IN ANNUAL SESSION

Two County Mutual Fire Insurance Companies

HAVE MET THIS WEEK

Both of Them Are in a Flourishing Condition.

Washtenaw Mutual Elects a New President and One New Director.—German Mutual Retains Its Old Officers.

Something over 200 members of the Washtenaw Mutual Fire Insurance Co. were present at the annual meeting held in the court room, Ann Arbor, on Wednesday. The chair was occupied by E. E. Leland, of Northfield, president of the company.

Mr. Leland not wishing to be put in nomination for the office of director to succeed himself a lively contest sprang up between the competing candidates, Philip Duffy, of Northfield, and Fred B. Braun, of Ann Arbor town, being the principal ones. The others were Charles Kingsley, of Ann Arbor, and Nathan Sutton, of Northfield. On the third ballot Mr. Braun was elected by a large majority. E. A. Nordman, of Lima, was re-elected director on the first ballot; the other candidates were O. C. Burkhardt and John Wade, of Sylvan. W. K. Childs, of Ann Arbor city, was re-elected director by the unanimous vote of all present, which is certainly a splendid endorsement of his 10 years' faithful administration of the office of secretary and treasurer.

The board of auditors was elected as follows: H. W. Bassett, Lodi; A. W. Chapman, Sylvan, and Philip Duffy, Northfield; the latter was elected to succeed J. W. Wing, of Scio, who refused to serve any longer. At the adjournment of the annual meeting the board of directors met in the office of the company and elected E. A. Nordman, president, and W. K. Childs, secretary.

A motion to cut down the secretary's salary from $500 to $300 per year was simply squelched, not even receiving the vote of the mover. The per diem of the directors was reduced from $2 to $1.50 per day, or the wages of an ordinary day laborer.

PUBLIC INSTALLATION

Of G. A. R., S. of V. and W. R. C. Officers Tuesday Night.

The joint public installation of the officers of Welch Post, No. 137, G. A. R., J. T. Jacobs Camp, No. 90, S. of V., and Welch Post Women's Relief Corps, No. 218, took place at the A. A. L. I. armory on Tuesday evening. A good number of the friends of the organizations were present.

The program opened with a cornet solo by Walter Orego. This was followed by "The Star Spangled Banner," sung by the veteran old time singer James R. Sage. An encore was demanded of him but encores were not in order. Col. H. S. Dean as department mustering officer then installed the officers of Welch Post.

E. E. Watson sang "America," and little Miss Milla Morton sang a verse of "Our Flag," in a very pretty manner. Capt. J. T. Jacobs then performed the ceremony of installing the officers of the S. of V.

Mr. Watson next sang "The Sword of Bunker Hill," and Major Harrison Soule installed the officers of the W. R. C. "All Through the Night" was next sung by Ellis Johnson, "The Year of Jubilee" by Milla Morton, and the program of exercises was brought to a close with the singing of "John Brown's Body" by Mr. Watson and the audience.

After the program refreshments were served by W. R. C. It was quite late when the lengthy program was ended.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE

A Most Successful One Held in Webster Wednesday.

EXCELLENT PAPERS

Read and Speeches Made that Were Well Discussed.

The Annual Meeting of the Webster Farmers' Club Was a Most Animated One in the Matter of Discussions.

When the Webster Farmers' Institute opened at the Congregational church in Webster Wednesday morning only a small number, mostly ladies, were present. This was caused by the absence in Ann Arbor at the meeting of the Washtenaw Mutual Fire Insurance Co. of a large part of the male population of that section. George Merrill, president of the Webster Farmers' Club, occupied the chair. The meeting opened with a vocal selection by Miss Julia Ball and was followed with prayer by Rev. G. C. Morehouse.

The first speaker was Rolland Morrill, of Benton Harbor, the state speaker, who spoke of one day farmers' clubs and farmers' institutes, their aims and objects, the relation they bore to each other, and how the movement came to be first established. Farmers he said were getting to be a class of specialists in that many went into one branch of the business and confined themselves to it. Farmers are business men although they are not so classed. They are learning to drop the things that are not profitable. The fertility of the farm must be maintained, however, as that is the farmer's stock in trade. An exchange of ideas is highly beneficial as no one carries all the knowledge in his own coat and farmers' clubs, institutes and granges help the farmer in this way. Mr. Morrill's address was followed by a declamation from Dorr Quaal, of Dexter.

Mr. Morrill next spoke on "The Objects and Methods of Pruning," in which he brought out many ideas that were entirely new to his hearers. In the discussion that followed Cyrus M. Starks and John Williams took the principal part.

An adjournment of one hour for dinner followed and coffee having been prepared by some of the ladies in the school house those who had brought their luncheon with them repaired to that building.

The afternoon meeting opened with a vocal solo by Miss Julia Ball, in the absence of the Webster quartet. The size of the audience had materially increased. Cyrus M. Starks' paper on "This, That and the Other" was the first to be read and it contained many good thoughts for careful consideration.

He urged his hearers to raise what was profitable in farming. Good stock, good pork, good butter and eggs and don't be afraid to go out and peddle it from house to house. He raised the point that more men were going to get bitten on the sugar beet than on raising anything else, in Michigan. We have the Hawaiian Islands, Cuba and Mexico and their cheap labor to compete with and they will be potent factors against profits. In another part of his paper he spoke of how to keep the young people on the farm. It was not to be done if the parents complained all the time of the hardships of farm life and pictured to their children the beauties of city life and city occupations. He concluded by remarking that he knew of nothing more saddening or desolate than a farm house with only the old folks left in it.

Mrs. George Lake recited James Whitcomb Riley's poem "Me and Jim," and then it came Judge H. Wirt Newkirk's turn to tell "What he knew about farming." For a man who has not been on a farm since he was 25 years old the judge still retains quite a vivid recollection of what that life is and he pictured the difference between the life of a farmer and his family today and 40 years ago in a manner that pleased his audience greatly. His pointed remarks were full of truth and he was heartily applauded when he sat down.

Rolland Morrill's next topic was "Benefits of Intensive Cultivation." He took occasion to compliment Judge Newkirk for his excellent speech, and then proceeded to show the value of intensive cultivation, illustrating it from his own experience along that line. The address was followed by a free discussion after which the question box was taken up.

The evening program was as follows: Music; declamation, Nate Low; paper, "Correct Living, Right Thinking," Mrs. Alice Olsvater; discussion; declamation, Dorr Quaal; paper, "Our District Schools," School Commissioner W. N. Lister; discussion.

Prof. Walter Dennison, instructor of Latin in the university, has been granted the degree of doctor of philosophy having satisfactorily sustained before the Latin and Greek faculty of the university the examination for the degree.

WEBSTER FARMERS' CLUB.

Its Annual Meeting Saturday Was a Good One.

The Webster Farmers' Club held its January meeting on Saturday last at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. George Merrill. After an excellent dinner the exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. G. C. Morehouse. Mrs. Wm. Scadin read "How Tim's Prayer Was Answered," and Miss Julia Ball recited "Darkey Philosophy in a very effective manner.

The question "How should farm stock raising be made profitable?" was then opened by Wm. Ball, of Hamburg. He said profits on farm stock depended on the quality of the stock and the method of keeping. Stock should be kept well and not half starved and should never be allowed to stop growing. Good warm shelter should be provided for stock in winter to procure the best results from the feeding.

Cyrus M. Starks, of Webster, agreed with Mr. Ball's ideas, and said farmers should make 50 per cent more from their stock than they now do. It is the little leaks in conducting business that do the damage. He said he made money on pork when sold at 3 cents per pound live weight. Care should be used in selecting the breed, then use every adjunct for feeding. Sweet slops from the house, clover, charcoal, salt, etc., they are often wasted, and yet they add but little to the expense. Attend to details. He thought Michigan farmers had grown careless because they had the idea that what they did was not paying them.

William Smith thought every man must know the capabilities of his own farm and that would guide him better than anyone could tell him. By keeping track of the weight of his stock a farmer would know what he should get for them.

Austin Smith, of Webster, spoke of what he used for feed. He used beans and bean fodder and considered it one-third to one-half more valuable than corn. He had also fed potatoes to good effect.

Wm. Ball and Cyrus M. Stark here got into an animated discussion on the relative values of grade shorthorns and Jerseys as milch cows which caused considerable amusement as well as information. George Merrill said the Jersey should not be mixed with other cattle and was not in favor of cross breeding in cattle at all. A farmer should raise everything he possibly can, fertilizers as well as other things.

The cultivation of flowers was discussed by the ladies, after which the meeting closed with a solo by Miss Julia Ball, "Asleep at the Switch."

The officers of the club for the ensuing year are: President, Geo. Merrill; recording secretary, Miss Julia Ball; corresponding secretary, Cyrus M. Starks.

THE PECULIAR CASE

Resulting From the Secret Marriage of G. N. B. Renwick.

A peculiar case resulting from a secret marriage was settled in the circuit court on Monday when Judge Kinne handed down his decision in the action brought by Mrs. Marian L. Lawrence, of Ypsilanti, to foreclose a mortgage on the premises of the late George N. B. Renwick, of Salem. When the claim came on for hearing, Mary Matilda Smith set up a claim to homestead and dower rights in the estate, to take precedence to the mortgage, as widow of the deceased.

