

NEW CULVERTS WILL BE BUILT

Bids Will Be Advertised for in a Few Days

THAT $17,000 OVERDRAFT

Alderman Hamilton Tells How It Was Contracted—Meeting of Council Last Evening

The common council Monday night authorized the Board of Public Works to advertise for bids for the building of new culverts to replace the ones swept away by the flood of last June, according to the specifications of the city engineer already furnished and such other specifications as may be furnished later. The culverts for which estimates have already been furnished and for which specifications have been made are the Broadway culvert, Seventh street culvert between Liberty and Jefferson streets and the Seventh street culvert between Washington and Liberty streets. The Main street culvert has been ordered repaired.

Previous to the taking up of the matter of the building of new culverts, considerable discussion arose among some of the aldermen over the matter of putting in storm sewers in different parts of the city. One sewer of 24-inch tile was ordered built through the Hiscock and Milling Co.'s properties, while the advisability of building two storm sewers, one on Gott street from Hiscock to Felch, and another on Summit street from the railroad to the creek was referred to the city engineer. A storm sewer on Thirteenth street was also suggested and Alderman Schumacher worked vigorously for it, but no definite action was taken towards building it. It was merely referred to the city engineer.

It was when the proposition to build a sewer on Thirteenth street came up that Alderman Jenney made a strenuous kick. He said that the most important thing was to first get the culverts repaired. "We are now $30,000 behind," he said, "and I can't see why we should go ahead here and vote money for the building of storm sewers when we haven't got it to spend. Here are people at the lower end of Allen's Creek becoming ill because of the conditions of that waterway and we ought to attend to fixing it up before we attempt to build storm sewers."

Alderman Hamilton arose to pour oil on the troubled waters and made an effort to show Alderman Jenney how important it was that the storm sewers which had been mentioned should be built. Then he explained how the city had now an overdraft of some $17,000 burdening it. "If it hadn't been for the carelessness of an engineer," explained Hamilton, "in constructing a sewer in the sixth ward we would not have this overdraft now. That sewer, when we started to build it, was to have cost $4,500, before we got through with it the cost was over $17,000."

The proposition to straighten out Allen's creek was discussed and was referred to the city attorney, city engineer and street committee, who will confer with owners of the land along the creek about their property rights.

The Civic Improvement association sent the following:

"Resolved, that the Civic Improvement association heartily approve and fully endorse the action of the city council in acquiring the Cat Hole and Henning property for park purposes."

A resolution was passed enlarging the Felch street culvert to 14 feet in width and the $200 appropriation which was made last March for cutting down Traver street, north of the railroad was ordered used for that purpose.

PIONEER PASSES OVER GREAT DIVIDE

MR. JOHN G. KOCH DIES AT THE AGE OF 89 YEARS

Came to This Country When He Was 18 Years Old—Funeral on Sunday Afternoon

John George Koch, aged 89 years, a pioneer of Washtenaw county, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. David Laubengayer, on S. Main street Friday evening, after an illness of five days. Mr. Koch suffered a shock of paralysis on Sunday and the second shock, which occurred Friday afternoon, caused his death.

Mr. Koch was born in Unterreichen, Stuttgart, Württemberg, July 4, 1812. He emigrated to this country at the age of eighteen and settled on a farm in Freedom township. In 1837 he was married to Miss Mary Katherina Niethammer. Seven children were born to them, five of whom are now living—John Koch of Saline, Emanuel Koch of Berrien county, Mrs. Barbara Horning, Mrs. Henry Paul and Mrs. Regina Laubengayer. He had twenty-five grandchildren and twenty-five great-grandchildren. Mrs. Koch died in 1900, since which time Mr. Koch has made his home with his three daughters.

Mr. Koch is said to have lived in this county longer than any other person living, having resided here continuously since 1830. He has owned several farms in the county. Thirty years ago he gave up farming and moved to the city and built the brick house at the corner of Packard and Division streets.

Mr. Koch had enjoyed wonderfully good health all his life, never having had to call a physician until this last illness.

The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Laubengayer, and from Zion Lutheran church at 2:30 o'clock.

HOW ANN ARBOR WAS NAMED

Three Versions of How the Name Came

WHICH IS RIGHT

A Question Which Our Older Settlers Should Settle by Telling Their Tales

How was Ann Arbor named? Judge Cheever in his interesting article on Ann Arbor Past and Present, written for the American Real Estate Journal, which appeared in the Argus Monday gives two versions of the way Ann Arbor was named, as follows:

The first settlers were John Allen and Walter Rumsey, who came to Ann Arbor in February 1824 and settled here. Their wives, Mrs. Ann Allen and Mrs. Mary Ann Rumsey came and joined their husbands in October of the same year. There is something quite poetical and romantic about the origin of the name "Ann Arbor." The given name of both of the wives of these first settlers was "Ann." One story is, "that when their wives came here, Mr. Allen and Mr. Rumsey, aided by their wives, built an arbor out of small trees and bushes on the west side of the Savings Bank block for a temporary home, and the men put a sign upon the front of the arbor naming it "Ann's Arbor," and the village when organized was given that name."

The other story is that, "the original site of the village was a burr-oak opening, having the appearance of an arbor, so they all agreed to call the settlement 'Ann's Arbor,' and the village when organized received this name."

There is a third way in which this same story has been told and it gives none the less a picture of life in the pioneer days, as homelike and touching in its brief whiff of neighborliness in the days when neighbors were few. The wives of the two first settlers as Judge Cheever has told, were both christened Ann, and they used often to meet under an arbor between their houses. This was a favorite resort of theirs and on pleasant days they frequently set a table there and had a meal at which both families sat down. The arbor soon became designated by the name Ann's arbor and when the village came to have a name the name selected was Ann's Arbor or Ann Arbor. At that time the word arbor was spelled arbour, and the early newspapers in Ann Arbor always spelled the name of the village Ann Arbor.

Since writing the above Mr. Jacob Volland, who came here in 1837, locates this arbor at a point near the present residence of Mr. John F. Lawrence.

The third story of how Ann Arbor got its name has been more generally accepted as correct. Can any of our older readers throw any light on how Ann Arbor got its name?

IN THE BONDS OF MATRIMONY

The marriage of Miss Emma Gwinner to Alfred Paul took place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride, 314 S. Ashley street, Rev. A. L. Nicklas officiating.

The bride, who has for some time been book keeper for the Luick lumber firm, was gownned becomingly in a blue traveling suit with hat to match. She was attended by Miss Mary Walker, while the groom had for his best man Robert Gwinner.

The house was prettily and effectively decorated for the occasion, and after the ceremony a delicious wedding lunch was served.

Upon their return from a short wedding trip in the east, Mr. and Mrs. Paul will be at home to their friends in the handsome new residence recently erected by John Berger on N. Main street.

UNIQUE APPEAL TO RAISE FUNDS

It is Being Sent Out by the Rev. W. L. Tedrow

THE TRINITY LUTHERANS

Have a Mortgage Indebtedness and the Pastor is Making Efforts to Pay It

The following unique appeal for the purpose of raising funds to pay off the mortgage indebtedness of Trinity English Lutheran church is being sent out by the pastor of the church, the Rev. W. L. Tedrow:

Ann Arbor, Michigan, 7-1, 1902
Kind Friend:—As I write this, I am seated at my quarter-sawed oak desk in the northeast quarter of the parsonage, which is situated on the two western quarters of the lot upon which the above named church stands. It is now a quarter past ten in the morning, and so in the second quarter of the day, which is the 14th day of April, and so in the second quarter of the month, and also in the second quarter of the year, which belongs to the first quarter of the century. If I am not mistaken the moon is also now in the second quarter, perhaps near the third quarter, and by the time you receive this it will probably have reached the fourth quarter. You might infer from this that I am looking for quarters, and your inference is correct. You see it is just like this. We have, as a church, been making a tremendous effort to free our building from debt. We have by hard, self-denying effort, paid off about three-quarters of the mortgage indebtedness upon the church building, and now to meet the last quarter of it, we are forced to call upon a few of our chosen friends to join us in the enterprise. Happiness always follows a good act, and I therefore know that you will thank me for giving you this opportunity to do good. To save inconvenience, and to further your joy in giving I enclose a card, which has been perforated to receive coin. Place a quarter in each hole and see how snugly it fits. A five dollar gold piece will not quite fill it, and a ten might perhaps be crowded into it, but they should only be used in case no silver is at hand. Some people say the silver question is dead, if dead it ought to be buried. So just press a silver quarter into each of the holes and then seal the sepulcher by pasting the cover down snugly about the coin, making it as secure as you can, and then sign your name, and mail to me, and it will not be many days, until the seal will be broken, and the dead will come forth. It will live again and help to bury the other fellow, I mean the last quarter of the mortgage, and bury it so deep too that no resurrection voice will ever reach it.

On the card, which has been perforated to receive the coin, the following answer to the appeal is printed:

"Kind Friend:—Your irresistible appeal has been received and could meet with naught but a ready response, and so I return to you herewith the card filled with quarters.

"As you suggested, I have placed the quarters in the holes, which is reversing the natural order of things, it being more usual to find quarters with holes than holes with quarters in them. I sincerely hope that you have received enough to bury the last quarter of the mortgage on your church so deep in a hole that it will never again rise to disturb you."

FISCHER WAS NOT OUT OF THE CITY

DID NOT THINK IT WAS NECESSARY TO GO TO CAMP

When Informed His Presence at Manistee was Compulsory He Left for There Immediately

The reported desertion of Louis Fischer from Company L, when it was about to start for camp Monday, was somewhat exaggerated. Mr. Fischer, who has been working for Alderman Johnson, did not leave the city. He concluded at the last moment that he would not go into camp this year, and says that he did not think that he could have been urged to do so. That evening he was at the council chamber when he was notified that there were orders issued to the sheriff to place him under arrest. He immediately went to the sheriff's office and explained that he did not think it was compulsory on him to join his company at Manistee. Being informed otherwise, he took the first train from the city Monday evening for Manistee.

WILL BEGIN WORK ON SEPTEMBER 1

MANAGER ASHLEY TALKS OF GRADE SEPARATION

General Manager Ashley, of the Ann Arbor railroad, passed through here on his private car Tuesday. He was joined at the depot by Mayor Copeland, who accompanied him as far as Milan.

The principal topic of conversation was the grade separation project.

"What decision has Mr. Ashley arrived at in the matter?" was asked the mayor.

"He says," was the reply, "that his company will be ready to begin work on the grade separation on the 1st of September."

"Do you think the work will actually begin then?" was asked.

"Yes," replied the mayor. "It all now depends on how soon the electric roads can get in line. I had a talk with Mr. Hawks yesterday and from what he said I'm inclined to believe that the work will now rapidly go forward."

MUCH ENTHUSIASM SHOWN BY TEACHERS

AT THE INSTITUTE MEETING AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

One Hundred Teachers Are Now Registered—Public Are Invited to Attend

The teachers' institute which opened at the High School last Monday is progressing finely and there seems to be a great deal of enthusiasm both on the part of the instructors and pupils.

When the first session opened Monday morning, about 75 were in attendance. This morning 100 were registered.

The teachers are from throughout the county and every township is represented. The director of the school is Prof. Tooze, principal of the Saline high school, and he is ably assisted by Superintendent S. J. Geir, of Hillsdale, and Miss Mary Parker, who is pursuing work in the University. All subjects required in a second grade certificate are offered. There are two sessions a day, from 9 to 12 a. m. and from 1:30 to 4 p. m. One general session is held the first part of the morning, when some special subject is discussed.

Wednesday Prof. Tooze spoke on "The Opening of School." It was a very interesting and helpful talk, especially to new teachers. Botany, arithmetic, grammar and physiology occupy the morning sessions and in the afternoon, classes in nature study, United States history, geography, etc., are held.

The public is cordially invited to attend any and all of the classes, the institute lasting eight days.

Next week Tuesday evening Prof. C. D. Smith, of the Agricultural College, will lecture in High School hall, along the line of agriculture and rural schools. This is for the pupils, but everyone is invited to attend as the subject is one of general interest.

On Wednesday, the following day, the institute will close with a meeting of the teachers, directors and patrons of the schools of Washtenaw county. A good program is being arranged. The first session opens at 10 in the morning and the second at 2 in the afternoon. In the afternoon, Prof. C. A. Davis, of the University, will give a talk on "How to Beautify the School Grounds."

MISS CLARA JACOBS GOES TO NEW YORK

The Detroit Journal has the following concerning Miss Clara Jacobs, daughter of J. T. Jacobs, our former townsman:

While Miss Clara Jacobs, the centralist at the Westminster Presbyterian church, has not yet handed in her resignation, advices received from her at Vineyard Haven state that she will not return to Detroit this fall, but will go to New York to continue her studies under F. E. Bristol. She has been at Vineyard Haven all summer studying under Mr. Bristol, and has filled a choir position at that place.

Miss Jacobs has been with the Westminster church for three years, and previous to that time was with the choir of the Trumbull Avenue Presbyterian church. She was on the faculty of the Ann Arbor School of Music last year, and was re-engaged for the year to come. Miss Jacobs was last winter frequently heard at local concerts and club meetings.

