U. OF M. ATTENDANCE

Will Be Largely in Advance of Former Years.

IT WILL EXCEED 3,000

And the Sanguine Ones Believe It Will Be 3,300.

John Steele's Narrow Escape From Death.—The Timely Arrival of a Neighbor Prevented It. A Medal for Bravery.

The prospects for the University this year are for a tremendous increase in attendance. There is now no doubt that the attendance will be larger than ever before but the prospects are that the increase will be a phenomenal one. Of course it is too early to get figures at the University yet. Many have not yet settled with the treasurer and more are arriving every day, but the houses about the city seem to be filling up with roomers to a much greater degree than last year. Another straw to indicate the increased attendance is the largely increased business at the post office. There in one day 700 new addresses were registered, beating all previous records. The stamp sales at the post office for the first six days of October were $876. During the first six days of last year the receipts at the stamp window were $596.40, showing an increase of $279.60 or 46 per cent. Of course all this cannot be charged to the increased number of students, for the times are better and there is a steady increase this year in stamps sales over last year, but a good proportion of it can be justly so charged. They state at the post office that the number of lady students purchasing stamps seems very much larger than last year, and that a peculiar feature of the stamp sales is the large number of postal cards sold, the proportion of sales to individuals not for advertising purposes being much larger than in previous years.

There is a report in circulation that this year's freshman law class will number 400.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH.

Plucky John Steele's Strenuous Efforts to Save His Life.

On Thursday morning of last week John Steele, proprietor of Deubel Bros. feed mill at Scio village, met with a very serious accident and a wonderful escape from death. He intended to visit the fair at Ann Arbor and went to the mill at an unusually early hour to grind some feed, as he was somewhat behind with his work. In attempting to put on a belt, which was a difficult task for one man to undertake, his coat caught in a set screw and he was quickly drawn to and wound around the shaft. After making several revolutions his limbs became entangled in another belt which almost stopped the machinery for the time being. He then grasped the beam, which he says he had made several efforts to do before, with the one arm that was liberated and firmly clinging to it with a death-like grasp he loudly called for help. His cries were heard by Owen Sloan a distance of about 60 rods, and knowing there was something wrong he dropped his milkpail and ran to the mill where he found the unfortunate man hardly able to speak. Mr. Sloan quickly sprang to the wheel and shut off the water, then taking his knife he cut the belt, and Mr. Steele's coat and shirts and pulled him out, finding his legs and arms badly crushed and bruised. Dr. Lee and son were immediately summoned and they dressed his wounds and have every hope of giving Mr. Steele another whirl at the wheel.

THEY STOLE A TRUNK,

Abstracted the Clothes, and Tried to Sell Them in Toledo.

Sept. 29 Harry Miller and James McMillan stole a trunk belonging to G. C. Johnson, a student, from the baggage room at the M. C. depot. No trace of the trunk or its contents was found until Wednesday when Detective Burroughs, of Detroit, who is a detective officer for the Michigan Central, heard of one of the men trying to sell a brand new suit of clothes at a second hand shop in Toledo, in one of the vest pockets of which Johnson's name was sewed. The men were arrested the same day, Sept. 30, and were held there while an investigation was made as to whom the goods belonged to. When arrested Miller had on a suit of underclothes, two shirts and an extra pair of pants, all of which belonged to Johnson. McMillan wore a woolen shirt belonging to the student and carried a razor which also belonged to him. The men were brought to Ann Arbor Wednesday night and placed behind the bars. Yesterday Detective Burroughs and Sheriff Judson went out to search for the trunk which they found in a patch of woods east of the M. C. depot between the railroad and the river, near the island.

HONORED A BRAVE MAN.

Officer McNally Risked His Life to Stop a Runaway Team.

Police officer John H. McNally last week received the second honor which has come to him for a courageous performance of his duty in stopping a runaway team on Jackson boulevard some three weeks ago. It was a gold medal presented in the name of one of the big down-town stores whose employes had witnessed the act for which Officer McNally received promotion to the rank of patrol sergeant.

Officer McNally has been a member of the Chicago force for six years and has shown nerve in more than one trying situation, but never more clearly than on the morning of Sept. 8, when at the risk of his life he brought to a stop the team of frightened horses in the crowded down-town part of Jackson boulevard. Officers McNally and Martin Holberg, standing at the corner of State st. and Jackson boulevard, saw them coming and rushed forward to intercept them. Officer Holberg missed his hold and was dashed to the ground; McNally caught the bits and held on. He was jerked from his feet and swept along by the maddened horses, but his weight told and half way down the block man and horses fell together.

McNally was badly injured, and the three weeks which have passed have not seen him able to return to duty, though he is now well enough to leave the house. He is what his brother officers call a "fine figure" of a man, tall and broad-shouldered and with an arm like a blacksmith's. He was born in the classic shades of Ann Arbor, Mich., on Feb. 18, 1867, and until he joined the police force was a painter by trade. The last six of his 30 years he has spent as a Chicago police officer. He joined the force Sept. 2, 1891, and was stationed first on the West Side and later removed to the Central detail. On the books of the department his record is "clean," with no marks of misconduct or laxness in duty, and he has more than once shown coolness and courage. He is married and lives at No. 16 Troy st.

Regarding his exploit Officer McNally is not communicative. The affair, to his mind, is condensed into the fact that the team was coming and he stopped it. There were attending circumstances in the nature of a cut in the head, an injured leg, and minor contusions, but they were matters of personal interest.—Chicago Tribune, Sept. 26

The John H. McNally to whom the above item refers is well known to a large number of our citizens in Ann Arbor and vicinity. He was born in Northfield and is a son of Owen McNally, who resides near Whitmore Lake.

Justice of Peace vs. Common Council.

Ypsilanti has a bicycle ordinance which forbids wheelmen riding on the sidewalks under penalty of a fine. Five or six arrests have been made under its provisions and the offenders were taken before Justice Childs who let them off without a fine. And now there is war on in consequence between the common council and the dispenser of justice.

At the meeting of the common council Monday evening Ald. Worden and Davis made fiery speeches against Justice Childs' action and the council refused to allow his fee bills for making out the warrants, etc.

Justice Childs gets back at the council, however, in the following terms: "I want the common council to understand that I am doing my duty as I see it, and they will pay me for the work done for the city. If not, at the next common council meeting they will be at one end of a suit. Those are my legal fees and I am going to have them. Further, I may quote to the common council on their refusal to pay an honest bill a line or two from Shakespeare which runs 'Man clothed with a little brief authority commits such pranks before high Heaven as make the angels weep.'"

The Moore Family Reunion.

A very pleasant event was the Moore reunion held at the home of James C. Moore in Ypsilanti last Saturday afternoon (Sept. 25), in honor of their sister, Elizabeth, who was visiting in the neighborhood. This family are descendants of the late Lewis Moore who came from Pennsylvania a number of years ago and settled on a farm in the south part of the township. About 50 members and relatives of the family were present. Among those present from a distance were Dr. Chase, of Otsego; Eli W. Pusey and Wendell Moore and Dr. Sara Chase, of Ann Arbor; George and Martin Moore, and their families, Mrs. William Pester, O. E. Pester, Mrs. B. D. Kelly, of Ypsilanti and Augusta. The menu was elaborate and the choicest, with an abundance to spare. It is hoped that the members of this family may be spared to enjoy many more such reunions.—Ypsilantian.

NOT VERY EFFECTIVE

Transient Traders' Ordinance Not Vigorously Enforced.

INJUNCTION DENIED

And A. H. Holmes Will Build His Livery Barn.