Proofs showed that the defendant had entered the employment of Renwick when she was 18 years old and had lived with him as housekeeper until April 13, 1872, on which date she was married to him in Detroit. On their way home on that day an accident happened to the train on which they were and a satchel which contained the marriage certificate was stolen. She gave the names of the minister and of the two witnesses to the marriage, but one of them is dead and the others have been lost sight of. Renwick, however, kept a diary and it contained an entry that on April 13, 1872, he and Miss Smith went to Detroit, but it contained no suggestion of a marriage. The testimony of Dr. Walker, of Salem, was introduced and showed that her husband had been called at one time by Mr. Renwick, who stated that he wanted him to come and see "his wife." Among Mr. Renwick's papers after he was dead was found a letter to Judge W. D. Harriman, which had never been sent, asking him to "take care of the interests of his wife, Tillie."

The testimony for the complainant, given by neighbors of Mr. Renwick, showed that he had always been considered to be a bachelor. At the time the mortgage was given Renwick was asked by the attorney if he was a married man and he said "No," I am a bachelor. The decision of the court found that Mary Matilda Smith was what she claimed to be the widow of Renwick and entitled to the dower and homestead rights that she claimed.

THE WHEELS OF HEALTH.

There is no better exercise for a young woman in thoroughly good health than bicycling. On the contrary, if she suffers from weakness or disease of the distinctly feminine organs, if she rides, at all such exercise should be very sparingly indulged in. Women are peculiarly constituted and their general health is peculiarly dependent upon the health of the specially feminine organism.

It is the health of these delicate and important parts that "makes the wheels of general health go round." Their strength and vigor are as important to a woman as a mainspring to a watch, or a sprocket and chain to a bicycle. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best of all medicines for delicate women. It makes them strong where they most need strength. Taken during the "interesting interval," it banishes the usual squeamishness and makes baby's admission to the world easy and almost painless. It fits a woman for in-door work and out-door sports. Honest druggists don't advise substitutes.

"I cannot say enough in praise of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, as it has undoubtedly saved my life," writes Mrs. Florence Hunter, of Corley, Logan Co., Ark. "I miscarried four times; could get no medicine to do me any good. I tried the 'Favorite Prescription' and after taking several bottles, I made my husband a present of a fine girl. I think it is the best medicine in the world."

A man or woman who neglects constipation suffers from slow poisoning. Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. All medicine dealers.

In nine weeks George H. Morse, of Middleboro, Mass, representing the Boston Poultry house, of Boston, bought, killed and shipped from Ypsilanti, 142,000 pounds of turkeys, ducks and chickens. During that time he employed 16 women pickers who earned an average of $10 a week each.

James Douglas, of Sharon, who was brought from Louisiana at the close of the war by Capt. Allen, of the 20th Michigan, thought he would take a trip down to his old home the week before last. The Manchester Enterprise says: "He had not gone far below Mason and Dixon's line before he was made painfully aware of the fact that there was a color line, and although he had money to pay for the necessities and even luxuries of life, he found that he could not easily procure them. To use his words, 'I nearly starved to death.' He says that they are running things down there as bad or worse than in slavery days, and he soon became disgusted and hurried back home, arriving here on Monday."

FLAW IN THE TITLE.

It Affects Valuable Property in Marquette, Mich.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 11.—What appears to be a flaw in the title to a large part of the property in the south part of the city, has been discovered. Three additions to the town covering most of what is known as South Marquette are affected. The flaw came about through the failure twenty years ago, to secure the signature of the five children of an undivided one-third when it was deeded to the new owners. Several claim to have known of it, but to have supposed the two-thirds owners were holding adversely to the one-third interest, where it now appears it was a case of cotenancy. If this is true the one-third interest has not been lost to its owners or their heirs.

The parties interested in the one-third are Paddleford, Fay & Co., Boston; Edwin Parsons estate, New York; John Montemolens estate, Savannah; Joseph S. Greenough, Boston. They have made over their interest in trust to a local agent to make a settlement with the present holders. The property involved is worth several hundred thousand dollars, but the settlement will hardly cost a third of this sum, for it is believed here that not more than one of the heirs has an equitable right in the property and that deeds to correct title will issue in most cases with no cost except agent's fee.

Frightful Fall of a Workman.

Youngstown, O., Jan. 11.—W. R. Kelly of Detroit, in the employ of Hutton & Co., the roofers, fell from the roof of the Hotel Rider, at Cambridge Springs, Pa., and was badly injured. His skull was fractured and his hip crushed. The physician in charge pronounces his chances for recovery as slight. His family resides in Detroit. No one was a witness to the accident, Mr. Kelly being found by a passing hackman.

A Clever Trick.

It certainly looks like it, but there is really no trick about it. Anybody can try it who has lame back and Weak Kidneys, Malaria or nervous Troubles. We mean he can cure himself right away by taking Electric Bitters. This medicine tones up the whole system, acts as a stimulant to the Liver and Kidneys, is a blood purifier and nerve tonic. It cures Constipation, Headache, Fainting spells, Sleeplessness and Melancholy. It is purely vegetable, a mild laxative, and restores the system to its natural vigor. Try Electric Bitters and be convinced that they are a miracle worker. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c a bottle at Eberbach Drug and Chemical Co., Ann Arbor.

How Browning Read Political Matter.

I have read the newspapers only through Robert's eyes. He reads them in a room sacred from the foot of woman. And this is not always satisfactory, as whenever Robert falls into a state of disgust with any political party he throws the whole subject over. Every now and then he ignores Franco altogether, and I, who am more tolerant and more curious, find myself suspended over a hiatus. I ask about Thiers' speech. "Thiers is a rascal," he says. "I make a point of not reading a word of Thiers." M. Prudhon, then? "Prudhon is a madman. Who cares for Prudhon?" The president? "The president is an ass not worth thinking of." And so we treat of politics.—Letters of Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

"Only the Best"

Should be your motto when you need a medicine. Do not be induced to take any substitute when you call for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Experience has proved it to be the best. It is an honest medicine, possessing actual and unequalled merit. Be wise and profit by the experience of other people.

HOOD'S PILLS are the favorite family cathartic easy to take, easy to operate.

The Masarwa Bushman.

Here is a solitary figure, that of a Masarwa bushman, engaged in digging up bulbs as a food supply. These bulbs, small, round and smooth and of a sweet, nutty flavor, are exactly the same as those for which the guinea fowls are searching so eagerly. They may be called the bushman's bread, and when game is scarce or hunting luck is out they serve as a mainstay against utter starvation.

The bushman collects his bulbs in the shell of a tortoise and presently will return to the protecting bush beneath which he and his family slept last night.

After that he will perhaps visit a snare he set yesterday to entrap a duiker, one of the small antelopes of South Africa, or, failing the capture of the little buck, he may try to stalk a paauw with his bow and poisoned arrow or follow the troop of guinea fowls on the off chance of securing a head.—London Spectator.

What is Style?

The fact that we use the word "style" in speaking of architecture and sculpture, painting and music, dancing, play acting and cricket, that we can apply it to the careful achievements of the housebreaker and the poisoner, and to the spontaneous animal movements of the limbs of man or beast, is the noblest of unconscious tributes to the faculty of letters. Morals, philosophy and aesthetic, mood and conviction, creed and whim, habit, passion and demonstration—what art but the art of literature admits the entrance of all these and guards them from the suddenness of mortality? All style is gesture, the gesture of the mind and of the soul. Other gestures change and flit; this is the ultimate and enduring revelation of personality.—"Style," by Walter Raleigh.

Coughs That Kill

are not distinguished by any mark or sign from coughs that fail to be fatal. Any cough, neglected, may sap the strength and undermine the health until recovery is impossible. All coughs lead to lung trouble, if not stopped.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral Cures Coughs

"My wife was suffering from a dreadful cough. We did not expect that she would long survive, but Mr. R. V. Royal, deputy surveyor, happened to be stopping with us over night, and having a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with him, induced my wife to try this remedy. The result was so beneficial that she kept on taking it till she was cured." R. S. HUMPHRIES, Saussey, Ga.

"My little daughter was taken with a distressing cough, which for three years defied all the remedies I tried. At length, on the urgent recommendation of a friend, I began to give her Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After using one bottle I found to my great surprise that she was improving. Three bottles completely cured her." J. A. GRAY, Trav. Salesman Wrought Iron Range Co., St. Louis, Mo.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

A Mean Dog.

He was a small boy—not such a very small boy—in an out of town school. He had written a composition. It was upon the subject of dogs. Now the teacher of the school was a man, and he was not popular. He was what the boys called "mean." They disliked him thoroughly, from the tips of his shining shoes to the ends of his pompadour combed hair. In the composition there was a story of a dog. It was the story of a very mean dog, and as the composer of the literary effort came to the last line he read it emphatically and with great distinctness of utterance, and the hearts of all the other small boys in the room, as they listened, quaked, half with delight and half with fear, knowing what was to follow, and gazing, fascinated, at the upright coiffure of the master, as the reader ended, "And that dog was so mean that his hair stood on end."—New York Times.

A Predicament.

JEWELRY JOTTINGS.

Flexible bracelets divide favor with the more formal bands and bangles.

Women now decorate the collar band with two or more jeweled pins of unique designs.

Fascinating little slides, enriched with gems and enamel, are worn with neck ribbons.

