CHRISTIAN SCIENCE BELIEFS

Lecture by Mr. Kimball, One Of Their Lecturers

MRS. EDDY, DISCOVERER

Of the Science—A Tribute to Her as a Mother in Israel

Mr. Charles Kimball, one of the leading Christian Science lecturers, addressed the Christian Scientists and friends in this city Sunday afternoon. He was introduced by Mrs. Knott of Detroit, and there were a number of members present from Wayne, Detroit Toledo and other places.

Mr. Kimball said in part, that for lack of time in which to give a complete exposition of Christian Science, he would endeavor to give some idea of what it is by explaining some of the differences between it and many of the numerous religious beliefs and philosophies as well as the theory and practice of medicine.

We believe God is infinite, eternal, individual, self-existent, omnipotent, omnipresent and omniscient, that He is Life, Truth, Love, Good, and that He is sole Creator of and the law and government of all that has actual existence.

In logical and necessary consistency with this we repudiate every assumption that he has created sin, sickness or death, or that He has procured them or that they are any part of His nature, plan or necessity. God is contrary to disease and disease is contrary to God—an abnormal monstrosity of the so called "carnal mind" which is at enmity to and unlike God, who instead of having instituted sickness is the natural healer of the sick.

We believe in the divinity of Christ and accept him as the only Messiah. We are striving to live in imitation of his teaching and works. We differ from others because we do not believe that his work, done according to the will of God, for the salvation of mortals, was mysterious, miraculous, or unnatural. Christian Science teaches that his ministry was by way of object lesson—palpable proof of practical and universal utility. He so understood and stated it accordingly.

We differ concerning the nature of sin and evil. A consensus of opinion on the part of the world is that evil is an entity which includes all of the elements of immortality; that it is real, actual and eternal as God and destined to exist in perpetual companionship with God, who is declared to be everywhere and to know all the evil there is forever.

Christian Science declares that all evil is temporal and temporary; that it contains the seeds and nature of its own destruction and extinction; that it is unnatural, abnormal, unlawful and unnecessary, and that it can be mastered and legally abolished. All sin and evil is finite and is doomed to utter extermination and is but the paraphernalia of the same carnal mind, or an erroneous, vicious, ignorant and perverted sense of true being. Jesus said, "overcome evil," "I have overcome the world, the flesh and the devil," go thou and do likewise.

A race of people educated to believe that God has procured their inevitable suffering and tragic doom and that evil is not only indestructible, but irresistible, is permeated individually and collectively with fear, dread and alarm, and with perpetual expectation of disaster and this fear constitutes in itself the prolific cause of mental and physical degeneration and disease.

Materia Medica and phytology hold that disease is natural and we declare it to be unnatural. The matter physician holds that disease, per se, is incurable and many forms of sickness are inevitably fatal. On the contrary, Christian Science affirms as a primary postulate that there is no such thing as an incurable disease and the practice of this science is verifying this, because through its means practically every known disease has been cured.

Physiology asserts that the primary cause of disease is to be found in the realm of mindless matter and we know that causation is to be found in the mental realm.

The matter physician admits that the drugging system is defective and that its practice is tentative, experimental, or accidental, and often is by way of expediency, and we hold that Christian Science as the science of healing is demonstrably perfect and that as soon as the practice thereof is fully understood it will abolish disease.

The matter physician regards matter as able to dominate the life and peace of men and liable by its own caprice to make him sick and kill him, whereas we cling to the supremacy of Mind and the law and power of Spirit.

We believe in prayer without ceasing, and in the highest moral and ethical standard of living. We are taught to obey the commandments and the "Sermon on the Mount." We are striving to abandon sin and to turn from evil, and our religion encourages us to be loving, charitable and forgiving, meek and pure.

The text-book of Christian Science is educating people away from a fatal philosophy or doom and revealing the natural God—ordained dominion over disease and kindred evils.

The discoverer of the Science, Mrs. Eddy, stands today in the fore front of those who are embarked in the crusade against sin and she individually has so successfully devoted herself in behalf of a suffering race that there are hundreds of thousands of people who insistently bear witness to benefits that should excite the hope of mankind. Upright, high-minded, modest, forceful, she is at once the tender philanthropic Mother in Israel and towering reformer whose vast mental scope and capacity qualify her pre-eminently to be the leader of a cause which has for its object the regeneration of mankind.

PROF. KELSEY HAS RARE DISEASE

ONLY CASE OF KIND IN THIS COUNTRY IN NINE YEARS

He is Doing Well But is Not Yet Entirely Out of Danger

The illness of Prof. Francis Kelsey has been known to be serious by his friends for some time, but the exact nature of it and the extreme gravity of the condition which the surgeons found on operating has not been made public.

Prof. Kelsey is suffering from an affection of the liver which is most peculiar and is extremely rare. His case is the first case of the sort which has occurred in the United States in the past nine years and is the eighteenth case on record. It is a disease which is hard to combat and is very often fatal. The liver is full of cysts of various sizes which are filled with germs. They increase rapidly and cause intense suffering. In Prof. Kelsey's case the surgeons found large numbers of these cysts and removed a great many of them, but were unable to remove them all. The question now is whether or not the growth of these cysts has been arrested.

Prof. Kelsey is getting along finely, even better than the physicians dared to hope, but it is too early yet to predict the result of the operation, although the physicians hope for his ultimate recovery.

MRS. ALBER WILL LET HUBBIE GO

She Would Prefer $600 to Having Revenge

She Telis of Divorce and Suit for Alienation of Affections in a Letter to a Palmist

Mrs. Charles Alber, who found her husband in Rochester, N. Y., some time ago and had him locked up on the charge of desertion, again writes to Mrs. Fay, the Huron street palmist who foretold the fortune to which she was to fall heir. She tells Mrs. Fay that she has the choice of accepting $600 from Charles Alber or sending him to the penitentiary for two years, that she has chosen the $600 and will shortly move to Toledo, O., with her little daughter, Revenia, who is now staying with the palmist. Mrs. Alber states that she is determined to have revenge on Mrs. Whitney, whom she claims alienated the affections of her husband. Mrs. Fay said that a suit would be begun against Mrs. Whitney when Mrs. Charles Alber returned, but that she would not return until she has secured a divorce from the man who deserted her.

CLASS IN ORATING IN HIGH SCHOOL

The first regular meeting of Clyde McGee's class in oratory for high school students will be held Friday, at 4 p. m., in Room 24 of University hall. The exact number of those who desire to take the course, is not yet known, and it is possible that two classes will be organized. Mr. McGee will first train his class in stage appearance. The next step will be to teach them to recite well the masterpieces of famous orators. It is his desire to perfect his students in declamation rather than debate, and the young men will not have much opportunity to prove their ability as forensic orators until later in the year.

REMODEL OLD MEDICAL BUILDING

Plan On Foot to Entirely Remodel It

NOT UNTIL FEBRUARY

Will the New Medical Building Be Ready for Occupancy—It Will Cause Many Changes

The medics' chances of seeing the inside of their building are decidedly "up in the air" at present. Dean Vaughan told the Daily-News, last night, that the students could not, by any possibility, go to work there before the beginning of next semester, and possibly not till after the spring vacation.

"The greater part of the furniture is in," he said, "but the plumbing and the electric wiring are away behind. We are powerless to hurry the work along, and so it all depends on the contractors."

"If all our plans are realized," he added, "there will be some big changes on the campus. The pathological laboratory in the rear portion of the homeopathic building will be moved to the new building and will be succeeded by the psychological department. The hygiene laboratory will move and will leave the upper floor of the physics building to Prof. Carhart. And, by the way, not everyone knows that that structure was originally built for the hygienic courses and that the physics department came in on sufferance.

"Two large rooms in the chemical building which have been devoted to physiological chemistry will be left vacant, and the dissecting work will no longer be done in the old anatomical building, and we may have no more use for that place.

"The medical faculty are asking the regents for an appropriation to remodel the old medical building. If we are successful, you will see an unfamiliar look about that ancient pile before many days. The whole interior will be torn out and rebuilt—in fact, little will be left save the east front which we will preserve for tradition's sake. It is the oldest building on the campus except University hall, and the regents, faculty and alumni are all anxious that it shall not pass away. Of course, we may not get the appropriation and that would cripple us somewhat. Dr. Herdman would then have to transfer his quarters to the anatomical building."

"Will there be any special ceremonies at the opening of the new building?" was asked.

"That is not decided," replied Dean Vaughan. "There has been some talk of holding dedication exercises but nothing has been done as yet."

WILL BE TRIED FOR HORSESTEALING

Charles McCort to be Brought from Cleveland

Charged With Stealing a Horse at Ypsilanti—Followed Out of the State by Officers

Wednesday afternoon Deputy Sheriff Kelsey left for Cleveland, O., where he will get Chas. McCort, who is wanted for the alleged theft of a horse and buggy and a load of rugs at Ypsilanti on the 21st of last July.

At the time the larceny occurred Messrs. Kelsey and Bert Gillen followed McCort until they drove him out of the state into Ohio, and subsequently to Cleveland. There he was arrested for another larceny and has just served out his time.

THE ILL WIND that blows nobody good is bent on errands of mischief in the fall and winter. It produces that most dangerous of common complaints, a bad cold. YOUR cold will not become bronchitis, nor consumption if you make timely use of Allen's Lung Balm. Take it frequently until the cough and the stopped-up feeling in the chest are gone. Contains no opium and will not disturb digestion.

CHARGED WITH JUMPING BOND

Miss Nellie Lewis and Eddie Mason, who are charged with jumping their bonds here two years ago and who were not heard of during that period, were captured at Ypsilanti Wednesday by Deputy Sheriff Fred Gillen and brought to Ann Arbor.

The couple were unmarried and say they have been out in Pennsylvania for the last two years. They will be held to the December term of the circuit court.

WHY MRS. TEUFEL WANTS DIVORCE

Mrs. Mary C. Teufel, of this city, has begun suit for divorce from her husband, Gottlob C. Teufel. They were married in 1886 and have two sons, aged five and twelve, and a daughter, aged sixteen. She asks the divorce on the ground of extreme cruelty and drunkenness. She alleges that she has been compelled twice to have her husband arrested for abusing her and that last spring he was sent to jail for 30 days for this offense, but that it did not reform him. She charges that he keeps three barrels of cider in the cellar, that he threw a pitcher of cider in her face and has thrown several pitchers of cider against the stove. She sets up that her husband owns a house in which $450 of her money was put, and a store on Second street which she and her daughter have been running. She asks for divorce, custody of the children, a lien for $450 and alimony.

BAD STREETS IN THIS CITY

A PROTEST FROM MR. E. B. HALL

The Streets Have a Natural Gravel Foundation He Can See No Excuse for Their Condition

Editor Argus: I wish to protest against the manner in which our streets are being cared for. This putting sand on top of manure and mud will never make a good road. I would especially call attention to the street in front of my mother's house, where the gutter and driveway is above the center of the street, but there is not much difference to it all over town. Our streets are a disgrace. I drove in from Silver lake yesterday, a distance of about twenty miles, and I defy Street Commissioner Ross to find one stretch of road a block in length from the limits on west to the lake as bad as Liberty street, N. University avenue, Washburn avenue, or a dozen more of Ann Arbor's streets. Where a city has such a good natural road-bed for its streets as we have, why not scrape off the filth and make use of the gravel underneath, instead of covering it up until the street is higher than the sidewalk? Israel avenue was ploughed up last spring and left in that condition, chunks as big and hard as my office safe being left to be made smooth by some one's buggy. There is S. University avenue, almost impassable for light traffic, just for want of a few loads of good gravel. There is no possible excuse for such streets in Ann Arbor, where we have abundance of good material and natural drainage.

DUANE DOTY DIED IN PULLMAN

Duane Doty died suddenly at the residence of his daughter in Pullman, Ill., Monday. He was the son of the late Samuel Doty and a brother of Mrs. H. P. Finley, of this city. Mr. Doty was born in Ohio in 1834. He was educated in Ann Arbor and graduated from the University in 1856. In 1864 he was made superintendent of schools in Detroit, a position which he held for ten years. Then for three years he was superintendent of schools in Chicago. He gave up educational work to take a responsible position with the Pullman Car company. He leaves a son and a daughter.

THE HABIT OF PROFANE SWEARING.

In a little town out here in the West there has just been organized an "Anti-Swearing Club."

The object of this club will be to cultivate the habit of correct speech among its members, and through them to influence for the better the speech of the entire community.

The profanity habit is not the worst in the world, but it is bad enough; and if the club thus organized can stop or materially curtail the habit it will be thanked by a great many people.

It is painful in the highest degree to hear the holiest names in the vocabulary of our human speech kicked and bandied about like so many footballs!

This is a wonderful world in which we live, with its day and night, winter and summer, seedtime and harvest; its wide-reaching continents, rolling seas and grand old firmament!

And here in the midst of it all are ourselves, with our "bursts of great heart and slips in sensual mire," with our good and evil, our smiles and tears, our hopes and fears!

The world and ourselves! Together they make a tremendous fact, a fact that keeps us busy trying to account for it.

In thinking about it we come to the conclusion that behind the mystery—the mystery of the world and ourselves—stands GOD.

