TO MY DOG "BLANCO."

My dear, dumb friend, how long they have been over the snow ground. It gave her a cheery welcome. There had been but few tracks upon the snow from the gate to the house, but Eleanor stepped carefully, and succeeded in reaching the steps without getting wet.

ONLY A ROSE-BUD.

Margaret Randon stood before the mirror drawing a scarlet ribbon around her collar, and fastening it with a bow in front. You would have thought she was wasting precious time over a very trifling thing.

THE CONVERSATION BRANCHED UP.

The conversation branched up upon other subjects after this, and Margaret, exclaiming, "I don't sleep at all," said, "I was only very sorry that you were going away."

HE LOOKED AS IF HE WOULD HAVE SAID SOMETHING MORE.

He looked as if he would have said something more, but he did not; and his "good-night and good-bye" at the door was spoken very gravely.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES. Allegan Journal: From its recent exhibition of selfishness it is evident that Chicago never expects to burn again—in this world.

Berrien County Record: One Buchanan township man sold the apples from his orchard, and as the next day he had a party, and before touching them, they were offered $300 for their bargain.

Van Buren Republican: John Eckenberger came near being shot the other day while hunting ducks on Dowagiac creek.

Otisville Telegram: A dastardly outrage was committed Saturday evening last, by a party of five men, who were out for a span of horses owned by Mr. Shipley.

Teunseh Herald: A Bay City boy, aged seven years, had a case of diphtheria. Subsequently he became alphereticular erup.

Ingham County News: If a resident of White Oak wishes to communicate by letter with a citizen of Stockbridge, six miles away, he mails his letter at White Oak.

Battle Creek Journal: Dame nature is playing great pranks among the apples this year. Mr. J. L. Joslyn of Battle Creek.

Saginaw Herald: There is an old lady now visiting in this city named Betsy Wilson. She has a number of grandchildren.

Grand Rapids Post: Mrs. W. R. Brown, sister of M. W. Owen, mysteriously disappeared from her home in Grand Rapids.

Adrian Times: We were amused the other day by the contrast between two fields of corn growing on opposite sides of the road in Volusia.

Adrian Times: Just about fifty years ago now, Mr. J. H. Cleveland opened a general store in the town of Adrian.

Lansing Dispatch: Gov. Jerome, distinguished guest, and two companies of troops, were on their way to the military while returning from Yorktown.

Bay City Tribune: The man who contributed the following to a newspaper, was sat up all night to keep the baby quiet.

The Wayne County Review, of October 23rd, tells the following story about the death of Mr. Achmet Lawson, of Northville.

Not a single president of the United States has ever been born in a large city.

About one half of the salt of the country last year was furnished by Michigan.

Parnell is reported as very ill. President Arthur has gone to New York. On his return he will occupy the White House.

The Pall Mall Gazette, of London, declares that the rumor that Confederate bonds were to be redeemed by money deposited in the bank of England to the credit of the Confederate government, is wholly without foundation. Still there is a market in London for Confederate bonds.

Judge Charles J. Folger has accepted the nomination for Secretary of the Treasury, and in so doing he resigns a life salary of $12,000 per year for a smaller salary and an uncertain tenure of office. Judge Folger was Garfield's first choice and his appointment meets the approval of the entire Republican party. He is descended from the New England family to which Benjamin Franklin's mother belonged. Her father was Peter Folger whom Cotton Mather mentions as "a godly learned Englishman." The same can be truly said of this, his eminent descendant.

The Senate adjourned last Saturday after conferring all the nominations made by the President except the nomination of Stratham for postmaster at Lynchburg, Va. Stratham is a friend of Mahone and the hatred which exists among the Bourbon Democrats toward the Republicans brought on a deadlock. The Senate adjourned leaving the matter with the President. The business for which an extra session was called was for the most part completed. A President pro tem. has been elected who was satisfactory candidate to the Republicans and who is on good terms with President Arthur. When it was ascertained that ex-Gov. Morgan would not serve as Secretary of the Treasury, Judge Folger, of New York, was nominated and confirmed, and has accepted that position. Mr. Windom has been returned to the Senate as Senator from Minnesota. Postmaster General James was confirmed in his present position, but it is generally understood that he will withdraw sometime during the early part of the coming regular session of Congress. According to the present indications, the man that stands the best chance of being appointed to the place when Mr. Tamm withdraws, is Chauncey L. Fillye, a stalwart and one of the "906's." His management of the St. Louis postoffice gained him his present prominence. New York now has two representatives in the cabinet, but both will probably withdraw at an early day. The statement in our last issue that Storrs had been nominated Attorney General was premature. The report was not confirmed and has proved to have been erroneous. Mr. MacVeagh seems determined to withdraw from the cabinet. His enemies say that it is because he cannot sustain the charges against the participants in the star route frauds while his friends claim that he fears that he will not be supported by the administration in the prosecution of those cases. It seems to be almost impossible to banish corruption from political circles. The course that the President is taking, however, proves pretty clearly that he intends to give the country an impartial and an honest administration. There has not been the slightest reason to complain thus far.

