

LOCUSTS HAVE FLOCKED HERE

The Seventeen-Year Variety Settle on Allen Farm

THE WINGED HORDE

Are Creating Much Curiosity and Consternation Among the Farmers in the Vicinity

A swarm of locusts of the 17-year species, which have lately caused so much destruction in the eastern states, arrived in Washtenaw county Wednesday. They made their appearance on the old Allen farm on the Whitmore Lake road about four miles from Ann Arbor and now owned by the Towar Milk company, of Detroit. There is an immense number of them, probably running into the hundreds of thousands.

Since their coming they have created a great deal of curiosity among the farmers of the surrounding country and at the same time consternation, for they are among the most destructive insects known to entomologists. Young trees and plants they destroy by the wholesale.

The locusts which have infested the Allen farm are of the migratory species. Infinitesimally little can be done to check the ravages of the winged class, starvation, the outcome of their work, being probably the only means of extermination. It is shown that with all migratory locusts the breeding places, or true homes, are comparatively barren districts (mostly elevated plateaus) hence the progress of civilization and colonization with its concomitant necessity for converting those heretofore barren plains into areas of fertility, may, and probably will, gradually lessen the evil.

EARTHEN BANK FELL UPON HIM

WILLIAM FELDHAUSER BADLY HURT WEDNESDAY EVENING

Working in a Ditch on Washington Street When Half a Ton of Earth Enveloped Him

Buried underneath half a ton of earth, William G. Feldhauser, a steam fitter who lives at 425 Second street, was in a serious predicament for a few minutes Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Feldhauser was busy caulking a water pipe joint in the ditch on Washington street, where a new water main is being laid, when without a moment's warning the earthen wall on one side of him caved out, throwing him to the bottom of the ditch and almost completely covering him from view. As he was thrown down, Feldhauser called loudly for help. A number of his fellow workmen ran to his rescue and after shoveling the dirt which had enveloped him, helped him to the street. He was quite weak and suffered considerable pain over his left kidney. He was taken to his home in a carriage.

The foreman on the work said the earth gave way owing to the jar caused by one of the city railway cars passing over the intersection of Liberty and Washington streets. He further said that although the city railway company had been requested to run their cars at a slow rate of speed at the place where the work was being done, they had not seemed to pay any attention to the request. The D., Y., A. & J. company had been very considerate in slowing up their cars at the place indicated.

SAYS HE IS NOT AN HEIR

An answer in the suit of Joseph H. Worden against Frank Worden, administrator of the estate of the late Alvah Worden, has been filed by Edward A. Barnes, solicitor for the defendants, in the county clerk's office. It is claimed in the answer that Joseph Worden, who has sued for a portion of the Worden estate, is not a lawful child of the late Alvah Worden, he having been adopted from the "Baldwin Place Home for Little Wanderers."

The answer further states that Alvah Worden expressly stated before he died that Joseph Worden, the adopted son, was to inherit no portion of his estate.

HIS SUICIDE CAUSED MUCH SORROW

Great excitement and sorrow was recently caused in the village of Whitaker by the death of Wm. H. Bishop, who shot himself in his home, southwest of the town, during a fit of despondency.

A very sad feature of the affair was the finding of Mr. Bishop by his wife and little daughter who had gone to a neighbor's shortly before the shooting occurred, but who returned shortly after the deed had been accomplished. Mr. Bishop was one of the most prominent farmers in the community, being the first postmaster of Whitaker. He also held various township offices. He was partially crippled by a paralytic stroke six or seven years ago and since then he has been despondent. He leaves a widow and eight children.

Interment was made at Highland cemetery, Ypsilanti.

SUTTON MAY BE REMOVED

From the Board of Regents if Perjury is Proven

HON. A. J. SAWYER

Says He is Surprised That Sutton Should Have Remained on Board so Long

The disbarment proceedings brought in the supreme court at Lansing Tuesday against C. N. Roos, attorney for the Henderson-Ames Co., in the famous military board deal, has again brought Eli A. Sutton, a member of the board of regents of the University to the front. On the trial, it will be remembered that Sutton was acquitted, but there is some talk now of trying to prove Sutton guilty of perjury. In that case he will probably be dismissed from the office of regent.

"I would not have supposed Mr. Sutton would have remained on the board of regents in view of his alleged connection with the scandal, had there been any truth in the charge," said the Hon. Andrew J. Sawyer. "But it seems that there is no power vested in the board of regents to dispense with the services of one of their number."

"You see the office of regent is wholly a constitutional one. It is above the legislature and there is no power to remove a regent for any crime committed previous to taking office."

"How about a crime being committed by a regent after he takes office?" was asked.

"Then, of course," replied Mr. Sawyer, "he would no doubt be removed under the clause of the constitution which reserves the right to impeach public officers who are found guilty of high crimes."

"It is said that Mr. Sutton may be charged with perjury," suggested the reporter.

"Well, in that case there is no doubt in my mind whatever but what he would have to relinquish the office," said the attorney.

"At the joint constitutional debate," continued Mr. Sawyer, "it was of course supposed that none but men of the highest character would be put up for the office of regent. That is easily seen when one reads the reports of the debate. As a consequence the office was created on an equality with the judges of the courts and it was the intention of its creators that it should be entirely free from politics. What the outcome of this review of the alleged military board deal, in regards to Sutton will be I would not like to say, but I am thoroughly assured that if he is proven guilty of perjury, he will have to get off the board of regents or be removed."

LIGHTNING CAUSED A $150 FIRE

The electric storm which occurred Monday evening about 8 o'clock, did some serious damage.

The fire department were called out at the height of the storm to a fire caused by lightning at the home of Mrs. A. Wilson, 1335 Hill street. The department made good time in getting to the house, but the flames had been subdued by the members of the household before the firemen reached the spot.

The fire was caused by the lightning following the electric wires into the house, and igniting the gas in the pipes at the point where the pipes and electric wires join. The flames were terrific for a few moments until the gas could be shut off from the main pipe. About $150 damage was done.

The lightning got in its work on the electric cars also, tying up traffic for about half an hour during the storm.

Pope Caught While Stealing from a Barn

THE LOCAL PUGILIST

Had Entered George Blaich's Place When Deputy Sheriffs Arrested Him

For the past six weeks the barn of George Blaich, of 1219 S. University avenue, has been entered by a thief and large quantities of oats carried away. Recently Mr. Blaich notified the sheriff's office of his losses and Deputy Sheriffs Fred Gillen and Kelsey were assigned to the case.

They have been regularly watching the barn at nights for the last two weeks, usually leaving the place about 3 o'clock in the morning. They, however, could not discover the culprit, although Blaich's oats were still being carried away. It was a puzzle to the officers how the thief entered the barn without them detecting him. They had not thought that he would be bold enough to enter the place for the purpose of robbing it during the daylight hours.

Yesterday morning, however, they concluded to watch the place later than usual. They remained at the barn until after 4 o'clock and their efforts were rewarded.

Shortly after 4 o'clock the barn door was cautiously opened by a negro, who, after peering around for a few minutes, went to that part of the barn where the hay was stored. Here he filled several bags which he had brought with him with hay. Then he started to leave the place. As he did so the officers came out of their hiding place and demanded that he throw up his hands, which he quickly did, at the same time releasing his plunder, which he was carrying on his back.

The fellow was Sanford Pope, who has gained some notoriety by taking part in the slugging matches which have recently been pulled off here, his latest appearance in the ring being with "Kid" Wellman, of Detroit.

He was taken to the county jail, where he confessed to being the person who had previously entered the barn and stolen the oats.

Pope had his team waiting on University avenue, a short distance from the barn, in which he intended to carry away the stolen property.

As the offense was committed in daylight he can only be tried on the charge of simple larceny.

Pope was released on bail yesterday afternoon and will probably try and settle the case by paying Mr. Blaich the value of the stolen property.

BURIED WITH SOLDIER'S HONORS

The funeral of Michael O'Toole, who died Sunday of appendicitis, was held from St. Thomas' church Tuesday at 9 o'clock a. m., Rev. E. D. Kelly officiating.

The deceased, who was an employe of W. S. Piper, had been ill only since last Friday, it being being the fourth attack of appendicitis he had suffered.

The active pallbearers were John Boyle, William Rochel, George Jacobus, Frank Phillips, Leo Kennedy and Frank Scanlon, all members of Company I. They were dressed in their uniforms. Samuel Camp, of Detroit, and Herbert Benham, of Brighton, were honorary pallbearers.

Fr. Kelly preached an eloquent sermon, dwelling on the eternal peace and happiness of the soul. In conclusion he spoke of the attendance at the funeral of Company I, saying that the time they might have lost by attending would be made up by the respect the organization would gain by showing its love and respect for a dead comrade.

At the conclusion of the services at the church, Company I took charge of the remains, giving it a military burial at the grave. The young men presented a gallant spectacle as they preceded the hearse, keeping step with the slow beat of the drum. The casket was draped with the American flag, upon which rested a profusion of white roses and carnations. Interment took place in St. Thomas' cemetery.

ITHACA BANK SUES JAMES AUTEN

The Ithaca Banking company, through their lawyer, Martin J. Cavanaugh, filed suit in the circuit court Tuesday against Jas. M. Auten, of Milan, and Reuben Howard, of Ithaca, on a promissory note for $318 made by Auten and signed by Howard.

Both men are prominent farmers in the section in which they live. The note was given some months ago and it seems that the bank made repeated requests for payment which, it appears, were not responded to by the defendants, hence the suit filed against the defendants.

WAS BURNED TO DEATH

The little daughter of John Renton, who lives near Stony Creek, in Augusta township, was burned to death last week while her parents were away from home.