It is the largest, the holiest word ever pronounced by human lips, because it stands for the largest, holiest thought ever born of the human brain!

And it is not good manners to use this great word as many are in the habit of doing.

The man that flings that sacred word around profanely may not be bad at heart, but there is no escaping the conclusion that he is criminally careless.

But one closer even than the word GOD we often hear kicked and cuffed around the cubstones and alleys by thoughtless mortals.

This is the name JESUS.

Do you know, you that are in the habit of bandying that name about in your silly oaths, what it stands for?

Have you read the little book known as the New Testament? Have you read it seriously, with a real desire to understand it?

If you have you are prepared to agree with us that Jesus was not only the purest being ever on earth, but also the kindest.

Reader! Jesus was the best friend our poor old humanity ever had. He lived for but one purpose—to make us better and happier, and at last He died a martyr to the truth which, out of His love for us, He could not desert.

That name is worthy of a more respectful treatment at your hands. You should be ashamed to use it as you do!

But quite apart from all this the fact remains that words are the symbols of our thoughts, hopes and noblest ideals, and to lightly treat the symbols of these thoughts, hopes and ideals is to lightly treat, and eventually to despise, our better selves.

Profanity of speech leads logically to profanity of thought and desire, and the man that has no reverence for the symbol is in danger of losing his reverence for the thing of which the symbol is the reflection.—Chicago American.

Mark Hanna seems not to be in as good standing with the eastern monopolists and coal operators as formerly. He has sinned grievously in their eyes by putting his car into strike matters. And when the operators said some very uncomplimentary things about him and the Civic Federation of which he is president and Mark retaliated by promising to tell a few things he knows, if the operators dared to reiterate their charges, there sprang up between them a great silence and much coolness. Here's wondering how that rapprochement will be brought about that will be so necessary two years hence when that huge campaign fund is again needed.

MINORITY'S DUTY.

The democratic minority in the next house of representatives will be large and powerful enough, if it be united on the really live issues of the day, to keep those issues well to the front and compel some recognition on the part of the majority. If the entire energy of the minority be expended in playing for position in the coming presidential contest, sacrificing principle for some will-o'-the-wisp of temporary advantage, it might just as well be blotted out of the proceedings of the house.

The recent elections indicate unmistakably that the people prefer to have the republicans in the majority with all their faults. There is a strong undercurrent of opposition to republican policies and failures to carry out promises, yet the voters prefer to trust that party with control. But the democrats by presenting a strenuous and united front in opposition to the republican policy of upholding the evils of trust control of our industries and the iniquities of extreme protection may do much to secure a betterment of conditions in these matters. So far as the majority is concerned with these great issues, the country has little to expect. But an aggressive minority may be able to force the hand of the majority and compel some action in the interest of the people in the enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust law.

President Roosevelt is said to be determined to use his influence to secure new legislation to supplement present laws against trusts and combinations. He seems to be possessed of the idea that little or nothing can be done in this direction under existing legislation and he even thinks a constitutional amendment necessary before very much can be accomplished. But the most hopeful thing in his position is that he is said to be disposed to instruct the attorney general to bring suits against various other combines while the president is exerting himself for new and more radical legislation. Whatever of promise there may be in this program of the president should receive the cordial support of the minority. All legitimate efforts should be made by the democrats to secure for the people some relief from the exorbitant of the trusts and the crying evils of the extreme tariff schedules of the present law. There are thousands of citizens who do not believe the present laws against trust combinations have been fairly enforced. It is believed by many that present laws are adequate if honestly executed and it should be the effort of democrats to secure their enforcement while other legislation of a more stringent nature is being enacted. In this way something may be accomplished in the interest of the people, and anything which the minority may do in their interest will be in the interest of the democratic party.

Secretary Shaw is of the opinion that commerce is destined to kill war. The ambition of nations for paramountcy in commercial matters would seem to tend in that direction. War is a great destroyer of commerce, especially of those nations directly engaged in war. But if commercialism is to destroy war, it would seem as though it would begin by destroying the great standing armies which are such a burden upon commerce. If the standing armies of the great commercial nations are not being increased just now, it is because this increase has gone about to the limit. These same nations, however, are straining every nerve to increase their navies. But perhaps the spirit of commercialism has not yet become sufficiently strong to act very directly upon such cherished institutions as standing armies and great navies. Still, the commercial spirit is so strong as to subordinate moral questions in large degree. Nevertheless the commercial spirit is preferable to the war spirit, and so it is to be hoped Secretary Shaw's view is correct.

The directors of the Pennsylvania railroad have decided to increase the wages of all its employees who are getting less than $200 a month by a raise of ten per cent. This is good so far as it goes and the railroad is to be commended for its action. Still this increase is not equal to the increase in the cost of living and probably is not proportionate with the increase of the earnings of the road. Col. Edward Butler, one of the mill-homire St. Louis bribers, has been sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. Mr. Folk, the young prosecuting attorney who is bringing the rotten gang of boodlers to time, is the man selected for the place by the gang, but they are not able to control him or buy him and he is making a great record for himself. The St. Louis gang of boodlers and bribers is probably the most brazen and bold gang that ever started out to plunder a city. Nothing within the control of the city government was too sacred to be put up and sold to the highest bidder. The city government was simply and solely in it for the money. Any trust committed to its care had its price. But now these infamous city officials and the men who paid the price they demanded for favors are up against outraged law and riches and threats of assassination have failed to intimidate the young attorney whom they regarded as an accomplice, a man whom they could control. But they richly deserve all they are getting.

CARNEGIE'S PREDICTION.

Militarism has been the curse of mankind for ages. The United States is the only great nation that has been comparatively free from it. As a result the development and progress of the American union have been unparalleled. Militarism has destroyed untold wealth representing the life labor of millions of human beings. It has also consumed for the support of armies other vast stores of human labor. Millions upon millions of human lives have been uselessly sacrificed upon this same altar. Yet even at this day the greater part of the earth is cursed by this same spirit. In a recent speech Andrew Carnegie has made the statement that Europe must disarm and unite or be industrially swamped by the almost disarmed United States. This is undoubtedly true unless the United States turns from its almost unarmed condition to militarism. There is greater danger of the United States turning to militarism today than ever before in our history. After more than a hundred years of the most wonderful progress in human annals we have departed from the traditional policy of the republic and entered upon a career of governing alien and unwilling peoples thousands of miles distant from the seat of our government and outside of constitutional guarantees, a task which has required a large increase of our military establishment which has now become a permanency. As long as we have stolen goods in our possession we shall need the brute force of a large military establishment to protect them. Of course our military establishment is small still in comparison, but we are fairly embarked upon a national policy which has made militarism necessary in Europe, and no one can predict the end. But with the United States out of militarism and devoted to the arts of peace, Mr. Carnegie's declaration would undoubtedly prove true.

The national grange is on record in opposition to trusts and combines and all interference with the law of supply and demand. It is against branch banking, which of course means that the grange is against the money trust. The grange is strong in its declaration of principles throughout. It is in line with the best and most advanced thought of the thinkers of the day on practically every great issue. But the great trouble with its membership is that the members do not vote in accordance with the declaration of principles of the national body. For instance, the grange is strongly opposed to the ship subsidy graft, yet its members are the most steady voters in the country in support of the party which stands pledged to the principles of the ship subsidy. The republican party is favorable to all the great combinations which the grange opposes, yet the grangers are very loyal supporters of that party and its policy. This seems to indicate that as grangers they oppose those things for which the republican party stands, but as partisans they vote for the things which as grangers they oppose. They may distrust the democratic party and fail to vote for its principles and candidates for that reason, but unless they prefer their partisanship to their principles they should find some means of making their voice heard in the national councils of their party. There is no question but that they have the power if they only exert it, for the carrying out of their declarations of principles. They have the votes to carry their principles into legislation, if they throw them in the proper direction.

"At times I am worried to death," she said, looking at her reflection in the mirror. "I am so tired, and my head aches so much, and my heart is so full of worry, that I don't know what to do." "Dear me!" exclaimed little Mrs. Housekeeper. "I wish I could make it work! I have so much to do, I can hardly snatch a moment to pay you people a call."

"And yet there are only three of you, and your house is small! What would you do if you had to change places with me?" Mrs. Largefamily sighed. "You may think my responsibilities don't amount to anything," put in Miss Bachelorgirl, "but between my invitations and my charities and the magazine articles I write in order that I may eke out my income and the dresses and hats I evolve in order that I may present a decent appearance on the said income I assure you my life is a burden. At times I am worried to death. Oh, by all means let's hear about simpler living!"

"It's one of the crying needs of the age, I can tell you that," returned Mrs. Up to Date. "Charles Wagner says, 'Nothing is simple any longer—neither thought nor action nor pleasure; not even dying.' And he is right. Time to think is what we need—time to read, to improve ourselves, to enjoy the real things of life."

"I'd like to know how you're going to do that when you have a whole house to take care of and haven't the means to keep an army of servants," retorted Mrs. Housekeeper indignantly. "I like things artistic, too, but it takes a lot of trouble to keep them just so." "Then don't have so many of them. That master of interior decoration, William Morris, used to say, 'Have nothing in your house that you do not know to be useful or believe to be beautiful,' and he was wont to advocate the simplest possible furnishings in a room. It is the brie-a-brac, the tortured moldings and chair legs, the heavily carpeted floors and the clumsy upholstered furniture that waste all the housekeeper's time and energy. Simple lines in furniture and decoration are far more artistic, even leaving out of consideration their practical qualities. Study the empire rooms, with their plain, beautifully tinted walls, their hardwood floors and their few pieces of furniture, each piece believing chosen for its simple elegance, and then turn your eyes back on our own overcrowded museums of rooms—" "So much for the housekeeping end of it, but what if you have a whole lot of children?" interrupted Mrs. Largefamily. "Bring them up simply. Dress them sensibly—plain little frocks of good, durable materials, which can be run up by a family seamstress and which don't need tiresome frills or accessories. Give them wholesome food, teach them to enjoy nature, books, simple amusements. When you have rearranged their mode of life, you will find your own much easier. The trouble with modern youngsters is that they are miniature men and women, and it's all this extra fuss which wears out the parents' lives."

Simplicity In LIVING

"I AM about to lecture before our club on the subject of simpler living," remarked Mrs. Up to Date. "Dear me!" exclaimed little Mrs. Housekeeper. "I wish I could make it work! I have so much to do, I can hardly snatch a moment to pay you people a call."

"And yet there are only three of you, and your house is small! What would you do if you had to change places with me?" Mrs. Largefamily sighed. "You may think my responsibilities don't amount to anything," put in Miss Bachelorgirl, "but between my invitations and my charities and the magazine articles I write in order that I may eke out my income and the dresses and hats I evolve in order that I may present a decent appearance on the said income I assure you my life is a burden. At times I am worried to death. Oh, by all means let's hear about simpler living!"

"It's one of the crying needs of the age, I can tell you that," returned Mrs. Up to Date. "Charles Wagner says, 'Nothing is simple any longer—neither thought nor action nor pleasure; not even dying.' "AT TIMES I AM WORRIED TO DEATH," she said, looking at her reflection in the mirror. "I am so tired, and my head aches so much, and my heart is so full of worry, that I don't know what to do." "Dear me!" exclaimed little Mrs. Housekeeper. "I wish I could make it work! I have so much to do, I can hardly snatch a moment to pay you people a call."

"And yet there are only three of you, and your house is small! What would you do if you had to change places with me?" Mrs. Largefamily sighed. "You may think my responsibilities don't amount to anything," put in Miss Bachelorgirl, "but between my invitations and my charities and the magazine articles I write in order that I may eke out my income and the dresses and hats I evolve in order that I may present a decent appearance on the said income I assure you my life is a burden. DANGER SIGNALS IN THE ALPS.

According to the international agreement recently made in regard to the danger signal in the Alps, six shots or movements of a light will be recognized as a call for assistance. In cases of stomach, liver and bowel troubles, it is always wise to heed the first danger signal, and give Nature the assistance she is calling for. The best medicine to aid the stomach in digesting the food, to stir up the liver or open up the clogged bowels, is Hostetter's Stomach Cure. It is backed by a record of fifty years of cures. Be sure to try the Bitters if you are a sufferer from indigestion, dyspepsia, flatulency, constipation or biliousness. Our Private Stamp is over the neck of the bottle.

THE U. S. STANDARD.

No Man Is Stronger Than His Stomach.

The man who seeks to enlist in the U. S. Army must be physically sound. There is a minimum standard of height and men under that standard, no matter how healthy, will not be accepted. But aside from height the requirement is a sound physical condition, and this condition depends in chief upon the health of the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Many a man has been rejected by the medical examiner who appeared externally to possess all the physical requirements of a good soldier. But the examiner looks below the surface. He knows also that no man is stronger than his stomach. Most people look upon indigestion as a discomfort rather than a disease. But

In reality indigestion or dyspepsia is the disease of all diseases. It makes other diseases possible. It involves the blood and the heart, lungs, liver, kidneys—every organ of the body.

