52d COMMENCEMENT

745 Graduates Received Their Diplomas Yesterday.

25th ANNIVERSARY

Of Dr. J. B. Angell's Presidency of the University

Was Fittingly Celebrated Wednesday.— A $10,000 Memorial Fellowship Founded in His Honor.— Events of the Week.

The 52d annual commencement of the University of Michigan has come and gone and yesterday morning 745 students received their diplomas, the largest class ever turned out by any American university. Of this number 337 are from the law department, including 20 for advanced degrees; 196 from the literary department, 74 from the engineering, 31 from the medical, 23 from the pharmacy, 6 from the homeopathic and 58 from the dental.

It was in many respects a most remarkable commencement, coming as it did on the 25th anniversary of President Angell's presidency of the institution and the exercises incident to that event will make it an occasion that will always be remembered with pride by the graduate who received his diploma this year.

The exercises were opened with music by the Chequamegon, followed with a short prayer by Dr. Angell. Next came the commencement address by Charles K. Adams, LL. D. It was a long wined affair delivered from manuscript and lasted an hour and a half, during which time the audience flinched and perspired on the "downy" seats of university hall, hoping that each moment would see the end of it.

Another selection of music followed and then each individual graduate received the reward of his or her years of study. The benediction was pronounced and the great crowd which had filled the hall to overflowing, slowly melted away.

The events of the week are briefly narrated below in the order in which they occurred.

THE BACCALAUREATE SERMON

Delivered Sunday night by President Angell was one of the best that popular speaker has ever delivered. A synopsis of it will be found on the seventh page of this paper.

LAW CLASS EXERCISES.

By the request of the senior law class Prof. Floyd R. Mechem delivered the last lecture in their college career on Monday morning. He spoke for about three quarters of an hour on two topics, "The relation of the lawyer to society" and "The function of law as a conservator of society."

The class day exercises were called at 2 o'clock in University hall, when the 338 senior laws and about 2,000 others were on hand. The class officers and speakers of the day were seated on the platform, at one end of which appeared the law department's oil portrait of Judge Cooley, and at the other the veiled portrait of Prof. J. C. Knowlton, just finished and ready to be presented as the gift of the '96 law class to the department in which he has labored. The platform was also tastefully decorated, the university and class colors predominating. Pres. Fred L. Ingraham delivered his address, which was one of the best ever made by this popular speaker. Henry Edward Nothomb, of Iowa, gave the class poem, under two heads "The lawyer's fee" and "The parting." Daniel R. Williams, of Missouri, officiated as class historian. The oration was delivered by Earl Dewey Reynolds, of North Adams. Its title was "The ethical dominance in society." It was well delivered. The valedictory was delivered by Edgar P. O'Leary, of Kansas, and was one of the best features of the day.

The presentation speech of the oil painting of ex-Dean J. C. Knowlton, was made by Daniel Reece Hughes, of Beaver, Mo. The gift was formally accepted for the university by Regent Levi L. Barbour.

THE SENIOR PROMENADE.

The senior promenade on the campus Monday evening was one of the pleasantest of the many pleasant events of Commencement week. The walks around the main building were lined with rows of Chinese lanterns, while the walk in front of the building was spanned by arches artistically decorated with lanterns. The evening was an ideal one for such an event and the 2,000 or more people who thronged the walks will not soon forget the senior promenade of 1896. The Chequamegon orchestra furnished the excellent music that served to enliven the occasion and it was much appreciated. Many fraternity houses also the residence of Prof. T. M. Cooley were decorated with lanterns, among them the Zeta Psi, Beta Theta Pi, Delta Kappa Epsilon and Psi Upsilon chapter houses were hung with Chinese lanterns, while the last mentioned house had a special decoration in the shape of the Greek letters of the fraternity outlined in electric lights over the entrance.

LITERARY CLASS DAY.

The '96 class day exercises were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, under the Tappan oak, which has become historic as the place where so many like scenes have been enacted. A crowd of 1,000 or more had gathered to witness the proceedings among whom were many old graduates who eagerly compared notes on the difference between the exercises of today and those of the period when they graduated. The Chequamegon furnished the music and the speeches of the day were commenced by Edward Bishop House, of Greeley, Colo. president of the class, who delivered the president's address. Miss Annie Louise Bacorn, of Ann Arbor, gave the class history and pictured the doings of the class of '96 with great attention to detail and humorously. The class orator was Frank P. Sadler, of Grove City, Ill., who has distinguished himself along the line of oratory on several occasions since he has been in the U. of M. His subject was "The ideals in practical life," and he was warmly congratulated for his efforts.

Miss Euretta A. Hoyles, of Aurora, Ill., the class poet, took for the theme of her muse, "Under Tappan Oak." She told of the oak's history and wove around it a beautiful Grecian legend. Miss Alice E. Rothmann, of Ann Arbor, in her prophecy the "New Arabian Nights," foretold all kinds of good things for the class and university.

Then came the presentation to the university of complete casts of the famous Arch of Trajan, now standing at Benevento, Italy, which is the memorial of the class of '96. The presentation speech was made by Alonzo H. Tuttle, of Decatur, Ill., and was responded to by Prof. Kelsey on behalf of the university.

SENIOR RECEPTION.

The senior reception Tuesday night was not as largely attended as was last year's, but when the grand march began at 9:30 o'clock, led by C. C. Parsons, Delta Upsilon, and Miss McLaughlin, of Detroit, there were 250 couples on the floor. The Waterman gymnasium had been handsomely decorated by Charles F. Stabler, who had fairly outdone himself for the occasion. The main floor of the dancing hall was banked in a deep red, set off by ferns and hanging baskets of flowers. The chaperones' booth directly across from the entrance, was a modern drawing room, covered with yellow and blue and the American flag, carpeted with heavy rugs and hung with pictures and flowers, and presented an attractive appearance. The rafters were hidden from view by a mass of yellow and blue, offset by flags of all nations, and here and there a Japanese lantern. The novel feature of the decorations was two stands at the east and west ends of the gallery, covered with electric lights and the American flag with '96 in the center.

The ladies' dressing room was placed upstairs and refreshments were served down stairs on long tables. The programs were very neat and handsome. T. P. Hickey as floor manager kept everything running smoothly. Music was furnished by Schrenser's band and orchestra, of Detroit, and the Chequamegon orchestra. During the earlier part of the evening the gallery was crowded with spectators.

The chaperones were Mesdames J. B. Angell, M. L. D'Ooge, V. C. Vaughan, H. B. Hutchins, C. E. Greene, A. H. Pattengill, M. E. Cooley, A. A. Stanley, J. C. Knowlton, W. P. Lombard, A. C. McLaughlin, P. R. dePont, Waite and G. W. Patterson.

ANNIVERSARY EXERCISES.

The celebration of the 25th anniversary of President Angell's connection with the University of Michigan, held in university hall on Wednesday morning, was an occasion of great moment in university history as well as being profoundly impressive. The exercises began at 10:15 o'clock, the front of the stage was occupied by Dr. Angell and those who were to speak, behind them was Prof. A. A. Stanley, the Choral Union and the big organ. The faculty occupied seats in the front part of the hall facing the stage.

The president entered the hall upon the arm of Regent Butterfield. The faculty arose in their seats to greet him, and the great university organ poured out a grand triumphant melody. Rev. J. M. Gelston, of the class of 1869, invoked a blessing upon the assembly and Regent Butterfield, of Grand Rapids, acting as chairman of the meeting, presently introduced Regent Cocker, who spoke in behalf of the board of regents.

He was followed by Prof. M. L. D'Ooge, who spoke of the career of the university during the past 25 years and enumerated the good work that had been done by President Angell. Its growth has been remarkable; its resources have been trebled and the number of students attending it annually has increased from 1,200 to 3,000. In concluding he said: "Our memories thrill today with sacred recollections of the past, and we fancy we hear mingling with our words of greeting, voices from the land of those beloved colleagues, who 25 years ago stood here to bid you welcome to this post of honor, but who are with us now only in memory and in spirit, to join with us in these expressions of our esteem and praise. Whatever be the future of this university, your work in its be-

TRIENNIAL REUNION

Of The Older Ann Arbor High School Alumni.

A PLEASANT AFFAIR

In which Toast, Speech and Song Were Blended.

Judge McAlvay Was Toast-master and Justice C. B. Grant Called the Roll of the Class.—Reminiscent Speeches by All.

The parlors of the Presbyterian church, Ann Arbor, on Monday afternoon and evening, were the scene of more life and animated conversation than has been there in many a day. The occasion was the second triennial reunion of the older high school alumni, that is those who graduated during the first 20 years of the high school's existence, from 1856 to 1876. It was a joyous, happy assemblage, 145 people taking supper at the well laden tables set out by the ladies of the Presbyterian church. The hour mentioned in the invitations for the reunion was 4 o'clock p. m., but as early as 3 o'clock many had already gathered and from then on until 6 o'clock, when the larger part of the old scholars began to assemble, the flow of conversation and friendly greetings was uninterrupted.

It was after 6 o'clock, however, when the "scholars" began to come thick and fast, that the hum of voices increased until it almost seemed as though a talking match were going on to see who could talk the most—perhaps there was, for people, many of whom have not seen each other in 20 years, can find lots of reminiscences of youthful days to speak about.

At 6:30 the assemblage was called to the dining room to the banquet, which was under the direction of Judge Aaron V. McAlvay, '64, of Manistee, toastmaster. Rev. J. M. Gelston, '65, spoke the invocation and then the toastmaster said the scholars would "sing before they eat, because if they did not sing before they eat, he knew enough about them to know that if they did not sing before they eat, they would not sing after they eat." The scholars then rose and sang the old school song "Come, come away," Mrs. L. D. Wines presiding at the piano. A nominating committee to name the officers for the next term was appointed as follows: Dr. W. B. Smith, chairman, Miss Alma G. Cornwell and Mrs. L. G. Downs. This business over, the eating began and was continued until the whole company was satisfied.