The Washtenaw Circuit Court Has Several Important Cases to Be Tried—A Dozen Criminals Have Been Sentenced.

The transient traders' ordinance that was passed with such a flourish of trumpets by the city council and which it was supposed was going to do so much good in the way of putting a stop to the coming into the city of temporary traders does not seem to be very efficacious in the case of Callahan & Co., the Chicago law book publishers, who semi-annually come into the city and carry off thousands of dollars' worth of trade which rightfully belongs to the business men of Ann Arbor.

This firm has been notified by Marshal Sweet of the ordinance that is in force and the amount they must pay per day for their license to sell goods here transiently. The notice has had no effect on them, however, as they have not stopped selling, neither have they paid the $10 a day license.

On the other hand the enforcement of the ordinance by the city authorities is equally vacillating. The ordinance provides for the prosecution of those who refuse to pay the license. Callahan & Co. may not have actually said they will not pay the license, but they do tacitly say they will not do so, by continuing to go on with the sale and not putting up their license fee.

A few more days and the harvest time for them will be over, then they will "silently fold their tents and steal away" and where will those little $10 license fees be then.

If the ordinance is a good one it should be enforced and that rigorously, but if it is not good let it be wiped off the slate. Callahan & Co. would be as good a firm as any other to try its efficacy on, therefore, why not enforce the ordinance in their case, or at least make a test case of it.

WILL BUILD THE BARN.

Judge Kinne Denied the Injunction to Restrain A. H. Holmes from It.

The purchase by A. H. Holmes, the livery man, of the piece of property between the residences owned by Col. H. S. Dean and Dr. J. N. Martin on E. Liberty st., and which created such a stir among the residents of that neighborhood, found its way into the circuit court on Saturday when Col. Dean and Mr. Martin applied for an injunction to restrain Mr. Holmes from building a livery barn on the property he had purchased. A. J. Sawyer argued the case for the plaintiffs and Martin J. Cavanaugh for the defendant, and a large portion of Saturday was given up to the hearing by Judge Kinne.

At the conclusion of the hearing the judge took the matter under advisement and on Monday he rendered a decision denying the injunction.

Mr. Holmes will go on with the erection of his barn which will be three stories high and built of brick.

Their Household Goods Were Burned.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin J. Pratt, of Webster, left home Saturday morning to go over to Christian Miller's in Scio, to see Mrs. Miller, who has been a great friend to them. They had not been there long when they saw a heavy smoke arising from the direction of their home. They were suspicious that it might be their house as they had left their family of young children there alone. Mr. Pratt drove back and when he got home he found the house in flames. By the efforts of the elder children all the little ones were in safety but all that was saved of the contents of the house was the sewing machine and half a dozen cups and saucers. It is a great hardship for the Pratts as they are not in good circumstances. The house was owned by Mrs. Frank F. Warren and was insured in the Washtenaw Mutual. The Pratts had no insurance on their furniture. It is supposed the fire originated from the chimney as Mrs. Pratt had had a hot fire on before leaving home.

Death of Mrs. Daniel Sutherland.

Mrs. Sarah J. Sutherland, widow of the late Daniel Sutherland, of Pittsfield, died at the university hospital Thursday of last week of progressive paralysis, from which she had been suffering for over two years. Mrs. Sutherland was taken to the hospital Sept. 6 for treatment, but although everything that skill and experience could suggest was done for her she gradually failed until death came, to her relief as stated. Her age was 60 years, 2 months and 3 days.

The funeral services were held at her home in Pittsfield Saturday morning, Rev. J. M. Gelston officiating. Interment was in Forest Hill cemetery.

WASHTENAW CIRCUIT COURT.

The Richards Murder Case to Be Tried Next Week.

The circuit court for Washtenaw county was opened for the October term of business on Monday Hon. E. D. Kinne presiding. There were 87 cases on the docket, 27 of which were criminal cases. The term will be a long one but it was considerably shortened by the quick manner in which a large number of the criminal cases were disposed of. The first case on call was the long-drawn-out embezzlement case against ex-County Register of Deeds C. J. McKinstry. The defendant was not on hand for which Judge Kinne severely reprimanded the attorney Capt. Allen. However, on being assured of McKinstry's appearance on the first day of next week the case was formally set for that time.

The cases against William Beranck charged with receiving stolen property, Richard Hamilton charged with indecent exposure and Joseph W. Davis disposing of chattel mortgaged property were nolle prossed. The cases against John O'Grady for rape and Fred Mack were continued until next term of court.

Monday afternoon when the following prisoners were arraigned they pleaded guilty to the several crimes they were charged with and received their sentences: George Kelly for passing whisky through the bars to prisoners at the county jail was sentenced to six months in jail; Lou Whitman and Frank Biegal for stealing a load of wheat from Mrs. Dunlavy near Dexter, were given 14 and 16 months respectively at the Ionia reformatory; Charles Johnson for burglarizing Ed. Hagan's grocery store goes to Ionia for one year; John O'Brien of Dexter for assault and battery got 60 days in the county jail; the three negroes Wm. Taylor, Charles Thompson and Eugene Crawford pleaded guilty to being in a cutting affray and were let off on payment of the costs $8 each.

Tuesday morning several more pleas of guilty were entered and Walter Weinberg, August Hinkleman and Anthony Woodel charged with breaking into and entering a railroad car in the M. C. yards were sentenced, Weinberg to 18 months at Jackson and Hinkleman and Woodel to 18 months each at Ionia.

The case against Irving Jones the colored man for entering Geo. Spathe's meat market was nolle prossed. Six liquor cases were disposed of on the defendant's plea of guilty and were dismissed on payment of the costs as follows: Oswald Dietz, $15; M. Schaike, $5; Paul Tessmer, $5.05; J. G. Schmid, $5; Abram Polhemus, $7.38; John Berger, $3.50.

On Wednesday the case of Timothy McKune vs. James S. Gorman was tried and the jury returned a verdict for plaintiff for $153.70. The case of Minnie M. Vanderwerker vs. Mary A. Locker, replevin, was next on trial and is still in progress.

The case against William Larkins, Edward Lyon and Rupert Jones charged with murdering James Richards on the night of Jan. 30 last will come on for trial next week.

Tuesday when Dr. Potter's lawyers asked for a continuance, the defense protested that there had been too many adjournments. This can be done on payment of the costs.

The True Remedy

Experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Dr. King's New Discovery. No other remedy can take its place in our home, as in it we have a certain and sure cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, etc." It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as just as good as Dr. King's New Discovery. They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. Trial bottles free at Eberbach Drug and Chemical Co., Ann Arbor.

For several years past it had had in attendance at school students from leading countries of the world. The latest honor conferred upon it is that of being selected by the department of mines and agriculture of New South Wales as the place to send a representative for a course of special training in agriculture.

Last winter it was decided by the Secretary of Mines and Agriculture in New South Wales, Sidney Smith, to offer a two years' traveling scholarship to be competed for among the students at the Hawkesbury Agricultural College in that colony, with a view to sending the successful competitor abroad to gain wider and more varied experience of the science and practice of agriculture than would be possible in New South Wales, so that on his return to that country his services could be utilized in lecturing, and in other ways diffusing among the agriculturists of that country the useful knowledge gained.

The candidate elected was Joseph Arthur Bulkeley, who sailed from Sidney August 16, and arrived at the M. A. C. Sept. 18. It is expected that Mr. Bulkeley will spend the vacations in traveling throughout the United States and Canada to familiarize himself with agricultural methods. All of his expenses, both at college and while traveling, will be met by the department sending him here.