HONEST GOVERNMENT, INDEED!

The voters of Michigan are not going to give up the certainties of good government and honesty in every department which go with a republican administration to grasp at the visionary blessings held out to them by the democracy.—Grand Rapids Herald.

The above is a sample of the effrontery with which the republican press of the state is endeavoring to deceive the forgetful and lay the revolt within the party. Good government and honesty in every department! That would be decidedly funny, if the esteemed Herald did not take itself so seriously. But let us see what the record actually is. Governor Rich succeeded Governor Winans in 1893. Three members of the Rich administration were fired out of office because of mighty crooked records in office. Such prominent officials as the secretary of state, the state treasurer and the commissioner of the land office. The Herald may succeed in deceiving some with its assertion of "good government and honesty in every department," but its memory is long enough to take it back to the falsification of the returns on the constitutional amendments by republican officials, whereby the very constitution itself had dishonest republican amendments put upon it. The Herald will remember also how the before mentioned "honest" republican officials certified to being present at certain meetings of the boards of which they were ex-officio members, but which meetings they in fact never attended. It will remember also that they drew pay for this service which they never rendered. It will remember likewise that certain of these officials never returned to the state the money they illegally drew from the state treasury in the form of increase of salary under the amendments to the constitution which they falsely certified as having been adopted by the people.

Again, how does the "good government and honesty in every department" claim of the Herald come up to the scratch in the administration of Hazen S. Pingree. Every citizen with even a very short memory can recall the rank smells which ascended to heaven during those years from the prominent officials of that regime. All will remember how the state military board entered into a conspiracy to defraud the state and the high degree of success attained. Tens of thousands of dollars of the state funds were obtained and divided among the conspirators. When the conspiracy became public and the prosecuting officers of Ingham county started in to investigate the unsavory job, how much aid did they receive from the republican governor? When certain of the scoundrels were convicted and one of them had been placed behind prison bars, how long was he left there by the republican governor? How much time did General Marsh do for his share in that great theft and conspiracy? Where is the lamented Eli, who was so prominent at that time and who was serving as a regent of the state university? How about the charges against the speaker of the republican house from the consequences of which he escaped on a technicality? Various other state officials and members of the legislature were charged with giving or taking bribes.

Coming on down to the present administration, what is there of "good government and honesty in every department" to the credit of the "immortal nineteen," to the credit of the police commissioner of Detroit, who was appointed under the ripper legislation passed by the present legislature, or in the record of Tom Navin, one of the republican leaders in securing this legislation? What is there to the credit of Governor Bliss himself in the open and shameless corruption of the primaries whereby his nomination was purchased for him? How about his nomination at the Grand Rapids convention in which delegates were bought, sold and rebought in the greatest money debauch the state of Michigan has ever known? These things have gone on for the past twelve years in an ever increasing ratio until the best element of the republican party is in open rebellion against the corrupt machine. These things have not, of course, taken place with the approval of the rank and file of the republican citizens who are as honest as any citizens, but in spite of their protest and to the lasting disgrace and shame of the machine which dictates the policy of the majority. If these things constitute "good government and honesty in every department" then it would seem to be time to have a dishonest government, if it is the opposite of that which the Herald is pleased to designate good and honest in every department.

Much virtue of all kinds is alleged by the upholders of trusts to reside in trust magnates. But those trust millionaires who insulted Attorney General Knox and a party of friends in an Atlantic City cafe the other day seemed to act in all respects like the most ordinary drunks. Even the presence of several ladies with the attorney general of the United States appeared to have no deterring influence with these millionaire bums. They had started out to insult Mr. Knox and they proceeded to do it according to the most approved style of the frequenters of the lowest dives of our cities. It was at first stated that the cause of their spleen toward the attorney general was his action against trusts, but Mr. Knox denies this. Of course trusts are very tender and trust magnates more so, but even thus they have little complaint in justice against Mr. Knox. It is claimed that the three millionaires made common cause against Teddy's legal sharp and but for timely assistance would have worsted him. They seem to have had the bravery of their condition. It is said that the management of the aristocratic cafe finally ejected the millionaires—after Mr. Knox and his party had been driven from the cafe by their low and obscene talk. The tardiness of the ejection indicates that they were millionaires, if not trust magnates.

The Cuban congress just now is getting upon ground which leads Uncle Sam to prick up his ears. The lower house of the Cuban congress has passed a bill authorizing a loan of $85,000,000. This loan is to draw five per cent interest and is redeemable in forty years. The money is to be used as follows: Four millions of it is to be loaned to the planters and to the benefit of the agricultural and cattle growing interests. This money is to be paid back in February, March or April of next year. The remainder of the loan is to be used for paying the expenses incurred in aid of the revolution. About $3,000,000 is to be used in paying the bills contracted by the New York junta and the remainder is to go to the revolutionary soldiers for their services. Just what the action of the American government will be relative to the measure remains to be seen. Under the Platt amendment this government will be expected and bound, in fact, to take cognizance of the proposed loan.

It takes patronage to make political bosses so strong that they cannot be overturned. The bosses in the republican state convention had easy work of it. They had control of the offices. Take control of state patronage away from them and the republicans of Michigan can unhorse their bosses.

The beef trust demurs to the bill of the government, thereby practically admitting the charges, but pleads the insufficiency of the same.

JAMES McMILLAN.

The death of Senator McMillan came to the people of Michigan as a great shock, as a thunder-clap out of a clear sky. No one had any reason to look for so sudden a termination of his career, not even his own family. In his death Michigan loses one of her most conspicuous citizens, one whom she has delighted to honor. In recent years Senator McMillan had not spent much of his time in Michigan, but his influence was ever present. He was a recognized power also in the national councils. He was undoubtedly one of the most influential men in the upper branch of congress and had an important part in shaping most of the legislation of that body. He will be greatly missed in the senate.

The greater part of Mr. McMillan's business career was spent in Michigan and he was successful beyond the degree vouchsafed to most men. He was one of Michigan's most wealthy citizens and all his wealth was amassed by himself and through his own exertions. In commercial capacity he was undoubtedly a man of the first order of ability, and he likewise possessed great executive ability. He built up a fortune estimated at several millions of dollars and in the doing of this he was recognized as a man of the strictest honor and integrity. He was quick also to take notice of these same traits in others and many men of high standing in the commercial affairs of Michigan today gladly acknowledge his influence in shaping their business careers, and the debt they owe him in the start he gave them in their business life. He was a developer of industries and made his money in this way rather than in the manipulation of stocks. In this way he was a most valuable man for the city of his residence and the state of his adoption.

In the politics of the state he was powerful and as successful as in business. But it can scarcely be said that his political career redounds to his credit in any such degree as does his business career. His supremacy in the state was marked but his methods of reaching this position cannot be commended as can his business methods. In his control of Michigan politics, he was essentially a machine politician. He was not very scrupulous as to how he won or maintained his ascendancy. With him the maintenance of it was the great factor in the matter. As a result he was naturally surrounded by men and he used men who are anything but a credit to him or the state. In fact it mattered little to him what they did or how they did it, provided only they took care of the policies of Senator McMillan. In this way his influence has aided in consummating legislation and policies which have been and are detrimental to good government and honest administration of public affairs. He, through his agents, abused the political power entrusted to his hands and the hands of his party. So far as known, his powerful hand was never outstretched for cleaner politics in Michigan, but was used to further the political interests of James McMillan and the party machine. His political influence never tended to elevate the tone of the electorate in Michigan. He appeared to believe, and to operate on that belief, in political matters, that it is not essential that a man follow the same strict standards in politics that distinguishes Mr. McMillan's business career. But in his political career there was nothing mean or sordid. He personally, during his political ascendancy, was never connected with any suspicious or questionable transactions. But he used, and in fact constructed, the necessary machinery to secure and hold that ascendancy without regard to the will or the interests of the people.

In capacity and influence he will rank well up with the greatest men Michigan has had in the senate of the United States. As a national legislator he had the courage of his convictions and was to be found lined up on the side of his convictions. He was no time server, but constructive in his work as a legislator.

Just what the result of his death will be upon Michigan politics may not be predicted. But it is scarcely likely to strengthen Gov. Bliss in any way. With his powerful hand removed from the machine, it is not likely to run even as smoothly as heretofore.

Why would it not be a good thing for the government to commission J. P. Morgan to promote a combine of American and English warships? A trust of that kind would mean a great increase of efficiency and make a big saving.

WHERE PROPERTIES ARE SITUATED

The CRESCENT properties are situated in Granite county, State of Montana, about 10 miles straight away in a westerly direction from Phillipsburg, the county seat, in what is known as Rock Creek district, surrounded on all sides by great producing mines, in that portion of the country where more precious metal has been mined than in any other section of the globe during the past few years. Granite county, with the seven that surround it, mined in 1901 $70,000,000, which is $10,000,000 more than the whole state of Colorado, $40,000,000 more than the state of California, $6,000,000 more than the three great states of Washington, Idaho and Oregon combined; more than doubled the output of the now famous Alaska, and placed the entire balance of the United States in eclipse. Silver Bow county stood first in this precious production, Granite county stands second, Lewis, Jefferson, Cascade, Deer Lodge, Missoula and Ravalli counties in the order mentioned. Look at your map of Montana, find the town of Phillipsburg, when you are within 10 miles of the CRESCENT properties, and see how near you are to the center of this wonderful, rich country.

HOW THE CRESCENT CAME TO BE STARTED

In the month of October, 1899, the fact of there being a great body of gold-bearing quartz located where the CRESCENT properties now are, was disclosed to several of Ann Arbor's citizens by a prospector of much experience, and who owned the discovered claim of 20 acres. The object of the disclosure was to secure aid to open up and develop the claim. Details were accordingly arranged, and it was decided that one of the party should make a trip to the property and report the situation. The trip was made in the month of November, 1899, at which time ore was taken from the discovery hole and from other portions of the croppings and placed in the hands of experts for assay. On Dec. 9, 1899, an assay was made by Baden & Bapty, of Butte, Montana, showing values of $46.00 in gold. On Dec. 12, 1899, assays were made by the Custom Assay Department, of Butte, Montana, showing values of $44.40. On Dec. 21, 1899, assays were made at the University of Michigan by Mr. Alfred H. White, showing values of $44.50. These assays, with many others taken since, can be seen on file at the Ann Arbor office of the company.

Steps were immediately taken to secure the property and within a few days the details were arranged satisfactorily to all concerned. Next in order was the formation of a company, which was accomplished in the early days of January, 1900, with a capitalization of $60,000.

Thus the CRESCENT Company stood possessed of one claim of 20 acres of undeveloped mineral lands, with a capitalization of $60,000.

Stock sales commenced some time in the latter part of January, 1900, and on the 10th of March of the same year and as soon as the weather would permit, development work began. Two shifts of miners were put to work tunneling in on the ore vein. This vein extends in a northerly and southerly direction over and through a sharply defined hill, with its apex standing 850 feet above running water. The work continued in, directly on the vein from the north side of the hill to a distance of 300 feet, exposing great bodies of high grade ore nearly its entire length, some of which broke out to a width of 12 feet. At this stage of the work it was decided to drive a new tunnel in from the south side of the hill, 90 feet below the line or level of the first work. Accordingly this work was done and the tunnel was driven to a depth of 655 feet, passing through and under the tunnel above in a lengthwise direction a distance of 350 feet the last 400 feet of this tunnel showed a well defined vein of high grade ore. A shaft was stopep out running on the vein from the lower to the upper tunnel, disclosing ore the entire distance, averaging 6 feet in width. This block of ore with tunnels on the top and bottom and stopep or shafted at one end gives a fair idea of what can be expected in the lower workings. Over 15,000 tons of ore hang in this ground and can be taken out to great advantage in the future and on the completion of the great cross cut tunnel now under construction.

Previous to the completion of the above work, the management became convinced that other properties could and should be secured to add to what they already possessed, and steps were immediately taken to this end with the result that they now own 220 acres in the place of the 20 acres, with no debts or obligations on their hands. This 220 acres are made up as follows: Crescent No. 1 claim (original), 20 acres; Crescent No. 2 claim, 20 acres; Crescent No. 2 extension, 20 acres; Trenton claim, 20 acres; Excelsior claim, 20 acres; Discovery claim, 20 acres; Red Boy claim, 20 acres; Big Sandy claim, 20 acres; Broken Ledge claim, 20 acres; Lost Lead claim, 20 acres, with the mill site of 20 acres and the fraction, making in all 220 acres.