REGENT'S MEETING. A full board of regents, with the exception of Regent Shearer, who is in Europe, met in the President's room at the University last Wednesday and on Tuesday went into executive session over the contest between the leading surgeons of the two medical schools. The contending parties and their adherents were called before the board, and, after spending twenty-three hours in examining into the matter, the board adjourned until December 6th, when they will decide the question of dispute between the two parties.

The adherents of both sides feel confident of victory. How the matter will end no one can tell at this time. We regret that this endless fight between the two schools is kept up, and we almost believe that there never will be any peace between them. If we were to venture a prophecy as to what the result will be, we should prophesy that Dr. Franklin will in the end resign, and accept some of the positions offered him. His health has been such for the past few weeks, that his Homeopathic friends had all they could do to keep him from resigning. He says he is tired of this continuous wrangle, and that there is no use in his trying to free himself from the conspiracies that have been formed against him. Those of his friends that pretended to know his case would not listen to him and prevailed upon him not to carry out his threat, at least under fire. It is no secret that the Dr. suffered from a stroke of apoplexy last Tuesday morning, and is now in precarious condition. It is hard to tell what Dec. 6th will bring forth, but let what will come it will be a long time before entire harmony will be established between the two schools.

We wish it distinctly understood that we side with neither party because we have not heard the evidence, we have only to say may the right prevail.

MR. CONKLING AND THE CABINET.

There is at present more or less discussion concerning the late appointments and the future policy of President Arthur. The appointment of Herman J. Ramsdell as Register of wills for the District of Columbia, is regarded as a direct blow to Grant and Conkling. It will be remembered that Mr. Ramsdell, while Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Times, was exceedingly bitter in his attacks upon Arthur, Grant and Conkling. Later he was appointed to his present position by Mr. Garfield but was not confirmed at the time of the assassination. The policy that Mr. Arthur seems to follow in carrying out as near as possible the late President's plans is to be commended. This appointment of Mr. Ramsdell shows that Mr. Arthur is President. Yet some prominent journals, while they commend this so-called blow against the President's own friends, are given to expressing doubts as to his sincerity in this case, and fears lest he may in the future favor some of his own or Mr. Conkling's friends. It is claimed that the appointment of Judge Folger as Secretary of the Treasury, is a plan for filling temporarily a position to which Mr. Conkling is to be called at no distant day. Such prophecies always end in a few words of advice to Mr. Arthur relating to the so-called cabinet of appointing Mr. Conkling to any cabinet position. It is getting to be about time that this petty ill-feeling toward the late senator from New York was checked. A man that has been the means of preventing a defeat of the Republican party in two vigorous campaigns, has great claims upon that party. But laying aside his claims upon the party, his personal ability alone should recommend him to one of the highest official positions in the government. With Mr. Conkling at the head of the Treasury Department, we could rest assured that corruption among the treasury officials would cease. Himself beyond the reach of bribery, his quick business perception would detect dishonesty in others. In no way would he shelter a thief from his just deserts. At the end of his term of office there would be no need of an investigation. There is not a man in the country whose past action deserves more praise, whose abilities merit more attention and in whose honesty the whole country can place more implicit confidence than in Mr. Conkling; and any journal, prominent or insignificant, that affirms that he should be banished to private life is, in our opinion, carrying the matter too far.

NOTES EDITORIAL.

Severe losses have resulted from a rise in the Ohio and Mississippi rivers caused by the recent heavy rains, but the water is now falling rapidly.

Mahone is sure that his party will carry Virginia by a majority of 20,000 while the followers of Daniel are inclined to think that his chances are good.

Henry Ward Beecher has retired from the editorial chair of the Christian Union. His successor is Dr. Lyman Abbott, who has been his assistant for years.

The President has renominated Stratham to the Lynchburg, Va. post office, although the Senate did not confirm him. This means war upon the Lombards.

