LOCAL.
Improvements are in progress at the post office.
Dumb-bells are scarce in Adrian.
Archie McLean had a valuable pin taken from his shirt front at Ypsilanti last Saturday.
We have noticed several cows running at large in the streets within the past few days.
Hon. Edwin Willis and Hon. A. J. Sawyer speak at Costello's hall, in Dexter, to night.
A number of our horse fanciers contemplate attending the races at Plymouth to-morrow.
Good, sound peaches have been sold as low as 50 cents per bushel on the street this week.
A new filter has been invented by Chapman Day, and he has obtained a patent upon the same.
Examinations for admission to the high school will be held to-morrow, at the high school building.
It takes five pecks to make a bushel now. It used to take four before the fruit dealers were so numerous.
Some stretch wants to know if "ten (k) nights in a bar-room" was any rarity for Chicago last week?
The W. C. T. U. have rented booths at the fair grounds, and will furnish warm meals during fair week.
An electric machine of Prof. Langley's, recently sent to Cincinnati, has been pronounced a decided success.
Morris Lucas, who for many years ran the Gregory house barber shop, is looking over the old stamping grounds.
The Presbyterian pulpit will be occupied next Sabbath by Rev. Samuel W. Duffield, the former pastor, now of Altoona, Pa.
A county convention of greenbackers, for the purpose of nominating county officers, will be held at the court house to-morrow.
Remember the meeting of the pioneer society, at the court house, next Wednesday. A very large attendance is expected.
The Flushing (Genesee county), Patrol, says that Mr. Lang of Ann Arbor, has been engaged as principal of their high school.
W. K. Childs, of Pittsford, offers for sale his farm, containing 60 acres of land, in excellent condition, which will be sold at a bargain.
Rev. W. W. Washburn, of Ypsilanti, preached at the M. E. church last Sabbath, having exchanged pulpits with Rev. J. Alabaster.
The republicans of Lenawee county have nominated T. M. Hunter, of the Adrian Times, for county clerk. He was formerly a student at the university.
Spring street has been greatly improved in its appearance by the mowing down of a summer's crop of weeds. Now, if the sidewalk was only rebuilt, but then—
Query: If our street sprinklers cannot by the dust on Main street when they have a rain to help them nearly every other day, what in the world can they do in a dry season?
"What's in a name?" One of our own local papers speaks of Dr. Herdman, as Dr. Herman, and the Dexter Leader follows the example and calls him Dr. Herman, too.
The orchestra for the dance, at the tent, this (Friday) evening, will be composed of 18 first-class musicians—or the entire Dexter cornet band, under the direction of their new leader.
We have upon our table a song and chorus entitled "We'll vote for Garfield." Words by Jno. M. Jolley, music by W. H. Pondus. Published by W. W. Whitney, Toledo, Ohio.
The concert at the tent last Tuesday night, by the Lambert troupe, is said by those attending, to have been excellent. The troupe have agreed to repeat the entertainment soon.
Rev. Samuel W. Duffield, of Altoona, Pa., will speak before the red ribbon club next Sunday afternoon, at the third o'clock in the tent. He will have something to say worth listening to.
Mary P. Townsend, relict of the late F. P. Townsend, for 44 years a resident of the township of Superior, died of general debility and old age, being nearly 80 years old, on the 22d inst.
Recognizing the fact that an editor's table looked well decorated, Mrs. E. Moore, president of the ladies' decoration society, placed a handsome bouquet upon our table, for which we return thanks.
R. Trevellick spoke in the tent last Monday night to about 200 people. His speech was respectfully listened to but failed to elicit the enthusiasm which was formerly drawn out by similar utterances.
"Eop as a Reporter" is the heading of an article going the rounds of the papers. We thought some such fellow had got into business on the dailies by the number of fables they fill up with.

