What's going to become of the rear end of Dr. Parson's office when the frost goes out of the ground next spring, and that wood pile wile?

The remains of Mrs. Elizabeth Cullinan, who died recently at Chelsea, were brought to this city last Friday and placed in the Catholic cemetery.

A series of prayer meetings have been in progress the present week at the 5th ward M. E. Church under the supervision of Rev. J. Alabaster.

Mrs. Emily Townsend, a colored woman, aged 70, and who has lived in this city 22 years, died at the residence of her daughter, in the 6th ward, last Saturday.

On the 10th inst., in the city of Marshall, Judge Charles M. Whiting, a brother of Hilpli O. Whiting, of this city, fell dead while walking upon the sidewalk, from paralysis of the heart.

The Lansing Republican says the stone church in the process of erection here has cost $1,600 up to date. Change your comma one niche to the right, add another cypher and then you'll have it.

Two years old Frankie, was taken by his mamma to see a baby. "Kiss the baby," 'ho said. Frankie looked at the infant, saw it was drooling and drew back with the protest: "Baby leaks!"

Lut Saturday Mrs. Sally A. Steffen, who has resided for a great many years in Ann Arbor town, died of old age, having attained her 91st year. She left a large number of children and grand children.

Ulysses T. Foster, one of the injured in the union mills, explosion at Detroit, recently, is an old Ann Arbor boy, a son of Isaac N. S. Foster of Ann Arbor town, and son-in-law of Mrs. D. S. Wood of this city.

The second lecture in the popular course under the auspices of the reform club, is to be delivered by Dr. A. Winchell, at the opera house, next Tuesday evening, Jan. 25th. Subject: "How the world was finished."

In making up our files for 1880, we find the issue of March 19th missing, and though disliking to ask our subscribers, yet we need just one copy to complete our files, and would esteem it favor if any one could furnish us with it.

A lot 44 feet front by 100 feet deep, has been purchased by Messrs. Chas. H. Manly and J. W. Hamilton, on which the erection of a lire proof building for an abstract office is contemplated. The price given was $4,000.

The Royal Templars of Temperance, a total abstinence and mutual benefit order, has made a canvas of the city, and sufficient names have been secured to organize a lodge in this city, which will be instituted today or to-morrow.

All our readers who read the sketch of Archibald Forbes, the great English war correspondent, will want to attend the lecture this evening at university hall, and hear what he says upon "The Inner Life of a War Correspondent."

The next meeting at the opera house next Sunday evening, is again advertised to be addressed by students of the university. Three speakers, both for afternoon and evening meetings, have volunteered for the occasions.

For the amount of snow upon the ground there never was better sleighing. It is a grand time for the merry belles and tinkling bells. Coasting, especially on the North State street hill, is being hugely enjoyed by the boys and girls.

We bare just accounted for the terrible cold weather this winter. It will be remembered how freezing and chilly several of the democratic meetings were last summer? Well, this weather is merely a re-ape, the after-clap, as it were.

At a meeting of the superintendents of the poor last Monday, the present incumbent of the poor house, John S. McDowell, was re-elected overseer of the county house. His salary was fixed at $500. Dr. P. W. O'Toole was also re-elected physician for coming year.

The Keck furniture company at its recent election of officers chose the following: President—W. D. Hartman. Vice President—L. Ormer. Secy and Treas.—Chas. E. Hiscok. Superintendent—J. J. Ellis. Asst.—Paul Ouback.

The energetic, wide-awake citizen and inml of the family is up in the morning early, and cleans the snow off his walk before it gets trampled and packed down by pedestrians. The lazy man waits for the snow to melt, but waits for old Sol to clear it off.

The running of trains on the Detroit, Butler & St. Louis R. R. from the former place to Toledo over the Toledo & Ann Arbor road, which is on to-day's program, will remove it, said, all fears of a future coal famine at this place, by relieving the Canada Southern of its glut of freight.

The Adrian Times propounds the following conundrum. We don't give it up, but will let our readers guess at it: "It is Detroit & Butler road between the former place and Toledo and Toledo and Ann Arbor road is crossed. This will give Detroit another means of communication to Toledo and to Ann Arbor. Will there be any cutting of rates?"

A certain young lady in this city received what she supposed was a letter from the postoffice last Tuesday, but (to) and behold, he had forgotten to put the letter in when he sealed up the envelope, so she was disappointed. Won't he look surprised when he finds the missive in his pocket some day?