The names of the new Chinese Minister to the United States is Chang Chao Yu. He has recently held a position in the Chinese government similar to that of Secretary of the Treasury in our own.

The Mechanics National Bank, of Newark, N. J., suspended business on the 30th ult. The liabilities are more than $2,000,000. The cashier has confessed to having willfully misused that amount.

A recent dispatch claims that at the approaching session of parliament in Canada a member will take the sense of that body on the desirability of Canadian independence and the election of a chief magistrate.

The French and German visitors to the Yorktown celebration are visiting the principal cities of the union, and are every where treated with the respect and honor due them. They are banqueting nearly every day.

Col. George Cowie, chief of the diplomatic and consular division of the fifth auditor's office of the Treasury Department, recently passed a claim for $2,000 which was pronounced illegal by the first comptroller. His resignation was requested and he has resigned.

An exchange says that a daughter of Rev. Dr. Highland Garnet, United States Minister to Liberia, is teaching school as a missionary in Liberia on the very spot where Dr. Garnet's grandfather was taken prisoner more than a century ago, and sold to a Maryland slave.

November 15th has been fixed upon as the date for holding a general meeting of western Republicans in Washington, to arrange the speakership candidate matter. The Speaker of the next house will undoubtedly be a western man and Kasson, of Iowa, seems, at present, to stand the best chance of election.

As the Hall murder case progresses it begins to look as if Hall ought to be "sent up" for the remainder of his life, and to be given warm quarters in the next. He confided in another jail-bird, who testified that Hall told him that he had poisoned two other persons besides his wife. The testimony seems to be straight-forward and ought to convict.

In the suit brought by Campbell, of Utah, to annul Campbell's certificate of naturalization, Chief Justice Hunter has decided in favor of the former. "The judge held that on the statement of the complainant and the admissions of the defendant the certificate was void on its face." This decision will probably settle the contest of the delegates sent from Utah in favor of Campbell.

The Detroit Republicans on Saturday, Oct. 29th, held the following convention for city officials: Mayor, Wm. G. Thompson; City Clerk, Alex. A. Saenger; Treasurer, Wm. Parkinson; City Attorney, John B. Corliss; Police Justice, A. E. Hayes; Justice of Peace, F. A. Lemke. It is a strong ticket. Mayor Thompson has given such good satisfaction that there will be very little opposition to him.

A report comes to us that on the morning of Oct. 28th an attempt was made to rob one of the French delegations of visitors in a hotel in Philadelphia. The burglar was seized and detained until the police arrived. He was taken before a magistrate, indicted, tried, convicted, and sentenced to three years' imprisonment in the penitentiary. If such speedy justice could be meted out to every criminal, there would be fewer crimes committed and no necessity for the frequent lynchings that we hear about.

The proposed meeting between the sovereigns of Italy and Austria is a thing of the past. The reception which the king and queen of Italy met at Vienna was extremely cordial. The report is that the "Austrian Emperor, after clasping the King in his arms and giving him three times a warm embrace, kissed the Queen's hand repeatedly, then offered her arm, which she hugged in a most natural and amiable manner." A few such meetings will do much toward harmonizing the opinions among European nations.

During the past ten days New York has been in danger of a water famine. It was found necessary to shut down the gates of the Central Park reservoir, saving 10,000,000 gallons. At one time it was thought probable that the great manufacturing establishments of the city would be compelled to suspend operations on account of a lack of water. Then reports came from Boston that the water supply was falling there. The heavy rains reached the East just in time to prevent suffering, and now the danger in that direction is past.

Harmony of feeling between England and the United States is shown by the salute fired in honor of the British flag at Yorktown. Now the American flag is to receive a similar honor in London. A dispatch says: "A novel feature of the lord mayor's procession will be a banner of the United States escorted by a guard of honor. When the lord mayor's procession reaches Westminster the American flag will be borne to the palace yard and massed bands will play an American national anthem. The secretary of the American legation writes that he is sure that this graceful recognition of the ties binding the two nations will be received with the greatest pleasure in America."

It is the duty of the president of the Senate to select a crater for that body. This has been a profitable position, but Mr. Davis is introducing reform. "He requires that each applicant furnish him with a full bill of fare with prices. These he is comparing with the bills and prices of city restaurants, and declares that, as a general policy, the fare shall be as good and the prices as low at the Senate as at other city restaurants. Moreover, he will not allow the Senate caterer to win favor with Senators by serving them at a low rate, while he charges the casual visitor a higher one, as has been the practice heretofore." The need of reform has been felt here as well as in other departments, and the principles on which the selection is to be made are to be commended.

