And Beckwith's Father Swore Out a Warrant for the Arrest of Kendall, Warren, the Neffs, and Alice Kearney.

The verdict at the inquest is seemingly basedj on slight grounds and is due largely to the testimony of Drs. Shaw and Schmidt. Their testimony is conflicting. On Monday Dr. Shaw testified that death was, caused by suffocation and yesterday "mature deliberation" he testified that death had been caused by blows. Dr. Schmidt on Monday thought death had been caused by sudden suffocation, and yesterday he hesitated but finally corroborated Dr. Shaw. On the other hand, Dr. E. A. Clark, who examined the body immediately after it was taken from the river ately after it was taken from the river testified that the blows Beckwith had sustained were not sufficient to cause death aDd that he had died from drown ing. Dr. Clark's testimony corroborated the stories of Kendall and Warren who claimed to have witnessed the drowning. The story of the two men can also be corroborated by Mrs. Katie Neg, and Miss Mary Neff, her daughter, the women with whom they were when they heaid the cries for help. They also state that Beckwith bad not been at their house.

Dr. Sbaw said death might acres in Salem, and several residences have been caused by drowning although iu Ann Arbor. there was not sufficient evidence to make it a certainty. Death might have been caused by the blows on the head but there was not sufficient evidence to prove it. He believed the man deid from suffication. Dr. Schmidt's evidence was full of medical terms and he exhibited drawings he had made of the wounds and he explained them in medical terms that were doubtless perfectly familiar to the jury. He thought death bad been caused by sudden suffocation. The blows Beckwith had received would make him insensible.

Shaw and Schmidt and the sausage Pardon said he had sold to Warren. The evidence of Julius Kline and Ransom Armstrong, however, de-molished that theory as both testified to Beckwiths having eaten a pair of "Wienerwursts" in Fred Brown's saloon that night.

James Beasley, of Foster's, testified as to the nature of the river bottom, etc., and after the hearing of these several testimonies the inquest was adjourned until Thursday at 9 o'clock

The inquest was again resumed Thursday morning, most of the day being spent in reading the testimony of the several witnesses and getting it signed. After the evidence of Drs. Shaw and Schmidt had been read to them they were further questioned and created something of a sensation when Dr. Shaw stated that he "thought the body was dead when it was put into the He followed this up with the statement that "death was caused by bruises or blows before it got into the This was the result of their mature deliberation based on the con. ditions found. He further stated that he came to the inquest of Aug. 23, with the intention of describing the wounds as he found them, not of giving theories. Dr. Schmidt's testimony was much to the same effect.

From the testimony of the fireman it would seem that Miss Warren started to get off the track on the opposite side get off the track on the opposite side to that taken by Mr. and Miss Sturgis, but altering her mind, in her bewilderment, she started back to get off the same side as they did. Just as she got across the rail the engine struck her. The train was running 20 or 25 miles an hour and the fireman said that when he first saw them as the engine came. he first saw them as the engine came around the sharp curve just west of where the aocident happened, he did not think it possible for any of the party to get off the track alive.

DONATION TO THE CITY.

The M. C. R. R. Gives It the Plank Off the Overhead Bridge.

At a special meeting of the board of public works on Tuesday evening a communication was read from H. W. Hayes, the Ann Arbor agent of the Michigan Central, railroad, which stated that he had "been advised from the chief engineer's office of the Michigan Central that the old lumber from off the Detroit st. overhead bridge is the property of the city of Ann Arbor."

On motion of Mr. Keech it was resolved to accept the donation made by the oompany and to thank Mr. Hayes for the same. It was then further resolved that the street committee be instructed to dispose of the old lumber to the highest bidder, the proceeds to be placed to the credit of the bridge, culvert and crosswalk fund, and the matter was disposed of.

The engineer and construction gang of the New State Telephone Co. are in the city and work on the construction will be commenced at onoe. It is proposed to put in the line with conduits and cables in the business portion of increased number of poles and wires.

The neighbor incautiously opened the cage door, and the ferret escaped, whereupon the owner brought a claim against him for damages.

The following was the decision of the learned magistrate before whom the case was brought.

"Nodoubt," he said to the neighbor-'no doubt you were wrong to open the cage door, but"-turning to the owner, "you were wrong too. Why did you not clip the brute's wings?"

OF COURSE IT'S TRUE. This Story of the Lame Horse and th» Young Doctor.

"One reads so many stories about ani mal intelligence that it would be hazardous for a doubter to express his disbelief in almost aty gathering of men at the present day," remarked Dr. W. W. Watkins. "A little instance came within my own observation a number of years ago when I was studying medicine and which convinced me that the members of the horse family at least ought to be credited with the possession of a very considerable quantity of reasoning power. It was the custom for the students at the medical institution at which I pursueJ my studies to wear a small badge upon their coats to distinguish them from others at the college. A horse belonging to the establishment was used a great deal about the medical department, and the animal seemed to have a special preference for the embryo doctors more than for any other people about the establish-

"One day, while a number of us were gathered in a little knot upon a small campus in the rear of the college, the animal in question, which used to nip the grass in the location, came toward the group limping very badly. He came to a stop a dozen or more feet from the crowd and, carefully surveying the lo of us, finally made up his mind as to what he wanted to do and without an> hesitation limped directly to my side, whinnied, stuck his nose against mj body and held up his left foreleg. Looking down, I discovered a large nail imbedded in the frog of his hoof. This had evidently caused the lameness. 1 then realized the interesting fact that the animal desired attendance. I extracted the nail with some difficulty. and the horse whimpered with reliel and walked away. Rather curious as to why the beast had picked me out to attend to his wound, I glanced at the boys and found the solution to the problem. Not one of the group had his medical badge upon his coat but myself. had recognized the insi realized its significance and acted accordingly. "—New Orleans Times-Dem-

Fascinating John Bright.