Next Saturday afternoon and evening, the 28th inst., the ladies' decoration society will hold a lawn festival. Mrs. E. Moore's ice cream and refreshments will be served. A cordial invitation is extended to all.
Rebecca Congdon, wife of Chas. Congdon, of Salem, died August 20th, 1880, aged 47 years, of dropsy. The deceased was born and had always resided in Salem. Buried in the Wheelock burial ground.
The first heat taken off at Ailes & Grotton's foundry was successfully accomplished. This firm report business rushing. They have already twelve men at work, and more to do than they can accomplish.
Hassall Ransford has filed a bill in chancery for the purpose of compelling the heirs of Hiram Arnold to perfect to him the title of 57 acres of land in Ann Arbor town. This land includes what is known as school girls' glen.
To illustrate how Ann Arbor boys take rank where they locate, it can be stated that Dr. A. L. Worden has been elected a trustee of the M. E. church, at Dunlap, Ia., where he lives, and also secretary of the board of trustees.
More cases of hay fever this season than ever known in this vicinity before. The writer can testify to the unpleasantness of the disease. Coughing, sneezing is quite popular, but it doesn't cure, though in some cases it does relieve for a time.
The M. E. Sunday school picnic at Cook's grove, on Miller avenue, last Saturday, was a pleasant occasion, and though a little damp in the forenoon, yet in the afternoon it was nice enough to make up for it, and the little ones had a grand time.
Do not forget the republican meeting at Superior town hall, to-morrow, Saturday evening. Hon. A. J. Sawyer and other speakers will address the meeting, and a closing good time will be had. Turn out and hear what there is to be said.
Chas. Alcher, living one mile north of Leland's church, Northfield, had three cows struck by lightning and killed last Wednesday night. There was no insurance upon the animals, and Mr. Alcher is a poor man who can ill afford to sustain the loss.
A new plate glass front is to be put in the store occupied by C. Bliss and Winans & Berry, at No. 11 South Main street. The plate glass will be 6x8 feet. This is an improvement very much needed, and will add greatly to the good appearance of the block.
The Post and Tribune office has issued a full sheet portrait, 28x42 inches, of Gen. James A. Garfield, for committee rooms, or for transparencies and banners in processions. For particulars address Wm. H. Thompson, manager, Detroit, Mich.
A large number of the elderly people, who are members of the M. E. church, repair to Whitmore Lake annually, for a picnic and a general good time. Last Tuesday was the day chosen for the present season, and about forty members went, and report having a good time.
Franz H. Coe, class of '79, at present principal of the schools at Phoenix, Lake Superior, was married on the 17th inst., to Miss Carrie Everett, of Sharon. Among the presents was one of a $1,000 from the bride's father. The couple left immediately for their new home.
A small portion of the things reported by the steward of the reform club as missing from the rooms have been returned. The members of that organization would be pleased to see this good work of restoration kept up until all the missing articles are in their wanted places.
The democrats were all alive at their primary meetings last Saturday. The young class of politicians pretty generally captured the delegates, while the old fellows took a "back seat," if the expression is allowable. The fixed up slates were all smashed to "smithereens."
The county political society will hold its next meeting on Saturday afternoon, September 4th, in the court house. All who have fruits are requested to bring in samples for display. It is desirable that a good exhibit of peaches be made. The discussion will be on the cultivation of the peach.
Rev. J. Alabaster, D. D., from Ann Arbor, will preach at the Whitmore Lake M. E. church on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 29th, at three o'clock. The church has been closed for a time, undergoing repairs, and will then be reopened. An earnest invitation is hereby extended for all who can to be present and enjoy the services.
In Ann Arbor one can get on a ten cent bus, or twenty cent car, and get to the city limits, and usually without the latter—Adrian Press.
That's a whopper. Adrian young bloods who patronize our state polishing shop may make the choice spoken of, but Ann Arbor boys are better brought up than to go on buses—or get married on the sly, either.
Francis W. Holland, who attended the teachers' institute, at Ypsilanti, and lectured upon penmanship, says that an expression of preference for president, on Friday, the 20th, resulted in the following figures: Males—Garfield, 20; Hancock, 3. Females—Garfield, over 50; Hancock, 1. Democratic journals will be permitted to copy this without credit.
The weather has not been on its good behavior for the past week. The wind has blown hot and then cold, in a remarkably short space of time. Tuesday it was sweltering, and the thoughts of an ice-berg were grateful. Wednesday it bit fair to freeze. Frost in dog days! Just think of it! As a consequence doctors' horses get tired, and hay fever rages.
We have been given a bunch of tomatoes, five in number, weighing three pounds, which grew on a stem less than six inches in length. They were raised by our popular Methodist divine, Rev. J. Alabaster, and prove him to be a most successful horticulturist. We suppose the secret of the success is that the tomatoes are of the variety known as the Garfield tomato.
The members of the Ann Arbor reform club were so much interested in the speaker, Col. Randall, last Sunday afternoon, that they decided on another meeting the same evening, to be addressed by that gentleman. The meeting was held and a large and attentive audience assembled, and were repaid for their time and trouble by the eloquent words of the speaker.
It is hardly necessary to remind the public that the Dexter band are to hold forth in the tent to-night, and that all the boys and girls, and old folks, and young folks, and middle aged folks, should turn out and give them a rousing audience. The Dexter boys have always been prompt to respond to any call from this city, and our citizens should at least turn out in compliment. There will be a grand time at the tent to-night, and if you stay away you will always regret it. His argus eyes are keen.