At the time the company had secured the three claims—Crescent No. 1, Crescent No. 2 and Trenton—it became evident that great riches lay buried in Remington and Trenton hills, and the only businesslike way to get at it was to drive a cross-cut tunnel, or main roadway into these properties from the western end. Therefore the ground was surveyed, the tunnel staked out and work commenced on the tunnel that will be, when finished, 1,800 feet long, and will tap the different ore veins from 400 to 1,600 feet below their croppings. No ore veins were known to exist inside the limit of the 1,800 feet at the time the cross-cut tunnel was commenced, BUT MARK WHAT HAS HAPPENED. When the tunnel was in on its way a distance of 200 feet the miners broke into a fine body of ore about 5 feet wide and carrying values to about $18 per ton. This vein was traced over the hills and found after much work amongst the slide rock to crop out in places 9 feet wide. This vein of ore became CRESCENT property by reason of discovery and tunnel rights. Work on the tunnel progressed until the 420-foot mark was reached, when again the miners broke into another body of ore which shows up nearly 4 feet wide and assays close to $100 to the ton. This great find also became CRESCENT property by discovery and tunnel rights. Again the work on the big tunnel continued until the 910-foot mark was reached, when still another body of high grade ore was encountered, showing values equal to the second discovery. The cross-cut tunnel is now in 940 feet and is running through a zone of country rock permeated with low grade mineral, giving indications of still another ore shute not far away, and the work on the cross-cut is but a little over one-half completed. What will be encountered in the next 800 feet we will leave to conjecture. It is well known that at the finish the tunnel will enter a body of ore vastly superior to those already in hand. This will be the great Crescent No. 1 and Trenton claims, where the ore hangs from 800 feet to 1,600 feet above the tunnel level, and the best experts figure the bodies of ore will approximate 3,000,000 tons.

THE AMOUNT OF WORK UP TO THE PRESENT TIME

There are eight cabins and a blacksmith shop on the premises, all built as well as log cabins can be built and supplied with steel roofs. Roads have been built to the mines. Two splendid bridges have been constructed across the creek that will furnish water power for the mines for all time. The dam is built and several hundred feet of the race finished to conduct water to the mines. There is more than 2,400 feet of tunneling, shafting and stripping complete, showing, blocking out and on the dumps more than 15,000 tons of ore.

PROSPECTS FOR THE FUTURE OF THE CRESCENT PROPERTIES

Situated as they are in the very center of the richest precious mineral bearing country known to man, with their large holdings and splendid water power, they have a great future. There is more than 3,000,000 tons of high grade ore hanging in the hills above the level of the Great Cross-Cut tunnel. When this is extracted the ore can be taken from the lower workings to a depth of 2,500 feet with every indication of its growing richer as the lower levels are reached. Ten million tons of ore lay buried in the Crescent Hills, which can be turned into the cleanest money ever produced, and when dividends come to the stockholders they can receive them with a clear conscience, as there has been no person robbed. No person has suffered by reason of the great treasure being taken from Mother Nature.

Mines are located on all sides of the Crescent from which vast fortunes have been taken, ranging from one to as high as one hundred and twenty million dollars. The Crescent is far from the lesser ones and expectations are that it will crowd the greater ones.

THE OBJECT OF THE COMPANY

The object of the company is to bring about dividend-paying conditions as quickly as possible and at the least minimum of expense; to drive the Great Cross-Cut tunnel to the Main CRESCENT and TRENTON LEDGES; to erect concentrator for handling the ore, shaping the same in the best condition to ship for smelting and finishing the uncompleted water power. This work finished and good, substantial dividends will follow with unbroken regularity, each one equal to or greater than its predecessor for months and years to come. The best experts give assurance that the mines cannot be exhausted for many, many years.

RECAPITALIZATION

At the time the company became possessed of the larger share of the properties now in their control, it appeared that the original capitalization of $60,000 would prove inadequate to carry on the greater work. A special stock-holders' meeting was called for on March 12, 1901, just one year from the beginning. At this meeting a vote was taken for the increase of capital from $60,000 to $120,000. The vote went through without a dissenting voice and the new CRESCENT COMPANY stood out with title clear to 10 regular sized claims of 20 acres each and 20 acres in the mill site, making in all 220 acres, capitalized for $120,000.

TO THE STOCK BUYING PUBLIC

Stock is being sold at the low price of 35 cents per share. Only enough will be offered to complete the undeveloped work as above stated. A better opportunity to place a little money in gold mining stock never was and never can be offered. Take into consideration. The Crescent Company is a home concern, 85 per cent of the stock sold to date being owned in Washtenaw county. The capitalization is small. The dividends will be correspondingly large. The mines are situated in the richest mineral belt in the world. The properties are grand and large. The amount of work accomplished cannot be duplicated in any mining enterprise for the same expenditure. Big, fat dividends are assured you as soon as the machinery can be placed. We want your money to continue the work. Can you do better than to buy stock with us? Call at the office of the company, where you can learn all details and inspect the rich ore that is sent on from the mines from time to time.

$10 will buy 33 shares of stock.
$35.25 will buy 100 shares of stock.
$60.50 will buy 200 shares of stock.
$166.25 will buy 500 shares of stock.
$332.50 will buy 1,000 shares of stock.
$665.00 will buy 2,000 shares of stock.

$1,662.50 will buy 5,000 shares of stock.
$3,325.00 will buy 10,000 shares of stock.

United Verde stock went from 35c to $40 per share in a short time.

Leroy stock went from 35c so high that it cannot be bought at any price.

Granite Mountain stock went from 35c to $82 in two years.

The Great Republic went from 35c out of sight, there being none for sale.

Anaconda went from a very low price to $126.

$500 worth of Gold Coin stock is now worth $80,000.

Consolidated Virginia went from 35c to $500 per share in four days.

Hundreds of more mining stocks have increased in value equal to the above. Statistics show that more than 70 per cent of the gold mines in the United States have proved profitable, while less than 30 per cent have proved failures.

The CRESCENT is one that cannot fail. There is enough ore in sight and on the dumps to make every stock-buyer safe many times over. Here you find yourselves with a chance to buy stock in a mine at ground floor prices, with all speculative features eliminated. You are absolutely safe in the investment and the chances are as 99 to 1 that THE CRESCENT will go up among the big ones in the near future. Don't fail to get into the Crescent and get in now.

The Case of the Sir John Reade Heirs

AMUSING INCIDENTS

They Took Place at Hearing of the Cause in Probate Court Friday

A case, which developed some rather amusing features, was on hearing before Judge Watkins in the probate court Friday, in which M. J. Cavanaugh, the lawyer, represented certain heirs of the late Sir John Compton Reade, of London, England.

An effort is being made by Attorney Cavanaugh to have the guardian give a proper accounting of the monies that have come into his possession, the value of the property left the children represented by Mr. Cavanaugh being somewhat over $10,000.

When the case came on Mr. Cavanaugh offered in evidence the fourth annual account of the guardian, which had been filed May 22, 1892, and which showed $9,273.02 in the guardian's possession. Cavanaugh had previously filed objections to this account and asked for a recasting.

"I am willing," laughingly replied Attorney Cavanaugh. "If this estate increases at the rate that this account filed today would have us believe, I have no objections to as many adjournments as are desired."

The next amusing scene came when Cavanaugh went after Herbst and wanted to know if the latter had changed some figures on the account since he came into the courtroom.

"I did," replied the attorney for the guardian, "with the consent of the judge," and he looked apologetically at Cavanaugh.

There were other incidents of this kind which gave the hearing a decidedly humorous phase, especially when Attorney Herbst insisted that there was an original inventory of the estate filed and was unable to find it.

The heirs represented by Mr. Cavanaugh are Mabel and Dora Reade.

In the hearing of the case in the probate court Friday which was brought for the purpose of having the guardian of the heirs of the late Sir John Compton Reade give an accounting of the estate entrusted to him, it developed that when he was appointed guardian a 40-acre farm and $10,685 was the property which he was given control of in the interests of Mabel and Dora Reade the beneficiaries under the will.

Attorney H. H. Herbst, representing George W. Merrill, the guardian, says that besides the farm which is in Mr. Merrill's hands in an improved condition, he had $9,525 in cash on January 1, 1902, besides piano and furniture and other property which was purchased for the benefit of the girls. The assets in all, in the guardian's hands on January 1, 1902, Mr. Herbst says, were $10,700 beside the farm. This being over and above the amount which the guardian has paid out for the clothing and educating of the two young girls in the past six years.

The difference in the accounting which was filed in 1892 and Friday and which is mentioned above, was brought about through the fact that the money invested by Mr. Merrill for the girls had not earned as large an amount of interest as it was believed it should.

HARRY MURPHY HEARD FROM AFTER FIFTEEN MONTHS

Writes His Father, Bernard Murphy, of Northfield—News from Whitmore Lake

Whitmore Lake, August 8.—Bernard Murphy, one of Northfield's respected farmers, was in town today and received a letter from his son, Harry, who is in the Philippines.

Harry enlisted in the 20th regulars one year ago last April, and this is the first communication his folks have had from him since he left San Francisco, 15 months ago, and there is great rejoicing in the Murphy family today. Harry was 18 years old when he enlisted and says since landing 400 miles from Manila, he never enjoyed better health nor was better fed and used. In going over, which took 40 days, he says the food was of poor quality and he felt many hardships, but since landing is very well satisfied and says in 20 months more, if he is spared he will avail himself of the opportunity of embracing the loved ones at home.

Mrs. Harvey Pierce, of Bay City, will give a series of recitals at the M. E. church here on Wednesday evening, August 13. Mrs. Pierce is wife of Rev. Harvey Pierce, now of Bay City, and three years ago gave recitals which were very much appreciated, and will no doubt again draw a large audience.

NINE DOLLARS WORTH OF LIQUOR

ROONEY BOUGHT IT OUT OF $11 WORTH OF HIS LABOR.

Got Booze at Anson Wright's Saloon—His Case Against Wright in Court Today.

While George B. Rooney was on the stand in Justice Doty's court Friday afternoon in the case in which he has prosecuted Anson W. Wright, the saloon keeper of 1008 Broadway, for using indecent language on the street, he testified that of the $11 he was to have been paid by Wright for papering the latter's saloon he spent $9 of the amount for liquor in Wright's place.

Wright was represented by Justice Gibson and Rooney had for his attorney, Andrew J. Sawyer, Jr.

One of the witnesses for the prosecution was a young fellow named Dryer, who swore that he heard Wright use the language with which Rooney accused him. When Justice Gibson began to cross-examine him he balked and apparently forgot everything that he previously knew.

It was when Sam Taylor was put on the stand that the fun commenced. Examined by Attorney Sawyer, Sam said that he had worked here for fifteen years. He said he was standing with Phil O'Hara near Wright's place when he heard Rooney say to Wright that he (Rooney) would make Wright pay 150 times thirty cents, if he found him keeping his saloon open after hours.

(The thirty cents referred to was an amount which Wright is alleged to have made Rooney pay him for drinks.) Then Sam testified that Wright said to Rooney, "You d—d brute, come back in the yard and I'll show you."

Justice Gibson then took the witness in hand.

"Now, Sam," he began, "Isn't it a fact that after this trouble happened you went into Wright's saloon and told him you would testify in his behalf if he would give you $2, that the other side had only promised you $1?"

"Dat's a lie," shouted Sam, as he sawed the air with his hand. "It's a barefaced untruth. Me take money from dat man (indicating Wright), well not likely."

Gibson then asked Sam how many times he had been arrested, but Sawyer put in a vigorous kick and Judge Doty excused the witness from answering the question.

Other witnesses examined threw little material light on the controversy between Rooney and Wright.

MANY DRUNKS IN LAW'S TOILS

A Number of Arrests Were Made Sunday

TWO SALOONS ENTERED

By Chief of Police Who was on a Still Hunt for Violators of the Sunday Closing Law

According to Chief of Police Warren, there was more drunkenness in this city Sunday than has been seen in a long time. Six arrests for drunkenness were made, while two saloon-keepers, "Billy" Gwinner and "Ad" Collum, will be required to appear in court on the charge of keeping their places open on Sunday.

There is a story afloat that some of the drunkenness Sunday was due to a picnic which was held a short distance outside of the city limits and where it is said considerable beer was sold. There is no substantial foundation for this story, however.

It is an open secret that almost every saloon in this city is open on Sunday. That is, the side doors are open. Once in a while some saloon keeper, who has inadvertently left the side door to his place unguarded, is caught by the police and it invariably happens that those who conduct the quietest places are those who are hauled into the police net.

In speaking of the matter Monday, Chief Warren said: "It is my object to keep every saloon in town closed on Sunday, but it is a mighty hard thing to prove violation of the law, as it is almost an impossibility for the police to get into the saloons on Sunday, a careful watch being kept by the owners against police intrusion. Yesterday there was an unusual amount of drunkenness in the city and I made up my mind that someone was responsible. I went to a number of saloons and tried to get in, but I was unable to."

NASH SENTENCED BY JUSTICE DOTY

ORDERED TO PAY FINE OF $25 AND COSTS

For Assault and Battery on Chris. Schleh of Saline, Otherwise to go to House of Correction

Asa B. Nash, the N. Main street saloon keeper, was fined $25 and costs amounting to $16.80, by Justice Doty Monday on the charge of assault and battery upon Christian Schleh, of Saline, on July 21 last. In default of payment of the fine and costs Nash was sentenced to serve 65 days in the Detroit House of Correction.