The little one was playing around a bonfire in the yard when her clothes caught fire. Her screams brought her sister to her rescue, who with rare presence of mind in so young a child, wrapped a piece of carpet about the little one, but she was burned to sadly that death resulted shortly after.

PRESIDENT IS OPPOSED

Does Not Favor Independence of Filipinos

OUR WORK NULLIFIED

He Says if We Grant the Struggling People Their Liberties

Chicago, June 4.—A Washington correspondent of the Record-Herald says: The president can be put down as opposed to giving the Filipinos any pledge of future independence. Friends have asked him to consider whether it would not be better to change the policy of the United States, especially in the direction of giving the Filipinos ultimate independence, and to make that announcement so that the islands could know that some time in the future they would be treated as Cuba has been treated.

These friends have told the president that they were impressed with his speech at Arlington, in which he spoke of the time when the Filipinos might show capacity for self-government, and they have asked the president to go further and consider whether it might not be wise to say now definitely that the Filipinos would be given independence.

To this the president has given an unqualified answer in the negative. Judge Taft holds, and the president with him, that official intimation at this time that the Filipinos might expect their independence, one or two or ten years hence, would probably result in nullification of all the work that has been done there since the end of Spanish rule.

The conservative men of the islands, who have been assisting the spread of law and order, and the upbuilding of civil government, would view such a declaration with horror. From one end of the archipelago to the other the element that has been opposing American rule would feel encouraged. They would begin to lay wires to be "on top" when independence should be proclaimed.

CHARGED WITH STEALING 80 CTS.

John Fick, a circulation solicitor on an evening paper who recently left his place of employment, was arrested Monday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Fred Gillen on the charge of stealing eighty cents from two students in Add Collum's saloon.

It appears that the students who had ordered some refreshments, had retired to a rear portion of the saloon, when the bartender brought their order and eighty cents in change. When they returned to the table at which they had been previously sitting the money had disappeared. Fick was suspected, but not until the officer arrived did he confess his guilt. He was taken to the county jail and will be tried before Justice Doty.

JUDSON IS IT.

Again Washtenaw has returned from a congressional convention empty handed so far as her candidate for congress is concerned.

It is undoubtedly true that all sorts of promises were made to Mr. Wedemeyer by the Jackson people. Of course he is to be the political heir of Mr. Townsend four years hence, but four years is a long time to wait for the fulfillment of political promises.

But it will be observed that Judson come into his own at once, as was the case four years ago and again two years ago. He is not obliged to wait until somebody dies the political death to enter into his heirship.

A prominent local republican remarked Saturday evening that he had so little regard for Governor Bliss that he would not give a "whoop in hell" for such gubernatorial timber.

JUDGE CAHILL SPEAKS TRUTH.

Ex-Judge Cahill of the supreme court in a Decoration Day address at Lansing, touching upon the present gubernatorial campaign, said an election in Michigan was a useless trouble and expense, that it was much easier to award the office to the highest bidder.

men of the Bliss stamp would stand no chance whatever of being elevated to the governorship. They buy their nomination and then trust to party discipline to elect them, knowing full well that party loyalty with the people is apt to be put above principle.

THE CAUSES.

The throw-down of Congressman Smith of the second district was due to several causes. Among others the federal push was against him. He had dared to show some little independence and a bit of individuality in his votes in congress.

With nothing but courtesy and friendliness from the people of this city. In the name of the local council and in fact I may say of the whole parish, I bid you welcome.

"Doc" Smith speaks of Henry C. as his neighbor, but not his friend. He intimates that having evened up the old score with "Hank," he now has no disposition to jump on him while he is down.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

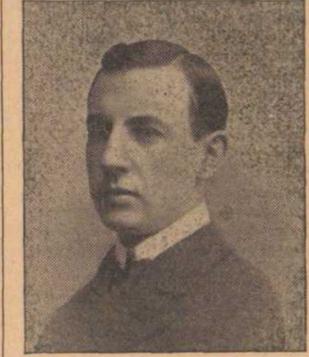

Grand Initiation of New Members Sunday BEAUTIFUL SERVICES

At St. Thomas Church Preceded the Ceremonies—Banquet at Armory

The Knights of Columbus, the great Catholic organization which like a vast network is rapidly covering the entire American continent and making its beneficent influence felt in every locality into which it enters, had eighty-four new members enrolled upon its lists in this city Sunday afternoon.

The initiation of the eighty-four candidates, many of whom came from the surrounding towns, was one of the largest ever made in this state since the organization began its work in Michigan.

The ceremonies attending yesterday's

GEORGE F. MONAGHAN, State Deputy.

Initiation were anticipated by many Sir Knights from a number of the cities in the state, among them Detroit, Bay City, Jackson, Saginaw, Pontiac and Port Huron, who came to Ann Arbor to give their encouragement to the work and the new candidates.

At the high mass celebrated by the Rev. Father Kelly and assistant priests, a special musical service was heard, forcefully adding to the inspiration of the scene.

Owing to the lateness of the arrival of the visiting knights at the church, Father Kelly did not preach a sermon. He merely welcomed the knights to the city in his usual affable manner.

"The visiting Knights of Columbus have done Ann Arbor, the Athens of the West, an honor by coming here today and I wish to assure all the knights present that they will meet

REV. E. D. KELLY, State Chaplain.

The initiation of the candidates began at Elks' hall at 1:30 and ended about 7:30 o'clock. The officiating officers were George F. Monaghan, state deputy, William May, state organizer, James T. Lawler, state advocate, George W. Manion, state treasurer, Rev. E. D. Kelly, state chaplain.

After the initiation the banquet was served at the Armory.

BANQUET GIVEN AT THE ARMORY

Promptly at 8 o'clock the Knights began to arrive at the Armory which never before presented such a beautiful and charming appearance. American flags strung gracefully from the ceiling canopied the bountifully laden tables which were decorated most effectively with red and white carnations and large palms.

The ladies in charge of tables and their assistants were as follows: Mrs. Emma Sheehan and Mrs. Fitzpatrick, assisted by Mesdames Harkins and Ryan and Misses Tessie Sheehan, Mamie Audette, Lou Rinsey, Emma Covert and Anna Riley; Mrs. Martha Seabolt, Mrs. John Baumgartner, Mrs. David Rinsey and Miss Lena Eisele, assisted by Misses Katie Seabolt, Anna Z. Sullivan, May O'Hearn, Anna Gibney, and M. Roach; Mrs. John Kenny and Mrs. James Quinlan, assisted by Mrs. George Fischer, Mrs. D. J. Malloy, Mrs. Frank Minnis and the Misses Margaret and Agnes Cosgrove and Miss Alice Tice; Mrs. E. L. G. Pipp and the Misses Irene Duffy, Lizzie Walsh, M. Donnelly, Katie Kearney and May Walsh; Mrs. E. R. Wasser assisted by the Misses Riley, Ella Laughlin, Alice Butler and the Mesdames Frank Welsh and M. Wetherbee; Mrs. William Caspary, assisted by Mrs. A. A. Meuth and the Misses Caspary, Lizzie Horn, Ida Jelderly, Delia O'Connor and Ida Meuth; Mrs. Herman Hardinghaus, assisted by Mrs. Chas. Dwyer and the Misses Minnie Dwyer, Winifred Morse, Lizzie Fitchell, Cora Hardinghaus and Lizzie Hawley; Mrs. Mitchell Ryan and Mrs. N. P. Flynn assisted by the Misses Mary Kennedy, Anna Hanlin, Jennie Ryan, Carroll, Detroit, and Fannie Mead; Mrs. Ambrose Kearney assisted by Mrs. C. Tuomey and the Misses Alberta, Angela and Carmen Maas, also the Misses Therese and Margaret Kearns and Sadie Crosey.

After the banquet had been done justice to by the great assembly, Martin J. Cavanaugh as toastmaster of the banquet, arose, and in a most felicitous manner, characteristic of him, introduced the speakers, after complimenting the ladies in charge on the successful banquet and its exquisite appointments.

He said he had never attended a more delightful banquet. In behalf of the local council he congratulated the ladies and then proceeded to introduce Attorney John F. Hennigan, of Jackson, who responded to worthy grand knight of the Ann Arbor Council, and the other officers of the latter, are due much of the credit for the successful way in which one of the largest initiations in Michigan was carried out.

The Wayne delegation have a new scheme cooked up to get a nomination from the republicans in this congressional district. The Argus has it straight from one of the Wayne leaders. Next winter a bill is to be introduced in the legislature. Tom Navin has agreed to push it. The bill is to make two counties out of Wayne. The city of Detroit is to be made into the county of Detroit and Wayne limited to all townships. Then the whole county of Wayne is to be put into the second congressional district. This will add the townships which are now in San Smith's district and will give Wayne a much larger delegation.

The Wayne men present at Adrian agreed to push this scheme in the next legislature.

GEORGE W. MANION, State Treasurer.

"The Ladies." He was followed by Geo. G. Fell, an alumnus of the U. of M., who responded to the toast "The Knights of Columbus," in which he took occasion to give a review of the aims and objects of the organization.

Mr. Cavanaugh then introduced the always welcome City Clerk James E. Harkins, who sang two selections.

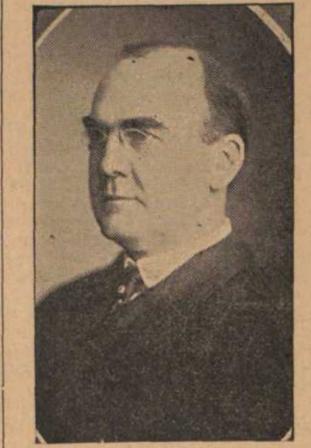

"The Future of the Knights of Columbus" was the toast given by A. J. O'Connor, who is now a member of the law department. His interesting remarks were favorably commented upon by the toastmaster, who then gave an opportunity to Joseph Lawler to speak nicely of the ladies. The last speaker on the program was Attorney James Lynch, of Pontiac, who spoke of the great work of the organization.