Catarrh and Malaria.
People who are or have been affected by catarrh are most subject to chronic malaria. The explanation is this: Malaria is a germ disease. Germs find their way into the blood through the mucous membranes. If the mucous membranes are healthy the germs can not enter the blood. This is why some people do not get malaria. But if the membranes are affected by catarrh, even slightly, the malaria germs find easy access into the blood.

Pe-ru-na is the remedy. It not only destroys malaria germs, but so restores the mucous membranes to health, that no more germs can find entrance. Pe-ru-na is the most reliable remedy for chronic malaria. It cures by eradicating the germs from the system.

Negotiations extending over three years were necessary before a Michigan man could buy two islands, comprising five acres, from the government. The price paid was $5.50.

You may have heard of Carter's Cascara Cordial many times without ever having given it a trial, and yet you may be in great need of just such a medicine as this. If your blood is impure, if you have that tired feeling, have lost your appetite, if you have dyspepsia, sick headache, liver and kidney trouble, rheumatism or catarrh, why don't you try Carter's Cascara Cordial? It has benefited others and it is reasonable to believe it will help you. Price, 25 and 50 cents. For sale by H. J. Brown.

Says:—I have been using your Vegetable Compound and find that it does all that it is recommended to do. I have been a sufferer for the last four years with womb trouble, weak back and excretions. I was hardly able to do my household duties, and while about my work was so nervous that I was miserable. I had also given up in despair, when I was persuaded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today, I am feeling like a new woman.—Mrs. ELLA M'GARVY, Neebe Road Station, Cincinnati, O.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills work in unison with the Compound, and are a sure cure for constipation and sick-headache. OLD BARBERS ARE SCARCE.

After Reaching 40 They Usually Retire or Enter Another Occupation.

"Did you ever notice," said a veteran tonsorial artist, who had shaved New Haveners since 1873, to a New Haven Register man, "that you only see a few old barbers?"

"Why is it?"

"There are a good many reasons," answered the veteran knight of the blade. "I suppose the chief one is that a barber's hand becomes unsteady after he gets to be about 40 years old and he has to give up. A good many barbers drink hard, and that makes their nerves and hands unfit for service, and they retire before they cut their customers' throats. Still, I will say that in all my experience of 37 years I never saw a man badly cut by a barber, not even by an accident for which the barber was not responsible."

"What becomes of the barbers after they retire?"

"Oh, some of them go to the poor-house," he replied, with a twinkle in his eye, "and some of them, who have saved their wages, buy little places and live on them, perhaps running a farm. Some of them, of course, go into other business, perhaps bookselling or else become insurance agents. I have heard of barbers who gave up the business and became butchers. This isn't such a wide difference from their former business (what are you laughing at?) as it might seem. No, I don't mean that they learn to carve people or even to skin them in the barber business, but they learn how to handle a blade skillfully and they make first class meat cutters."

Meilhac's Advice.

Somebody once wrote to the late Henri Meilhac to ask his advice as to how to become a dramatic author. "It is a difficult career, and the trade is not easy," wrote back Meilhac. "Above all, it needs success. Yes, success is the thing if you want to have talent."

A GREAT EXPENSE

To Carry on an Almost Helpless Fight—At Last the Fight is Over.

(From the Battle Creek Moon.)

Our representative called at 26 Battle Creek Avenue, the residence of S. I. Robbins, and in an interview with him brought out the following facts: Mr. Robbins tells of his wife's experience in a manner that carries conviction with his words. He says: "I am sorry my wife is not at home this P. M., but no one knows better than I how she has suffered during past years. For twenty years she has been afflicted with the various forms of kidney complaint and an enlargement of the liver. She was often confined to her bed for more than two weeks at a time suffering untold agony. She has doctored constantly, and I have paid out in doctors' bills for her alone as much as $900.00, and then her relief was only such that she would be able to be around for a spell. Some time ago she felt the symptoms of another attack coming on, such as a pain in through the kidneys and back. I hardly know what induced me to get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, instead of sending for the family physician; however, I got some and she commenced their use. It was a surprise to us both to see their action; the attack was warded off, and she continued taking them with marked improvement each day of their use. She is better now than she has been in years, the pain in the back and others in the kidneys have entirely gone. Hardly a day goes by that we do not mention the great good Doan's Kidney Pills have done her. I was always opposed to patent medicines, but confess that my wife's experience with Doan's Kidney Pills has done much to change my opinions. If it were not for those pills she would not have been able to be out this afternoon.

Supreme Court Has Plenty of Work This Term.

ONE MURDER CASE IN THE BATCH.

Right of Taxation in an Indian Reservation and the Nebraska Maximum Freight Question—Eight Hour Law and Patents—Francis J. Kieckhofer Indicted for Embezzling Government Funds—Minnesota Man Appointed Minister to Denmark.

Washington, Oct. 5.—The October term of the United States supreme court will begin next Monday. There are now 466 cases on the docket, as against 616 at the beginning of the October term in 1896, of which 383 came over from the last term and 83 have been added during the court's vacation. According to long usage the first duty of the term will be an official call upon the president, if he is in the city on Monday, and no other public business will be transacted on that day. Tuesday the argument of cases on the regular docket will begin, and this course followed until the second Monday of the term, the 18th inst., when the court will take up the hearing of cases advanced on the docket and assigned for that date, of which there are 19.

Murder on the High Seas.

The first of the assigned cases is that of the man Bram, charged with the murder of the captain, the captain's wife, and the first mate of the barkentine Herbert Fuller at sea in July, 1896. Then come the eight-hour law cases from Utah; the case of the Pittsburg, Cincinnati and Chicago Railroad company vs. the state of West Virginia, involving the question of taxation; the case of the New York Indians vs. the United States, rehearing; the Oklahoma case of Thomas, et al. vs. Gay, et al., involving the right of taxation in an Indian reservation; the case of the United States vs. the Joliet Traffic association, and others of less general importance.

Some Important Cases.

Of the cases coming over from the last term 25 have been argued or submitted to the court, and any of them may be finally disposed of on any Monday, after the first week of the term. Some of these cases are of considerable importance, among them being the Nebraska maximum freight rate case, involving the right of a state legislature to fix a freight rate beyond which railroads cannot go in their charges; the Southern Pacific Railroad company vs. the state of California, the disposition of which will determine the title to several hundred thousand acres of land; the Westinghouse air brake case, involving the validity of patents of the Westinghouse company for applying the air brake to long trains; and the case of the interstate commerce commission vs. the Alabama Midland Railroad company, involving the long and short haul clause of the interstate commerce law.

Black Official's Wife Is Fearful for Both Her Husband and Herself.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Postmaster Loftin of Hogsenville, Ga., did not put in an appearance here Monday. So far as the Washington authorities are advised Loftin has no intention of resigning unless the inducement in the form of another good position in the government service is offered him. A suggestion that he be given another place was made by Loftin's wife, who is also assistant postmaster, in a letter to the postoffice department. In this letter she referred to the imminent danger of a renewal of violence, and expressed fear for both her husband and herself.

ELOPERS ARE IN CELLS.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—As the result of the interference of the police in their planned elopement, Norman Hunt and Ella Campbell are spending the hours that were to have been part of their honeymoon in cells at the Harrison street police station.

Supreme Court Consolidated.

Springfield, Ills., Oct. 5.—The consolidation of the supreme court was made complete Tuesday morning in a fitting manner with eloquent speeches at the court room in the state house. Judge Jesse J. Phillips opened court and disposed of several cases. At the close he asked if there was any more business. General Alfred Orendorff of Springfield said there was, and made a speech. He was followed by Adolph Moses of Chicago and General John M. Palmer of Springfield. The closing address was delivered by Judge Phillips.