Schleh, testifying in his own behalf, said that on the day he was assaulted he had been invited into a back room of the Nash place by a woman, for whom he and his companion, Michael Alber, had bought drinks and cigarettes. He swore that a charge was made against him for drinks which he did not owe for, and when he refused to pay the trouble arose which resulted in Nash felling him to the ground.

Nash admitted the assault, but said he struck Schleh in self defense and for the purpose of getting him out of the place, which he threatened to tear down. Nash's piano player George Buchanan and others told a similar story to that given by their employer.

Prosecuting Attorney Duffy, in addressing the court, said that on Nash's own testimony he admitted having struck Schleh, when the latter was drunk. "Why," said the prosecuting attorney, "there would have been no difficulty in Nash putting this man (indicating Schleh) out of this place even he had been sober. It's a plain case of assault and battery and I ask for a conviction."

Schleh is a much smaller man than Nash and much more slightly built. Justice Doty was plainly impressed with the testimony of Schleh and his witnesses, for he imposed the sentence with a good deal of warmth in his words. Nash will probably appeal the case.

Strange Woman In Brown Haunt Home In Cleveland

Two sensible and healthy minded women of Cleveland have recently had a most fearsome and creepy experience with ghosts. The facts as related are these:

A solemn faced man, dressed all in black, one who must have died many years ago, and a woman, mournful in her garb of brown, were the apparitions.

Without the warning of any ghostly legend, with a strange rapping that in itself froze the blood, these two somber and mysterious figures appeared the other night at the Taubert home, Outhwaite street.

A few days later the Tauberts left the house forever. One experience of so frightful a nature was enough for the women of the family.

Mrs. Taubert declared that she would not sleep one night in the place again for all the money in the world.

Her mother, Mrs. Minor, is equally frightened and says that there can be

A YOUNG WOMAN STOOD IN THE ROOM. no possible doubt that she and her daughter saw real ghosts. The horrid, terrorizing figures were as plain to them as any human being ever was.

The Tauberts' former home, now deserted, is an ordinary two story cottage, with a gable over the street and a small front porch, at 237 Outhwaite street. The family consists of William Taubert, his wife, a baby and Mrs. Minor.

When Mrs. Taubert tells of the awful encounter, she shudders and is deeply affected. Here is her story as she recently related it:

"My husband works at night," she said, "and my mother and I were alone in the house with my little baby. One night I was waked out of a sound sleep by rappings on the walls. The noises came first from one part of the house and then from another.

"I was thoroughly frightened, and the noise woke the baby. I determined to sit up the remainder of the night, and I did so.

"While I was sitting in a rocking chair near the door, with the lamp burning brightly, I was suddenly amazed to see the light grow dim.

"The next instant I saw a young woman dressed in brown standing in the middle of the room.

"Where she came from I do not know. She could not have entered the room by the door, for I was sitting next to it and would have seen her.

"While I was wondering where the visitor came from the woman suddenly disappeared, seeming to sink through the floor.

"The knocking and pounding continued all the time the apparition was in the room."

Mrs. Minor related her experience, which was equally startling.

"My daughter," she said, "had gone into the bedroom, being attracted by the restlessness of the baby. I was sitting in the next room.

"I looked in by the bed and saw a man dressed in black standing in the corner.

"My daughter did not see this man, but I plainly did. When I went into the bedroom, however, he was gone. I would never sleep in that house again."

Mrs. John Goodman, a neighbor of the Tauberts, who has lived in the neighborhood for several years, says she is not astonished by the stories told by Mrs. Taubert and Mrs. Minor.

DEATH OF PATRICK M'KERNAN

CIRCUIT COURT COMMISSIONER FOR MANY YEARS

He Had Been Elected by His Neighbors Vote to Office for Twenty Seven Years

Patrick McKernan, one of the best known of the older residents of Ann Arbor, died at his home on the corner of William and Ashley streets, Sunday afternoon at 4:20 o'clock. For the past four years he had been confined to the house. He died of an abscess of the stomach.

Mr. McKernan was born in Northfield, this county, Jan. 24, 1833. He attended school in Northfield and taught school there for several terms. He came to Ann Arbor after he was of age and attended the private school of Gen. VanCleve. He attended the Union school at Ann Arbor and the Estabrook seminary in Ypsilanti for a short time and graduated from the law department of the University in March, 1863.

For five years he was supervisor of Northfield township. He was justice of the peace in Ann Arbor for eight years and circuit court commissioner for fourteen years. He gave up this office owing to ill health five years ago and since then has not been in business. Thus he had spent 27 years in office to which he had been elected by the suffrages of his fellow citizens. While in active life he was nearly always a delegate to the democratic county conventions, being sent year after year from the second ward, although he used to boast of the distinction of being the only Irishman in the ward. He was famous as a wit and many of his witty stories are still passing current. He was a kindly hearted man and many will regret his passing.

The funeral services were held Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Thomas church.

PASTOR WRITES ARGUS

Thanking the Paper for Publishing Appeal—Church Doing Good Work

Editor of the Argus:

I think that you can scarcely imagine my surprise, when I picked up the Argus last evening and read in it our appeal for funds to pay off the mortgage on Trinity Lutheran church. It was help from an "unexpected quarter," and I sincerely thank you, and hope you will grant me the privilege of a few additional words. This appeal was suggested by one which was received by one of the members of the congregation from some friend in the west, and the method which we have adopted is this: Each member of the congregation has taken a few of these appeals to mail to friends outside of the city, and we are also mailing a number to persons in the city, who we believe will be interested in the good work which Trinity Lutheran church is doing, and will gladly give her the assistance which is now needed.

This mortgage on the church building is now less than one thousand dollars and ought to be paid soon for these reasons. God's house ought not to be mortgaged. The payment of it will enable the congregation to do more efficient work, and the parties who hold the mortgage would like to have it paid. Then I have a desire in the matter and that is personal, and it is this, that this, the tenth, year of the existence of the church shall not close without this mortgage being taken from the church building. We believe that we have friends in the city who will find real pleasure in responding to this appeal, and who will rejoice with the church in having this burden removed. It is not much that is asked from any one. In fact the appeal itself gives such latitude, that it seems like "passing the hat" and having all the people respond simply as they find it in their heart to do. I am sure that no one will be any the poorer for it, and when all have responded the desired result will be accomplished.

Trinity Lutheran church is doing a good work, and has a much larger and more effective work yet to do. I doubt if any church in this city has done better work, or has attained a greater degree of efficiency during the first nine years of its existence. At the close of the present year we shall have special services commemorating the tenth anniversary at which time we shall have occasion to set forth some of the things that have been achieved, and we hope that among them will be the burning of the mortgage now on the church building. It will be, I am sure, if the friends who receive this appeal will give us the help that they can, without any loss or harm to themselves or their interests. We have already received a number of responses with amounts ranging from twenty-five cents to ten dollars, and when we have received sufficient to pay the mortgage we shall take pleasure in making public acknowledgment of the same—with your permission—through the columns of your excellent paper.

Gratefully, etc.,
W. L. TEDROW.

DOINGS IN YPSILANTI TOWN

Ypsilanti Town, Aug. 13—Mrs. Bruck spent a few days last week with Mrs. Waterbury.

Mrs. Bumpus, a very old resident of Rawsonville, was found dead on Sunday morning. She was living alone and evidently had quietly breathed her last at some time during the previous night. She was the mother of Isaac and Byron Bumpus. Funeral services were held at the M. E. church Tuesday at 10:30. Rev. Stanley Shaw officiated. The burial was made in the "Loup cemetery."

Mrs. Lottie Ballantine is spending the week with her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Voorhees.

Mrs. Bower, of Iriquois, South Dakota, is spending the week with Mrs. Charles Voorhees.

The Ladies Helping Hand, which met with Mrs. Charles Crittenden was well patronized, 69 being present. The receipts were $7.25. Mrs. Charles Voorhees presided at the piano and entertained in her usual charming manner. Solos by Mesdames Shaw and Owen and Mrs. Walter Dixon lent an added charm to the occasion.

Mr. Dennis Cheever has been quite ill recently.

BRIEF NOTES FROM CHELSEA

Chelsea, Mich., August 11—Died, Saturday, August 9, 1902, the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Coe, of this place.

The junior stars in their game with the business men Friday defeated the latter by a score of 20 to 15, the "kids" making 12 runs in the last inning.

There was a game of ball here Saturday afternoon between a nine from the Stove Works and the Chelsea Junior Stars which resulted in a victory for the Stars.

M. A. Shaver is making arrangements to take his merry-go-round to Cavanaugh Lake for the use of the picnic that will be held there this and next week.

Alvin Baldwin, of Lima, has his new barn well under way towards completion and when it is all completed he will have one of the best buildings of the kind in that township.

The Vermont Marble Co., who have the contract for the marble work of the Glazier Memorial Building will about complete their part of the work this week having used something like 63 tons of marble at a cost of $12,000. The woodworkers are at work on their portion of the contract, and the vaults are completed and ready for the use of the Bank when it takes possession of the finest bank building between Detroit and Chicago.

It was reported that the electric light plant would close down for repairs Saturday night but the works will not shut down as reported and it is not known when the power plant will close for the contemplated and almost necessary overhauling.

The people of this place are wondering if the Boland syndicate has forgotten that about one year ago they laid some steel and graded a road bed that extends to the east of us as far as the village of Dexter and westward to the city of Jackson. If so they might refresh their memories by calling at Chelsea and taking a view of the rusty rails that adorn the center of Middle street.

Would it not be a wise move on the part of the village fathers to pass an ordinance whereby the numerous "hobos" who infest the town could be set at work on the streets and made for once in their existence do something towards earning their "grub" by the sweat of their manly (?) brows. For several days the town has been overrun with this class of "hard workers," some of whom seem to live on what fruit they can gather from the trees that are close to the roads while others go to the back doors and ask for hand outs. Set them at work and thus get rid of this undesirable element that seems determined to live off other people rather than by the "sweat of their own brow."

ST. MARY'S CHURCH PICNIC POSTPONED

WILL TAKE PLACE ON THURSDAY AUGUST 21

Fat and Lean Men of Chelsea Play Fast and Furious Game of 9 Innings

Chelsea, August 13.—Owing to the inability of Judge Durand, of Flint, the democratic nominee for governor, to be present on August 20, the picnic of St. Mary's church at Cavanaugh lake has been postponed until Thursday, August 21, at which time it is expected that several speakers who are prominent throughout the state will be present and take part.

M. A. Shaver has taken his merry-go-round to Cavanaugh lake, where he will operate it during the next ten days.

The Chelsea roller mills are shipping in considerable wheat from the west in order to keep the mill running up to its usual capacity.

Harrison & Moran, the new proprietors of the foundry, are making arrangements to operate a cider mill this fall in connection with their foundry business.

Rev. Thos. Holmes, D. D., will leave today for the Moskoka lakes, in Canada, for a ten days' outing.

The Cleary college team of ball players from Ypsilanti run up against a hard proposition yesterday afternoon when they met the Junior Stars at this place. Score 4 to 12 in favor of the Chelsea Junior Stars. Come again, boys.

Yesterday afternoon at 1:30 the citizens of this place observed base ball nines composed of fat and lean men of this village wending their way toward the ball park, and of course every man, woman and child who could possibly get away at once started for the field of action to witness the fun, and every physician who was in town held himself in readiness for accident calls, as some of the fat men are positively known to tip the beam at 250 pounds, while some of the lean men weigh somewhere in the neighborhood of 100 and in case of collision one may guess what the result might have been. As it was none of the physicians were called upon for their surgical skill. The fat men took rather a mean advantage of the lean by fasting at dinner time, and the lean in anticipation of the hard work that was before them fairly scared the good housewife out of her wits by the way they disposed of viands just before the game. Everybody present enjoyed many good laughs at the expense of both teams and more especially when one of the fats was unfortunate enough to fall while running for a base. The games lasted only five innings, but was a fast and furious one at that, resulting in a score of 11 to 12 in favor of the fat men. The lean men declare that they shall forthwith issue a challenge for a return game and next time the lean will have the scalps of their fat friends.

Theodore Becks has sued Rehffuss & Wallace in trespass for damages done his garden by cattle. He claims that defendants were driving cattle along the street in front of his house when the cattle spied his fine peas and beans and made a holiday feast of them. Murray & Storm are his attorneys.

The twelfth birthday of Marie Josephine Kennedy, daughter of Frank Kennedy, was celebrated by about 30 of her young friends at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Wm. Kennedy, 501 N. Fifth avenue, last Saturday. Marie received many presents, among them a beautiful little gold watch.

Application blanks for Spanish-American war medals have been received by Capt. Ambrose Pack. Those who are entitled to medals are asked to fill these blanks at the earliest opportunity. In exchange for the blank certificates will be sent to the applicants entitling them to the medals.

Miss Florence Fischer, of Bay City, and Ernest Bates, of the U. of M., were married Thursday, Aug. 7, at the home of the bride's parents in May City. Mr. and Mrs. Bates are at home at 1817 Geddes avenue. The bride was a former student of the University and both have many friends here who will welcome them to the city.