A gentleman from Saline, in whose word we have confidence, sends us the following chicken story, and vouches for the truth of it: "Second crop of chickens in a hurry—Mr. William Brainard, of this village, has some young chickens hatched a day or two since from the eggs laid by young pullets that were raised since the 10th of March last. Who can beat it?"
Sing a song of shot-guns,
Poked full of razors,
Four-and-twenty black men
Waiting for their lives,
When the pots are oiled,
Shut the nigger's mouth;
Isn't that a bully way
To make a solid south?
Northern sympathizers,
Making speeches chiefly
Major General Hancock
Eating rebel tarts;
English in a quarrel,
How to save his dollars;
Along comes a solid south
And his them all with collars.

Carrill M. Coe, of this city, has been spending a few days at Holly, and in company with S. A. Wood, has given the citizens of that place an idea of how they ride and manage bicycles. These young gentlemen are to go from Detroit to Niagara Falls upon their steel steeds, and returning in time for the state fair attend the meeting of the bicyclists at that time.
Do they call Chicago the "Garden City," because there isn't a garden or anything resembling such a horticultural luxury within its limits? According to that they must name cities on the same principle that young people are advised to fall in love; with their opposites. The Knights who attended the great convalee over they found nothing great in Chicago. The charges were all hot-house ones, though.

Almira, wife of the late John Pomeroy, and mother of Mrs. J. J. Ellis, of this city, died at her daughter's, August 20th, aged 79 years, of neuralgia of the heart. Deceased was born in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., has been a member of the Baptist church for many years, and for the past twelve years had lived in this city with her daughter, Mrs. Ellis. Her remains were taken to Flint, for burial, last Wednesday.
On Thursday night, of last week, a barn on the farm of Geo. Thompson, of Superior, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground, together with a quantity of hay, grain, and farming implements. A man who was working the farm on shares loses one-half the grain and some of the personal property, which is a total loss. Mr. Thompson's interests were insured in the Washenaw Mutual, and have been satisfactorily adjusted.
The following item from the Allion Republican is of some local interest: "A. B. Covert, of Ann Arbor, a taxidermist, who has been engaged on some work in the museum, at the college here, for the past two or three weeks, has finished some very fine work. During the past few days Edward Brigham, of Battle Creek, has been engaged in naming the minerals, fossils, etc. Allion college, through Professor Fall, is securing a rare collection for the museum."
According to the Dundee Reporter, an independent journal, one of our political enemies "Ex-Mayor D. Cramer, of Ann Arbor, addressed the democratic club, as advertised, on Wednesday evening. His speech was a very fair one, and rather helped the republican cause. Especially, when he claimed that the greatest mistake of the republican party was in electing to the presidency a purely military man—in acquaintance with civil affairs—the very same thing which they themselves are now asking the people to do, in electing Hancock to the presidency."

The republican congressional committee have perfected arrangements for the distribution of such documents as will advise the country of the objects and aims of the democratic party. They have now ready 37 such speeches and other documents, most of which are sent to any one desiring them for twenty cents per 100. A few of them will, however, cost 40, 50 and 80 cents per 100 copies. Committees or individuals desiring these can obtain all needed information by addressing Edward McPherson, Sec'y Rep. Cong. Com., 1317 F street, Washington, D. C.
The following from a Romeo paper will have some local interest: "G. H. Cannon brings with him from the upper peninsula, numerous specimens of ornamented ancient pottery, which very closely resembles that found near this place a few years since, and he has already forwarded a portion of these relics with the teeth of some unknown animal found at the same place to the museum at Ann Arbor. He also exhibits a tiny bird's nest originally constructed by wasps and a skillful weaving of birch bark and wild grass, made to do service as a home for the feathered songsters."
Peaches have been one of the chief products of this market for the past week. Last Monday the fruit growers commenced harvesting their Early Crawford's, and thousands upon thousands of baskets have been shipped to the various cities, east, west, north and south. This region is rapidly rivaling the east shore of Lake Michigan, and the trees are entirely free from the yellows or any other disease. Plums, pears, and crab-apples have also been plentiful. When our orchards have a few years more growth, this region will become as famous as the St. Joe, fruit belt once was. And more so, too, for all kinds of fruit known to the temperate north latitudes, are successfully grown here.