Sir Wemyss Reid gives some interesting reminiscences of John Eright in Cassell's Magazine. The great Liberal leader often sat in an eld fashioned armchair in the Reform club. He delighted in talk and was fond of repeating poetry. On one occasion he began to talk to Sir Wemyss about his favorite hymns, and as he warmed to his subject he repeated some cf them. It was a strauge subject, perhaps, for a clnb smoking room, but it was still stranger to observe that as he spoke with that wonderful voice of his the other men in the room first looked up and began to listen, and then, as though drawn by an irresistible spell, drew nearer to him, until before long he had them all sitting round him in a circle enjoying that "music of the human speech" of which above all living men he was a master. John Bright reciting hymns in a club smoking room! "There," exclaims Sir Wemyss, "is a picture for an artist if he only knows how to treat it."

OPENING UP A TRAIL.

Two Thousand Men Commence Work at Skaguay.

PTNAMITE IS USED VERT FREELY.

The Pass Temporarily Blocked by the Large Army of Laborers and No Prospectors Will Be Allowed to Advance Until the Work of Opening Up the Trail Is Completed—Few Succeed in Getting Over
Visit relatives living in Pontiao. Completed—Few Succeed in Getting Over Chilkoot Pass.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 24.—Balked by an impassable mountain barrier, with the prospect of spending a long Alaska •winter in an inhospitable section, where blizzards and storms have free play for nearly six months of the year, the 6,000 miners at Skaguay have assailed the skaguay trail with dynamite and an Barbed wire has army of picks and shovels. Two thoumen were placed at work on the trail, and it was closed to travel until the army of workmen could get it opened for all. This news was brought down from Skaguay on the steamer Rosalie, Captain Oliver, arriving Mon-day. On the Rosalie was Frank Clancey of this city, who came after supplies for his pack train. Clancey says that there are at least 10000 people at Skaguay, Dyea and on the trail by this saved our nation.

Long and Tiresome Trip.

No more than one out of 100 of those unfortunate people will penetrate the Tukon before the Alaska winter sets Three weeks ago the first train over the pass crossed with safety, losing one horse. Instead of thirty-six hours, which the projectors of the route said would be required to make the lakes, it took the train six days to make the round trip, and the horses belonging to George Ames were completely exhausted. The muddy pathway over the mountains was enough to strike terror to the heart of an ordinary man, TO say nothing of a horse laden with 250 pounds of freight. Since that time the trail has been impassable. Weary weeks of waiting en the part of thousands of gold hunters at the base of the sands of gold hunters at the base of the was very fine. mountains brought desperation. The executive committee, D. J. McKinney, chairman, was called together.

trail until a new pathway could be blown out of the solid rock with dynamite. The mass-meeting confirmed with one voice the action of the committee. Notices were posted all along the trail warning miners to get out of the way on pain of severe punishment. The trail was then closed to all travel. Under the leadership of the committee the army of miners attacked the mountain barrier lying between them and the gold fields of the Yukon and Stewart rivers. Until this time but five parties had crossed the summit. The otheis were strung along between Skaguav and a point fourteen miles up the mountains. Fortified with 100 pounds of dynamite, work was begun, and the bills reached with the distriction. Coughs and Colds. Experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Dr. King's New Discovery. Ten Thousand at Skaguay.

At Porcupine hill, where so many horses have been lost, a railing of legs was built to secure a footing for the beasts. Five boats have landed their passengers at Skaguay since the Rosalie sailed, and the colony numbers now close to 10,000. Mr. Clancey says that even the lucky few who get over the summit before the Yukon freezes will not be able to get boats at Lake Linderman because the sawmill there is entirely incapable of filling the demand. Attempt Made Upon the Life of a Michigan Man.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Aug. 24.—A dastardly attempt was made on Samviel Carson's life in Ross township by blowing him up with dynamite. Carson is worth $200,000, and his family lives his Galesburg. He offers $500 reward for the arrest of the guilty man. Carson escaped without serious injury, but portions of the house were completely wrecked. The dynamite stick was placed on a bank of dii-t four feet from Carson and the other day.

Yet half of on a bank of dii-t four feet from Carson's head, where he slept, and a forty-five foot fuse run to it. The explosion was terrific, and that Mr. Carson's life was spared was due to the fact that he ying on two heavy feather beds, with his head resting on two large feather pillows and the additional fact that the door leading from his bedroom was open.

Alabama Without a Marshal.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 24.—The state of Alabama finds itself in the unusual predicament of having no United States marshal. The commission of United States Marshal Tisdale, for the middle and southern districts of Alabama, expired Monday and it is the opinion of the lawyers that there is now no marshal. Mr. Tisdale resigned in July. At the request of the attorney general he has continued in office, but he is of the opnion that his commission having expired he cannot discharge the duties cf the office unless he is reappointed and makes a new bond.

Corn Crop In Kansas.

Topeka, Kari., Aug. 24.—The Capital publishes reports from every county of the state giving the condition and probable yield of corn. These returns show that, though former estimates of half a crop in some localities may have been correct, the generous rains of August have brought the late corn out so that its enormous yield in many counties makes up for the loss by hot winds and very materially raises the average. Riot at a Camp Meeting.

Warsaw, Ind., Aug. 24.—A riot occurred Monday at Yellow Creek Lake, this county, where a camp meeting of 7,000 is in session. The sheriff and a posse were called and arrested about twenty-five drunks who had raised a great disturbance. ### How Bees Embalm.

