FOURTH WARD SCHOOL WILL BE CONNECTED WITH SEWER

The School Board Has Been Aroused to Necessities of the Case

The Second Ward School Also to be Connected—Quick Response to Expose of Conditions Illustrates Value of Publicity

The Fourth Ward School house is to be connected with the sanitary sewer which has run past its doors for seven years and the Second Ward school is also to be connected. Modern sanitation is to be introduced at last.

The lesson of the school election has borne fruit and the school board seems now to be as quick to respond to public demands as formerly it was backward. Mayor Brown did not have occasion to appear before the school board last night as he had threatened, as it was known that the buildings and grounds committee, after seven years of using the same old outbuilding which had been used when sewer connection was impossible, had hurriedly secured plans for putting closets in the Fourth Ward school house and that the board itself would take up the matter and press it.

At school board meeting Tuesday night Chairman Beal read a long report from the buildings and grounds committee and submitted plans for closets in the basements of the Second and Fourth ward schools. It said there was nothing more dangerous in the conditions of the school than in the past. It detailed the improvements that had been made in the various school buildings in the past five years and said that the plans for the two school houses called for an expenditure of $3,000.

Particularizing, the architect's estimate for the Jones or Fourth Ward school, called for an expenditure of $1,800 which could probably be cut $300 or $400 as it provided more closets than were needed and the sewer already ran to the center of the building. The Bach school would cost about $100 more as it was necessary to connect with the new sewer.

Mr. Cavanaugh asked about the Third Ward school. Mr. Beal said the closet was in the yard. There was no sewer and there had been some talk of a cesspool at the bottom of the hill. Mr. Beal maintained that the delay had been caused by a question of finances. The district had a $1,100 bond they could issue and apply to this purpose and means must be provided for the rest.

Mr. Cavanaugh suggested that the unused school lots on Hill street might be sold.

Mr. Kyer thought the architect's plans were too elaborate. The proper closets could be put in with less money.

Mr. Eberbach said he had been studying the matter for two years. He thought the only proper method was to erect a building outside. He thought the elevation of the basements too low to permit closets to be placed in them and thought the changes to secure ventilation would be so expensive that an outside building would cost no more.

Finally a resolution carried, offered by Judge Harriman, that the committee on buildings and grounds prepare plans and specifications satisfactory to themselves and advertise for bids and that the bids be submitted to the board with the right to reject any and all bids.

An hour or two after this motion had passed a communication from the board of health on the matter, forcibly calling attention to the disgraceful conditions of the Fourth Ward school out-house under date of Sept. 15, was read to the board and the clerk was instructed to acknowledge its receipt.

The condemnation placards are to be removed from the out-house and the vaults cleaned out, pending the putting in of modern closets connected with the sewer.

committee on janitors to look them up. The committee said they would at once.

Mr. Eberbach thought it would be a good plan to spend $300 or $400 on the basements of the school houses.

The petition in reference to tuition was taken from the table and referred to the committee on tuition.

The demands of the Water company for pay for water used in janitors' houses were discussed.

Miss Snyder and Miss Stewart wanted to rent the high school gymnasium forenoon for private patients and pupils and Superintendent Slanson and Mr. Ray were given power to investigate and act.

Bills amounting to over $2,000 were allowed.

An appropriation of $100 towards defraying any incidental expenses of a committee on arrangements for the handling of the State Teachers' association, which is to bring 1,000 teachers to this city in December, was made.

There was a long discussion on buying textbooks for the teachers, and other topics were brought up.

WERE MARRIED AT HIGH NOON

MISS AMANDA T. KOCH AND MR. CHARLES HIBNER

Go to Michigan City Where They Will Make Their Future Home

Wednesday at noon, Miss Amanda T. Koch was married to Charles Hibner, of Michigan City, Ind., at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. Jacob Koch, 206 E. Washington street. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. L. Nicklas, of Zion Lutheran church and the ring service was used. The bride wore her traveling gown of navy blue voile and white crepe de chene, which was simple and elegant as becomes a bride. The bridesmaid, Miss Emma C. Koch, sister of the bride, wore a dress of blue and white silk. William Hibner, brother of the groom, was best man.

The north parlor, where the wedding service was read, took on all the tones and tints of autumn, being trimmed with autumn leaves and decorated with palms and ferns.

The dining room had the same harmonious coloring, but red and pink carnations and trailing smilax added a summer sweetness to the effect and made this room one of the prettiest in the house. Here the wedding dinner was served after the ceremony, Miss Melvina Koch, cousin of the bride, and Miss Ella Meuth assisting the guests.

Only the relatives of the families of the bride and groom were present, the out of town guests being Mr. and Mrs. Hibner, the parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Chubb, of Michigan City, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Shrader, of Laporte, Ind., and William Hibner, of Michigan City, Ind.

In the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Hibner left Ann Arbor for a wedding journey through the East. They will not return to Ann Arbor, but will reside in Michigan City, Ind., where they will be at home after December 1, on West Ninth street.

Ann Arbor loses one of its best known and most respected young women, Miss Koch having been book-keeper in the employ of Mack & Co. for almost twelve years.

Mr. Hibner has for many years held his present position as assistant instructor in the moulding department of the Burker car works, in Michigan City, and stands high in the esteem of the many who know him. These young people are to be congratulated, and may blessings forever and ever follow them as they go.

MOTHER HAS THE GIRL NOW

Anna Roberts Once More in the Lime-light

TAKEN FROM SCHOOL

By Her Stepfather and Concealed in Detroit—Grandmother Trying to Get Her Again

Another chapter is about to be written in the Anna Roberts case, wherein her mother is struggling for possession of the girl and this time the mother appears to have a shade the better of the inning. It will be remembered that on Sept. 14 habeas corpus proceedings were heard before Judge Kinne at the instigation of the mother, Mrs. Wilhelmina Ottmar, to obtain custody of her daughter, who was in possession of her grandmother, Mrs. Caroline Buckholz, of Northfield. In the proceedings it was claimed that while the home with the grandmother was satisfactory in many respects that the girl could not receive proper educational advantages there and the mother desired she be brought home that she might look after her welfare in this regard. The court in deciding the case said that while the law gave the mother charge of the daughter yet, at her age, he knew of no way to force her to stay with the mother if she chose to go with the grandmother. The girl accordingly went with the grandmother.

This ending of the case did not satisfy the mother and her husband, John M. Ottmar—step-father of the girl—and they have evidently been quietly laying plans to secure possession of the girl. These arrangements were evidently completed last Thursday for on that day Mr. Ottmar hired a hack and went to the Welch school house in Northfield and forcibly—it is claimed—compelled the girl to accompany him to this city. She was taken to the Michigan Central depot and it is said was kept there by the hackman until Ottmar went home and changed his clothing and secured proper raiment for the girl, when they proceeded to Detroit, where it is said the girl is now concealed.

Wednesday the grandmother was in the city seeking legal advice as to the proper measures to take in order to get the girl again and it is probable that a writ of habeas corpus may be issued and the case get into the court.

SUPERVISORS CUT PROBATE CLERK

Abolished the $400 Allowance for Clerk Hire

NOMINATIONS MADE

For the Various County Officers to be Elected by the Board

The board of supervisors Wednesday abolished the $400 clerk hire allowed the Judge of Probate. During the past year the legislature raised the salary of the Judge of Probate $300. The Board by cutting off the $400 allowance leaves the compensation at $100 less than it was before the legislature met.

The vote on the resolution, which was presented by Supervisor Damon, was very emphatic. Some facts may be stated which might point the occasion for the emphasis.

The Board directed a year ago that the court house clock should be set on standard time and put the custody of the county buildings in the hands of a building committee. Some days after the Board adjourned, the court house clock was turned back to local time and it was claimed that this was done on authority of the Judge of Probate. The Building Committee at once met and decided that the orders of the Board should be obeyed and the janitor should either set the clock on standard time or lose his position. The clock went to standard time and has since so remained.

The next move was the filing with the County Clerk by Judge Watkins of a protest against paying any bills authorized by the Building Committee. The bills were not paid till the County Auditors came into office, while bills authorized by the janitor were paid.

The last move in the game was the action taken this morning.

The supervisors this morning elected Miss Josephine Hoppe member of the Board of County School Examiners. This afternoon they are discussing the contagious disease problem.

The democrats of the board caucused yesterday and decided upon J. D. Ryan for county auditor, James Taylor for superintendent of the poor, D. W. Barry for county drain commissioner and Marvin Davenport for janitor.

WILL REVISE THEIR CONSTITUTION

Woman Auxiliary of Y. M. C. A. Will Make Changes

Will Be Considered at Next Meeting—Supper Served to Teachers of Bible Classes

The Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. held their monthly meeting Monday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. rooms and read and discussed the old constitution which was drawn up by the society in 1894.

A revision was decided upon and definite changes will be made and brought before the society to be voted upon at their next meeting.

A new and satisfactory plan was arranged to serve Monday evening suppers at six o'clock to the business men who are teachers of the bible classes, and who could not get home and back again in time to hold their meeting so it would not conflict with the later evening classes. So two of the ladies, every Monday, will serve the supper in the Y. M. C. A. dining hall, where the plates will be laid for eight and the lesson can be studied while the coffee steeps.

This accommodates any who cannot go home and affords a pleasant social gathering. The second "tea," which was served last night, was all that could be desired. Fifteen were present at the afternoon meeting. The next Auxiliary meeting will be held Monday, November 9.

'Tisn't safe to be a day without Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil in the house. Never can tell what moment an accident is going to happen.

AUTUMN WEDDING WEDNESDAY

FREDERICK BRIE, OF DETROIT, AND MRS. CORA McDUFF UNITED

A Large Number of Friends Present to Witness the Ceremony—Many Beautiful Presents Bestowed

The home of Albert West, 413 W. Liberty street, was the scene of a very pretty autumn wedding Wednesday afternoon, when his daughter, Mrs. Cora West McDuff, was united in marriage to Mr. Frederick Brie, of Detroit. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Johns of Bethlehem church, this being his first wedding since his installation, and the couple were attended by Mr. M. J. Carter, of Detroit, as best man and Miss Nora Richmond, of this city, cousin of the bride, as bridesmaid.

Over seventy-five relatives and friends of the contracting parties were present and filled the house with a happy and joyous a crowd as could be wished for. The rooms were beautifully and appropriately decorated in flowers of the season and everything passed as smoothly and happily as the proverbial wedding feast.

After the ceremony the party partook of a wedding dinner and spent the evening in having a general good time not forgetting to play upon the bride and groom the usual time-honored pranks, and left at a late hour after wishing a long life and all the happiness possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Brie were the recipients of many beautiful tokens of regard from their numerous friends. They will reside for the present at 413 W. Liberty.

Among the guests were Mrs. John Blust, Buffalo, N. Y., Will Brie and M. J. Carter, Detroit.

LOCATION OF CARNEGIE LIBRARY

One Committee Favored Ladies' Library Lot

A SPECIAL COMMITTEE

To Get to Work to Select the Proper Location for the Library

Where will the Carnegie library be located? The question is yet unsettled.

The Buildings and Grounds committee recommended to the Board of Education at their meeting Tuesday that it be placed on the Ladies' Library lot unless some better location could be suggested. This lot was 57 feet wide. The committee didn't want it on a corner lot, as it would necessitate building two fronts.

Mr. Beal, for the committee, stated that it had been suggested that they build on the back end of the city lot. But this lot was only 44 feet wide. If the city could trade its lot for the old Morgan property diagonally opposite, which would be large enough to erect both a city hall and the library, one heating plant could be used for both these buildings and firemen's hall and one janitor. The committee didn't claim that the Ladies' Library lot was an ideal location, but it was the best one suggested.

Judge Harriman thought the library ought to be near the high school. He suggested building an addition to the high school on the high school grounds.

Mr. Beal explained that some reference books were to be left in the high school.

Mrs. Bach told how she had set the ball rolling to secure the library. The ladies had decided over their lot with the belief that it was to be built upon. The library was for the citizens, not alone for pupils.