WEAK STOMACH WEAK MAN. That a "weak" stomach causes general physical weakness may easily be understood. Food is the staff of life. The source of all physical strength is food. But before the body can receive strength from what is eaten the food must be digested and assimilated. To convert the food eaten into nutrition is the office of the stomach and the other organs of digestion and nutrition. When the stomach is "weak" the food received into it is only partly digested and assimilated; the body loses its proper supply of nutrition and grows proportionately weak. The capacity of the stomach in its normal health and use equals the nutritive demands of the body. State that normal capacity as equal to 100. When the stomach is "weak" its capacity is reduced proportionately. It may be that ten or twenty per cent. of the nutritive values of the food eaten are lost or wasted. That ten or twenty per cent. of lost nutrition must then represent a ten or twenty per cent. loss of physical strength.

WHERE STRENGTH COMES FROM.

Physical strength comes from food and from food alone. If a man has enough to eat and eats enough, there's no reason why he should not have a perfectly nourished and healthy body. If he is not well nourished, if he is losing weight, then the stomach is weak or diseased, whether he knows it or not. If he knows he has stomach "trouble," then he may be sure that the trouble will not stop with the stomach, but will reach out to other organs of the body dependent on the stomach for nutrition.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has restored lost health and strength to thousands of suffering men and women, because it cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and enables the building up of the body in the only way known to nature, by the assimilation of the nutrition extracted from food. "Golden Medical Discovery" makes the "weak" stomach strong, and so makes the weak man strong by perfect nutrition.

"I had been suffering from indigestion so badly that I could not work more than half the time," writes Mr. Victor L. Hayden, of Blackstone, Nottoway Co., Va. "But now I can work every day and eat anything I want. Why? Because I took Dr. R. V. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It has put new life and energy in me, restored my health and made a man of me once more. I used to weigh 170 but had gotten down to 144, now am back to 170 and will soon be back at my old weight if nothing happens. Your medicine has done it all. I cannot thank you enough for your advice and think if it had not been for your medicine I would not have been here many years."

A CORNFIELD LESSON.

The average person seems entirely unaware of the dependence of the several organs of the body upon the stomach for their health and strength. But if a "weak" stomach makes a weak man that weakness must be distributed among all the parts and organs which, taken as a whole, make up the physical man. The relation of the stomach to the physical organs is like the relation of the corn to the soil in which it grows. If the soil abounds in the nutrition which makes corn, then the stalk is tall, the leaves broad, the ears heavy. If the soil is poor or weak then the corn is weak and it is weak all over, in stalk, leaf and ear. Every part of the corn shares in the lack of nutritive elements in the soil. It's so with the stomach. When it is "weak" and there is loss of nutrition, every organ shares that loss—heart, liver, lungs, kidneys, etc. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of organs remote from the stomach when these diseases have their origin in disease of the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition. In numerous cases men and women who have taken "Golden Medical Discovery" to cure disease of the stomach have been astonished to find themselves cured of diseases of heart, lungs, liver, kidneys or other organs.

"Words fail to express what I suffered for three years with cold chills, palpitation of heart, shortness of breath and low spirits," writes Mrs. A. C. Jones, of Waltherboro, Colleton Co., S. C. "I could not sleep, and really thought I would soon die. Had a peculiar roaring through my head all the time. Was so emaciated and weak I could not feed myself. My aunt induced me to try Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which I did, only to please her, and six bottles cured me. To-day am sound and well. During the three years I was sick I had five different physicians."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets assist the action of the "Discovery." Don't be fooled into trading a substance for a shadow. Any substitute offered as "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery" is a shadow of that medicine. There are cures behind every claim made for the "Discovery," which no "just as good" medicine can show.

A GUIDE TO HEALTH.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is a safe guide to sound health. It treats of health and disease in a common sense manner and in plain English. Fate of Steeple Jack

Daring Climber Meets Death at Fall by a Fall

Dan Barry, otherwise known as Steeple Jack, the official rigger of the Philadelphia city hall, has at last met death while following his perilous profession. From the inside of the dome which surrounds the giant brick and marble shaft of the city hall tower Barry fell a few days ago from a plank on which he was at work and was instantly killed.

The remarkable fact of Barry's tragic fall lies in the fact that at the time he was precipitated he was occupying a comparatively safe position. Hundreds of times before in going through the routine of his duties on various portions of the great tower Barry had risked his life in perilous places.

Barry was a man of steady courage and steel nerves. The fall that caused his death was not due to loss of courage or loss of nerve. It was simply an accident such as might happen to any man working on a scaffold. He never lost his head in any situation. Once a week regularly Barry would ascend the tower and crawl like a fly around some portion of its outer circumference.

Barry Plunged into Space.

The massive structure of metal, subjected to the strains of the wind and weather, demanded the attention of a skilled mechanic. Barry's vigilant eye was forever on the lookout for loose or rusty bolts, and, these once found, he would swing on a slender line from some knob or projection and effect the necessary repairs. A very speck against the dull gray of the dome, he would accomplish his work unperceived by thousands of pedestrians passing in the streets below.

Once Barry raised a twenty-five foot pole from the circular opening in the crown of the hat of the statue of William Penn which surmounts the city hall tower and climbed to the top. This placed him at a height of 565 feet above the sidewalk of the street below.

Barry's whole life was a continuous story of thrilling midair adventure, each day being a chapter replete with peril. But what would have meant certain destruction to another man was mere child's play to him. He knew every piece of metal in the superstructure. Penn's statue was an open book which he read inside and out. Not a button or a fold with which he was not familiar and which he did not carefully scrutinize day after day.

The immense clock dials also came under Barry's supervision. In fair weather and in foul he went regularly on a tour of inspection every week, ascending from the coping outside of the clocks to the narrow ledge, which scarcely afforded a footing, immediately below the dials. When the heavy plates of glass in the dial became loosened from their sockets, though this was not often, he would descend on a line from above and hang like a human spider across the timepiece's giant face.

But Barry's thrilling feat, one which made the blood freeze in the veins of the persons witnessing it, was his circuit of the upper dome. Near the top of the tower, about 500 feet from the ground, are eight circular windows. They measure fully four feet in diameter, but from the street they look scarcely a foot wide. Under these windows, running around the outside of the tower at this point, is a ledge curving abruptly downward at its edge and affording a footing of barely seven inches. This perilous pathway is interrupted at eight different points by the ribs of metal which give to the dome its octagonal shape. Barry, laughing at the idea of danger, made the circuit of this treacherous pathway, walking foot over foot and clinging to the sides of the structure with the flat palms of his hands. The strip he trod on was so narrow that no ordinary man would have attempted it at a greater height than six or seven feet from the ground. Barry made light of it at 500, with the depth of the city hall courtyard yawning below him like a chasm.

And yet the man who could achieve feats of this kind without a tremor was the victim of a comparatively insignificant fall. For two weeks Barry had been superintending the painting of the structural steel work which braces the tower's interior. From the very top the work had progressed downward to the cantilever floor, a distance of eighty-two feet above the clock floor. The cantilever floor consists of steel beams, no flooring being put down at this point. Barry was working a few feet above this floor. He stood on a plank supported near the ends by two projecting pieces of wood known to mechanics as "3 by 4 wood." The ends of these two sticks were wedged in between the metal work, and the twelve inch wide plank on which Barry stood lay across their projecting ends. Whether the plank slipped from these boards or whether Barry, forgetting himself momentarily, stepped to the end of the plank and tipped it up will never be known. Forsythe, one of the three other men with him, heard a slight rumble and looked around just in time to see Barry and the plank precipitated into the black depths below.

"My God!" cried Forsythe, clinging to a support with a grip of iron as he leaned far out to watch the fated man in his descent. "My God, he is gone!"

All three men saw him strike the cement floor below the clocks. Barry fell fourteen feet and hit a steel beam, crushing all the ribs of one side and turning over like a pin wheel in his downward flight. Two-thirds of the way down he came in contact with a narrow circular bar which snapped his legs and again sent him spinning around and around. A second later he reached the floor, a bruised and bleeding mass.

Barry was a sailor in his earlier days and afterward a ship rigger. He acquired the sobriquet of "Steeple Jack" from his many daring feats of climbing. His specialty was later climbing high poles and weather vanes for the purpose of running up flag halyards or gilding the ornaments at their tops. But his most perilous work was done on the city hall tower, over every square foot of which he climbed with a nerve and daring possessed by very few men. That he should meet death from a fall which a child might have avoided after having spent his whole life since boyhood in aerial feats of a perilous character seems like the irony of fate.

Lioness and Tiger Fight to the Death

At the zoological gardens at Perth, Western Australia, there recently took place a fearful battle between a lioness and a tiger. An eyewitness says the scene was terrifying.

Seizing the lioness by the throat, the tiger's teeth tore through the flesh, severing the windpipe and lacerating the neck frightfully. He dragged her round the cage and on one occasion threw her right over his back. The strength of the tiger can be gauged by the fact that the lioness is estimated to have weighed quite two hundred-weight. Mr. Le Souef, the director of the gardens, says that with the strength he displayed during the fight the tiger would be capable of taking a full grown horse in his mouth and carrying it away.

The struggle lasted twenty minutes, and it was impossible for the director and head keeper, who witnessed the affair, to separate the enraged beasts. A hose was played with its full force in the faces of the animals, but with no avail. The noise and excitement were tremendous. The lioness showed great pluck and fought with all her strength, but the tiger was her master. Eventually, by dint of beating him with a stick and shouting, the tiger was induced to drop his prey and crawled into an inner cage, where he was promptly isolated.

The lioness died hard and almost at the last used her remaining strength to bite clean through a piece of stout board which Mr. Le Souef tried to pass under her head in order to relieve her breathing.

The tiger bore few marks of the encounter, although he received some terrible blows. According to an eyewitness, each one would have been sufficient to smash in the head of a man. Half an hour after the tiger had been driven away the lioness died.

The Tomb of Noah.
The tomb of Noah is supposed to lie in the small town of Nakhichevan, on the plain of Ararat. The burial place is at the side of the broken walls of an abandoned fortress in the midst of a vast plain which is literally covered with the remains of bygone glories.

South Africa.
South Africa is of volcanic origin, and the land in the vicinity of Kimberley is so sulphurous that even ants cannot exist upon it.

Soldiers in Peace Times.
Under favorable conditions of peace the mortality among soldiers is practically the least known, with a death rate of only 5 in every 1,000. Compared with a soldier's life the placid days even of a clergyman are full of danger, for his death rate is 11 in 1,000, or more than twice as great as that of his militant brother.

INDIA'S ROYAL PAGEANT

Plans For the Magnificent Delhi Coronation Durbar.

NOBLE CHIEFS WILL ALL ATTEND

Homage For King Edward to Be Tendered to His Viceroy—Imposing Ceremony Will Be Held Near the Scene of Many Deeds of British Valor.

The ground upon which the ceremonies connected with the coronation durbar at Delhi, India, will take place is not only specially connected with the roll of honor of the British empire, for the famous ridge bounds it on the east, but is also specially associated with the assumption of imperial authority, as the Shalimar gardens, which witnessed the coronation of the only great mogul emperor subsequent to the founder of the present city of Shahjahanabad—viz, Aurangzeb, the ornament to the throne—lie but a short distance removed to the west, and the durbar itself will be held in the great Bawari plain, upon the same site as the imperial assemblage which signaled the assumption of the title of kaiser-i-hind by the first queen empress of India on Jan. 1, 1877, says the London correspondent of the New York Times.

At ordinary times the plain at the foot of the ridge is an empty, bare stretch, covered with short turf and forming a pleasant ground for a morning's canter, but at Christmastide, 1902, it will be covered with the snowy camps of the viceroy of India and his principal lieutenants and adjutants and will be resplendent with the bright eastern surroundings by which such camps are always framed. The viceregal camp will be in the center of all, flanked on the south by the camps of the governor of Bombay and of the commander in chief of India and the generals of the four commands, and on the north by those of the governor of Madras and the lieutenant governors, chief commissioners and agents to the governor general throughout India.

At the back of the central camp is being constructed a permanent residence for the viceroy's occupation. This will hereafter fill a much needed want at Delhi—viz, a guesthouse for distinguished guests and visitors. The press camp will be on the left of the state camps and one visitor's camp on the right, while another will be outside the Kashmir gate of the city. All the camps and the durbar plain will be connected by the light railway which is being constructed for the convenience of visitors, and all will be illuminated by electric light.

Proceeding along the Grand Trunk road and beyond the canal another plain is seen to the north, more low lying and more bare than the stretches of the old cantonment. This is the Bawari plain, and in the middle of it, about two miles from the state camps, which will be the center of everything, and some four miles from the Kashmir gate, are the imperial amphitheater and dais where the coronation durbar will be held. On this occasion, as on that of the imperial assemblage, it will be the scene of a gorgeous ceremony, in which no element of oriental pomp will be lacking. The viceroy himself, the great chiefs in peace and war subordinate to him alone, the noble Indian feudatories of the crown, troops and guns, horses and elephants, splendid regiments and brightly clad, joyous crowds, all will be there and will make a picture of display and splendor such as has never been seen even in India.