After singing "My Country 'Tis of Thee," the visiting knights departed for their respective homes.

Too much credit cannot be given to Mrs. Chris. Donnelly, who was in charge of the banquet, and to Mrs. William Walsh who so ably assisted her.

To the Rev. Father Kelly, state chaplain, and Martin J. Cavanaugh, WILLIAM MAY, State Organizer.

"I do not look as though I ever was sick."

When a woman is sick she falls off in looks. This is particularly the case when she suffers from diseases peculiar to her sex. Not only is her strength undermined, but she loses beauty of face and grace of form.

It is characteristic of the cures of womanly diseases effected by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, that with restored health there is a restoration of good looks.

"Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"I wish to thank you for the good your medicine have done me," writes Mrs. Mac Brown, of Canton, Fulton Co., Ill. "I was troubled with female weakness and doctored with several different doctors. They did not seem to help me; indeed I got worse all the time. I had ulceration and displacement of the uterus. What I suffered no tongue can tell. I had heavy bearing-down pains and thought my back would kill me. I also had a very bad drain, but after taking five bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and three of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' I am feeling as well as ever. It has been almost two years and I have had no return of the trouble. My friends tell me I don't look as though I ever was sick."

WASHTENAW IN CONVENTION

How Republicans Name a Congressional Candidate

EXCITING MOMENTS

When Politics Are Played—Wedemeyer Promised Support Four Years Hence

The Adrian convention is a thing of the past. Washtenaw republicans favorite son, W. W. Wedemeyer, was not nominated for congress but he named the nominee and the nomination four years hence is practically pledged to him if Jackson county can give it to him.

It was a record breaking convention. Four years ago the convention in Ann Arbor broke the record with its 393 ballots, but the convention at Adrian badly smashed this record with its 801 ballots. The republicans of this district have come to regard the congressional honor as one to be struggled for by the various counties. If the man, who was the individual second choice of the delegates at the convention had been named the name of the nominee would have been Wedemeyer. But the delegates held for their counties.

If Congressman Smith, after the first day's balloting, had retired when it was seen that only a miracle could nominate him, Wedemeyer might have been named, but the congressman wanted the one chance in 1,000 of being nominated. His only hope was to get 21 votes out of Washtenaw. Bacon would have gone to Townsend or Townsend to Bacon rather than to see Smith nominated. Either or both would have come to Wedemeyer first, but neither would break except to defeat Smith. Washtenaw occupied a position so that it could name the nominee. The Bliss and the McMillan machine was against Smith, just as it is against Weeks, who will be slaughtered when his convention assembles. Tom Navin, of Detroit, was present as representing the machine. He also had a private grudge against Smith. He made him city attorney of Adrian when Smith was starting in business and believed that Smith owed to him the foundation of his legal success. Yet when Navin sued the Evening News of Detroit for a large amount for libel, Smith accepted a retainer from the Evening News.

ANN ARBOR POSTOFFICE.

It was generally believed in Adrian and apparently by all the candidates that early in the balloting Washtenaw would go to Smith. The talk of the Ann Arbor postoffice and the warm friendship existing between Smith and Wedemeyer had done its work and prejudiced Wedemeyer's candidacy. The majority of the Lenawee delegates expressed great admiration for Wedemeyer, but evidently they expected his vote for Smith. Smith confidently counted on 11 votes in Monroe. When it was shown that Bacon's fine work had counted in that county, as well as the fine work of the federal machine, and that under no circumstances could Smith get more than 5, his stock went way below par. Still the Bacon and Townsend men feared Washtenaw. As the balloting went on and the Washtenaw men never for a moment wavered in their allegiance to Wedemeyer, not one admitting that they would not stand by Wedemeyer until the last ballot was taken, with the comforting knowledge that Smith was beaten, the Bacon and Townsend men sat back in their chairs waiting for Lenawee to break. Navin was seen in conference with Grant Fellows, the Lenawee leader. The press representatives, who are quick to scent the news, practically agreed all the morning that Townsend's chances were the best. He was within 19 votes of the nomination and had some delegates in Lenawee. Lenawee might make terms with him and go in a body, even if a majority did prefer Wedemeyer. Navin's work was watched with anxious eye. Suddenly like a burst of lightning in a clear sky, Mr. Glazier came over and held a short conference with Judson, and the Washtenaw leader arose and asked for 15 minutes that Washtenaw might caucus. This was granted, and the delegates gathered in excited groups querying why this sudden break by Washtenaw. Was it finally going to Smith? Were all calculations to be upset? Could Smith get 21 votes out of Washtenaw? If not he would still be beaten. The various leaders conferred. Word was passed to stand firm for Smith could still be beaten.

AN EXCITING CAUCUS.

Over in Washtenaw's room an exciting caucus was being held. Its members were pledged to secrecy and an exact report of it cannot be given, yet it is known that many of the delegates wanted to stick to Wedemeyer to the last. The leaders, however, knew that unless Smith would come to Wedemeyer, he could not be nominated. A. F. Freeman labored with Smith during the recess but he was obdurate. He demanded that Washtenaw's vote be given to him. Washtenaw demanded that old pledges be fulfilled. Smith, it is said, promised to get out of the way in two years and give Wedemeyer his delegation, but in the delegation there was excited talk about broken pledges.

Finally, when it was seen that Lenawee could not be brought in a body to Wedemeyer, Washtenaw did what turn to Townsend. Judson was in conference with Jackson. Wedemeyer had to be called in to induce some of the delegates to quit voting for him, so firmly was their mind fixed on continuing to stick to Wedemeyer. Finally the caucus united, but each member came out with sealed lips and when asked what he was going to do said, "Stick to Wedemeyer."

When the convention, which had adjourned for two hours in response to Washtenaw's request for further time, reassembled, there was an excited moment of suspense until the roll was called, and when William Judson shouted when Washtenaw was called, "Washtenaw gives her 22 votes to Charles E. Townsend!" a congressional nomination had been made and Washtenaw had done it. The Washtenaw delegates seemed to be nearly as happy as Jackson.

The candidates were brought before the convention and made good speeches without exception. Mr. Wedemeyer was particularly happy in his remarks and was loudly cheered.

SPEECHES AT JACKSON.

Washtenaw went to Jackson in the evening and participated in the celebration there. Jackson was wild with enthusiasm and had a big parade, with fireworks. Speeches were made in the public square by Gen. Withington, W. W. Wedemeyer, Gen. Fred Green, Rev. Fr. Kelly, Charles E. Townsend and William Judson. Mr. Judson was not on the program but the crowd would have him and he appeared and really acquitted himself well in his maiden effort, there being hopes that "Silent Bill" may not always remain silent. Wedemeyer's speech took well with the crowd, which shouted that he was all right. Judson was assured that he was all right, and over and over again Washtenaw was assured that she was all right. Gen. Withington in his speech gave all the credit for the nomination to Washtenaw, and it was plain that Washtenaw had been promised the nomination four years hence.

Washtenaw was much in evidence at the convention. Gen. Green was its chairman and made one of the best chairmen a convention ever had, keeping it in good humor with his witty sallies. State Tax Commissioner Freeman's nomination of Wedemeyer was the most logical delivered, and while not possessing the finished oratory of Grant Fellows' nomination of Smith, was the most talked of nominating speech. Judson's every movement was followed. Washtenaw made the nomination, and with this those in the secret say Frank P. Glazier, of Chelsea, one of Wedemeyer's foremost friends, had much to do. Mr. Glazier promises to become more of a power in the state and congressional republican politics, and evidently knows how to handle the responsibility.

James E. Harkins was called before the convention for a song. So delighted was the audience that he had to respond to an encore. After the nomination a crowd of Washtenawians sang in different parts of the city, gathering large crowds in the hotel lobbies. The Wedemeyer yell given at various times resembled a university yell, and they had a Townsend yell ready, which the Washtenaw delegates gave when he was nominated.

Among the Ann Arborites in attendance upon the convention either as delegates or rooters were William Judson, H. G. Prettyman, Capt. John Haarer, City Clerk Harkins, Leo Gruner, Dr. H. J. Burke, Carl Storms, Lester H. Canfield, A. M. Robison, H. H. Seeley, William Eldert, E. E. Beal, Geo. Sweet, Charles Masten, Fred Huhn, Geo. Cox. There were a number of others, these names being simply hastily written from memory.

There are many interesting reminiscences of a great convention that can be brought out later.

TRIBUTES OF LOVE PAID

To the Soldiers Who Have Passed Beyond

IN ANN ARBOR

Memorial Day was Fittingly Honored—Services at Cemeteries by the Local G. A. R. Post

The memory of the heroes who fell on the battlefields in the defense of their country was honored by the veterans of two wars in this city Friday. The survivors of '61-65 and those who have come back from the war with Spain participated in the ceremonies of respect to the nation's dead.

Shortly before 10 o'clock the veterans assembled at the court house and marched to the cemeteries, where the beautiful G. A. R. ritual for the dead was read by Chaplain J. Q. A. Sessions. The Sons of Veterans fired a salute and taps were blown by W. H. Jackson, after which the veterans laid tributes of love on the graves of their departed comrades, in the form of flowers, which in most cases had been donated by the relatives of the veterans and the dead soldiers in this city.

A pleasing feature of the ceremonies at the cemeteries was the singing of Willis Johnson, who gave several pathetic selections in his usual fine voice. The veterans were accompanied to the cemeteries by Company I, M. N. G., who acted as escort.

The ceremonies at St. Thomas' cemetery were in charge of a committee composed of P. Irwin, Michael Donahue, F. Markley, H. A. Sweet and Wm. A. Clark.