Judge Harriman thought the matter might be referred to a special committee.

Ex-Mayor Copeland thought the location demanded the most careful consideration. People's views as to location depended on where they lived.

Mr. Cavanaugh moved that a Carnegie Library committee to consist of Messrs. Harriman, Copeland and Beal be appointed to consider the matter and this was done.

Where shall the library be located? This is a legitimate matter for public discussion until a consensus of opinion can be arrived at.

HOW BOYS HELP THEIR PARENTS.

The boys have gone back to school, of, if they have passed that stage, to college. They were very handy about the place in summer. Not that they were industrially useful, for it is hard to get hired-man's work out of a school-boy, or a college-boy, in vacation time. But they kept down the grass in the tennis court, and hindered the growth of barnacles on the bottoms of the boats, and the spread of rust on the golf clubs. And they helped very much to keep up the family interest in life.

Boys really do help keep things moving. They are more or less expensive to maintain and educate, and as a rule they are so averse to any form of useful labor that the prospect of working them up in wage-earners often seems very dim; but they do make for sport, and in that way they are a true help.

Some of the boarding schools see to it that every boy, big and little, plays football, unless he is excused from that exercise by his parents' wish, or for reasons satisfactory to the master. The game is pretty rough; the boys get hurt sometimes; but most parents understand the situation, accept the prevailing opinion that the discipline of football is wholesome, and let their boys go into it if they are physically sound.

And very proud the fathers are, when they have due excuse, and deeply interested always, for football is thought to bring out and develop the true inwardness of boys, and the parent who sees his offspring contend in it with vigor and distinction is glad to argue to himself that some of the real stuff has got into his urchin after all, and that the boy will hold his own in the world. Of course, he goes to games in which his son's quality is going to be tested, and presently he goes because it is football, and he has learned to like it, and because it is a family interest which all the members of the family share.

There is a great deal to be learned from a competent boy; but the lesson most commonly learned by the elders at this time of year is that there are few things in life so important, remunerative and not-to-be-missed as football.—Ward Sanford, in The Illustrated Sporting News.

MORE THAN "HOT AIR."

A little more than four months ago Postmaster General Payne declared in an interview that reports of scandals in the postoffice department were "hot air" and a "stump speech." Today thirty persons, including a former postmaster general, four heads of divisions, and two assistant attorneys of the postoffice department, besides an ex-congressman, a New York state senator and a Pennsylvania mayor, stand indicted and awaiting trial for defrauding the government through the postoffice department. Against one official fourteen indictments were found, against another six and against several of them two or three. On Monday the Washington grand jury was dismissed and its last act was to announce thirteen new indictments against ten men. The names on the list are James N. Tyner, Harrison J. Barret, George W. Beavers, W. Scott Towers, James T. Metcalf, August W. Machen, Norman R. Metcalf, Harry C. Hallenbeck, William D. Doremus and George E. Green. The trials of these men will begin during the present session of the court and they are expected to drag along through the winter and through next summer. The frauds may be divided into three classes—the taking of commissions on supplies purchased by the department, the accepting of consideration in return for allowing fraudulent concerns to use the mails and the incorrect charging of expense accounts to the department. Among the latest indictments the most interesting is that of Tyner. He is nearly eighty years old and has held high positions in the postoffice department for many years. At one time, during the presidency of General Grant, he was postmaster general.

Before his recent dismissal he was assistant attorney general for the postoffice. As such he was the chief legal adviser to the department, yet he is the very one, who with his nephew-in-law Barret, allowed the misuse of the mails by "get-rich-quick" concerns. The report of Fourth Assistant Bristow will be ready about October 20. It is said to consist of 350 type-written pages. This will practically end the investigations, unless the republicans carry out their present intentions of calling for a congressional investigation, "to forestall the democrats."

According to reports the Colorado National Guard has a scandal on hand almost equal to that which brought a number of Michigan generals and colonels into prominence a few years back, an echo of which has recently been heard through the return of Col. Ell Sutton. In the Colorado scandal there is said to be padded payrolls, the employment of superfluous generals and colonels drawing the salaries of these ranks-but performing the duties of sergeants, general extravagance in purchasing of supplies, a rake-off by officers on contracts, transportation between Cripple Creek and Denver to officers and enlisted men, their families and friends at public expense, etc., etc. In fact it is reported that everything that has been done within the sphere of the affairs of the guard has had a graft of some sort in it. A court martial has been called to investigate these charges and will convene in Denver shortly. But so general has the crookedness been that there seems to be a real difficulty in finding any one to constitute the court who is not tainted in some manner. If rascals sit in judgment on doings of others of the same gang, the verdict is not difficult to predict.

There are some signs of alarm in Ohio since Hanna was trapped into defending his ship subsidy scheme that would cost the people of this country $10,000,000 a year and benefit solely a shipping trust in the East. In order to make his little gift enterprise apply to the state of Ohio, Hanna used what would, at first blush, appear a cogent argument, to wit, that shipping on the lake and all trade had increased wonderfully in the past few years. With childlike innocence in all matters that do not pertain to his own pocket-book, Hanna forgot that no provision of his ship subsidy scheme related in the slightest degree to the lake vessels. All the conceded development of traffic on these vast inland waterways cost the United States treasury not one cent. None of the interests engaged in it ask any share in Mr. Hanna's generosity with the money of the people that he intends to give to the eastern shipbuilding trust. The farmers of Ohio have been asking questions about this matter and have begun to do some thinking for themselves. In consequence thereof the republican leaders have requested Mr. Hanna to either revise his subsidy argument or else shunt it off the boards during the remainder of the campaign.

A report has just been issued showing the postoffice transactions for the fiscal year. The expenditures amounted to $138,784,487.97 and the receipts $134,224,443.24, thus leaving a deficit of $4,560,044.73. The total financial transaction for the year including the money order system, were $1,025,731,407.96, thus for the first time passing the billion dollar mark. Illustrating the magnitude of the postal operations, an official said: "If errors escape detection in the auditor's office amounting to 1-100 of 1 per cent of the business handled, the sums lost in six years would reach $500,000, or five times the amount involved in the postal frauds now under investigation."

While the republicans fail to come to an agreement on financial legislation, Secretary Shaw continues to relieve an imaginary money stringency. Since September 1 he has placed $18,489,200 of the public money in circulation. He has accomplished this by depositing government money in the national banks to the credit of the secretary of the treasury and by redeeming United States bonds before they are due. It is now announced that the republicans will appoint a joint committee to examine into the needs for currency legislation.

TWENTY-THREE SPEAK SPANISH

Students From New American Colonies

COME TO ANN ARBOR

Because of Reports Carried Back by Graduates—Desire to be Called Americans

Twenty-three Spanish speaking people are at present in Ann Arbor. This includes one Columbian, three Cubans, four Mexicans, six Philipinoes, and nine Porto Ricans. And these Porto Ricans expressed themselves most emphatically and hopefully in the statement, "We are not Philipinoes, but Porto Ricans, and that means we are Americans."

"The Philipinoes are different," said a Porto Rican. "They have their own language or 'Tagalo' and learn the Spanish as an art. They are always 'small ones,' and a man twenty-seven is way down like a nineteen year old boy."

Of the students who have come from Porto Rico, two are from Aquadilla, one from Mayaguez, two from Bayamon, and four from San Juan; and five of these are medics, two are pharmacists, one is in the high school, and one is a law, or "an easy one," said Mr. Pespura, "the rest of us work hard."

"The Porto Ricans come to the states to study," said Mr. Guillemety, "because we haven't any universities at home. There is a high school in San Juan in which we use the English textbooks and Spanish is not allowed to be spoken and girls attend as well as boys, and the girls can be fitted as teachers in a kind of normal school. But we cannot study medicine nor dentistry, nor law, and we have to take an official examination in these studies here before we can practice these at home, and another reason, said the boys, is that here we learn to speak the language more fluently. "A large number of students go to the eastern colleges, but we came to Ann Arbor because of the good reports brought back from here by Rafael del Valle, a '01 pharmlc. Five of our fellows graduated from the law department two years ago; one medic and two pharmlcs will graduate this year; and the prospects are that some Porto Ricans will come to be engineers next year."

The government of Porto Rico gives a scholarship to those whose standings reach a certain mark and who pass a certain examination. Twenty-five of these approved ones are sent over here to study for four years at the expense of the government, which is $400 annually, sent monthly. If a student wishes to stay longer and is particularly bright, a concession is made and his time is extended.

Mr. Mateu is the only scholarship fellow here. His parents came with him but remained in Brooklyn three months and arrived here Monday. The boy is in the high school and has two years to complete there to prepare him self for the medical course.

"We think this country is a land of freedom," said one of the boys. "In San Juan we have much the attitude of being tied to mama's apron string; here we are by ourselves." "We are glad we are Americans. The people here are all nice, especially the girls," said Luis Guillemety, pharmlc, with three years of Ann Arbor experience.

"We like Americans better than the Spaniards; but in Porto Rico some Americans are good and some are very bad ones. They go there to get rich and find positions and they quarrel."

"An American is given any kind of a position just because he is an American, and no matter what else he is. A bad feeling has arisen among the Porto Ricans on account of this."

"Sometimes there is a bad feeling between the Americans and the police, the Porto Rican doesn't like to be commanded, the American likes to command; hence often there is bodily combat."

But there are good Americans, and there are good Porto Ricans. They are courteous, well bred, remarkably intellectual, and most pleasantly interesting—from an American's point of view.

RAILROAD SEEKS TO CONDEMN

THE RIGHTS OF DEAN & CO. ON FIRST ST.

Another Suit Added to the Multiplicity of Suits Growing Out of Grade Separation

The Ann Arbor railroad has commenced condemnation proceedings against Dean & Co. to condemn so much of the ingress and egress to their lots and warehouse on First street and such other easements as may be impaired or destroyed by reason of building an embankment under the track of their road 4 feet above the level of First street as it existed on May 11, with a grade approach from the north not exceeding six per cent grade approaching thereto.

The number of suits over the grade separation are still increasing.

DISAGREEMENT OF THE STOCKHOLDERS

AS THE REASON WORK ON BOLAND LINE STOPPED

Is What the Dexter Leader Says—Jackson Papers Say Line to be Run to Chelsea at Once

The stopping of work on the Boland line is giving rise to much speculation. The Dexter Leader has a new reason for their stopping. It says: "The work of constructing the J. A. A. & D. electric line between here and Ann Arbor was ordered stopped yesterday by the officials of the company and the contractor has stored his tools and taken off the teams and men. The fencing gang will complete the stringing of the wire on the posts now set. The order to quit work came without warning and caused much surprise, although it is thought to be only temporary, and that operations will be resumed at an early date.

The company had decided to complete the line between Grass Lake and Dexter this fall, and the supplies are on hand to do it. It is not known whether the order to stop work will affect this plan or not.

The reason for stopping the work is reported to be a disagreement among the eastern stockholders.

The Jackson Press says the line is to be completed from Jackson to Chelsea in a few weeks and says:

"The 'Boland' street car people have determined that it is impracticable to complete their line to Ann Arbor this season, as they hoped to be able to do. They have, accordingly, taken off the construction gang which has been working west of Ann Arbor, and have put the men to work to open up the line between Grass Lake and Chelsea. It is stated that the necessary material is now on the ground, and it is said to be likely that cars will be running to Chelsea within a very few weeks. Work on the line to Ann Arbor will be resumed in the spring. There is declared to be no intention to abandon the work; it has only been found to be impracticable to open the line to Ann Arbor this fall, and it was deemed better to have cars running to Chelsea than to leave the whole stretch of road unfinished.

It is also said that the company will have the first street line reconstructed this year. New rails have been laid between Morrel street and the end of the line, and word has been received that the new rails for the section between Main and Morrel streets are now being rolled. They will be laid as soon as they are received, and the most disreputable piece of track in the history of railroading will then be a matter of history. The company has also recently put about half a mile, all told, of new rails on the Main street line.