Maria Todd, a former resident of Ann Arbor town, died at Kalamazoo, August 21st, of consumption, aged 79 years. Her body was brought to this city for interment on the 23d. Mrs. Todd resided upon a farm in Ann Arbor town for twenty-two years, and had many old friends in this vicinity. The family removed to Chicago some thirteen years since, but for the past five years have resided in Kalamazoo. For thirteen years the deceased had been a constant reader of the COURIER, and retained a keen interest in the many changes constantly taking place here. Her death, though not unexpected, is a sad bereavement to the family, by whom she was beloved only as a good Christian wife and mother could be.
Last Monday night at about 10 o'clock, rapid firing of a gun, and revolver or other deadly instrument, upon the campus, started the university night-watch upon a run to find out what was the matter. But as he arrived upon the spot where he supposed the firing occurred, he was told the gun in another part of the campus. This thing was repeated a few times, the mysterious proceedings could be obtained. We understand a reward of $5 has been offered for the arrest and conviction of the offender or offenders, and the matter has been placed in the hands of Chief Johnson to ferret out. This will forever settle the thing. Nothing was ever known to remain a mystery to him—if it was easy to unravel. His argus eyes are keen.

The ladies of the decoration society held their annual meeting on Saturday evening last, at the residence of Mrs. E. Moore, at which time the following officers were elected: Mrs. E. Moore, president; Mrs. Wm. Lovejoy and Mrs. M. Seabolt, vice-presidents; Mrs. Geo. H. Rhodes, secretary; Mrs. J. Seabolt, treasurer. Just after the business was concluded, they were, apparently surprised by a serenade from the Ann Arbor city band; after enjoying the music for a time, the president, invited them in and served them with peaches and cream and delicious cake; the vocal music by Messrs. Wilson, Malony and Magee was thoroughly enjoyed by all. "I really think it was." The evening thus pleasantly spent closed with other music, finely rendered by the band.
The following, from the Adrian Press, will be read by many of the bride's friends in this city with great wide open with surprise: "It is probably not generally known that Mr. George H. Cleveland, at Ann Arbor, nevertheless found time to sandwich in a little courting and manage to make matters legally binding. At all events George was married a little time ago to Miss Jennie A. Jolly, of the university city. Jennie was a trifle shy about the affair, and now has a lot of laughter on the industrious young society reporters who in a knowing way have hinted now and then that he was soon to be married. The wedding with Jennie was—A. Jolly one; but we fear he will be dissected by his young acquaintances for keeping so still about it. The bride is still at Ann Arbor."

How some of our old and sharp business men may be taken in by total strangers, if they be the right looking sort of people, was handsomely illustrated last Monday. A specimen of the genus tramp, or professional dead beat came to town that day, and proceeded to "take in" several of our merchants. At every place he told the same story. That he was a farmer, lived just beyond the big peach orchard out here; his name was Myers, sometime John and again Frederick, but always Myers; that he had threshers, and wanted to use all the money he had to pay them with; but that he was coming in Saturday with a load of wheat; and then he would pay them for the goods he wanted. By this plausible story, and the general cut of an honest looking old farmer, he succeeded in obtaining some $25 worth of different kinds of goods, at various places, and one merchant even lent him some money. His packages being too numerous to carry loosely, he got him a valise to put them in, under the same promise. Our tramp hid himself to the depot after obtaining all he could well carry, and then patiently waited for the first train, which goes east at about 5 o'clock p. m. But fate was bound to overtake him. Somebody commenced smelling a mice, and to compare notes with other detected victims, which resulted in his capture just before getting on the train. He was arrested, brought back up town, made to disgorge all the goods and money obtained from the merchants, and sent to jail to await punishment. All of which goes to show what a man can do if he will but try. Hereafter these merchants will look a "leedle odd."

Personal Notes.
Zach. Roach has been visiting friends (?) in Memphis.
Prof. Olney assisted at the teachers' institute at Ypsilanti last week.
Mrs. E. E. Beal and family are visiting relatives and friends in Dexter.
Mr. Pall, of Montreal, is visiting his father-in-law, S. P. Jewett, on Haron street west.
C. R. Pattison, of the Ypsilanti Commercial was a caller at the COURIER office last Tuesday.