A terrible disaster occurred near Rock Island just above the bridge across the Mississippi on the night of the 27th of October. The steamer, Jennie Gilchrist, had just passed through the bridge when the engineer discovered that the rod that was used to reverse the wheel was broken and the boat at once began to drift down the river. Through the want of self-control of a drunken crew, a panic was caused among the passengers. The boat finally struck a pier bursting both boilers. The steam rushing out nearly suffocated those who had taken refuge on a barge that the steamer had in tow. The wreck then drifted down past the city. The cries of the distressed were heard on the boat, Evansville, and she went to the rescue, saving 17 out of 33 passengers and crew.

Mr. Scoville, counsel for Gilman, has caused subpoenas to be issued for the following witnesses: Mrs. Augusta Parker, J. Kirman, Geo. T. Burroughs, Frank M. Scoville, and J. Lewis Lee, all of Chicago, Ill.; C. J. Joslyn, of Oneida community, N. Y.; Everett O. Fos, of Dover, N. H.; John A. Rice, of Morton, Wis.; E. O. Spitzke, of New York; H. B. The Michigan crop report for the month of October 1881, has been published: "For this report returns have been received from 1,002 correspondents, representing 664 townships. Of these returns 629 are from 386 townships in the southern four tiers of counties. The returns were made between October 1st and 14th. The estimates show that the acreage sown to wheat this fall is but little if any greater than in 1880; but the number of acres of potatoes raised was about the same, but that the yield per acre not over two-thirds as much, and that the acreage of clover seed was about one-fifth greater, and the yield per acre one-fourth greater, than in 1880. As there has probably been considerable wheat sown since October 1st, the estimate is doubtless too low, and later reports are likely to change the estimates of the yield of clover seed and potatoes." The rains and warm weather have made the prospects for a fine crop of wheat next year very encouraging.

Among the special dispatches of Oct. 31, from Washington, is found a strange story of a man who presented himself at the White House bearing a letter which read as follows: "John Wolke, you are hereby informed that Dr. Jan. Noctling is lawfully elected President of the United States and occupies the White House every day."

ALMIGHTY GOD. Communicated by the Holy Spirit. The man in question was recognized as a "crank" that had tried to gain admission to the White House last May. His admission was refused by the doorkeeper and he tried to force his way in. Doorkeeper Denmore seized him and a desperate struggle ensued, during which the madman drew a revolver, but was prevented from using it. The "crank" gave his name as Dr. Jan. Noctling, residing at Colesville, Snyder Co., Pa. He has been at a hotel since Sept. 25, registered under the name of John Wolke. Last May he was arrested and sent home. If Guitcan is trefted with leniency, the city of Washington will soon be full of tramps and semi-lunatics that the life of the President not only, but that of every citizen, will be made in the capital of the great republic in the world.

The Muskegon Chronicle thus summarizes the condition of affairs in that city since the strike: "Just one week has elapsed since Muskegon was in a state of great commotion. Upward of 4,000 laboring men were on strike; about 200 soldiers were garisoned at the county court house; Sheriff Waters' conduct was severely criticized for ordering the troops; Col. DeLong was taken to task for addressing some remarks to the strikers; the mill men refused to run their mills less than 11 hours; a collision between the strikers and our State militia crowded itself upon the minds of timid and frightened people; blushing young damsels improved the occasion immensely by becoming acquainted with the starchy soldier; at night the dauntless soldiers told their comrades of the narrow escapes of the day; policemen chatted with one another as to what course could be pursued when they had placed all the soldiers in duress; on the fence citizens had two chairs, and did not know which one to sit down upon the hardest; the strikers held their regular out-door meetings; petitions poured in upon our unfortunate Mayor asking him to use his own judgment; the supervisors asked Prosecuting Attorney DeLong to resign for obvious reasons; the Col. stoutly refused and took a pleasure trip to Dakota. Sixteen mills are now running at ten hours, seven at eleven (with small crews) and some have shut down entirely for the season. The entire trouble has about been adjusted and Muskegon booms along lively once more."

Foreign News. The dissolution of the land league proceeds steadily and peacefully. The ladies' land league is also to be suppressed. Gladstone says the point in dispute between the government and the land league is whether Ireland shall be governed by laws made by parliament, or laws known to no body, and written nowhere save in the brains of a few men and enforced by an (Hogdian) arbitrary rule supported by force.