John D. Rockefeller has been off his feed this week and it is reported he has caught a glimpse or two of the wolf at his door. All this hasn't come about either because he couldn't shake J. P. Morgan lose from the control of U. S. Steel, but rather because Dr. W. H. Schmidt is going into the oil business.

ARE AFTER OIL IN BRIDGEWATER

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER MAY HAVE COMPETITION

The doctor and his brother, who lives down in the township of Bridgewater, are about to sink a well in search of crude petroleum. The land on which their well is to be bored has recently come into their possession through the expiration of a lease and now instead of renewing the lease they are going to try their luck as well men.

Where they expect to sink their drill—and, perhaps, incidentally, a few dollars—is only ten feet from where Jackson parties put down a well and struck something they won't tell about. Trenton rock is down only 700 feet and it is positively known that some oil has been found.

When the doctor strikes "it" we shall all expect him to set up some form of tonic bitters.—Chelsea Standard.

QUEER INDIAN SECRET SOCIETY.

Strange Cannibal Rites Attended Initiation of New Members.

Among certain Indians of British Columbia cannibal rites attend the initiation of new members into the influential society Ha-matsa, which rules the affairs of the tribe. The novice is first required to live alone in the woods for three or four months, where he is supposed to be in communion with the cannibal spirit which rules the society. Finally the others begin to lure him back to the village. Songs are sung by all the people as they walk to and fro in the village and up and down the beach.

During this interval the candidate has appeared several times at various points. One of the assembly, half clad, is then sent ahead to act as a decoy or bait for the novice. As soon as the Ha-matsa sees him he rushes up and bites mouthfuls of flesh from his arm. He is then surrounded by the assembly and marched toward the dancing house, the people singing on their way. At this point a female dancer appears and begins to sing Ha-matsa songs, during which she moves toward the dancing house, stepping backward and facing the novice, whom she desires to coax inside. Her hands and arms are extended as though she were carrying a body for the candidate to eat. The palms of both hands are turned upward in front of him, and he keeps watching the hands of the dancer. All the assembly enter the house of the cannibal society.

After lingering an hour or so the novice goes to the rear, climbs up to the roof and descends into a secret room. Shortly afterward he dashes out among the people and seizes the nearest man and bites his arm. He circles round the fire holding on to his victim with his teeth.

This performance is repeated four times, the novice selecting a different man on each occasion. He is thought to be out of his senses. In the first dance of the candidate he represents one looking for human flesh. His movements are executed in a squatting position, making wild and violent gestures as he proceeds. He wears a crown of red cedar bark and is held by a large ring around his neck, so that he will not attack and bite more of the people. The female dancer again appears in front of him, dancing as before described. The candidate then returns to his secret quarters, and the people take off their cedar ornaments.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

How To Find Out. Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. ANN ARBOR GETS OVER $8,000

BY THE SEMI-ANNUAL APPORTIONMENT OF SCHOOL MONEY

Which is the Largest Amount in the History of the School District

The Ann Arbor schools will get about $8,000 primary school money by the semi-annual apportionment of primary school money to be made Nov. 1st. The apportionment will be on the basis of $2.50 per each child of school age. Last May it was sixty cents, making $310 per capita for the year, the largest in the history of the state. The school district can well afford to put some of the extra money thus obtained into the work of putting in modern sanitary arrangements connected with sewers at the school houses.

The amount of money apportioned in the year 1896 was $1.23 per capita for the entire year; in 1897 it was $1.44, in 1898 $1.50, in 1899 $1.50, in 1900 $2.15, and in 1901 $2.40.

The extra per capita of school money comes in at just the right time.

SETTLED $5,000 SUIT BY ARBITRATION

The $5,000 law suit pending against Adam Hornung brought by Michael O'Hara for injuries sustained two years ago, has been settled for the little sum of twenty-five dollars. It will be remembered that during the summer of 1901 Mr. Hornung had in front of his place, a small sample gasoline engine, and as Mr. O'Hara was passing there his horse took fright and ran a short distance down the street throwing Michael out, from which fall he sustained a slight injury and he brought suit against Mr. Hornung for $5,000, and the matter has been hanging fire ever since until Tuesday when O'Hara went to Hornung and seemed anxious to settle. Hornung, who did not care to spend a week or more lawing proposed to leave the trouble to three disinterested men and each to abide their decision. To this O'Hara agreed and C. Burkhardt, G. C. Townsend and W. F. Nissle, who were chosen to decide the matter, after hearing the story decided that $25 would be an ample sum for the injury sustained, and thus the suit is ended.—Saline Observer.

AMENDMENTS TO GRADE SEPARATION

Are Apparently in the Interest of the City

RELIEVE FROM LIABILITY

For Any Expense or Damage Caused by the Separation of the Grades.

The Ann Arbor railroad have consented to make some changes in the amendments to the grade separation ordinance presented to the council last Monday night. The main point of difference between the new ordinance and the old grade separation ordinance was that it did away with the viaduct at the foot of Ann street for which the city was to pay $10,000 and also the viaduct on Liberty street. In return for this the Ann Arbor road agreed to build all the approaches and to save the city harmless from all damage suits which might be brought.

In other words the city was to have grade separation at Miller avenue, Felch street, Huron street and Washington street without its costing the city a penny, if the new ordinance passed, but was not to have grade separation at Liberty street. The saving to the city, if the estimates made by Dean & Co. in their law suits were correct, was at least $30,000 or $40,000.

The city under the new ordinance was not compelled to divert First street as under the old ordinance, which diversion might cost in the neighborhood of $4,000.

The friends of grade separation were somewhat chary about giving up the grade separation on Liberty street.

Thursday, while the council was waiting in vain for kickers on the paving assessments to show up, Chief Engineer Richards and Attorney Cavanaugh appeared to answer any questions on the new ordinance. After a little discussion they agreed to accept a few amendments.

The first and most important was that they put in a clause compelling the Ann Arbor road to separate the grade at Liberty street as originally planned as soon as the city diverted First street.

The other amendment was that the road would construct the sidewalks to the approaches over Liberty street, so that the people would not have to walk in the mud until First street is diverted.

With these changes, it seems to the Argus that the new ordinance is very much in the interest of Ann Arbor, as it relieves the city beyond question from all liability to expense on account of grade separation and saves $10,000 for a viaduct at a place through which no street extends.

DAUGHTERS OF THE REVOLUTION

Held a Very Interesting Monthly Meeting

At the Residence of Mrs. Herdman—Some Valuable Papers Were Read

The Daughters of the Revolution held their first meeting for the year 1903-04 Thursday, Oct. 8, at the home of Mrs. W. J. Herdman, on Huron street. Thirty members were present and two guests. A program was prepared of variety and great interest, many giving their personal experiences of historical matters pertinent to the Revolution. An article signed by M. Martin was read by Mrs. Dibble, which states that Plymouth Rock still stands where it stood in 1620, though a part of it was for a time placed in the town square and also a short time in front of Pilgrim hall. In 1880 this part was returned to its proper place and cemented to the part of the rock which had not been moved.

Mrs. Doty read an article on "Pensioners of Old Wars," showing that there are now living 8 widows and 3 daughters of Revolutionary officers, one survivor of the war of 1812 and 1,317 widows of that war.

A most delightful and instructive paper on "Puritan Governors" was read by Mrs. Lane. She dwelt on the courage and self-denial which was shown by the early governors, all of whom were "Men of Parts."

At the request of Mrs. Angell, Mrs. Hutchins called upon Mrs. Dibble, who read a beautiful little poem entitled "The Trailing Arbutus," composed by herself during the summer, when trouble with her eyes kept her in a darkened room.

As the Ladies' Library is soon to be closed, what disposition should be made of the books and other articles in the D. A. R. corner of the Ladies' Library came up for discussion, and it was decided to leave the disposition of them to the book committee.

After the program, a colonial lunch of doughnuts, cider and coffee, was served by the hostess on quaint, old-fashioned blue stone ware, the sugar bowl having formerly belonged to the famous Ann Hutchinson, one of the ancestors of Mrs. Herdman.

The meeting closed with the singing of America.

The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Chapin, on Kingsley street.

THE FOUR STUDENTS WERE FINED

It Cost Each One of Them Over $27

Baker Is Out On Bail and His Examination Will be on Wednesday

The four students who were arraigned Saturday in Justice Doty's court for disorderly conduct Friday night, were fined $15 each and costs, which in each case amounted to $5.63. Besides this amount they paid $7 each to repair damages they had done including the taking of seven hats belonging to the officers.

Ray Baker, who was charged with striking Officer Isbell with a club and resisting an officer, had his examination set for October 14, and his bail bond fixed at $500. Late Saturday night he was released on bail, the bail being furnished through an Adrian bank. Baker's father lives in Fairfield township, Lenawee county. Baker went to his classes this morning.

Officer Isbell is suffering from a slight fracture of the skull. He is still delirious at times, but is some better than he was. When delirious his mind goes back to the moment before he fell and seems to be concentrated in an effort to help get Kelsey out from under the feet of the crowd.

WON'T VISIT COUNTY HOUSE

Supervisors Decide to Send a Committee Instead

WALTERS IS CHAIRMAN

The Bridgewater Supervisor Was Unanimously Re-elected Chairman This Afternoon

The Board of Supervisors began their annual session Monday, 24 supervisors answering to the first roll call, others arriving for the afternoon. Sumner Damon was elected chairman pro tem.

After dinner the board unanimously elected George Walters, of Bridgewater, chairman, and Sumner Damon, of Ypsilanti, chairman pro tem. The rules were changed by dropping four committees on claims, whose work is now done by the board of county auditors. Messrs. McCullough and Schumacher were appointed a committee on special order of business.

Supervisor Miner moved that the board, as a committee of the whole, visit the county house Thursday next. Supervisor Raymond amended by making it a committee of five who should visit the county house. The amendment carried by the close vote of 13 yeas to 12 nays, thus for the first time breaking up a long established custom. The hours of meeting were fixed at 10:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m.

A number of new faces are on the board this year.

REV. JOHN WAS INSTALLED

THE NEW PASTOR OF THE BETHLEHEM CHURCH

The Church Has 1,500 in the Congregation—Four New Directors Installed

The installation of Rev. S. A. John took place Sunday morning at the Bethlehem Evangelical church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Ademit, the supply pastor since the resignation of Rev. Neumann. After the inaugural address of Mr. John, the four new members of the board of directors were installed by him.

The choir, under the direction of Mr. F. Fischer, sang the 86th and the 23d Psalms. Rev. Mr. Ademit announced that the church has now 1,500 followers, one-fourth of whom are active members.

HOW CLASSMEN WERE TREATED

The Antics at the Fresh-Soph Rush

A GRAPHIC DESCRIPTION

Of the Fun Making on the Campus When the Two Under Classes Met in the Annual Rush

Enthusiasm ran high on the campus Friday night and the rush was one of the most exciting in years. The sophomores won out, but the freshmen stood game and staunch friendships were made that will outlive college years. At 7:30 the freshmen gathered around the flag pole, formed in a square around the cannon and locking arms stood like a phalanx awaiting the onslaught of the enemy. The sophs, between the library and the main hall, surged down upon them with the rush of battle, hit in the front and swerved to the sides, surrounding the cannon and fighting hard for the pole. After a mighty cheer for '06 the sophs separated in bunches and began to put the freshmen up the trees. There was such rapid scaling as never was seen before, a paddling of them up into high places, where, Zaccus-like, they looked down upon the multitude below. Small trees bent with their weight, evergreens were padded with them, and the electric light pole had its explorers where the zone was warm as the noonday sun.

Small and great companies moved to and fro upon the earth seeking whom they might devour, shouting the number of their gang, "coring" up their ringleaders, separating quietly, swooping down in a body upon the enemy and treeing him in a wink.

"07 always on top," said one brave fellow, as he was lifted skyward; "go break the news to mother," sang another. "Three in the shade," called down the last addition to the evergreen tree, and so the sentiment varied through "the good old summer time," "Mary had a little lamb," and "Go away and let me sleep."