In the evening a complimentary program was given at University hall in which the following took part: Prof. A. A. Stanley, organ recital; Rev. W. L. Tedrow, devotional service; Ann Arbor Mandolin club, led by Sid M. Bangs; Willis Johnson, song; oration by Rev. E. S. Ninde, and the benediction by Rev. Mr. Tedrow.

Mr. Ninde chose for the subject of his address, "The Flag." His discourse which was both masterful and eloquent, dwelt on the work of the soldiers of '61-65, and coming down to our own day, Mr. Ninde paid a beautiful tribute to those who went into the late war in behalf of Cuba. The flag was graphically portrayed by the speaker as the emblem of freedom and America the land where liberty was found in all its highest attributes. In brief Mr. Ninde's address was one of the best Memorial Day efforts heard here in many years.

The audience was a fairly large one and deeply appreciative of the program which had been given voluntarily by the gentlemen who participated in the different numbers.

The day was generally observed in all parts of the city. Most of the business houses closing all day, while all of them closed in the afternoon. "Old Glory" waved from many of the downtown stores and from residences in the different sections of the city and there was everywhere an apparent desire to honor the occasion with all the reverence to which it is entitled.

VIRULENT CANCER CURED.

Startling proof of a wonderful advance in medicine is given by druggist G. W. Roberts of Elizabeth, W. Va. An old man there had long suffered with what good doctors pronounced incurable cancer. WHY SUFFER WITH NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA?

Nervous Dypepsia is a very common trouble now-a-days, and differs from common, ordinary, every day indigestion, only in the cause. Common, old-fashioned indigestion comes from overfeeding, hurried eating, failure to chew the food thoroughly—a greasy, fatty doughy, pasty diet. Nervous Dypepsia comes from hurry, worry, care, trouble or excess. The stomach nerves are weakened, they fail to regulate the stomach juices; the supply is insufficient; food is not digested; distresses; rests heavy; gets sour; repeats; ferments; gas forms; water brash occurs; the stomach becomes irritable, inflamed, painful or burns; you grow irritable, nervous, restless, morose, sullen, can't sleep, are hungry and afraid to eat, lose weight and strength. It is here Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills come as a blessing—giving to the nerves a strength they lack, and through them to the stomach the power to again properly handle and digest the food; to the system generally a new found strength and vigor—a condition that can be brought about by no other medicine known to science.

Miller Avenue

Mr. J. M. Haupt, of 429 Miller avenue, Ann Arbor, Mich., says: "I have been troubled for a long time with a nervous indigestion and a generally run down condition of the nervous system. I have a good deal of distress and pressure in the stomach after eating and at night I did not rest well. I got some of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills at Mummery's drug store and though I used but one box I felt they touched the right spot and have done me a great deal of good and I can recommend them."

Since using them I have not once had the distress after eating that before was a regular thing."

ASKS FOR NEW TRIAL

Frederick Shoemaker Petitions Supreme Court

NOTORIOUS HORSE THIEF

Through His Attorney will Try to Get Out of Jackson Prison

The argument for a new trial in the case of Frederick J. Shoemaker, the horse thief whose depredations in this section of the country caused no small amount of alarm among the farmers, was made before the supreme court at Lansing yesterday.

The prisoner, who was sentenced by Judge Kinne last October to ten years imprisonment at Jackson, is represented by Martin J. Cavanaugh, who made a strenuous appeal in his behalf at his trial and who is now taking his case to the supreme court on errors said to have been made by the circuit court at the trial. Lawyer Cavanaugh has every hope of getting his client a new trial and says that at least he thinks the present sentence of ten years will be diminished if he can get another trial for Shoemaker.

The prisoner was one of the most notorious horse thieves that ever struck this vicinity. He got away with over a dozen horses from farmers living around Ypsilanti and there are six informations filed against him in the county clerk's office here. Some of the horses which he got away with were among the most valuable animals in Washtenaw, Monroe and Lenawee counties. In fact Shoemaker was not looking for anything but the finest quality of horse flesh.

After stealing the horses he shipped them to Cleveland, where he disposed of them for the best prices he could get.

Prosecuting Attorney John Duffy will represent the people in the hearing for a new trial.

Mr. Duffy says that he will do everything in his power to have the prisoner serve out his present sentence and will strongly oppose a new trial, since he believes that Shoemaker is one of the shrewdest professional horse thieves that ever operated in this part of the country.

COMMITTED A FIENDISH ASSAULT

Charles Hahn, a 16-year-old boy, who was some time ago released from the state reform school, is accused of a serious crime against a little boy, the son of a University student. The fiendish assault alleged to have been made by Hahn is of sufficient nature to give him a long term in the penitentiary, but as the father of the little fellow who was assaulted does not wish to allow the child to appear on the witness stand against Hahn the affair will not probably be brought into the courts.

Prosecuting Attorney John Duffy, who has the case in charge, says that he is now making the necessary arrangements to have Hahn returned to the reformatory.

"I believe he is a moral pervert," said the prosecutor, "and if it were not that his victim's father objects to having his boy appear against Hahn in court I would at once take measures to have him severely punished for his villainy."

THEIR RESORT WAS RAIDED

May Boyd and Meta La Mard Now in Jail

ARRESTED MONDAY NIGHT They Pleaded Not Guilty When Arraigned for Trial Tuesday Morning

The house conducted by May Boyd and Meta La Mard on the Whitmore lake road, just this side of the railroad tracks, was entered Monday night by Sheriff Gillen and his deputies, who, acting on the instruction of Prosecuting Attorney John Duffy, arrested May Boyd and Meta La Mard, who conducted the resort.

These are the women who some time ago were ordered out of the third ward by the prosecuting attorney, but who immediately took up their abode at the place where they were arrested last night.

The resort conducted by the women has been frequented by students and others and as a result life became so unbearable for residents in the vicinity by reason of drunken brawls and other disorderly conduct that the prosecuting attorney's office was communicated with. Mr. Duffy responded at once with the result that the two women are now in the county jail awaiting bondsmen.

They were arraigned before Justice Doty Tuesday and to the charge of conducting a house of prostitution pleaded not guilty. Their case was set for trial on June 9, their bonds being fixed at $200 each, with two sureties.

A well known saloon keeper was present to qualify as bondsman, but as Prosecuting Attorney Duffy insisted that two bondsmen qualify and as no other person was present to act in that capacity the women were committed to the county jail in default.

When the saloon keeper was offered as bondsman by one of the women, Prosecuting Attorney Duffy asked him:

"Do you sell these women liquor?"

"About two or three dozen bottles of beer a week," was the reply.

"My object in asking that question," explained the prosecutor, "is because I am convinced that these women have been violating the state liquor law."

When asked by the justice if another bondsman could be procured the women suggested another saloon keeper, but he could not be found. The women were then committed to jail.

Just before they were taken from the court room, Prosecutor Duffy said: "If these women succeed in getting bonds and are released, I want them arrested on each occasion that they return to their practices until they can be tried in this court. If necessary, I want them arrested every day. I am determined to rid this county of women such as these are."

Later, the defendants changed their plea of not guilty to guilty and were fined $5 each and costs.

THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS

SOME MINOR BUSINESS TRANSACTED WEDNESDAY NIGHT

City Engineer Instructed to Advertise for Bids for Paving Ann Street

At the meeting of the board of public works Wednesday night, Koch Bros., the contractors, were granted permission to occupy portions of Washington and Main streets for storing material while building the new State Savings bank.

A communication from George Hastreiter, asking that he be allowed a certain portion of the expense that he went to in putting in a sewer connection on his property, was referred to the common council.

A resolution by Mr. Sauer that a cement sidewalk be constructed on the southwesterly side of Washtenaw avenue, from S. University avenue northeasterly and around the curve to Hill street and on the north side to the west line of the property owned by the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, was carried.

The matter of paving the alley between Huron and Washington streets was referred to the city engineer, while on motion of Mr. Sauer the city engineer was requested to advertise for bids for the paving of Ann street with brick. The bids to be in not later than 7:30 o'clock on the evening of June 11.

Mr. Sauer further offered a resolution directing that Hill street between Washtenaw and New Jersey avenues, and Oxford road from Geddes avenue to Washtenaw avenue be graded according to the grade established. The resolution was carried.

A Slander.
To say that every man has his price is to deny the existence of the great men who have died for their faith and their country. Nonsense! 'Tis the last plea of a knave and issues out of the mouth of a fool. The sterling strength of man and woman rebukes it every where.—Schoolmaster.

THINKS DEFECT IS NOT MATERIAL

TELEPHONE ORDINANCE EXAMINED BY CITY ATTORNEY

If the Enactment Clause is Not Mandatory the Ordinance May be Legal

In an interview on the invalidity of the new telephone ordinance which was passed by the common council last Monday night, because of the enactment City Attorney Sawyer said Wednesday:

"I do not think the wording of the enactment clause as it reads now is a material defect in the ordinance, although I will have to look into the matter more carefully before I can give a decided opinion.

"In Michigan 57, the People vs. Murray, the supreme court held that the enactment clause in the ordinance which was under discussion was not mandatory. It appears to me now that the same ruling would hold in this case, although as I said before, I will have to look into it more thoroughly before I can decide."

"In case the enactment clause is defective and the ordinance is invalidated, what then? Will it have to go through three readings again before it can be passed?"

"Oh, no. The enactment clause will merely be corrected and then the ordinance will have another reading."