Bees, says Horbis, can embalm as successfully as could the ancient Egyptians. It often happens in damp weather that a slug or suail will enter a bee hive. This is, of course, to the unprotected slug a case of sudden death. The bees fall upon him and sting him to death at once. But what to do with the carcass becomes a vital question. If lefi where it is, it will breed a regular pestilence. Now comes in the cleverness of the insects. They set to work and cover it with wax, and there you may see it lying embalmed just as the nations of "old embalmed their dead. When it is a snail that is the intruder. he is, of course, impenetrable to their sting, so they calmly cement his shell with wax to the bottom of the hiveimprisonment for life, with no hope of

Indianapolis, Aug. 24.—Noah Bane3^, an ex-convict, it waiting- in the Marion county jail for a Hendricks county grand jury to indict him. He says that lie, with two others—Guy Van Tassel and "Kid" Whitney-were the real slayers of Mrs. Thurza Hinshaw. Van Tassel is in jail with him, both having been l'earrested recently upon the expiration of a term of prison life brought on by lad nothing to do with the killing of Mrs. Hinshaw. He expresses the opinion that the real killer was Rev. Willam Hinshaw, who is now in the penitentiary serving a life sentence for the Hatching of the Scheme. Hinshaw and Baney were in the prison hospital together and there, according to Van Tassel, the scheme was latched which Baney is trying to carry out—i. e., to cast deep suspicion on the verdict under which Hinshaw was sent to prison, and eventually to lead to the pardon of Hinshaw. Baney and Van Tassel will be indicted early In September, and their trial promises to add a sensational chapter to the most celebrated criminal case in the history of the state. It promises to revive the tense feeling that prevailed during Hinshaw's trial. Every man and woman in Hendricks county held an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant preacher. Families fell out over tho case, and lifetime friendships were sundered by the difference of views on this one subject of interest. Now that Hinshaw and Baney were in the prisone subject of interest. Now that Baney has "confessed" the old contention has been aroused and many famlies, not only in Hendricks county, but throughout central Indiana, and many newspapers are in a ferment over the possible outcome of the second trial.

Murder at a Picnic.

Gallipolis, O., Aug. 24.—Without provocation a gang of West Virginia desperadoes swooped own on a picnic party at Glenwood, eighteen miles below here and broke up the party by their orgies. Revolvers, knives, names, singletrees and clubs were used. The women fainted and others fled to the hills. Lew Holand others fled to the hills. Lew Holley was killed outright and William Porter and Van Linkfield, two members of the picnicking party, were fatally stabbed. Alonzo Porter had his skull fractured and half his face cut off. John Wallace had a part of his hand cut off, an eye gouged out, and an ear removed. The ruffians were the members of the Holley band of outlaws and they have killed at least a dozen men.

Farmers After the Dollar.

Kansas City, Aug. 24.—Farmers throughout central and western Kansas are using every means possible to get their wheat on the market at the present high prices. Teams block the streets of many towns and mills and elevators are crowded to their utmost capacity. The railroad yards in many of the larger towns are blocked with loaded cars, which cannot be moved. The shipments were never before so large. As a result of the boom in wheat several large sales of farm property have been made and holders have increased values 25 per Medical - "Testimony."

The disappointment over the testimony of the two doctors who held the post mortem examination on the body of George Beckwith, found in the Huron river on Wednesday of last week, •was being commented on by a gang of conrt house loungers yesterday, when one of them said: "lam not astonished at all. I have yet to hear the first positive testimony ever given by a physician in a murder case. They all swear that they think or believe such and such things to be so, but never that they are so. Washtenaw county paid a doctor |500 once to analyze some blood to asoertain if it wag human or animal blood. That was in the Hand casa, you remember. Well, the Dr. analyzed it, but after he got through he would no*, swear that it was human blood. He simply swore that he thought it was. He might be mistaken. Oh, these doctors are a cautions lot. ### A Small Fire.

About 9 o'olcok last night the fire department was called to the house of Barnard Morrison, 52 Spring St., which was found to be on fire in every part of it. Before it could be extinguished the house was ruined. It is supposed that the fire started in the north end of the kitohen, but as Morrison and bis son, who live there, were both drunk they oan give no information. Charles put out the fire ands teppedon the flooring which he did not know was all burned away and fell 20 feet below into the cellar. No bones were broken but Charlie's bruises will make him careful how he treads for some days to come.

Conference of Miners and Operators a Fizzle.

BOSSES CONCEDED 7 1-2 CENTS.

President Katchford Refused It and Insisted on the 69-Cent Kate Until the Question Is Settled by Arbitration— Strikers Suffer Further Loss in the Kan-Hwha Valley in West Virgins—Two Hundred More Miners Return to Work.

Pittsburg, Aug. 24.—When the conference between the coal operators' committee and miners' officials resumed Tuesday morning the operators presented a proposition to submit the question to arbitration and pending the decision of the arbitration they would concede To cents per ton, making the rate SIM cents. President Ratchford refused this and firmly maintained his stand for the payment of the 69 cent rate until the question was settled by arbitration. He suggested President McKinley and William J. Bryan as the arbitrators.

No Agreement Reached. The operators stated that if an agreement was not reached they would start their mines at once with new men. The joint conference broke up at noon without reaching an agreement. The min-ers' officials refused to recede from their position and demanded 69 cents per ton pending a settlement by arbi-tration, and the operators would not concede more than 61% cents. A general meeting of operators was called for 2 o'clock in the afternoon to hear the report of their committee. The members of the committee refused to make any prediction as to the probable action that would be taken.