One poor fellow was goaded a little higher than the others and forced to sing "Nearer My God to Thee." He took his revenge out in the key.

One who played truant and accompanied his lady rather than his class, was snatched away by the mob and after a speech to the spot he was brought back to the campus, was snatched from and was delivered only in answer to the cry, "Who wants Watkins." It took a game girl to say who.

Tree scaling was not the only amusement. One little fellow was dragged before a bunch of girls and obliged to get upon his knees and repeat the dictation of the '05:

"I love thee,"
"I love thee."
"I am not worthy of thee,"
"I am not worthy of thee,"
"Oh, just this once,"
"Oh, just this once,"
"I'll sue thee for a breach of promise,"
"I'll sue thee for a breach of promise."

Another was obliged to chew up his tag, or calling, card, and "bay the moon," or in the classic language of the Soph-Lit, "bark at the light." The "Ypsi" squad, '04-8, excelled in the tree lifting but the laws did their share. Lyons, last year a fresh lad, this year a fresh medic, was taken up and handled all ways but right side up with care, and treated to all kinds of the severest fanatic. But Lyons was the nerveiest man on the campus last night, and laws admire grit, so his tree ascension ended in a triumphal march upon the shoulders of the enemy, nine rahs for the ex-law, and souvenir tatters from a four dollar shirt.

Not to the strong always is the battle, for Kellogg, '04 lit, was boosted up a little tree, that was no where near as big as Kellogg, and many a stalwart sophomore met his Waterloo Friday night.

The botanical gardens with their water tanks was the scene of much plunging. The handle had been removed from the campus pump, so a long procession was led to the reservoirs and unceremoniously dropped in. But exciting as the whole evening was, there was no mob-like rush on the campus and tearing asunder of soul and spirit as in years passed. There was the snatching of hats, the hot trail after the enemy, the swaying surging mass, but the spirit was friendly until a great part of the crowd had gone home and the hot heads attempted to celebrate by burning up the State street pavement. If the matter had stopped on the campus with the rush proper no harm would have been done and all passed as an innocent bit of fun.

A NIGHT ALARM. Worse than an alarm of fire at night is the brassy cough of croup, which sounds like the children's death knell, and it means death unless something is done quickly. Foley's Honey and Tar never fails to give instant relief and quickly cures the worst forms of croup. Mrs. P. L. Cordier, of Manly, Ky., writes: "My three year old girl had a severe case of croup; the doctor said she could not live. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar, the first dose gave quick relief and it saved her life." For sale by A. E. Mummery.

Slayer Of Men

Reminiscences of Desperate Battles of the Texas Rangers.

How the Notorious Padre Jarante Got His Deserts—A Brush With a Band of Comanches.

In a comfortable, well appointed office on one of the upper floors of a New York skyscraper a remarkable old gentleman engaged in the laudable business of insuring people's lives with an ample margin for his own needs may be seen every day. Time was when he was engaged in taking men's lives at the risk of his own instead of preparing families for emergencies when the grim visitor calls the head of a home. The colonel, for such is his title, gained as a commander of the Texas rangers, grew reminiscent recently and related some of his experiences on the border.

"I accompanied Captain Hayes on his raid against the notorious priest leader of Mexicans, Padre Jarante, in all the history of outlawry perhaps the most skillful in the business of fighting and devilry. We chased after the leader for two days and without knowing it passed him, so that when we got to San Juan he was behind us. But we were tired out for want of two nights' sleep, and we stripped our horses and ate and went to sleep, never expecting trouble.

About sunrise we were awakened by warning shouts and cries and the firing of shots. We grasped our revolvers and carbines and hastened to the windows. The five men on outpost had stood their ground and had gone under. One, lying wounded on an elbow, was still pouring a galling fire into the ranks of the enemy until the butt of a rifle was laid over his head. Three times the padre charged us, and three times he was repulsed by our fire, and the third time he was keeled off his horse dead.

"All of these were interesting fights, but the most desperate, I think, came when one of our lieutenants, Edward Burleson, was ordered to hand one of our Indian prisoners over to the authorities at Fort McIntosh. I was in the party detailed to accompany the lieutenant, and on the way back, nearing the Nueces river we spied a couple of Indians. I was also one of seven chosen by the lieutenant to capture the Indians, while the remainder of the detachment continued along the road.

"The red fellows, however, had set a trap. Steadily the others of our command proceeded, leaving us to settle with the pair discovered, until finally we were out of earshot of one another. We dug bravely after the two Indians. The two suddenly turned into fourteen, and they were ready and waiting for us when we crossed the brow of a hillock which had concealed the snare. There was neither time nor necessity for retreat, however. We got the order to dismount, and it came so quick and fast while we were riding at top speed that I remember my horse went back on his haunches, cutting the same in the effort to stop short. Then from the middle of our circle of horses we opened fire with the Colt's six shooting rifles. We killed every Indian except one that got away to spread the whole some tale, but the fellows had charged us so closely that several of them lying prostrate we could have touched with our rifle butts without moving from where we stood.

"In 1858 I had worked up the line to a captaincy and was then with the frontier battalion of state troops, with a headquarters camp at Fort York, on the Brazos. The Comanches had been particularly active. They would swoop down on the white settlements and after working stealthily within the white lines would run off, driving stolen stock and killing and burning all within range. So we decided to give them a dose of their own medicine, and we took a wagon loaded with fifty rangers, followed by a similarly loaded one and about a hundred friendly Tabahuacan Indians.

"We camped that evening, concealing our force, and sent out scouts. Our enemy, the scouts reported, were hunting buffalo, and their camp was just a few miles ahead. We moved during the night, and at daybreak came within sight of the Comanche lodge. Eighty of these we counted, which, allowing four male fighters to a lodge, brought up the fighting force to something like 300 braves. Just at sunup a hostile Indian on horseback appeared, and at once excitement broke loose among my own Indians, and they yelled and gave the whole scheme away, for the solitary rider, of course, heard them.

"The Tabahuacans were ordered out in front, so that we could keep the rangers as a sort of surprise. Then we charged, raising the Texas yell and bearing down on the Comanches like a living avalanche. The fight proved one sided. About those days the mere yell of the rangers was enough to strike terror to the heart of a small band of Indians, and here, though the enemy was in sufficient numbers to make resistance, there seemed a thousand rangers the way they were spread out. The Comanches cut and ran, deserting everything and spreading fanlike so that it was impossible as desired to follow any one band. So we decided to come back, having slain more than fifty of them. All about us we could make out Indians skulking at a safe distance in the hills, and we were just ready to proceed to a proper looting of the place to recover stolen goods when a second and much larger outfit of Indians hove up out of nowhere and prepared to fight.

"One huge Indian on the opposite side dared any Indian on our side to come out to fight him single handed, and five of the Tabahuacans went down in single combat before we turned the rangers loose. After all the blood made was more spectacular than flight. The instant the rangers were released the Indians fled for dear life, and only those that blundered into range were killed or dropped."

OVER THE CLIFF IN AN AUTO.

How a Young Woman Met Death in a Peculiar and Awful Way.

Instantly killed by an automobile accident on a steep road near Arden, N. Y., in the Ramapo hills, was the dreadful fate of Miss Cornelia Herrick, a seventeen-year-old girl.

Dr. Rushmore, the girl's uncle, had received a call from a patient some distance away and invited his niece to accompany him in his automobile. The place where the accident occurred is a steep and winding road that climbs a lofty hill.

The road was cut through the thick wood and in places was blasted from the solid rock. On one side is a declivity of more than 100 feet, while on the other side the hill towers up almost straight. The road is crooked and is

THE AUTO SELLED ITS OCCUPANTS, regarded as dangerous by drivers, any of whom will not attempt it with a fractious team.

The road is scarcely wide enough for two carriages to pass. Dense shrubbery and almost primeval forest skirt it on one side.

Dr. Rushmore had been over the road often enough to know its dangers. The auto had proceeded slowly about 300 feet up the hill when Dr. Rushmore halted it to generate more steam.

After a few moments the doctor started up again, and he had gone only a little way when something happened.

The auto stopped abruptly and then began to move backward, gaining fresh speed with every second. The doctor tried to put on the brake. It would not work. Hurrying down the tremendous hill backward, the auto veered toward the edge of the road.

Dr. Rushmore could not control it. There was nothing to stop it except a little hemlock hedge. It passed through that like a knife through water and fell, spilling its occupants. Miss Herrick was instantly killed. Dr. Rushmore was terribly injured, but will recover.

The Price of Pleasure.

It is hard for a lovely woman to forego the pleasures of the life which she was created to enjoy and adorn. She may have to be busy all day in office or in store, yet she cannot deny herself the social pleasures which are offered her.

But the fatigue is often too great for her, and she suffers from headache and backache as a consequence of over-exertion.

Women who are tired and worn out will find a perfect tonic in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures headache, backache and the other aches and pains to which women are subject. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"I am so pleased with your instructions, I hardly know what to thank you for your kind favors," writes Mrs. Milo Bryant, of Lota, Thomas Co., Ga. "I suffered so much with great pains in my back and the lower part of my stomach and palpitation of the heart, that at times I could hardly lie down. Could hardly get up in the morning, but after using three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and two vials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, I am like a new woman."

Sick women, especially those suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

COUNCIL PASSED NEW GRADE SEPARATION ORDINANCE

Which Relieves the City From Any Liability For Damages

The Discussion Over It Took a Very Warm Tinge and Was Mainly In the Hands of the Lawyers

Monday's council meeting was a free-for-all chewing match and the affair was called on almost immediately after the council was called to order. Twelve aldermen and President Walz responded to roll call. The lobby was well filled also with interested citizens in anticipation of the third reading of the proposed new ordinance amending and adding to the ordinances in force relative to grade separation.

Mayor Brown called the special session of the council to order. First—The ordinance relative to the tracks of the Ann Arbor Railway company;

Second—To take such action as may be necessary in order to protect the paved streets of the city from being torn up by telephone or other companies.

A petition was read permitting the Ann Arbor railroad to cross Liberty and First streets with a single track at ten feet elevation from established grade on Liberty street and four feet at First street.

Another petition was read signed by G. F. Allmendinger and a number of others asking that the pending ordinance be returned to the committee and that the committee be instructed to give a hearing to all interested citizens.

Still another petition signed by H. S. Dean and many others was read against permitting the new telephone company to tear up East Liberty street to place their conduits for telephone wires. A communication from the mayor was read recommending that action be taken establishing regulations under which paved streets can be torn up.

With these petitions disposed of the grade separation ordinance as amended was read for the third time and the ball was opened.

Alderman Fischer stated that Dean & Company were present and wished to be heard on the matter. They were given the opportunity, when Col. Dean stated that Attorneys Frank Jones and Mr. Gates would present some points for the consideration of the council. Attorney Jones asked if the ordinance of Oct. 1 had ever been accepted by the Ann Arbor Railway company. He referred to some judgment against the city and said the passage of the proposed ordinance would put certain persons in the air and might put the council in the air. He advised the council not to jump into the litigation now going on and complicate the situation by passing the proposed ordinance. He referred to Judge Lockwood's decision and the injunction issued by Judge Wiest enjoining the building of embankments and claimed the passing of the ordinance would relieve the railroad of certain burdens.

The inference from his talk was that the council might find itself in contempt of court should it pass the ordinance before it and the members might have to go to jail.

He was followed by Attorney Gates, of Detroit, for Dean & Co. He reviewed the cases already passed upon by the court, the Ingham county injunction matter and took up various grade separation cases in Detroit illustrating similar principles of law to those involved here. He thought the city had not started right and that it should have proceeded under the state law and made arrangements to settle with all persons whose property would be damaged by grade separation before the work was entered upon. He referred to a Detroit case in which a citizen had obtained damages in perpetuity because of an embankment built near his premises. The inference was that the city of Ann Arbor by proceeding as it was doing would likely be obliged to pay annual damages forever and a day. He didn't want the council to saddle the city, or run "agin" the courts or go to jail, of course.