The amphitheater in which the durbar will be held is somewhat different in shape from that constructed in 1877 and has been built in a horseshoe form, with the imperial dais at the upper end instead of in the center, as then. Inside the wedges of seats will be a circular road, by which the viceroy will drive up to the dais, and in front and behind the amphitheater will be drawn up the troops which will lend military splendor to the display. The road from the viceroy's camp to the amphitheater will pass through the principal bodies of troops encamped at Delhi; the cavalry camp, however, will be farther up the Grand Trunk road, near Badliksavh, where the battle of June 8, 1857, was fought, and on the nearer side of it will be the camp of the ruling chiefs of the Punjab. The camps of the other ruling chiefs of India will be situated at various points on the western road from the Lahore gate of the city of Rehtak, and on the southwestern road from the Ajmir gate to the Kutab, and great will be the display and furious

TO A CEMETERY AND A CHURCH

Frank Cranson Willed All of His Property

THE WILL IS CONTESTED

By His Brother and Sister—The Webster Congregational Church and Cemetery the Legatees

The will of Frank Delos Cranson is to be contested by Edgar Cranson and Elsie Cranson, brother and sister to the deceased. Frank Cranson died about five months ago at his home in Dexter, and willed all his property to the Webster cemetery and the Congregational church of the same place.

The will gives all his personal property to the Webster cemetery, where Frank Cranson's father and mother are buried. The income from the principal is to be used for the first 25 years in keeping up and in repairing the cemetery grounds and buildings, and after that period has elapsed, the whole amount is to be turned over to the proper authorities governing the cemetery.

The real estate of Mr. Cranson is bequeathed to Bert Kinney, of Webster as executor, the income from the same to be turned over to the Congregational church of Webster for 25 years, after which it is to be given over in toto to the church authorities.

Mr. Cranson had no children and consequently there is no friction from such a source, but Miss Elsie Cranson and Edgar Cranson are to contest the will on the ground that Frank Cranson was incompetent to make it when he died and that the present beneficiaries under the will have no legal interest in the property.

Attorney M. J. Cavanaugh will appear for the executor and the estate. Prof. B. M. Thompson and W. D. Harriman will appear for the contestants. The date set for the hearing is Nov. 22 and it promises to be one of the most interesting of contested will cases.

WOMEN STUDENTS IN THE UNIVERSITY

STEADY INCREASE IN LITERARY DEPARTMENT.

While In the Last Ten Years There Has Been a Big Falling Off in Professional Schools.

While in 1872-3, three years after the first woman entered the University, there were 45 women in the literary department and 44 in the professional schools, last year there were 668 women in the literary department and only 57 in the professional schools. There has been a rapid decrease of women in the professional schools since the high-water mark was reached in 1892-3, when 100 women were enrolled in the professional schools. There has been a rapid decrease of literary department. Twenty years ago there were 110 women in the literary department and 74 in the professional schools. Ten years ago there were 437 in the literary department and 94 in the professional schools.

The highest number of women at any one time in the literary department was last year, 668; the highest number in the medical department was 72 in 1894-5; the highest number in the law department was 6 in 1886-7 and again in 1896-7; in the homeopathic department, 28 in 1887-8; in the pharmaceutical department was 10 in 1890-00; in the dental department 10 in 1898-9, and again two years later.

The women in the professional schools last year were divided as follows: Medical 35, law 5, pharmaceutical 3, homeopathic 7, dental 7.

MISS WANTY DIED LAST NIGHT

Miss Catherine Wanty, of Augusta township, died Monday at the Homeopathic hospital from complications of pneumonia. She is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wanty, of Augusta, one of the oldest and most respected families in this section of the country. Miss Wanty was ill for about four weeks at the hospital prior to her death. She was a cousin of George P. Wanty, judge of the western district of Michigan, well known all over the state. There were complications and an operation became necessary a few days ago after which Miss Wanty rapidly failed. She leaves three brothers and a sister, besides her mother and father, who mourn her loss.

THE REICHERT DIVORCE CASE

THE HUSBAND SUES FOR THE DIVORCE DENIED WIFE

On the Ground of Desertion—The First Divorce Trial Was One of the Most Celebrated Ones in County

John George Reichert has brought suit for divorce against his wife, Mrs. Katherine C. Reichert, nee Knoch, on the ground of desertion.

About four years ago the wife brought suit for divorce and one of the greatest divorce trials in the history of the county ensued, interest being widespread not only on account of the prominence of the parties and their family relationships, but also from the nature of the testimony. The case went to the supreme court and was finally decided Oct. 31, 1900, and Mrs. Reichert was not given the divorce she asked for.

Now Mr. Reichert is asking for the divorce he previously fought against. The parties have not lived together since their previous trouble and Mrs. Reichert is put down in the directory as a widow, a fact which isn't at all pleasing to her husband.

JUDGE KINNE DECIDES KELLY CASE

THE DEEDS CONVEYED PROPERLY OF THE WIFE

Back to the Husband, Although Such May Not Have Been the Intention

Judge Kinne filed his decision in the case of Maurice G. Skinner vs. Louis L. Kelley Monday.

The first part of the decision calls up the litigation between O. A. Kelly and his son, which culminated in the son failing to enforce his claims against his father and the conveying of all the property of O. A. Kelly to his second wife Amelia Kelly. This happened in 1882. In 1892 Amelia Kelly made her last will devising lands to her husband, O. A. Kelly and at the same time executed a deed of them.

These documents were left with Judge Cheever to be delivered to Mr. Kelly on the death of the grantor, Amelia Kelly. However Mr. Kelly died first.

The decision continues: So far there is no dispute as to the facts. An attempt is now made to change the logic of these facts by parole evidence, and to substitute a new and different contract and understanding.

If this contract between the parties and Judge Cheever has rested in parole and no attempt had been made different case would exist.

"It seems to me that the effort here made is in violation of the fundamental principles of evidence."

Here Judge Kinne pays a high compliment to the ability of Judge Cheever.

"It can scarcely be presumed that he arranged this transaction so that it should operate as a farce rather than a legal act. It was an escrow in the law; it passed the title beyond the control of the grantor. Human memory is not always reliable after a lapse of ten years. It may be true that these parties never intended that the son should ever receive any of this property and it was undoubtedly contemplated that Amelia should first depart this life and leave Obadiah to suffer alone. And if Providence had approved of the intention and arrangement the plans of these people might have been executed, but it seems that a different dispensation was ordained which I think must ensure to the benefit of this son.

"I am of the opinion that upon the delivery of this deed to Judge Cheever the title passed beyond the control of the grantor and upon the death of O. A. Kelly the title became vested in the defendant as his sole heir at law. I do not think that the conveyances made by Amelia Kelly to innocent parties can be disturbed. I think the bill of complaint must be dismissed and the relief sought by the answer of the defendant must be granted. Under the circumstances of this case I think that no costs should be awarded to either party."

DO NOT BE AFRAID

to look the facts squarely in the face. That cough, racking and persistent, accompanied by tightness in the chest and spitting of sticky mucus, is a sign of consumption. Common sense dictates the use of Allen's Lung Balsam, an honest remedy, since it contains no opium; an efficient remedy, since it heals the irritated, inflamed throat and lungs, and so prevents a deep-seated cold from running into incurable forms of consumption.

Chew tobacco, chew tobacco, Chew, chew, spit, Michigan, Michigan, Naughty-four lit.

But if they follow out the injunctions of this yell on the sidewalks, or in public buildings or street cars of Ann Arbor, they will find themselves in the county jail.

The common council Monday evening passed the anti-expectorating ordinance. Ald. Koch wanted to know if a person was compelled to spit what he should do. City Attorney Sawyer said "Into the streets, where there are gutters or in his handkerchief."

Health Officer Hinsdale said that nearly all cities had such ordinances now. In Ypsilanti you will see signs "Please do not spit on the sidewalks." These ordinances are in the interest of public health. Michigan has more consumption than any other state excepting Massachusetts. It is spread largely by this practice. It ought to be a heavy criminal offense for infected persons to expose others to the dangers of contagion by this practice. Last year one alderman moved an amendment that large spittoons be provided for each street and this laughed the ordinance out of the council. This ordinance is progressive. As the people become better educated up to the laws of health they will observe it more closely.

The ordinance passed by unanimous vote. It may have one effect not spoken of, viz., it gives the officers a chance to arrest street corner loafers whose principal employment seems to be expectorating tobacco juice.

The ordinance committee sought to put an ordinance against transient traders on its third reading, but City Attorney Sawyer informed them that he had had that ordinance printed already just as they had it and that they had an ordinance passing all ordinances as printed. Nothing more was said about this transient traders ordinance, although this must have struck the aldermen as a new way of passing ordinances.

An ordinance prohibiting the sampling of the city with patent medicines or food products was passed its first and second reading.

Then a blanket ripper ordinance was passed its second reading, the like of which was never before heard of. It contained just two provisions: (1) That all ordinances not contained in the revised ordinances are hereby repealed and (2) all ordinances beginning with page blank and ending with page blank are hereby passed and adopted as ordinances of this city.

BADLY BURNED BY PARAFFINE

HEAT CAUSED PAIL TO CRUSH IN HIS HANDS

George Lutz Had His Hands Burned While Working on the New Medical Building

George Lutz, of Packard street, met with a painful accident Monday afternoon, while working in the new medical building. He had put some paraffine in a tin pail over a gas flame to soften, and had forgotten it for a time. When he returned to look after it he found that it had spilled over and had caught fire. Fearing that the fire might spread to the paraffine in the pail, he took hold of the pail with both hands, to lift it off the stove. The intense heat had melted the solder in the seam of the pail and it crushed like an egg-shell in his hands, the burning paraffine poured out and over his hands, burning them severely.

He was taken to the hospital at once, where the wounds were dressed, but he suffers excruciatingly from the burns. Had it not been for his prompt actions the fire might easily have spread to the woodwork of the room and done great harm.

REVOLUTIONARY SOLDIERS

Buried in Washtenaw County Who They Are

A HEROINE'S LONG WALK

To Warn the Revolutionary Army of Enemies Approach—She Too is Buried in Washtenaw

At the meeting of the Ann Arbor chapter of the Daughters of the Revolution this week, Mrs. H. M. Slau-son, the secretary read the following sketch of what the chapter had done, which was sent to the Smithsonian Institution, of Washington, D. C.

The Ann Arbor chapter, of Ann Arbor, sixty-two members, has devoted considerable time the past year to the study of early Michigan history and several valuable papers have been prepared and read by members of the chapter at the regular meeting.

The historical library established in 1898 has received valuable additions and an annual appropriation for the purchase of new books has been made. A corner in the Ladies Library has been set apart for the books and colonial furniture and other relics belonging to members of the chapter.

In February 1900, a subscription of $75 was made to the Continental Hall Fund. Of this sum $50 has been paid and the remainder will be paid before the close of the present year. Contributions have also been made to the fund for the purchase of an armory for the use of Company I, Michigan State Militia, for the restoration of the Polish church, near Washington, and for the placing of a monument to La Salle at St. Joseph, Michigan. Members of the chapter have also aided in the purchase of the Betsey Ross House.

The Committee on Burial Places, Mrs. Emily Clarkson chairman, report that the graves of four Revolutionary soldiers and one Revolutionary heroine have been found in this county and vicinity. They are as follows:

I. John Terhune born April 6, 1759 at Hackensack, New Jersey. He served as ensign all through the war and received nine wounds. He died Jan. 6, 1839 and is buried at Carpenter's Corners, Pittsfield township.

II. His wife, Sarah Vreeland Terhune, buried beside him, walked in the night nine miles, to warn the Americans of the approach of the British, who had encamped at night-fall on her father's plantation at Hackensack. She died Aug. 27, 1850, aged 88 years, 8 months and 13 days.

III. Ebenezer Annibal, a sergeant and seaman in the Revolutionary war, died Sept. 23, 1842, aged 86 years. (Inscription on tombstone at Bridge-water Center, Bridgewater township.)

IV. Capt. Asher Davis, died Aug. 16, 1827, aged —. (Inscription on tombstone in Judd Cemetery, York township.) That he was a Revolutionary soldier is testified to by Mr. H. K. LeBaron, of York, Mich.

V. George Sorter, died Sept. 14, 1851, aged 95 years. (Inscription on plain marble slab in a cemetery near Raisinville, six miles west of Monroe.) From Mr. Elisha Sorter, his son, who still lives in Raisinville, it was learned that George Sorter enlisted at the age of eighteen years, drove a provision wagon for four years and carried a gun for two years. Mr. Elisha Sorter cannot give date or place of his father's enlistment.

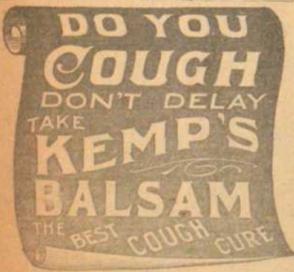

The committee has given the name of Elisha Sorter to the Michigan chapter of Sons of the Revolution.

In addition to these names the committee has the names of six veterans of the War of 1812 buried in Washtenaw County which they have filed to be given to the Daughters of 1812, if they wish them.

The committee is still at work and will, doubtless, have new names to report another year.

Respectfully submitted, (MRS.) CLARA L. SLAU-SON, Secretary, Ann Arbor Chapter.

HEART DISEASE CURED.

Wonderful Results Follow Recently Discovered Remedies.

A $4.00 Treatment Free.