The most attractive decoration for the hair is a diamond ornament of broad inclination and glittering surface.

There seems no limit to the diamond combs, hair ornaments and jeweled aigrets with which women now adorn their heads whenever they don evening gowns.

Falling the real gems, women can fall back on the imitation jewelry, for happily the setting of the imitation stones is executed with so much care and taste that the least valuable becomes an artistic ornament.—Jewelers' Circular.

WE WANT TO TELL YOU

Why Your Back is Lame—Why it Aches and Pains, and How to Cure it.

Do you know what it is to have a back that is never free from aches and constant pain, a lame back, a sore back, an aching back, in fact, a back that makes your life a burden? What have you done for it? And does it still keep you from the happiness that perfect health brings to all? We know full well if such is your condition a cure for it will be a blessing you no doubt desire. Plasters won't do it, but may assist in bringing strength. Liniment won't do it; for, while it may give temporary relief, it does not reach the cause. The cause, there's the point; there's where to make the attack. Most backaches come from disordered kidneys, therefore you must correct their action if you would be cured. Read the following from D. D. Cook, whose address is No. 18 Michigan Street, Grand Rapids. He says:—

"I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and wish to say it is a truly great medicine. Thirty years ago I had nervous prostration while in the army, where I served for over four years. I think it was during this service that the seeds were sown which have caused all my trouble. Severe bilious attacks bothered me, and at such times my kidneys were worse. It is almost impossible to describe the pain which so often lamed me. I have been so lame that to stand up after I had been sitting down required a great exertion. Walking was at times an impossibility, even at night I did not rest, being forced to get up during the night. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and wondered if they could make an almost lame man well. I got some, and soon after taking them began to feel their good effects. I used them for some time, my lameness all left me and I have not felt it since. Doan's Kidney Pills have done me an inestimable amount of good."

Wednesday of this week at the L. O. T. M. meeting, the installation of officers took place. A grand supper was served at the close of the meeting.

"For five weeks I lived on cold water, so to speak," writes a man who suffered terribly from indigestion.

He could hardly keep anything on his stomach. What stayed, never properly digested and gave him terrible pains.

This is not an uncommon case. Dyspeptics don't get enough nourishment. They are generally thin and weak.

They may eat enough, but they don't digest enough. Much of what they eat turns into poison. If this keeps on there's no telling what disease they may get next.

That's why it is best to take Shaker Digestive Cordial, as soon as symptoms of indigestion appear.

It cures all the evils of indigestion, and prevents the evils which indigestion causes.

What Everybody Knows.
Or ought to know, is that health and even life itself depends upon the condition of the blood. Feeding, as it does, all the organs of the body, it must be rich and pure in order to give proper nourishment. Hood's Sarsaparilla wards off colds, pneumonia and fevers, which are prevalent at this time.

THE SAN JOSE SCALE

Some of the Characteristics of the Dreaded Pest.

INSECT MULTIPLIES

With the Most Marvelous Rapidity Conceivable.

It Was Introduced by Several New Jersey Nurseries.—Will Kill an Orchard in Very Few Years.—How to Fight It.

Last September the work of fighting the San Jose scale in this state began in earnest, and the work done thus far by Inspector U. P. Hedrick has been sufficient to demonstrate that this much dreaded orchard pest has already secured a firm foothold and that its extermination will require the concerted action of all whose interests it threatens. From what source the scale came to be introduced into the United States there is considerable doubt, but it was known to exist in California as early as 1870; in 20 years it became well distributed throughout the western states, but the eastern states are supposed to have been uninfested until about 1890, when two prominent New Jersey nurseries were unconsciously responsible for its distribution into several of the eastern states. It was probably introduced into Michigan in 1891, although no authenticated cases were reported until the summer of 1896, when Dr. Barrows and Prof. Taft, of the agricultural college, located it in several places. Since the work of inspection began new cases are gradually presenting themselves, until now it has been found in 20 different localities of the state, two of these localities being the cities of Detroit and Ypsilanti. The work of the inspector thus far has been confined largely to nurseries, as from these nurseries the scale, if present, is most likely to be distributed. Seventy nurseries have been inspected already, of which three were found to be infested. From this on the attention of the inspector will be devoted to private orchards wherever there is a possibility that the scale exists.

The scale was introduced into Michigan from several New Jersey nurseries, and from one or two shipments from California, and it is very probable that its wide distribution may be traced to those nurseries in this state, where it now exists. That the scale was not authentically reported before 1896 is undoubtedly due to the unfamiliarity of Michigan orchardists with this pest, as well as to the over-confidence on the part of orchardists that this state was free from this pest. Besides, to one unacquainted with the insect and its habits, its presence would ordinarily be passed by unobserved until the infested trees themselves created a suspicion that all was not well. The scale will be found encrusting the twigs and branches, giving them a rough scabby appearance. This scabby material represents an infinite number of the small circular scales under which are found the insects themselves. The scale varies in size from one-thirtieth to one-sixteenth inch in diameter and may overlap each other or even exist several layers deep on the bark; they are gray colored and slightly convex. The insect itself varies in color from a yellow to a reddish orange. The rapidity with which this insect reproduces itself is remarkable. The females commence to bring forth young in early spring and continue until the frosts of fall. In this locality it is possible for four or five broods to be matured in a single season. It is estimated that one female during a season will bring forth from 200 to 500 female young. These young insects develop in about one month, when they too, begin producing young, so it is possible for the progeny of a single female to reach several millions in the one season.

Only the larvae possess the power of locomotion and that for a comparatively short time. After the birth of the young they move about until they find a suitable place upon the bark, when they begin the work of extracting and assimilating the sap. Soon a waxy material is secreted, which hardens into a scale for the protection of the insect, and the insect spends the remainder of its life in one spot unless moved elsewhere by some outside power: Owing to this peculiarity the San Jose scale of itself is rather slow to become distributed over large areas, but it is given assistance in this respect by various agencies. Birds are active agencies in its distribution, as are also the wind and various domestic animals that are allowed in the presence of infested trees.

The damage resulting from the scale is due to the extraction of the sap from the tree or plant upon which it feeds. The insect passes the winter either as a matured insect upon the bark of the tree with its proboscis firmly anchored in the soft vegetable tissues of the plant. When spring opens and with it comes the active operation of the circulatory system the insect is then ready for its most effectual work. Vegetation suffers but little at first from the presence of the scale, but as its numbers increase and the drain continues, the unhealthy condition manifests itself. The foliage during a moderately dry season will turn yellow, while that of a healthy tree will remain perfectly green. Ordinarily an orchard will survive about three or four years after once infested. Fortunately, in some sections of the country this insect has its enemies. In the west several parasites work upon it and in Florida a fungus disease operates upon it with great havoc. So far as is now known it has no enemies in Michigan, and while the climate is not

Chronic Dyspepsia Cured.

AFTER suffering for nearly thirty years from dyspepsia, Mrs. H. E. Dugdale, wife of a prominent business man of Warsaw, N. Y., writes: "For 28 years, I was a constant sufferer from dyspepsia and a weak stomach. The lightest food produced distress, causing severe pain and the formation of gas. No matter how careful of my diet I suffered agonizing pain after eating. I was treated by many physicians and tried numerous remedies without permanent help. Two years ago I began taking Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills and Nerve. Within a week I commenced improving, and persisting in the treatment I was soon able to eat what I liked, with no evil effects I keep them at hand and a single dose dispels any old symptoms."

Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee, first bottle benefits or money refunded. Book on diseases of the heart and nerves free. Address, DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

most favorable for the development of fungus diseases that will prey upon it, it is very probable that in time some parasite enemies may present themselves. At present only two lines of treatment are at disposal. One is the total destruction of the trees infested, which is recommended in case the trees are large or are badly infested. The other method is in the use of spraying solutions. While it is almost impossible to eradicate the pest by this means, it is possible with small trees to hold it in check so that the damage done will be slight. The spray is used during the winter months, when the trees are devoid of foliage. Kerosene is used, but only upon the apple and the pear, as its use is destructive to all other fruit trees. Solution of whale oil soap, two pounds per gallon of water, is perhaps most largely used, and strong potash wash and lime, salt and sulphur have a limited use.

The scale seems to have little preference regarding the trees upon which it works. It is found upon all of the common fruit trees, and upon many of the forest trees. It, however, does not work upon one bearing trees. At Byron Center, in Ottawa county, where the scale has been found in the most exaggerated form of any locality in this state, the scale was found to have spread to the forest trees in the vicinity of the orchard. This fact seems of great significance, as if the scale once becomes thoroughly established in the forests of the state then all hopes of its final extermination will have passed until the forests themselves are destroyed.

An act was passed by the last legislature to prevent the introduction and spread of the San Jose scale, and it is under the provisions of this act that the inspection is carried on. The law places the work of its execution in the hands of the state board of agriculture and provides for an inspector of nurseries and orchards. The tendency of the law is to prohibit the importation of infested stock into the state by requiring that all stock shipped into Michigan be accompanied by a certificate showing that the same has been inspected by a state or government inspector and are free from the scale, to prevent the spread of the insect within the state by requiring all dealers in nursery stock and all agents to sell under license. No dealer in nursery stock resident of a northern state is permitted to sell without a license. By these means it is intended to vigilantly guard all avenues by which the scale may be introduced into the state, and with the co-operation of all parties concerned it is hoped to confine the scale to the limits in which it is now found, and, if possible, to gradually eliminate it from these districts.