When Mr. Gates sat down Attorney M. J. Cavanaugh took up the discussion on the other side and he turned it into his brother attorneys on the other side in right warm fashion and said they were talking through their hat as it were, and that they knew better than what their talk indicated. He declared the council had the undoubted right to pass the proposed ordinance without contempt of court or danger of incarceration behind bars. He made a strong plea for the ordinance.

City Attorney Kearney said the council was within its legislative rights in passing the ordinance and had nothing to fear from the courts, that the courts had no authority to restrain a legislative body in the performance of its legislative work. He considered the ordinance an altogether proper one for the council to pass.

Mayor Brown was asked to present his views. He favored the ordinance because it secured to the city all that the old ordinance did while relieving it from the $10,000 obligation to pay for a viaduct on Ann street, and from all possibility of the city being held for any damages to private property by grade separation. So far as the securing of grade separation was concerned the new ordinance protected the city in everything secured by the old ordinance and more. Mayor Brown was asked numberless questions in rapid succession. His answers were to the point. When the fire became rapid, when nearly everyone in the lobby fired questions at him, his answers became a bit tart, but the questioners were not at a loss to know who was hit.

At this point the meeting degenerated into a free-for-all and several tried to talk at the same time.

An earnest effort was made by Mr. Allmendinger and Col. Dean to have the ordinance go back to committee, but the aldermen seemed ready to vote and finally after two hours or more of the strenuous discussion the vote was taken and the ordinance was passed by a vote of 9 to 4 as follows: Yeas—Schlenker, Hutzel, Kearns, Miller, Johnson, Grose, Bangs, Coon, Fischer, Nays—Gill, Schumacher, Goodyear, President Walz.

The matter of preparing regulations under which pavement may be taken up by telephone or other companies was referred to the street committee and city attorney, after which the council adjourned.

COMMITTEES OF THE SUPERVISORS

Were Named by Chairman Walters To-Day

The Cash Balance and Receipts of the Year

Chairman Walters appointed the following standing committees at the meeting of the Board of Supervisors Tuesday morning:

- Equalization: Warner, Schumacher, McCullough, Haist, Raymond.
- To Settle with County Officers: Miner, McGuire, Landwehr.
- Apportionment of State and County Taxes: Schumacher, Lawson, Holmes.
- Public Buildings: Fischer, Munn, Oesterlin.
- Rejected Taxes: Lutz, Shankland, Wheeler.
- To Examine Accounts of Superintendents of Poor: Bibbie, Gorman, Holmes.
- Finance: Jedele, Kitson, Hutzel.
- Fractional School Districts: Dettling, Sweetland, Grosshans.
- Drains: Donnelly, Haist, Gorman.
- Printing: Damon, Wheeler, Schumacher.
- Salaries of County Officers: Landwehr, Miner, Taylor.
- To Prepare Statement of County Expenses: Oesterlin, Lawson, Holmes.
- Per Diem: Grosshans, Donnelly, Hutzel.

He also appointed as a special committee to visit the county house Messrs. Lutz, Fischer, Raymond, Donnelly and Kitson.

Tuesday afternoon annual reports of the Drain Commissioner and the County Treasurer were made.

The receipts of the county from Jan. 1 to Oct. 1 were $161,370.80, and the expenditures $144,677.39. The expenditures included a little over $63,000 paid to the state. There was on hand Oct. 1, $4,350.07 as against an overdraft of $12,328.34 on Jan. 1. The total fines received during the year were $373.40.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

makes pale, thin children fat and chubby. Overcomes wasting tendencies and brings back rosy cheeks and bright eyes.

It's surprising how quickly children respond to Scott's Emulsion. It contains just the element of nourishment their little bodies need. They thrive on it.

Even a few drops in the baby's bottle have a noticeable effect for good. Nothing better than Scott's Emulsion for growing children.

Why do substitutes for Scott's Emulsion cost less? Because they're worth less. With one you wait in vain for the benefits you had looked for. In Scott's Emulsion you get them. It never disappoints. That's worth the few cents difference in cost.

HAWKS & ANGUS ARE CHARY

Would Rather Sell Their Line Outright

THAN GO IN MERGER

Interest that Financed Boland Line Prominent in the Present Scheme

A new aspect is given to the plans for a merger of the Detroit-Kalamazoo trolley lines by the announcement that the initiative in the present negotiations for a consolidation was taken by H. H. Hollins, the New York financier, who has been delegated to arrange the deal. According to Wallace Franklin, Michigan manager for Westinghouse, Church, Kerr & Co. and a business partner of J. D. Hawks, this same Mr. Hollins advanced part of the capital for the Hawks-Angus system and also for the Boland line, which turns out to be a competing road.

"Naturally," said Mr. Franklin, "Mr. Hollins is anxious to adjust any differences which may exist between these interests and he feels that this can best be brought about by a consolidation. Hitherto Mr. Hawks and Mr. Angus have declined to entertain any proposition involving Mr. Boland. He tried to bluff them into buying him out before he knew what fighters he was up against. There are other considerations which have made Hawks and Angus chary about the proposed merger. If they can sell out at the price they ask they make a good thing out of it. The merger would not be so certain a proposition and on a mileage basis they are not in a position to be awarded a controlling interest. This explains their willingness to deal with the Detroit United. I believe however that unless an agreement is soon reached with the latter company the consolidation will take place.

"With the competitive feature eliminated, the lines should prove even more profitable than at present. The merger might also pave the way for a project that could not fail to bring big returns. The territory between Kalamazoo and St. Joseph is the best in Michigan not yet occupied by an electric line and this link of 40 miles or so would complete the route across the state. At St. Joseph the line would connect with the steamship lines, making a remarkably cheap trip from Detroit to Chicago."

S. F. Angus last night admitted that Mr. Hollins was responsible for the negotiations looking toward the consolidation. He denied, however, that the New York banker had helped to finance the Hawks-Angus lines and said he thought the latter was actuated in promoting the merger by what he expected to make out of it.—Detroit Tribune.

THE REGENTS ARE IN SESSION

SOME PRESENTATIONS MADE TO UNIVERSITY

Three New Appointments Were Made—A Classical Fellowship Established

The Regents of the University met Wednesday and one of the most interesting features of the meeting was the presentation to the University of a portrait of Dr. B. A. Hinsdale, formerly professor in the pedagogical department. The portrait is done in oil by Percy Ives, of Detroit, and was presented by the professors and officials of the University. It will be hung in the library.

Another attractively gotten up picture is a photograph of Shakespeare's home and Stratford on Avon, with a bust of Shakespeare and a leaf from the mulberry tree at New Place, all framed together, and presented by David Heineman, Ph. B. of '87, to be hung in Prof. Demmon's Shakespeare room.

The Senate committee outlined what could be done and asked for an appropriation of $2,500.

The Librarian submitted his report. An order of $35 was given for purchase of matting in the library. Two hundred dollars was allowed for duplicate books for the department of English.

The treasurer submitted his report. The following appointments were made:

- A. M. Bragg, B. S., instructor in mechanical and marine engineering, salary $900.
- F. L. Dunlap, Ph. D., senior instructor in analytical chemistry, who will supply the vacancy of Dr. Sullivan, at a salary of $1,200.
- Hobart A. Millard, assistant in analytical chemistry, salary $700.
- Theodore D. Buhl, of Detroit, contributed $2,400 for the classical fellowship, which will be divided between Henry Herbert Armstrong and Robert B. English.

The Stearns fellowship in music will be renewed and awarded to Philip L. Schenk. Two hundred and twenty-five dollars was added to the budget of the department of forestry for the general work of getting seed beds and planting trees.

Prof. Reed made an unusually interesting report on the work of the summer school.

INSANE WOMAN SENT TO HOSPITAL

NO ROOM AT PONTIAC ASYLUM FOR NEW PATIENTS

Woman Is Ill and May Have to Have An Operation

Mrs. Jennie Ward, an insane woman, was taken to the jail Sunday by Officer Ball and has been confined there since, pending the completing of arrangements to send her to a retreat. Wednesday the matter was taken up by Judge Watkins and he was informed by the authorities that they could not possibly find room for her. As the woman is sick and a limb may have to be amputated, Judge Watkins yesterday morning made arrangements to have her taken care of by the hospital authorities, as there are no accommodations for her at the jail.

Mrs. Ward has been a resident of the city for some time and for the past year—up to about three months ago—kept house for one Ed Sachs, a well known character about town. At one time they contemplated marriage and applied to the county clerk for a license, but this was denied them, as the woman had never been divorced from her former husband. Lately she has been taken care of by Daniel Tracy, 1610 Fuller street, but he does not feel able to harbor her longer and hence Officer Ball was asked to take her away.

THE PEOPLE MAY YET VOTE

On Building Hospital For Contagious Diseases

A COMMITTEE OF FIVE

Are Investigating the Matter and the Board Will Act Next Week

The Board of Supervisors listened Wednesday p. m. to Dr. Hinsdale of the local board of health and Dr. Westing, president of the County Medical society, who told in strong terms of the need of a contagious disease hospital and of the saying in expense it would make to the county in the care of patients with contagious diseases.

This morning Chairman Walters appointed Supervisors Miner, Landwehr, Damon, Dettling and Lawson a committee to investigate the matter and report to the board at this session.

It is understood that the committee will give a hearing at an open meeting next Monday.

As the Argus has previously stated, it is estimated that the contagious disease bills for the past year will be between $16,000 and $18,000. Hence the pressing need of some means of lessening this constantly growing cost.

If it is decided to build a contagious disease hospital, the question will be submitted to a vote of the people of the county.

ELECTRIC LINE CONSOLIDATION

The Scheme Appears to be Sure of Success

J. D. HAWKS TALKS

Ypsi-Ann and Boland Lines Will be in it—270 Miles of Electric Railway

The Argus of Saturday contained the information that the stoppage of work on the Boland line between Chelsea and Ann Arbor might be due to the fact that a scheme was on foot, in New York, to consolidate the several electric railway lines running west from Detroit and that both the Hawks-Angus and Boland lines might be included in this merger.

This proposed merger has now gone so far that the interested parties are willing to talk about it and Monday's Detroit Journal contained the following:

For over a year past it was understood that Hawks & Angus had practically sold the Detroit, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor & Jackson road to the Detroit United Railway, and that the deal would be closed as soon as money became easier down east.

A few weeks ago the Detroit United motormen and conductors who operate the Ypsi-Ann cars from the city hall to the junction, five miles out Michigan avenue, were caused to exchange places with the Hawks-Angus crews running from that point to Jackson, the object being to familiarize both crews with the entire line, as under Detroit United management the delay at the junction caused by changing crews would be obviated by having the men take their cars through to Jackson from the Detroit city hall.

After this plan had been followed a couple of weeks and the men were getting accustomed to it, Manager Brooks of the Detroit United ordered them to change back and it is said to have remarked that the "deal was off." Following this announcement, certain negotiations which have been pending for a consolidation of all the electric roads between Detroit and Kalamazoo, inclusive, were again taken up and actively pushed.

S. F. Angus has just returned from New York, where he went on business connected with the merger. Mr. Angus could not be found at his office, but J. D. Hawks, for the first time on record, acknowledged that a consolidation was being engineered by Hawks, Angus, Boland and others controlling electric roads between the two cities mentioned.

"H. B. Hollins & Co., the New York bankers, have been appointed as a committee to continue work on plans for a consolidation of all electric roads from Detroit to Kalamazoo," said Mr. Hawks. "Mr. Angus went to New York for the purpose of meeting various parties interested, at which this action was taken. The deal was held back a long time by the tight money market, but money is easier now, and there is no question that it will be carried out. All that remains is a mere question of details. The consolidation will result in a more economical operation of the properties than is possible under several managements."