After the banquet Judge McAlvay rang for order and in a short but witty speech in which he "feelingly" alluded to the "warm" recollections that he had of those old days, he called on Judge C. B. Grant, who was the third principal of the high school, to call the roll. It was pretty generally answered to. Another song "Never to be late" was sung and the first regular number of the list of toasts was called "The opening of the Ann Arbor high school," Prof. Daniel B. Briggs. In the absence of that gentleman the toastmaster called on Mr. E. B. Pond, who was president of the school board at that time, to take Mr. Briggs' place.

Mr. Pond: I did not know, Mr. Toastmaster, that I was to speak, so have made no preparation.

Judge McAlvay: We are so well pleased with the preparation you may proceed with the recitation. (Laughter.)

Mr. Pond then gave an excellent resume of the opening of the high school in 1856, the teachers who taught in it, the formation of the school board at that time and other interesting items. He was accorded a rising vote of thanks for the good work he had done, not only for the schools of Ann Arbor, but throughout the state, by reason of his work in those earlier days.

"The Ann Arbor High School from 1856 to 1876," was the next toast and it fell to Judge C. B. Grant to speak to it. He spoke of the early days of the school, the first effort to raise a library which was the foundation of the present magnificent collection. An entertainment was given and the net proceeds of that entertainment was enough to purchase one book. The school he said had developed into the foremost high school of the state and rivaled Phillips Exeter Academy as a preparatory school for university work. He concluded with a few earnest remarks on law and order and the relation that teachers and schools bore to its enforcement.

Prof. M. L. D'Ooge was called on to speak to "The old days at school," and did so in a very feeling manner. He said he looked back on those old days as some of the happiest of his life. There was not, perhaps, then so much social life connected with the school, but it was a more unselfish one. "Teachers of the Ann Arbor high school from 1856 to 1876" was the topic assigned to Irving K. Pond, '75, Chicago, and he toasted the old teachers in a pleasing and witty manner.

Supt. W. S. Perry spoke on "Noted high school students." He ran over the list of alumni for the period represented from 1856 to 1876, and called attention to those who had particularly distinguished themselves since graduation. He mentioned 30 names, among them Miss Anna Boise, daughter of Prof. Boise, who by her father's connivance managed to study Greek in the university before the doors were open to women, thus becoming the first lady student; Judge McAlvay, Miss Emma Bower, Profs. J. B. Steere, V. M. Spalding and J. C. Knowlton, of Michigan; Henry F. Barton, of Rochester; Lucy Salmon, of Vassar; Katharine Koman, of Wellesley; George W. Knight, of Columbus, O.; Director John Schaeberle, of Lick observatory, California; S. Toyama, of Tokio university, Japan; Lawrence Hull, of Lawrenceville, N. J.; Atty.-Gen. Fred Maynard; State Senator J. R. McLaughlin, and Jesse Millspaugh, of Salt Lake City, Utah, who established and developed the schools of that city, beginning six years ago with the most primitive and crude conditions. A few single-room buildings have given place to a number of large modern school houses, and the mixed population of mormon and gentile under Millspaugh's skillful management go side by side to school without friction, and the school board, equally divided between the two parties, harmoniously supports the projects of the superintendent.

Mrs. Lucy Swift Bourne, '64, of Detroit, spoke of "The days of Auld Lang Syne," and a poem for the occasion "We always shall love thee" written by George Newell Lovejoy, '62, was sung to the tune "Auld Lang Syne."

Then followed a number of stories of old experiences and adventures, in many of which Supt. Wm. Robinson, of Detroit, cut quite a prominent figure. G. Frank Allmendinger told of Irving Pond climbing the old dome on the university while it was building and stood upon his head on the topmost cap. Many a reminiscence leaked out that has probably never been thought of for a long period of years, but there were always some who could recollect them.

The reunion came to an end with the election of officers and the benediction pronounced by Rev. J. Mills Gelston, who was called on for a speech but said that there were times when a minister's best speech was the benediction and he accordingly pronounced it.

The officers elected were as follows: President, Miss Emma E. Bower; first vice president, Mrs. Adelia Noble Cheever; second vice president, Mrs. Lucy Stowe Parker; corresponding secretary, Miss Pamela Noble; treasurer, Miss Lucy Chapin; necrologist, Miss Josie Hamilton. Executive committee, besides above officers: Miss Ella Nichols, Mrs. W. W. Wetmore, the Misses Lily Nichols, Georgia Goodrich, Annette L. Ailes, Mattie E. Goodale, Emma Loomis and Messrs. Otmair Eberbach, G. F. Allmendinger and J. V. Sheehan.

The reception committee were Mrs. Lucy (Stowe) Parker, Miss Ella E. Nichols, Mrs. Adelia (Noble) Cheever, Miss Eliza C. Ladd, Miss Emma E. Bower, Mrs. Mattie (McIntyre) Wetmore, Miss Pamela A. Noble, Dr. Willard B. Smith, Miss Lucy Chapin, Miss Marian Goodrich, Miss Annette L. Ailes, Miss Mattie E. Goodale, Mr. Herman O. Markham and Mr. John V. Sheehan.

ST. THOMAS' HIGH SCHOOL.

Graduating Exercises of the Class of '96 Wednesday Evening.

The graduating exercises of the St. Thomas' high school held in the school hall Wednesday evening, made a very pleasing entertainment. The class of '96 contains three young lady graduates, two of whom, the Misses Stella A. O'Hearn and Mary V. Dwyer, will enter the university this fall, while the other, Miss Nellie Brown, will remain at the St. Thomas' Conservatory of Music and devote herself still further to the study of music, she having won the free scholarship which is given away each year by that institution. The hall and stage were handsomely furnished in white and gold. The hall was filled to its utmost with friends of the graduates, anxious to see how they would acquit themselves.

Miss Nellie Brown played a piano selection "Polka de Concert" in a brilliant manner and then Miss Stella Agnes O'Hearn read her essay on "Energy and resistance." Her style was clear, the paper was nicely written and delivered with good effect. A selection by the orchestra was followed by the class song and more music, after which Miss Nellie Brown read a paper in Latin "De vita patroni nostri," a dissertation on the life of St. Thomas, the patron saint of the school, in which was brought out the principle that St. Thomas' denial of Our Lord was a new proof of the resurrection of Christ from the dead.

Miss M. Ellen Clarken's harp solo was encored and she gracefully responded to it.

Rev. E. D. Kelly then addressed the class taking for his theme the class motto, "Veritas est via mea." He divided it into three heads, first, to practice truth in regard to themselves; second, to seek truth in the moral law, and third, in matters educational. He advised them not to rest too much, for rest means rust, and rust means ruin. It is better for a person to wear out than to rust out. He then presented the diplomas and gold medals to each of the graduates, after which they were fairly loaded down with presents, the gift of members of the congregation.

Nervous

People often wonder why their nerves are so weak; why they get tired so easily; why they start at every slight but sudden sound; why they do not sleep naturally; why they have frequent headaches, indigestion and nervous

Dyspepsia

The explanation is simple. It is found in that impure blood which is continually feeding the nerves upon refuse instead of the elements of strength and vigor. In such condition opiate and nerve compounds simply deaden and do not cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla feeds the nerves pure, rich, red blood; gives natural sleep, perfect digestion, is the true remedy for all nervous troubles.

WASHTENAWISMS.

The June gathering of the Clinton Baptist social was held in J. Watson's grove, Bridgewater, Tuesday.

Rentfrow's Syndicate Shows, a two ring circus and menagerie, will be in Ypsilanti, Saturday, July 11.

A Free Methodist holiness convention and quarterly meeting has been in session in the Union church, Milan, the past week.

The Milan Leader says: "Village Treasurer Kelsey has his tax roll now and is ready to sell tax receipts cheap for cash."

Rev. Paul Irion, of Freedom, attended a mission festival at Owosso, Sunday, and his pulpit was filled by Rev. Mr. Alber, of Marshall.

The Webster Christian Endeavor Society gave a strawberry and ice cream social Friday night at the home of George W. Merrill.

Rt. Rev. Thos. F. Davies, D. D., bishop of Michigan, confirmed a small class at St. Luke's Episcopal church, Ypsilanti, last Friday.

Vere Blackmere, of Milan, while putting ice into a cream freezer while it was in motion, got his finger into the cogs, breaking the bones thereof.

Harry Ingersoll, of Milan, while lying on the grass the other day, had the third finger of his right hand cut nearly off by a lawn mower which was being propelled by another young man.

A colored people's woods meeting was held in McCarty's woods near Whittaker from Friday last until Sunday. A number of persons were baptized in Paint Creek on Sunday afternoon.

Miss Nellie Delaforce, a graduate of the Milan high school and of the Michigan Normal school, a teacher of experience holding a life certificate, has been employed as preceptress of the Dexter high school for the ensuing year.

A little son of Frank Bogardus, of Milan, was playing on the street Wednesday evening of last week when he was run over by a horse and cart, the wheel passing over his body and head. Fortunately he was not seriously hurt.

Mr. Arthur Lamkin and Miss Ida May Losee were married at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Losee, of Whittaker, on Wednesday of last week by Rev. J. A. Swenk in the presence of a party of 40 relatives and friends.

Daniel T. Hazen, a pioneer of Milan township, died June 11, of cancer and a complication of diseases, aged 79 years and 8 months. He came to Michigan when a young man, settling on the farm where he lived and died. He was supervisor of the town a number of years and also treasurer.

A series of camp meetings under the auspices of the Second Baptist church, Jackson, has been in progress at Hack's grove, Milan, the past week. At the Sunday afternoon service a representation of the return of the Prodigal Son was given in which the fatted calf was killed, barbecued and eaten.

The Macabee picnic at Milan, June 15, was a great success. Addresses were made by Mrs. Lillian Hollister, past great lady commander of the L. O. T. M., of Detroit, Past Great Commander Richard Connors, and others. The day was a fine one and everything went merry as a marriage bell.

The commencement exercises of the Dexter high school were held at the opera house in that village, Thursday evening of last week, and the promotional exercises the following evening in the same place. Both events were eminently a success and were largely attended. The first class graduated was in 1877 and there was one graduate. In all there have been 112 graduates from the school, 83 of whom have been ladies.