Fay of Miners Withheld. Monday was pay day at the Plum Creek mine, and about 200 of the men received their money. Pay was withheld from about 150 men on account of the strike. The amount held back amounted to quite a large sum. A number of the miners threatened to enter suit for the amount due them.

The threatened evictions at Plum Creek will not take place this week, as the company discovered an error in the papers served on the tenants, which made them illegal. New papers are being prepared, however, and the evictions will be made as soon as they can be served. Anticipating the evictions, several of the strikers who occupied company houses moved out.

MORE MINERS AT WORK.

Considerable Coal Being Turned Out in the Kanaivha Valley.

Wheeling, W. Va., Aug. 24.—The strikers suffered further losses in the Kanawha valley in the Upper Loup creek region and along New river Tuesday. New river mines loaded 600 cars of coal Monday which is a big day's work for normal conditions. In Kanawha 200 more men went to work Tuesday which leaves very few men out. Fairmont increased its output and the Norfolk and Western region shows no sign of a strike. Leader Rae in the Fairmont region Tuesday established five camps of miners. The men will march from camp to camp making visits, holding this to be their right and their interpretation of the injunction given by Judge Goff. It is not likely these marches will be allowed, however.

The danger of a coal famine in the Wheeling district has been greatly reduced by the Peddling mines over in eastern Ohio going to work, this being their usual market. The strike at Corinth has caused the loss of 1,000,000 brick that were half burned when the McMurtrie of St. Louis and other execminers refused to furnish any more Working Among the Railroads. Kansas City, Aug. 24.—It is stated here that special delegates of the Knights of Labor and the American Federation of Labor are busy throughout the west gathering ammunition to be fired at the meeting at St. Louis on Monday next in aid of the striking coal men. These delegates are reported to be working among the railroads, ascertaining the grievances of the men on the different the coal-carrying roads of the southwest. They have endeavored to secure proof that these railroads are taking coal into the strike territory and have, in a measure been successful it is bight. In the community His only and the community in a measure, been successful, it is claimed.

More Miners Quit Work.

Duboise, Pa., Aug. 24.—The Rochester and London mines at this place quit work Tuesday, notwithstanding that they decided at a meeting held Monday night to continue. The agitators from the Pittsburg region had been working unceasingly for a week to get the men out and have succeeded, in the face of the fact that a majority were opposed the fact that a majority were opposed to striking. The London miners were the ones who refused to work and the were married at Wausau, April 22, 1890. Rochester men followed their example. Agitating Rich Hill Miners. Rich Hill, Mo., Aug. 24.—Walking delegates have been here secretly agitating a strike among Rich Hill miners, but there is little disposition on the part of the miners to go out at the present time. Some of the old-timers claim, however, that a week's agitation would result in a general walkout. Opinions are divided as to what might happen in case of trouble in Kansas.

Fire at Portland, Ore. Portland, Ore., Aug. 24.—A fire totally destroyed the large frame warehouse of W. P. Fuller & Co., situated at Thirtenth and Johnson streets. The total loss is estimated at between $50,000 and $75,000, partially covered by insurance. The contents of the warehouse which were consumed consisted principally of were consumed consisted principally of tri-color and plate glass. The cause of the fire is not known.

M'KINLEY AT ENCAMPMENT.

Gr:^«d Army Men Welcome the I'resident to Buffalo.

Buffalo, Aug. 24.—Another beautiful day greeted the veterans of the G. A. R. Tuesday. Crowds are still pouring All night long trains were arriving at brief intervals, depositing their loads of veterans and sightseera Tuesday morning all was bustle and confusion at the railroad stations. Thousands were gathered around the different stations as early as 6 o'clock and the print tions as early as 6 o'clock and the prin • cipal streets were a jostling crowd of humanity. The features of the day were the arrival of President McKinley at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the banquet tendered him by Columbia post of Chicago and the parade of naval veterans and ex-prisoners of war in the evening.

The president was met by a reception committee and escorted by mounted police, 200 soldiers of the regular army and local and visiting posts of the G. A. R. to the. Niagara hotel, where he will stop during his stay here.

The programme for the day also included a parade of naval veterans and ex-prisoners of war; meeting of army nurses, reunions of the First, Second, Third, Fifth, Tenth and Twenty-fourth corps; reunion of Loyal Home Workers convention and campfire of national veterans; a G. A. R. bicycle road race, an illuminated bicycle parade, campfire of ex-prisoners of war and nurses, reception tendered to and by the ladies of the various auxiliary bodies. FARIDIS TAKE FORT MAUDE.

Victory Attends Movement of the Tribesmen in Khyber Pass.

London, Aug. 24.—An official dispatch from Simla announces that Fort Maude, in th-j Khyber pass, has been captured by the Afridis, after desperate fighting. The garrison, which was composed of native levies known as the Khyber rifles, retired with the loss of three men. The Afridis afterward burned the fort. The fate of Fort Ali-Musjid, which was simultaneously attacked by the Afridis, is not known

The British officer commanding at Jamarud moved a battery of artillery, escorted by the Fourth dragoons, to the mouth of the Khyber pass and shelled the enemy at a range of 3,200 yards. The Afridis retired, but the battery returned to Jamarud, the officer in command deeming it inadvisable to enter the pass. General Ellos will begin a concerted movement against the insurgent tribesmen immediately

SHOT A PINE CHOPPER.

Desperate Deed of a Homesteader Near Atkinson, Mich.