No death comes more suddenly than that from heart disease. Thousands die unnecessarily each year because most physicians do not understand these troubles. Startling improvements have been made during the last few years in the treatment of Heart Disease. Formerly digitalis was the only remedy employed, though it injured many cases and cured none. Dr. Miles, the specialist in heart and chronic diseases, finds it necessary to employ eighteen heart remedies to cure with certainty the many forms of heart trouble.

To demonstrate the unusual curative powers of his new treatments, Dr. Miles will send a $4.00 course free. Every sufferer from short breath, pain in side, oppression in chest, irregular pulse, palpitation, smothering spells, puffing ankles or dropsy should take advantage of his offer.

Mr. H. A. Ashburn, of Redding, Cal., six months after he had taken the Special Treatment, writes: "I feel as well as I ever did in my life. If I ever have another attack of heart trouble I shall write you at once, for no other doctor can treat me."

Jas. E. Adams, 2714 Magnolia avenue, Chicago, says: "Your Special Treatment cured me of heart disease of 15 years standing after several reputable physicians of this city failed."

The president of a leading State College, who had been treated without benefit, writes: "Your treatment has wonderfully relieved my heart difficulty. My stomach also is in excellent condition, and my general health is greatly improved. I am feeling much better than for years." (Writer's name given on request.)

H. E. Bennett, Monticello, Ind., reports: "I had valvular heart disease, stomach and nervous troubles. Five leading physicians gave me up. Your treatment saved me."

A thousand testimonials will be sent free on request. These include many who have been cured after from five to twenty or more physicians and professors had pronounced them incurable. Send at once for free treatment before it is too late. Address, Franklin Miles, M. D., L.L. B., 201 to 209 State street, Chicago, Ill.

THE CONSUMERS LEAGUE PRAISED

BY THE SPEAKERS AT THE LADIES' UNION YESTERDAY

Mrs. Charles Cooley Read a Paper on the Work of the League—League Has 150 Members Here

The Ladies' Union had for their subject, Wednesday afternoon, "The Consumers' League." It is one which has interested the people of Ann Arbor greatly and a large number of ladies were in attendance to hear the discussion of the subject.

Mrs. Chas. Cooley read the most important paper of the afternoon. She talked very interestingly of the work of the League in endeavoring to elevate the condition of the poor workers employed in badly managed factories and sweatshops in the manufacturing of garments. She told how filth and disease prevailed in the houses where this sweat-shop work was done and pointed out that, not only was it a work of helping and elevating a most unfortunate class of people by demanding that they be furnished clean sanitary buildings in which the work shall be done, but it is also a protection to themselves for in numerous cases have infectious diseases been spread by distribution of clothing, made in rooms where members of the family are sick with contagious diseases. She told of the progress which the League is making. More and more factories are coming up to the requirements of the League and are being granted the Consumers' League label.

Mrs. Croker, secretary of the League in this city, told of the organization here in February, 1902, and the growth in membership which now numbers over 150. There are three stores—Mack's, Goodyear's and Mills & Co.—who are handling goods bearing the label, and Mr. McGee's factory uses the label on the goods which they manufacture.

These two talks were followed by a general discussion and a great deal of enthusiasm was manifested. A large number of new members were received into the League at the close of the meeting.

FOR OVER SIXTY YEARS Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for children while teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays the pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists throughout the world.

IS HE NAVAL DESERTER?

A Man in County Jail is Identified as One

WHO DESERTED IN AUGUST

Will be Tried Here for Larceny in December and Then Turned Over to U. S. Government

Information was received here Monday identifying Frank Jones, who is in the county jail awaiting trial for larceny, as the man who deserted the United States revenue cutter Michigan on the tenth of August last. Since that time the man has eluded the government authorities at every turn and a reward was offered for his apprehension.

Captain N. Nader, of the Michigan has been authorized to offer a reward also from the U. S. Navy department of $20 for the capture of Jones. By a series of very complicated investigations the Frank Jones here turned out to be the same man wanted aboard the revenue cutter. His trial here is scheduled for the December term of the circuit court and after that he will be given over to the government authorities.

Jones was born in 1882 at Seban, Mich., and enlisted in the navy on the 26th of June, 1901, at Harbor Springs. Captain Nader gives a detailed description of Jones which tallies exactly with the characteristics of the man held here. He will not be taken to the Michigan until after justice is meted out to him for his larceny here.

A STARTLING SURPRISE.

Very few could believe in looking at A. T. Hoadley, a healthy, robust blacksmith of Tilden, Ind., that for ten years he suffered such tortures from Rheumatism as few could endure and live. But a wonderful change followed his taking Electric Bitters. "Two bottles wholly cured me," he writes "and I have not felt a twinge in over a year." They regulate the Kidneys, purify the blood and cure Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervousness, improve digestion and give perfect health. Try them. Only 50 cts at H. F. Miller's, A. E. Mummery, Ann Arbor, and Geo. J. Haussler, Manchester, drug stores.

DEATH OF CHAS. H. GREENMAN

Charles H. Greenman, a well known resident of Augusta township, has passed away at the age of 60 years.

Mr. Greenman was born in Hamilton county, N. Y., and in 1877 came to Michigan with his wife, who was formerly Miss Jennie Sidebotham. They located in Augusta and have lived there since, winning the respect and esteem of their neighbors.

Mr. Greenman was one of the prominent republican workers of the county and at his death was a member of the republican county committee. He was for many years county and town drain commissioner.

Charles Greenman was a civil war veteran, having enlisted in New York and served with the Thirty-second and the Fourth New York regiments. He is survived by the widow and six children—Walter, John and Roscoe Greenman, all of Augusta; Mrs. Viola Bretz, of Chicago; and Miss Anna Greenman and Miss Jessie Greenman, of Augusta.

Cross-Examination

Will Only Strengthen the Testimony of Ann Arbor Citizens.

The testimony which follows will stand the test of closest investigation. Cross-examination of such evidence will strengthen it. Proof of this nature is plentiful in Ann Arbor and the most skeptical can hardly doubt the claims made by "The Little Conqueror" when placed face to face with the public utterances of friends, neighbors and local citizens. Read the experience given below; it may save you many hours of future trouble:

Mr. F. Walter, of 1103 Forest Ave., carpenter, says: "In spite of all I could do to check it, I had a weakness of the kidneys and a loss of control over the secretions. At times when my work necessitated my locking up or working overhead, I was taken with spells of dizziness. When a friend advised me to use Doan's Kidney Pills I got a box at Eberbach & Son's drug store, and began to use them. I felt better from the start, and they did me more good than all the other medicines I ever took."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents per box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name, DOAN'S, and take no other.

ANN ARBOR TIGERS VS. SALINE

The Ann Arbor Tigers and the Saline football team played a close game of ball last Saturday, which resulted in a tie score of 5 to 5. Saline kicked off and Ann Arbor soon ran the ball back to the center of the field, where Ann Arbor was held for downs and punted to Dell, of saline, who made a long run and a touchdown, but missed goal. Score, Saline 5, Ann Arbor 0.

Reule, of Ann Arbor, kicked off to Dell, who made 20 yards and fumbled, Ann Arbor getting the ball. Chatterton fumbled, but Reule picked up the ball and made a touchdown. Score, Ann Arbor 5, Saline 5.

No other scores were made. Ann Arbor's star players were R. Jones, Reule, L. Chatterton. The Ann Arbor line was as follows: Right end, R. Blackmer; left end, H. Spring; left tackle, J. Scheerer; right guard, E. Stern; left guard, E. Jones; center, C. Rosser; quarter, B. Chatterton; right half, L. Chatterton; left half, R. Jones; fullback, F. Reule.

DANGER SIGNAL IN THE ALPS.

According to the international agreement recently made in regard to the danger signal in the Alps, six shots or movements of a light will be recognized as a call for assistance. In cases of stomach, liver and bowel troubles, it is always wise to heed the first danger signal, and give Nature the assistance she is calling for. The best medicine to aid the stomach in digesting the food, to stir up the liver, or to open up the clogged bowels, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It is backed by a record of fifty years of cures. Be sure to try the Bitters if you are a sufferer from indigestion, dyspepsia, flatulency, constipation or biliousness. Our Private Stamp is over the neck of the bottle.

COLLEGE AND SCHOOL.

Professor M. I. Pupin of Columbia university, who invented the ocean telephone, started his career in America as a Turkish bath attendant.

Dr. Frank Strong, who has just been installed chancellor of the University of Kansas, is the author of an excellent biography of Benjamin Franklin.

Buenos Ayres already bears the proud name of "the city of school palaces," yet a recent grant provides for the construction of twenty-one more handsome public school buildings.

Miss Louise Holman Richardson has been elected associate dean at Monett hall, Wesleyan university, Delaware, O. Miss Richardson is a Massachusetts woman and a graduate of Boston university.

THE ROAD TO WEALTH.

Let your ad. be your salesman. Let it first attract the reader, then interest him, then convince him, and finally sell him your goods.—Boyce's Hustler.

Continuous advertising creates confidence. The prevailing opinion is that one cannot be constantly before the public without being found out and known for what he is. The people believe in a man who can stand trial by the public.—Printers' Ink.

A household necessity. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Heals burns, cuts, wounds of any sort; cures sore throat, croup, catarrh, asthma; never fails.

Unparalleled Generosity.

Town Councillor—Have you heard, Mr. Skinflint, that our generous townsman, Mr. Muller, is defraying the cost of a new promenade all round the town? We think a wealthy man like yourself might also do something for us.

Skinflint—Well, what do you say to my giving you a park of oak trees? Town Councillor—Oh, you noble hearted philanthropist! Why, do you really mean to—

Skinflint—Yes, yes; I'll make the town a present of an oak forest. You have only to find the land, and I will supply you with as many acorns as you may want for seed.—Chronik der Zeit.

Grit in the Eye.

A useful hint was given the other day by a physician who removed a piece of grit from a patient's eye. The accident had occurred at the beginning of a railway journey lasting some hours. "Another time when you are troubled with grit in the eye," said the doctor, "don't attempt to get it out, but just cover the eye with your hand to keep it closed and blink away as hard as you can with the other till the grit is dislodged. This hint was given to me by a commercial traveler and how it acts is more than I can tell you, but it does, and that is all that matters to the sufferer."

The little folks love Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Pleasant to take; perfectly harmless. Positive cure for coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma.

LATEST IN JEWELRY.

What a Pearl "Blister" Is and How It Is Used.

Pearl "blisters" are the latest thing in jewelry, and they are very artistic in effect, says the Philadelphia Record. A hollow piece of pearl technically called a blister is found in many oyster shells, and this makes an excellent center for a large jacket button or hat-pin when mounted on a circle of colored enamel.

The shape is never exactly repeated, and this produces a pleasing irregularity in the design.

FEEDS ONE—STARVES OTHER

Feeds the body—starves the microbes! That is what Scott's Emulsion does in consumption.

We can't expect to understand all about these germs and microbes the doctors talk of. They say that one kind causes consumption. Consumption microbes feed on weak lungs. Perhaps that's so.

At any rate we know that Scott's Emulsion has a peculiar action on the lungs which gives the lungs new life and vigor. Healthy lungs starve the microbes out.

Life for the lungs and flesh for the body, that is what the consumptive has a right to expect from Scott's Emulsion. An ideal food and tonic for any form of wasting disease.

FOUND—A flock of sheep numbering about 100. The lambs are marked with red on back. They were found on the road in Lodi, 9 miles from Ann Arbor, east of Freedom. Owner may have same by calling and paying expenses of keeping them.

Root's orchestra of eight pieces has been engaged to furnish the music at the graduation exercises at the Cleary Business college on Dec. 5.

Great preparations are being made for the doll and candy sale at Harris hall, Saturday, Nov. 22, by the Junior Auxiliary of St. Andrew's church.

The German Washtenaw Mutual Insurance Co. has had another loss, the barn of Theo. Ulrich, of Freedom, burning. Loss $900, insured for $400.

The Goethe library at the University of Michigan which was started from a fund contributed by the German-American citizens of the state, now contains 1024 volumes.

The Rt. Rev. Frederick Burgess, D. D., bishop of Long Island, will preach in St. Andrew's church next Sunday morning and deliver the first Baldwin lecture of the year in the evening.

Miss Nina Saddler, daughter of E. A. Sadler, of 316 E. Madison street, died Tuesday of apoplexy, aged 16 years. The funeral was held Thursday afternoon at 2:30, Rev. Dr. Ninde officiating.

Ed. I. Taylor, who for several years has been on night runs as railway mail clerk, has received a promotion and will now be on day duty on the fast mail, which passes through here at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Wm. Condon, of S. University avenue, while visiting her family, recently in Hancock, fell on a defective sidewalk and injured her ankle quite seriously. Her daughter, Miss Annie, has gone to Hancock and will accompany her mother home.

Hobart guild will give its next reception Nov. 24, the Monday before Thanksgiving. Admission will be limited strictly to members who have paid their dues and to those who present cards of admission at the door.

The ladies of the Congregational church served one of the most delicious suppers it was ever the pleasure of Ann Arborites to eat at the church last evening. A large number of people were in attendance and enjoyed a pleasant social hour after the supper.

Master Alex. Schlappacasse was pleasantly surprised last Friday evening by about twenty of his friends. Games and music made the evening a most enjoyable one. Dainty refreshments were served in the dining room, which was tastefully decorated.