The great trouble with the Pingree "reform" projects is that they have no place for economy or retrenchment.

The democrats will lead a tremendous onslaught on the gold standard in 1900. The people will endeavor to shake off English domination with the opening of the new century.

The legislature would do well when it meets again to repeal the English sparrow bounty law. It causes a large county expenditure of money without adequate expense.

Ypsilanti merchants have done away with the trading stamp and coupon nuisance. A dispatch in the Detroit Tribune states that their action has induced Grand Rapids merchants to do likewise.

The Detroit & Lima Northern railroad's Dundee branch failed to make connection at Trenton with the mails several times last week. As a result the post office department assessed the road $250.

Third Concert Choral Union Series.

The interest in the concert this evening should be very great, both on account of its novelty and the fact that Mr. Jonas, whose enthusiastic reception at the Boston Symphony concerts in Boston and Cambridge is an emphatic endorsement of the opinion held in Ann Arbor regarding his artistic standing, is to take a part.

JACKSONIAN BANQUET

The First Annual Was Held Last Friday Evening.

ELOQUENT TRIBUTES

Of the Different Speakers to the Great American.

He Was the Father of Democracy and Democracy Is the Plain People. A Permanent Jackson Club Is to Be Organized.

The first annual Jackson Day banquet for Washtenaw county was held in this city at the American house last Friday evening. Quite a goodly number were present from Ypsilanti, Chelsea, Manchester, Dexter and Northfield as well as Ann Arbor and many have since expressed their regret that they didn't understand that it was not an invitation affair but that everyone was welcome to purchase a ticket.

Martin J. Cavanaugh, chairman of the democratic county committee, presided as toastmaster and was thoroughly at home in that position. Prosecuting Attorney Kirk spoke up on "Jackson the Man."

Capt. C. H. Manly spoke of "Jackson the Soldier." The true soldier, he said must have a knowledge of men, know when to issue orders and have the backbone to enforce them.

Hon. James S. Gorman spoke eloquently of "Jackson the Patriot." It is the duty of every democrat to be a patriot. He discussed Jackson's patriotism and termed him the father of democracy and the democracy is the plain people.

Willis L. Watkins, ex-supervisor of Manchester, received close attention and exhibited much dry wit. He spoke of "Jackson the President" and said that under him we had a vigorous American policy. It was impossible, under Jackson for any American to be insulted, but what that insult would be avoided.

Ex-Mayor William G. Doty spoke of "Jackson the Statesman," prefacing his remarks with a little story indicating that the breath of the democracy came back after defeat "stronger nor ever."

Charles A. Ward then spoke on "Jackson and the United States Bank" and Jackson's claim for grateful remembrance for the heroic charge which eradicated that baneful institution. The conflict was between the rights of men and the rights of property.

Judge J. Willard Babbitt made a happy response to "Jackson the Democrat," in which he took occasion to show that the republicans drank more whiskey and possessed more illiteracy than did the democrats.

S. W. Beakes responded to the "Democratic Press" in the course of which he called attention to the fact that in the split from the democratic party of Jackson's time the federalistic, the aristocratic, the monopolistic, the banking action which split off at that time continued for some time to claim the democratic name and prefixed to it the word "national," until such of them as continued in their wayward courses were swallowed up in the whig party.

Hon. Tim. E. Tarsney, of Detroit, was then introduced to make the speech of the evening on "Michigan Democracy." The people of this commonwealth owe much to the democratic party of Michigan.

The inquest was adjourned from Friday last until Wednesday before Justice T. D. Moss, as coroner, and a jury composed of Jay E. Pray, Emery Aneil, James McHugh, W. E. Rane, James Burke and Charles Rane.

"I haven't an ache in my body, and I think I'll be able to get out next week. John Todd's story that I was present and ordered the braces taken out of the Whitmore ice house is utterly false.

Perhaps there are hundreds of people in this county who have not made the acquaintance of The Store since its re-organization.

The experience of ages has taught that the highest degree of success is reached where the individual devotes his undivided effort in the pursuit of some particular calling or line of study.

The annual meeting of Ann Arbor Chapter, No. 27, Daughters of the American Revolution was held Thursday afternoon of last week at the home of Mrs. James L. Babcock.

The rendering of "The Sword of Bunker Hill," by Mrs. Babcock and Mr. Willis, was a pleasing part of the program.

The case of the City of Ann Arbor vs. the Farmers and Mechanics Bank et al. was finally settled in the circuit court Monday.

The case of the City of Ann Arbor vs. the Farmers and Mechanics Bank et al. was finally settled in the circuit court Monday. The city paid the $3,200.67 it owed Collins and allowed $1,000 extra.

WHITMORE LAKE TRAGEDY.

Coroner's Inquest Has Been Adjourned Until Jan. 27.

Interest in the tragical collapse of the big ice houses of the Toledo Ice Co., at Whitmore Lake, on Thursday of last week, has only abated a very little.

Many of the escapes from injury were truly wonderful. Frank Duncan, of Northfield, relates his experience as follows: "I was working just outside the building. Something snapped just like three or four pistol shots.

C. A. Trumbull was in the center of the building when he saw the west wall coming and got out. Six men who were working above him and one man who stood behind him were hurt.

The inquest was adjourned from Friday last until Wednesday before Justice T. D. Moss, as coroner, and a jury composed of Jay E. Pray, Emery Aneil, James McHugh, W. E. Rane, James Burke and Charles Rane.

A Detroit Tribune representative was allowed to see Foreman John McBride at the University hospital, last night. Mr. McBride said:

"I haven't an ache in my body, and I think I'll be able to get out next week. John Todd's story that I was present and ordered the braces taken out of the Whitmore ice house is utterly false.

One of the hardest workers at the scene of the accident this week has been Rev. L. P. Goldrick, pastor of St. Patrick's church, Northfield, and he has been unremitting in his attentions to the wounded many of whom are members of his congregation.

Daughters of American Revolution.

WANT TO REVISE THE LAWS.

Supervisors Say Some State Laws Are Burdensome to Taxpayers.

At the October session of the Ingham county board of supervisors resolutions were adopted that it was the sense of the members of that board that a state convention of the boards of supervisors should be held in Lansing to take concerted action towards the revision or repealing at the next session of the legislature of certain laws now on the statute books, the provisions of which are the cause of a needlessly large expense to the taxpayers and citizens of each county in the state.

The convention has been called to meet in Lansing, Tuesday, Feb. 1, at 1:30 o'clock p. m. This notice was handed to the Argus by Hiram Lighthall, chairman of the Washtenaw county board of supervisors with the request that it be published for the benefit of the members of the board and that they may express to him their opinion on the subject.

Young Stock for the Market.

The fact that heavy fat sheep have been discriminated against lately in city markets emphasizes the statement that the demand is growing more and more in favor of light weight sheep for mutton. This makes the Southdown one of the most desirable breeds to raise, both on account of hardiness and quality.

He staid up with John Baumgardner, one of the wounded men, every night from the time of the accident up to Wednesday when he was discovered by Mr. Bennett who sent a man to relieve him. Clinton Local: A load of hay was set on fire Wednesday at Ann Arbor near the jail, and firemen were immediately on hand with Babcocks, which made no impression on the flames. A. J. Waters, a Manchester attorney, happened to be near and took hold of the tongue, and with several others wanted to tip the load over by cramping the wagon, which could easily have been done and saved the vehicle, but some over-officious firemen prevented, and before the hose cart arrived the wagon was destroyed.

T., to Chicago, where 24 of them gave an exhibition drill in the Auditorium at the charity ball for the benefit of the orphans' home. The train was donated for their use, but the six knights paid their fares just the same and the proceeds, $400, was turned over to the charity fund. The schedule time of the train was 5 hours and 30 minutes for the 285 miles. It was 15 minutes behind time arriving in Chicago on account of a hot box on the engine. A Cleveland clergyman who is not given to putting on a long face either in his pulpit or out of it says that before he came here from the south he was one day asked by a young man to unite him with the woman of his choice in the holy bonds of wedlock upon the evening of a certain day.

"I am very sorry," said the reverend gentleman, "but I shall be out of town upon that day."

The young man was crestfallen, said that he had set his heart upon having that particular minister perform the ceremony and asked if there was no possible way in which it could be arranged.

"I thought the matter over," said the clergyman in recounting the experience, "and finally agreed to return for the express purpose of complying with his wishes. He was greatly pleased, assured me that it was very kind of me and hinted that I would be well repaid for my trouble and consideration."

"So upon the day set for the ceremony I traveled nearly 200 miles, paid out $8.50 for my railroad ticket and other accommodations and gave the happy couple one of the best marriage services in my repertory."

"After the ceremony the groom came to me, blushing furiously, slipped a $5 bill into my hand and in all seriousness said:

"This is all I have to give you now, but I hope to be able to do better next time."

"I was $3.50 out of pocket on the transaction, and I guess I'll let him hunt up somebody else 'next time.'"—Cleveland Leader.

The Early London Omnibus.