The annual commencement of the Milan public schools this year was one of the most successful class day exercises ever held in Milan. The graduates acquitted themselves with credit, each rendering his part well. Every subject was handled in a masterly manner. Miss Alice E. Delaforce delivered the salutatory. Miss I. Mae Alderman compiled and read the class history. Miss Clara B. Spencer was the authoress of the class poem; Miss Grace E. Davis made the prophecy; Claude R. Chapin handled "The growth of the nation"; the fulfillment of the prophecy was portrayed by Andrew E. Briggs; Miss Mary E. Sanforth gave the valedictory; after which Prof. Carrick gave his farewell address to the class and presented the graduates with their well earned diplomas.

Charles L. Downer, of Ypsilanti, has been awarded a pension.

Little Kenneth Gay, of Milan, fell off the porch Tuesday week and broke one of the bones in his right wrist.

Mrs. Albert Stuck, of Ypsilanti, who has been an invalid for three years, died at her home in that city, Thursday of last week, aged 47 years.

Grant Kimmel, of Superior, was kicked in the face by a horse on Saturday, but was not seriously injured, although the blow knocked him senseless.

The contract for the building of the opera house at Ypsilanti, has been let to M. O. Whalen. When completed the building, with its seating, heating and scenery will have cost $16,000.

A little son of August Lesser, of Dexter township, aged three years, fell from a fence Monday afternoon of last week and broke his left collar bone and dislocated his left elbow.

The mad dog that was killed in Chelsea recently made a tour of Dexter township before going there. In the course of his travels he bit several dogs, but it is believed that all have been killed.

Thos. Birkett, of Dexter, is improving his mill at Pinckney by putting in a new feed stone, new bolts, waterwheels, etc. He is also having the rolls reground and the whole mill put in first class shape.

Lima will celebrate the 4th in grand style. There will be bicycle races, ball games, fireworks and various other attractions. H. Wirt Newkirk and W. W. Wedemeyer will deliver addresses.—Chelsea Standard.

Special services for Huron Lodge, I. O. O. F., of Dexter, were held in the Baptist church, Dexter, last Sunday morning. The brethren proceeded thither in a body and listened to an excellent practical sermon by Rev. H. A. McConnell.

At the third anniversary of the Christian Endeavor society in Emanuel's church, Manchester, Sunday evening, June 14, delegations of 18 from Ann Arbor, 13 from Jackson and two from Dexter were present. Revs. Wildi, of Francisco, Meister of Rogers' corners, Irion of Freedom and Mayer of Jackson, took active part in the exercises.

The alumni reunion of the Manchester public schools in commemoration of the 25th anniversary of the first class that graduated therefrom, is being held in that village today. Judge Wing, of Ludington, who was superintendent at that time, is present to respond to a toast. The program for the day consists of literary exercises, a banquet and reception.

A division of the Knights of the Loyal Guard was organized in Saline, Wednesday night, June 17, with the following officers: Captain general, A. J. Warren; senior captain, G. W. Barr; junior captain, A. A. Wood; recorder, C. B. Rogers; paymaster, Rev. T. B. Leith; surgeon, Dr. B. F. Sheeder; board of auditors—A. A. Wood, A. J. Warren, G. W. Barr.

The Ypsilanti council of the Michigan Liquor Dealers' Protective Association held its second annual picnic at Arbeiter Grove, Ypsilanti, Thursday of last week. There was not near as large a crowd present as last year and no speeches were made. The most exciting event of the day was the fat men's race in which George Letter beat Adam Shaner. A dance was given in the evening.

Talk about ingratitude. A case was just recently settled in an attorney's office in this city (Ypsilanti) in which a young man 22 years of age had put in a claim for a year's wages against a family that had brought him up and given him the best of home since he was two years of age. The man and wife who adopted him cried at his action. The $100 which they gave him in settlement will probably never do him any good.—Evening Times.

Charles Hipp, of Ypsilanti, had his bicycle stolen Monday night by Walter Waldien, of Salem. Constables Roe and Buck were entrusted with a search warrant to find the machine and went to the young fellow's home but could find nothing. As they were going away they saw him coming down the road on the wheel. He saw them and abandoned the wheel, which the officers secured and tried to get him but he escaped to the woods.

An Ypsilanti physician attended an entertainment at the Noram! the other evening and was so annoyed and disturbed by the laughter and talk of two young men and girls, who were evidently not interested in the program, that he took one of the fellows and shook him until his teeth rattled like castanets. As he was coming down the stairs he noticed the "shaken one" laying for him with a club. The young man made a charge at him but the doctor knocked him out with a blow on the chin which had a very quieting effect.

The program for the Fourth of July celebration at Milan a week from tomorrow is as follows: Salute of 45 guns at sunrise; 9:30 a. m., grand street parade, headed by honorary guests, president and common council, followed by 100 bicyclists, Milan Cornet Band, representations of Milan business houses and manufacturing enterprises, societies, professions, trades, etc. and the "Humpty Dumpty Hoopdoo of Happy Valley;" 10:30 a. m., addresses by Rev. J. P. Hutchinson and Prof. C. H. Carrick, and other literary exercises, at 1 p. m., the sports will begin, consisting of amateur half mile bicycle race, 100 yard sack race, 100 yard fat men's race, 100 yard wheelbarrow race, etc., also a clay pigeon shoot; 4 p. m., free base ball game between Milan and Lake Ridge; 8:30 p. m., magnificent display of fireworks. Let the eagle scream! Milan is strictly in it!

The first alumni banquet of the Chelsea high school was held at the Chelsea house in that village Wednesday evening.

The Pinckney common council has passed a curfew ordinance which forbids children under the age of 15 years being on the streets after 9 o'clock p. m. between March and November, and 8 o'clock p. m. between November and March.

Rev. Wm. Gardam, rector of St. Luke's church, Ypsilanti, delivered the baccalaureate address to the Normal school graduates Sunday night in Normal hall. He took as his subject "Decision of character," and delivered one of the most scholarly addresses ever heard in Normal hall on a like occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Seely, of Ypsilanti, celebrated the 50th anniversary of their wedded life at the home of their daughter Mrs. W. H. Sweet, on the evening of June 15, among a company of 75 friends. The old couple have been residents of Michigan since 1839 and of Ypsilanti since 1868.

Rev. John Rickman, D. D., who got into trouble with his flock while pastor of the Second Baptist church, Ypsilanti, some time ago and was ousted from his office by the trustees for conduct unbecoming a doctor of divinity, is again in trouble. This time he is threatened to kill Mrs. Sarah Newton and reached in his pocket as she supposed for a pistol, at the same time he let his tongue loose with a torrent of invective wholly unbecoming a minister. Mrs. Newton asked to have him put under bonds to keep the peace. Constable Roe served the warrant Saturday night but the dominie refused to walk to jail and was unceremoniously loaded onto a dray and landed there. Prosecuting Attorney Randall adjourned the case for a week on Monday.

Eczema of the scalp or scald head, even in its most severe form is never-faillingly cured by Doan's Ointment, the surest specific for all itchiness of the skin.

Over Thirty Years Without Sickness.

Mr. H. WETTSTEIN, a well-known, enterprising citizen of Byron, Ill., writes: "Before I paid much attention to regulating the bowels, I hardly knew a well day; but since I learned the evil results of constipation, and the efficacy of Pills, I have not had one day's sickness for over thirty years—not one attack that did not readily yield to this remedy. My wife had been, previous to our marriage, an invalid for years. She had a prejudice against cathartics, but as soon as she began to use Ayer's Pills her health was restored."

Charles Binder, pressman of the Ann Arbor Argus, is about to take upon him the assistance of a wife. The ties that Binder to him are—O, hold on! Who threw that brick?

Virgil A. Comiskie fell $5,000 worth into an Ypsilanti excavation and asks the council to hand over the cash. The council is looking thoughtfully at the floor and pulling its chin whiskers.

A machete is a sword that cuts both ways. Now, what is a tongue that talks both ways? A politician?—Wash-tenaw Times.

Let the Times' "Politician" answer. Two lady "wheelmen" of Ypsilanti, collided "kerchuck" the other night and both rolled in the dust which rose and curtailed the incident. Instead of keeping to the right, they both went to the left.

A "Milkmaid's convention" was held at Ypsilanti, Tuesday evening, and those who were out that evening noticed that the "milky way" never shone brighter. This was a convention that milk made.

An Ypsilanti carpenter sued to recover $232.50 for building a house. The jury found that he had built so badly that they gave judgment of $225 for defendant. This was a case of going out for wool and coming back shorn.

William Gunn, of Ypsilanti, was shot into the penitentiary last fall on a four years' sentence. The Gunn has just been allowed to go off on parole, under the new law. William's delight is hung on a hair trigger and explodes at the slightest pull.

A Detroit carrier pigeon, let loose from Ypsilanti the other day, made the homing trip in 23 minutes, much less than a mile a minute. No one can blame the bird for making speed. Being a letter carrier it was afraid of getting mixed up with the Letter-Ryan factions.

"Members of the Choral Union of Ann Arbor, have failed to return about 75 copies of the Elijah music," says Librarian Bacon. The Union may not have it. It is just as likely as not that Elijah had the music in his pocket the day he went off on that hasty trip and never returned.

Some of the draymen of Ann Arbor, take exception to a criticism of the Times on the profanity of the draying fraternity and write a card to the paper saying among other things: "Why, many of those poor draymen never had a day's time to read the Bible to post up on sacred names to use profanity." This explains. It was evident from their awkward swearing that something was wrong.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had Consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida st., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in Coughs and Colds. The Monroe board of education has engaged Mr. LaRowe, of Ann Arbor, as teacher of physics, in the high school. The salary is $500, but the board has to furnish epsom salts, castor oil, and pills.

The annual encampment of the Macabees occurred last week at Saginaw. There was a good deal of wrangling and jangling and when we noted the re-election of Miss Emma E. Bower of Ann Arbor, as great record keeper of the proceedings ceased. We congratulate the L. O. T. M. on its choice.

