His son James, aged 5, and his little daughter Marguerite, aged 4, were up before the others next morning, and seeing the bottle they drank a large quantity of its contents. James died in convulsions and no hopes are entertained for the little girl.

PETERSBURG, March 18.—The Chinese envoy has solicited the intervention of Russia for the protection of the integrity of China's continental territories, in the event of Japan insisting upon concessions on the Chinese main land. Sagan, general freight and passenger agent of the southern Minnesota division of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, died here from the effect of a surgical operation. He was but 33 years old and well-known in railroad circles.

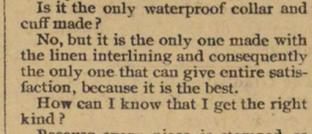

THAT'S QUEER!

You say a collar and cuff that are waterproof? Yes. And perspiration will not affect them? Yes. And when dirty you need only wipe them off with a wet cloth or sponge? Yes. Wonderful! How are they made? A linen collar covered on both sides with waterproof "CELLULOID." Looks exactly like a linen collar.

Is it the only waterproof collar and cuff made? No, but it is the only one made with the linen interlining and consequently the only one that can give entire satisfaction, because it is the best.

How can I know that I get the right kind? Because every piece is stamped as follows:

Inquire for that and refuse anything else, or you will be disappointed. Suppose my dealer does not have them? He probably has, but if not, send direct to us, enclosing amount. Collars 25c., Cuffs 50c. State size, and whether collar wanted is stand-up or turned-down.

A course of lectures on "Memory" is being given in Newberry hall, the first lecture being given this evening. Prof. G. A. Schram is the lecturer. A few years ago a lecturer took several hundred dollars out of town, binding each of his patrons not to divulge his system under heavy penalties. And to learn the presidents in order certain of those who took the lectures were overheard repeating "Washington—Washington—Washington day, Monday, first day, first man, Adam, Adams," and so on ad infinitum.

Tobacco Growing in Old Washtenaw.
A great many farmers and others interested in the advancement of agricultural institutions, not only in Washtenaw county, but in the entire state of Michigan, will look forward with much interest to the result of an experiment that is to be made the coming season by a gentleman residing temporarily near this city, on the "Culture, Production and Curing of Tobacco." The party referred to has traveled extensively in the tobacco districts of the south and east, and has devoted much time and money in investigating the raising and preparing of the crop. An area of about two acres will be used for the experiment, and a careful study of the growth and development of the plant, and the progress made while undergoing the process of curing, will be made and reported to the Agricultural Department at Washington.

At the request of the editor, he has kindly furnished us with a few figures which may be of interest to our readers. It is a well-known fact that the progressive farmer of this state has been searching for a more profitable staple crop to produce than wheat. With wheat yielding on an average for the past ten years of 15 bushels per acre, and the price being around 50 cents per bushel, he feels disposed to give over the production of this article as a staple crop to his northwestern brother, and if tobacco can be successfully and profitably grown here in the north, the day may not be far distant when it will be produced in this section as a staple crop.

Tobacco is profitably grown in the north, in Wisconsin (which is practically in the same latitude as Michigan). An impression prevailed for many years that tobacco could not be profitably grown in high latitudes, and it was not until the value of the northern grown leaf as a wrapper for Havana fillers for cigars was ascertained that it took a prominent place among the productions of the farm. But its culture spread slowly, there being much prejudice existing with a large class of farmers against its production, and it was believed that it would quickly exhaust the fertility of the soil; that it was a useless product; that it ministered to a depraved appetite, and that the extension of its culture would be an unmixed evil.

It gradually increased, however, in acreage in Wisconsin, so that the census of 1870 showed a production of 960,813 pounds, an increase of just 1,000 per cent. in ten years. In 1880 a still further increase is noted, when the acreage was 3,810 acres, which yielded 10,608,423 pounds, which was sold at an average price of from 7 to 15 cents per pound. Last year the total production of tobacco in that state was 14,669,592 pounds.

The value of tobacco per acre is relatively high, with a very wide range, from $204.28 to $44.24 per acre. The highest yields and prices per pound are for seed; leaf tobacco, used exclusively for cigars, and grown solely in the northern states, and mainly in a few counties on the Connecticut river, three in New York, three in Pennsylvania, and in limited districts in Wisconsin and Ohio. During the past ten years the average yield per acre of tobacco in Virginia was 596 pounds, and the average value per acre was $44.85; while for the same period in Wisconsin the average yield per acre was 967 pounds, and the average value per acre was $101.45.

This will not be the first tobacco grown in this state by any means, as a research of the records shows that tobacco has been grown in Michigan, and that it has undergone many changes in the last fifty years, if we may accept the returns of the census as truly reflecting conditions. In 1849 the product of tobacco in this state was 1,245 pounds; in 1859 the product rose to 121,099 pounds, and fell again to 5,385 pounds in 1869. In these years no returns of acreage were made. In 1879 the area devoted to tobacco was returned as 170 acres and the product 83,969 pounds; while in 1889 another decline is shown, only 22 acres having been planted, and producing 11,984 pounds.

It would seem from these figures that the industry had in the past met with obstacles that hindered a steady growth or even a stationary production. Whether they were of a climatic nature, or due to soil deficiencies, or want of proper care in the culture and preparation of the crop, are questions upon which the writer has no definite information.

The experiment will demonstrate whether or not tobacco can be successfully and profitably grown in this vicinity.

GROWS * ATTRACTS * EXPANDS

Earnest efforts to make merit and price produce a crowded house has never been signalized with greater success. The power of ready cash to secure bargains was never so thoroughly displayed as in our purchases when we took advantage of the strife for business between New York importers and direct representatives of foreign manufacturers. To illustrate our point:—During the fall months of last year, after the Wilson bill had become an assured fact and the extent of the reduction to take effect January 1 was known to a certainty, foreign manufacturers finding the bars down on this side, flocked over to this country like a flock of sheep determined to reap the full benefit the provisions of that measure afforded them. Our own importers, jealous of their prerogatives, resented their coming and a war of prices for future delivery ensued. During this exciting time the syndicate, of which we were a member, was enabled to make contracts with foreign makers for many lines of goods at prices really less than cost of importation, to be delivered January 1st, but which, on account of the crowded condition of the custom house, we did not receive until 20 days later.

When the glories of the textile art—the wonders of the highest pitch of loom possibilities, more as from being fairy land than from machinery, were displayed, they placed us so far ahead in popular favor that competition could not catch our shadows, and that woman who could have resisted the temptations placed before her would have been a marvel in the Garden of Eden. A most wonderful trade followed, necessitating the employment of additional help in January and February, a thing hitherto unknown, and our first orders were duplicated, some of them a second time.

EASTER OFFERINGS

You may think it early for us to start an Easter Sale, but one of the things we have learned by experience is the necessity of being in the lead--to forecast the wants of the trade and have what the customer wants before they need them--then when the pleased customer makes the demand we are ready to fill it and are entitled to his custom. When the season arrives seasonable weather does not always accompany it. The alert merchant and the experienced buyer is ahead of both weather and season and the importations are at hand. If you don't want to make your Easter purchases now come and see what we're offering--When you want to buy you will know where to go.

Ancient history tells us that geese once saved the City of Rome from destruction at the hands of the Gauls. We have no geese, but we have HUNDREDS OF BARGAINS that will save your pocket-book many dollars. This is modern history.