Japanese and Chinese Mattings

SPECIAL PRICES at KOCH'S

We've just received a second spring shipment of Floor Mattings. We bought them VERY CHEAP. Bought a lot of them. That, and because it was late in the season was the reason we got them under price. We've got all colors and qualities, the heavy Chinese jute warp, and the finely woven Japanese cotton warp. The prices go 12½c, 15c, 18c, 20c and 25c per yard. One or two pieces for 30c and 35c. But our 25c grade of Japanese Matting is as good for wear as any other 40c kind would be; and just as good to look at. We've got STRIPES, MEDAILLON FIGURES, CARPET DESIGNS, etc. in this grade. If you're going to need any Matting for next fall, or if you've not cleaned house yet, or if you think you'll need any within the next two years—buy now, because the moth won't affect it and maybe you can't buy so cheap always. We are also making special prices on Trunks, Telescopes, Valises, Dress-Suit Cases, Etc.

LADIES' UNION ELECT OFFICERS

COMMITTEES WERE APPOINTED WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

Unitarian State Conference Will be Asked to Hold Next Meeting in This City

At the annual meeting of the active members of the Ladies' Union held in the parlors of the Unitarian church Wednesday afternoon the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. W. H. Pettee; vice-president, Mrs. Walter B. Ford; secretary, Mrs. Frank Leverett; treasurer, Mrs. Byron A. Finney.

The program committee of which Mrs. Karl E. Guthe was chosen chairman, consists of the following: Mesdames Hastreiter, Crooker, Jordan, Fiske, Finney, Stonebraker, Robinson, Davis, Eggert, Cornwell, Soule, Herdman, Dalley, Vaughan, Richards, Slauson, Springer, and the Misses Hunter, Whedon, Hunt and Goodrich.

A committee consisting of Mesdames McCotter, Stivers and Greggs was appointed to look after the refreshments which are served at the regular Wednesday meetings.

The committee on current events consists of Mesdames Jordan and Crookes.

The reading of the reports of the secretary and the chairmen of the standing committees showing that the society is in a very flourishing condition, the present membership numbering 123.

After the election of officers it was decided to invite the state conference of the Unitarian church to hold its meeting in Ann Arbor next fall.

The secretary was instructed to send the invitation in the name of the Ladies' Union as soon as possible. It was also decided to present the books which have been procured by the club during the year for review to the church library.

NURSES GIVEN THEIR DIPLOMAS

The graduation exercises of the senior class of the Training School for Nurses were held at the University hospital Wednesday evening. The exercises took place in the amphitheatre and a large number of guests were present to witness the presentation of the diplomas to the class of young women.

Dr. Vaughan gave a short address, giving the nurses a wealth of good practical advice. His address was of great interest to those interested in the medical profession.

At the conclusion of the address, Pres. Angell, with a few words of praise for the class who were about to enter into a noble work, presented them with their diplomas.

After the distribution of the diplomas the company adjourned to the nurses' home, where a reception was tendered the graduating class.

The following is the list of the graduates: Lurain S. Tracey, Saginaw; Ruth E. Ellsworth, Harbor Springs; Fleda G. Dowell, Ann Arbor; Zola A. Bailey, Ann Arbor; Zada Chase, Otsego; Nan. F. Johnston, Wheelersburg, Ohio; Inez Bates, Nettle Creek, Ohio; Mary E. Williams, Gustavus, Ohio; Minnie L. Mead, Albion; Elsie Calkins, Merton; Sarah C. Swift, Grass Lake; Mabel A. Williams, Cheboygan; Helen C. Hirth, Marshall; Addie Wood, St. Louis; Inez Barton, Harbor Springs.

MISS BOWER IS A CANDIDATE

Miss Emma Bower, Gread Record Keeper of the L. O. T. M., will leave on Saturday to attend the biennial convention of the organization, which will take place in Marquette next week. She will be accompanied by Miss Catherine Johnson, Miss Alice Root and Mrs. Nellie Rice, clerks in the office here. On Sunday, Mrs. Carrie L. Kellogg and Mrs. Mary A. Blake, delegate and alternate respectively to the convention, will leave for Marquette.

At this convention the election of officers will take place, Miss Bower being again a candidate for the office of Great Record Keeper. She has a competitor in the person of Mrs. Maxwell who, it will be remembered, said some time ago that she would be willing to give away the salary of the office of Great Record Keeper, if she could get the place. The sentiment, however, seems to be that Miss Bower will be re-elected.

SAMS RELEASED FROM JAIL

Edward Sams, who has been in the county jail for several weeks charged with stealing property belonging to a guest at the Cook house about two years ago, was tried before Justice Gibson Tuesday afternoon. He pleaded not guilty, but was apparently willing to pay the costs in the case, which he did and was released.

Sams brought his arrest about himself, it is said, by making a statement to some chums that he had taken the property and thrown a portion of it down an elevator shaft, where it was afterwards found.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR WILL GO TO FRISCO

The matter of attending the triennial convocation to be held in San Francisco in 1904 came before the Knights Templar for discussion Tuesday evening.

After carefully going over the matter it was decided to attend the convocation as a commandery. A committee on arrangements was appointed with Chas. Hiscock as chairman.

The committee consists of A. C. Nicholls, J. R. Miner, John Colvin, J. W. Bennett and John Lindenschmidt. A large number of knights have signified their intention of attending the convocation.

PRINTERS HAVE GAINED A POINT

An amicable agreement has been made between the employing printers and the members of the local typographical union, whereby the latter will have the old ten hours' pay for nine hours' work.

When the nine-hour day adopted by the International Typographical union went into effect three years ago, the local union accepted the nine-hour day at a corresponding decrease in wages. Now they will have the same pay for nine hours as was formerly received for ten.

UNITARIAN LADIES CHURCH WORK

The Unitarian ladies Wednesday afternoon transacted considerable business in reference to their church work for the ensuing year.

The committee on church activities is composed of Mesdames Motley, Coon, Zimmerman, Parry and Madam Whitlark. The following comprise the membership committee: Mesdames Childs, Hawes, George, Pemberton, Pratt, Willis, Hatch, Speechley and Shaw.

In regard to the church work it was decided that the ladies will serve suppers every month during the coming season.

LADIES HELP THE Y. M. C. A.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. have lately given a series of chocolate parties which have proved to be very pleasant social functions. One of the most successful of the series was given Wednesday at the home of Mrs. W. Stevens, on N. Ingalls street. The spacious rooms were perfect bowers of maiden-hair ferns and marguerites.

The guests were received in the hall by Mesdames Stevens, Richards, Seyler, Dibble, Stofflet, Gilmore, Vandaworker, Krapf and Clarke. Mrs. Millen presided at the table in the dining room, assisted by a number of young ladies and served frozen chocolate and cake.

The auxiliary has proven a most able assistant to the Y. M. C. A. and no small sum has been raised by the ladies in various ways and turned into the association treasury.

NEW BREWERY WILL SOON START

COMPANY INCORPORATES WITH CAPITAL OF $50,000

Meeting of the Stockholders Held Monday and Directors Elected

At a meeting of the stockholders of the new brewery, to be located on the site of the Western brewery after the latter is torn down, Monday afternoon it was agreed to purchase the property on which the Western brewery stands for $9,000. The following directors were elected: William A. Gwinner, Christian Martin, Fred Brown, Louis Kurtz and George Krouth.

The new company is incorporated with a capital stock of $50,000. Work on the new plant will begin, it is expected, within 30 days. When it is completed it will be one of the most modern breweries in the country.

Most of the stock in the new concern is held by Ann Arbor people, chiefly saloon men.

FIRST DISCOVERY OF GOLD.

After careful investigation it has been determined that the date of the discovery of gold in California was January 28th, 1848. About that same time there was another important discovery, which to thousands of people became worth more than all the gold, because it restored them to health, and that is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This wonderful medicine continues to cure stomach and bowel complaints, the same today as in the past, and although many medicines have come and gone, the Bitters still remain the people's favorite. To those who suffer from dyspepsia, indigestion, headache, heartburn, constipation or biliousness, and have tried other medicines without obtaining relief, this remedy will prove a blessing, because it will surely cure them. Try a bottle and satisfy yourself.

TEACHERS OF MORMONISM

Propagate Their Doctrines Among Dixboro People

PASTOR PEARCE'S LETTER

Encloses the Recent Report of the Salt Lake Ministerial Association

The following letter has been received by the Argus:

Dixboro, May 30, 1902.

Editor Argus:
Two young men calling themselves ministers of the gospel, are visiting the people around here trying, as they say, to enlighten them upon the Mormon religion, claiming that they have been misrepresented. In view of what they are saying will you kindly publish free if you can the enclosed communication, which I cut out of the Michigan Christian Advocate of May 10, 1902. I have been requested to ask you to publish it, and think your readers around here would be glad to see it in your weekly edition.

Very truly,
F. E. PEARCE,
Pastor M. E. Church.

The following report was adopted by the Salt Lake ministerial association, Feb 10, 1902:

The persistent efforts made by Mormon missionaries to mislead the people of the east and south concerning conditions in Utah, and certain highly incorrect statements made by a prominent eastern politician, render it imperative that an effort be made to counteract these misrepresentations. The gentleman referred to in an interview widely published, said, concerning affairs in Mormondom:

"I have been out there intermittently for a little over a year and recently have taken up my abode in Salt Lake City. I have met a great many Mormons and have nothing but praise for them. I believe they are living real American lives as regards marriage. The Mormons had a revelation that they should make no more plural marriages, and they always live up to their revelations. Those who already had plural wives were not compelled to be considered divorced, but they practically went to this extreme. They do not live with more than one woman, although they provide for the others. No more plural marriages are made. I think this speaks well for the male Mormons."

These statements, which appear so grotesquely and absurdly untrue that they but create a smile among all who know the facts, may, if uncontradicted, become a serious addition to the large amount of misinformation constantly emanating from Mormon sources.

CONDITIONS AND TENDENCIES.
Therefore the ministerial association of Salt Lake City has instituted inquiries to ascertain the present condition and tendencies covering the following four points, viz.:

First. The continuance of polygamous cohabitation in cases where plural marriages had been entered into prior to the issuance of the famous manifesto of the president of the Mormon church in 1890 and the granting of statehood in January, 1896.