A fine flowing well has been struck on the farm of M. J. Noyes, of Chelsea.—Ann Arbor Courier.

Yes, they are getting combative up that way. Two lawyers struck a jury a few days since, a farmer struck a 40 rod furrow in his cornfield, and one of the school boys who aspires to be an actor, actually struck an attitude before the entire class. Possibly the fellow who struck Billy Patterson hibernates at Chelsea.

The U. of M. ball club has lost the championship. We are not mourning, yet we feel a deal of sympathy for the boys. Three of the players were shoved out of the club, for what? To gratify a self sanctimonious assumption of "goodness." What was the height of their offending? Why they had dared to play "professional" ball. They had, when their own team was not engaged, helped some professional team in one or two games. For this heinous offence the board of control—whatever that is, suspended them from playing with the college club. We hope they won't play with it, and if the other members of the club had the patriotism, courage and spirit of men, they would never be seen on the diamond as a college team, but would let the board of control do the playing. They ought to have the independence of men, and resent the interference as unwarranted impertinence. Holmes, Bloomington and Lowney were the players barred.

SINFUL HABITS IN YOUTH

LATER EXCESSES IN MANHOOD
MAKE NERVOUS, DISEASED MEN

THE RESULT of ignorance and folly in youth, overexertion of mind and body induced by lust and exposure are constantly wrecking the lives and future happiness of thousands of promising young men. Some fade and wither at an early age, melancholy existence. Others reach matrimony but find no solace or comfort there. The victims are found in all stations of life.—The farm, the office, the workshop, the pulpit, the trades and the professions.

SYPHILIS EMISSIONS STRICTURE CURED

Wm. A. Walker of 10th Street says:—"I have suffered untold agonies for my 'gay life.' I was indiscreet when young and ignorant. As 'One of the Boys' I contracted Syphilis and other Private diseases. I had ulcers in the mouth and throat, bone pains, hair loose, pimples on face, finger nails came off, emissions, became thin and despondent. Seven doctors treated me with Mercury, Potash, etc. They helped me but could not cure me. Finally a friend induced me to try Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. Their New Method Treatment cured me in a few weeks. Their treatment is wonderful. You feel yourself gaining every day. I have never heard of their failing to cure in a single case."

CURES GUARANTEED OR MONEY REFUNDED

Capt. Chas. Ferry says:—"I owe my life to Drs. K. & K. At 14 I learned a bad habit. At 21 I had the symptoms of Seminal Weakness and Spermatorrhoea. Emissions were draining and weakening my vitality. I married at 24 under advice of my family doctor, but it was a sad experience. In eighteen months we were divorced. I then consulted Drs. K. & K., who restored me to manhood by their New Method Treatment. I felt a new life thrill through my nerves. We were united again and are happy. This was six years ago. Drs. K. & K. are scientific specialists and I heartily recommend them."

National Association of Credit Men. Elaborate preparations are being made by the Chamber of Commerce Association, the Toledo Traveling Men's Association and the local executive committee of Credit Men, in Toledo, to entertain right royally the National Association of Credit Men, who meet in that city, June 23, 24, and 25.

This meeting is the result of an organization formed at the World's Fair Congress of Credit Men, looking toward a permanent organization for the improvement of existing laws and collecting methods.

The association includes as active workers such prominent credit men as Don A. Kimball, of Marshall Field & Co.; W. H. Preston, Knapp-Spaulling Hardware Co.; Martin Howard, of C. M. Henderson & Co., and many others. Its object is one in which every person extending credit should be directly interested.

Special invitations cannot be sent to each person but all the committees in Toledo and the national executive committee in particular, desire the attendance of every one interested in the subject. It is to be hoped that Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti will be well represented at this convention.

Death of David W. Palmer.

David W. Palmer, of Bridgewater, for 60 years a resident of this county, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Lowery at 5 o'clock last Friday morning of old age. He was well known throughout the county as Squire Palmer and he had the respect and esteem of his numerous acquaintances.

He was a strong man, of stalwart frame and was naturally a leader. He was born in Mirham county, Connecticut, June 5, 1807. When he was three years old his family removed to Madison county, New York. He was educated at Hamilton College and taught school in New York for ten years and in Michigan for seven.

He came to Michigan in October, 1836, landing at Monroe and coming directly on foot to this county. He opened a school at Clinton and among his many scholars were Gen. Fiske, who ran on the prohibition ticket for president; Senator Felton, of California and the late Wirt Dexter, of Chicago. While teaching he took up 160 acres of land in Bridgewater from the government, splitting the rails himself with which to fence it.

He purchased a log house 20x24 feet in size for $5, which he moved upon his farm. He used six yoke of oxen to one plow to break the ground, and he took nineteen loads of stumps on a hay rack from one acre. In 1839 he was elected a justice of the peace of Bridgewater, he was re-elected in 1841 and in 1845. In 1847 he was elected township clerk and filled this office thirty-six years. He was secretary of the Southern Washtenaw Insurance Company for seventeen years.

Mr. Palmer was twice married, his first wife being Miss Flora L. Randall whom he married March 19, 1829. She died in New York in 1833. In 1837 he married his first wife's sister, Miss Fidelia D. Randall, who survives him. He leaves seven children: Francis M. Palmer, Mrs. Flora C. Calhoun, Dr. E. N. Palmer, Albert F. Palmer, Henry R. Palmer, Mrs. Addie S. Lowery and Ora H. Palmer. The funeral services were held Monday at his home.

For more than fifty years Mr. Palmer had been a reader of the Argus and the Detroit Free Press. He was a staunch democrat and a good citizen.

FACULTY BASE BALL.

The High School Won Saturday's Marvellous Game.

Those who were fortunate enough to visit the athletic field Saturday afternoon, were sorry that such exhibitions of skill and physical endurance on the diamond are not given oftener. The rivals for the championship honors were twenty or more members of the University senate and faculty of the Ann Arbor High School, with a few old time players of the board of education, who, fearful that the young professors from the hill would defeat the high school, lent their aid and are now limping around with swollen muscles as a result. Each side had its "rooters" and "howlers" on hand and words of encouragement greeted each player as he stepped up to bat.

The game was a wonderful one, beside which the late Chicago-Michigan series was as a side-show to the big circus. The costumes of the players were varied and unique, each player evidently planning to get something entirely different from his fellows. J. T. Jacobs in a suit of immaculate white duck was in strong contrast to Dr. Lombard, who covered left field for the university, clad, among other things, in a linen duster and big straw hat, and carrying a big Japanese parasol with which he protected himself from the sun during the playing. A few of the high school team appeared in regular baseball suits, and this had much to do with their victory, as it cast a feeling of almost certain defeat over the university men every time they looked at those suits. The university professors nearly all wore tennis suits or knickerbockers, and J. E. Beal and John R. Miner made their first appearance in the latter suit, the tall and not very fleshy form of the chairman of the board of supervisors starting even his closest friends in this attire.

W. W. Wedemeyer acted as umpire and from the center of the infield rendered decisions for which any ordinary man would have been mobbed, but his tall figure and commanding form was protection to him. Previous to the game the high school battery vainly practiced with L. D. Wines and Prof. Perry at the bat in an effort to get either of these gentlemen so they could hit a pitched ball, but finally gave it up and game was called.

The university team went to bat first and things looked discouraging for the high school representatives when Worcester hit the very first ball for two bases and was followed by Trueblood, who nearly scared J. T. Jacobs to death by a big liner that was making straight for him. J. T. got out of the way, finally managing to catch up with the rolling sphere and throw it about ten feet over the first baseman's head, Worcester scoring and Trueblood going to second. After Fitzgerald had been struck out, Patterson knocked a fly to short, which Beal surprised himself and everybody else by catching and hanging on to. Pattengill, who has a college-days' reputation of having knocked a ball over the medical building, made a scratch hit and reached first. He started to walk down to second, but Jocelyn would not have it that way and Pattengill was put out, although Pattengill kicked and thought Jocelyn had no right to throw the ball to first without giving him warning.

The high school team came to bat with a determination to win or die expression on every face. E. H. Scott grabbed the bat and hit for a base and went around to third on a wild throw, and home on a passed ball. Beal made a hit and then Springer knocked a nice easy fly right out where Prof. Pattengill was standing. The professor saw it coming, rubbed his hands together and made ready for it. But the professor changed his mind about this time. Those hands of his had not run up against anything so hard as a base ball in many years. He quietly stepped back about ten feet and the ball bounded to him. In the meantime Beal had crossed the home plate and Springer was going for third. Pat. threw to third, but misjudged the base by about 50 feet and Springer went home. Jocelyn made a hit and then proceeded to steal his way around to home as though the university players were not there. J. T. Jacobs made several attempts to hit the ball and finally did it, the sphere lying about six feet in front of him. Jacobs thought his duty ended when he hit the ball, and no power on earth could move him towards first base, as he stood proudly eyeing the ball and resting on his club until the pitcher had time to come up and put him out. Gammon made a hit and Perry went out on strikes. Wines and Miner couldn't bat as well as Jacobs, but they both have long legs and know how to use them, each reaching first, although neither came within a foot of hitting the ball. Scott ended the inning by striking out, the score then standing 6 to 2 in favor of the High School.

The Argus had intended to give a detailed account of each of the five innings, but commencement exercises and other important events have crowded the paper for space, so that the above is given only as a sample of the rest of the game. It was filled with star plays, scientific points and heavy batting. Among the most noticeable efforts were those of Supt. Perry, who tried to catch every ball that was batted, and managed to fall down each time he tried or else kicked the ball 10 or 15 yards further away every time he reached down to pick it up. In batting, J. T. Jacobs carried off the honors, but not a score did he make, owing to his prejudice against associating with the basemen of the opposing nine, and the distance he had to run to get around to home plate again. J. E. Beal was the star all-around performer, caught several flies, hit the ball every time it was pitched for him and scored three runs.

W. W. Wedemeyer acted as umpire and from the center of the infield rendered decisions for which any ordinary man would have been mobbed, but his tall figure and commanding form was protection to him. Previous to the game the high school battery vainly practiced with L. D. Wines and Prof. Perry at the bat in an effort to get either of these gentlemen so they could hit a pitched ball, but finally gave it up and game was called.