The handsome work which is being done in the parlors of the residence of Junius Beal by Chas. Major is nearly completed. When finished they will be two of the most beautiful rooms in and residence of the city, the work being very elaborate. The walls and ceilings are frescoed and the woodwork is finished in white marble enamel.

Hon. H. C. Smith has been advised of a coming examination for cadets in the revenue cutter service. Anyone desiring to enter this service may take an examination at Detroit, Aug. 25, 26 or 27. An application blank for examination can be had by making request to the secretary of the local board U. S. civil service commission, Detroit, Mich.

William McIntyre died at his home, 1204 Washington street, Sunday afternoon, of kidney trouble, aged 50 years. Mr. McIntyre had lived in Ann Arbor only a short time. He leaves a wife and two children. The funeral was held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Martin's undertaking rooms, Rev. W. L. Tedrow officiating. Interment in Forest Hill cemetery.

A letter from Frank Sharpe, who went to the Philippines several months ago, was recently received by his mother. Sharpe is on the island of Samar and writes that everything is very peaceable there now. Not long ago he killed a native in an engagement and secured his firearms, which he will bring home when he returns. Young Sharpe is well and is enjoying himself.

Extensive repairs are being made on the building formerly occupied by E. V. Hangsterfer, the caterer, and which is owned by Mrs. Baehr, of Detroit. A new floor is being placed in the first floor and other improvements are planned. Mrs. Baehr has leased the place for ten years to the Electric Light Co. The company will take possession of the building as soon as it is completed.

Conrad Schneider met with a bad accident in C. H. Sauer & Co.'s planing mill Wednesday afternoon. He was working at the sandpaper machine and, in brushing off the dust with his left hand, the fingers got caught in the rolls of the machine and the palm of his hand was crushed. In answer to his cry the foreman, Chas. Rheam, threw the belt off the machine and his hand was extricated.

Mrs. Jennie McClain, through her attorneys, Stivers & Newkirk, has filed a petition for leave to appeal from the decision of the commissioners of claims who made certain awards from the estate of her late husband, Richard W. McClain, of Dexter, to Oren McClain, of Chicago; O. W. McClain, Jackson; May I. McClain, Jackson, and Bert and Lydia A. McClain, of Chelsea. The court has granted the order.

The wedding of John P. Trojanowski, brother of Julian Trojanowski, the well known State street barber, is announced for Monday, August 25, at 8 o'clock in the evening. The bride to be is Miss Julia May Sorg, daughter of Mrs. Julia A. Sorg, of 323 Packard street. The bridegroom elect is one of the most popular young men in the city and his friends wish him a multitude of successes in his married life.

Notices will soon be sent out by the secretary of state for the biennial elections to be held next November. There are five districts where circuit judges are to be chosen this fall, besides the usual state and county officers. There are to be two in St. Clair county, one in Monroe, one in Calhoun and one in the Manistee district. Notice is also to be given for the selection of a supreme judge, to succeed Judge Long.

The Spanish War Veterans have been holding a state meeting at Saginaw. Sixteen commanderies with a membership of 2,000 are at present in the organization. It was reported that a new command was to be organized at once at Ypsilanti. In the election of state officers, Dr. Victor C. Vaughan, of this city, was elected medical director. Maj. Ross Granger was elected as one of the delegates to the national encampment.

Among the recent books received at the Ladies' Library is "Dorothy South," by Geo. Cary Eggleston. It is a love story of Virginia in the days just before the war. The book is beautifully illuminated by C. D. Williams. Another book apropos of the season is "Golf," by William Garrott. It is more of an essay on the game than an explanation of it. A highly entertaining and instructive book is "Charles Elliot, Landscape Architect." It is a complete story of the life of this artist and a finely depicted account of his work on land architecture.

The funeral of Patrick McKernan, which was held from St. Thomas church Tuesday morning was largely attended by the many friends and relatives of the deceased. The local bar was also well represented. The pall bearers were Messrs. Phillip and Edward Duffy, Joseph Donnelly and John Smith. Rev. E. D. Kelly delivered a very eloquent and impressive sermon. The remains were interred in St. Thomas cemetery.

Attorney W. W. Wedemeyer says that picnic at Fairfield, Friday, was the best he ever attended. "Why it was a regular county fair in magnitude" said Mr. Wedemeyer, "people came in droves from the surrounding country, there was a splendid agricultural display and the program given by the ladies and others was one of the finest I ever heard." Mr. Wedemeyer forgot to say that he made the principal address on the occasion in his usual inimitable style.

The Salem Veteran association will hold their annual reunion at the home of Comrade Isaac Savery, one mile south and half a mile west of the center of the township of Salem, on Thursday, Aug. 21. The Hon. Judge C. B. Grant, of Lansing, the Hon. Chas. E. Townsend, of Jackson, candidate for congressman, and others will address the meeting. All veterans and families, with the public, are invited to attend. Come all and make the day one of pleasure and profit. The ladies of the Methodist church will furnish dinner for 25 cents a meal.

The reception which was given in the parlors of the M. E. church Tuesday evening in honor of Dr. McElroy and family, was largely attended, there being about 250 present. The parlors were thrown open and looked very pretty, being trimmed most effectively with festoons and banks of flowers. Dr. McElroy received with Rev. Mr. Ninde and other ministers of the city, who were guests of the occasion. Light refreshments were served in the Sunday school rooms, where the young ladies of the church presided. It was a very delightful informal affair.

The following appeared in the Sunday Chicago American in regard to Harlan Briggs, who is spending the summer at Waukesha, Wis.: "Harlan P. Briggs of Ann Arbor, Mich., who is well known to the local resorters through his barytone solos and who has been presiding behind the desk at the Fountain Spring House and saying 'Front' for the past few weeks, is being subjected to considerable good-natured ridicule. One of the lady guests at the Terrace Hotel forgot her umbrella while visiting one afternoon with some friends at the big hotel, and telephoned to the Fountain House on her return, inquiring if her umbrella had been seen. Mr. Briggs said he would look. Discovering one in a corner of the office he picked it up, returned to the phone and asked, as he held it up absent-mindedly, 'Is this it?'"

THOMAS EAST WAS SERIOUSLY INJURED

WAS ON D. Y., A. A. & J. CAR WHICH JUMPED THE TRACKS

Accident Happened in Detroit Tuesday—Mr. East Taken to His Home

Miss Elizabeth East, daughter of Thomas East, who, with his wife, was on the D. Y., A. A. & J. railroad car which jumped the rails in Detroit Tuesday, says that her father received three bad gashes in the head and was injured internally. Shortly after the accident he was removed to his home in Pittsfield, where he is said to be in a quite serious condition. Mrs. East, his wife, was not badly injured, only receiving a severe shaking up.

The car to which the accident occurred was out-bound about three-quarters of a mile from the city limits. It was bowling along at a high rate of speed and jumped the track without a moment's warning. Eight persons were seriously injured.

CELLARS BREED FOUL DISEASES

The Jackson Patriot says: "The newspapers of the city," said a prominent physician Saturday, "can do the people the biggest kind of a service by impressing upon them the urgent necessity for attending to an ordinary sanitary precaution, and doing it right now. I have been expecting a run of typhoid fever, and in my practice it has come. I have had five cases develop within the last four days, and in not one of them can I trace it to the drinking water.

"At some time or other during the spring and summer, half the cellars of the city have been flooded—some with surface water, some with back-water from sewers. The commonest precaution against serious disease is to look to these cellars. The windows should be opened, fresh air and sunlight let in and a solution of copperas scattered about. All that is necessary is to dissolve the copperas in hot water. It costs but little, is effective and is not noticeable through the house. Typhoid fever is an insidious disease and is always more prevalent during a wet season."

GERMAN DAY A BIG SUCCESS

It Closed About Daybreak Friday Morning

YESTERDAY'S SPEECHES

Mayor Dawson Made Address of Welcome and John P. Kirk Spoke Happily of the Event

The German Day celebration came to a formal close Friday morning at daybreak, when the last dancer left the Arbeiter hall, but in reality the event had its end with the fireworks display at 10 o'clock Thursday, for shortly after that time practically all of the Germans went to their homes.

All night there was dancing, but it was carried on almost entirely by American young people, for the Germans had had enough of merry-making at a comparatively early hour, and besides they had to make connections with the Michigan Central or the electric line to reach their homes.

After the speaking in the afternoon the big crowd devoted itself to the various attractions on and around the grounds, and at 6 o'clock there was a general descent upon the eating places and many left the grounds, to return later.

EVENING PROGRAM

The program after supper was dancing in the hall, and the display of a generous supply of fireworks.

Throughout the celebration it was noticeable that almost none of the comparatively few cases of drunkenness or disputing was due to Germans. The Germans were enjoying themselves over innumerable glasses of beer, but they were but slightly affected by the amber fluid and continued quiet and peaceful.

Several losses of money by pocket-picking were reported to the police, and a number of suspects were arrested and subjected to examination and questioning, but in every instance guilt was not established, so the men were released. Chief of Police Warner was on the grounds throughout the day and evening with an efficient staff of uniformed and plain clothes men, and the work of the force was so thoroughly and quietly done that no disturbance had time to pass beyond the initial stage, and there was very little pocket-picking in view of the size of the crowd and the excellent opportunity for such operations. Those having charge of the celebration speak very highly of the police service furnished by Chief Warner, and say that to his efforts is due in considerable measure the absence of incidents that might have marred the pleasure of the day.

POLITICAL ASPIRANTS.

A feature of the celebration was the number of aspirants for political honors who had dropped in to see "Us Germans." Townsend, of Jackson, the district's nominee for congress on the republican ticket, was on hand, talking crops and German with the visitors and their Frauen; and not far from Townsend was W. W. Wedemeyer, of Ann Arbor, a gentleman who missed the candidate class by being defeated by Townsend, but who was handing out as strong a jolly as if he were out after a second term. D. A. Hammond, of Ann Arbor, democratic candidate for auditor general, was shaking hands with his old friends from Washtenaw and Jackson; and there was a crowd of those who are after the sheriff's job—Clancy and Kelsey of Ann Arbor, Lowden of Ypsilanti town, and Lehman of Chelsea, on the democratic ticket; and Burke, of Northfield, among the republicans. Chief of Police Warner is also an aspirant for the republican nomination, but he disclaimed any political intent in his presence at the Grove Thursday.

A ball game was scheduled between the Dexter Athletic club and the Parkers, but in the third inning, with the score 3 to 2 in favor of Dexter, the Ypsilanti lads left the field because of a decision of the umpire, thus forfeiting the game.

The members of the local Arbeiter lodge are well pleased with the celebration and say that everything came up to their expectations. They worked hard and faithfully and did not scruple in their entertainment of the visitor, and to their efforts is due in large measure the success of the day.

The next annual celebration will be held at Chelsea.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly falling to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and, therefore, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., is the only constitutional cure in the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. ## ZION CHURCH ANNUAL PICNIC

The annual Sunday school picnic of the Zion Lutheran church was held at Relief Park Friday. At 1 o'clock the children of the Sunday school assembled at the church and marched to the park, their happy faces showing the great pleasure they anticipated.

Fitting exercises, in which the choir and little tots took a prominent part, were held in a large building on the grounds. At the conclusion of the program, the children were seated around large tables and enjoyed the old-fashioned picnic dinner, served by their teachers.

After dinner, many amusing and exciting games were indulged in, the fishing pond proving very entertaining.

Too much credit cannot be given Rev. A. L. Nicklas and the ladies of the church for the successful manner in which the picnic was carried out.

ALL WERE SAVED.

"For years I suffered such untold misery from Bronchitis," writes J. H. Johnston, of Broughton, Ga., "that often I was unable to work. Then, when everything else failed, I was wholly cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. My wife suffered intensely from Asthma, till it cured her, and all our experience goes to show it is the best Croup medicine in the world." ## GASHED IN THE HEAD AND EAR

Mrs. Joseph Parker in Serious Runaway

WAS WITH MISS GILBERT

When Horse Became Uman- ageable—Miss Gilbert At- tended by a Physician

A runaway in which Mrs. Joseph Parker and Miss S. Gilbert came near meeting fatal injuries occurred in the Second ward Saturday. As it was, Miss Gilbert was badly cut in the ear and head, while Mrs. Parker was painfully bruised about the body.

Mrs. Parker and Miss Gilbert had started out for their regular morning drive when the spirited mare which they were driving became frightened at some object in the street and started to run at breakneck speed. Mrs. Parker held on heroically to the reins and made a brave effort to bring the frightened animal under subjection, but it was all to no avail. It dashed madly ahead, when the buggy on striking some obstruction in the road suddenly reeled to one side. Mrs. Parker and Miss Gilbert were thrown violently to the ground, Miss Gilbert in her fall being almost knocked senseless. Medical assistance was summoned in the person of Dr. Lynds, who sewed up the gashes in Miss Gilbert's ear and head. Mrs. Parker was not so badly injured, although she was much bruised about the shoulders. Persons who saw the runaway say it was marvelous that the ladies escaped without more serious injuries.