Crystal Falls, Mich., Aug. 24.—A messenger from Atkinson, this county, says that Barney Morgan, a homesteader on disputed- land, shot one of the men employed by the Metropolitan Lumber company in cutting the pine claimed by Morgan.

The lumber company purchased the land from the canal company and start-ed operations recently. The homesteaders declare they will not allow the timber to be cut and are patrolling the woods with rifles. Several deputy sheriffs are on the scene and Sheriff Waite has left for there. Many of the homesteaders are desperate men and serious trouble is locked for.

Order of Foresters.

Denver, Aug. 24.—Fully 200 delegates representing Foresters' courts in all portions of the country were in attendance when the supreme court of the order was called to order Tuesday by Supreme Chief Ranger Lawrence J. Smith of Lowell, Mass. After welcoming addresses and responses and other preliminaries the reports of the supreme chief ranger, the supreme secretary, E. M. utive officers were presented. These showed that during the past two years the Order of Foresters of America had made an increase of 18,746 members and eighty-six courts or local lodges. There are now 1,257 courts in the United States and a total of 134.822 members.

Mt. Vernon, Ills., Aug. 24.—The business portion of the town of Ina, this county, was wholly destroyed by fire Monday night. Loss, 20,000; partially insured. The origin of the fire is unknown. Ina has a population of 2,000.

I heard nearly all the gr'*t speeches made by both the men in mat parliamentary duel, which lasted for so many easy to award the prize of victory. The two men's voices were curiously unlike. Disraeli had a deep, low, powerful voice, heard everywhere throughout the house, but having little variety or music in it. Gladstone's voice was tuned to a higher note, Was penetrating, resonant, liquid and full of an exgave new shades of meaning to every emphasized word. The ways of the men were in almost every respect curiously unlike. Gladstone was always eager for conversation. He loved to talk to anybody about anything. Disraeli, even among his most intimate friends, was given to frequent fits of absolute and apparently gloomy silence.

Gladstone, after his earlier parliamentary days, became almost entirely indifferent to dress. Disraeli always turned out in the newest fashion, and down to his latest years went in the get up of a young man about town. Not less different were the characters and temperaments of the two men. Gladstone changed his political opinions many times during his long parliament-ary career, but he changed his opinions only in deference to the force of a growing conviction and to the recognition of facts and conditions which he could no longer conscientiously dispute. Nobody probably ever knew what Mr. Disraeli's real opinions were upon any political question or whether ho had any real opinions at all. Gladstone began as a Tory and gradually became changed into a Radical. Disraeli began as an extreme Radical under the patronage of Daniel O'Connell and changed into a Tory. But everybody knew that Gladstone was at first a sincere Tory and at last a sincere Radical. Nobody knew, or, indeed, cared, whether Disraeli ever was either a sincere Radical or a sincere Tory.—Justin McCarthy in.

WHAT POSED HIM.

The Mythological Centaur and the Proper Medicine Man.

The man with a valise and an umbrella had bought one or two cheap volumes of fiction, when a more pretentious publication on a counter near the door caught his attention. It contained a number of elaborate pictures of mythological characters, and he was glancing rapidly through it when one of the pages attracted his especial interest. He lingered over it, turned several leaves and then went back. After he had started away and gone as far as the door the fascination again proved irresistible, and he was soon gazing thoughtfully at the same page.

'Can we do something more for you?" asked the clerk.

'You learn a great deal about what's in these books, don't you?" he asked. We naturally become familiar with the contents in the course of time,"

"I suppose," he resumed, "that this thing wouldn't bother me so much if I hadn't recently gone on the road for a patent medicine firm. That has given me an interest I never had before. And you know whenever a man has just taken up a subject it's hard for him to get it off his mind. I don't believe that I ever will get over being puzzled about that centaur.'

Where Pope Lived.

Mr. Labouchere is gratified at being able to put an end to skepticism about his Twickenham house being built on the site of Pope's villa. The grotto that formed the basement still remains. 1848."

In the present day the British army Beems the only one in which dogs are not trained either as spies, messengers or to help the wounded. The Germans, French, Austrians, Russians and Italians have all found them to be worth the trouble. The Germans have devoted thems; lves chiefly to the training o* dogs for carrying messages to and from outposts and pickets and the main bodies of troops. For this purpose they find pointers are the best, but. Scotch sheep dogs and short haired sporting dogs are much liked, as are also the clever little Pomeranians, which learn very quickly and are very strong and swift. In the quisite modulation and music which German army the best trainers are the men of the Jager regiments, and a special officer and a special body of men are told off to look after the dogs. They are taught to march without frisking about, to avoid barking, but, with their wonderfully quick ear to warn if strangers are near, by pointing or by a low growl. They are trained to carry messages up to 2% miles by known roads, and beyond that distance to find their own way across country. To men in the same uniform they are taught to be obedient.

The French, in their wars in Tunis and Algiers, have used dogs; also the Russians in their last Turkish war. In Austria they have been employed to discover ambuscades. The Dutch iu Acheen found them most useful in preventing solitary sentries in thick jungle outposts being surprised by stealthy natives. "By what process do fireflies produce the beautiful flashes of light?" That is a question frequently asked, and as entomological books fail to give a satisfactory reply the following explanation may be interesting: I have made a special study of the light, and carefully examined the mechanism of the illuminating segments in both male and female specimens. The light emitted, when tested by the spectroscope, gives a brilliant spectrum, which is continuous through all the colors from the red to tho violet rays. The illuminating organs consist of distinct spherical cells, each one of which is about 1.2000 of an inch in My back swelled up in a great ridge, and colors from the red to tho violet rays. diameter, and the beetle has power to I finally grew so bad that I was taken to illuminate one or many of these cells at bed, as helpless as a child. I passed will, producing light of corresponding intensity. The cells contain a fluid saturated with phosphorus, and the covering of the cell is so thin that atmosphere coming in contact with it may affect the contents.