When the queen came to the throne, omnibuses were a new but already popular institution. They were longer, narrower and lower than the present ones and had no seats on the roof. The passengers were carefully shut in by a door at the end, as if to make quite sure of them, once they were captured, till they had paid their fares. On a little round perch behind stood the conductor or "cad," hanging on by a leather loop passed over his arm. Sixpence was the usual bus fare 60 years ago, whether you went from beginning to end of the journey or only a few hundred yards. As there was very little regulation of the street traffic of London in those days, if the bus was filled up at starting it went like a fire engine in order to get in an extra journey, but otherwise it crawled and pattered about till the requisite number was obtained.

Each omnibus was licensed only for a particular route. It paid the stage-coach duty of £5 when first started and a shilling a year for keeping the license in force, besides a mileage duty, varying with the number of passengers it would hold, but coming to about threepence per mile on the average.—Gentleman's Magazine.

MARK HANNA WINS OUT

Gets Sufficient Number of Ballots to Insure Election.

AN EXCITING DAY AT COLUMBUS.

When the Votes Are Cast in the House and Senate Hanna Has 56 in the Former and 19 in the Latter—McKisson, His Opponent Gets 19 in the Senate and 49 in the House—Remarkable Scene in the Senate When Vote is Announced.

Columbus, O., Jan. 11.—In the ballots taken in the senatorial contest Senator Hanna got 56 votes in the house and 17 in the senate. This is sufficient to insure his election on the joint ballot in case his constituents do not change their opinions before the house and senate come together. After being SENATOR HANNA.

In conference all night the Democratic caucus agreed on Mayor Robert E. McKisson of Cleveland as the only Republican proposed whom they would support for senator. He received 49 votes in the house and 19 in the senate. Wiley, Warner and Lentz each received one vote in the house.

Meeting of the Legislature.

Both branches of the legislature met at 10 a. m. and many regretted that admission by ticket had not been adopted. The crowd pressed in on the floors of both bodies and as the visitors were prominent constituents they were not put out. In the senate the bill to repeal the fifty-year street railway franchise came up and it was postponed. This bill has been used against Senator Hanna in the organization of the legislature and in the senatorial fight. It was stated soon after assembling that all senators and representatives were in their seats and both houses voted to ballot at 11 a. m. for senator.

At 10:40 a. m. a call of the house was demanded so as to put all on record as being present. The doors were locked and the hall was very quiet. No business was transacted during the first hour of the session. The workers of both sides were busily engaged in the lobbies. Senator Hanna, Mayor McKisson, Mr. Kurtz and other leaders kept up the contest at the hotels.

One Democrat Absent.

The call of the house showed that Representative Cramer, Democratic member of Paulding county, was the only absentee, and the sergeant-at-arms was dispatched for him. Mr. Cramer is very sick and his physician forbade his attendance, but Mr. Cramer requested to be carried to the hall of the house. On the first call, Dunton of Morgan, and Manuel of Montgomery did not respond, but they were soon found in the lobby.

Quite a large delegation went to the boarding house of Representative Cramer to fight it out with his physician and family. After waiting a half an hour the Republicans moved that further proceedings in the house be dispense with. As this meant to proceed with the ballot with the absence of Cramer, a close fight was made on the motion. The test vote resulted in 56 votes to 52 nays, and the house dispensed with the call and proceeded to business.

Charges of Bribery.

Representative Kenney rose to a question of privilege and had read the charges of offers to bribe Representative John C. Otis of Hamilton county. He offered a resolution that a committee of five be appointed at once to investigate these specific charges and any other charges of bribery affecting any member of this house. A motion was made on the Democratic side to suspend the rules and consider the Kenney resolution at once. This was defeated by the same vote of 52 yeas and 56 nays, when there was again applause on the Republican side. The votes were on strict party lines with the exception of Speaker Mason of Cuyahoga, Representative Bramley of Cuyahoga, Jones of Stark, Scott of Fulton, and Otis of Hamilton, who voted with the Democratic members.

Beginning of the End.

The name of Marcus A. Hanna was then presented by Representative Leland of Noble and seconded by T. R. Smith of Delaware. The name of Mayor Robert E. McKisson of Cleveland was presented by Representative Bramley.

Representative Leland praised Senator Hanna in a dignified manner, but Representative Smith referred to the treachery in the party in strong terms. This brought out Representative Bramley in vigorous terms in presenting the name of McKisson. There were loud demonstrations of hisses with cries of "Traitor." The nomination of McKisson was seconded by Jones of Stark county, also a Republican. The Democrats took no part except in voting and applauding. Jones applauded President McKinley in his speech and denounced Senator Hanna.

The Ballot for Senator.

After the nominating speeches the speaker announced that a ballot was in order and it was taken. The cheering as the name of Mr. Griffith of Union, Manuel of Montgomery, Joyce of Guernsey, Droste, Kemper and Hane of Hamilton were cast for Hanna was tremendous. Representative Otis desired to explain his vote, but was shut off under the rules and the balloting went on with cheers in the gallery for Hanna. The ballot in the house resulted as follows:

For McKisson—Adams, Adkins, Alger, Bartlow, Bolin, Booth, Bower, Bracken, Bramley, Cline, Connolly, Cox, Deren, Gayman, Goard, Haiden, Hater, Hayde, Hull, Hunter, Jones, Kenney, Kempel, Lamb, Ludwick, Macbroom, McCauley, McGlinchey, Magee, Melber, Monter, Niles, Ross, Rothe, Russell, Piper, Powell, Ross, Rothe, Russell, Rutan, Schmidler, Scott, Smalley, Spellmyer, Swain, Vivers, Williams, Mason—total, 48.

The Vote for Hanna.

For Hanna—Allen, Arbense, Armstrong, Ashford, Baldwin, Beatty, Bell, Bennett, Bossard, Bowman, Boxwell, Beck, Brecont, Chapman, Clark, Clifford, Davies, Davis, Droste, Dutton, Griffith of Clinton, Griffith of Union, Hinsdale, Howard, Johnson, Joyce, Kemper, Lane, Leper, Leland, Love, McCormick, McCurdy, McKinnon, Manuel, Meacham, Means, Morrow, Norris, Parker, Rankin of Clark, Rankin of Fayette, Dedkey, Reynolds, Roberts, Shaw, Smith of Adams, Smith of Delaware, Snyder, Stewart of Clark, Stewart of Mahoning, Strimple, Swingle, Snyder, Taylor, Waddell—total, 56. Wiley, 1; Warner, 1; Lentz, 1.

When the result of the ballot was announced as Hanna 56, McKisson 49, Warner 1, Wiley 1, Lentz 1, there was considerable stir on the Democratic side. Speaker Mason announced that Marcus A. Hanna having received a majority of the vote of the house was the choice of that body for the short term.

Ballot for Long Term.

The cheering outside the halls for Hanna was re-echoed in the ears of the members as the result was announced. The ballot was then taken for the long term and it resulted the same, its announcement being greeted with another long and loud demonstration. On both ballots, Representative Cramer was absent and there were thus only 108 cast as follows: Hanna, 56, McKisson 49, Wiley 1, Warner 1, Lentz 1; absent 1.

At 12:15 the house adjourned and the hall was used for a jollification meeting with the crowds singing "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow."

REMARKABLE SCENE IN SENATE.

Republicans Stand on Their Chairs and Shout Themselves Hoarse.

Columbus, O., Jan. 11.—The senate gallery was crowded to its limit when, at 11 o'clock, the first move in the great senatorial contest was made. When the nominations were made the ballot was taken and resulted:

For McKisson—Broorefn, Burke, Cohen, Cromley, Decker, Doty, Finck, Harper, Kennon, Leet, Long, Miller, Mitchell, Nichols, Pugh, Robertson, Schaefer, Valentine—total, 19.

For Hanna—Alexander, Blake, Cable, Carpenter, Randall, Dodge, Garfield, Lutz, May, Plummer, Riley, Shepard, Sullivan, Voight, Wightman, Williams, Wolcott—total, 17.

The vote in the senate for the long term stood 19 for McKisson and 17 for Hanna, the same as on the ballot for the short term. With the 17 in the senate and 56 in the house Hanna has just the requisite 73 votes for his election with all present, but the absence of Cramer, Democrat, who is dangerously sick, Hanna has one to spare.

Senator Burke of Cleveland was the only Republican in the senate who did not vote for Hanna. Senator Voight, the fusionist from Cincinnati, voted for Hanna as did all the fusion Republicans from Hamilton county, except Otis, who did not produce the dramatic scene that had been announced and was generally expected.

A remarkable scene took place in the senate chamber when the vote from the house was announced. The Republican senators, inspired by the announcement, stood in their chairs and upon the floor and shouted themselves hoarse with calls for Hanna and victory. Nothing like it was ever seen in an Ohio senate chamber.

"What's the matter with Hanna?" they shouted and the call came back, "He's all right."

It was several minutes before the hall was cleared.

REWARD OFFERED

For the Discovery of Attempted Frauds.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 10.—The attempts made in Detroit to palm off inferior goods as Dodd's Kidney Pills have stirred the proprietors to action. They announce that they will be obliged to any person who reports to them at once, any attempt of any dealer to sell spurious or inferior pills, claiming them to be Dodd's Kidney Pills; or the case of any dealer claiming to have the formula for Dodd's Kidney Pills, or who puts up pills which he claims are Dodd's Kidney Pills. They intend to be thorough in this matter and to protect not only their own good name and fame, but the rights of their customers as well. To this end, they will pay a substantial reward for the information specified above.