Minister to Denmark.

Washington, Oct. 5.—The president Tuesday made the following appointments: Laurits S. Swenson of Minnesota, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Denmark; Edward Bedloe of Pennsylvania, consul at Canton, China; William C. Myers and Harry L. Taylor, to be first assistant engineers in the revenue cutter service. Professor Swenson is a Norwegian and a great friend of Senator Nelson. He was at one time a professor at the state University of Minnesota, and ranked with the prominent educators of the state. Dr. Bedloe was United States consul at Amoy, China. He is well-known throughout the United States.

Troops Avert Trouble.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Indian agent at Tuskaohama, I. T., wired the Indian bureau Tuesday that the presence of troops had averted trouble at the meeting of the Choctaw council Monday and that he thought all the danger was now over. He reported that the lower house of the council failed to effect a permanent organization and that the senate, being composed of hold-overs, organized promptly. He says that the council will be about equally divided on the question of the ratification of the Dawes agreement. He added that excitement there was considerably allayed, owing to the prompt action of the interior department and the presence of United States troops sent by them to avert the threatened trouble.

Cabinet Meeting.

Washington, Oct. 5.—The cabinet meeting Tuesday took no action of importance. The Spanish-Cuban situation was considered in a desultory way in connection with a cablegram read from Minister Woodford announcing the formation of the new Sagasta cabinet. The cablegram, however, contained no new information and the discussion was largely in the nature of comment and an exchange of views as to the effect of the change of government in Spain on the Cuban situation.

INCREASED NUMBER OF CASES.

Victims at New Orleans Have Mild Type of Fever.

New Orleans, Oct. 5.—The largest morning report of cases was chronicled Tuesday, when up to 10 o'clock six new cases of fever had been reported, four of them reaching the board of health in a bunch. At that hour, however, no deaths had been reported, though cooler weather Tuesday morning was not considered beneficial to those who are in bed. The increase in the number of cases causes no alarm, owing to the mild type of the latest cases.

INCREASED NUMBER OF CASES.

Victims at New Orleans Have Mild Type of Fever.

New Orleans, Oct. 5.—The largest morning report of cases was chronicled Tuesday, when up to 10 o'clock six new cases of fever had been reported, four of them reaching the board of health in a bunch. At that hour, however, no deaths had been reported, though cooler weather Tuesday morning was not considered beneficial to those who are in bed. The increase in the number of cases causes no alarm, owing to the mild type of the latest cases.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. The Ann Arbor Argus

BEAKES & MINGAY, PROPRIETORS. PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY for $1.00 per year strictly in advance.

Entered at the Post-Office, in Ann Arbor, Mich., as second-class matter. FRIDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1897.

This should be a good year for Ann Arbor. All indications point to a revival of business here.

The barborous Weyler will no longer have the opportunity to wreck his ruthless vengeance upon the Cubans, as the new Spanish ministry will recall him.

It is hoped that most of the residents of the Klondyke region will be there next Friday, but from all accounts, it looks as if the remnant of the population will be a meager one.

A strange scene was enacted at Forest Hills cemetery, Boston, a few days ago, when the mortal remains of the late Chas. Fairbanks were reduced to ashes by cremation, and those ashes scattered to the winds, according to the stipulations of the will of the deceased.

General Neal Dow, the great apostle of temperance, died at his home in Portland, Me., at 3:30 p. m. Saturday. The end was peaceful. He retained consciousness until an hour before he died, recognizing his children who were present.

The hottest political campaign of this year is being waged in New York city, where a very mixed condition of affairs is apparent. There are four candidates for mayor, any one of whom may be elected, and a fifth candidate, the notorious Patrick Gleason furnishes the comedy element, as a farcical candidate.

Bristles From Abroad.

Almost all the bristles used in this country in the manufacture of brushes are imported, and notwithstanding the increased production of pork in this country the supply of American bristles is now even smaller than it formerly was.

Imported bristles come from various parts of Russia, but most largely from Poland and north Germany. Some finer, soft bristles come from France. The bulk of the supply comes from cold countries, where the hogs are well protected by thick coats, and many of the bristles are those of wild hogs.

It is one of the curious facts that many of the brightest writers spell atrociously. That in itself goes a long way in the practical demonstration that illiteracy does not connect itself with the art of spelling.

People are very sensitive about their looks and their spelling. Next in gravity to the charge of being homely is the charge of being unable to spell. That seems to carry with it a sort of proof that bad spelling is discreditable.

When a brother in the church wants to marry a sister, he does not make his wish known directly to her, but goes to the minister and tells him his secret.

REACHED FAME AT A BOUND.

How the Famous Novelist Made His First Hit. The man who had sprung into sudden prominence in the literary world had grown a trifle reminiscent under the influence of a good cigar and a small bottle, and one of the members of the party decided that there could be no better time to get the story of his remarkable success.

"I do not recall that any one ever became more suddenly famous in the literary world than you," suggested the curious one.

"I imagine that I came very close to breaking a record," replied the literary light.

"One day you were unknown, and the next day every literary critic in the country was singing your praise and people were standing in line to buy your books," continued the curious one.

"Quite true," admitted the literary light. "My reputation was made by a single story, and that story might be called an accident."

"That's what I want to get at," explained the curious one. "I want to hear the story of that story. Where did you get the idea and what impelled you to write it? What was your inspiration?"

The literary light laughed and reached for his glass.

"The secret of that story is soon told," he said as soon as the glass was empty. "You see, I had a typewriter."

"Young and pretty?" they all broke in.

"Machine, not operator," explained the literary light. "Machine was all I could afford at that time, and I had to get that on the installment plan. I ran it myself, you know."

"Well, go on."

"One day I thoughtlessly went out without putting the cover on it, and my 5-year-old boy got at it."

"Couldn't run it, could he?" they asked.

"Of course not, but I'd let him help me put the paper in and take it out until he had mastered that much of the operation of the machine, and as the click of it pleased him and there was no one there to stop him he hammered away at it for about two hours."

"But what has that to do with your story?"

"That was the story," answered the literary light. "When I saw what he had done, I gathered the pages together, numbered them, got up a title and sent the whole thing to a leading magazine with a note saying that it was a dialect story of a Scotch-Welsh settlement that got mixed up with the Dutch in South Africa, and—well, I haven't had to do a thing since then except buy typewriters for the boy. He's a little bit rough at times, but so long as he doesn't smash over one machine a month I can afford it."—Chicago Post.

Occasionally an eloquent testimonial to the virtues of a "health resort" fails to find a place in the printed matter sent out by the hotel keepers or others interested in the prosperity of the place.

A railway president who had gone to one of the summer resorts of the northwest to spend a few weeks was sitting on the veranda of a hotel enjoying the lake scenery and his cigar when he was accosted by a resident "boomer" with the remark:

"You'll find the air here full of ozone, sir. You'll sleep like a log. Before you have been here a week you will gain ten pounds or I miss my guess, and I'm generally right."

"I don't doubt it," replied the railway magnate. "I gained eight pounds the very first day."

"That beats the record," said the "boomer," slightly dazed, "though I've known instances almost equal to it."

"Yes," rejoined the other, "eight pounds. I weighed myself on a nickel in the slot machine at the railway station when I landed here, and the indicator pointed to 157. An hour later I stepped on the same kind of machine at the hotel, and the figure was 165. Gain of eight pounds in 60 minutes, sir, and I hadn't eaten a bite. Hadn't done anything but breathe this wonderful air. Never saw anything like it. Marvelous climate, sir—simply marvelous. And all it cost me was 10 cents."—Youth's Companion.