Second. Plural marriages entered into since the manifesto professedly "suspended" the practice.

Third. Present-day teachings of Mormon authorities on the subject of polygamy.

Fourth. Purpose of the colonization schemes now so vigorously prosecuted by which large settlements of Mormons are being established in Wyoming, Oregon, Mexico and the British possessions.

Correspondence on these points was solicited from well-known citizens, ministers and others in a number of the chief centers of population in the state, and as a result facts in abundance have been brought to the notice of your committee, which more than confirm all that this association has before declared concerning the perpetuation of the vice and crime of polygamy and polygamous cohabitation, and show the utter ignorance and disregard of the facts in the statement referred to in the opening paragraph of this paper.

SAY POLYGAMY IS PROVEN.

The returns coming from parties whose reliability in every case can be vouched for by members of this body show the following conditions prevailing at the present time:

First. Polygamous cohabitation as evidenced by the birth of children, or the acknowledgement of parties concerned, or concurrent testimony of neighbors, and sometimes by all of these, is proven to continue in multiplied instances in Salt Lake City, Logan, Brigham City, Provo, Payson, Smithfield, American Fork, Price, Sandy, Tooele, etc., in Utah, and also in Paris and Montpelier, in Idaho.

Second. That plural marriages have been contracted since the manifesto was issued is shown by returns giving names of parties in several of the above mentioned places, some of the new plural wives not having come to a marriageable age as early as 1890, the date of that document.

Your committee does not deem it wise or necessary at the present juncture to publish names and cite instances in support of the averments here made, but we put the association in possession of the facts, which can be used if the necessity should arise for spreading them before the public.

POLYGAMY IS TAUGHT.

Third: That the Mormon authorities continue to publicly teach and insist upon the rightfulness of polygamy is abundantly proven by public utterances of high officials.

At the quarterly conference of Cache county stake, held at Logan, Jan. 28, 1901, Apostle Cowley said:

"If you have a man in the priesthood who does not acquaint himself with all the doctrines of the church and teach the same, both by precept and example, to the families of his district, or if you have a teacher in your Sunday school who would repudiate or encourage the young to disregard a single doctrine of the church, plural marriage and all, turn them out. They have no business in the priesthood. The social evils and immoralities will never be done away with until the world accepts that principle, for God has spoken it. These revelations received by our prophets and seers are all of God, and we cannot, we dare not, repeal or annul them without making God a liar, and God cannot lie."

At Sanpete stake conference, Sept., 1899, George Q. Cannon, first counselor to President Snow, publicly stated:

"The people of the world do not believe in breeding, but we do. So the people of the world will die out and we will fill the whole earth. I admit that those raising children by plural wives are not complying with the man-made laws, but in the sight of God they are not sinning, as there is no sin in it."

JOSEPH SMITH'S ADDRESS.

Joseph F. Smith, formerly chief counselor to President Snow, and now president of the church, said in 1896, while dedicating a meeting-house in Payson:

"Take care of your polygamous wives. We don't care for Uncle Sam now."

In an address to a conference of young ladies in Mammouth, Utah, two years ago, Mrs. Susa Young Gates, the granddaughter of Brigham Young, and an editor and lecturer not unknown in the east, said:

"Girls, do not forget polygamy. You cannot practice it now, but keep it alive in your hearts. There are four girls to every boy in Utah."

This last statement has no foundation except in the lively imagination of the speaker. The census shows that males are slightly in excess of females here, as in most new states.

On or about June 4, 1901, at a meeting of the Young Women's Mutual Improvement association, held in the fourteenth ward meeting house, Salt Lake City, Miss Agnes Campbell urged loyal support to the leaders of the church and the doctrines they taught. In this connection she said she was much shocked recently to hear a young lady denounce polygamy and say she would not enter that state if Jesus Christ himself should come down from heaven and ask her to do so.

Mrs. Eardley, the next speaker, said that "any young lady in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints who would make such a remark as reported by Miss Campbell certainly needed the prayers of the Saints."

At Beaver a few months ago Elder S. A. White said: "Yes, we believe a man should have one wife today and five tomorrow if he wants them."

These utterances which might be multiplied indefinitely, show how entirely devoid of truth are statements that polygamy has been abandoned or that the promise of the manifesto or the solemn pledge of the Mormon officials to the United States government as a condition of the restoration of the escheated property of the polygamous church is being carried out.

WOULD RE-ESTABLISH SYSTEM.

The practice and teachings of the ruling powers in the Mormon church are all indicative of an intention to openly re-establish the system whenever it can be done with safety from interference by the United States government.

The colonizing schemes now being so diligently carried out by the Mormon church officials and people evidently have a twofold purpose.

PURPOSE OF COLONIZING.

First. To enable them to practice polygamy where they will be free from the scrutiny and opposition of Gentile neighbors. For this reason they are migrating in large numbers southward to Mexico and northward to Alberta. From one neighborhood fifty families moved to Mexico less than two years ago, nearly all being polygamists, some not long married to plural wives, and having added to the number since, according to common report.

Second. The purpose of colonizing in states other than Utah—in the Rocky Mountain region, and in the territories of Arizona and New Mexico—is that in addition to more easily enjoying polygamous practices, they may also secure the balance of political power in these sparsely settled states and territories, and so become able to control the election of members of congress especially of United States senators, thus blocking the way of any proposed national legislation hostile to their cherished peculiar institution.

Nobody that is well informed believes that the priestly oligarchy which rules the Mormon church has any other purpose than to secure by any and every possible means the perpetuation of polygamy.

The practice of the leaders and their continued insistence upon the correctness of the doctrine show most clearly that it still is held as an essential feature of their faith. This is also confirmed by their bitter opposition to the anti-polygamy amendment to the constitution, and it shows that they are not sincere when they say they have abandoned polygamy.

Tourists and transient visitors may be cajoled into a belief in the voluntary abandonment of the system, but no one really familiar with prevailing conditions and tendencies can be misled by the false pretences in which the Mormon leaders have become so thoroughly expert.

FERGUSON HAS WITHDRAWN

Declines Office Offered Him on B. of P. W.

EXPLAINS HIS POSITION

Says He is Surprised That the Aldermen Opposed His Appointment

A. P. Ferguson, the Mayor's recent appointee on the Board of Public Works, has declined the office in the following letter to the Mayor, received by the latter last Saturday evening:

Dear Sir—I am surprised that a body of which I was so long a member should take the stand it did with my appointment on the Board of Public Works. More than ever surprised since eleven (11) aldermen had promised their support.

The main argument used against me was my supposed situation on the paving question. It has been said that I am in favor of brick. I have never declared myself for brick or any other special kind of paving material. My only thought has been what was for the best interests of the city. I am fully satisfied the asphalt people have railroaded through their contracts here. Huron street cost the city from $5,000 to $6,000 more than it should.

In order to make it possible (in spite of the protests of the property owners on the street) to lay asphalt block, it was necessary to dump 20 per cent of the expense on the city at large. This is not done in other cities. The asphalt block is controlled by a monopoly and they give prices on material only to favored bidders and in this way shut out all legitimate competition. Undoubtedly the city of Ann Arbor will pay from $4,000 to $5,000 more for asphalt block on State street than it ought to.

In the present state of our city finances to which frequent attention has been called by yourself, it seems to me that this is an uncalculated luxury. New life is needed in the Board of Public Works to call attention to the neglected condition of the city's streets. We have a splendid road roller. A visit to Detroit any day will prove the usefulness of this machine. The best improved machinery will not work when housed in a shed as our road roller is. Why don't they take this machine and pike it up our streets, then put on the grader and round them up and then roll and pack down with the road roller?

We could easily have as fine streets as any city. We don't need new gravel. The gravel is already on our streets. Instead of grading off the surfaces of our streets to the gutter and then hauling it away I think it would be better prepared as above stated. The use of these machines and three men and one team could do the work for one-half the money now spent on our streets and still leave them in a much better condition. We would not object so much to the present system if it accomplished anything, but as the money is spent now it might about as well be counted out in pennies and scattered for the street boys to scramble for.

Since a majority of the aldermen seem timid about voting for me, and to relieve you of any further embarrassment, I desire to have my name withdrawn as a candidate for a place on the Board of Public Works, and I trust you will act accordingly. Since this matter has been so public I wish you would make this letter as public as has been done by the course taken by the Common Council.

Yours truly,
A. P. FERGUSON.

HE HAD A NARROW ESCAPE

Gustave Mohrlock, a carpenter employed by Sauer, the contractor, came near meeting with a serious accident Monday.

He was working in the elevator shaft at Mack & Co.'s store, leaning over his work when the heavy weights connected with the elevator came down, striking Mohrlock on the back of the head and forcing his face down against a railing, bruising his face and head very severely and stunning him for a few moments. His escape from more serious injury was miraculous.

CHARM OF WEST INDIES.

Consul Sawyer Describes Some Odd Customs Prevailing.

United States Consul George Sawyer, stationed at Antigua, West Indies, who was in Washington for a few days upon business, in speaking of the recent disaster at Martinique described to a Washington Post reporter some of the odd customs prevailing in the islands. He said:

"A great portion of the charm that a voyage in the West Indies possesses is due to the fact that within a very short space of time and distance one may change not only the nationality of the country he is in, but the customs, manners and surroundings as well. Emigrants who go to the islands rarely return. They preserve and transmit to their descendants the ways and manners of the fatherland as a part of their patrimony. They have at Martinique and Guadeloupe the most extraordinary apparatus in the shape of a boat that mortal eye ever beheld. It resembles a small coffin made of rough boards, with the top left off. The occupant, however, far from being dead, is the liveliest dandy that it is possible to conceive. He paddles his funny boat from shore with his hands and sits upon its bottom as destitute of clothes as when he was born, ready to dive like a frog for the smallest coin that may be thrown from the steamer deck above. Strange to say, he always gets it.