A later report says that reinforcements have been sent to Ireland, and there are reports of rioting and homicides, and renewed activity on the part of the police and magistrates. The French chamber of deputies reopened on the 27th ult., and Gambetta was chosen provisional president by an almost unanimous vote. A company has been organized in London with a capital of £20,000 for the operating of telephones in the principal countries of Europe. New nihilistic proclamations have been settled about St. Petersburg, and threatening letters have reached the Czar. The first train passed through the St. Gothard tunnel on the 2d inst.

CHELSEA. Prof. G. W. Renwick, of Ann Arbor, will open a vocal music class here in a few days. There is talk of organizing another cornet band in this village. Some eight or more musicians are willing to join.

DEXTER. Chip Basket.—The Red Ribbon Club cleared $15 by an oyster supper last Friday. There is considerable sickness about the country. Chris. Miller has invented a simple and useful wood fastener.

MANCHESTER. The association of alumni of the High School is considering the matter of a lecture course for the coming winter.

SALINE. Meat market men are cutting in prices and have caused the price of meat to be reduced 15 or 20 per cent. Another shipment of grain, clothing, etc., to the fire sufferers was made recently.

J. H. Dordle and Frank Kidder went hunting Thursday, and were rewarded by bagging 14 wild ducks, six fish, pickerel and one loon. John is bound to maintain the reputation of being the most notorious old hunter in town.—Observer.

YPSILANTI. R. E. Frazer spoke on temperance at the opera house on Sunday afternoon. New and crisp $5 coupon bills on the state bank of Troy, N. Y., are circulating. Look out for them.—Commercial.

It will require $12,000 or $15,000 to start the boiler machinery that is talked of, and practical mechanics stand ready to invest $4,000. So says the Commercial. The officers of the Ypsilanti Improvement Association are: President, Clark Cornwell; Vice-president, S. W. Parsons; Secretary, Austin George, and Treasurer, C. M. Harris.—Ypsilanti.

The Grand Truck Railway has appointed Jas. H. McKinstry ticket agent at Ypsilanti, and he is now selling tickets over the Grand Truck and Erie Railroads and all their branches. New York tickets are now sold for $4.00 and Boston $5.00.—Ypsilanti.

Mr. George M. Woodford and Miss Alia Wise, the elegantists, were united in marriage by Rev. Rollo Ogden, October 20, at the residence of the bride's parents, No. 23 Mandrake street. The bride's friends trust she will grace Eastern platforms as successfully as she has those of Ohio and surrounding States.—Cleveland Leader. The happy bride and bridegroom have the kind wishes of a large circle of friends at their childhood home.—Commercial.

We are having new arrivals every day. A few weeks ago in the Normal proper, there were two hundred and seventeen students, now there are two hundred, and forty-two besides others who are not yet classified. That the popularity of the Normal is increasing is seen from the fact not only Michigan sends a large delegation, but also many of the other States are well represented, and all speak well and are highly pleased with their alma mater, and the excellent corps of teachers connected with it.—Ypsilanti.

Three of the western states sent troops to Yorktown at the review on Thursday. All the original 13 states which sent the old "Continental" in their ragged regiments to the revolutionary armies were represented. First came the Chatham artillery of Georgia, the oldest organization in the parade. It dates from 1786, and its brass guns were cast in 1755. Gray and scarlet are its colors. New Jersey sent a fine battalion of picked men, and Pennsylvania a full regiment wearing long blue overcoats and perfectly equipped for active field service, even to haversacks, canteens and coffee cups. Delaware sent a small battalion and Massachusetts her 9th Regiment, which was accounted one of the best looking in the whole line, and also the Boston cadets in their handsome uniforms. Next after the 9th came the crack Baltimore regiment, the 5th Maryland. South Carolina had two fine companies on the ground, one of which bore the old Putaw battle flag, and New Hampshire followed with three companies in dark-blue. Virginia made a very handsome appearance, with a squad of cavalry, four regiments of gray infantry and several unattached companies, among which were some colored troops who got more applause than any of the rest. New York was represented by the 12th regiment from Brooklyn and two companies from Buffalo, with Dodworth's band at their head. North Carolina among the Southern States came next to Virginia in the number of her troops, but they were said to have too much variety of uniform for the best effect. Rhode Island forwarded two Providence companies, and Connecticut sent a full regiment which was delayed on the steamer but finally reached the ground just in time to fall in at the rear of the volunteer column. Of the three states outside of the old 13 which sent troops, Michigan clearly stood first, with her six companies from different regiments. Vermont sent two companies, one from St. Albans and one from Brattleboro, and a Kentucky battalion of five companies brought the total number of states represented up to 16.