She Found Out. A Boston lady stood on the deck of the little bump nosed Ocklawaha steamer in Florida, notebook and lognette in hand, asking ponderous questions of a darky roustabout.

"Is the alligator amphibious?" was one of her questions.

The darky scratched his head. He was a bit puzzled, as there had been more corn pone than dictionary in his bringing up, but his quick wit and natural logic did not desert him as he replied:

"I reckon he am miss'. He done bite yo' shunk of yo' monkey wid him."—New Orleans Picayune.

MODERN CHICKEN COOPS.

The Once Familiar Laths Have Given Way to Wire Netting.

Men whose memories go back, say, 40 years will remember that in those days when a man wanted to build a chicken coop he bought a bundle or two of laths and built it. There are nowadays few lath chicken coops built nowadays. Even the smallest chicken raiser, who keeps a few in his back yard, makes his coop or runway of poultry netting. The chicken house, or shelter, is made of boards, often of two thicknesses and with tarred paper between, for better protection from the weather, and with openings at the bottom and under the projecting roof for ventilation.

Laths were cheap; poultry netting is still cheaper. It is made of steel wire, galvanized, in various widths and in various sizes of mesh. The netting most commonly used is six feet wide, with a two inch mesh. The chicken raiser sets up a frame and tacks the netting to it.

Narrow nettings of smaller mesh are used in various ways to keep in little chicks—sometimes a foot wide small mesh netting to run around at the base of the inclosure, the regular netting being set above it, thus increasing the total height of the netting. Sometimes the small mesh netting is run around inside of the regular netting, thus making the lower part of the netting double. Sometimes it is used to make separate small inclosures within the large runway and perhaps to make a number of small inclosures to keep separate broods of chicks apart. The narrow, small mesh netting is made up to three and a half feet in width.

There is nowadays a use for wire netting in chicken houses. A netting with a square mesh is laid on the floor of chicken houses to keep out rats and mice.

There are now many large establishments in this country for the raising of chickens for commercial purposes, for market and for breeding, and there are as many men as ever who raise chickens at home, from the many who keep a few in the back yard, with a simple chicken house and coop, to men who raise many chickens and maintain an elaborate plant for their breeding and keeping. But under whatever conditions they are raised, chickens are rarely seen nowadays in coops made of laths, such as were familiar 40 years ago.—New York Sun.

AN ECLIPSE OF THE SUN.

Somber and Terrible Was the Scene at the Moment of Totality.

Mrs. Mabel Loomis Todd, writing in The Atlantic of an eclipse seen in Japan, says: "Just before totality, to occur at 2 minutes after 3 o'clock, I went over to the little lighthouse, taking up my appointed station on the summit, an ideal vantage ground for a spectacle beyond anything else I ever witnessed. Grayer and grayer grew the day, narrower and narrower the crescent of shining sunlight. The sea faded to leaden nothingness. Armies of crows, which had pretended entire indifference, fighting and flapping as usual on gables and flagpoles with unabated fervor, finally succumbed, and flew off with heavy haste to the pine forest on the mountain side. The French man-of-war disappeared in the gloom, the junks blended in colorlessness, but grass and verdure suddenly turned strangely, vividly yellow green.

"It was a moment of appalling suspense. Something was being waited for. The very air was portentous. The flocks of circling sea gulls disappeared with strange cries. One white butterfly fluttered by vaguely.

"Then an instantaneous darkness leaped upon the world. Uncerthly night enveloped all things. With an indescribable outflashing at the same second, the corona burst forth in wonderful radiance. But dimly seen through thinly drifting cloud, it was nevertheless beautiful, a celestial flame beyond description. Simultaneously the whole northwestern sky was instantly flooded with a lurid and startlingly brilliant orange, across which floated clouds slightly darker, like flecks of liquid flame, while the west and southwest gleamed in shining lemon yellow. It was not like a sunset; it was too somber and terrible."

Sane Advice to Young Artists. "Don't give in" was about the gist of what Sir Wyke Bayliss said to the English art students in a lecture at the South Kensington museum. He told them what ought to be their watchword:

"Do not believe, he said, in the insidious lie that the devil is always whispering to the soul of the artist that the golden age of art is past and that what was done yesterday cannot be done today, for art is in its decadence. Such an assertion was the danger of the time, and he would have them track it to its source and kill it there. It had two forms—despondency and temptation—but he urged them not to be influenced by either. Let their study be based upon knowledge, the knowledge that had accumulated during the ages and was formulated in what was known as academic training, and let their knowledge in turn be based upon their own study."

Certainly that is the best of advice, for what has been done before can be done again.

No Need to Cry. "Don't cry, Buster," said Jimmieboy after the catastrophe. "Napoleon didn't cry every time his brother hit him accidentally on the eye."

"I know that," retorted Buster. "Napoleon did all the hittin on the eye hisself."—Harper's Bazar.

George Ruff, an aged resident of S. Ashley st., made a false step when coming down the steps at John Goetz & Son's store, and fell, fracturing his hip. Mr. Ruff is an old man and quite feeble and it is considered doubtful whether he will ever entirely recover from the injury.

At a meeting of the Washtenaw county fair association held Friday morning the following resolution was adopted: "That the members request the board of managers to take the preliminary steps to change the constitution at their regular meeting so as to hold annual elections on the fair grounds during the fair."

A. G. Studer, physical director of the Detroit Young Men's Christian Association, will deliver an address at the local association rooms next Sunday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock. Mr. Studer is a Y. M. C. A. hustler, and all those who have heard him will certainly say that he is a splendid speaker. He should be greeted with a hall full of men.

The editor of the Courier says: "If Henry George should run for mayor here, where his contemptible land value theory has been tried in assessing the cost of the sewers, he would never know he was a candidate. Of all injustices ever perpetrated on a public, that system has accomplished it." And yet there are people in this city who have a never failing faith in Henry George theories.

Next Sunday will be Capt. and Mrs. Sparke's farewell at the Salvation Army hall, as they expect to leave Ann Arbor next Wednesday for their new appointment. The anniversary services of the Young People's Society of Zion Luther an church were held Sunday evening and an immense congregation was present. Rev. Carl Ackerman, president of Lima college, Lima, O., and Rev. A. L. Nicklas, pastor of the church, both preached eloquent and forcible sermons, the one speaking in English, and the other in German. The excellent music was rendered by the choir of the church under the direction of Mr. L. Boes. The society enters upon another year in a prosperous and encouraging condition and gives promise of much future usefulness.

Last fall there was a movement on foot to form a state high school oratorical league, comprising Detroit, Kalamazoo, East Saginaw, Bay City and Lansing. This year that league will be formed. Each high school will hold preliminary contests and the pupils receiving first honors at these contests will represent their respective high school at the final contest for state championship. The Ann Arbor High School Oratorical Association, at its meeting, decided to offer a first prize of $25, and a second prize of $15, in the local contest. The high school association has a membership of 80 and is in a flourishing condition.

Dr. Samuel A. Jones who was the first honorary member of The Rowfant Club, of Cleveland, a club of 125 book lovers, has edited James Russell Lowell's lectures on English Poets which were delivered in 1855. They had never been published, and it was only by accident they were preserved as clippings from the Boston Advertiser in a scrap book which Dr. Jones discovered in the University of Michigan library.

The work is in the elegant print of the De Vinne press, and is a valuable addition to thought in the fresh, enthusiastic vein of the youthful Lowell.—Courier.