The mare was finally caught after running somewhat over half a mile. The buggy was considerably damaged.

FROM HOT TO COLD.

Dysentery is prevalent everywhere in summer and is due to miasmatic poisons, and begins abruptly with inflammation of the mucous lining of the large bowel. In America the disease is common, but properly treated does not result as seriously as in the tropics. Perry Davis' Painkiller is the best known remedy and the most efficacious in the treatment of dysentery.

COLLUM WON THE 50-YARD DASH

"Grandpa" Wilson, who for a long time has claimed to be the champion fat man foot racer of Tecumseh, has been beaten by an Ann Arbor man, Ad Collum, the well known proprietor of the Collum buffet on N. Main street.

Mr. Collum went to Tecumseh on a visit last week and while there left "Grandpa" Wilson far in the rear in a 50 yards dash. At first Wilson was not disposed to sprint with Collum, explaining that he had been suffering for some time with pains in his legs. Collum then took on Will Hicks and several others and beat them. Then, all of a sudden, "Grandpa" Wilson's pains disappeared. He apparently thought Collum was tired out after running three races, so he remarked: "I will just go you one race for fun." When the race was over the fun was mainly on Collum's side for "Grandpa" was not in it from start to finish. Collum now challenges any fat man racer in Ann Arbor to a 50 yards dash. All those who wish to compete will please notify Mr. Collum at once.

INTERESTS OF THE WORKERS

Attorney Wedmeyer Speaks of the Masses

HIS FAIRFIELD ADDRESS

Spoke to the Pioneers—Work- ingmen Kings of the Re- public, He Said

At the pioneer picnic at Fairfield on Friday last, Attorney W. W. Wedemeyer, after graphically describing the journeys of the early pioneers through the wilderness, said among other things:

"When at last the destination was reached and the end of the journey had come. No old friends to greet them! No doors to swing open with hospitality! Nothing to bid them welcome but mighty forests, clear streams and rich and fertile soil.

"It is hard for us of the younger generation to realize that less than a century ago this region was all a wilderness inhabited by the red man, who is now little more than a memory. To the old pioneers who are now in the winter of their days the spring-time of their lives must seem like the dream of another world.

"These annual picnics are reminders of things both sad and pleasant. You miss many faces that had grown familiar to you in the dear old days gone by. Even with those who remain many a brow is just a little more wrinkled since last you met; many an eye has lost its cunning; many a foot no longer has its fleetness. Yet there is an inexpressible pleasure and tenderness in meeting old friends and acquaintances—the associates of years.

"Many of these older folks learned the lessons of their school days in the old log school house which is now but a memory. But the lessons taught amid these rude surroundings were such as trained vigorous men and noble minded women.

"Schools are not made up of brick and mortar and stone; they are made of finer material than these. The heart and conscience of the teacher, the earnest desire on the part of the scholar to learn the lessons of truth and of life—these are the things that make the real school, no matter whether its sessions be held in log cabin or massive hall.

"It is the working thousands who have made the republic what it is. It is their interests—and not the interests of the few—that should have our attention. Our hearts beat in sympathy with the men who toil. That is why we hope for the success of the coal miners who are fighting for wages and conditions that will enable them to live decently and to give their children the advantages of a good education. Of course, we do not approve of any violence. President Mitchell condemns this, and we agree with him. But our hearts, and hopes and prayers are with the working men and toiling women—the real kings and queens of the republic. We do not recognize any ruling classes. We believe that the power comes of right from the people—from the consent of the governed. We must watch out carefully for the interests of the working masses, and if we do this there is no limit to the development of this republic, which is, as has been well said, 'the forenoon of its best days.'"

Monday, Wednesday and Friday, for Sturgeon Bay, Wis., and Menominee, Mich., and 9:30 a. m. Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday for Manistique, Mich. The public will find this route a desirable one between lower Michigan points and points in Northern Wisconsin and the Upper Peninsula, and the fares lower than via any other line.

PERSONAL ITEMS FROM SALEM

Saline, Aug. 5.—Mrs. Benton, of Plymouth, and Mrs. Van Sickle, of Salem, are spending the day with their brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Simmons.

Mr. Roy Terrill is visiting friends in Big Rapids.

Miss Jessie White, of Northville, is the guest of Miss Ruth Munn this week.

Miss Emma Lane is visiting friends in Highland and Milford.

Some of the Salem young people will give a fishing party at Whitmore Lake next Saturday.

Several of the young people from here will take advantage of the cheap excursion to Bois Blanc Island Friday. Herschel Munn attended the circus at Ypsilanti Tuesday.

James Lewis, a former Salineite, but now a resident of Jackson, is renewing old acquaintances here.

Miss Nancy Bennett is still very ill at her home.

Ordinary household accidents have no terrors when there's a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil in the medicine chest. Heals burns, cuts, bruises, sprains. Instant relief.

BREEZY TOPICS AT WHITMORE LAKE

Whitmore Lake, August 7.—A party of 12 pleasure seekers from Howell, accompanied by Chicago friends, took up their abode at the Clifton house last night to remain two weeks.

Jas. Nesbit has a gang of five carpenters working on his new residence on Elizabeth street, rushing it to completion.

C. T. Moss, while driving H. L. Dodge & Son's grocery wagon through Northfield today, drove up to a house and as he alighted from the wagon some pigs ran under the wagon frightening the horses, which ran away, and in turning the corner at Flintoff's the wagon overturned piling groceries, dry goods and confectionery in a promiscuous heap. The horses became detached from the wagon and were caught by Henry Doane in front of Gus Weinger's. Aside from a broken wagon everything came out very lucky.

Misses Lula and Jessie Stevens and Uellie Schultz, of Jackson, are the guests of their aunt, Miss Helen Stevens, for a week.

Don't forget the date, Saturday, August 30, for the great Tri-County Farmers' Picnic. This will be a great opportunity for all the farmers of Washtenaw, Livingston and Oakland counties to hear and see Michigan's next governor, Hon. Geo. H. Durand, of Flint, who will give you a business-like speech, such as you have not heard from Michigan's executive in eight years.

Remember the recital at the M. E. church on Wednesday evening by Mrs. Harvey Pierce. This will be an intellectual feast.

Don't forget the hop at the Clifton house on the night of the 15th.

A base ball game this afternoon between the Whitmore Lake Pollywogs and the Tourist Wiggles, was very amusing and witnessed by about 300. The Pollywogs won by a score of 16 to 15.

Chas. L. Rane had his barn re-shingled yesterday, and as it threatened to rain J. G. Pray put on double force of men and completed the shingling 15 minutes before it began to rain. Two double wagon loads and ten single rigs left Whitmore Lake tonight to attend the M. E. social at G. M. Field's in Green Oak.

The Lake house is swarming with guests and Landlord Stevens is happy. Yesterday was Miss Mabel Kinzie's tenth birthday and twelve of her little girl playmates surprised her, and numerous birthday gifts brightened little Mabel's life wonderfully.

Misses Bess Conlan, Anna Hanlon, Lulu Frazer and Allie Dunnegan, all of Webster, will occupy Shady Nook cottage next week.

Mrs. Sullivan and her daughter, from Cleveland, are at the Lake house, making their fourth summer's visit to this resort.

PULLMAN BUFFET SLEEPING CAR BETWEEN TOLEDO AND FRANKFORT

OPENING OF THE "ROYAL FRONTENAC" HOTEL, FRANKFORT, MICH.

The "Royal Frontenac" Hotel, the handsomest summer hotel in the north, will open its first season July 1st under the management of J. R. Hayes, the man who made Mackinac Island famous, and C. A. Brent, formerly superintendent of the Union League Club, Chicago.

Music, dancing, boating, bathing, fishing, horse-back riding, golf, tennis and many other forms of entertainment will be provided. You will find Frankfort and the new hotel a most delightful place to spend your vacation.

MET DEATH IN THE HURON RIVER

BURLEY REINHARDT DROWNED SUNDAY

His Home in Swanton Ohio—Remains Were Shipped to His Mother Today

The first drowning accident of the season occurred in the Huron river Sunday afternoon, the victim being Burley Reinhardt, a boy about 19 years old and whose home is in Swanton, O.

Reinhardt was working with a gang of men for the Page Wire Co., who are putting up wires on the Ann Arbor road. Sunday afternoon the young man, who could not swim, went in bathing with the foreman of the gang. The latter, who knew that his companion was unable to swim, warned him not to go out too far. "I don't care," was Reinhardt's reply, and he proceeded to wade out. The foreman decided to leave the water and left the young man with a companion.

The point where the accident occurred is about 20 rods above the old St. Clair mill in the mill race. It is one of the most treacherous and deepest parts of the river, and when the young man got into the place he lost all control and was beyond help. It was nearly two hours before the body was recovered from the water.

The remains were brought to Martin's undertaking establishment about 5:30 in the evening and were shipped to the boy's home in Swanton Monday.

The boy's mother is a widow and in poor circumstances.

WRIGHT WAS FOUND NOT GUILTY

The jury in Justice Doty's court Friday, found Anson Wright, the Broadway saloon keeper, not guilty of the charge preferred against him by George B. Rooney, who accused Wright of using indecent language on the street.

Justice Gibson represented the defendant, while Andrew J. Sawyer, jr., was present for the plaintiff. Rooney's own testimony was much against him, Sawyer, however, put up a strong fight for him, but it was of no avail.

Every-Day Troubles.

Most Ann Arbor Readers Realize What it Means.

The constant, never-ceasing itchininess, Ever present with itching piles, With eczema, with irritating skin. Doan's Ointment brings relief and cure.

Is endorsed by Ann Arbor people. Mr. C. C. Church, of 520 S. Seventh street, says: "I suffered for years from itching hemorrhoids, and although I tried everything I could hear of, nothing gave me any relief, and at times the trouble was very severe. My attention was called to Doan's Ointment, and I got a box of it at Eberbach & Son's drug store. The first application gave me relief from the irritation and in a short time I was completely cured of the trouble. Mrs. Church suffered for years from kidney trouble in a severe form, and though she used many remedies and was to a certain extent relieved, she never had anything do her the amount of good that Doan's Kidney Pills did. ## MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made and executed by Louis C. McBride and Mary F. McBride, his wife, of the city of Detroit, Wayne county, Michigan, to William E. Beach, of Howell, Livingston county, Michigan, on the 28th day of June, A. D. 1899, which mortgage was recorded on the first day of July, 1899, in the office of the Register of Deeds for Washtenaw county, in Liber 84 of Mortgages, on page 81; which said mortgage was on the 28th day of June, A. D. 1899, duly assigned to Hosea Rogers of Rochester, Monroe county, New York, which assignment was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds aforesaid on the 10th day of May, A. D. 1900, in Liber 13 of Mortgages, on page 410.

It being provided in said mortgage that should default be made in the payment of said principal or interest, or any part thereof, when the same are payable as provided in said mortgage, and should the same, or any part thereof, remain unpaid for the period of thirty days, then the principal sum with all arrearages of interest should at the option of said mortgagee, his legal representatives and assigns, become payable immediately thereafter, although the period limited for payment thereof should not then have expired; and default having been made in the semi-annual payment of interest which by virtue of said mortgage became due on June 28, 1901, and also default having been made in the semi-annual payment of interest which by virtue of said mortgage became due on December 28, 1901, and more than thirty days having elapsed since said payments and each of them became due on the same, but neither of them nor any part of the same having been paid, the said assignee by virtue of the option given in said mortgage hereby declares the whole amount of moneys, both principal and interest, secured by said mortgage, to be due and payable immediately.

There is claimed to be due on said mortgage on this date the sum of two thousand five hundred and nine dollars and thirty-eight cents ($2,509.38), and no suit or proceeding having been instituted in law to collect the same, or any part thereof, notice is hereby given that on Saturday, the 13th day of September, A. D. 1902, at one o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at the south front door of the court house in the city of Ann Arbor, Washtenaw county, (that being the place of holding the circuit court for the county in which the mortgaged premises are situated) the said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale at public vendue, to the highest bidder, of the premises contained in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage, including costs and interests and an attorney fee of thirty-five dollars provided in said mortgage. Said premises being situated in the township of Lyndon, county of Washtenaw, and state of Michigan, described as follows, to-wit:

M'MILLAN IS DEAD

MICHIGAN'S SENATOR SUDDENLY SUCCUMBS TO HEART FAILURE

AT HIS SUMMER HOME, MANCHESTER-BY-THE-SEA.

Manchester, Mass., Aug. 11.—Senator James McMillan, of Michigan died suddenly Sunday morning at Eagle Head, his country home on the shore of the Atlantic ocean, near this city. No event could have been much more unexpected than the death of Senator McMillan. Saturday he was in his usual robust health. In the morning he enjoyed a brisk game of golf and later had a drive along the beautiful country roads near Eagle Head with some guests. In the afternoon, while sitting on the veranda overlooking the ocean, with the spray from the pounding breakers dashing almost to his feet, he complained of feeling faint. But the faintness passed, and later he resumed his place on the ocean side of the house, where a stiff breeze from the sea rolled giant waves against the bold, rocky promontory on which Eagle Head stands, making a sight well worth watching.

