Republican Congressional Convention.

The Republican convention for the second congressional district, comprising the counties of Monroe, Lenawee, Hillsdale and Washtenaw, will be held at M. Dean's opera house, on the corner of Adams, on Monday, the 21st day of August, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of nominating a delegate to congress, and the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

The several counties are entitled to delegates as follows: Monroe, eleven; Lenawee, twenty-two; Hillsdale, thirteen; Washtenaw, seventeen.

W. J. HERDMAN, Washtenaw.

W. J. HERDMAN, Lenawee.

BURTON, Hillsdale.

E. O. REYNOLDS, Hillsdale.

Congressional Committee.

Among the Hillsdale delegation to the Congressional convention Captain Allen will have ten or more, and on the first ballot he is pretty sure to lead all other candidates by having at least twenty-seven votes. Miller has not secured Lenawee solidly.

The Free Press' "vindication" of Cleveland reminds us of the woe "wimic" of Con way, the temperance rascal. It is all blow, bluster, brag and wholesale denial, but no proofs. For a paper of any character it is surprising that it has the boldness to attempt to cram such statements down the throats of intelligent people.

Ben Butler is going to make a campaign speech in this State. We have been informed by leading men in the northern part of Michigan that he is making quite a break for the mill-and lumbermen's votes, and that in many localities he will get as many as Cleveland. That is the kind of news still further to demoralize the Bourbon cohorts.

It is now pretty generally conceded that the prohibitionists have the best chance of any party of carrying Maine, Illinois, Ohio, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Vermont, Wisconsin, and Michigan. (Prohibition.)

What we wonder is, whether there will exist prohibitionists well enough to believe any such shosh. If so a gentle little surprise is liable to be sprung upon them after election.

ELECTRIC LIGHT.

The electric light has come and the people are asking each other how they like it. Last night the current was turned on and the lamps were lighted. The Vanderpeck company has secured thirty-one customers to start with and the verdict was so much in its favor, with the first night's trial that several who did not take it are now beginning to reconsider it. The price per month is $1.50, and if forty lights are secured they are to make $10. The lights were staidier than was expected for the first night and they made the poor little gas jets look sickly enough, even though the merchants without the arc-lights did turn on a full head of gas at every burner, so as to keep up appearances. Several who stick to gas, we understand, are turning the new light to their profit by figuring with the Gas company for lower rates than their neighbors get, and it is reported that the company has allowed several consumers an "inside track" on gas. Another thing the gas company is doing to get into the graces of the people is to make their bills lower. Not a few have remarked that while they burn just as much gas as formerly their bills for the past month or so have been considerably lower than they used to be. It will also bring it about that we shall get a better quality of gas—more gas and less wind. So, which ever we have, our light henceforth ought to be better as well as cheaper for the competition.

Notwithstanding the assertions of some papers, the gas has not, as yet, been reduced in price to all customers, but the company will have to do it eventually.

Even as great a quantity as the University consumes it has never had a reduced rate, as is usual to large consumers everywhere. And the State, in that line as in others, has been robbed to enrich a few, who excuse their actions by saying: "That's the way Vanderbilt does." We predict that it will not be many years before the regents shall oil this incubus and light their buildings with an electric light plant of their own.

The city too, has been burdened by a long contracted job put up on it, and hereafter we expect it will have the same advantages in its street lighting that other cities have, or that individuals would obtain under like circumstances. Where we are paying $24 a year for each lamp-post other cities get it for $20, $18, and so on.

A propos of this the Vanderpeck company offer to put in four lights on each corner of the Court House square over the middle of the island for $24. This would be a brilliant illumination of the streets and would cost no more than gas.

Ann Arbor's New Daily.

On yesterday we were let into the secret and are enabled to present to the readers this week with the details of the proposed establishment of a daily paper in this city. It is expected that the first issue can be reached in about two or three weeks. The new paper will be known as the Evening Star, and is to be of the same size as the Detroit Eccequy Journal, seven columns to a page and four pages. In connection with the daily will be published a weekly paper to be known as the Weekly Star. It will probably be issued on Saturday. For the publication of the daily and weekly a new Campbell press, steam power, with new type, etc., complete, has been purchased and are on the way. A specialty is to be made of local and university news of this city; correspondents in various towns of the county will furnish regular news from those points, special attention being given to Ypsilanti news. It is expected that the Star can be on sale in the latter place before the Detroit paper reaches there in the evening. The daily will be issued about 4 P. M., and will sell at the same price as the Journal and News. We are indebted to Mr. S. Willard Beakes, the proprietor of the new enterprise, for the particulars as above. Mr. Beakes was a member of the schools in this city for several years, and is a graduate of the class of '83, law department. As proprietor and editor Mr. Beakes, with the arrangements already made, ought to make the enterprise a success if a daily in the city can be supported. He has recently been connected with a newspaper in Westerville, O., near Columbus. Look out for the Evening Star.