Dodd's Kidney Pills, being the only remedy that has ever cured Bright's Disease or Diabetes, and having proved in thousands of cases that they are an infallible cure for Rheumatism, Backache, Paralysis, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and all other diseases originating from impaired kidneys, have won the highest place in public favor, and the demand for them is enormous.

It is hoped that the imitating of such a valuable medicine will not be permitted, as it would be an irreparable injustice to those in need of such a remedy to be cheated out of the one medicine that will positively cure all the ailments named above, and which has never been known to fail in the hour of need.

The Poetry of Nature.

"The poetry of earth is never dead," wrote Keats, and though the statement sounds at first thought a dangerously sweeping one there is no doubt that if he had been called upon to argue the point he would have successfully maintained his thesis. Regarded subjectively, the poetry of earth, or in other words, the quality which makes for poetry in external nature, is that power in nature which moves us by suggestion, which excites in us emotion, imagination or poignant association, which plays upon the tense strings of our sympathies with the fingers of memory or desire. This power may reside not less in a bleak pasture lot than in a paradisaical close of bloom and verdure, not less in a roadside thistle patch than in a peak that soars into the sunset. It works through sheer beauty or sheer sublimity, but it may work with equal effect through austerity or reticence or limitation or change. It may use the most common scenes, the most familiar facts and forms, as the vehicle of its most penetrating and most illuminating message. It is apt to make the drop of dew on a grass blade as significant as the starred sphere of the sky.

Merely descriptive poetry is not very far removed from the work of the reporter and the photographer. Lacking the selective quality of creative art, it is in reality little more than a representation of some of the raw materials of poetry. It leaves the reader unmoved, because little emotion has gone to its making.—Charles G. D. Roberts in Forum.

A Baked Bonnet.

During a recent rainstorm a society woman was caught in a sudden down-pour and was compelled to run home in very undignified haste. Her dignity, however, wasn't damaged as much as her bonnet. The latter had been a dream of beauty when she started out. It was a perfect nightmare when she reached home again. She thought that a little heating would bring it about all right. The kitchen fire had gone out, but she put the bonnet in the oven and prepared to build the fire. Just as she had got all the materials together the doorbell rang. It was a caller. The visitor was a great gossip, and she had a brand new bit of scandal to tell. The two women became very much absorbed in their chat. During the course of it the servant girl, who had been out for the afternoon, returned and passed back into the kitchen. About an hour later the two gossips in the parlor began to notice a queer odor coming from the kitchen. The truth of the situation suddenly flashed upon the hostess, who immediately rushed into the kitchen. There she found to her horror that the girl had built the kitchen fire and her lovely bonnet lay in the oven roasted to a crisp.—Philadelphia Record.

A London Cook.

There is a celebrated cook in London about whom it is said that he makes an income of over £2,000 a year. He is attached to no house.

This is how he earns his living: In his own brougham he sets out toward evening for the house of some rich man who is going to give a dinner at which every dish must be above criticism. Here he alights, and, making for the kitchen, goes through the process of tasting all the soups, sauces and made dishes, advising, when his palate suggests, a little more salt here, a pinch of herbs there, a dash of sugar in this entree, a suspicion of onion in that salmis, etc.

This done, he pockets his fee of 5 guineas and drives on to the next dinner giving patron who has bidden him to his feast in this strange fashion. His nightly list comprises many houses all through the London season.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Stop that Head Cold in 10 minutes—Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder stops cold in the head in 10 minutes, and relieves most acute and deep seated catarrh after one application. The Origin of Puppet Shows.

The puppet show is such an ancient institution and has been popular in so many countries that its origin is quite obscured by the mists of antiquity. Antiquaries with ethnological spectacles have peered into this pristine fog and discerned a connection between the puppet show and religious observances. They have established the fact that dolls and marionettes are closely related and even advanced the theory that the shadow puppets used in many lands denote a time when all the people saw of religious ceremonies was the shadows of the officiating priests cast upon the walls of the sacred tent.—Francis J. Ziegler in Harper's Magazine.

WOMAN'S DELIGHT.

The most fashionable princess gowns are a combination of blouse and princess.

One of the prevailing fashions in full dress is the wearing of exceedingly long wrinkled sleeves, with low cut or half low bodies.

Primrose and pale cameo pink crepe de chine is much used by high class modistes in making dancing, debutantes and bridesmaids' toilets.

Women of the neutral type should never select dense, decided colors for an entire toilet or costume. Very fair and very dark women can best venture upon such gowns.

Some of the long Bernhardt sleeves formed of chiffon or silk figured gauze are made over invisible linings of fine soft net. This gives a bit more of body to the sleeve.

Sashes remain in favor. The soft falling chiffon scarfs, with long ends edged with plaited frilling or lace, are largely worn on very smart occasions. On very slender forms these are carried twice around the waist.

All sorts of long pelisses, redingotes, ulsters, camisards, polonaises, etc., will prevail among the variety of wraps next spring. The short, fancy, open jackets, and the "moujik," or Russian, blouses will not be wholly abandoned.

Striking dyes in roman and russian red are given a still more vivid effect by the association with them of black jetted nets, elaborate and intricate jet ornaments for bodice and skirt, and black laces and insertions of rare delicacy and beauty.

Gray and green and black have been highly favored colors for seasons past, and now blue is making a bid for marked favor next season. Blue in many tones and semitones will appear among every style of plain or fancy dress goods and jacketings.

Some of the most stylish long coats of the season are made of cloth, topped silk and fur. Many of these, in the various new shades of winter sky gray and the much paler "frost" tints, are, as a rule, more becoming than the long familiar swallow, nickel, aluminium or sand gray dyes.—New York Post.

Mothers, Do You Know

that paregoric and many so-called soothing syrups and most remedies for children contain opium in some of its forms, and that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons? If not, then remember these are facts, and avoid them as you value your child's life. Carter's Cascara Cordial is a purely vegetable article, carefully prepared, and will relieve your child of that sour stomach, which induces diarrhoea, relieve constipation and bring natural and healthy sleep, such as nature intended. SEVEN DOCTORS FAILED.

A Case of Systemic Catarrh in its Worst Form Cured.

Invalids would do well to read the following letter recently written to Dr. Hartmann by Mr. Abe Miller, of Stillsville, Indiana. Not only ponder on it, but act upon it. He writes: "A word of praise to your medicines. I began taking Pe-ru-na the 20th of February, 1897. I was all w.o.n out. My weight was 134 pounds. I was weak and almost ready to go blind. I had catarrh, asthma and kidney trouble. I have taken ten bottles of Pe-ru-na and I weigh 161 pounds. I feel as if I could do as much work as any man on earth. I had tried seven doctors; some of them as good as there were in the state. But none of them did me any good. At last I saw Pe-ru-na advertised. Then I began taking it and it has cured me. So I recommended it to my neighbor and it is doing the work for him. He has gained four pounds from the use of three bottles."

Send to The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company, Columbus, Ohio, for a free book on catarrh written by Dr. Hartmann. Ask your druggist for a free Pe-ru-na Almanac for 1898.

Through various court proceedings French had six trials.

A doctor on tour through the highlands came upon a fair sized village where there was no brother practitioner. Surprised at this and anxious to learn how the people got on without one, he took the first opportunity to inquire. "A doctor!" said the old woman whom he accosted. "We need nae doctor."

"And what do you do for medicine in the case of illness?" pursued the man of medicine. "We need nae medicine either. We just keep whisky for the man an tar for the sheep," replied the old woman.

The doctor admitted that a glass of whisky might be good enough in some cases, but not always. "A weel," readily responded the old woman, "if ae glass disna dae we gie twa, and if twa disna dae we mak' it three, and if that disna dae they were gaun tae dee onyway."—Scottish Nights.

THE POLICE INQUIRY.

Senate Committee Probing into Chicago's Department.

CHIEF AND SECRETARY SUMMONED.

Chairman Berry Compelled To Call Down President Kraus and Attorney Bliss, who Have a Legal Battle on Hand—Alleged That the Police Investigation is Only an Excuse for Assailing the Civil Service Commission and Repealing the Law.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—Chief of Police Kipley and Secretary Campbell, shortly before noon were summoned to appear before the senate investigating committee, which is probing into the methods of Chicago's police force and the civil service commission. The committee was half an hour late in starting its inquisitorial mill. The proceedings began by a protest on the part of President Kraus against the part taken by Attorney Bliss, who, it is charged, is acting as a sort of attorney for the committee. Chairman Berry hotly denied that Mr. Bliss was at all connected with the committee, and said no more privileges had been accorded him than to other citizens.

Berry Grows Emphatic.

President Kraus then wanted to know why it was that Mr. Bliss had been called into private conference with the committee. At this question Mr. Berry grew more emphatic, and said the committee reserved the right to call in any citizen and should it need any member for the commission it would call him. Here Mr. Bliss rose to say that he was present not to aid the committee, but to make his words good concerning certain charges he had made in a private club in this city against the commission.

"Mr. Kraus has challenged me to prove these charges, and I propose to do it."

Chairman Berry, seeing trouble ahead, stopped Mr. Bliss, and said: "I understand one prominent gentleman here has sued another prominent gentleman, who is also here. I do not propose that that suit shall be tried here."

Attack on Civil Service.