THE HONORABLE JAMES M'MILLAN

By evening he had entirely recovered his good spirits and spent several happy hours in the society of Mrs. McMillan, Miss McMillan and his son. At about 11 p. m. he retired, apparently as well as he had been in years, and with every prospect of passing a comfortable and restful night. The senator had generally been a good, sound sleeper, and consequently when he was taken suddenly ill at midnight there was considerable alarm. At no time, however, was his condition considered dangerous, although a cough, which had been first noticed in the evening, suddenly became more severe and the usual ministrations for congestion of the lungs were administered by the physician in attendance.

At 4 o'clock in the morning, when the senator for some time had appeared to be resting easier he all at once began sinking rapidly, and in two or three minutes, perhaps in less time, had ceased to breathe. His heart, influenced by the congestion of the lungs, had suddenly ceased to perform its functions, and death came almost before anyone at the bedside realized the danger. The relatives in Detroit have been notified, and the arrangements for the funeral will not be made until the senator's senior son, William C. McMillan, arrives. It is understood, however, that the interment will be in Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 11.—A dispatch was received here Sunday announcing the death of Senator James McMillan at 4 o'clock in the morning, at his summer home at Manchester-by-the-Sea, Mass. Death was the result of heart failure, following congestion, after an illness of a very few hours. The news came as a great shock to his host of friends and admirers, as when the senator left Washington, shortly after the adjournment of congress, he appeared to be in good health and looked forward with much satisfaction to a quiet and restful summer. For some years Senator McMillan has made his summer home at Manchester-by-the-Sea, having erected a very fine cottage at that place. While no information on that point has been received, the expectation is that his remains will be brought here and be deposited in the family vault at Elmwood cemetery.

Hon. James McMillan was born in Hamilton, Ont., May 13, 1838, and came to Detroit at the age of sixteen, clerking in a hardware store for two years and then becoming purchasing agent for the Detroit & Milwaukee railroad. In 1864, with John S. Newberry and others, he organized the Michigan Car company, which in ten years became one of the largest car manufacturing concerns in the United States, and led to the formation of the Detroit Car Wheel company and the Baugh Steam Forge company and other large enterprises. In 1881 he organized, with others, the Detroit, Mackinaw & Marquette railway and became its president. He was interested in numerous banks and trust companies and director in several. He was the largest stockholder and president of the Detroit & Cleveland Steam Navigation company and the new Detroit & Buffalo line. In 1886 he jointly with John S. Newberry, gave $200,000 for the establishment of a free hospital in Detroit.

Great, however, as has been his success in the financial world, it has been even more marked in political circles. He was first elected chairman of the Republican state central committee, and in 1888 was elected United States senator, being re-elected in 1894 and in 1900. Without assuming the dictatorial attitude that makes political bosses so offensive, he rapidly and steadily gathered the reins of state affairs in velvet gloves which, however, surely hid the mailed hand of the master. For many years his influence has been potent in Michigan legislation and patronage, and his passing cannot but create consternation in the ranks of those who owe their positions and prestige to the good graces of Senator McMillan. On the other hand, the anti-McMillan faction feel, as they see the scepter fall from his lifeless hand, the kindling of hopes long abandoned, and it is not unlikely that before the bier of the chieftain is hidden from sight the skirmish lines of enemies and those of his retainers will be clashing a premonition of the great battle that will now rage around Governor Bliss, whose duty it will be to fill the vacancy for the next five years. In the capacity of senator, congress, too, has realized his great value, and his life in the capital city has been a busy one. He was chairman of the committee of the District of Columbia in that body and was also a member of the committees on appropriations, commerce, naval affairs, relations with Cuba, coast and insular survey and corporations organized in the District of Columbia. As chairman of the district committee, Senator McMillan was identified with district affairs and became very well known to the citizens of Washington, by whom he was highly regarded. He took a lively interest in the welfare of the district and was one of the foremost advocates in the efforts that are being made for the improvement of the city.

Senator McMillan was united in marriage in 1860 to Miss Mary Wetmore. Four children were born to them—James H., W. C., Frank and a daughter. All save James H. survive him. The latter died some months since in Arizona, whether he had gone in search of health. Senator McMillan's family was prominent in social circles in both Washington and Detroit. In the capital he was a member of the Metropolitan and Cherry Chase clubs. If the family desire it, a congressional committee from both houses of congress will be appointed to accompany the remains to their last resting place. The designations will be made by Senator Frye, the president pro tem of the senate, who now is in Maine, and by Speaker Henderson.

Saginaw, Mich., Aug. 11.—Governor Bliss was greatly shocked over the intelligence of the death of Senator McMillan and expressed the regret which he knew would be generally shared over the loss sustained by the state and nation. He absolutely declined to be interviewed regarding the matter of a successor to Senator McMillan until after the funeral, but intimated that the vacancy would undoubtedly be left to the state legislature to fill in the regular way, as that body convenes in January next, unless some unexpected contingency should render a temporary appointment advisable. He will necessarily be guided by circumstances which may arise.

Proclamation by Governor Bliss.

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 10, 1902. Hon. James McMillan, United States senator from Michigan, died Sunday, Aug. 10, 1902, in his summer home at Manchester-by-the-Sea, Mass. Death came swiftly and very unexpectedly, with one stroke ending the active and highly honorable career of one of the most eminent of Michigan's many illustrious public men. But slightly past his sixty-fourth birthday, in the maturity of a vigorous life, he had the promise of many years of useful service and his untimely demise will be generally regretted. A self-made man, resolutely he climbed the ladder of success in both business and public life, at all times clear of head and keen of judgment, a man to be depended upon, a true friend, honest of purpose and fair in his dealings with all men. In his home relations, where American manhood is at its best, he was a loving husband and a devoted father. Thrice elected to represent this commonwealth in the United States senate, by very force of character he became a leader in that august body, applying to the solution of the problems of legislation the sharpened judgment of a business man, and bringing to the execution of tasks intrusted to him executive ability of a high order. His death is a distinct loss to the nation as well as to the state. As a mark of public respect, until after the funeral, the flags on the capitol and at all other state buildings will be displayed at half-staff. During the funeral services all state departments will be closed and as far as circumstances will admit the justices of the supreme court, state officers and heads of departments are requested to attend the obsequies. (Signed) A. T. BLISS, Governor.

THE LEONARD MEMORIAL

Monument to Commemorate Our Oldest Iron Foundries.

ELABORATE DESIGNS PREPARED.

This New Work of Art Will Be Erected in a Square at Taunton, Mass.—Charles H. Niehaus Is the Sculptor—Monument Will Be on a Large Scale.

The Leonard family were famous in England and Wales for their iron foundries during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, and in accordance with the spirit of the age they kept the secrets of their art to themselves, handing them down from father to son. About 1651 certain members crossed the Atlantic and established a foundry in Massachusetts, says the New York Times. Two years later one of them went to New Jersey and opened the first furnaces near Rahway. Since that period many of the family have continued in the business, especially those who live at Taunton, Mass. In order to embellish that city and raise a memorial which shall have its foundation stones laid on the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of the industry in America the Leonard family intends to place at Taunton a monument on a large scale. The sculptor is Charles H. Niehaus. He has made two designs consisting of groups of figures about a base, which represents an island in a circular basin of water, and of a shaft rising from the base. In the one the shaft rises about ninety feet in the form of an obelisk, square in section. The plinth has low reliefs, with figures showing man and woman plighting troth, vestal virgins caring for the fire on an altar and other groups, treated in the classical vein, which refer to family life. The groups below are designed for bronze and show the prospector discovering iron ore, the iron master extracting the metal, the smith and the artificer in iron. In this design provision is made for an abundant fall of water which may gush from grottoes on two sides of the island.

The second design is not so tall. Here the groups are more concentrated, the island being smaller and the cascade feature being omitted. Behind the groups, which are also calculated for bronze, rises the base of a granite pedestal, against which tree forms are to be displayed in bronze. On the cap of the pedestal stands a great draped female Genius holding a torch on high and in her other hand a Mercury's helmet, with wings. The figures for the lower groups in each design are calculated for a height of eight feet. The monument will cost from $150,000 to $200,000, the shaft or pedestal and island being of granite. In the second design, with the draped Genius and torch, the groups for bronze on the four sides of the island or lower base are studied with much care and are agreeably diversified. Each side has three or four figures. Here are laborers prying the ore from the earth, there the molten iron is being poured from the crucible by the foundrymen, while the furnace flames in the background. Yonder is a seated master explaining his craft to a 'prentice boy in leather apron, who holds a big, long handled hammer, while the mother stands behind listening. A fourth group shows the iron being fashioned. The groups on this model are much more studied and composed than on the other. They have variety and good movement and a certain rhythm of line and mass which those of the other model lack. The two designs will be forwarded to Taunton in order that the local committee of Leonards may judge the work. Perhaps the simple shaft with its frieze of low, classic reliefs on the plinth in the first model will find favor. On the other hand, the groups of the lower part in the second model may be preferred. Then the sculptor will sacrifice the big Genius and put the tall shaft in her place, thus combining the finer features of each.

The Leonard memorial, as can be easily imagined, is not to be finished for a long while. The studies for a larger model may occupy a year or two, and it may be five years before the monument is unveiled. The site for this important work of art is a square in Taunton surrounded by immense trees, which look as if they might have been planted when the Leonards first came from England. There is a fountain in the center of the square just where the monument ought to stand. Perhaps in the completed design the fountain idea may be included. In any case within five or six years Taunton is likely to have a more important monument than anything of the sort in Boston. The family is so large and so many members are still engaged in the iron industry that the heavy outlay for a work of art of these dimensions will not stand in the way. The sum of $100,000 is already secured for the fund.

Junior Star Ball Team of Chelsea Has Made a Record—Other Chelsea News

Chelsea, Aug. 8.—Jacob Shaver, one of Chelsea's pioneer residents, was taken suddenly ill early yesterday morning. Today the teams that have been drawing poles, cross-arms, wire, etc., south of town for the new line that the American Telegraph and Telephone Co. are building from Detroit to Kalamazoo, will complete their work here and move on farther west. For a week past there has been some twenty teams engaged in this work here, and some five miles south of town, where the gang are at work erecting poles, stringing wire, etc., there have been some seventy men at work. The Unadilla Farmers' club are making arrangements to hold a basket picnic at North lake Wednesday, August 20. Rev. J. Reichert, of Adrian, has accepted a call as pastor of St. John's church, Freedom, and will move his family there about the 1st of October. Judge Geo. H. Durand, of Flint, the democratic nominee for governor, and Chas. Townsend, of Jackson, the republican nominee for congress, will be the principal speakers of the day at the picnic given on August 20 at Cavanaugh lake by the Sunday school and parish of St. Mary's church. This is one of the annual events that is looked forward to with a great deal of pleasure by the children who attend St. Mary's Catholic church, and the attendance will in all probability be up to the usual standard. Jacob Heschelwerdt, of Sharon, has just added a new separator to his threshing outfit. J. H. Hollis has purchased the residence of Shas. Steinbach on Middle street west, occupied by M. Franklin. The Junior Stars ball team of this place so far this season have made a record they may well feel proud of. The team is composed of boys aged about 15 years, and they have played some 15 games, losing but three of them. Their total number of scores amount to 188 and the opposing teams total scores have been 90, and the "kids" have scored bats with teams from Detroit, Ann Arbor, Jackson and some of the near by towns.

THE NATURE OF THE JUDSON WINK

APPLY DESCRIBED BY A DETROIT WRITER

Some Suppose that "Bill's" Wink Is an Ostentation of His Wisdom

Many persons who never came into contact with the distinguished personality, illumined countenance and hirsute equipment of Winking William Judson have conceived an erroneous impression of the nature of the wink. Some suppose that his winks are an ostentation of his wisdom; others that this gesture of the Judsonian eyelid is in the nature of a smirk, such as usually accompanies a poke in the ribs by one wise in his own conceit. There is no squint to Judson's wink and he does not wink like a flash. If the reader desires to know just how and also in what manner the Judson optical callisthenic is performed and expects that the Tribune is about to disclose it, he will be disappointed for it is not possible of accurate reproduction except by Judson himself, but this paragraph will enable the curious to obtain a feeble idea of it. Take your hoe, and go out among the weeds that grow in the neglected back yard, and try to whack them out by the roots. In so doing you will very likely uncover a large, warty toad, brooding there in thoughtful silence. On being disturbed he humps his back, executes an abdominal sidewise twist and slowly, with decorum and one eye, winks the Judson wink. That is all there is of it except silence. There is another method of illustrating the Judson wink, but the difficulty of exemplification would be to discover a demonstrator. There never was but one. This old story tells of it: In France, when the guillotine of the revolution was bobbing lively, scientific students debated the question whether, between the stroke and death, there was a moment of consciousness and it was finally agreed that if one of the number would submit to the cheerful process of losing his head in the cause of science, the others were to be present and as a sign of intelligence the head as it fell was to slowly wink an eye. An enthusiast was found who for such a noble cause committed treason and the republic chopped off his head. His fellow scientists were present and as it tumbled into the basket, they sprang forward. With dignified deliberation the left eye winked once, twice, and then the head spoke and said: "I could keep this up half an hour if I only had a glass full of Bourbon whisky." That was the Judson wink unaccompanied by the Judson silence, but to be sure of an example, interview the toad, or Judson himself.—Detroit Tribune.