The properties to be consolidated include the Hawks-Angus main line from Detroit to Jackson, together with the Ann Arbor city system and the branch line from Ypsilanti to Saline, all known as the Detroit, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor & Jackson, a total of something over 100 miles; the Boland properties, comprising the Jackson city lines, about 12 miles, the Jackson-Albion line, about 40 miles, and the finished part of the proposed Detroit, Ann Arbor & Jackson road, including about 20 miles from Jackson to Chelsea and about 12 miles toward Ann Arbor; the Railway Companies General properties, comprising the Albion, Marshall, Battle Creek and Kalamazoo lines, in all about 47 miles; and the Detroit, Plymouth & Northville line, 16 miles, owned by the Boland syndicate.

The Boland lines in and near Jackson get their power from a big water power station at Allegan owned by the Footes of Jackson. This station has 4,000 horsepower, and will undoubtedly be consolidated with the other properties, as many miles of road are dependent upon it for their supply of "juice."

From the above it will be seen that the long-pending deal for the purchase of the Hawks-Angus roads by the Detroit United is off, and that common interests are impelling Hawks, Angus and Boland to bury the hatchet. As Mr. Hawks is a man who never talks about a deal until it is as good as made, the chances are that a few weeks will put the Ypsi-Ann beyond the reach of the Detroit United, even if Mr. Hutchins should change his mind about accepting Hawks & Angus' terms, which are said to be very steep.

One of the details to be fixed up with Boland is said to be that gentleman's desire that the Hawks-Angus rails between Jackson and Chelsea shall be torn up and his tracks used instead. It is understood that Hawks & Angus are willing if arrangements can be made with the bondholders.

The Detroit Free Press further says regarding the matter: "I think the idea is practical if properly carried out," said President J. D. Hawks, yesterday, "and would be beneficial from the closer unification of interests and the economy resulting from the operation of the system under one management."

There is no inclination on the part of the properties of the Detroit, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor & Jackson to tear up any of its tracks and use those of the Boland line from Jackson to Chelsea. The location of the Ypsi-Ann road through this territory is considered the best of the two and will probably remain intact. If the Boland line, which it is said, is now controlled by the General Electric people, comes into the deal, which is altogether probable, it is likely that the tracks laid east of Jackson will be torn up and used to build into Lansing with. This, however, is as yet mere conjecture.

Mr. Hawks said that negotiations had not proceeded far enough to discuss the financial arrangements involved and declined to say what they were likely to be, but it is believed that a new company will be formed, a large sum in cash paid to the Ypsi-Ann interests for a portion of their stock, and a new issue of bonds made sufficiently large to cover the remainder of the interests involved, and to care for the underlying liens now on the properties, a sufficient amount of the new securities being placed in escrow to retire the underlying liens.

There is now outstanding in the Detroit, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor & Jackson $2,600,000 in stock, the majority of which is held by Messrs. Hawks and Angus; first mortgage 5 per cent gold bonds due February, 1926, $1,610,000; Detroit, Ypsilanti & Ann Arbor Railway Co. first mortgage 6 per cent due November, 1917, $600,000; Detroit, Ypsilanti & Ann Arbor railway first consolidated mortgage due 1924, $330,000, and Ypsilanti & Saline electric railway first mortgage 6 per cent bonds due July, 1919, $600,000, making a total bonded indebtedness of $2,600,000. The authorized amount of the consolidated mortgage of the Detroit, Ypsilanti & Ann Arbor Railway Co. is $1,000,000, of which $600,000 is reserved to retire the first mortgage of the company and $70,000 have not been issued. The Detroit, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor & Jackson issued $1,670,000 first consolidated mortgage 5 per cent gold bonds due February 1, 1922. The authorized issue was $2,600,000 of which $900,000 are reserved to retire prior liens. The Union Trust Co., of Detroit, is trustee of all the mortgages, and the par value of the stock is $100 a share.

TO SNUFF VOLCANOES.

Startling Discovery Made by An Australian.

Volcanoes can easily be extinguished, says the New York Herald. A New Zealand man claims (and there are many who agree with him) to have discovered a liquid by means of which volcanoes may be extinguished quickly whether active or threatening.

Many diseases of the human body act in the same manner as volcanoes. Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Kidney Disorders, Female Diseases and many others all begin with a slight rumble of pain and distress, and if not treated in time will burst forth in all their fury, causing all who are so afflicted the most intense suffering and making life a complete burden.

That a liquid has been discovered that will extinguish these volcanic eruptions of disease, whether active or threatening, is not only certain but a material fact.

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY is this liquid discovery. THE WONDERFUL CURATIVE powers of this famous remedy have cut a new path through the field of medicine, sweeping with it a startling record of tremendous success.

FIVE STUDENTS WERE JAILED

The Officers Were Stoned and Attacked

THEN KNOCKED DOWN

Officer Isbell's Head Out Open With a Club—Trouble Prevented Destruction of Pavement

Five freshmen students spent Friday night in jail and breakfasted and dined there. Five young men are on tenter hooks as to the permanency of their stay in the University.

While the rush between the two under classes Friday night was harmless and everything was all right until the after celebration, youthful exuberance carried the students too far and placed some of them in the position of law-breakers with serious charges hanging over them.

The trouble began with an attempt on the part of the freshmen to build a bonfire on the State street pavement at the corner of State street and North University avenue, largely with lumber taken from Sauer & Co. in front of the new Y. M. C. A. building.

The pavement is of asphalt block and would burn like coal. To have allowed this bonfire to be built would have absolutely destroyed the pavement at this point and the police interfered. They asked the students to take their bonfire to the campus, but some of the hot-heads started to rush the officers, who picked up a little student with a sign he was about to add to the bonfire heap and started with him towards the jail.

The crowd followed and attempted a rescue. If they had dispersed or taken their bonfire to the regular place on the campus it is possible that this first student would not have seen the inside of the jail. As it was he suffered for the sins of his would-be friends.

Hard chunks of mud and stones were thrown. Officer Ball was hit in the back with a stone. Officer Collins was hit on the shoulder with a big stone. Officer O'Mara was hit on the head with a chunk of hard mud and on the hip with a stone. Marshal Kelsey was also hit. Heavy rushes were tried and some of the officers used their clubs freely. At the corner of State and Washington streets, Officer Bert Gillen was struck on the head by a student in blue overalls and jumper and knocked to the ground.

At this point a student with a club hit Officer Isbell over the head cutting a big gash in his forehead and felling him. Marshal Kelsey was also felled and while down on the pavement a student in a white sweater attempted to kick him in the head, the only thing saving Kelsey being a quick dodge and another student who interfered and ordered the kicker to stop.

As the student who hit Isbell with a club swung his club back again Officer Collins had him and started to the jail with him. In the meantime Deputy Sheriff's Gauntlett and Bert Gillen had started again for the jail with the first student who was handcuffed to Gauntlett. The crowd didn't see them go and they proceeded unmolested, the crowd following the clubbing student whom Collins had arrested being prevented from rescuing him by all the officers who proceeded in a compact body.

Stones were thrown at the jail and a couple of students who were talking rather loudly about getting out the two students who were already in the jail were hustled into jail also, and after this the jail was given a wide berth.

A few minutes later the officers picked up a student with blue jumper and overalls in front of the opera house whom Bert Gillen recognized as the man who knocked him down. This made five in jail and they remained there until brought up in justice court this afternoon.

Officer Isbell had four students taken in his forehead and was sent home in a hack. He demurred and although so dizzy that he could hardly stand, wanted to remain till danger of trouble was over. Isbell was hurt in the same way in a rush three years ago, his head being cut open by a picket in the hands of a student.

Resistance to an officer is a serious crime. The courts are supposed to protect the rights of anyone improperly arrested and not bystanders and where bystanders interfere the law makes it a serious offense. This is the lesson which the student body should impress upon the lower classmen, that fun ceases at a certain point and those who go beyond that point should not receive the moral encouragement and support of their fellows.

The five students gave their names as Frank Baker, John Statler, John Finch, Frank Fletcher and George Williams. Two of them were laws, one a medic and two engineers. Complainants were made against four of them for disorderly conduct. Complaint was also against Baker, whose real name is Ray Baker, an engineering student, from Adrian, for assault upon George Isbell with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder and with resisting an officer. This last is a circuit court offense.

MEDICAL COLLEGE DOESN'T BUY BODIES

Plymouth, Mich., Oct. 9.—Ernest Hudson, known as "Cub," while under arrest for breaking into Farmer Jos. Jackson's room in the Hudson house and stealing some money, made the assertion that he had been employed by a well known doctor in digging up the body of George Arthur in Riverside cemetery and selling it at Ann Arbor.

Mr. Arthur's sons were informed and they had their father's grave opened immediately, only to find that Hudson had lied. Their alarm turned to anger, and they hurried to Justice Valentine's courtroom, where the prisoner sat awaiting trial and enjoying the sensation he had caused. When they were through pounding him he wasn't worth looking at. The justice tried to interfere, but without avail, and not until he had gone out and informed an officer was he able to rescue Hudson.

When quiet was restored, the unlucky liar was sentenced to pay a fine of $300, or spend 90 days in the Detroit house of correction. Of course he couldn't pay, and Deputy Springer carried him off to the prison.

CONSOLIDATION IS IN THE AIR

ANGUS WENT TO NEW YORK CITY SUDDENLY

S. F. Angus, vice president and treasurer of the Detroit, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor & Jackson Electric railway, was suddenly called east Thursday. Neither he nor President J. D. Hawks could be reached, but it is stated on good authority that a deal is in progress for the amalgamation of all the electric lines in Michigan west of Detroit, including the Detroit, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor & Jackson, and that Mr. Angus has gone to New York to look after the interest of the Ypsi-Ann. There was a similar move on foot over a year ago but it fell through. It is stated that the present venture is in much stronger hands. Detroit United interests have also been figuring on the acquisition of the Ann Arbor road, and it is understood that as yet Messrs. Hawks and Angus have not tied up their line by option to any one.—Free Press.

While reports of a nature similar to the above have been numerous during the past two years, there is reason to believe there is a hen of some kind on. A representative of the Jackson & Suburban and the Jackson & Battle Creek companies left for the east Wednesday, after a consultation of the officers, taking with him the resolution adopted by the council Monday evening. It is also learned that the resolution had been under consideration by those gentlemen for some time previous to its introduction in the council and the purpose of its passage was to aid the Jackson & Suburban company in its financial negotiations in the east. This alleged turn of affairs in the east would now seem to explain the sudden desire to enforce franchise conditions, in a manner so thoroughly at variance with the council's usual course, and at the same time the council's prompted action lends color to the report of an important meeting affecting the future of these roads.

Several minor officials were seen by the Press relative to this subject today, and they stated they had heard nothing concerning the consolidation.

RILEY'S READINGS LIKE HIS POEMS

Were Equally Enjoyed by His Audience

AUSPICIOUS OPENING

Of the S. L. A. Course—The Hoosier Poet Secured Warm Place in Ann Arbor Hearts

The fiftieth season of the Students' Lecture association was auspiciously opened, Saturday evening, by James Whitcomb Riley in a recital of his own splendid poetry. The audience which greeted Mr. Riley was large and enthusiastic, and it was evident in this opening entertainment that the Lecture association is to have again this year the large and representative patronage that its successful past merits.

It was a rare treat to the students and residents in Ann Arbor, this opportunity of hearing Mr. Riley, for the Hoosier poet is now seldom seen on the public platform and very soon his fine rendering of the poems which have made him famous will be known only in memory. It was a foregone conclusion that his recital would be one of much pleasure and interest. Those who had heard him before were sure of this and those who knew him only by reputation were no less expectant. But it is very seldom that the fulfillment of a hope so completely comes up to and even exceeds the anticipation as did the work of James Whitcomb Riley Saturday night.

Supreme and secure in his position as a poet, and in the very front rank of the men of letters in America today, Mr. Riley adds to his fame and popularity by the reading of his verses. You think you understood and appreciated "Old Glory" and "Some of his characteristic dialect poems when you have once read them, but you come to learn that you don't half know them until you have heard Mr. Riley himself read them. And it is this rare faculty that distinguishes the Hoosier poet from many excellent authors. For not in every case does an author increase his prestige by his appearances in public.