"The hotels on these two islands are a revelation of oddity. Outside they present no especial difference from other houses in the block. Inside one finds a paved court and an immense cage, where fowls of various kinds are awaiting their call to serve as parts of the dinner each day. Why this cage exists none can tell, for its doors are always open, and the fowls amuse themselves by excursions into the various sleeping chambers, to which they have access day and night.

"Another peculiarity of Martinique is that the Frenchmen wear black clothes and silk hats and stroll about the streets under the shade of sun umbrellas with the thermometer at 98 at the coolest time of day. I also found the islands singularly destitute of lepers in the streets. In making inquiry I was told that the disease is very rare and that as soon as a case appeared it was promptly isolated."

THE ROCHAMBEAU STATUE.

Its Inception Due to Jules Bouffe, Chancellor of French Embassy.

Considerable interest has been added to the Rochambeau ceremonies by the disclosure of the complete story as to how the statue of the commander of the French expeditionary forces of the Revolutionary war had its inception, says a Washington dispatch to the New York Herald. M. Jules Bouffe, chancellor of the French embassy, had noticed that there were in the United States eight statues of Lafayette and none of Rochambeau, and some time ago he conceived the idea of having the United States purchase a replica of Hamar's statue, which was unveiled at the last Paris exposition.

He succeeded in interesting influential senators, among them Senator Allison of Iowa, and in May, 1900, a bill authorizing the purchase of the statue was passed by the senate. Its reception was not favorable in the house of representatives. M. Bouffe made new efforts during the session of 1900-01, which were successful, and on March 3, 1901, the president approved an act appropriating $7,500 for the statue. This sum was not sufficient for all the expenses, and M. Bouffe again exercised his diplomacy, with the result that congress passed a bill appropriating the sum of $15,000 for the pedestal, foundations and unveiling ceremonies, and subsequently two joint resolutions carrying appropriations aggregating $20,000 for the reception and entertainment of the delegates sent to represent the families of Rochambeau and Lafayette on the occasion of the unveiling ceremonies.

France has indicated her purpose to confer medals of the Legion of Honor upon Assistant Secretary of State H. D. Peirce, Lieutenant Colonel Theodore A. Bingham and Commander Raymond P. Rodgers, members of the president's commission for the reception and entertainment of the distinguished French visitors. M. Bouffe will not be recognized by his government in any way.

The Touch of Nature.

Warring nations maim and slay
Where the war god sets his path,
Burn and harry day by day
In the ruthless way of wrath.
Yet when terror crowned the peak
And a million furies swirled
Over little Martinique
She was kin to all the world.

War its feast of death has kept
Over every foot of earth,
And the tears that sorrow wept
Have been held of little worth.
Yet when Nature rose in ire,
In the rage none understands,
Martinique's baptismal fire
Made her kin to all the lands.

When, with thrilling shriek and roar,
All the pent-up torrents fell,
Burning field and plain and shore
With a breath that brimmed from hell,
Ere the flames their flags of woe
Had in floating smoke wreaths furled
Little Martinique could know
She was kin to all the world.

'Tis the touch of Nature's hand
That marks our relationship
And bids words of pity stand
All a-tremble on the lip.
To the misery that man
Works himself he's ever blind,
But the touch of Nature can
Make a whole world wondrous kind.

TOOK MISS ROWE'S MONEY

For the second time in the last ten days a thief has entered the rooms of Miss M. C. Rowe, a dressmaker at 615 East William street, and carried off money belonging to her. On the first occasion she was relieved of $1.25, while last Friday night $7.50 was taken.

While there is no clue to whom the thief is, it is believed that the latter is some person acquainted with Miss Rowe's practice of leaving her money in the drawer of her bedroom bureau. Strange to say no other valuables outside of the money has been taken by the thief, although Miss Rowe has had several pieces of her jewelry in her bureau when the thief entered the room.

MEN BADLY HURT IN MILAN

At Milan, Monday, while Wabash engine No. 73 was putting coal in the bunkers, at 2:35 p. m. and was at the top, the trestle collapsed and all of the cars and two brakemen fell to the ground.

Brakeman Fred Correy had his left leg caught and crushed very badly. He had to remain for half an hour until the cars could be raised so he could be released. He will recover.

Brakeman John Resmon had his hip bruised and was hurt about the legs. Jerome Call was on the roof and was struck on the head, but did not fall.

A section hand, Albert Schroeder, was under the trestle working. Hearing the track give he ran out just before the trestle fell. One end of the car to which the engine was attached fell, uncoupling the engine, allowing it to run down the incline.

Shiloh Retaken A FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY WAR STORY April 7, 1862

UNDAY night, April 6 and 7, 1862, was a night of gloom on the battlefield of Shiloh. In the death of General Albert Sidney Johnston the Confederates had lost a chieftain who had justified the confidence of his troops by leading them to victory the day before.

On the field where they had been shot down during the fighting of Sunday lay 10,000 or 12,000 dead or wounded men in blue and gray. Over 2,000 Federal prisoners from the divisions of General Prentiss and General W. H. L. Wallace were under guard near the headquarters of Beauregard at Shiloh church, the ground where Sherman had rallied his line to meet the sudden attack on Sunday morning.

The weary sleepers at Shiloh church were aroused early on Monday morning by the rattle of musketry and the boom of guns off toward the Landing, and Prentiss exclaimed: "Ah, didn't I tell you so? There is Buell!"

DO NOT OWE CHELSEA VILLAGE ANSWER OF HOLMES CO. TO VILLAGE SUIT AGAINST THEM

Defendants Say That No Legal Assessment was Made by the Assessor

The answer to the suit filed against the Holmes Mercantile company, of Chelsea, by the village was filed in the county clerk's office Tuesday.

Grant and Buell were both major generals and under the command of General Halleck, who was not on the field. Grant was the senior officer by date of commission, but he left the control of Buell's troops to Buell.

When at last a physician came and settled among them, the people wondered. "Nobody is ever sick here," they said. "Of course not, with no medical assistance at hand," said the doctor, smiling at their simplicity in spite of his determination to be courteous.

Grant explained his failure to pursue Beauregard the afternoon of the 7th by saying that he hadn't the heart to ask his men, who had fought two days, to take up the task of pursuing.

Grant's own army formed the right wing of the united force as it faced the enemy for battle on Monday. The division of Lew Wallace, which owing to an accident had not been in the battle of Sunday, held the extreme right; on the left of Wallace the remains of Sherman's division; then McClelland's and Hurlburt's, with some regiments of the divisions of W. H. L. Wallace, Hurlburt and Prentiss distributed in the line.

Grant's bold advance on the left was checked at the outset by the Confederate artillery. Nelson had no guns, as his troops had hurried to field, leaving baggage and batteries on the other side of the river.

Boy Found Stricken Dead as He Put a Crust of Bread in His Mouth—Body on Floating Hatchway Thought to Be Captain Muggah's—No Earthquake Signs.

From St. Pierre the relief expedition sent from Bridgetown, Barbados, W. I., the day after the disaster recently returned, bringing tales of horror, says the New York Herald's special correspondent, Dr. C. J. Manning, who went on the Soient, gives this account of what he saw:

"We found all the large fig trees near the beach uprooted. Some with the roots uppermost were without a leaf left on them. The boughs were snapped off and scattered all over the landing place. We noticed that one house had fallen in and the ceiling laths were twisted all in one direction, just as one might twist a handful of straws. This seems to point to the fact that the sudden escape of so much heated air from the volcano at the time of the great explosion caused a sort of whirlwind, which tore up the trees by their roots."

GRANT'S LAST CHARGE AT SHILOH.

mies on both days of battle, the dead lay so close that one could have crossed it without stepping on a corpse. Grant explained his failure to pursue Beauregard the afternoon of the 7th by saying that he hadn't the heart to ask his men, who had fought two days, to take up the task of pursuing.

BRANDS IT A FALSEHOOD

Judge Newkirk on the Recent Judson Interview

"BILL" NOT IN IT

Says the Judge in the Matter of His Appointment on the B. of P. W.

Ex-Judge Newkirk brands as a falsehood the statement in the Detroit Journal of Tuesday, to the effect that "Bill" Judson had cornered enough votes in the common council to prevent his (Newkirk's) confirmation if his name had been presented for the office on the board of public works tendered him last week by the mayor.

"Now that the matter has become public, I might as well explain it fully," said Judge Newkirk today.

"Last Monday morning an alderman came to me and said that some of Mr. Ferguson's friends again wished to have his name presented to the common council for the board of public works office. He said that the mayor was willing if I was, and asked me to wait for a week until it could be found if the council would confirm Ferguson's appointment. I told the alderman to go ahead, that I was perfectly willing to wait if Mr. Ferguson's friends wished him to have the office. That was the reason my name was not presented to the council on Monday night and not because 'Bill' Judson had enough of votes in the council to defeat me. If my name had been presented I would have been confirmed, at least that's what I have been told by a number of the aldermen."

"Why does Judson oppose your candidacy?" was asked.

"I am sure I don't know," was the reply, "except that he is sure because I supported Mayor Copeland for congress. Why shouldn't I? We were school boys together, and have known each other intimately ever since. When the mayor withdrew, then I supported Mr. Wedemeyer."

Referring to Judson's alleged statement which appeared in the Detroit papers relative to him controlling four members of the board of regents, Judge Newkirk said that despite Judson's denial, he knew he had made the statement attributed to him.