"Man and the Machine" is the title of a striking article from the pen of the Right Rev. Henry C. Potter, D. D., Bishop of New York, in the North American Review for October, the bishop discussing, apart from other things, the tendency of the increased employment of machinery to mechanize the workman. No one, he asserts, can fail to perceive the enormous gains in convenience, comfort, and luxury from the application of machinery to the arts. But the great gain is not without cost in many ways and of many kinds, and to the individual who works at a handicraft it is real and serious.

The assessment roll of sewer district No. 7, on W. Liberty st. sewer, was reviewed Monday morning by the common council, sitting as a board of review. Only about half a dozen objections were made to it. The total amount of money needed for the sewer is $2,056.77. Of this $169.29 comes out of the general sewer fund—that being the estimated proportion for street crossings, leaving $1,887.48 to be assessed on the adjoining property. The board raised the assessed valuation $6,200 net, the total valuation then being $37,000. Adjoining property will thus be assessed $50.60 per $1,000 for the construction of the sewer.

Ex-Justice Gibson was confined in the county jail for about two hours Monday morning. Now, it was not for any offense that he had committed, but simply through the forgetfulness of a deputy sheriff, and the ex-justice's feelings are considerably ruffled over the fact. He had been allowed to go into the jail to see one of the prisoners whom he was to defend, and the deputy locked the iron doors upon him and there he was. It was not until his name was called on the roll of the Washtenaw county bar when the circuit court convened that the deputy recollected where Mr. Gibson was and went and released him, steaming with perspiration and indignation.

To Own Its Own Home. Olive Lodge, No. 156, F. & A. M., of Chelsea, has decided to own its own lodge room and to that end arrangements have been made with W. J. Knapp whereby the lodge will erect and own the second story of the store building he is now erecting on Middle st. west. The money with which to carry out this plan is to be raised by subscription, and the movement is such a popular one that $950 of the $2,000 necessary to carry out the project was raised in one day.

Are You Thinking of what you will take for your cough or cold? It has been growing steadily worse, and you must take something or else see the doctor, and you don't want to go to him when a simple, effective remedy, such as Carter's Cough Cure, will cure you, and he would recommend it himself. Price 25 cents. For sale by H. J. Brown.

Costly Playing Cards. A pack of cards was recently sold at a London stationer's for $600. It was one of the handsomest Italian copper-plate card games called "tarocchi di Montegna," made during the fifteenth century. Another pack of cards recently sold at Paris for almost $400. Each of the cards in this pack is a master work of the engraver's art, and all the figures in the game were historical portraits. The queen of hearts, for instance, represented Queen Anne of England, the king of hearts being her husband, Prince George of Denmark. The queen of diamonds was Queen Anne Sophia of Denmark, the queen of clubs the then crown princess of Prussia, the wife of Frederick William I, and the queen of spades Princess Anna of Russia, later on the czarina. The jacks in this deck of cards represent the most prominent diplomats of Europe at the same time. —Philadelphia Record.

Diseases of the Skin. The intense itching incident to eczema, tetter, salt rheum and other diseases of the skin, is overcome by applying Carter's Herbal Ointment, many very bad cases have been cured by it. It is equally valuable for piles, and is a favorite remedy for chapped hands and chilblains. Price 25 cents. For sale by H. J. Brown.

England's Shortest Railway. The shortest railway line in Great Britain is the Brighton Dyke Steep Grade railway, which was opened recently, adding a new feature to the attractions of Devil's Dyke. The Dyke, which is a favorite resort of the Brightonians, is a great but remarkably regular chasm on the South downs, situated about six miles to the northwest of Brighton. The view from the tableland, nearly 700 feet above the sea level, which surrounds it is one of the finest panoramic views obtainable in the country. The new line, which descends direct from the top of the hill to a point about a quarter of a mile distant from the village of Poyning in the plain below, is only 840 feet in length.

Horicon Marsh Cases Ended. Juneau, Wis., Oct. 5.—In the circuit court the cases of the state of Wisconsin versus William Cummings, William Kliefoth, and Percy F. Stone of Chicago, known as the Horicon marsh cases, came to an end by District Attorney Hamilton entering a nolle. The cases have been pending over five years. The defendants, who were officers of the Horicon Shooting club, were arrested for assaulting a hunter named Fred U. Lamb of Waupun, who, it was claimed, was trespassing on the grounds. The cases went to the supreme court twice.

Wonderful Artesian Well. Danville, Ills., Oct. 5.—Dan Goodwine has struck a wonderful artesian well. It throws a 6-inch stream twenty-five feet high and flows 86,400 barrels of water a day. People come miles to see the sight.

CLOSE OF THE DEFENSE

Luetgert's Side Has Told All It is Able To.

PRISONER WILL NOT TESTIFY.

His Attorneys Ask That the Case Be Taken from the Jury, as the State Failed to Prove a Corpus Delicti—The Motion Overruled by the Court—Testimony Tinged with Sensationalism—Defense Scores a Victory on the Kings.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—The defense in the Luetgert murder trial came to a sudden termination in Judge Tuthill's court at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. At that hour the attorneys for Luetgert announced that the defense had no more testimony to place before the jury. Attorney Phelan immediately followed this announcement with a motion to take the case away from the jury on the ground that the prosecution had failed to prove a corpus delicti, and had consequently not made out a case against the prisoner.

Judge Tuthill at once overruled the motion. The court was then adjourned until the next day to give the state time to prepare for its rebuttal testimony. Just after court convened Attorneys Phalen and Vincent, Arnold Luetgert, and the prisoner held a secret conference in an anteroom. It was decided that Luetgert should not testify in his own behalf, and the announcement caused general disappointment.

Tinged with Sensationalism. The testimony of the morning was in a measure tinged with sensationalism—tinged by its very nature and not by the manner of its delivery. Mrs. William Charles, wife of Luetgert's business partner and friend, took the stand. In support of the insanity plea, the pale little woman told of conversations with Mrs. Luetgert in which the latter berated the breaking up of her husband's business. "I am going away," she told me on the Saturday night that she disappeared. She was always talking about going away.

The rings came next. They alone had remained with the identification of the state clinging to them. "What kind of rings did Mrs. Luetgert wear?" asked Mr. Phalen, bending far over to catch the whispered words of the low-voiced witness.

"She wore two gold rings very much alike," came the answer in clear, high tones, and Mrs. Charles looked at the twelve men in the jury box to catch the effect of her words, for the contention of the state has been that the rings varied in size, one being a broad wedding ring and the other a narrow guard ring.

Rings in the Photograph. A photograph was shown to the court after the witness had examined it. It was an enlarged photograph of the missing woman. Two rings were visible on her hands, which were crossed on her lap. In the picture they appeared to be of the same size.

Mr. Phalen picked up the alleged wedding ring, held it up to the light and then placed it in Mrs. Charles' hands. "Did Mrs. Luetgert wear a ring like this?" he asked. Again the woman returned her answer so clearly that it could be heard all over the court room. "She did not." And Mr. Phalen sank into his seat, while Mr. Deneen arose to conduct the cross-examination. It proved little more satisfactory than that which was shot at her husband. The state's attorney confined himself in an attempt to break down the witness' assertions concerning the last conversation with Mrs. Luetgert, but the pale little woman, dressed in black and looking timid, left the stand unshaken.

The first witness of the morning was Foreman Cox of the weather bureau. He carried a book of records and looked confident and proud, being an expert on a subject that nobody could contradict.

Cloudy All Day and Night. "Cloudy all day and night," said he, referring to his book and the memorable Saturday night when Mrs. Luetgert disappeared, in the same breath. This statement was directed at the statements of the Shimpke girls, who claimed to have seen the sausage maker and his wife enter the factory Saturday night at 10 o'clock. Dr. C. H. Miller followed and told of the weather Sept. 11, when he and a party of friends had taken a position in front of the Shimpke residence to see if people walking near the factory were visible. He saw half a dozen people till the darkness concealed them after passing the alley near the sausage factory.