LOOTED HOUSE ON ANN STREET

Home of Louis Pratt Entered by Burglars

JEWELRY WAS TAKEN

The Trunks of a Roomer at the House Were Rifled—Losses Not Determined

Other traces of the burglars who recently visited this city were found Friday when Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Pratt, of 504 E. Ann street, on their return from a fishing trip yesterday morning, found their rooms had been entered during their absence. The burglars had used the same methods as in the other houses which they had entered.

It is supposed that this burglary was committed at the same time as were the ones on Lawrence street, two weeks ago. The drawers of the dressers, desks and tables were emptied in a heap in the middle of the floor and all articles of value, jewelry, coins, etc., were taken. Mrs. Pratt had left her gold watch at home and that is among the missing articles. The amount stolen from the Pratts will probably reach $75 in value. Mr. Hugh Brown, who rooms at the same house, is also a heavy loser. His desks are rifled and contents, trunks and satchels are scattered all over the room. Mr. Brown is out of the city, so no estimate can be made as to his loss.

The officers are still looking for the third man who is supposed to have been a member of the gang who operated here, and it is hoped that when this man is located that the property belonging to the Pratts and to Mr. Brown may be recovered.

The Professor, the Lady and the Cow.

It is told of a certain professor whose absentmindedness equaled his learning that he was one day, crossing the college campus, absorbed to such a degree in a book of his that had just been published that he was lost to everything else. Suddenly he bumped up against an object, and looking up he saw that he had collided with a cow that had rudely strayed in his way. "Get out of the way, you cow!" he exclaimed irritably, prefixing an impolite adjective to "cow."

The next day as the professor was again crossing the campus, immersed in his reading, he again ran into an object. "Oh, that confounded cow!" he exclaimed. Then, hearing an indignant "Sir!" he looked up hastily to discover that this time he had come up against the wife of a fellow professor. It hardly made matters better to assure her that he had taken her for a cow, and it required the good offices of the entire faculty to restore an era of good feeling.

THE LATEST JUDSON DODGE

EDITOR HELBER ON THE PRIMARY ELECTION

The Last Move of the Judsonites to Capture the Votes of Unwary Anti-Machine Republicans

Eugene J. Helber, of the Washtenaw Post, has had considerable experience with the tricks of the republican politicians at present in control in this county. Here is what he says in his paper of their latest primary election scheme under the caption of "The New Judson Dodge to Fool the Republicans."

"County Chairman Green seeks to spring it upon the republicans of Washtenaw in order to secure their co-operation in electing the men Bill used such high-handed methods to nominate. They now talk primary election in nominating a county ticket; these fellows who constitute Governor Bliss's machine and who have fiercely fought down every effort for a primary election law until after they have accomplished their purpose, the renomination of their patron, Governor Bliss and a congressman, by the corrupt use of money in hiring voters to attend caucuses to vote their slate, in defiance of the will of the mass of republican voters. They see the threatened danger aroused by their violence to the rights of free voters, they see themselves confronted with an overwhelming defeat and the consequent loss of the fat jobs of the gang, which has banded itself together for the purpose, as they say, of getting the party swill and they are alarmed. They fear that they may be forced to work for a living and this thought is very distressing to them, so they are trying to consolidate the men they have wronged by talking primary election for the county ticket. They hope to fool the outraged people once more thereby. Who ever knew Bill to do anything else? He boasts openly how he fools men. There may be some that will again be fooled by this fake scheme, which is simply a design to catch votes for Governor Bliss, his patron, as also for Townsend, as in case of the election of either he will again be taken care of for a period of years, either as oil inspector under Bliss, or postmaster of this city in case Townsend is elected. It means all gain or nothing, therefore the desperate methods. The poor dupes who will accept the promises in good faith and accept nominations on the county ticket, will find themselves only traded off and defeated. Only men blinded by greed for office and lacking good sense will listen to their talk, let alone trust them, for it means certain defeat."

DONOVAN GETS ANOTHER DOSE

After serving 65 days in the county jail on the charge of vagrancy, "Mike" Donovan, alias William McGraw, was sentenced to 90 days in the Detroit House of Correction by Justice Doty Tuesday, on the charge of assault and battery upon Detective Chris. Burroughs, of the Michigan Central railroad.

Last May, Donovan, in company with another hobo, was found in the railroad yards by Deputy Sheriffs Fred Gillen, Kelsey and Detective Burroughs. When officers attempted to place him and his companion under arrest he drew his revolver on the detective. He was landed in jail and sentenced to serve 65 days for vagrancy. His term expired Tuesday and he was re-arrested on the charge of assault and battery upon the detective. Donovan formerly served a term in the Ionia reformatory.

ROOSEVELT MAY GIVE ADDRESS HERE

PRESIDENT ASKED TO SPEAK HERE IN SEPTEMBER

Good Government Club Are Making Arrangements for Speakers for Next Season

L. J. Lawrence, of Duluth, Minn., who was elected president of the Good Government club at the close of the last college year, paused on his way to Buffalo, to consult with C. F. Clyne in regard to speakers for the coming year.

It is the hope of the new board to have President Roosevelt speak here in September when making his trip through Michigan. Gov. Van Zandt, of Minnesota, has been secured to address the club but does not promise any definite date.

Mr. Lawrence is very anxious to arrange for speakers as the summer is drawing to a close and the prospects of a course, such as was presented last year, seems to be very difficult to secure.

Speaking of Pres. Roosevelt's visit to Ann Arbor, Mr. Lawrence quotes Congressman Corliss, of Detroit, as saying: "I am making every effort to have the President consent to address the students and if it cannot be arranged to have him go to University hall, he will speak at the depot."

CAPT. STEWART OUT FOR DURAND

Capt. A. E. Stewart, a former republican candidate for mayor of Detroit and a recognized republican leader of one of the former legislatures, declares that he will not under any circumstances vote for Aaron T. Bliss. "No, sir; not by a long shot will I vote for Bliss, and I don't care who knows it," said Stewart last week. "I could not conscientiously vote for a man who fought equal taxation the way Bliss did several years ago, and I am not making any bones about it either. If I voted for Bliss it would repudiate my four years' work in the legislature, and I was honest and sincere in my work in Lansing. I know hundreds of republicans in the city who will not vote for Bliss. Why, only last night I was sitting at a table in one of the hotels in the city, and there were four other good old-time republicans sitting at the same table, and every one of them stated positively that he would not vote for Bliss. No, I cannot give you names of any of the men as that would betray their confidences, but when the time comes they will vote against Bliss, and don't you let that worry you. I am for Durand."

RAILWAY CROSSING ON HURON STREET

COMMISSIONER OF RAILROADS WRITES HERE ABOUT IT

Is Waiting for Grade Separation to go Into Effect Before He Takes Action

A letter has been received by City Clerk Harkins from Railroad Commissioner Osborne in reply to a communication from the common council asking what steps the commissioner intended taking towards having a temporary grade crossing put in on Huron street at the point where the D., Y., A. A. & J. electric line crosses the Ann Arbor railroad tracks.

The commissioner says that the time for the use of the crossing by the D., Y., A. A. & J. company has expired, but that he had received a letter from Mayor Copeland stating that satisfactory progress was being made towards permanent grade separation and that he thought the work would begin in a short time. Because of this communication from the mayor, the railroad commissioner says he thought it best not to enforce the order for the temporary grade crossing at the present.

"The consummation of the plans for permanent grade separation will come before the twenty-second of this month," said the mayor today. "If there should be a possibility of the grade separation project not being effected, which is not likely, the electric road people would have to build a bridge over the Huron street crossing. If the grade separation is effected then the Ann Arbor railroad company will build a bridge over the street car tracks at the Huron street crossing."

JUDGE McALVAY FOR SUPREME BENCH

Judge A. V. McAlvay, of Manistee, one of the law professors in the University, who has been renominated for the circuit bench in the Manistee district, will be a candidate for the nomination for the supreme bench. Nine years ago he received nearly 300 votes in the republican state convention for this same office. He is said, however, to be handicapped by his opposition to the Bliss machine, as he nominated Stearns in the last state convention and said some things in presenting Mr. Stearns' name that made the ears of the machine men burn.

Judge McAlvay cannot expect any support for this county, which will present the name of Judge Kline and push it hard unless it should be seen that the machine had previously settled on a candidate, in which case there would not be much value in being a candidate in the republican convention.

"CAT HOLE" IS IN LITIGATION

INJUNCTION FILED AGAINST HORACE J. PRETTYMAN

To Prevent Him from Carting Away Dirt from the Well Known Spot

Attorneys Thomas D. Kearney and Martin J. Cavanaugh have filed an injunction to restrain Horace G. Prettyman from digging, ploughing or taking possession of the Cat Hole, the property which the city is endeavoring to acquire.

Prettyman, it is said, claims to have secured the property through a deed from Otis C. Johnson, the executor of the Lucy W. S. Morgan estate. At the time Johnson gave the deed, it is claimed that the Morgan estate had no interest whatever in the property, but that it belonged to the Laughlin family.

Wednesday, it appears, Prettyman had a man busily engaged in carting away dirt from the place. When this became known to the Laughlins, they immediately secured the services of Attorneys Kearney and Cavanaugh with the result that legal measures have been taken to prevent Mr. Prettyman from interfering with the Cat Hole soil, for a while at least.

THE PARKER DRAIN CASE IS SETTLED

THE DRAIN WILL NOT NOW BE CONSTRUCTED

Petitioners Will Pay the Cost of Building It Up to This Time

The Parker drain case was settled amicably in the probate court yesterday. Attorney W. W. Wedemeyer represented Clifford Parker. Lawrence and Brown were present for the contestants, while Prosecuting Attorney Duffy represented the county.

Mr. Wedemeyer showed that it was not the purpose of Mr. Parker to continue the building of the drain except his neighbors were agreeable to it. The drain, Mr. Parker thought, would be as beneficial to those living in the vicinity of his farm as to himself, but if the neighborhood did not want it he was perfectly willing that the building of the drain should be discontinued.

It was finally agreed between the attorneys on both sides that the petitioners for the drain should pay the amount that it has so far cost to build it and the further construction of it be dropped. It was proposed to build the drain through the Parker farm in Scio and Lima townships.

WILL HANDLE 2,000 FREIGHT CARS

DAILY AT PITTSBURGH TERMINAL OF GOULD LINES

This Will Be Terminal of Trains Passing Through Ann Arbor Some Time Next Spring

Some weeks ago the Argus published an exclusive story of the plans of the Wabash relating to the Ann Arbor railroad, recently acquired by them. It will be remembered that it was then stated, among many other interesting things, that the Ann Arbor was to be run in close connection with the Wheeling & Lake Erie, which had also been acquired by the Wabash, that this line would be extended from Steubenville to Pittsburg, Pa., a short distance, and that through trains would run through Ann Arbor to Pittsburg, Pa.

President Ramsey, of the Wabash, in New York yesterday, said: "There will be large Gould terminal properties and comprehensive Gould local lines in Pittsburg ready for operation some time next spring. Our facilities will enable us to handle over 2,000 cars of freight per diem. Do not think total expense of establishing ourselves in Pittsburg will aggregate $10,000,000, which should not be considered too much of an outlay considering certain returns that will accrue to all Gould lines east of the Mississippi river."

HOW JUDSON WAS APPOINTED

The Saginaw News gives the following account the appointment of William Judson as state oil inspector by Gov. Bliss:

One republican civil war veteran, who has refused to state his views for publication, not long ago told a friend the following story as to why he would not vote for Bliss. He said that at the time Judson was appointed oil inspector, he asked the governor who had been appointed and was informed that it was Judson. "How did that come about?" inquired the man. "Well, sir," replied his excellency, "I hardly know myself."

THE DEATH OF MATTHEW KILLILEA

Matthew Killilea, the well known base ball magnate and brother of Henry J. Killilea, who graduated with the '85 law class at the University, died at his home in Poygan, Wisconsin, a few days ago. It has been erroneously reported that it was Mr. Henry J. Killilea who had died, and as the latter is a son-in-law of Mrs. Dr. S. Hartley, of William street, considerable confusion has arisen.

Mr. Killilea, who passed away in Wisconsin, was one of the best known men of that state and had a national reputation because of his affiliation with base ball matters. He was at one time one of the owners of the Boston American League and was a close friend of President Ban Johnson, of the American association. Mr. Killilea was a lawyer by profession and had an extensive practice in Milwaukee, where he resided.

Always a Superficially. Mrs. Jones—Willful waste makes woeful want. Mr. Jones—Nonsense! Lots of women waste their breath talking, but never seem in want for more.—Judge.