Unity O'Quann, son of Mrs. Christian O'Quinn of this city, died Thursday last week, of consumption. The deceased was nearly 22 years of age, and had always lived in this city. A few months since he went to New Mexico in search of health, but failed to be benefited and returned home to die.

There ought to be some law passed which would clear the court room of boys when such filthy cases are on trial as it is stated have been the present week in our circuit. After people have arrived at years of discretion, of course their own self respect will teach them the right or wrong of swelling the audience by their presence.

At a meeting of the trustees of the Baptist church on the 11th, E. Olney, J. Nowland, and F. Braited were appointed a committee to sell their old church property on Catharine street. Here's your chance to make money. The society are not quite rich enough to give the property away, but are willing to sell it cheap.

If you have any doubts in the least, of the pain a horse experiences by having frosted iron bits forced into its mouth these days, just even touch your tongue to one of said bits and see for yourself how nice it is. Remember, then, and have a little feeling for the poor equine, man's most valued servant among the dumb animals.

At the meeting of the county pomological society last Saturday, the decision was reached that the peach crop in this vicinity would be light, the buds being more generally killed than at first supposed. From Manchester the reports were not at all flattering. From South Haven and the lake shore region the prospects were considered fair.

One of our city milkmen commenting on the water famine with which our fair city is at present troubled, very insinuatingly remarked, that unless we had rain before long, he should have to raise on the price of milk. "Yes," said the lady to whom the conversation was addressed, "I suppose it is very expensive to buy ice, and then, too, it has specks in it, sometimes."

The Ann Arbor Courier has at last struck it rich, and if it continues in the same path of pleasure and profit its fortune will soon be carved out. The editor says spring poets, snow poets, and all other kinds, and disposes of their bodies to the medical college for the enormous sum of $25. Which is $250 clear profit. We trust the paper will be able to help the good work on, by sending their poets immediately to the Courier, for revenge is sweet.—Germaw Herald.

Shades of the immortal Great Scott in Israel! hold! We're not in the wholesale business! We are very glad to have the pleasure of announcing that a rich treat is in store for the people of our city. Rev. J. Alabaster having consented, at the request of the ladies of the M. E. Church, to deliver his lecture on "Michael Angelo," the sculptor, painter, architect and poet. In places where he has delivered this lecture, the papers speak in the highest terms of praise of the effort.

The adjourned meeting of the Washtenaw County bee keepers association, will be held in the basement of the court house in this city, on the last Thursday of February, at 9 o'clock, a. m., for the transaction of important business. Interesting papers will be read and discussed, reports given and items of interest gleaned. A cordial invitation is extended to all persons interested in bee culture.

The Ann Arbor Courier is last twenty-one years of age and although not being permitted to do so herebefore it has been a child of intelligence from the day of its birth and its influence has been for temperance, justice and humanity. We wish the Courier many years of prosperity.

As stated last week, we shall hereafter be more particular about letting our readers know the good things said of us by the press of the state. The above from the Ogemaw Herald is the kind of a straw an editor likes to be tickled with.

The Misses Harrison, who reside a few miles north of this city, gave an entertainment last week which for downright fun is rarely excelled. Music was discoursed by McNally brothers, proficient in the art. Dancing was kept up till the wee hours of the morning, when the goodly company dispersed. Good sleighing, and the merry jingle of bells were only lacking to make their cup of joy complete.

The Arbeiter Verein, a German mutual life insurance company, recently held an election of officers for the ensuing year, with the following result: President—J. G. Kraus. Vice—E. K. Kraus. Secy.—J. G. Kraus. Treas.—J. G. Kraus. Auditors—J. G. Kraus, J. G. Kraus, J. G. Kraus. Trustees—Anton Eisele, Theo. B. Galko, John G. Galko, Fred. Krause, John G. Galko, Christian Hoffsteiner. Color bearer—August Henz. Steward—Geo. Koch.

The following are the names of the students who have received appointments for the high school junior exhibition? Mary Alabaster, Mary Whedon, Carrie W. Frazer, Charlotte Brown, Sattia Hyde, Lucy R. Cole, Fannie Downer, Alice A. Cochran, Albert W. Jenkins, of Ann Arbor City; Mark W. Williams and Lillie Baessler of Ann Arbor Town; D. H. Ramsdell, of Belleville; S. G. Andrews, of Highland; Orpha A. Calkins, of Inlay City; and Nettie Daniels, of Jnadinia.