The program presented by Mr. Riley was varied and representative of the scope of his works. It included selections from his Hoosier poems, the "Home Folks," "Life Studies," and "Joyous Children," besides some special selections warmly received by the audience on his introduction by C. R. Coulter, president of the Lecture association. The noted author's opening remarks were a happy reference to his former visit to Ann Arbor and an expression of his pleasure at again being present in the University city. He said that the series of studies which he would offer in the entertainment were the intent to copy something of the lives of the humble, homely but wholesome and true-hearted people of America.

In his first number he portrayed with characteristic dialect an old farmer, of Hoosier type, who, with sunny disposition and true philosophy, put to shame the common lament that "There's altogether too much rain, or else not rain enough." This, Mr. Riley followed by his account of the match-making partnership struck up by the wary countryman who bespeaks his peculiarity when he says: "I'm one of these curious kinds of chaps You think you know when you don't—perhaps."

For an encore to this part of the entertainment Mr. Riley gave an imitation of the yarn recounted by an unpracticed story-teller. It was one of the author's most humorous efforts and veritably brought down the house.

The next study was the reminiscence of an old man to his brother, recalling the happy boyhood visits to "Good Aunt Mary's." Following this he recited the story of the old veteran's trip to Washington. In response to the demands of his audience Mr. Riley gave "An Old Sweet-heart of Mine," one of the most popular poems in his pen. That Mr. Riley's ability to portray life is not confined to the use of verse was shown by his imitation of a would-be pedagogue who addresses an audience of school children in florid and stilted style. For an encore he read the beautifully serious poem "Old Glory." His last number was a study of child-life, and he sketched in picture a small boy of five or six in his sabbath before the older sister's young man. It was a life-like imitation of one of those scenes where the proverbial younger brother tells all he knows before the undeflected caller.

Despite its length and the generosity with which the author responded to encores, the entertainment was all too short. In the two short hours that the entertainer had been with them, the people in University hall had seen and heard not only Mr. Riley himself, but the characters of the poems he has written. So true was his art that you saw, not the reader, but the very person he sketched. When James Whitcomb Riley introduced his characters to the people of Ann Arbor Saturday evening he brought them into a permanent place in the memories of his listeners. They have come to stay.

An excellent program of organ numbers was rendered in connection with the recital by Prof. L. L. Renwick. His selections included the following:

Broke

Down With Nervous Prostration.

Confined to Bed. Doctors Failed,

But Dr. Miles' Nerve Cure Permanently.

"Some six years ago I completely broke down from evangelistic work. I suffered from nervous prostration and stomach trouble and was confined to my bed and room for months. While I had as good a physician as this city affords he failed to pull me out, and I tried many remedies and they were so hard on my stomach that I could not take them. At last I found Dr. Miles' Nerve Cure. Ah, that was a nail in a sure place and enabled me to cry out 'Eureka.' I was soon able to be out and at work. I consider Dr. Miles' Nerve Cure the thing for nerve and stomach troubles. I also use in my family most of Dr. Miles' Medicines, as household remedies."—Rev. Geo. W. Draper, Danville, Ill.

"About a year ago I failed in health and my case was said to be nervous derangement and heart trouble. My stomach was also affected and I suffered from a variety of symptoms such as wind on the stomach, shortness of breath, smothering spells, pain around the heart and left shoulder. My ankles were frequently swollen and my face was often feverish. There were little puffs under my eyes at times and I had headache almost constantly. I wrote to you for advice and in addition to general directions as to taking care of myself you prescribed Restorative Nerve, Heart Cure and Nerve and Liver Pills. I will state that my complete and permanent return to health followed."—Miss Josephine Kern, Galena, Ill.

DETROIT CENTRAL WON THE GAME

ANN ARBOR HIGH SCHOOL SHOWED UP SCHOON

The Score Was 5 to 2—The Game Does Not Count in Interscholastic Series

The Detroit Central beat the Ann Arbor high school Saturday by a score of five to two. The touchdown was made just 45 seconds before the close of the first half, by a trick play on the part of the Detroit Central. They failed to kick goal, however, making the score for the first half 5 to 0.

When the second half was nearly over, it looked as if 5 to 0 would be the final score, but just before the close, a touchback was made by the home team, leaving the score 5 to 2 in favor of Detroit Central.

On the whole, Ann Arbor showed superior team work, and stands a very good chance for winning the championship, as Detroit Central is not included in the schedules, as it plays men older than the interscholastic rules allow.

Friday, Jackson forfeited their game to Ann Arbor, and next Saturday Ann Arbor plays Adrian, which will be the first game of the interscholastic series the team will have.

WHAT IS LIFE?

In the last analysis nobody knows, but we do know that it is under strict law. Abuse that law even slightly, pain results. Irregular living means derangement of the organs, resulting in Constipation, Headache or Liver trouble. Dr. King's New Life Pills quickly re-adjust this. It's gentle, yet thorough. Only 25c at A. E. ROY HALL GOT TWO YEARS

The criminal docket for the October term of court was cleaned up Saturday, when Roy Hall, the Manchester horse thief, came into court and changed his plea to guilty. He was sentenced to Jackson for two years with a minimum sentence of one year.

Fred Von Kaul was found guilty Friday afternoon of stealing from the Prettyman boarding house, and was sent to Jackson for a minimum period of one year and maximum of three years.

Prosecutor Duffy has succeeded in securing a conviction in every case tried this term and every prisoner, on his own request, was sent to Jackson. Saturday the proofs in the divorce case of Florence J. Wheeler vs. Anos Wheeler were heard and a decree was granted for the plaintiff.

HEALTH OFFICIALS WILL MEET HERE

The State Board of Health held its regular session at Lansing, Oct. 9, and decided to hold the regular annual conference of health officials in Michigan in this city, January 7 and 8, 1904, and Dr. Vaughan was appointed a committee to make all necessary arrangements for that meeting. January 6, the day before the beginning of the conference, was decided upon as the date for the next examination of candidates for embalmer's license, to be held in this city.

ANNUAL REPORTS CHARITABLE UNION

At the annual meeting of the Charitable Union the following officers were elected:

President—Mrs. William Butts.
1st Vice-President—Mrs. Richard Steele.
2nd Vice-President—Mrs. W. W. Wetmore.
Secretary—Mrs. M. L. D'Ooge.
Treasurer—Mrs. Philip Bach.
Ward committees were appointed as follows:

1st Ward, Miss Sager, Mrs. Pomeroy; 2nd Ward, Mrs. Bach, Mrs. Butts; 3rd Ward, Mrs. Wetmore, Mrs. Severance; 4th Ward, Mrs. Parker, Miss Henning, Mrs. Seabolt; 5th Ward, Miss Brown, Miss Noble, Miss Goodrich; 6th Ward, Mrs. Victor Lane, Mrs. Raymond Davis; 7th Ward, Mrs. Kinney, Mrs. Prescott.

The secretary's report for the year was as follows:

At the last annual meeting in March, 1902, the Charitable Union adjourned until October of that year. Since that time meetings have been held regularly every month until last April, inclusive, when an adjournment was again made until October in which month it had been voted the annual meetings should be held, instead of in March as heretofore. During the past year the average attendance at the meetings has been seven. Forty-five visits have been made by the ward committees and 16 received. The names of 23 families who have received assistance have been reported, and probably others, whose names have not been given, have been aided. $71.00 worth of second hand clothing has been distributed. The Union has been very materially aided in the year's work by the gift from the Catholic church of $97, the proceeds of a charity concert. This money made it possible to assist regularly each month a number of poor and worthy families, by contributing toward rent or general living expenses. In some cases there was long continued and serious illness. Without this gift from the Catholics very little could have been expended as receipts from other sources were small.

The Alpha Phi sorority made a generous contribution of clothing, which was much appreciated. To them and to all who have assisted the Union by contributions of any kind, we desire to express our thanks, as also to the city papers for printing our notices without charge.

DIAMONDS IN ALASKA.

While many prospectors have been confining their search chiefly for gold and copper deposits in Alaska, others have been searching for diamonds, and according to recent reports they have been successful in finding a few valuable specimens. There are many other persons who have been searching for years for something far more precious than gold or diamonds and that is—health. They have tried this medicine and that one in a vain hope of finding it, without success. They should try Hostetter's Stomach Bitters because it is the most successful health maker in the world, and is backed by a record of fifty years of cures. It will positively cure indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, nervousness, insomnia and malaria, fever and ague. Try it.

BY THE SCORE OF 79 TO 0 Was the Way Michigan Won Beloit Game BETTER THAN CHICAGO

Is What the Dope Indicates At Present—A Hundred and Fifty Points Wanted This Week

The Michigan score Saturday against Beloit of 79 to 0 was the largest score of the season. Yet Beloit played even better football than did case against whom the score was only 31 to 0. The difference in the size of the score shows the great improvement Michigan has made in playing. This improvement is shown in three ways, better individual play, much better team work and in goal kicking. There were some star plays Saturday and some long runs. The Michigan interference protected her runners in better shape. When the Michigan man with the ball was tackled his fellows dragged him along, once or twice as far as five or ten yards. In the Case game Michigan could kick but one goal. In the Beloit game only one goal was lost and that on the kickoff. Hammond landed all seven balls that he kicked between the goal posts and so did Curtis with the five he kicked, two of which were at very difficult angles.

Purdue defeated Beloit 17 to 0 and Chicago on Saturday beat Purdue 22 to 0. If the dope was worth anything Michigan's score of 79 to 0 would indicate a slightly better team than Chicago.

Chicago has played eight games with a total score of 317 to 0. Michigan has played three games with a total score of 186 to 0. The Michigan team will be called on for 150 points this week, that their score at the end of the season may equal Chicago, who plays more games.

Michigan meets Ada on Wednesday and Ada played Oberlin a tie game. On Saturday she plays Indiana, which Chicago has already beaten 34 to 0. If she can score 150 points on those two teams she will be doing wonders.

A CANOE TRIP DOWN THE HURON

A very pleasant canoe trip was made Monday from Zukey Lake to Ann Arbor, by Misses Dora Tice and Alice Staebler and Messrs. Albert Staebler and Willis Johnson. The party left Ann Arbor on the 9 o'clock train for Zukey. After arriving there they started on their trip, which was made in eight hours. From Zukey to Dexter they report a delightful ride, the trip through the chain of lakes being a comparatively easy one and most pleasurable. From Dexter the necessity of crossing several dams made the work a little harder, still they felt repaid for their labor.

A Tale of The Sea

Dreadful Experience of a Crew of Shiptwrecked Sailors.

How the Survivors Were Rescued After Clinging Five Days to the Bottom of an Overturned Vessel.

When the schooner W. S. Fielding made port at Providence a few days ago one of the most ghoulish of sea tragedies of recent years was told. Nearing Port au Prince on her outward voyage the Fielding ran near a dark object bobbing over the seas and, heading up for it, found it to be an overturned boat with seven men and one woman clinging to it and striving with the little strength that was left in them to hold on to the slippery bottom.

As the schooner drew near the captain saw a boat bottom up and the bleached arms of living persons clinging to it. He distinguished, moreover, the dark hair of a woman floating over the seas as the waves ran and fell along the bobbing keel.

Captain King realized that the shiptwrecked persons must be got aboard at once. His own boats were on deck and lashed down, and rather than take any risk by delaying to put a boat overboard he decided to run along close by. He had a life line ready and at the right moment threw it toward the wreck. His hope was that all would get hold of the line and keep it until he could pick them up one by one.

Two men and the woman caught the line and held on. They were dragged aboard like so many fish. Fear of death in the very hour of deliverance impelled them to hold on with so firm a grip that even when they were safely aboard they could hardly be persuaded to relinquish the line.

Captain King decided from the weak and terribly emaciated condition of those whom he had rescued that it would be too great a risk to depend upon the life line to save the other five. The men would surely be drowned if they released their hold upon the wreck. With celerity the Fielding's crew unlash a boat and put it overboard, and the captain in person took the five men into it and carried them aboard ship.