Fred Mueller, a nephew of Mrs. Luetgert, declared that his aunt had given him a watch and chain. On cross-examination Deneen wanted to know of the conversation held at that time, but objections cut it off. An attaché of the state's attorney's office says that the state looks for an acquittal, not even hoping for a disagreement of the jury.

Dodgeville Church Conspiracy Case. Dodgeville, Wis., Oct. 5.—The jury in the case of T. H. Arthur, F. P. Hocking, George Bunting, and William Prideaux for conspiracy for entering the Plymouth Congregational church on the night of Aug. 7 and preventing the congregation from holding the usual services brought in a verdict of guilty against T. H. Arthur and F. P. Hocking and not guilty as to George Bunting and William Prideaux. The men convicted are trustees of the primitive church of the city which occupied the premises entered by them on the above date up to February last when a split occurred, the majority deciding to change to Congregationalist.

Horicon Marsh Cases Ended. Juneau, Wis., Oct. 5.—In the circuit court the cases of the state of Wisconsin versus William Cummings, William Kliefoth, and Percy F. Stone of Chicago, known as the Horicon marsh cases, came to an end by District Attorney Hamilton entering a nolle. The cases have been pending over five years. The defendants, who were officers of the Horicon Shooting club, were arrested for assaulting a hunter named Fred U. Lamb of Waupun, who, it was claimed, was trespassing on the grounds. The cases went to the supreme court twice.

Infantile Way. Mr. Newpop—Say, doctor, I wish you would fix up something to make my wife sleep nights. The baby has just begun cutting its teeth, and— Doctor—Oh, it's the baby you want the opiate for, is it?

Mr. Newpop—No; for my wife. You see, every time the ooby sprouts another tooth she is so tickled that she keeps me awake half the night talking about it.—Brooklyn Life.

Sorry He Spoke. On one occasion when a well-known wit was listening to the band on the pier at Brighton some medical students who happened to be there thought they would have a joke with him, and accordingly one of their number went up with outstretched hand and said: "Ah, good morning, Mr. —. How do you do?"

"I am quite well, thank you," replied he, "but I really have not the honor of your acquaintance."

"What!" said the student. "You don't know me? Why, I met you at the zoo."

CASTORIA. The famous signature of Dr. J. C. Peck is on every wrapper. They Are Sensitive.

The sensitiveness of the families of distinguished men as to the early occupations of their ancestors is somewhat remarkable. Recently an author was asked to write a brief history of the life of a man who had done service to his state. Like Lincoln, this man had been a woodchopper, a fact to which his historian gave prominence.

"Don't say he was a woodchopper," said the spokesman of the family. "That will never do."

"What shall I say then?" asked the author. "Say—let me see now. Just say that he was connected with the lumber business."—Atlanta Constitution.

Murderer Peter Bons Receives His Sentence.

HAS NO VISIBLE EFFECT ON HIM.

He Breaks Down, However, When His Mother Upraises Him for His Terrible Crime and the Disgrace It Has Brought Upon the Family—St. Louis Man Kills His Wife's Father and Himself—Double Tragedy at Kansas City.

Crystal Falls, Mich., Oct. 5.—Peter Bons, the murderer of Pearl Morrison, was Monday sentenced by Judge Stone of the circuit court to imprisonment for life in the branch state prison at Marquette. The prisoner was brought into court heavily handcuffed, this being the first time the sheriff had found it necessary to take that precaution. Bons has been very unruly. One day last week he broke up the porcelain bowl in his cell. He had the same grin Monday that he had through the inquest last August and never flinched during the proceedings. Prosecuting Attorney Handy read the charge to him and he listened intently, pleading guilty when asked by the court what he had to say.

Talked Privately with Bons. The judge then ordered the prisoner removed to his private room, where he had a short talk with him, but it must have been unsatisfactory, for upon returning to the bench the judge asked that the witnesses that were secreted in the jail to overhear the story be put upon the stand. M. B. McGee was the first to be sworn. This was the first intimation that the prisoner had of the real character of the detective who "worked" him last summer. He listened intently as Mr. McGee related what he had heard the prisoner say. B. H. Parks, who had also been a witness to the story, corroborated McGee's testimony. The prisoner was then asked if he had anything further to say and he replied that he had not. The judge then prefaced the sentence with the remark that he doubted if the prisoner realized the enormity of the crime, and that therefore nothing that the court might say would bring to the prisoner any idea of the gravity of the situation.

Not Affected by the Sentence. Bons was then sentenced to confinement at hard labor for life in the branch prison at Marquette. The sentence made no visible effect upon the prisoner and the judge ordered him taken from the room. The mother of the prisoner came up from Norway and was at the jail door at noon, beseeching admission. Bons had heard of her being in town and told Sheriff Waite not to allow her to enter the jail. The sight of the woman as she wept at the door and begged admission was too much for the sheriff and he let her in. She upbraided her son for the disgrace he had brought upon the family and the terrible crime he had committed. Bons finally broke down and wept for the first time since he has been in custody. He was taken to Marquette Tuesday.

TERRIBLE DOUBLE TRAGEDY. St. Louis Man Kills His Father-in-Law and Then Shoots Himself.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 5.—During a quarrel late Monday night George P. Pfeiffer, a stenographer, shot his father-in-law, Robert Delaney, through the brain and then killed himself. Delaney was 76 years old, and had been in the habit of coming home intoxicated and making trouble. Pfeiffer had not remonstrated unduly with him because of his age. Late Monday night Delaney came in as usual and a quarrel with his son-in-law ensued. Suddenly Pfeiffer drew a revolver and shot Delaney through the head.

Hearing the shot Pfeiffer's wife rushed into the room just in time to see her husband send a bullet through his own head and another through his heart. He fell dead at her feet. Hearing moans in another room she rushed in and found her father dying from his wound. She carried him to a couch, passing over the dead body of her husband in doing so. She summoned the neighbors and then swooned, and is now in a critical condition from the shock. Pfeiffer did not drink and was considered an exemplary young man.

Shot His Wife and Himself. Kansas City, Oct. 5.—Edward McElroy, a gambler, shot and perhaps fatally injured his wife and then himself in their room at an early hour Tuesday morning. He sent two bullets into her breast, one into her chin, and a fourth into her arm. He ended by firing a bullet into his own brain. There are small chances of either recovering. McElroy came here from Toronto, Can. Mrs. McElroy was formerly Ida Morris, and she is a Boston woman. She had threatened to leave her husband.

Two Candidates Killed. Middleboro, Ky., Oct. 5.—A special from Knuckle says that Jacob Howard, Republican nominee for circuit clerk of Harlan county, was killed in a political fight on Straight creek. John Milton, Democratic candidate for jailer, was mortally wounded.

Not a Public Officer. Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 5.—The supreme court has affirmed the decision of the lower court in refusing to hold Suel J. Spaulding for the embezzlement of $13,000 from the state pharmacy commission. The court holds that he is not a public officer, but merely an employee of the commission. Spaulding appropriated the money to speculate in grain.

One Hundred Houses Burned. Austin, Pa., Oct. 5.—Fire Monday night wiped out every building in this town but five. In all over 100 structures were burned, involving a loss of half a million. Five hundred persons are homeless. The blaze started in a bale of hay.

Temporary Restraining Order. Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 5.—Judge Munger of the United States district court has granted a temporary restraining order to prevent the enforcement of the law to regulate the stock yards passed by the last legislature.