Last Tuesday some sixteen colored men from Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti and Saline, left this city for Lexington, Mo., via the Toledo & Ann Arbor R. R., to work in the coal mines at that place. An agent of the mines was there recruiting men, and he offered $40 a month or five cents per bushel for mining. It seems just a little strange that they have to come this distance for laborers. Especially when people are soliciting aid for the thousands of colored refugees in Kansas who are without work, food, or clothing.

Some poetic chap up at Kalamazoo, has written a poem "To an unexpected New Year's Guest," commencing as follows: "You little minner fly, Buzzing on my window pane."

Now we have a fly buzzing around our sanctum. He wasn't unexpected for he's been here all winter. He isn't a summer fly, either, he's a winter fly. And he doesn't buzz around the window pane, not much; he perfers the paste. Consequently, our coincidences don't coincide, or rather our flies are not of the same family, and we won't quote the poetry.

Rev. J. T. Sunderland, at the Unitarian Church, is to commence a series of Sunday evening discourses on Jan. 23rd, upon "Practical Christianity." The first discourse will be upon "Charities," the 21st, on Jan. 30th, "Our Defective Classes," the 3rd, Feb. 6th, "Criminals," the 4th, Feb. 13th, "Child Saving Work." Mr. Sunderland has made these a special study, and has visited all of the penal, reformatory and charitable institutions of our state, and as these subjects are of vast importance to the commonwealth, of many of our people will be glad to learn his views and suggestions.

The boys were having lots of fun at the corner of 5th and Ann streets, the other day, with a bonfire which they had made by lighting the escaping gas from the lamp-post which was destroyed on that corner on the 17th of last month, by a runaway team. The citizens of tire city will have lots of fun, probably, in footing the bills for this wastage. The owner of the team which ran away was promptly chased into the country, brought up before a justice and fined $18, we believe, for the damage. But the post isn't repaired yet. Who is to blame for this delay? Who has the money?

The over-sanctimonious people, who put on long faces for Sunday wear, and who chide children for laughing at church socials; and whose religion over-arches the young folks, and frightens timid people by its awful solemnity, received a well merited rebuke last Sabbath by Rev. J. Alabaster in his morning sermon. We don't suppose, that there was such a person in the room as he described. They are not scarce, however. It is gradually being admitted, even by the old Puritanical descendants, that the teachings of our Saviour were those of love only, and that religion is love and joy.

Two couples were slowly wending their way on Washington street last Sunday night. The head couple engaged in glib conversation, and the other very quiet, but very loving. Finally the last mentioned stopped, and while he passed his manly arm around her anatomy, she coyly raised her eyes and lips to his, and they spent about three minutes in briskly exercising their sphincter muscles. The "smacks" being heard by our reporter who was gazing enraptured at the scene. Moral: Wait till you get home, girls, before indulging in this pleasure. It don't look well on the streets, and our reporter has "an hye like a heagle."

The following named persons have been appointed to the office of notary public by the governor, and confirmed by the legislature: H. Stephenson, B. W. Cheever, Mary E. Foster, C. M. King, H. C. Waldron, M. H. Brennan, J. T. Honey, J. Clark, F. M. Palmer, F. E. Jones, A. D. Crane, D. J. Oakley, P. D. Woodruff, L. C. Ridley, W. M. Woods, M. Seery, A. D. Seyler, W. B. Osborne, E. M. Tracey, A. E. Hewitt, M. D. Case, J. G. Bott, W. W. Whedon, J. McMahon, E. P. Allen, C. H. Mauly, E. Clark, J. A. Palmer, T. E. Wood, E. Gorman, E. Jones, L. J. Hale, M. H. French, J. H. Vance, E. J. Johnson, N. Schmid, J. I. Flynn, S. W. Clarkson, W. Hankey, J. D. Vandun, A. F. Freeman, J. Goetz. Commissions for the above notaries have been received at the county clerk's office, and are ready for distribution.

We are informed by County Clerk Clark that there are several ministers in this county who do not pretend to report their marriages at which they officiate. As the law is very explicit respecting the duty of ministers and justices of the peace, and a refusal to comply with its provisions is punishable by a fine of one hundred dollars for each offense, perhaps it will be well for them to attend to the business. None can claim ignorance of the law, as each and every one have been furnished with a copy of the law and requested to comply with its provisions. If there is any authority, ecclesiastical or otherwise, greater than the law making power of the state, the sooner the thing is brought out and contested the better. The law which protects any religious denomination in its rights demands some things in return. This thing isn't all on one side.