Additional Locals.

Lower town has had quite a scare with, out good cause. A Polandier by the name of Crang was taken sick Sunday morning about two o'clock with cholera morbus. He had no attendants until about eight o'clock when Dr. Morton was called. The sick man was then too far along for recovery. His death occurred between nine and ten o'clock in the absence of the attending physician. Meantime, the neighborhood had become thoroughly alarmed with the idea that Ann Arbor had had a genuine case of cholera. When the doctor returned and entered the house, confidence was somewhat restored, but the matter has occasioned considerable talk. The burial of the body took place Monday. The clothes were burned not because it was necessary, nor because it was a case of cholera, but because it was deemed advisable from the filthy condition of the clothing. It was simply a case of cholera morbus in a debilitated old man. Asiatic cholera is a germ disease, and must in some way be brought from a portion of the country in which the disease is raging. The man who died has for some time been a resident of lower town, which spoils the theory of his having brought the disease with him from Europe. Meantime, our readers can rest quiet in the idea that the cholera has not taken a jump from France to the United States and made its first appearance in Ann Arbor.

The COURIER takes pleasure in congratulating in advance two couples who will be married before our next issue. On Tuesday evening, at St. Thomas's Church, 8:40, occurs the marriage of Mr. Clorgo H. Krundbaum, of Jackson, and Miss Matie E. Sweeney, of this city. Mr. Brandenburg is in the employ of the M. C. R. at Jackson. There is a bit of romance connected with this engagement, for they both attended school together some years ago as children, when the attachment seems to have begun. Incidentally, Miss Sweeney's teacher is some known, by way of punishment for being supposed offense, to consign her to the sea of Mr. B. who is soon to become her husband; it was thought at the time to be a most severe punishment, but under the circumstances was far from it. So much for No. 1. No 2? Yes, it's a fact, "Mick," otherwise known as M. C. Sheehan, is soon to be among the list that must be counted out as no longer "available."

Briefly, the marriage ceremony of Mr. Sheehan and Miss Emma Slattery, both of this city, takes place at St. Thomas's Church, Wednesday, Aug. 20 at 9 A. M. Mr. P. has had more than one of the Illinois division of the W. S. L. & P. H. It, and that there need be no doubt but what he can place students into positions. Fraud again. There is a young man in this city, who spent six months in this college and then three in an office at Elba, Lapeer Co., Mich., and has managed said office for one week and who has asked Mr. P. to procure a situation for him or refund his money, but Mr. P. will do neither.

Mr. P. agrees if you come here and do not find the school as represented he will refund the fare of your trip and home again. This is fulfilled as well as the part in regard to situations. He gets possession of a new comer the first thing and will not permit him to see any of the students except three or four who are his stool-pigeons, until he has purchased a scholarship.

The article states that the feelings of the students have been aroused by the expulsion of eight, whose work and conduct made such action necessary. The feelings on the part of the students were aroused long before the expulsion took place, and were caused by the General Manager's not fulfilling his contracts with his students. The conduct and work is not explained. Our conduct and work both in and out of school is very good, as any one who knows us can testify. When the expelled students asked Mr. P. why they were treated so, he replied "You know."

Yes, we do know. Twenty seven students sent a petition to the Post Master General asking him to investigate the school and if he believed the school a fraud to prohibit the circulation of the College Reporter and special ad through the mails. The P. M. G. referred the petition to the Asst. Atty. General who in turn referred us to the U. S. Dist. Atty. of this district. They then, July 5th, sent two of their members to Detroit to consult with a S. I. D. Atty. He agreed to lay the matter before a U. S. Post Office inspector who would investigate the affair.

The above is what we believe to be the cause of our expulsion. If that is rebelliousness, we will accept the name as proudly as any true American will when an Englishman calls George Washington a rebel.

Le Mr. P. afraid to have his school investigated? Yes, he is not willing to have his dealings with the youths of this land exposed to the public gaze. Such an exhibition will show its corruptness. We beg leave to say right here that Mr. P. could not have expelled us for drunkenness as we never drink any intoxicating liquor. Several months ago the students appointed a committee of five to draft an article exposing the school, obtain testimonials from departed students, and have them published and circulated, as widely as possible. When all was ready for the press Mr. Peterson bribed the chairman who in turn destroyed all the work. We were a member of that committee and know.

Other students were also bribed to keep quiet. Mr. P. has averred to us that he tears no student. He declares that after a young man has come here and found himself defrauded that he (the young man) is too much ashamed to ever write home and acquaint his friends of the fact. Let Mr. P. come forward and give the true reasons of his leaving Oberlin, O.