The committee then proceeded with its regular work in hand, Theodore Saindon, a clerk in the city hall, being the first witness called. It seems now to be the general impression among the politicians that the one object of the senatorial police investigating committee in coming to Chicago is to make an attack on civil service rather than to probe into the workings of the Chicago police force. The motive behind this, it is asserted, is to furnish an excuse for repealing the civil service law, which is contemplated before the legislature finally adjourns. Senator Ben Mitchell, when asked his views concerning the commission and its objects, unhesitatingly replied that it was the civil service commission and not the police department it was after. He also gave it as his opinion that the legislature had decided to repeal the law.

Repeated in the View.

Senator O'Brien concurred in this view, and it is said that the drift of the committee's examination of Secretary Glenn plainly indicated that some such scheme was in the wind. This official was on the stand during the afternoon session and was questioned in detail as to the workings of the commission, and especially as to the examination of applicants for places on the police force and the manner in which they are placed on the force. Among other things the committee learned that the commission has examined 2,200 applicants for police positions, 1,130 of which were for original entrance and 527 were of those who had formerly held positions on the police force.

750 Got Places.

Mr. Glenn stated also that 750 men had been appointed to the force by the commission, and that there were now 2,000 hold-overs who had since been given a permanent examination in order to get them under the protection of the civil service law. Asked why examinations had not been held for police captains and lieutenants, Secretary Glenn explained that the right of the commission to do so had been in controversy until the recent decision of the supreme court, but that since that decision the commission had called examinations for these grades.

McKenna's Nomination Hangs Fire.

Washington, Jan. 11.—The senate committee on judiciary had the nomination of Attorney General McKenna to be justice of the supreme court under consideration for two hours, but adjourned without reaching a conclusion upon it. The committee adjourned with the understanding that the chairman should call another meeting for the purpose of taking up the case in advance of the regular meeting. It was stated that the failure was due to the general importance of the nomination and a general feeling that full time should be given to it by the committee.

William L. Wetmore Dead.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 11.—William L. Wetmore, one of the landmarks of the Lake Superior country, died at his home in this city. He was 70 years of age and has been in active business in this section of the Upper Peninsula since 1856. In the early days he was prominent in the shipping and iron mining business, in which he built up a fortune only to be swept away in the panic of 1871. He was at one time a partner with Samuel J. Tilden in the New York bank, but the partnership finally broke up in a litigation that lasted several years.

Firebugs at Work.

Kansas City, Jan. 11.—A special from Shawnee, O. T., says: Firebugs applied the torch to a frame building on the corner of Main and Broadway, and in an hour's time fourteen business houses on Broadway were in ashes. The loss will reach $20,000; insurance not known. Several families living in upper stories had narrow escapes. The city is without water works or fire protection, and it took heroic efforts to save the business portion.

Bank Cashier Shoots Himself.

Peoria, Ills., Jan. 11.—Cashier M. J. Covery of the State bank at Elmwood, shot himself and he is not expected to live. He has been in poor health for some time.

THE BEEHIVE.

Liquid food should never be given in winter.

Use the best and straightest comb for feeding. Select your best stocks from which to raise queens.

Be sure that every colony has an abundance of food.

A good quality of candy may often be fed with profit. Feed it at night.

Wax is a natural secretion of the bee. It is not gathered by the bees, as many suppose.

Drones can be retained almost any length of time by keeping them in queenless colonies.

Wax can be produced at any time by simply feeding a colony heavily on honey or sugar syrup.

A worker bee is hatched in 21 days from the time the egg is deposited, queens in 18 and drones in 24 days.

A few pounds of candy made from granulated sugar can be placed on the top of the frames over the bees.

Queen cells should be built in strong colonies. It is no trouble to keep them if supplied with bees and brood.

The average life of a worker bee is 45 days. A queen will live four or five years. The life of a drone is out short by the worker bees.

All bottom ventilation that is needed for bees is the ordinary entrance, which should be 3 inches by three-eighths of an inch.—St. Louis Republic.

ORCHARD NOTES.

Few kinds of fruit are easier grown than the cherry.

Black knot is a fungous growth. Cut off and burn all affected branches.

One of the most serious objections to continual mulching is that it tends to encourage shallow rooting.

In pruning roses, cutting back closely produces as a rule fewer blooms, while bushes not so closely pruned will yield smaller blooms.

The careful planter will see to it that there is as little exposure of the roots as possible between the time of taking up and transplanting.

When trees are received late in the fall, in many cases it will pay to hold them in carefully rather than to risk setting them out so late in the season.

To give trees a long lease of life, select those of a strong constitution, plant them in a deep, rich, well drained soil, and prevent severe drains upon the vitality from overbearing.

CONTEST TO BE BITTER.

Denver Papers and Department Stores at Outs.

LATTER DEMANDED LOWER RATES.

They Controlled 50 Per Cent of the Regular City Advertising and Believed the Papers Would Submit to Their Dictation—Labor Unions Warned Against the Big Stores—Smaller Merchants Taking Advantage of the Situation.

Denver, Jan. 11.—An extraordinary contest has started in this city with all the daily papers on one side and fourteen of the largest dry goods and clothing department stores on the other. No advertisement of any of these firms appeared in papers, and formal notice has been given that none will appear until the papers accede to the demands of the merchants. Last week were informed that the department store combination had arbitrarily decided that advertising rates must be reduced about 20 per cent. The firms declined to enter in the discussion of the justice of the demand, simply stating that they had given their ultimatum.

Fifty Per Cent of the Advertising.

They control about 50 per cent of the regular city advertising, and believed that the papers must submit to their dictation, notwithstanding that advertising rates in Denver are lower than in any other city of the same size in the country. The newspapers replied that concession to the autocratic order was not only impossible for business reasons but would destroy the independence of the press. If the department stores could fix rates arbitrarily at their pleasure, they could likewise dictate all matters of mere hand bills, without influence or self-respect. The first result of the contest is the passage of a resolution by the Trades assembly calling on the city council to impose a heavy license on department stores, and warning all members of labor unions against them.

Good for Smaller Merchants.

The smaller merchants are taking advantage of the opportunity to increase their advertising. In Denver, as in other cities, department stores have been pushing the smaller stores, and the latter are exceedingly glad of the chance to cut into the business of their larger rivals. The firms which are trying the novel and dangerous experiment of doing business without advertising are Schradsky Clothing company, Cordes & Feldhauser Carpet company, the Monas Fair company, May Shoe and Clothing company, the Western Clothing company, the Skinner Bros. and Wright company, Daniels & Fisher, the Colorado Dry Goods company, the Denver Dry Goods company, Bradley & Blakely, the Joslin Dry Goods company, L. H. Gulman, Apple's, A. T. Lewis & Son.

Views of J. N. Huston.

J. N. Huston, formerly treasurer of the United States under President Harrison, in an interview, says that he believes the great department stores in all the cities of the country are secretly joining forces to concentrate their power in the opinion that such a trust may be successfully organized to control the retail business of the country in every branch. He says: "The trust would not be a dream were it to be a national institution. It would control the price of everything indirectly—the interest rate on money, politics, and everything else."

Washington, Jan. 11.—St. Louis shoe manufacturers have an opportunity to secure a big order from the war department. The shoes will be bought in all sizes, and propositions will be solicited from the New England and the western shoe manufacturers. It is the intention of the quartermaster general to make no issues of the new shoes during the present year. There is at present in stock a sufficient supply to meet the demand during that period. The purchase of 25,000 pairs is made at this time with the idea that the foot gear may be retained and seasoned in store.

Master John Chapman, aged 10 years, received a watch last week from Guy P. Henry, local agent of the Detroit Journal, as a prize for selling more Detroit Journals than any boy on the force, during the month of December. John is a hustler, and a favorite among newspaper buyers, and well deserves this preferment.

The annual May Festival of the University Musical Society which has grown to be one of the most important musical events of the west, will be given in University hall, May 12, 13 and 14. The principal number of the program will be "The Flying Dutchman," by Richard Wagner. The sale of reserved seats begins tomorrow at 9 o'clock a. m., at the School of Music.

At the annual meeting of the teachers of Zion's Lutheran Sunday school, held Wednesday evening of last week the following officers were elected: Superintendent, Frederick Schmid; assistant superintendent, George Haller; secretary, L. Boes; treasurer, E. Mast; missionary treasurer, F. Steeb; librarian, E. Muehlig. The secretary reported a gain of 101 scholars over the previous year.

The Sewing School still needs money in order to carry on the work for the year. Miss McMenemy has kindly offered to repeat the entertainment given the Y. W. C. A. for the benefit of the school Friday evening, Jan. 21, in High School hall. There will be additional attractions. Freddy D. Jey will sing, the fairy scenes will be improved and other changes made. All buy tickets whether you go or not. Admission only 10 cents.

At the meeting of the Michigan Millers' Association held in Lansing Tuesday, G. Frank Allmendinger was chosen vice president, and W. H. Deubel, of Ypsilanti, a member of the executive committee. Nelson J. Kyer, of this city read a paper on his native country "Denmark," and at the banquet Tuesday evening W. W. Wedemeyer responded to the toast "The Young Men." Washtenaw county is decidedly "in it" with the millers of the state.