The blackboards have arrived for the new W. S. Perry school and the work of finishing the interior can now go on without any further delay. It is now hoped that the building will be ready for occupancy about one week before the Christmas vacation.

Mrs. Charles Davis and Mrs. Zimmermann have charge of the "Loan Collection" to be held in Harris hall, Dec. 3 and 4. The sub-committees consist of Miss Goodrich, Mrs. Lombard, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Vaughan and Mrs. Wolf.

The Misses Minnie Davis, Lelia Farin and Katherine Lindenschmidt gave a most successful concert in the Chelsea Congregational church Friday evening. There was a good sized audience and they received the numbers on the program with great enthusiasm.

There has been some talk among the Manchester Macneebots of securing a new hall. Mort Hendershot has made the tent a proposition to build a building on the site of the old broom factory opposite his residence, on Railroad street. He would have dining rooms and kitchen in the basement and a large room with hardwood floor for the tent and live meetings on the first floor even with the street. This room could be used for dancing and other parties, fairs, suppers, etc., and being convenient, would rent well.—Manchester Enterprise.

The Skat club will occupy the rooms on the third floor of the Hangsterfer building as club rooms. They will be nicely fitted up and will be the scene of many a jolly party this winter.

William August Bayer and Miss Maud Leon Porter were quietly married Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's mother in this city, by Rev. W. L. Tedrow. They will reside in the future on Spring street. Many friends join in wishing them a happy life.

The Junior Auxiliary of St. Andrew's church have arranged an elaborate "Beauty Show" of dolls for next Saturday, Nov. 22, at Harris hall. Dolls of all sizes, blonde and brunette, will be displayed for sale, affording a delightful feast for the eyes, for the children, old and young.

Herbert McCormick, by his attorneys Murray & Storm, has commenced voluntary bankruptcy proceedings in the United States court at Detroit. The liabilities set out in the petition are $1100, and the assets are personal property amounting to $250 of an exempt nature.

The "Loan Exhibition of Textiles and Metals" at Harris hall, December 3 and 4, will be an occasion, not only of general interest but of real educational value. Rugs, embroideries, pewters, brasses, irons and coppers have been loaned by many of the old families of Ann Arbor.

Many who desired to hear Mr. Sawyer lecture at Trinity church last evening were detained because of the incessant rain. It was thoroughly enjoyed by those present and, while not in line with the ordinary thought concerning the criminal classes, it gave everybody something to think about.

The Ann Arbor Skat club was organized Friday evening with a membership of 20. The following officers were elected: John Lindenschmidt, pres.; Ross Granger, vice pres.; M. Haavahurst, sec'y; Geo. Apfel, Treas. New club rooms will be rented in the near future and frequent meetings will be held.

During the last school year 3,624 volumes were presented as gifts to the libraries of the University of Michigan. The total additions to the several libraries for the year were 9,539 volumes. Over 7,000 of these went into the general library, over 1,000 into the medical library, and 800 into the law library.

James McMahon, 707 North Main street, died yesterday at the county jail. He was brought, Wednesday, from the Homeopathic hospital where it was said he was unmanageable in fits of delirium tremens. Mr. McMahon was a cigarmaker and leaves five children orphans, their mother having died two years ago.

Andrew Reule, of Wadhams, Ryan & Reule, accompanied by a combination of buyers for some of the largest clothing houses in Michigan, started east Wednesday for the purpose of purchasing clothing now being offered in large quantities by manufacturers to close their season's business. This combination stands in a position to accept the largest offerings in case prices are made satisfactory.

C. H. Kelley, representative of Evans & Turner, Columbus, Ohio, who has been operating in this vicinity, closed his business relations here last Friday and left for home. He reports that he has purchased and shipped 7,000 barrels of apples and shipped 15,000 bushels in bulk; 16 cars of cabbage, celery, squash and parsnips, etc., and has paid out $18,000 in money. The last carload of apples went to Columbus yesterday.—Manchester Enterprise.

Gordon's band and orchestra, assisted by several others, gave a most successful concert at the Congregational church at Plymouth Friday evening. They enjoyed a most hearty reception and a large audience greeted them in spite of the rain. Earl Stewart gave several impersonations which were excellent. The string quartette, which gave four numbers, was very well received. They responded to several encores. Each number on the program was a most excellent one. Mr. Gordon has made engagements for concerts to be given in Wayne and another in a couple of months in Plymouth.

At Trinity English Lutheran parsonage on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Frank Edward Drake, of Lodi and Miss Grace Eleanor Morse, of Ann Arbor, were united in marriage by the Rev. W. L. Tedrow. They will reside on the farm in Lodi where they will always be glad to meet and greet their friends.

Judge Swan, of Detroit, has just rendered a decision in the case of Mrs. Louise Gott Miner vs. the Huron Valley Building and Loan association and John R. Miner, which was commenced some two years ago, concerning some lots in the Gott addition. The judge threw the case out of court for want of jurisdiction, deciding that the plaintiff was not a resident of Illinois at the time of commencing the suit as she had claimed.

The Ann Arbor Fruit & Vinegar Co. has had but one year's run equal to that of 1902. It is employing over 40 hands and manufacturing large quantities of evaporated apples, cider, bottled cider, jelly and pure cider vinegar. The latter is regarded as one of the best table vinegars made anywhere. Many housewives find the bottled cider a great labor saver. Instead of boiling down cider all night, they use bottled cider and the apple sauce is finished in short order.

It is said that Mr. Judson has visited quite a number of lawyers here in the vain endeavor to get a lawyer who would give him a favorable decision as to the power to make the board of canvassers recount the congressional vote in this county. Evidently the amount of money involved in the election bets is larger than at first supposed. Nothing farther, in all probability, will be done towards a recount. Mr. Townsend will hardly dare ask congress to recount this county for fear of making himself the laughing stock of the country.

The new system of lighting in the Elks hall is complete and the lights were turned on last evening for the first time. Seventy new incandescent lights have been put in very artistically. Lights of the emblematic color of the order have been put into place at each station. The walls are being elaborately decorated by M. D. Moore, who says that he will have them completed before next Wednesday, when a social session of the order will be held. The walls are to be tinted in shades of green and there will be an elaborate dado of scroll work touched up in gold.

The $500 girls held a meeting at the home of Miss Frances Seabolt, of Pontiac street, Monday and completed their plans for the fair which they will hold next week. Reports were given of the donations thus far and the young women feel greatly encouraged over the prospect. A large number of pieces of dainty needle work have been promised and the booths in which are to appear the more practical things such as aprons, dusting caps, etc., are sure to be well filled. It is to be hoped that the people all over the city will appreciate the efforts of this club of young women and will liberally patronize the fair next week.

A china shower was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Quackenbush, Tuesday, November 11, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Galpin. Over fifty people were present. Following are some of the pieces of china which were presented: T. V. Quackenbush, beautiful piece of china over 150 years old; Mr. and Mrs. James Gates, china fruit dish; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Quackenbush, china salad dish; Mr. G. Lyke, china finger bowl; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cook, china salad dish; fruit dish; Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Geer, china bread plate. A very pleasant evening was spent.

Mr. and Mrs. Swift and the Messrs Atkin, Bouldin, Downing, and Messrs. Jeckling, Ryder, Snusshell were the Ann Arbor people who will attend a large house party given by Miss Mayme Young and Kittie Pickett at 605 Emmet street, Ypsilanti, this evening.

DAUGHTERS OF THE REVOLUTION MEET

The Daughters of the Revolution met with their regent, Mrs. Harry C. Hutchins, Saturday. After roll call and responses, the executive committee announced as a new member, Mrs. Lucy Chapin. Mrs. Doty read an invitation from the Algonquin chapter, of St. Joseph, to attend the unveiling of the statue of LaSalle. Mrs. Clarkson reported four unmarked graves of revolutionary soldiers in Washtenaw and of one heroine. She said the Sons of the Revolution would put up markers for them very soon.

Mrs. Chittenden, state regent, was present as a guest of the chapter, and made some pleasant remarks. Mrs. Shauson told what the chapter had done since its organization. Miss Crocker, of Mt. Clemens, read an excellent paper on Civil Service Reform. Mrs. Hoff sang a solo in her delightful way, and the chapter sang "America." Coffee was served.

DISPUTE OVER A CHELSEA HORSE

Homer C. Millen began suit in the circuit court Wednesday afternoon against Louis L. Immer and Nellie Immer for damages under $1,000. The suit is a Chelsea suit and the plaintiff alleges that he leased a house on Jefferson street, Chelsea, from Egbert G. Hoag, the then owner, for one year from last September and expended $165 in repairs on it. Afterwards the defendants purchased the house from Mr. Hoag, appropriated the improvements and moved out the property of the plaintiff that was in the house. He alleges that the house was the only house in Chelsea suitable for his purposes as a family residence, and that he has been greatly humiliated and disgraced, and because of his inability to secure another suitable residence in Chelsea has been and will be put to $300 extra expenses and railroad fares.

THE CITY PAYS OVER $10,000

Of the Cost of the State Street Paving

PROPERTY OWNERS $15,800

And the University Nearly $5,000, While the Street Car Co. Pays $825

It cost $31,778.98 for the paving of State street. In addition to this amount, Lennane Bros., the contractors, were Monday paid $40.79 for extras made necessary by the city's orders. Of this amount $1,588.95 or five per cent was retained by the city for one year, $20,671.81 had been previously paid, and Lennane Bros. were given a warrant last evening for $9,518.22.

The cost of the State street pavement was divided among the various parties who are to pay for it according to the City Engineer's estimate, approved by the Board of Public Works and the Council as follows:

Property owners	$15,823.56
City of Ann Arbor	10,236.51
University of Michigan	4,793.67
D. D. Y. A. A. & J. R. R.	$25.24

Total $31,778.98

Later in the evening several resolutions fixing the State street assessment district and providing for the issuing of bonds for the whole amount of the cost of paving were introduced by Ald. Hamilton and a hot debate ensued over the 20 per cent in addition to the cost of the street intersections by the city. Ald. Koch wanted to defer action until the next meeting. The city attorney argued strenuously for the immediate passage of the resolutions. Ald. Schlenker was not satisfied as to the right of the city to bond for its share. Mr. Sawyer said Mr. Lennane was entitled to his money at once. The city did not have it. It had already paid out $15,000 it didn't have. The resolutions finally carried by a vote of 9 yeas to 2 nays, Ald. Schlenker and Clancy voting in the negative.

Similar resolutions relating to the Ann street paving were passed by the same vote. City Attorney Sawyer stated that on the Ann street paving, the county would be included in the assessment so that the supervisors might know what they had to pay.

On motion of Ald. Schumacher, the city engineer was instructed to send the street railway a bill for its share of the paving on State street.

WHEN YER MA AN' ME GOT TIED.

Ther' wa'n't no fuss an' feathers, an' ther' wa'n't no great parade, Ner ther' wa'n't no weddin' breakfast ner no weddin' marches played. It wa'n't no high noon weddin'; 'twas dark as Sambo's hide, 'Cause yer grand'ad wa'n't invited when yer ma an' me got tied.

Ther' wa'n't no string of kerriages lined up in front th' door, But jes' my old red sulky, with th' gray mare hitched afore, An' yer ma sild down a bedcord while I held my arms out wide, So's to ketch her ef she tumbled, when yer ma an' me got tied.

We didn't give no invites, an' ther' wa'n't no kinfolk there, But ye couldn't jes' have called it a quiet-like affair.

Fer her dad wa'n't far behind us, an' th' gray mare like to die, A-scootin' fer th' parson's when yer ma an' me got tied.

Th' parson didn't wear no robe ner none too many clothes, Jes' pants an' coat an' nightcap an' th' specs upon his nose, An' some folks of his was present, so's it couldn't be denied.

That th' thing was did all hunky when yer ma an' me got tied.

Ther' wa'n't nobody weepin' ner a-shakin' hands around, But jes' about th' finish ther' come a smashin' sound, An' yer grand'ad struck th' weddin' jes' in time to kites th' bride, An' his langidge—it was awful, when yer ma an' me got tied.

A CHAIN of WOMEN'S HOTELS and SCHOOLS

THE beseeching cry for hotel accommodations for women has been heard. No longer need the feminine sex be agitated because antediluvian, curmudgeon man hotel keepers refuse lodging to ladies arriving alone in a city at night. Hotels for women, not charity homes or yet female prisons for the time being, but real hostleries, where a woman is as free as a man, are rising here and there, and the number will soon be adequate for all the need. They are places where woman is not asked by old tabbies in black mitts where she has been when she stays out later than 10 at night. Nay; she is not even asked how old she is and what church she belongs to. Woman's world does indeed move.

Without fuss and feathers or blare of trumpets, one organization of women has established throughout this Union a series of hotels for their sister women. That organization is the Young Women's Christian association, though more old women than young ones are active in its deliberations. Briefly, when two or three small Y. W. C. A. boarding houses were opened twenty-five years ago as an experiment they were conducted still on the old timey female seminary plan. It was taken for granted that a girl was a weak and depraved creature who only wanted an opportunity to break out and do something dreadful; therefore she must be kept under and every movement spied on and nosed into lest she thus break out. There were likewise always at hand ancient tabbies ready to perform this task of nosing and repression with peculiar zest.