It has been suggested that the beetle produces the flashes of light or renders the phosphorus suddenly luminous by electricity—by the injection of warm fluids—or by friction. But it is certain that the flash of light is made in an-Bernard mastiff is used; also wolf and other way. We may clearly trace a connection between the spiracles and trachea (spiral air tubes) of the beetle and each of the illuminating cells, and find that the little creature renders the phosphorus contained in the cells lumiand to offer them restoratives, standing nous by forcing air upon them. The cells when thus excited emit light from their

We may imitate the act of the beetle by dissecting one and placing the illuminating organ under a microscope, covered by a thin glass cover. When the cover is lifted so as to admit a little air, the cells become luminous.

We may add that the name "firefly" is a misnomer, as the "lightning bug" is a true beetle, belonging in the natural order caleoptera, and in the family lampyridas.—D. K. Winder in Detroit Free Press.

Slolasscg Ig Now Made Into Rum and

Brown Sugar Can't lie Bought. 'The old fashioned molasses is rapidly disappearing as au article of commerce," said a prominent grocer, "and in its place have come a number of sirups which are more costly and by no means as satisfactory, especially to the little ones, who delight, as we did when we were young, in having lasses on their bread. Most of the molasses goes into the distilleries, where it is made into rum, for which, notwithstanding the efforts of our temperature workers, the demand is constantly on the Now. the increase, especially in the New England states and for the export trade. The regular drinker of rum will take no other liquor in its place if he can help it. It seems to reach the spot more directly than any other dram.

The darker brown sugars have also disappeared, and they are not likely to return, owing to the methods of boiling and the manufacture. Granulated sugar is of the same composition, as far as saccharine qualities are concerned, as loaf, cut loaf cube and crushed and differs from them only in that its crystals do not cohere. This is because it is constantly stirred during the process of crystallization. The lighter brown sugars taste sweeter than the white, for the reason that there is some molasses in them. Housekeepers have difficulty these days in finding coarse, dark sugars, which are always preferred for use in putting up sweet pickles, making cakes and similar uses. As they cannot get brown sugar any more, it may be well for them to remember that they can simulate brown sugar by adding a teaspoonful of molasses to each quarter of a pound of the white granulated sug-This combination does as well in all household recipes that call for brown sugar as the article itself, and besides it saves them a great deal of hunting for brown sugar, which, as said before, has disappeared from the market."—Eastport Sentinel.

HE COULD FORGIVE HER.

JTor In His Opinion Mrs. Siddoos Did Not Marry an Actor. Mrs. Siddous, the actress, was boru in 1755 at the Shoulder of Mutton inn, Brecon, South Wales, of parents connected with the theater, her father, Roger Kemble, being a strolling manager. The child Sarah, was reared in a theatrical atmosphere, and at 10 she was playing Ariel.

As she grew up she became very beautiful and had many admirers, among whom was Henry Siddons, a young actor in her father's company, who had little difficulty in winning the girl's heart. Mr. and Mrs. Kemble had made up their minds that Sarah should not marry in the profession, in consequence of which they strenuously opposed the marriage, and young Siddons, in a fit of retaliatory humor, composed a song detailing their opposition and. his trials, which brought about his speedy dismissal • from the company. Sarah left the company, too, and hired out as lady's maid in Warwickshire for two years.

During this time the lovers carried en a lively corespondence and finally, gaining the reluctant consent of the Kembles, were married at Trinity church, Coventry, in 1773, when Sarah

Fifteen years ago Carrie Burch was a servant girl in a California household where William F. Hastings was also employed. The girl became ill and had to leave, but had no niouey. Hastings loaned her $200, and she went away. The years rolled by without the $200 toeing returned, and Hastings had forgotten the occurrence when he received a letter from a barrister in London stating that an estate of $73,000 had been left him by a Mrs. Hall, formerly Miss •Carrie Burch of California. Hastings could hardly believe what he read, but he has the money now, and for his generosity to a strange girl years ago he has become independently rich. When the girl left California, she went to Australia as a nurse and there married a retired English merchant, who died some years afterward, and the widow then returned to London and lived there until her death.—Exchange.

A Good Reason.

The general passenger agent of one of the Chicago trunk lines received a letter from a Kansas man the other day requesting a pass for himself to Chicago and return. There was nothing about *he letter to indicate that the writer had any claim whatsoever to the courtesy he requested, but the railway man thought that perhaps the Kansan had some connection with the road in some way, possibly as a local freight ageut. So he wrote "back, "Please state explicitly on what account you request transportation." By return mail came this reply, "I've got to go to Chicago some way. and I don't want to walk."—Ex-

CAR HORSES HARD TO GET. The Demand Is Now So Small That tha Ruy < he Dry Goods Salesman Objected to

Trade Neglects Them. Oi3« of the most curious effects of the genera, replacing of horses by electricity and cable traction for drawing street cars is being experienced by one of the extensive car lines in this city which still uses horses. One would suppose that, since the only lines in the whole country which continue to use horses now form but a very small percentage of those which used them five years ago, these lines would have a much wider range of choice and could get horses of a grade superior to the general run of those which used to be offered to them. Remarkable as it may seem, this is the exact opposite of the