The nomination of McKinley and Hobart and the result of the St. Louis convention has not evoked any particular degree of enthusiasm in this section. In fact a number of republicans are hesitating about their vote this fall and are awaiting the democratic convention and also the outcome of the Teller movement before making up their minds as to what they shall do. In fact never before were politicians so unsettled as now. McKinley's sole title to distinction was his authorship of the McKinley bill, and the fact, by the way, that he is conceded to be personally honest. On other subjects than the tariff, he has never shown that he possessed strong convictions. As an executive he has not indicated the possession of strong executive talents. The older the canvass grows the harder work will it be to create an enthusiasm for McKinley and for Hobart, the unknown.

The nomination of Teller by the democrats at Chicago would be a colossal mistake. He is a republican in everything excepting their financial plank. He goes as far as McKinley for high tariff. He has had no change of heart. If nominated at Chicago, the spectacle would be presented of two republicans running for president, one for gold and the other for silver. There is no reason which a sound money democrat could give for supporting Teller.

The New York and Wisconsin democracy has declared for the gold standard. The Illinois, Indiana and Ohio democracy for the silver standard. The only possible honest compromise between the conflicting factions is international bi-metalism, the only possible bi-metalism, and one that can be obtained if this country is not foolish enough to present the European nations with the $600,000,000 of gold we have, which would naturally relieve them.

Capt. E. P. Allen, the delegate from this district to St. Louis, came out as a free silverite at that convention. He voted for the free silver plank but did not follow Teller out of the convention. He may, however, be heard on the stump supporting the St. Louis platform.

Awarded Highest Honors—World's Fair, DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER MOST PERFECT MADE. A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant, 40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

The University nine made up their minds that they had forgotten all about the national game in the first half of the fifth inning and acknowledged their defeat, the score then standing 10 to 8 in favor of the High Schools, the latter asserting that it was only out of their respect for the feelings of their university fraters that it was not 40 to 8 instead. The receipts amounting to $66 were donated to the woman's gymnasium fund.

THE SAME AS LAST YEAR. Equalization of the Several Towns Was Not Changed.

The board of supervisors of Washtenaw county met in the supervisors' room at the court house, Monday morning at 10 o'clock, to equalize the assessment of the county and appoint a delegate to the state board of equalization.

John R. Miner, first ward, city of Ann Arbor, was elected chairman of the board and he appointed the following committee on equalization: Hiram Lighthall, chairman, Edwin Ball, George Walter, S. S. Bibbins and Mortimer F. Case.

The committee submitted its report leaving the equalization of each township and ward at the same figures as those of last year. Ann Arbor city, $5,355,000; Ann Arbor town, $865,000; Augusta, $502,000; Bridgewater, $757,000; Dexter, $525,000; Freedom, $715,000; Lima, $81,000; Lodi, $15,000; Lyndon, $395,000; Manchester, $1,105,000; Northfield, $723,000; Pittsfield, $1,106,000; Salem, $908,000; Saline, $1,122,000; Scio, $1,305,000; Sharon, $745,000; Superior, $947,000; Sylvan, $995,000; Webster, $847,000; York, $962,000; Ypsilanti, first district, $1,935,000; second district, $55,000; total $25,000,000.

Mortimer F. Case of Pittsfield, was elected delegate to represent the county before the state board of equalization which meets in Lansing in August.

Commencement at Saline. This has been a lively week in school circles at Saline. Commencement was inaugurated by the baccalaureate sermon of Rev. T. B. Lieth. On Wednesday evening occurred class day at which the 14 graduates appeared at their best. The program was long but was greatly enjoyed by the 700 people who were able to get within the opera house. The usual class day list of salutatory, history, prophecy, poem and valedictory, together with two orations, two essays, two declamations, two recitations constituted the program and gave each of the seniors a part. The local Mozart Male Quartet furnished excellent and popular music for the occasion.

Thursday forenoon was occupied by promotion exercises and the placing of a class memorial stone in the school yard. Commencement proper came Thursday evening at which Supt. H. R. Pattengill gave the address. He spoke in his usual vigorous style, his subject being "Touch the button." The Ypsilanti society orchestra furnished music for the occasion.

The graduates and courses were as follows: Latin-Scientific course—Melissa Mary Hull, Alice K. Strum, Fred Gregory Pierce. German-Scientific course—Louise H. Burkhardt, Lilla M. Schaffer. English course—Donna O. LaRue, Otto S. Schairer, Don Albert Lawrence, Ida May Walker, Elroy Bennett Briggs, Abigail I. Chandler, Grosvenor Milo Rouse, John Ralph Mitchell, Sumner Dean Briggs.

Tonight the Alumni association holds forth with a special program.

A Long Felt Want Supplied. O. M. Martin received from the manufacturers in Detroit on Tuesday morning, a handsome new ambulance. It is something that has long been needed in Ann Arbor and not long ago the ladies of the Fruit and Flower Mission started to raise a fund to get one and have now about $75 on hand. This they can use in other charitable ways now that Mr. Martin has filled the want. The ambulance is fitted for either one or two horses and will be kept ready for use either day or night at Mr. Martin's undertaking establishment and all calls will receive prompt attention at a reasonable rate of compensation. The wagon is fitted up inside with a stretcher which can be taken out, the patient laid on it and then put back into the wagon. There is also a seat inside for the doctor or attendant alongside the stretcher. The sides are neatly padded in light brown leather. The front seat of the vehicle is arranged to accommodate a driver and one attendant. It is a neat and convenient affair and will doubtless come into general use for moving sick or injured people from one place to another.

SATURDAY A HUMMER

Last week we advertised the purchase of (1600) Sixteen Hundred (1600) suits of Men's Clothing, which we bought at our own price in the East the week before; and it was a pleasure to see them go out. Every suit is an ad' for us and this week we expect to be crowded with buyers.

Dealers who have been slumbering, like Rip Van Winkle for twenty years, must not expect to clothing selling at the old prices when they wake up. We carry an immense stock and are able to make a specialty of every price, from $5.00 Suits to $30.00 Suits. We are anxious to make this the largest year of our existence, and to do this are willing to part with our merchandise at a small margin. This is the greatest sale we ever made and the purchasers realize and appreciate our efforts.

It will do you good to see what we are able to do for you in the line of Men's, Boys' and Children's wear.

Sarah Leonard Haviland.

It seems very strange to hear so much praise going the rounds of the papers about, as they call her, Aunt Sarah Haviland. God forbid that I should ever entitle her or call her by that endearing name. I was brought up in the neighborhood where she lived. Her life until a short time before the murder of her three children had been spent in Augusta township, about three-quarters of a mile north from Whittaker's Corners. Ira Haviland, her first husband, was an easy sort of a man, not a bad neighbor, nor a very active one. His wife, Sarah, was forever on the road with her children, going somewhere. The neighbors tired of her oft-repeated visits. If she found the hostess sick it made no difference as to her visits. For she would get her own supper before leaving for her own home.

Why do those in trust, or those that have been in trust over our murderers, seem to pity a mother, who for the sake of a man's advice would murder those three innocent little ones? Could I lead you back 30 years—those who seem to honor that woman, called a mother—to the Ypsilanti old Quaker meeting-house, 7 1/2 miles south of that city, and on a cold gloomy day go inside the little old church, and see weeping eyes over those two little innocent ones, all bloated and of a waxen hue, in two little caskets side by side, lying in death's cold embrace. One, little Libbie; I think the name of the other, was Johnnie. I shall never forget the gloom that came over me as they were about going to the cemetery with those two, the word came "Do not bury them, there will be another here tomorrow morning." And those little bodies, laid all alone in the old church through the dreary night. I had seen enough to last me through life. And what became of the man, Dr. Baker? He was shut in a dungeon and after two years died. He was not a mother nor had he the love for those children which a mother should have had. Her son Will came home while those little ones were in spasms and a daughter, Phoebe, and she tried to induce them to drink of the same. Now, look up to that woman and release her. Do our laws become void because we have some sympathy? God forbid. We cry for justice and not sympathy. Oh, she has been so good. Allowed privileges against justice. So good, as many are good, because they dare not be any other way.

She has one daughter, Jane (Mrs. Robert Kircher), buried also in the Quaker or Union cemetery. She was much of her father's turn. Mrs. Haviland has two grandchildren living at Whittaker's Corners, and relatives a short distance from the same place.

Her wealthy daughter, Phoebe, married a negro by the name of Charles Scipio. They lived together some time. She has since lived with a man by the name of Moore, not as likely a man as the first from observation. They were so poor, having neither house nor home, nor anything womanly or manly about them. This is the wealthy daughter whom she expects to spend her days with. A few months ago they went to Canada. Phoebe has a daughter who wedded one Bill Bird, a colored lad and lived at Whittaker. Why not call back Dr. Baker and Mudgett and liberate them?

It would be a good idea for Ypsilanti merchants to raise their awnings a little higher or Ypsilanti milliners to trim their hats a little lower. Collisions between the two are frequent and unpleasant, and have a crushing effect upon both hats and wearers.—Ypsilantian. Same thing here, although not so bad as it used to be before the marshal ordered the awnings raised a trifle.

The good work of $100 subscriptions to the building fund of the Young Men's Christian Association still goes on. On Friday Dr. W. F. Breakey gave his check for $100. On Saturday, C. W. Wagner, president of the association, added his $100 gift. On Monday Henry Richards, the coal dealer, threw his $100 check into the treasury. On Tuesday Dr. C. G. Daring handed in his check for $100. On Wednesday Wm. Wagner made a donation of $250 to the rapidly growing fund. Yesterday Supt. W. S. Mr. Charles F. Dietas and Miss Myra B. Lewis were married Wednesday last at the home of the bride's parents in Metamora, Mich. They will take up their residence at 485 Adams st., west, Chicago. Success go with them.