The third monthly musical of the Ann Arbor school of music, was given at university hall last Monday evening, under the direction of Prof. C. B. Cady. The hall was quite well filled with people, complimentary tickets being issued for admission. The program consisted of: 1st. Trio for piano, violin and 'cello, by Haydn, performed by Messrs. Luder, Lufkin and Miss Alice Wood. 2d. First concerto for violin, by David, performed by Master Philip Epstein, accompanied on the piano by Miss Huggins. 3d. Sonata, op. 11, No. 3, by Beethoven, executed without notes by Miss Anna Nichols. 4th. "Lucia" Fantasia for violin by Singl'ee, rendered by Miss Epstein and Miss Huggins. 5th. Concerto for piano in G minor, by Mendelssohn, very gracefully and artistically executed by Miss C. L. Huggins, accompanied by Miss Jeanie May.

Those taking part displayed rare skill in handling their instruments, and Master Epstein was especially applauded, while the fitness of Miss Nichols' execution, and the ease and grace of Miss Huggins were noted worthy, as was also Miss Wood's complete control of the keys. The entertainment, though entirely instrumental was remarkably good, the audience feel'd well satisfied with themselves for attending, which may be taken as highly complimentary by the performers.

One of the very best entertainments with which an Ann Arbor audience has been greeted for a long time, was that of Helen Charlotte Brown, Sattia Hyde, Lucy R. Cole, Fannie Downer, Alice A. Cochran, Albert W. Jenkins, of Ann Arbor City; Mark W. Williams and Lillie Baessler of Ann Arbor Town; D. H. Ramsdell, of Belleville; S. G. Andrews, of Highland; Orpha A. Calkins, of Inlay City; and Nettie Daniels, of Jnadinia.

him we didn't really like. His habit of crooking his thumb back over his right shoulder was monotonous, to say the least, but his expressions of countenance were inimitable. If he would keep his hands still and let his face do all the work, it would be an improvement. Everybody, however, the young men especially, were captivated with the entertainment. Of course the fair faces of the performers were not alone the cause, but they probably added considerably to true merit.

John Schumacher, a resident of the reform club, has had a severe attack of hemorrhage of the lungs, but is now slowly recovering.

We were very much pleased to receive a brief call from Mr. Henry Bolton, of Alpena, last Monday, who was in the city upon business.

Mr. H. H. Savage, of Boston, was in the city last Wednesday, and called at the COURIER office. He represents the American Art Review.

Chas. H. Hutchins, formerly of this city, but now residing in Owerso, and Miss Netie P. Crittenden, of Mount Clemens, were married on the 5th inst.

V. T. Teff, class of '77, at present editor of the Ingham County News, and managing editor of the Chronicle in 1877, was in the city last Friday, and called at the COURIER office.

The genial face of Mr. Jas. W. Allen has been missed several days the past week, from his accustomed place in the postoffice, and we regret to learn that sickness got the upper hand of him and laid him out for a few days. He's better.

University Items. Prof. J. B. Steere is to lecture at Brighton this evening.

The school of pharmacy desires a second degree established by the regents. The regents appropriated the sum of $300 for the purpose of ventilation in the law and literary buildings.

A civil service reform association, to be composed of professors and students of the university is being talked up. The degree of M. D. was conferred upon John F. Denslow, of the medical department, at the recent meeting of the regents.

The junior high school year will be extremely elegant we are given to understand. The invitations will be gotten out in Philadelphia.

The surplus funds in the hands of the Oracle board of '81, amounting to about $141 we understand, has been donated to the gymnasium fund.

Messrs. C. T. Brace and S. H. DuShane attended the recent Zeta Psi convention at Toronto, Canada, as delegates from the Michigan University chapter.

During the year 1880 the students' Christian association held 114 prayer and conference meetings; 39 business meetings; and received 60 new members, so says the Bulletin.

Miss Hattie M. Collier, of Battle Creek, who entered the university with the class of '82, died on the 7th inst., at her home. She had many friends among her former classmates.

Walter S. Harsha, of Detroit, class of '71, was married last Wednesday evening, the 19th inst., to Miss Isabella Mott, of that city. Mr. Harsha is deputy county clerk of Wayne County.