Dr. D. W. Nolan and Seward Cramer, the Ypsilanti editor of the Times, had a fracas of more or less serious dimensions Tuesday noon at Ypsilanti, in which Cramer was struck in the face. Nolan charged him with being the author of some of the newspaper articles that appeared at the time of his recent escapade in Detroit. A warrant has been issued against Nolan for the assault and the case will come up before Justice Childs.

On Monday the Argus closed up with the administrator of the estate of the late J. B. Vanatta, of Salem, a subscription account which has been in existence for over 62 years. Mr. and Mrs. Vanatta came to Michigan in 1834 and commenced to take the Argus soon after it was first published. Mr. Vanatta died in April, 1895, at the age of 83 years. His widow still survives aged 84 years, but owing to not being able to see to read any more she has dropped from our list. A 62 year's subscription is a long record and one that any paper can feel proud of.

Alfred G. Huss, an old Ann Arbor boy, died quite suddenly at Denver, Colo., Wednesday night of last week, where he had gone for the benefit of his health. He was a watchmaker and jeweler by trade and learned his business with Wm. Arnold. He had been for some time prior to his departure for Colorado a resident of Monroe. His remains were brought here for interment and the funeral was held from the residence of his uncle John Huss, in Pittsfield, Monday afternoon. A club of 20 young men from Monroe to which Mr. Huss formerly belonged, attended the funeral in a body.

NOT ALWAYS UNDERSTOOD.

A fact often overlooked, or not always understood, is that women suffer as much from distressing kidney and bladder troubles as the men. The womb is situated back of and very close to the bladder, and for that reason any distress, disease or inconvenience in the kidneys, back, bladder or urinary passage is often, by mistake, attributed to female weakness or womb trouble of some sort.

The error is easily made and may be as easily avoided by setting urine aside for twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling is evidence that your kidneys and bladder need doctoring. If you have pain or dull aching in the back, pass water too frequently, or scanty supply, with smarting or burning—these are also convincing proofs of kidney trouble. If you have doctored without benefit, try Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy. The mild and the extraordinary effect will surprise you. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures. If you take a medicine you should take the best. At druggists fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail. Mention The Ann Arbor Argus, and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

A WORTHY SUCCESSOR

Is the Announcement of the Coming May Festival.

ARTISTS AND WORKS

Are as Fine as Any that Are Ever Expected

In Any First Class Festival.—Splendid Outlook for a Brilliant Success. Improved Accommodation for Its Audiences.

For the May Festival which is to be held at University Hall on May 12, 13 and 14, the following artists will be present:

Sopranos—Gadski, Mrs. Walker. Contraltos—Miss Stein, Miss Springer. Tenor—Mr. Rieger. Baritone—Mr. Bispham, Mr. Campanari. Bass—Mr. Howland.

The success achieved by former festivals made it very difficult indeed to arrange a festival which should be a worthy successor to such a series. As a result of negotiations which have been in progress since the last May Festival, the following program is offered, as including everything in the way of artists and works which can be expected in a festival of first class importance.

Although the two principal works chosen, the "Manzoni Requiem" of Verdi and the "Flying Dutchman" of Richard Wagner, do not present such marked differences in conception as exist between the German school of oratorio and the great dramatic works, still it will be seen that the policy inaugurated of presenting works of contrasting schools has been adhered to. The Verdi Requiem, although ostensibly a religious work, treats the subject in a somewhat dramatic manner, and contains the essential characteristics of the Italian school of writing, fluent melody, symmetrical form, interesting harmony, and a most remarkable use of purely vocal effects. The success of the performance of the first act of "Lohengrin" two years ago, has led to the belief that the performance in concert form of Wagner's "Flying Dutchman" would prove acceptable, especially to those who have had no opportunity of seeing this representative work of the German Dramatic School on the stage. It is better adapted for such a purpose than any other work of the great master.

Having the performance of the "Flying Dutchman" in view, the engagement of great Wagnerian singers became a necessity. The engagement of Gadski, the greatest Wagnerian soprano—in the estimation of many reliable critics the greatest Wagnerian on the stage, now that Klafsky is gone—ensures a remarkable performance of the part of Senta, one of her greatest roles. David Bispham, who, by the way, is an American, is considered one of the greatest living baritones. His success in England and on the continent in the great Wagnerian roles is well known to musicians; while his no less remarkable achievements last season as a member of the Metropolitan Opera Co. in New York, has firmly established his reputation on this side of the Atlantic. The part of the "Flying Dutchman" is one of the most intensely dramatic parts ever conceived and yet, because Wagner was at the time of the composition of the "Flying Dutchman" in what is called his first period, the entire composition is replete with the broadest and most charming melody. Both of these artists have proved themselves equally great on the concert platform and in oratorio, a statement which is made merely as a proof of their versatility and artistic resources.

"Gadski, as Elizabeth, shone resplendently as a star in the east; next to her in efficiency coming Bispham, in the part of Wolfram. . . Gadski's Elizabeth was very fine. To pick flaws in her impersonation would be to show ourselves cavillers. She is an admirable artist and shines in whatever part she assumes."—Channing Ellery in The Concert Goer, Philadelphia.

"Mrs. Johanna Gadski, a woman who disdains self-advertisement and needs no passionate press agent or indefatigable manager to boost her claims as a singer, shone by the display of genuine art and not by the exhibition of diamonds or raiment. . . If the audience cares for dramatic singing, was there anything last year that surpassed or equalled the duet of Mrs.

Gadski and Mr. Bispham Thursday night?" (The duet in second act of "Flying Dutchman.")—Philip Hale on Worcester Festival, in Musical Record. The New York Sun says, criticising a recent performance of Gounod's Redemption: "Of the individual singers, Mr. Bispham and Mme. Gadski were easily first. Gounod set few of the words of Jesus, and the worth of the setting is an open question—when a lesser artist than Mr. Bispham attempts it. In itself it is gently moving. He ennobled it and invested it with poignant appeal. Mme. Gadski was in like case. The purity of her voice, the simplicity of her style, the honesty of her sentiment fitted her for the task in hand, and in a comparatively new field showed her steady advance in her art. There is no comparison between the Gadski of three years ago and the Gadski of today. Hard, constant and intelligent work has done wonders for her, and with her youth in her favor she has the widest promise of any woman now singing in this country. Strange to say, for a foreign singer, she has apparently mastered our tongue. Saturday night her enunciation was pure and distinct, with scarcely a trace of accent."

Mrs. Jennie Patrick Walker, of Boston, is a very broad dramatic singer, who is easily the leading soprano in New England. Her work is not so well known in the west as it deserves, but those who remember her remarkable performance in the "Redemption" several years ago, can readily understand that she will give a masterly interpretation of the soprano parts in the Requiem. No singer in America has made more rapid strides in her profession during the last two years than Gertrude May Stein, and her performance at the last Worcester Festival, to quote the opinion of Philip Hale, of Boston, an opinion which is endorsed by the leading Boston and New York critics, firmly established her position as the leading mezzo soprano in the country. It will be of interest to know that she has just entered into a four years' engagement as leading dramatic soprano at Mannheim, Germany.

Miss Spencer's work was so very satisfactory at the last Festival that all will hail with delight the announcement that she is to appear again. Mr. Wm. H. Rieger, who will be pleasantly remembered for his intelligent performance of the part of Faust in the "Damnation of Faust," is to be the leading tenor at the Festival. He will sing in both the "Requiem" and the "Flying Dutchman."

Campanari is so well known that it is absolutely unnecessary to say a word in his praise. His engagement seemed to be a matter of course.

Besides the force enumerated, Mr. Howland, of Worcester, a most excellent artist, will also take part. There will be, in addition to the artists already named, a pianist, a cellist, another tenor, and in all probability another soprano, whose name it is impossible to announce at the present moment. The full Boston Festival Orchestra under the able direction of Mr. Mollenhauer will again take part. The program will include a great number of novelties. At the Symphony concert, the pathetic symphony of Tschaiakowski will be given; also excerpts from the new opera, "The Koenig's Kinder" by Humperdinck.

There is no doubt, whatever, that the combination of artists for this Festival, taken all in all, is the strongest yet offered, and there can be no doubt that the Festival will be a decided advance over those of former years. This will be practically the same combination which was heard at the last Worcester Festival, which, in the opinion of competent critics, was the finest festival ever given in that city. The following, taken from the Musical Courier by special correspondence, will enforce this statement: "All in all, this festival was head and shoulders above the preceding festivals that I have heard at Worcester. The programs were of a higher order, and they were better arranged. The ensemble of singers was also better. The whole thing stood on a more artistic plane." The patrons of the concerts will be interested in the changes which have taken place in University Hall, both in the accommodations for seating and the arrangements for lighting, and no doubt these improvements will largely conduce to the enjoyment of the Festival. It is needless to add that a festival of this magnitude involves such an enormous expense that it is only by a very large draft upon the sympathetic support of the public that it can be made possible. Inasmuch as there are still remaining three excellent concerts in the Choral Union Series, besides the five concerts of the Festival, it would seem to be the part of wisdom for those intending to purchase tickets to do so at once, especially as the interest in the Festival, on the part of those outside the city, is greater than ever before. The reservation of seats for the Festival will begin on Saturday, January 15, at 9 a. m., at the School of Music. Application by mail for tickets and reserved seats for the Festival should be addressed to Levi D. Wines, treasurer, Choral Union, Ann Arbor.