On Sunday next Ann Arbor Commandery, No. 13, K. T., will observe St. John's Day in Ypsilanti. They will take the 4 p. m. motor to that city and will then march to St. Luke's church, where services will be held and an appropriate address delivered to them by Rev. Wm. Gardam.

The Ann Arbor Elks have received invitations to play baseball at Jackson, July 4, also at Columbus, Toledo and Cleveland, O., as their friends in these several cities are particularly pleased with their style of playing ball. They expect to accept the Jackson invitation and play ball there July 4.

The new St. James hotel was formally opened to the public on Tuesday. Landlord Shetterly has got the house newly furnished with iron bedsteads and handsome patterns in oak furniture, the best grades of carpets, linen, mattresses, etc., and no pains will be spared to make it a model $1.50 a day house.

W. F. Hansen, who stole $200 from the Eberbach Drug and Chemical Co., is under arrest in Montreal, Canada. Hansen arrived there a few days ago in a state of utter "bust uppedness" and it is said attempted to commit suicide. This was prevented and he told the story of his wrong doing to the officers who telegraphed here for particulars and instructions. The authorities telegraphed back to hold him as he was wanted.

The Michigan Central freight warehouse was the scene of a small blaze Monday night. As the night yardman was passing the warehouse about 11 o'clock, he saw a light and going inside he found that some acid had leaked from a lot of chemical bottles, presumably empty, which, packed in boxes were standing in the middle of the room. He called up the fire department and the blaze was soon extinguished. Had he not seen it a disastrous fire might have resulted as the warehouse was full of goods.

The Upa Phi sorority is neither very large in the number or size of its members, but it has just shown what can be accomplished by even children when they put forth their energies for a worthy object. The sorority is composed of the following pupils of the fourth and fifth grades of the city schools: Miss Beth Cooley, president; the Misses Margaret Cooley, Kathleen Cutting, Bessie Eggert, Gretchen Lydecker and Rose Carhart. They wanted to help forward the woman's building fund so that Regent Barbour's offer of that extra $1,000 could be secured, so on Saturday afternoon the young enthusiasts produced the "Merchant of Venice Simplified" to an appreciative audience. The tickets to the play were two cents each and three cents extra for reserved seats. The theatre was the laundry room in John H. Cutting's residence and the net proceeds of the entertainment, $1.53, was duly handed over to the treasurer of the university for the benefit of the woman's building fund.

THE FOURTH AT WHITMORE.

Final Picnic of St. Patrick's Church, Northfield, on That Day.

The congregation of St. Patrick's church, Northfield, and its energetic pastor, Rev. L. P. Goldrick, having decided to go out of the picnic business, and as a consequence will give a grand final picnic at Whitmore Lake, on Saturday of next week, July 4. A day's outing will do no one any harm and to spend it at such a pleasant place as Whitmore Lake and on such an occasion, should make it doubly pleasant.

Through the efforts of the indefatigable Fr. Goldrick a fine program has been prepared for the occasion. Among its numbers will be an address by Terence R. McDonnell, an eloquent lawyer of Toledo, O. James E. Harkins, of Ann Arbor, who is well known to all, will sing two of his latest songs "The church across the way," and "The deacon went astray." Other local talent and some from a distance will also assist in entertaining the gathering.

At noon the ladies of the congregation will serve one of those dinners for which they are so justly famous and everybody who attends can rely on getting a good meal at a moderate price—25 cents.

The Ann Arbor railroad has made ample preparations to take care of the crowds that may attend and will run trains during the day as follows at the rate of 25 cents for the round trip, children 15 cents: Leave Ann Arbor for the lake at 7:38 and 10 a. m., 1:00 and 4:38 p. m. Returning leave Whitmore Lake at 6:30, 7:30 and 8:22 p. m.

DON'T KNOW WHAT HE WANTS

Had to give him up, is the way they refer in most Furniture Stores, to a man or lady who walks out without buying.

They are wrong; they know what they want—that's the trouble. People who are hard to please in Furniture Stores are generally good judges of Furniture. They have a gift of spotting bad goods, bad styles and poor work; they know how Furniture should be made.

We complain of such people. Why should we? They are our best and most appreciative customers.

One of the neatest and most attractive publications in which summer tourists would have an interest, is entitled "A Summer Note Book," and is published by the Michigan Central Railroad Co. for the benefit of the public.

All of the summer resorts both in Michigan, Canada, New York, Vermont, and the New England states are briefly described and artistically illustrated. Some of the illustrations are extremely attractive and give a longing desire to see the cool, shady and beautiful places represented.

One is taken to all the Sanitarium cities and towns of Michigan reached by that railroad, together with the famous Island Route from Cheboygan to Petoskey, to the Les Cheneaux Islands, Mackinac, Sault Ste Marie, Top-in-a-bee, etc. There is a delightful little landscape of the famous Huron river, that hurries by our fair city, but Ann Arbor has no place in the book, and has to be content by having Ypsilanti given that prominence—all because of the ill-smelling mineral wells which our eastern suburb glories over. The book is one that every person who is thinking about taking a vacation, should have. Call on the Michigan Central station agent, H. W. HAYES, Ann Arbor.

The man with the tattoo marks on his skin would be foolish to attempt to wear them off by hard work. The person with a severe cough or cold is about as unwise to attempt to wear that off. This "wear off" idea has cost many a life.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, gives immediate aid by smoothing the cough and supplying tonic remedies to the weakened system. It prevents consumption by promptly curing these colds and supplying the preventive power by which the system can withstand disease.

SCOTT'S EMULSION has been endorsed by the medical profession for twenty years. (Ask your doctor.) This is because it is always palatable—always uniform—always contains the purest Norwegian Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites. Put up in 50 cent and $1.00 sizes. The small size may be enough to cure your cough or help your baby.

THE FOURTH AT MANCHESTER.

An Old Fashioned Celebration There on That Day.

The committee of arrangements, which consists of some of the leading business men of the village, have met with signal success thus far in their arrangements for a grand celebration of America's independence on Saturday, July 4.

Boos' celebrated band of 18 instruments and drum major will furnish excellent music throughout the day. At the grove—not Arbeiter, but one near the center of the village—the forenoon exercises will be held. Mayor Pingree of Detroit, Hon. E. Townsend of Jackson, and W. W. Wedemeyer of Ann Arbor, are among the speakers who have agreed to be present. Appropriate patriotic vocal music will be furnished by a choir of good singers.

The afternoon sports will consist of long distance, township and other bicycle races by riders of both sexes; foot, sack, wheelbarrow, 3-legged, egg and other races will be held on Exchange place. Swimming races, tub races, etc., will be given in the pond in the center of the village for which liberal prizes will be given and in which all who wish may participate.

A business parade will be given and perhaps the "Omegas" may yet be induced to return and give an exhibition. A military parade by some of Jackson's best companies will be an attraction. The day will close with a display of fire works, better than is usually seen outside of large cities.

The railroads have promised special trains and half fare and our citizens will give all visitors a hearty welcome. For full particulars see programs and papers, or address committee of arrangements.

LOOKING BACKWARD.

Look after the Back: A Fall, a Strain, a Constant Sitting or Stopping Position Brings Backache—Do You Know This Means the Kidneys are Affected?

How few people realize when their back begins to ache that it is a warning provided by nature to tell you that the kidneys are not working properly. You have a severe fall, you strain yourself lifting or perhaps you are compelled to maintain a sitting or stooping position for long intervals at a time, your back begins to ache, then your head, you become listless, tired and weary, but do you understand the real cause? We think not, else you would not use plasters and liniment on the back, which only relieve but do not reach the cause. If you would rid yourself of the pain and cure the root of the trouble, at the same time save many years of suffering and perhaps life itself, you will take a kidney remedy that has been tried and proven that it will cure.

Mr. John Robson of 661 Russell Street, Detroit, says: "As a result of exposure during the war I have suffered ever since with rheumatism and kidney trouble. Pains would start in my hip and go around to my back. Highly colored urine denoted kidney disorder. The pain in my back was often so bad I had to give up work until the severity of the attack passed away. I have used many liniments and other things, but received very little relief. Some time ago I started using Doan's Kidney Pills and they have worked a wonderful change in me. My back is all right now and I owe it all to the almost magical influence of Doan's Kidney Pills." Mr. Robson was a member of the Fifty-first Illinois Regiment, which served through the war with honor and distinction. Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers—price, 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

THE BACCALAUREATE SERMON.

Dr. Angell's Fine Address to the Graduating Class of '96.

President Angell delivered his 25th annual baccalaureate address to the graduating classes at University Hall Sunday night in the presence of an enormous crowd, every seat being occupied and scores of people standing. Upon the platform sat President Angell, Dean M. L. D'Ooge and a part of the Choral Union. Prof. Stanley presided at the great organ. The exercises opened at 8 o'clock with music by the chorus. Then Dean D'Ooge read a bible lesson and led in an earnest prayer. Major Casswell, of the U. S. Navy, a brother of Mrs. President Angell, then sang a beautiful tenor solo, after which came the address.

Dr. Angell took as his subject, "Patriotism and International Brotherhood," and spoke for a little over half an hour. He read from manuscript and in spite of the fact that the subject is becoming a trifle worn made a pleasing impression. The speaker's reason for choosing such a subject for a baccalaureate address is admirably stated in this paragraph:

"We profess, as individuals and as a nation, to be governed by the principles of Christian ethics. We are all agreed that patriotism is so commendable a virtue that we despise, if we do not hate, a citizen who is devoid of it. We are all agreed that our nation, if it is to be respected by others or by us, must maintain its rights with dignity and self-respect.

"While our country cherishes this spirit of many independence, what attitude should it hold toward other countries? What spirit should we cherish toward other peoples? What relations should we aim to hold with them? These are questions which it seems proper that you should consider in a spirit of once Christian and patriotic, as you are about to go forth into active life, where you will play an important part in shaping public opinion. I believe it is not unbecoming the day or the occasion that answer to them should be sought in the spirit of devotion to our country, of love to our race, and of reverence to the Father of nations.