Populists Indorse Henry George. New York, Oct. 5.—The People's party has indorsed Henry George for mayor. The contest is gradually narrowing down to a fight between the two independent candidates, George and Seth Low.

A Shattered Nervous System.

FINALLY HEART TROUBLE. Restored to Health by Dr. Miles' Nerve.

Dr. EDWARD HARDY, the jolly manager of Sheppard Co.'s great store at Braceville, Ill., writes: "I had never been sick a day in my life until 1890. I got so bad with nervous prostration that I had to give up and commence to doctor. I tried our local physicians and one in Joliet, but none gave me any relief and I thought I was going to die. I became despondent and suffered untold agony. I could not eat, sleep nor rest, and it seemed as if I could not exist. At the end of six months I was reduced to but a shadow of myself, and at last my heart became affected and I was truly miserable. I took six or eight bottles of Dr. Miles' Nerve. It gave me relief from the start, and at last a cure, the greatest blessing of my life."

Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee, first bottle benefits or money refunded. Book on diseases of the heart and nerves free. Address, DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

UNIVERSITY NOTES.

Miss Gertrude Buck, '96 lit, will be at the head of the English department at Vassar this year. Chas. A. Denison, '94 law, is now a professor of law in the Illinois College of Law, situated at Chicago. The S. C. A. Bulletin is now a weekly paper instead of a monthly as heretofore. The first issue was Saturday, Oct. 2. The Athletic Association is $1,400 in the hole and one of the principal aims of the board of managers just at present is how to devise plans to raise the money. The appeals to the alumni have been fruitless so far. The university football season was opened Saturday by a game with the eleven from the Ypsilanti Normal. The game brought out an attendance of over 1,000 and as the 'Varsity won by the score of 24 to 0 everybody returned well satisfied. 'Key' Clarke, pitcher on last year's champion baseball team at the University of Chicago, has entered the law department of the university. Under the intercollegiate rules she cannot play on next year's team but he will be of great value as a coach. The Stearns fellowship has fallen to the lot of Abraham Van Zwaluwenburg, who graduated from the school of pharmacy a few years ago. Later he took work in the literary department and has since been engaged as a practicing chemist in the west and in Mexico. The fellowship work will be under the direction of Prof. Schlotterbeck. One of the projects of the new school year is the organization of a golf club. The movements is still in its first stages but it looks as though a club would be formed in the near future as a number of the students are enthusiastic golf players. It has been proposed that links be laid out along the south banks of the Huron, when it will be in order to erect a club house on the grounds. The old football players of the university and who brought glory to the yellow and blue on the gridiron are now scattered from Alaska to Central America and from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Mort Senter is in Central America; Count Villa and Charles Parker, in Alaska; Jimmy Baird, Pennsylvania; Charley Baird, New Mexico; Bucky Hall, Montana; "Pa." Henninger, New York; Bloomingston, Chicago; and Drumbeller, Montana. The Woman's League has a new plan for the entertainment of new co-eds. They will be divided into groups of five or ten, and some faculty lady will have charge of each group, and will entertain the members at her home, get them into good society and be an all-around benefactress. An employment bureau will also be started by the league, to be under the management of Mrs. Fred N. Scott and Miss Juliet Butler, the league president. The bureau will find employment to assist needy girls in paying their college expenses. Wall Paper, Paints, Oils and Varnishes at lowest prices at C. H. MAJOR & CO'S, 37tf 203 E. Washington st.

They soon got on track of the thief and stolen property and later in the day found the horse and buggy carefully hitched to a fence near Saline. The thief was not there, however. In the buggy several boxes of cigars were found which had been stolen from O'Hara, Boyle & Co.'s grocery store on the North side. Everything pointed to the job having been done by a local party and at 5 o'clock this morning Arthur Poland, who also lives on the North side was arrested at Geddes, by Marshal Sweet, on suspicion of being the criminal. Dr. Fritjof Nansen, the great Arctic explorer, who will appear in the Students' Lecture Association course in Nov., will need no recommendation from the press to ensure him a rousing reception on the occasion of his visit here. The very name of the man is magnet enough to draw almost everyone to University hall on the occasion of his visit. The following mention of his reception in his own country after his return from his great northern voyage will be read with interest: Mr. Bain reprints from the Christmas number of the "Strand" a talk with Dr. Nansen held in September, 1896, when he was one of the vast crowd at the picturesque capital of Norway, who welcomed back Dr. Nansen after his long absence in the polar regions. Nansen says: "I have, indeed, gone through many a distressing hour; but I never despaired. God be thanked that we are again in our native harbor, safe and sound!" We close our somewhat lengthy notice of this book, which is just out, with a few words which seem to sum up Mr. Bain's excellent work. "Some think Nansen's work over-praised. May I point out that during a period of 280 years previous to Nansen's departure the efforts of a vast host of Arctic explorers—the bravest of the brave—succeeded only in piercing 150 miles nearer the Pole? Dr. Naesen, in less than two years from the start, distanced all these previous explorers efforts by 200 miles, covering the last 150 miles in 54 weeks. Such a deed speaks for itself." "Home safe, after a fortunate expedition," ran the first telegram announcing Dr. Nansen's return. Mr. Bain writes as an enthusiast, and this fact greatly lends charm to these pages. We can only say what the fishermen and crowds shouted and sang as they heard of Nansen's safe arrival, "Hurrah," three times three.—From Bain's Life of Nansen.

Nansen's Reception. Dr. Fritjof Nansen, the great Arctic explorer, who will appear in the Students' Lecture Association course in Nov., will need no recommendation from the press to ensure him a rousing reception on the occasion of his visit here. The very name of the man is magnet enough to draw almost everyone to University hall on the occasion of his visit. The following mention of his reception in his own country after his return from his great northern voyage will be read with interest: Mr. Bain reprints from the Christmas number of the "Strand" a talk with Dr. Nansen held in September, 1896, when he was one of the vast crowd at the picturesque capital of Norway, who welcomed back Dr. Nansen after his long absence in the polar regions. Nansen says: "I have, indeed, gone through many a distressing hour; but I never despaired. God be thanked that we are again in our native harbor, safe and sound!" We close our somewhat lengthy notice of this book, which is just out, with a few words which seem to sum up Mr. Bain's excellent work. "Some think Nansen's work over-praised. May I point out that during a period of 280 years previous to Nansen's departure the efforts of a vast host of Arctic explorers—the bravest of the brave—succeeded only in piercing 150 miles nearer the Pole? Dr. Naesen, in less than two years from the start, distanced all these previous explorers efforts by 200 miles, covering the last 150 miles in 54 weeks. Such a deed speaks for itself." "Home safe, after a fortunate expedition," ran the first telegram announcing Dr. Nansen's return. Mr. Bain writes as an enthusiast, and this fact greatly lends charm to these pages. We can only say what the fishermen and crowds shouted and sang as they heard of Nansen's safe arrival, "Hurrah," three times three.—From Bain's Life of Nansen.

Property Stolen and Recovered. Edward Kent, the butcher, of the North side, had a horse and buggy stolen from him Wednesday night, and early yesterday morning reported the fact to the officers. They soon got on track of the thief and stolen property and later in the day found the horse and buggy carefully hitched to a fence near Saline. The thief was not there, however. In the buggy several boxes of cigars were found which had been stolen from O'Hara, Boyle & Co.'s grocery store on the North side. Everything pointed to the job having been done by a local party and at 5 o'clock this morning Arthur Poland, who also lives on the North side was arrested at Geddes, by Marshal Sweet, on suspicion of being the criminal. If the Baby Is Cutting Teeth, Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP, for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.