Blind Joe. One member of the Slayton Concert Company that will appear in University Hall to-night is the variable Blind Joe. The Chicago Inter Ocean Oct. 14. speaks of him in the following terms: "Of Mr. Joseph Heine's musical ability it is almost impossible to speak too highly. His reputation is world-famed. Since the age of seven years he has been performing before the greatest critics of the world and before royal courts, but has everywhere been awarded the praise he merits. His performances last evening were his 'Chicago Polka,' his 'Fronoise in D minor,' and his 'Caraval d'Amerique.' He introduces a number of new pieces of music, and plays upon a common tin whistle. His performances therupon rivaling the magic power of flute or cornet."

Books and Magazines. J. C. Chilton & Co., of Bank Block, Detroit, are the publishers of a Life of Garfield, written by the eminent historian, J. C. Bolpath, LL. D. This book embraces an account of his struggles in childhood, his career as a soldier, his success as a statesman, his elevation to the presidency, and his disastrous assassination. It is a volume of nearly 700 pages and finely illustrated. A work by such an author is just what the public is waiting for, and none other should be purchased.

The microscope has reached us on its bi-monthly journey. It is filled as usual with a great amount of interesting and profitable knowledge. We speak from personal knowledge when we say that the editors are at home with their subject, having made work with the microscope a specialty for many years. In this number we offer the following: "Fossil Fishes," "The Laboratory Notes, Delectated Blood, and others equally as interesting."

The U. S. Monthly is a new thirty-two page illustrated magazine. No. 1 of Vol. I contains many fine illustrations, and among other articles one entitled, "From Chicago to the Atlanta International Exposition and Return," is a gem. The illustrations are of the highest quality. The price of the magazine is $1.00 in advance and the first number is equalled by the following its success is insured.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1881.

Making Things Over.

"Maria," said Mr. Jones, upon one of his weary days...

"Where are my lavender pants?" yelled Jones. "Cut them over for Willie."

"Heavens!" groaned her husband; then in a voice of deep phrensy...

"No!" he said, answered his wife cheerfully. "I've used that for hanging-bush."

"The Stutterer's Reprieve." Good old Dr. Gladden: There is some of our readers...

The clergyman was an intelligent youth, and smart; but, evidently, his own estimation of himself was a little higher than the average estimation of others...

By and by, as the conversation progressed, and after the doctor had offered a really valuable opinion...

"What a pity it is, my dear sir, that a man of such attainments should stammer so dreadfully!"

"No, no, sir. I do not so regard it. I know of a gentleman—not far distant—who may be benefited by this impediment."

An Aged Woman's Recollection. Mrs. Graham, of Port Byron, New York, who died last summer at the age of 104 years...

"Do I remember Cornwallis's surrender?" asked Mrs. Graham. "Yes," quoth her father. "That is, I remember how the news came."

A Sharp Voice. There is no power of love so hard to get and keep as a kind voice.

When Gen. Harrison was running for the presidency he was asked at dinner to take wine. He declined, and was again urged.

Rescued From Death. William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent coughing fit."

The Folly of the Day. There is a dreadful ambition abroad for being "gentle."

Prof. Horsford's Baking Powder. Prof. Charles S. Gannett, Philadelphia University of Medicine...

Mrs. Garfield has requested that five of the flags which decorated the inside of the pavilion wherein her husband lay at the Cleveland should be given to her children.

Free of Cost. All persons wishing to test the merits of a great remedy—one that will positively cure Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, or any affection of the Throat and Lungs...

Physicians say Hops and Malt Bitters are the best.

Stole a March.

She was a magnificent creature. Her eyes were as blue and glowing as the sky when the sun is in its glory...

"Wait a minute, my devoted son," said the old man, "each of you have shown your affection for your stepmother."

Nature's Sluice-Way. The kidneys are nature's sluice-way to wash out the debris of our constantly changing bodies.

Victor Hugo lately went through a pretty scene at an asylum in Paris for the orphan children of actors.

The Stutterer's Reprieve. Good old Dr. Gladden: There is some of our readers, upon the banks of the Androscoggin River in Maine...