"When Mayor Copeland appointed Mr. Sawyer city attorney," said the judge, "I was walking on the street with Judson one day, when he told me that he would make things warm for Copeland if he insisted on having Mr. Sawyer appointed to the city attorney's office. At that time Judson was opposed to Sawyer. I asked Judson how he could make it warm for the mayor and he then told me that he controlled four members of the board of regents. I laughed to myself at the ludicrousness of Judson's assumption."

"Will your name be presented at the next meeting of the council for the board of public works?"

"I don't know. My friends have advised me to have nothing to do with the office now," said the judge, "but I have not yet determined what I will do."

CELEBRATED GOLDEN WEDDING

[From the Ypsilanti Daily Argus.]

Mr. and Mrs. Fred P. Hunt, of this city, celebrated their golden wedding Wednesday evening, June 4, a large number of friends and relatives being present.

The husband is 72 years of age and the wife 70, and they have been residents of Ypsilanti since 1869. Both came from New England.

Letters of congratulation were received from the couple who "stood up" with them at the wedding, and who are the only survivors of the guests. The supper was served from china and silver that has been in the Hunt family for nearly a century.

Of the three children, Fred A. Hunt and Miss Lillian Hunt, both of Detroit, were present, C. J. Hunt, of St. Paul, Minn., being detained at home.

WEDDING OF MISS HARRIET COWELL

[From the Ypsilanti Daily Argus.]

A very quiet home wedding took place at the residence of Mrs. Cowell, Maple street, June 4, when her eldest daughter, Harriet, was united in marriage to William H. Fowler, of Farwell.

The bride was becomingly attired in a traveling gown of mode shade and wore a veil that was 200 years old, an heirloom of the family. There were no attendants and only a small number of immediate friends and relatives were present. Mrs. Fowler traces her ancestry back to the historical family of Cadwell and then to Oliver Cromwell. Mr. Fowler, whose home is at Wayne, was formerly a student at the Cleary Business college and now has a position in Farwell, Mich., as book-keeper. The happy couple left immediately for their new home at Farwell.

BUSY COURTS IN THE STATE

NEW DEVELOPMENTS IN BAY CITY MANSLAUGHTER CASE.

EXCITEMENT YESTERDAY IN THE McGARRY TRIAL.

SILENT WITNESSES IN ROOS DIS- BARMENT CASE.

Bay City, Mich., June 5.—Dr. R. W. Griswold, one of the joint defendants in the Bennett-Griswold manslaughter case, will take the stand during the former's trial. This was announced by the defense yesterday.

The first medical testimony introduced was given by Dr. C. T. Newkirk yesterday, who, with Dr. William Blish, performed the midnight autopsy in Battie Creek. It developed that Dr. Haughey, the Ebersteins' family physician, had removed part of the girl's body before their arrival, but there were congested spots which indicated the use of a surgical instrument.

Mrs. Loretta McEwan, the nurse who attended the girl, unheeding the close cross-examination of the defense of the cautions of the court, frantically accused Bennett and Griswold, who squirmed under the tongue-lashing and denunciation, of having dragged her into a crime. She became so hysterical that she was excused, but will be recalled later on.

Mrs. A. L. Morris of Detroit, who lived near the rooms occupied by Miss Eberstein while the latter was staying in that city, testified that she came to Bay City with Miss Eberstein, who had told her of her predicament. They came here March 12 and went to Bennett's office.

Bennett Had Preacher Witness.

She said: "After a private talk with Agnes, Bennett suggested having a witness to our talk. He called Rev. C. T. Patchell, who came in a few minutes. Bennett said it would be a case of illegitimate parentage and promised to see the girl through her trouble. I told Agnes to stay here in a quiet place and I would adopt the child. Nothing was said to Bennett regarding the payment of any money."

Allegan, Mich., June 5.—There was a striking scene in the courtroom here during the McGarry trial Wednesday afternoon when the prosecution recalled Tessie Duncan, private secretary of the respondent.

Miss Duncan was shown one of her shorthand note books, which have been under expert examination, and was questioned as to the contents of one page. The witness paled perceptibly as she glanced at her old notes then she threw the book down upon the table before her and said excitedly:

"It is nothing that is rebuttal evidence in this case."

Miss Durcan read from her notes the original letter that accompanied the Fitzgerald bid. The defense had introduced what purported to be the original letter, typewritten on a Bundy & Travis letter head, but the evidence introduced clearly rebuts the showing and tends to prove that the letter was dictated in McGarry's office.

Lansing, Mich., June 5.—The Roos disbarment case was submitted to the supreme court without argument Wednesday morning, and the court's decision will not be announced for some time. The briefs in the case will be printed and the evidence duly arranged.

The greater part of the forenoon was spent by the prosecution in the examination of the officers and stockholders of the Henderson-Ames company of Kalamazoo, which engineered the big deal by which the old state military board secured over $30,000 from a fake sale of military stores. All the witnesses were wary and each claimed his constitutional privilege, stating that he would not testify to matters which might incriminate himself.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Frank Warner Paroled.—Governor Bliss has paroled Frank Warner, who was sent from Kent county to Ionia for five years for burglary.

Fort Huron Has a Yacht Club.—A yacht club was organized at Fort Huron Tuesday night by local yachtsmen and a regatta will be given Sept. 7.

Check Forger Got Off Easy.—Harry Burchfield of Erie, Pa., was sentenced to sixty days in jail by Justice Daly of Mt. Clemens in default of $50 fine. Burchfield was caught Decoration day passing forged checks for small sums.

More Assessment for Muskegon.—At a meeting of the board of review, City Assessor Max Lange presented the tax roll and it showed an increase of more than $1,000,000 over last year, the total for 1901 being $6,461,640, and for 1902 $7,257,955.

Row in St. Joe City Council.—There were sensational developments in the St. Joseph city council fight Tuesday night. All the democratic aldermen left the city, refusing to attend the meeting, and the monthly bills could not be passed. It is claimed that Chief of Police Morton caused the trouble.

U. P. Saengerfest at Calumet.—The fourth annual saengerfest of the Upper Peninsula Saengerbund will be held in Calumet June 20-21, under the auspices of the Calumet Maennerchor. Great preparations are being made by the local organization and the celebration promises to be one of the most successful held.

Count Served a Sentence.—Count Adolph Koscinski, whose title belongs to the blue book of Poland, was discharged from the Detroit house of correction Wednesday after serving a twenty months' sentence for larceny. His father was killed in the Polish rebellion, and soon after the son came to the United States, going first to Texas. He learned chair making in prison.

AGAINST PACKING HOUSES

Supreme Court at Albany, N. Y., Grants Injunctions.

Albany, N. Y., June 5.—Supreme Court Justice Chester has granted an injunction restraining certain beef-packing companies of the west from carrying on business in this state in violation of the provisions of the Donnelly anti-trust law. The order was served upon the representatives of the concerns in this city and Troy yesterday, and will be served on others throughout the state as quickly as they can be reached. It was obtained upon the affidavit of D. W. Meredith, a former manager of Swift & Co.

The injunction is directed against Armour & Co., Swift & Co., Cudahy Packing company, Hammond company, Schwarzschild & Sulzberger Co., domestic and foreign corporations, and against Nelson Morris, Edward Morris and Ira N. Morris, co-partners, carrying on business as Nelson Morris & Co.

St. Louis After Packers.

St. Louis, June 5.—The supreme court has directed a writ of ouster to issue against the Schwarzschild & Sulzberger Packing company and suspended the same on condition that the company comply with the state laws relating to corporations within five days. The question of fine was reserved until further orders of the court. The other packers against whom similar information was filed were given until June 18 to respond and file return to rule.

LUXURY AND ECONOMY.

Much Talked Route Now Open Between Detroit and Buffalo.

Detroit, Mich., June 5.—A maritime event of great interest to Michigan people was accomplished when the beautiful steamer Eastern States, of the new Detroit and Buffalo line, returned from her initial trip Wednesday. The Eastern States is unquestionably the largest, speediest and most elegant steamer on fresh water, and with the companion ship Western States, soon to be launched, will maintain daily service over the water route from Detroit to Buffalo that for many years has been abandoned. An important object of the enterprise is to establish a link in travel between the east and west, with both economy and pleasure as drawing cards.

The mayor and prominent citizens of Detroit joined in the initial trip, while at Buffalo, where the big boat nearly filled the river, a most enthusiastic reception was accorded. The remarkable record of schedule time on an inaugural trip speaks volumes for the construction of the new boat.

Negro Shot Three Strikers.

St. Louis, June 5.—Three men were shot at Granite City, Ill., Wednesday and one of them, named Cunningham, will probably die. As twenty-five negroes from St. Louis alighted from a train to go to the works of the steel plant, there to take the places of striking molders, they were met by the strikers and warned to go back. Bell, one of the imported men, who was hit on the head with a rock, pulled a revolver and emptied it into the crowd, wounding three white men. The negroes then made a rush for the works and got inside. A warrant charging murder has been sworn out against Bell.

Two Killed in Train Wreck.

Dedding, Cal., June 5.—The south-bound Oregon express on the Southern Pacific road, which left Redding at 10:45 o'clock Tuesday night, was wrecked about 15 minutes later near Clear Creek, four miles from this city. The accident was caused by an open switch. Engineer J. M. White and Fireman Fred Taffel of the forward engine were thrown under the wreckage and crushed to death, their bodies being fearfully mangled. All the coaches were ditched. A number of passengers were more or less injured.

Marshal Su Captures Rebels.

Washington, June 5.—Secretary Hay has received a telegram from United States Consul McWade at Canton, stating that Marshal Su has telegraphed the Chinese government that he has captured Kwel Choo, Kwangnan prefecture, on the Yunnan frontier, Tonkin. Mr. McWade says that the rebels have fled to the hills north-west of Nanning. He says that the troubles reported north of Lungchow, Kwangse, are not serious.