"Provisionally we are so situated that it has been easy for us, with a genuine patriotism, to develop our resources and to attend to our own affairs without much complication with the Great Powers of the world, and without cherishing sharp animosities toward them. None of the states south of us has been strong enough to be a menace to us. The ocean has been our great bulwark against encroachments from the east. From the moment that we escaped in 1798 from an entangling alliance with France, we have, with a wise instinct, obeyed the counsel of Washington to avoid any such alliance with transatlantic powers. All their dynastic disputes, their question of balance of power, their quarrels about title to territory, their envyings and jealousies, which have compelled them to weigh themselves down with taxation for the support of great standing armies and immense navies, and have often involved them in dreadful wars, have not much concerned us and have given us no serious trouble. However, eagerly any one of the European nations may be watching to catch another at some disadvantage and fall upon it in war, not one of them desires ought but peace with us. More than once some of them have settled disputes with us by peaceful methods, which they could hardly have settled with each other save by war. It would, therefore, seem to be both wise and easy to continue our traditional policy of refraining from any part in purely European controversies, and to content ourselves with securing a just settlement of questions which grow directly out of our commercial intercourse with them.

"On the other hand, there was a rational ground for the satisfaction with which we saw France, Spain and Portugal withdraw from the American continent. Especially were we constantly menaced with serious trouble with Spain so long as her territory touched ours. Though the Latin-American races, who inhabit the domain which stretches from our southern border to Cape Horn, have yet much to learn about the just administration of republican forms of government it is, in my opinion, a wise policy for our government to discourage the acquisition by European powers of any more territory on our continent than they now possess. If they are permitted to begin the carving up of the Central and South American states according to the process by which they are grabbing all the most desirable territory of the African continent, we shall be in danger of having European controversies, from which we have kept aloof, transferred to our own neighborhood. There seems to be no indication that any European power is inclined to absorb any of the states of Central or South America, or would venture to do so, in the face of our strenuous protest.

"But it is too much to expect that questions will not arise from time to time—many of them serious and difficult questions—between us and other nations. We have of late years had several such problems, especially in our relations with Great Britain. War, according to modern methods, is such a dreadful calamity, that recently attention has been called afresh to the inquiry whether we may not make provisions with some nations, if not with many nations, for the establishment of an international court, to which difficulties that cannot be adjusted by the ordinary processes of diplomacy, may be referred for settlement. It is conceded on all hands that this nation is most happily situated to take the lead in so beneficent a movement. Our geographical isolation frees us from many embarrassments which a European continental power might encounter in taking the initiative. We have already been conspicuous in our efforts to diminish and to avoid the evils of war. We were the first to emphasize the rights and duties of neutrals.

"The spirit, which should be fostered by our patriotic pride and by our consciousness of strength, is that of quiet confidence in our power and of serene faith that no nation will lightly involve itself in serious difficulty with us. If there were no other reason for this faith, the delicate equipoise by which the great powers of Europe are kept from war with each other affords a sufficient ground for it. What European state could not be engaged in strife with us without exposing itself at once to attack from some one of its neighbors, who would welcome the opportunity? Their relations with each other put them under bonds to keep the peace with us, if it is possible for them to do so."

Dr. Angell reviewed recent notable expressions in favor of international arbitration and spoke of the conference held at Washington a few weeks ago. It was there proposed, he said, that the government established a court of arbitration with Great Britain to be followed by similar agreements with other nations. In regard to this, he continued:

"If now this country and Great Britain can demonstrate the practicability and usefulness of an arbitral court, it is hoped that the chief European nations, who are not so grievously burdened by the maintenance of enormous armaments and the constant solicitude about the outbreak of war, may imitate our example. These two great English-speaking nations have a most conspicuous, if not a dominant, part to play in spreading civil freedom and Christian civilization through the world. If they can avoid serious discussions with each other, and be true to their traditions of liberty and faith, it seems hardly possible to exaggerate the influence they may wield for good. Can there be any greater aid to their co-operation in promoting the spirit of peace among nations than their adoption of a permanent system of arbitration with each other?"

"Let me repeat, it is not proposed to leave ourselves unprotected against danger, to surrender a solitary right of an American citizen anywhere on the face of the earth, to submit tamely to insult and injury from any power, to abate in the slightest degree the most ardent spirit of patriotism. We can with manly dignity make it apparent to the world that we seek peace with all nations, but that we know our rights, and are bound, if necessary, to defend them with our good right arms, that much as we dislike war, we believe there are calamities more dreadful than war, and that we are ready to resort to war to avert them. But with the same manly dignity we can show to mankind that we are willing to submit to a properly constituted arbitral court all questions which are suited for arbitration and that by our words and our example we desire to commend to all nations this peaceful method of disposing of most international controversies, which cannot be adjusted by the usual methods of diplomacy.

"I have thought it wise to direct your attention to this theme at this time, since you, as educated citizens, go out now into life to exercise an exceptional influence on public opinion, and I wish you to exercise a wise and conservative influence in shaping our policy towards other nations. Occasionally I hear the charge that life in our American colleges and universities is tending to beget a spirit of languid patriotism and political indifference in the students. I believe the charge to be utterly without foundation. It probably grows from the fact that after the careful study of economic and historical subjects, many young men find themselves unable to assent unqualifiedly to the sweeping or ambiguous statements of some political platforms. But with the recollections fresh in our memories of the days when so many of the bravest and best of our young men rushed from these halls and from every college to the battle field, many of them, alas! never to return, it is difficult to imagine how anyone can question the burning patriotism of the American students. There is no brighter chapter in the history of our civil war than that which records the valor of the young men who rushed from the colleges to the front in 1861. No more is it true that college students are not deeply interested in our political affairs, though it may be true, as it should be, that they are disposed to use their independent judgment in deciding on political doctrines.

"It is because I have this confidence in your patriotism and in your purpose to bring a calm and thoughtful consideration to public questions that I have asked you tonight to reflect on what is our proper attitude as a Christian nation towards the other great powers, and especially on our duty in establishing an arbitral arrangement for the settlement of international difficulties. The European nations have cheerfully recognized the great services we have rendered to mankind by laboring for the vindication and the enlargement of the rights of neutrals and by furnishing so many illustrious examples of arbitration. They envy us our exemption from the dreadful military burdens under which they groan. Is there any higher and nobler service we can now proffer them than by showing them how to escape in many cases the dread arbitrament of war by the establishment of permanent courts? No nation questions our military strength. All nations will listen with respect to our appeal for peaceful methods of settling controversies and will watch with sympathetic interest our well considered efforts to introduce these methods in our own intercourse with other powers. Remembering that 'God hath made of one blood all nations of men,' what higher honor can we wish for our people than that they should add to all their triumphs in the industrial arts and in the establishment of free and republican institutions the splendid triumph of teaching all nations to live together as brothers under the blessed command of the Prince of Peace."

The exercises closed with singing, in which Miss Donnelly, of Detroit, carried the solo part very sweetly, and a benediction by Rev. D'Ooge.

"I was troubled with quinsy for five years. Thomas' Electric Oil cured me. My wife and child had diphtheria. Thomas' Electric Oil cured them. I would not be without it in the house for any consideration." Rev. E. F. Crane, Dunkirk, N. Y.

Mr. G. A. Stillson, a merchant of Tampico, Ill., writes, August 10th, 1891: "Clinic Kidney Cure is meeting with wonderful success. It has cured some cases here that physicians pronounced incurable. I myself am able to testify to its merits. My face today is a living picture of health, and Clinic Kidney Cure has made it such. I had suffered twenty-seven years with the disease, and today I feel ten years younger than I did one year ago. I can obtain some wonderful certificates of its medical qualities." A. E. UNIVERSITY.

The Phi Kappa Psi gave a horse party after the promenade on Monday evening.

At the recent commencement of Rutgers College the degree of LL. D. was bestowed upon President James B. Angell.

Louis R. Pratt, lit '96, managing editor of the Inlander, was married yesterday to Miss Helen Truesdale, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Pratt will spend the summer in Traverse City. They will return to Ann Arbor in the fall when Mr. Pratt will enter the law department.

A number of the prominent alumni of the university, feeling that the occasion of Dr. Angell's quarter centenary should be marked by some suitable memorial, have founded a fellowship in international law in connection with the university. It is to be known as the James Burrill Angell fellowship. No public solicitations were made but the sum of $10,000 was soon obtained and passed. The names of the donors of this handsome testimonial will be given in autograph when the fellowship is formally presented to the university.

William Potwin Morgan, '89 lit, died of consumption at Ashville, N. C., June 14. After graduation Mr. Morgan studied chemistry in Vienna. He then became chief chemist and director in the Chicago Varnish Co., of which his father is president. He was one of the earliest members of the Chicago Athletic Association, and also a member of the Xi Chapter of Zeta Psi. The funeral services were held on Wednesday of last week, at the home of Mr. Morgan's father, Captain O. H. Morgan, at Highland Park, Ill. The Rt. Rev. Bishop Cheney officiated.

The university received last week the diploma and medal for its exhibit at the Columbian exposition. The diploma recites eight reasons why the medal should be conferred: Because the institution has nearly 3,000 students and 165 members of its faculty, is supported by the state and has very low fees, has ample plant and equipment, is strong in seminary methods of instruction, has a very extensive curriculum, admits women to its privileges, has a superior exhibit of student work in science and engineering, and its faculty has and does number many men who have made valuable contributions to literature and science. The medal is a handsome bronze disc, the design upon one side being the figure of Columbus by Augustus St. Gaudens. On the other side is a design by C. E. Barber.

GRANTED 745 DIPLOMAS.

The U. of M. May Have a Printing Press of Its Own.

At the meeting of the board of regents yesterday, degrees were conferred upon 745 students from the different departments, 196 from the engineering, 51 from the medical, 337 from the law (including 20 who received the master's degree), 23 from the pharmacy, 6 from the homeopathic, and 58 from the dental.

A number of minor appointments and reappointments were made, and the entire faculty of the department of pharmacy was reappointed at the same salaries. Tobias Diekhoff and O. E. Lessing were appointed instructors in German, Chester B. Bliss was made assistant to the professor of ophthalmology, Casper K. Labnis, assistant in obstetrics and gynecology and Julian C. McClymonds, assistant in hygiene at a salary of $400.