At first, too, the general impression of these Y. W. C. A. homes was that they were to be lived in only by poor working girls of the "lower classes." Even the ladies who managed the homes sometimes looked down from the throne of their own social state upon the women that lived in the homes.

But a beginning had been made of women's work for their own sex. After that the work itself did the rest. The spirit of love and kindness from women to women, of understanding and consequently of tolerance and liberality grew apace. At the same time the old idea of a theological charity dropped away year by year. The Y. W. C. A. homes were transformed into business enterprises, philanthropic still, but in no sense suggestive of almsgiving. Boarders' affairs ceased to be nosed into, women found they could trust women to the utmost, and the boarders began to have liberty. This naturally drew to the homes a more intelligent class of self supporting women, who could pay good prices for food and lodging.

Today there is a chain of real hotels for women from one end of this land to the other, well kept and successfully managed under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. They are real hotels because they admit, at least transiently, all women who behave themselves. The manager of the neat and handsome house in Worcester, Mass., said to me:

"I never turn a woman away unless she is intoxicated."

Respectable women traveling alone should know that in any large city in which they arrive they have only to inquire for the Y. W. C. A. boarding house or hotel to find a place where they can be comfortably accommodated for the time provided the establishment is not already full to overflowing. The grand women of this society have in many cases started schools, which are connected with the hotels. The home in Boston conducts with great success a school of domestic service, where green girls are instructed in cookery and all other branches of housekeeping. A commercial school is also maintained. In New York and many other cities the organization conducts instruction classes. MARY EDITH DAY.

CONSTRUCTION IN SPRING

The Track of the Ann Arbor Road Will Be Moved and Bridges Will Be Ordered at Once.

Charles R. Hill, surveyor for the Ann Arbor Railroad, has begun the actual work of laying the line as it will be when the tracks are elevated. Mr. Hill said to the Argus: "The double curve in the track here makes the engineering work a little difficult and will take more time for that reason. At present I am getting the angles of the street with the tracks, so that our road can order bridge work and abutments. The tracks at the depot will be moved from six to eight feet west, while further south there will be less of a shift, narrowing down to six inches about 100 yards south of Huron street."

Of course the construction work will probably not be brought here before spring, but it is to be ordered as soon as the surveying is completed.

CLOSE FOOTBALL GAME AT SALINE

SALINE VICTORIOUS OVER PLYMOUTH 5 TO 0.

The Saline eleven defeated the Plymouth aggregation by a score of 5 to 0 at Saline Friday. Art Judson and Gene Heinzman from Ann Arbor, played with the winning team. There was a large crowd of spectators and a number of Ann Arborites at the game. The Ann Arbor visitors say that it was one of the best exhibitions of football they have seen outside of the 'varsity games. A close game is always interesting and in both halves the ball never progressed steadily in one direction, save when the touchdown was made from the 25-yard line. Most of the players are high school men, but they are independent teams.

THE MACCABEES BIG EXHIBITS

When the Maccabee case is heard in the supreme court there will be plenty of statistics and other matter pertaining to both organizations to wade through. A stipulation has been filed in the circuit court, in the matter of the appeal of the case of the Great Hive of the Ladies of the Maccabees of the state against the Supreme Hive of the Ladies of the Maccabees of the World, whereby the contending parties agree to furnish the supreme court the following exhibits used at the hearing:

1. A complete set of the laws of the Great Hive.
2. A complete set of the laws of the Supreme Hive.
3. Volumes of the proceedings at all reviews of the Great Hive.
4. Volumes of the proceedings at all reviews of Supreme Hive.
5. Badge of Great Hive before Supreme Hive was organized.
6. Badge, joint action of both parties.
7. Badges. (Exhibit 53, 60, 50, 15 and 15.)
8. Letterheads.
9. Photographs.
10. Life membership certificate in Great Hive.
11. Blanks of Supreme Hive sent in by subordinate hives showing impression of seal and introduced for that purpose only.
12. Copies of all rituals drill drill manuals, ode cards, etc.

"Forgetting the Man at Bethesda"

By Rev. Dr. CHARLES JEFFERSON of New York

WITH THE WORLD THUNDERING ON AT ITS PRESENT RATE WE ARE IN DANGER OF FORGETTING THE MAN AT BETHESDA. We have forgotten him many times already. We forgot him a hundred years ago. We forgot him fifty years ago, and because we did forget him it was necessary that every drop of blood shed by the lash should be paid for by blood by the sword.

WE FORGOT HIM ONLY THE OTHER DAY. HE WAS IN A MINE, AND WE COULD NOT SEE HIM, AND SO WE HURRIED ON AND BUILT OUR CIVILIZATION ON THE PRODUCT OF THAT MAN'S LABOR, NEVER THINKING OF HIM OR HIS WIFE OR HIS CHILDREN, EVEN THOUGH EVERY ONE OF THEM IS A CHILD OF GOD.

The other day that man quit working, but we paid no attention to his action. He was only a Slav, and his bad humor, we thought, would quickly subside. But to our surprise he persisted in his refusal to work, and, LITTLE BY LITTLE, THE PILLARS OF THE REPUBLIC BEGAN TO TREMBLE. The wheels in the factories and mills ceased to turn. The hands of that Slav were on them. Schoolhouses began to close. That Slav had kept them open. Sick people in many a humble home began to feel the pinch of cold. The Slav had been ministering unto them. The poor in great cities began to moan, and the chief magistrate of the republic confessed, "The situation is intolerable."

That unnoticed foreigner, hundreds of feet underground, had by his labor made life comfortable and pleasant to millions who had never seen him. He has called for help repeatedly for many years, but no one went to his assistance. By refusing to work he compelled the world to look at him.

Men today are computing the cost of the strike. They say it has cost the nation $180,000,000. How much it has cost in suffering no one knows, but this is certain—THE STRIKE WAS WORTH ALL IT HAS COST IF IT FIXES THE EYES OF THE NATION ON THE MEN WHO SPEND THEIR LIVES IN THE MINES. They are our brethren. Christ died for them. They toil for us. If they are foreigners and ignorant and depraved and dangerous, then their claim upon us is all the greater. If the miner is at the rear end of the procession, our Lord is by his side.

The Greatest Question of the Day

By JOHN MITCHELL, National President United Mine Workers of America.

THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN CAPITALISTS AND LABORERS IS BY ALL ODDS THE GREATEST QUESTION CONFRONTING THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.

It is a question which has been with us since the formation of our government; it is a question which will remain with us as long as justice is withheld from the men and women who are compelled to earn their living by the sweat of their brows. The time has come when the tenement houses of our cities, which reek with filth, disease and misery, must give way, and upon their ruins comfortable homes must be erected for the producers of wealth. The time has come when the boys and girls must be taken from the factories, the workshops and the mines and placed in school and kept there until they have reached the age and have acquired the education and the physical strength which shall properly equip them for the battles of life. Not only are the wage earners organized and organizing for the purpose of enforcing these necessary reforms, but behind their demand is a growing, crystallizing public sentiment which recognizes that the safety and THE PERPETUITY OF OUR GOVERNMENT CANNOT BE MAINTAINED IF THE GREAT MASS OF THE PEOPLE IS TO BE KEPT IN IGNORANCE, POVERTY AND SERVITUDE IN ORDER THAT THE FEW MORE FAVORED MAY LIVE IN LUXURY AND IDLENESS.

DESTROY the GHETTOS

By RABBI EMIL G. HIRSCH of Chicago

I AM an American Jew and proud of it—proud to be an American and proud to be a Jew.

BUT WE MUST GET THE JEWS OUT OF THE CITIES. THEY CANNOT REMAIN SEGREGATED THERE IF WE DO NOT WISH TO ENDANGER THE CAUSE OF THE JEWS.

WE MUST NOT TOLERATE OUR GHETTOS. WE MUST STEP IN AND DISPERSE THEM. THERE IS ROOM IN THE WEST. The day will never come when our freedom of conscience will be interfered with, but the murmurs in other countries of undesirable immigration should be a warning to us. In England already such a murmur is audible. Let us not deceive ourselves.

In our Jewish settlements there are countenances unlike those of our own people. The anti-Semite is never careful of fact. He makes men laugh or weep, as he chooses. The Jew has always been the scapegoat. It has always been his fate to say "No" when the world said "Yes." If ever there was suffering, it was in the ghettos of the medieval Jews. THE DAY IS NOT YET PASSED WHEN THE PERSECUTION OF THE JEWS HAS ENDED. It may come in this country that the Jew here will be considered a disturber of the economic equipoise. The day may come when the Roumanians will say to us, "Didn't we tell you so?"

There is a top heaviness among our Jews—too many physicians, too many lawyers, too many rabbis. They should be taught the use of arms and legs.

TO AMEND CITY CHARTER

Mayor Copeland Will Make Another Effort

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

Ald. Grose Wants to Largely Increase the Number of Elective Officers

Not discouraged with his poor success at charter amendments two years ago, Mayor Copeland is about to inaugurate another campaign for amendment of the charter of Ann Arbor.

Ald. Grose, at Monday night's council meeting introduced a resolution that a committee of three aldermen be appointed to confer with the mayor and the city attorney as to amendments to the city charter.

Ald. Koch inquired in what respect the charter needed amendment.

Ald. Grose replied that there were at least two things that occurred to him.

1. Construction of sidewalks. In his opinion the city should build the walks and tax the cost up to the property owners and spread the cost over two or three years.

2. All officers of the city drawing salary, excepting possibly the city engineer, should be elected by the people.

The committee appointed by President Haarer consists of Ald. Grose, Coon and Koch.

At a session of the Probate Court for said County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office in the City of Ann Arbor, on the 25th day of October, in the year one thousand nine hundred and two.

Present, Willis L. Watkins, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Anna Martha Kraft (Kern) deceased.

On reading and filing the petition duly verified of Karl C. Kern, praying that a certain instrument now on file in this Court, purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased, may be admitted to probate, administration of said estate granted to himself, the executor in said will named and appraisers and commissioners be appointed.

It is ordered, that the 25th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said Probate Office be appointed for hearing said petition.

And it is further ordered, that a copy of this order be published three successive weeks previous to said time of hearing, in the Argus Democrat, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Washtenaw.

W. L. WATKINS, Judge of Probate. JAMES E. MCGREGOR, Probate Register.

Organized Labor

HAS COME TO STAY

By EUGENE F. SCHMITZ, Mayor of San Francisco

IS A DANGEROUS THING

By Congressman W. A. CALDERHEAD of Kansas

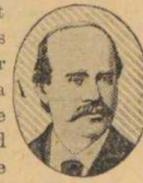

THE miners of the anthracite regions have established a great principle—the right of men to organize.

It is nonsense to say that recognition of the labor union has not been obtained. President Roosevelt has put his stamp of approval upon organized labor. In dealing with President Mitchell the chief executive recognized that unions do exist.

When the coal operators swear they do not recognize the union, they are talking foolishly. People may insist that they do not see a stone wall, but when they butt their heads against it they know the wall is there. I say to them and all other employers of labor: The labor unions have come to stay.

INSTEAD of attempting to "remedy" or "suppress" or "control" or "disturb" that which we know is a blessing we should turn our attention to that which is known to be an evil and take a hand at suppressing organized labor.

I regard organized labor as the greatest menace this country has today. It not only robs its members of their liberty, but is a constant menace to the lives and property of the whole people. It is the cause of famine and bloodshed. It frequently causes a famine in the necessities of life. It refuses to recognize brains, and holds the brainy, capable member down with the dullard. It is a barrier to progress, a bad and dangerous thing, and should be suppressed.

The Isthmian Canal Sure to Be Built

By Senator JOHN T. MORGAN of Alabama

HAVE always felt confident that when the whole matter of an isthmian canal has been gone over the Nicaraguan route will be accepted as the only practical location. THE MONEY HAS BEEN APPROPRIATED, AND I DO NOT BELIEVE ANY COMBINATION OF MEN OR SCOUNDRELS WILL BE ABLE TO PREVENT IT AND CAUSE THE MONEY TO BE COVERED BACK INTO THE TREASURY. Mr. McKinley, with the wisest policy which was ever exhibited by any president, was a firm friend of the plan, and Mr. Roosevelt, who is unmistakably sincere and honest, is carrying out his policy.

RECENT RAILWAY DEVELOPMENTS INDICATE THAT J. P. MORGAN AND THE OTHER GREAT FINANCIERS HAVE ACCEPTED THE FACT THAT THE ISTHMIAN CANAL MUST BE CONSTRUCTED.

Mr. Morgan recognizes the fact that the canal will be built, and he wishes to control the great tonnage which must be carried from all over the country east of the Mississippi and south of the St. Lawrence to Pensacola, Mobile, New Orleans and Galveston.

Which Is Needed More—The Boy or the Girl?

By Dr. CYRUS EDSON of New York

IT was but yesterday, as time goes, that the Viennese specialist, Dr. Schenck, was ostracized from Berlin and ousted from his position in one of the old world homes of medicine because of his contention that he could not only predominate but predestine the sex of unborn babes. If he had lived to prove his claim, what then? How many parents would have called in this specialist to decree the fulfillment of their choice?