The law seniors have decided to give Rev. enough, our Ann Arbor artist, the job of furnishing the class pictures. The literary and pharmacy seniors have chosen a Toledo firm to take their "phis's."

At the late regents' meeting Dr. Baker, assistant M. D., was allowed $200 salary; an assistant to the professor of surgery was allowed the same; Lorin Hall, assistant M. D., $100; P. A. Nagle, assistant M. D., $100.

Prof. J. W. Langley was granted a leave of absence for one month, until Feb. 20th, at the recent regents' meeting and left last Wednesday for Boston, to visit his father a few days. From thence he expects to go to Virginia upon a business trip.

Circuit Court Proceedings.

The circuit court for the county of Washtenaw convened in Ingham Tria-day, of last week, and the following cases had been disposed of up to last night:

Frances L. Lyon vs. Win. F. Lynn. Decree of divorce granted. Extreme cruelty. Petition of Geo. Nelson for discharge of mortgage. Granted.

Elizabeth vs. Chas. V. Kuri. Judgment by court for plaintiff $425.88. Mary K. White vs. C. U. A. R. Wheeler. Judgment on default. Virginia W. BarMgb vs. John L. Hurlough. Judgment on default.

The People vs. John Williams. Respondent with his plea of not guilty and pleading in abatement. Sentenced to three years in state prison. Elizabeth Lambkin vs. Ben. W. Lambkin. Suit for divorce. Defendant was ordered to pay to plaintiff $50 solicitor's fee with $3 per week temporary alimony.

Daniel Klein and Daniel J. Klein admitted to citizenship. John J. Fisher vs. Harriet Wing. Action to recover $700. Plaintiff was rendered to a married daughter of defendant. Jury disagreed.

Innie M. Vanderwerker vs. Christina Fisher. Action for slander. Discontinued. Harriet Spalding vs. John J. Kolbison. Case settled between parties and cause discontinued.

Mary E. Ostello vs. Kate Tuttle. Decree of divorce granted. John Walker vs. Harvey L. Rose. False imprisonment. On trial.

The Holy Bonds.

One of the happy events which sprinkle our lives with pleasure, and are held in memory as "half-way houses on the road to heaven," as the poet expresses it, occurred last evening at the residence of Denmore Cramer, Esq., the occasion being the marriage of his daughter Miss Isinene Cramer, with Byron S. VVaite, of Lansing, Rev. Dr. F. Cocker, of the university officiating, assisted by Rev. J. Alabaster, of the M. E. Church. The assembled guests consisted of relatives and a very few intimate friends, and was not a formal affair.

The bride is a young lady of rare worth and intelligence, who has lived among us from infancy, and drawn around her innumerable friends who unite in wishing that the future, which looks so brilliant now, may never have its luster tinged. She is a graduate of both our high school and the university, completing her college course with the class of '80. The groom is also a graduate of the university, of the same class, and it was while pursuing their studies here that the attachment was formed which last evening culminated so happily.

Mr. Waite is a young man of far more than ordinary promise, and while pursuing his studies in the literary department took up a course of law study, and was admitted to the bar last spring by Judge Morris. Ultimately he intends to pursue the law as a profession, though at present he is connected with the office of the superintendent of public instruction, at Lansing.

Mr. and Mrs. Waite left the same evening for their new home at the state capital, where they intend residing for the present. The will not commence house keeping at once, but will board for a time. Mr. Cramer says this is the first break in his family. He has reason to rejoice that it has been so happily effected.

Death of Miss Hattie Collier.

From the Battle Creek Daily Journal of January 7, we take the following notice of the death of Miss Hattie Collier, daughter of ex-Regent Victory P. Collier. She was quite well known here, having been a much esteemed and worthy member of the class of '82 in the university, and her death, while just on the eve of what seemed to be a useful life work, seems sad indeed.

The sad announcement reached here this morning, by the Michiganian. Though the exact date of her death has not been ascertained, it is supposed to have occurred on the 7th inst. She was a native of Battle Creek, and was educated in the common schools of that city, where she was a member of the Y. W. C. A. She was a very accomplished and useful citizen, and was a member of the Y. W. C. A. She was a very accomplished and useful citizen, and was a member of the Y. W. C. A.

It is almost out of place to speak here of Miss Collier's death, as she was a native of Battle Creek, and was educated in the common schools of that city, where she was a member of the Y. W. C. A. She was a very accomplished and useful citizen, and was a member of the Y. W. C. A.