The New York city line referred to runs in direct competition with the cable lines of the upper west side, and its managers, who recently purchased determined as soon as they came into possession to place upon it a superior lot of horses, and in this way improve its running until mechanical propulsion could be introduced. Orders were sent out to buy the needed horses. Much to the surprise of the managers, it was discovered that there were almost no street car horses of any kind to be

The explanation of this situation lies in the fact that since the demand for street car horses almost ceased the trade machinery by which they were gathered has fallen into disuse. A few years ago the street car horses were one of the most important features of the horse market. They were animals of a standard grade and of almost stable price, and every part of the country contributed its quota. The street car horse had to be big and able and sound of limb and wind, but it might be of any age. Few lasted long enough in the service to make the question of a few years more or less of any consequence. The demand was constant, and the price never varied in New York more than from about $125 to.?] 50 each. Dealers could always count upon getting this price and getting it promptly, and as a consequence every horse which would answer the purpose was a safe investment at a little smaller price, and a clean profit of $10.2 horse was regarded as a fair market. $10 a horse was regarded as a fair margin in handling them.

Horses of all sorts, which lacked the qualities of speed, beauty or youth, but possessed the other requirements, were quickly sorted out from the markets of the whole country, and every big dealer was always able to gather droves of car horses as fast as the companies needed them. The trolley has superseded the car horses, and car horses are no longer quoted as staples in the market. The companies which still use them are obliged to go out and search the marts and buy them one by one instead of simply sending out an order for 100 or 200 or 500 and getting them as readily as they would so many loads of hay or grain.-New York Sun.

Greco Egyptian Painting.

The remarkable series of portraits found in Egypt are described in The Monthly Illustrator and the methods of the old artists employed.

The methods of these ancient days were totally different from those of the present day and were evidently vastly more durable. Panels of wood were used to paint on.—sycamore and cypress -also panels of papier mache, and occasionally they were formed by gluing three thicknesses of canvas together. These panels were usually about 14 inches long by 7 inches wide. The artist vegetable, but from mineral substances thority of Lady Eleanor Butler, who and were of marvelous brilliancy and permanence—blue powdered lapis lazui, green malachite, red oxide of iron, etc. The colors svere laid on in patches, somewhat after the fashion of a mosaic, and afterward blended with au instrument called the cestrum, which appears to have been a lancet shaped spatula, long handled, with at one end a curved point, at the other a finely dentated edge. With the toothed edge the wax could be equalized and smoothed, while the point was used for placing high lights, marking lips, eyebrows, etc.

The final process, which gives the name encaustic to this kind of painting, was the burning in of the colors. This was done by the application of a heated surface to the panel, though George Eber3 believes that in Egypt the heat of the sun was probably all that was needed to complete the artist's work

The Eye of a Child.

Who can explain or fathom the wondrous instinct of the child? Lying in the arm3 of its nurse, in its carriage or elsewhere, its large, round, wondering eyes roam over a sea of faces till suddenly ts features break into a sweet smile, a baby laugh dances in its eyes, perhaps the tiny hands are extended, and the little body gives a bound as though it would throw itself through space. What has happened? It has recognized a friend, nothing more and no less. It makes no mistake. Wiser, perchance, in that moment of inexperienced helplessness than it will be years afterward, when the world and its inmates have been studied in the light of instruction and experience, its love offering is seldom if ever mistakenly presented. By what power is this child love directed By what subtle influence does it see and know what in after years it may strive in vain to discern? rood Housekeeping.

Fellowship With the Puller In. A smart looking and well dressed gentleman lounged in the elevator entrance of a Broadway wholesale dry goods warehouse. Apparently his sole occupation was watching the faces of passersby. Now and then be would make a feint at starting for seme passing figure and then generally resume his listless attitude against the door jamb. The Dread of Death.

"What most concerns us," writes Evangelist Moody in The Ladies' Home Journal, "is the relation which Christ's resurrection has to our death and future life. So many people live in a fearful dread of death and the grave, I believe, just because they do not study this doctrie«K They speak of death and the judgment with a shudder, and their vision seems to be unable to pierce be-

"I well remember how in my native used liquid wax instead of oil to mix village in New England it used to be the colors, which were made not from customary, as a funeral procession left the church, for the bell in the burying ground to toll as many times as the deceased was years old. How anxiously I would count those strokes of the bell to see how long I might reckon on living. Sometimes there would be 70 or 80 tolls, and I would give a sigh of relief to think I had so many years to live. But at other times there would be only a few years tolled, and then a horror would seize me as I thought that I, too, might soon be claimed as a victim by that dread monster, death. Death and judgment were a constant source of fear to me till I realized the fact that neither shall ever have any hold on a child of

Tfce debasing effect of Scott's lords and ladies is rtowbere stronger than in young ladies' colleges in the United States. Girls there imagine tbatj»ersons who live in old castles and sleep in rooms hung for hundreds of years with tapestry must be far above the ordinary level. Their dream is to become, through dollars and feminine charm, mistresses of these imposing abodes and bear the titles connected with them. An American lady married to a prosaic British nobleman with a euphonious title had filled her imagination with thoughts of Kenilworth. She was more than disappointed to find that earls were not belted and that a Howard could be a matter of fact burly person, fond of plain food and plain in all his ways.—London

DOCTORS AND SUICIDE.

Statistics Show a Peculiar Hond of Sympathy Between the Two.

During the last three years, says The Medical and Surgical Reporter of Philadelphia, nearly one-fiftieth of all deaths among physicians have been by suicide. This is a conservative estimate, as many instances of death are attributed to accidental overdosing, as the tendency is always to-hush up a suicide whenever possible. But without includ-ing such cases, the fact remains that the medical profession is more prone to suicide than any other. These statistics may be explained by the development of morbid fancies in the mind of a doctor on account of his constant association with the sick and dying, or of an actual indifference to death, or because he has the requisite knowledge of how to die conveniently and painlessly.