WHICH DOES THE WORLD PREFER—A BOY OR A GIRL? DO WE NEED MORE MEN OR MORE WOMEN?

It is the great question for tomorrow, if not for today. Woman has helped its solution by her assistance in bearing the burden of the wage earner. But is this a right and proper solution? DO WE THUS UTILIZE WOMAN TO THE BEST ADVANTAGE? IS SHE IN HER RIGHT SPHERE? Do we need more men? In the broadest, most catholic expression of the question, which does the world need the more—the boy or the girl?

In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, if a preference were expressed, it would without doubt be for a boy, and for very practical and substantial reasons.

AMONG THE WAGE EARNERS OF THE WORLD THE BOY IS CONSIDERED A PRODUCER AND THE GIRL A CONSUMER, AND SO FROM A PURELY UTILITARIAN VIEW WE PREFER THE BOY.

Among the nobility of England the eldest male child inherits the title, and thus a son is coveted, and in like manner we give preference here in democratic America to the son as the possible heir to the family business, profession or property. But on the other hand, in a family of boys, girls are welcomed for their refining influences upon their brothers.

THE CHOICE TODAY, HOWEVER, IS FOR NEITHER A BOY NOR A GIRL ON ACCOUNT OF THE INTERFERENCE OF CHILDREN WITH THE SOCIAL PLEASURES OF THEIR PARENTS. Over 90 per cent of the well to do in New York express this choice in unmistakable ways, and the same rule holds good wherever society is at all advanced.

In the wealthier classes in any civilized country, unless there is some direct object for the possession of an heir, there is great reluctance to bear and to raise children, simply from the care incident and necessary to their being.

A PEST HOUSE FOR ANN ARBOR

A SUSPICIOUS CASE FROM TOLEDO IN DETENTION HOSPITAL

Health Officer Hinsdale Speaks of Prevalence of Smallpox in Detroit and Toledo and Wants Pest House

Health Officer Hinsdale brought up the question of the city providing a pest house at Monday's council meeting and a committee of three, was ordered appointed to co-operate with the Board of Health in getting a pest house.

In bringing the matter before the council Dr. Hinsdale spoke of the liability of a small-pox epidemic breaking out. There had been 200 cases of small-pox in Detroit. It is prevalent in Toledo. "We had," he said, "the other day a young man from Toledo in our detention hospital for two days suspected of having the small-pox. Last year the University kindly loaned us the use of their pest house. When we need it, however, they may have it in use. No one wants to rent a house to put a small-pox patient in."

The buying a house, or the purchase of a lot and building of a pest house was suggested. The pest house should be in the city limits so that the city can control it.

The committee and the board of health are expected to report some plan to the council.

Love is unequally yoked with sickness. Labor is lightened by love, but love cannot lighten pain or relieve it. Many a man looks on at his wife's suffering willing to do anything to aid her and able to do nothing.

Sometimes, however, the husband's attention is directed to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and its remarkable cures of womanly diseases. He may not have much hope of a cure, but he is led to try the medicine, with the result that in almost every case there is a perfect and permanent cure.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures irregularity. It dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

As a tonic for women who are nervous, sleepless, worn-out and run-down "Favorite Prescription" is unequalled.

"In answer to your letter I will say, my wife commenced to complain twenty years ago," writes Lewis A. Miller, ex-Chief of Police, of Prospect St., Weisport, Pa. "We have tried the skill of twelve different doctors. She took gallons of medicine during the time she was ill, until I wrote to you and you told us what to do. She has taken eight bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and six of the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' She can do her own work now and can walk around again and is quite smart."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

NEW COMPANY MAY BUILD LINE FROM JACKSON THROUGH ANN ARBOR TO DETROIT

Mr. Boland has Parted With his Interests to a Strong Company of Which he is a Director

There is some prospect of the Boland line being built through Ann Arbor for Detroit. Mr. Boland has transferred his interests in the line built from Battle Creek to Grass Lake and the proposed line through here to a company organized with $1,500,000 capital, with C. M. Spitzer, of Toledo, as president, N. S. Potter, of Jackson, treasurer, and W. A. Foote, of Jackson, secretary. Mr. Boland is one of the board of directors. The new company has ample financial backing and Mr. Foote says negotiations are now pending to complete the line east of Grass Lake to Detroit.

NEW YORK NEXT YEAR

DECISION OF NATIONAL GRANGES FOR THEIR MEETING.

MUCH OPPOSITION TO THAT EDUCATIONAL REPORT.

MICHIGAN GRANGE HAS BEEN INCREASED BY 6,000.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 20.—With but today in which to work, the National Grange has settled down to business. Committee reports are being churned out, but not one has nor is expected to rival that of the committee on education for feeling aroused. The whack at agricultural colleges is still the largest theme in conversation, and the members, fearful of having incited antagonism, are hastening to smooth things over. They point out that, after all, it was but a committee report, and that it was not intended for publication.

The fateful report was yesterday shoved back to the committee, not to have a change of heart, for the body is nearly unanimous on the sentiments expressed, but to have the rough edges lopped off its uncompromising language.

Master Horton of Michigan wishes to see the agricultural college of this state vindicated from the sweeping charges made by the report. "The condemnation of agricultural colleges does not in any degree apply to the M. A. C.," he declared.

The furore created by the introduction and publication of the drastic report on education by the National Grange committee, headed by Chairman Walcott, having reached the high tide mark, Chairman Obadiah Gardner of the committee on foreign affairs struck a note against militarism and spread-eaglesism that caught the fancy of the national body in the session yesterday afternoon.

Gardner's report is strong, as coming from a conservative body, and covers all the international problems of the day in a forceful manner. The shipping merger is denounced and the Rooseveltian Monroeism is lauded, as is John Hay's philippic on the trans-Carpathian Jew.

The next fight came on the choice of a place of meeting next year. Connecticut, Missouri and New York wanted to act as hostess for the next meeting, and New York was finally chosen.

A resolution was adopted providing for an adjournment of the present meeting not later than 11 a. m., Friday.

Michigan has added 6,000 new members of the grange during the past year, according to the comprehensive report made yesterday afternoon by State Master George B. Horton. During the past year 104 new granges were organized, Michigan being far in the lead. Conclusive proof was furnished by the report that the Patrons of Husbandry are growing in popularity in this state by leaps and strides. The report further shows that the receipts for the year will exceed $16,000. The percentage of trade contracts will bring these resources up to $18,000.

"Our grange work and its promotion we have striven to consider and establish as a business firm would advertise its wares as fast as new markets are secured," reads Master Horton's report. "It will give us increased courage and enthusiasm to have the National Grange with us. To show the people of the state the general personal and character of the National Grange can but arrest the attention of thoughtful people and secure a favorable decision from the best men and women in whatever calling. Godspeed the work of the National Grange, is the benediction of the 30,000 patrons who are so highly honored by your presence."

Beck Given a Life Sentence.

Menominee, Mich., Nov. 20.—Joseph Beck, the self-confessed murderer of ten-year-old Julia Wozniak on Sept. 28, pleaded guilty in the circuit court yesterday morning and was sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor and solitary confinement in the branch state prison at Marquette by Judge Stone. The prisoner showed no emotion during the trial, which only took twenty minutes. The testimony of Chief of Police English, Drs. Hicks and Grignon was taken. When asked if he had anything to say, Beck replied: "No." Judge Stone then pronounced him guilty of murder in the first degree.

Powder Explosion Kills Two Men.

Ishpeming, Mich., Nov. 20.—The premature explosion of a box of giant powder in the Lake Superior Hematite mine Wednesday morning caused the death of Nels and Matt Makki, Finnish miners, working in the sub-level below where the powder was being warmed. The explosion caused the timbers to fall, shutting off the workmen's avenue of escape. Tony Walsala, a timberman, was overcome with smoke, but he will recover.

Michigan Inventors.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Michigan patents: Edward L. Cadwell, Wayne, elevating truck; Edgar M. Comstock, Tpsilanti, sash fastener; William D. Jones, Saginaw, cap for share rollers; Henry D. Lefevre, Alpena, wheel; Foster Metcalf, Battle Creek, air compressor valve; F. William A. Reddick, Niles, bedstead; Isaac M. Warner, Union City, wire fence stretcher; Charles A. Willmarth, Detroit, wire fence ratchet, or tightener.

Got Ninety Days For His Fun.

Vassar, Mich., Nov. 20.—Deputy Sheriff Burgess took C. Johnson to the Detroit house of correction for ninety days. He is one of the gang of beet men who raised a disturbance on a train enroute from the north. Six others are still in jail awaiting trial.

THREE SHOT TO DEATH.

Band of Mexicans Receives Just Reward For Robbery and Murder.

Mexico City, Nov. 20.—On the spot where, two years ago, they murdered Robert Remmet, an Englishman, three Mexicans were shot to death yesterday, and their accomplices, nine in number, sent to prison for long terms. In June, 1901, Robert Remmet, an Englishman, and the manager of mines near Zacaultepan, in the state of Mexico, was killed in his own house by a band of robbers, who knew that he and his wife, with a considerable amount of money and jewels, intended to depart next day for England. There were twelve men in the band. They went to Remmet's house, which was in a solitary place, and found the Englishman in bed. He heard the noise and told his wife to hide her jewels. He then admitted the men and showed them a box containing his money. The robbers took the money and shot him dead in the presence of his wife.

On pain of immediate death, Mrs. Remmet gave up her jewels. The men were about to kill Mrs. Remmet, but were frightened away, and she escaped and hid in the woods till morning.

The Mexican authorities have spent more than a year in tracking the robbers, all of whom were captured. The judge in the case was sent from this city. Governor Villada of the state of Mexico put forth especial efforts in the matter.

FOR DEFENSE OF LONDON.

British War Office Is Making Extensive Preparations.

London, Nov. 20.—Efforts of a far-reaching character have been set on foot to fortify the metropolis against a possible attack in case of war, from which, judging from statements made last night, it has hitherto been quite inadequately protected. An announcement to the effect that extensive building have been completed at Woldingham, Surrey, eleven miles south of London, for use as a mobilizing center in the scheme for the defense of London reveals for the first time the existence of important war office operations.

It is stated that when Lord Roberts took over his post of commander-in-chief of the British army, he personally investigated the defenses of London and found them to be very imperfect. Since then powerful batteries have been mounted on elevations commanding the principal roads between London and the south coast. New fortifications are being rapidly constructed along the banks of the Thames, and Woldingham has been fitted up as a center for mobilization.

Native of Michigan Chosen.

Oberlin, O., Nov. 20.—At the annual meeting of the board of trustees of Oberlin college Wednesday, Dr. Henry Churchill King was elected to the presidency of that institution to succeed the late Dr. John Henry Burrows. Dr. King was born in Hillsdale, Mich., Sept. 18, 1858. Most of his college experience has been connected with the institution of which he is now president. In 1879 he received from Oberlin the degree of A. B. In 1883 Harvard gave him the degree of D. D. From 1879 to 1882 he was professor of Latin and mathematics in Oberlin. The following two years were spent in study at Harvard. For two years, between 1891 and 1897, Dr. King was a student in Berlin. Since 1897 he has been directly connected with Oberlin. He was made dean of Oberlin in 1891, declining the presidency of the Chicago Theological Seminary to take the place. Dr. King is an author and lecturer of note.

Philippine Exports Increased.

Washington, Nov. 20.—The import and export trade figures of the Philippine archipelago for the twelve months ending June 30, 1902, show a continuance of improvement in trade that has prevailed since the inception of United States control. During the fiscal year 1902, there was imported merchandise, exclusive of gold and silver, to the value of $22,141,842, an increase of nearly $2,000,000 over the same period of 1901. This exceeds all previous figures for any single year in the history of the archipelago.

Vandals Mutilated Statues.

Berlin, Nov. 20.—Vandals have again broken off parts of five of the statues on the Sieges Alee, the historical series erected by Emperor William at his personal expense. The statues themselves were not harmed, as they stood out of the reach of the depredator, but parts of the decoration were broken, apparently by hammer blows. A previous mutilation occurred in 1899 and though a large reward was offered the culprit was never caught.

Robbers Held Up Gamblers.

Minneapolis, Nov. 20.—In a fashion reminiscent of the James-Younger gang, two bandits held up a gaming den at Columbia Heights early last night and secured $1,943 from the score of frequenters and the proprietors, meanwhile seriously wounding Harvey Howard, the colored porter. Each robber used a dark-colored handkerchief to shield the lower part of his face. The score of players and attendants were aligned on one side of the room, and while the band leader kept them covered with his revolvers, his assailant rifled pockets and tills.

Duty on Philippine Articles.

Washington, Nov. 20.—The postmaster-general has amended the order of March 30, 1901, so that hereafter gifts or souvenirs of dutiable character addressed to people in the military or naval service, in the Philippines, cannot be admitted into the mails for those islands without paying the usual duty thereon. Similar articles, however, addressed under similar circumstances from the Philippines, will continue to be admitted to the mails whether dutiable or not.

Smallpox Near Royal Oak.

Royal Oak, Mich., Nov. 20.—Ernest Behrendt, living two and a half miles southwest of this village, is sadly afflicted, himself and four other members of his family being down with smallpox. The place has been quarantined.