The rescued persons were in a very serious condition. They had been without food or water for four days and nights. Their vessel, a small schooner, had five days before the wreck sighted left the island of Gonaves, Haiti, for the island of Miragoane, carrying seventeen persons, including the captain.

When a day out from Gonaves the schooner struck a rock. A hole was stove in her, and after she had partly filled she rolled over until her keel was up. All of the schooner's company managed to cling to the wreck.

The first day there were a hot, blinding sun and a choppy sea. Hunger and thirst were bad enough to contend with, but added to these were the terrible pounding and scraping of their bodies on the ship's bottom as the waves lifted and dropped them. The miserable men began to give out on the second day. One by one they became exhausted and, losing their hold, slipped into the sea. Others became delirious and in their frenzy dropped off to drown.

The company had dwindled to ten on the fourth day, and the next morning only eight survived. These were about to give up the long and bitter fight for life when one of them sighted a sail.

Long before the Fielding was within hailing distance the wretched survivors began to halloo, fearing she would alter her course. When at last their signals of distress were heard and seen they wept for joy.

NEWS NOTES FROM MILAN

Milan, Mich., Oct. 8.—William C. Reeves, who for the last six or eight years has been one of the most progressive business men of this place, has purchased of O. R. Baldwin, of Detroit, who has been the general manager of the Stimpson Standard Scale company, his stock in the concern, thus giving Mr. Reeves, one of the largest, if not the largest, holding of the company's stock. This company was organized last winter, with Walter F. Stimpson, inventor of the various scales, as president, and Mr. Baldwin, who had been general manager of the American Harrow company of Detroit, was induced to invest in the company and was made general manager. Mr. Reeves already had some stock, and he will now become the general manager. He had much to do in influencing the company to locate here, and he also did much of the work of placing the stock of the Detroit Register company, who have built a large factory building here and are removing their plant from Detroit.

The sink hole on the Wabash near Hamilton, is causing all the Chicago division passenger trains to be delayed from two hours upwards. Freight trains are abandoned.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee T. Denton, Dexter L. Denton, who is nine months old, is the happy possessor of nine grandparents who are living. Five of them are grandmothers, as follows: Mrs. Julia E. Travis, who was born at Eagle Harbor, N. Y., March 13, 1833, thus being 70 years old, now residing at Dexter, Mich., and being the child's great grandmother; Mrs. Jane Denton, wife of Charles Denton, a stock dealer here, is grandmother; Mrs. Celestia R. Denton, great grandmother, who is 84 years old and resides here part of the time with her son; Mrs. Wiles Dexter, who lives here, is mother of the child's mother, and Mrs. Lodema Redman, 64 years of age, grandmother on the father's side. The grandfathers are: Charles Denton, Wiles Dexter and Thomas Redman, who is grandfather on the father's side.

Supt. George E. Ganiard, superintendent of the Milan public schools, was born at Concord, Jackson County, Michigan, March 27th, 1873. Graduated in 1892 from the Concord high school. At the age of twelve years he started in life for himself, having supported himself after that time, on his own resources. Taught country school one year to earn money to go to school. Graduated from State Normal at Ypsilanti in 1897. Was for a time in the railroad business in western Michigan, having been a station agent. Later on he engaged in the grocery business at Jonesville, managing a store for other parties, where he remained two years. He was married August 22, 1900, to Miss Martha Heminger of Eaton Rapids.

His first high school experience was at Onondaga, where he held the superintendency of the schools for one year. He has been at North Adams for the past two years as superintendent, and gave such good satisfaction, that one of the board stated, that he pleased them so well they would just be obliged to have him this year. He had, however, made an application for the Milan schools, and wished to make the change. The Milan board were fortunate in securing his services.

He is a Mason and a member of the Baptist church. Since he has been here, the board has added two years of German and also Chemistry to the course of study, and Supt. Ganiard is making every effort to have the Milan school placed on the University list, which seems probable in the near future. There are two assistant teachers in the high school, and seven in the lower grades. Attendance is about 275 at present.

Milan, Mich., Oct. 10.—A postoffice inspector from Detroit has been here for the purpose of inspecting the Milan and York postoffices, and also to investigate the matter of someone having tampered with the rural delivery mail boxes on route number three. It seems that someone has been shooting holes through them and striking them with clubs, etc. This offense is punishable by a fine of not less than $100 or one year imprisonment, and the guilty ones had better take caution.

SUITER IS DANGEROUSLY ILL

With Brain Fever at Cleveland Hospital

HIS DISAPPEARANCE

Leslie Suiter is lying dangerously, if not fatally ill with brain fever, in the hospital at Cleveland, Ohio. After the unaccountable disappearance of Mr. Suiter, E. J. Hemingway, a relative, had traced him from Atlantic City, where he had last been heard from, to Pittsburg, and there all further clue seemed to stop. Neither police nor friends could find any possible cause for his disappearance, nor where he could have gone after he left Pittsburg, or if he had left Pittsburg at all. So, Dr. Suiter and Mr. Hemingway decided to make a second and more thorough investigation there.

Friday, the second, they left Detroit, by boat, for Cleveland, on their way to Pittsburg, and while in Cleveland were notified by the police that Leslie Suiter was in the hospital. It seems that he had suddenly been taken ill at the hotel and sent to the hospital. He had letters of identification with him, but through a slip or misunderstanding, the police thought the hospital authorities had informed his parents, while the hospital people thought they had been notified by the police. So, while the parents were frantically searching for the lost boy, Leslie Suiter lay unconscious and raging with fever. It confirms his roommate, Mr. Stewart's opinion: "Wherever he is, he is where he cannot get to his people."

Dr. J. P. Sulter is constantly at the bedside of his son, who has never been conscious since he was taken to the hospital and great fears are held that he will not recover. His condition is critical and great anxiety is felt concerning him.

A Great Truth

How It Has Spread From Home to Home in Ann Arbor.

In every part of Ann Arbor; in the homes of the wealthy, in the humble abode of the man of toil, this now a well-known fact—a great truth—that Doan's Kidney Pills have brought more comfort to backache sufferers and cured more sick kidneys than any medicine of modern times.

Mrs. George Carpenter, of No. 1133 Forest avenue, says: "The pains across my loins were so severe at times that I could hardly straighten or bend. The twinges often extended under my shoulder blades and down my thighs. I also suffered a good deal from severe cramping of the muscles of my limbs. Headaches and dizziness were of frequent occurrence. I used a number of different medicines, but they did not do me any good. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills so highly recommended for troubles like mine that I went to Eberbach & Son's drug store and procured a box. I soon began to feel better and improved steadily until cured."

SHORT HISTORY OF FIRE INS. CO.

The Washtenaw Mutual Fire Insurance Co

FIRST IN MICHIGAN

Has Paid Out Over $155,000 In Losses—The Cost of Insurance Has Been Very Light

Mr. Wm. K. Childs, who for the past seventeen years has held the office of secretary and treasurer of the Washtenaw Mutual Fire Insurance Co., has furnished us with the following history of said company.

This was the first company of the kind organized in Michigan. Mr. Munis Kenny of Webster township, was the father of the company. In 1858 he organized the company, and for two years was president, secretary and treasurer and board of directors. The whole thing. He carried the records of the company in his hat. The people at this time were so honest that he allowed each member to insure his property at what he thought it was worth. And an amount on which each was willing to be assessed. (A plan that would not work now days.)

In 1860 the company was organized and procured a charter for thirty years, under the new state insurance laws then passed, providing for mutual insurance companies to organize in the state.

The company did business in the whole county for the following thirty years, and January 1st, 1890, renewed its charter for thirty years more. Some of the men who held office as directors in this company, and are now dead were Munis Kenny, Stearns Kemberly, J. D. Williams, W. R. Waldron of Webster, Allen Crittenden of

WM. K. CHILDS.

Secretary of Washtenaw Farmers' Mutual Insurance Co.

Pittsfield, Horace Carpenter of Pittsfield, John J. Robison and Stephen Fairchild of Sharon, Newton Sheldon of Lodi, M. S. White and B. W. Waite of Scio, Joshua G. Leland of Northfield, H. M. Mowry and T. B. Goodspeed of Superior, C. H. Wines and John Cook of Sylvan, E. M. Cole of Superior, Sampson Parker of Lima, and Fred B. Braun of Ann Arbor.

The ex-directors now living are J. W. Wing, Geo. A. Peters and A. T. Hughes of Scio, E. A. Nordman and W. E. Stocking of Lima, Andrew Campbell and H. D. Platt of Pittsfield, Wm. Campbell of Ypsilanti, R. L. Reeve of Dexter, Robert McCall and Edwin Ball of Webster, and Peter Cook of York.

The present officers and directors are A. R. Graves of Ypsilanti, president; John F. Spaffard of Manchester, E. Leland of Northfield, John H. Wade of Lima, G. L. Hoyt of Lodi, and Wm. K. Childs of Ann Arbor, who is also secretary and treasurer.

There are now 3134 members belonging to the company, insuring property to the amount of $4,908,400.00 on a two thirds valuation, which is the limit of insurance this company will place on property. Mr. Childs states that during the seventeen years that he has been the secretary of the company, it has paid up to September 1st, 1903, eight hundred and seven losses by fire and lightning, amounting to $155,993.39; and the annual assessments have varied from $1.00 to $3.30 per $1,000, averaging $2.05 per year per $1,000. That the smallest loss paid was 75 cents and the largest $3,005.74.

This plan of insurance is insurance at actual cost. As there are no dividends to pay, or interest on bonds; nor salaries to officers who render no service to the company. And what is paid in does not leave the county, but goes directly to the loser, in part to make good his loss. The company does no advertising, but simply helps those who wish to help themselves, and are willing to help bear their neighbors' losses, and thereby provide for their own relief in case they meet with misfortune by fire or lightning. It is an organization for mutual benefit and protection.

TEN YEARS IN BED.

R. A. Gray, J. P., Oakville, Ind., writes: "For ten years I was confined to my bed with disease of my kidneys. It was so severe that I could not move part of the time. I consulted the very best medical skill available, but could get no relief until Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended to me. It has been a Godsend to me." For sale by A. E. Mummy.

Rev. George B. Marsh was born in the city of Hamilton, Ont., Canada, in October, 1869.

After a few months spent in Toronto, he came to the United States in December, 1890, and shortly after entered the employ of the Monitor Printing and Publishing Co., of Rockford, Ill., with whom he remained for several years.

At the earnest solicitation of the presiding elder of Rockford district, Rock River conference, Methodist Episcopal church, he resigned his position with the Monitor company and served appointments at Bissett, Forreston, Ill., and was ordained a local deacon by Bishop Andrews at Freeport, Ill., October, 1896.

He immediately left for Michigan to assume charge of the church at Wolverine, Bay City district, where he remained for three years. He was then appointed to Chelsea circuit, and organized the church at Lima, which is now associated with Dexter church.

At the end of the year, much to the regret of his people, he was transferred to the Tipton charge, Ann Arbor district, and has just closed there a successful three years pastorate.

Mr. Marsh received his education at the Collegiate Institute, of his native city, and the Rockford Academy, Rockford, Ill.

He was admitted to Detroit conference on trial in September, 1897, and four years later, having graduated, was ordained elder by Bishop Warren at Bay City.

While serving the Wolverine charge Mr. Marsh was married to Miss Blanche Bate, the daughter of a well-known citizen and a prominent Methodist of Rockford, Ill.

He is extremely well liked in Milan. A boon to travelers. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. Cures dysentery, diarrhea, seasickness, nausea. Pleasant to take. Acts promptly.

A STRONG BILL OF SPECIAL OFFERING

THIS WEEK—NOTE THEM—

From every side come demands upon the advertiser to tell the story of new things, and the fall of 1903 is likely to be remarkable as being the greatest business season this store has ever enjoyed. Never in the history of the United States has the general outlook been so bright and our splendid early trade only forecasts the rush that is to follow. The feature of our fall business is the ownership of immense stocks of goods bought at most advantageous prices. We calculate to meet the demand of the trade as never before.