Poisoning is a favorite method, but it does not appear from statistics that the cyanides or morphine have the preference which would exist if epicurean philosophy were carried iato the choice of drugs. At the same time, physicians usually put their knowledge of drugs to a practical execution in selecting a poison for suicide. But if the mere knowledge of the painlessness of death by cer tain means is not a determining factor in leading so many physicians to suicide, probably the accessibility of poi-

Suicide is largely a matter of insane impulse, and stell an impulse can often be ascertained even in the case of those who have long been indifferent to life and have contemplated suicide. If a man must put on his hat and overcoat, walk to a drug store and tax his ingenuity for a lie with which to explain his desire for poison, he may postpone the fatal act from mere inertia, or he may meet a friend or have his interest in life aroused by one of a multitude of everyday occurrences or physical exercise may bring him to his senses. If, as is the case with almost every doctor, he has simply to feel in his pocket or walk across his office to get a deadly poison, the impulse may be carried into execution before anything can happen to supplant it in the brain.

Defining Appendicitis.

A teachers' examination was held at Seneca, Kan., at which one of the questions in physiology was as follows: "What is appendicitis, and what are its causes and cures?" Below are given a few of the answers as reported in the Seneca Tribune:

'It is a disease of the appendix, which is located somewhere between, the liver and the heart, the organ of the "Cosification of the marrow of the longitudinal shaft bone.

'I had managed to buy a little stretch of lake shore with the idea of disposing of it as a summer resort. No one was looking for that kind of an investment and I had a dead duck on my lands. I happened down there just at the breaking up of winter, when I had nothing else to do and no money to do it with if I had. There was a big raft of logs tied up at my beach, and it had seen there since the late fall. At least that is the view I took of the situation, [twas a bold violation of private rights. Sow had they dared to thus invade my premises without permission? I learned who the owners were in the east and sent them a bill of $300 for dockage. Their reply came through a representative who wanted me to settle for a trifle, but I would hear to nothing but the full amount There was a principle involved that I would not sacrifice. He left with the threat that I would never get a dollar.

"I bribed the man in charge of the raft to notify me when it was to be moved, and as soon as I heard from him I had the sheriff there to make a levy. I had a check for §300 as soon as it could be got to me. It proved the thin edge of the wedge with which I entered into the business that made me rich. Six weeks later I discovered that the raft had not been on my land at all. It was 40 feet beyond my line. But what could I -30 with my money tied up in an investment? So I said nothing."—Detroit Free Press.

Teak.

In an article in Timber (London) on the value of teak for structural and mechanical purposes the claim is put forth that such wood is really the most durable timber known and of special impor tacce to shipbuilders, being very hard. yet light, easily worked, and, though porous, strong and lasting, it is soon seasoned, shrinks but little, and on account of its oily nature does not injure iron. In southeastern Asia it is not only considered the best njaterial for ship construction, but for house carpentry and other work where strength and other lasting qualities are required. It is rarely attacked by ants of the white species, and its rare durability renders it specially valuable in a climate like that of India, where the elements causing decay are so numerous and powerful, whore dampness brings on rapic decomposition, aud where the white ant devours without scruple. In the operation of cutting this wood is frequently girdled one or two years before it is felled, and, thus exposed to the wind, the action of the sun and to the pumping capacity of the leaves, it seasons rapidly and is drier and lighter than timber felled green.

THE ENGLISH SPARROW.

A Protest Against the Useless Slaughter of the Little Birds.

SL correspondent of the Washtenaw Evening Times makes the following sensible remarks on the wholesale slaughter of the English sparrow tor the sake of the bounty of two cents per head which has been placed upon it by our legislators, and which money could Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Howlett have E. Buck, are to be married at the home verted into other channels:

'•This bird, wrongly called English sparrow is distributed all over Europe and is never there credited with the and is never there credited with the bad habits it is supposed to have here. It was introduced into this country from Germany to destroy the caterpillars that infested the linden trees of Philadelphia. Since that time it has increased enormously and spread over nearly the whole of this country. The feeling that has grown up against this bird is largely due to a misapprehension of its habits. In the first place, it is credited with driving away the native birds, but a close investigation. "There only remains to be conisdered the utility of this bounty system. Since IS87 three acts have been passed by the legislature of this state, and up to the end of last year $61,800 have been paid out for these birds. According to the Detroit papers they seem ding to the Detroit papers they seem to be as numerous this year as usual. In the Island of Bermuda, which is less than 20 square miles in extent, 10 years after the European sparrow had been introduced a bounty was instituted, and after spending $2,500 in two years, it was given up as being utterly hopeless to exterminate them. How much better off would this state be if the amount paid out for sparrows.

A SIMPLE TIRE REPAIR.

Punctures in the well known Morgan & Wright tire are mended about as easily as a man would close a hole in his finger with a bit of court plaster. Inside of the inner tube of the tire lies a long strip of patching rubber, like this:

By injecting M. & W. quick-repaif cement through the puncture into this inner tube, and then pressing-down on the tire with the thumb, like this,

the repair strip inside is picked up by the cement, thus closing- the puncture, like this:

Very simple, but — now every rider should remember these two "buts," or he will fail:

Before injecting- cement, pump up the tire. If you don't, the inner tube will be flabby, like this, and the cement will not get inside of it, where the repair strip lies. When you have a puncture, get right off. Riding a tire flat, when it has a tack or nail in it, may damage it con-