Dr. C. G. Darling's title was changed to demonstrator in surgery and lecturer on minor surgery, and Prof. E. D. Campbell's title was changed by his request from professor of metallurgy and metallurgical chemistry to professor of analytical and metallurgical chemistry, as the work in metallurgy has become the minor part of his duties.

The general library wants 10,000 more shelves, Librarian Davis says, owing to the recent gifts of 4,000 books, the libraries of ex-Gov. Felch and Prof. Morris. Arrangements were also made for more shelving in the law library, in order to accommodate the books that will be bought by the Buhl fund. All but fifty of the lockers in the basement of the law building were ordered put over in the gymnasium.

The most important matter of the meeting was Regent Barbour's proposition to establish a university printing press for the purpose of publishing the university calendar and other official documents, as is done at Johns Hopkins university.

It is expected to open this press to the professors and furnish them a place for publishing their books and original investigations at small cost. This has been done at other universities and the publications that the professors have put out have added considerably to the reputation of their colleges. It is hoped to accomplish as much for the University of Michigan. The matter was referred to the finance committee for investigation.

It was decided at the request of the Woman's league, which has been active in securing funds for the building of the woman's gymnasium, to call the lecture room in that building after Mrs. Angell—Sarah Caswell Angell.

half shall be an abiding possession of good influence and power and shall constitute one of the chief elements of its greatness and renown for all time."

Prof. F. A. Barbour then read the resolutions of congratulation from the State Teachers' Association, and then President Angell rose to his feet and read the speech he had prepared for the occasion. As he proceeded with it and spoke of the trials and vicissitudes and pleasures that had filled up the measure of those 25 years, of the teachers who had been associated with him and whose companionship had been lost through death, particularly when he spoke of the death of Prof. Frieze, his voice faltered and the strange sight of the usually calm and placid president of the U. of M. in tears was seen. At the conclusion of his address he made the following reference to Mrs. Angell and the part she had taken in the social duties of the president's house. It is impossible through lack of space to review the whole of President Angell's remarks and to give a brief synopsis would not be doing justice to a feeling and beautiful speech:

"I am deeply touched by the delicate but positive recognition in the address of the services of my wife to the university. For her aid in unnumbered ways, through all the vicissitudes of these years, especially in the social responsibilities which fall here upon the president's house, she is entitled to share with me to the full, whatever honor this day can bring to me. In her name and in my own I beg to thank you.

"In the course of nature the day is not remote when some other man must take the official responsibility which has for a quarter of a century rested upon me, and which has so greatly increased since I assumed it. I pray that he may be a stronger and wiser man than I have been. I am sure that the kind consideration which regents and faculties and students, and the public have shown to me, will make a strong and wise man more willing than he might otherwise be to accept the high and sacred trust. If such shall prove to be the fact, the celebration of this day will have amply justified itself. Meanwhile, for myself, allow me to make my closing like my opening words—thanks, thanks, my heartiest thanks."

Following President Angell's address came the commemorative ode, written by Prof. C. M. G. Gayley, now professor at the University of California, and set to music by Prof. A. A. Stanley. It was sung by a chorus of 80 voices with fine effect.

Dean Murray, of Princeton, a classmate of President Angell in Brown university, tendered greetings from the two institutions, and it was a pleasant sight to witness the interchange of congratulation and good will between these great institutions.

The distinguished librarian and author, Justin Winsor, of Harvard, a life friend of Dr. Angell, made a dignified, substantial speech of greeting from that abode of learning.

Prof. John E. Clark, class of '56, presented the greetings of Yale and he was followed by Dr. A. S. Draper, of the University of Illinois.

Dr. William T. Harris, of Washington, D. C., United States commissioner of education, was the next speaker. He came as the representative of the whole nation, and insisted that the work of the university was country-wide, and even world-wide in its influence.

The exercises closed with chorus, "The strain upraise," by Prof. Stanley and the members of the choral union.

THE ALUMNI BANQUET

The alumni banquet Wednesday afternoon lasted over four hours, and over 500 set down to the tables. Dean Martin L. D'Ooge presided as toastmaster, and toasts were responded to by President Angell, Hon. Roland Hazard, of Rhode Island; ex-Regent George Willard, of Battle Creek, one of the members of the board of regents who called Dr. Angell to the presidency; Hon. E. M. Cutocheon, of the class of '61; Mrs. Madelon Stockwell Turner, '72, the first woman matriculate of the university; President Henry Wade Rogers, of Northwestern; President Sperry, of Olivet; President Harper, of Chicago; Prof. Dwight, of Oberlin and Mr. Wright, of the class of '61. The speeches were excellent and appropriate to President Angell's 25th anniversary. Letters and telegrams from Gov. Rich, President Andrews, of Brown; President Buckham, of Vermont; Prof. Moses Coit Tyler, and others were read. Suffice it to say concerning the banquet, that it was a model one. Hon. Don M. Dickinson perpetrated a happy surprise, when asked to make some remarks, by presenting a fund to endow the James Burrill Angell fellowship of International Law. He said:

"A short time ago a few citizens of Michigan who are not alumni, some alumni who are not citizens of Michigan and some alumni who are, gathered to counsel together to devise means of expressing our feelings toward the scholar that presides over the University of Michigan. We consulted the dean of the faculty. We said any gift to President Angell must be laid at the feet of his mistress. It should establish some small fund for the benefit of the University of Michigan, possibly a fellowship. We advised that the smallest sum required would be $10,000. There has been no subscribing, no publicity, and although times are hard and there is yet in copper-producing Michigan, no free coinage of copper, we have passed the $10,000 mark and are trying to double, treble and quadruple it for the purpose of providing a chair worthy of this rare man of high learning, Christian character and sweet spirit whom we know today."

THE SENATE RECEPTION

Was held in Waterman gymnasium, Wednesday evening. President and Mrs. Angell received the numerous guests assisted by the deans of the various departments. Music was furnished by the Chequamegon and Hangsterfer did the catering. It was a strictly informal affair and was very successful. Alumni of all classes were present from those who graduated in the first years of the university down to those of last year. The class of '93 had a large representation, those who were present marching into the hall in a body.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES.

The 37th Graduating Class of Ann Arbor High School Gets Diplomas.

The commencement exercises of the Ann Arbor high school, were held at the high school hall, Friday morning, and the members of the 37th graduating class of the institution received their diplomas. The decorations of the hall were the same as those of the class day exercises the preceding Wednesday and have already been described in these columns. There was a large audience present, the hall and gallery being filled and the class rooms back of the hall which had been thrown open had plenty of occupants. The class marched into the hall accompanied by the faculty and members of the board of education, and took seats which had been reserved for them on the north side of the hall next to the platform. Those of the class who took part in the exercises, together with the members of the faculty and school board, clergymen and others, occupied seats on the platform.

The exercises opened with music by the Chequamegon, followed with prayer by Rev. J. M. Gelston and another selection by the orchestra. Supt. Perry introduced the several speakers, the first of whom was Miss Winifred Bogle, who took for her subject "Key-notes" and in it advocated the principles of international arbitration.

James A. Campbell, of Ypsilanti, next spoke on "The man of one idea," in which he argued that while men of one idea were narrow in their views, they were yet factors for good in the community.

Miss Sarah Campbell, of Ypsilanti, presented her theme "Pictures from memory," in a decidedly original manner and in beautiful and a appropriate language.

Miss Charlotte H. Walker, of Ann Arbor, spoke in a clear, loud voice, and was easily heard in every corner of the hall, which is without exception the worst in its acoustic properties that could be found in the state. Her subject was "The submerged continent."

She expressed her ideas of the subject exceedingly well and in an original manner and was quite sarcastically humorous when in speaking of her interview with a mermaid she put into that creature's mouth the statement that in the ages long ago there were "mermen" but they gradually grew so effeminate, parting their hair in the middle, etc., that the race finally became extinct and that was the reason there were no longer any "mermen." It was a good bit at some of the effeminate young men of the day and took well with her hearers.

The orchestra next rendered a selection of music and Miss Lulu V. Lusby, of Ann Arbor, followed with one of the best numbers on the program, an essay entitled "Night brings forth stars." It was delivered very gracefully and in a clear, pleasant voice.

Thomas J. Marshall, of Port Clinton, Iowa, told the story of the "Border Heroes." One lady said to the Argus just as his subject was announced that the word "border" was wrongly spelled it should have been spelled "borderer" heroes, and then he would have a great subject to speak upon. It was a good effort however, and his fellow students applauded him for it.

Miss Sybil M. Pettee, of Ann Arbor, had for her subject that great figure in Norse mythology "Igrasyl," and she built on it a very good essay.

Another selection of music followed and then a young lady and young gentleman got after the newspapers.

Miss Vera Chamberlain, of Montpelier, Ohio, spoke on "The Newspaper—its evils," and Irving N. Voorheis, of White Lake, discussed "The newspaper, its merits." The Argus is sorry to say it but the young lady had the best of the argument, although it does not entirely agree with her by any means.

The closing oration was by Miss Grace I. Swindler, of Ann Arbor, on "Diplomas." In the course of her remarks she spoke of the life the members of the class will lead in the future and laid down some good principles for them to follow in their life work.

The members of the class then came forward in sections corresponding to the courses they had taken and received their diplomas from Prof. Perry. Many of the graduates received bouquets of flowers and other more valuable gifts from their friends which were brought to them by a committee of the junior class who were kept quite busy arranging and distributing them.

After another selection by the orchestra, Rev. John Neumann pronounced the benediction and the audience dispersed, although many gathered round the graduates tendering their congratulations.

Bad Cooking

is a waste and harmful in every way. Thousands of people are deprived of half the actual nutriment of their food because of bad cooking and the want of means to make food palatable and digestible. The is recognized as the most perfect cooking apparatus yet produced. It is made of malleable iron and cold-rolled double-stretched steel-plate throughout, except fire-box, which is made of the best gray iron. The oven and fire-box are built on an entirely new principle.

The Majestic is backed by the strongest guarantee made by any maker.