He claims that he has sent a large number of students into offices during the past year; let him come forward and give their names and present addresses. Much more dark work might be written. We respectfully invite you, Mr. Editor, and the public to investigate the school and satisfy yourselves. Satisfy yourself of our standing morally, etc.

The above letter is written in hopes that the school may become known as it is. We would gladly hold the truth over all the land for the benefit of all the young men and women. No student who goes from this school will recommend any of his friends to come here to learn telegraphy, etc.

Hoping that this will find the way into the column of your paper, we remain, Yours Truly, EUGENE E. MULHRY, Ann Arbor, Mich.

In the content of the Camp last Wednesday the shooting of the Company A's team was creditable. There were twenty teams competing, and at the 200 yards range only one other team beat their score of 93. But at the 100 yards shot they did not hold their own as the following scores show: 200 YARDS. Private J. H. Sweet, 30 4 5 4 10; D. J. Duffy, 4 4 5 2 10; J. C. Stevens, 4 0 5 3 10; Team score, 500 YARDS. Private J. H. Sweet, 20 0 0 2 4; D. J. Duffy, 3 3 4 5 18; J. C. Stevens, 2 4 4 2 15; Team score, 5 3 5 3 21.

Ann Arbor's Haloim.

An item is going the rounds of the state press to the effect that the temperance people of Ann Arbor charge that 40 of the 70 saloonists of the city are not assessed their proper amount of taxes. Now, so far as assessments are concerned, that is a matter for Ann Arbor people to settle, but what the Republican would like to know is whether "the modern Athens" is cursed with 70 saloons. If it is, then we acknowledge that such a state of things is a very bad showing, at that particular point, for the liquor tax law. In a conversation with A. O. Crozier of that city, a few days since, who is one of the best informed among Michigan political prohibitionists, he made the assertion that "in Ann Arbor, at least, there had been a large and steady increase in the number of saloons." Now we do not know what Ann Arbor has in the way of saloons to-day, but we do know what the reports on file in the auditor general's office show, and here is the story: In Washtenaw county in 1875, when the tax law first went into effect 124 saloon-keepers paid the tax. Let our political prohibition friends remember that these 124 saloons were an inheritance bequeathed to us by a prohibitory law without public sentiment to enforce its provisions. Of the total number of saloons in the county 41 were in the city of Ann Arbor.

What do we find in the latter days, under the "blood-money" tax law? In 1883 the total number of saloons in the county was 81, and just 40 of these were in the city of Ann Arbor. In other words, the detested "blood-money" tax law has decreased the number of saloons just 41 in the entire county, and there was one less saloon in Ann Arbor in 1883 than in 1875. But, says Friend Crozier, in the last four years in the city "at least there has been a large and steady increase in the number of saloons." Here are the exact figures: In 1880, 40; 1881, 43; 1882, 33; 1883, 40. Can anybody see any "large and steady increase" in these figures? All we ask of our political prohibition friends is to stand squarely on the record. An ounce of result is worth a ton of theory; and a grain of truth ought to offset a ton of lies.

What is true of Washtenaw county is true of nearly every county in the state outside of the mining and lumbering regions. The republican party, as a true friend of temperance, stands pre-eminently in advance of the prohibition party, for its work is in a practical direction. While the republican party is largely made up of the poor and needy without regard to religion or race, arrangements for the use of Keliel Park were made by J. J. O'Gorman, of Toledo, who is secretary of the organization.

Three hundred and thirty excursion tickets were sold to the Island Lake encampment last Sunday, over the Toledo road. 150 were sold over the same road Monday, from this point. The sham battle was Monday's attraction. A year ago 402 tickets were sold to the encampment. Ann Arbor folks were entertained at Company A's tent.

Following the regular business of the convention this afternoon several addresses will be made. A meeting will also be held at the court house this evening. The Saline cornet band is in attendance.

An excursion train of between four and five hundred, the St. Vincent de Paul Society, of Toledo, came up to-day. The organization is said to be a charitable one, the funds being set aside for the use of the poor and needy without regard to religion or race. Arrangements for the use of Keliel Park were made by J. J. O'Gorman, of Toledo, who is secretary of the organization.

Robert G. West, '82, familiarly known as "Bob," paid us a short visit last Saturday on his way home from a business trip in the east. Bob just escaped the earthquake, you see. Well, his home is at Austin, Texas, where he is practicing law with considerable success, succeeding to his father's practice, the latter being on the supreme bench of the State.

The annual Announcement of the law department has recently been issued from this office. It consists of thirty-one pages of matter pertaining to the law school and its workings. The whole number of students during the past year was 307; in the junior class were 171, in the senior, 136. In the twenty-five classes that have graduated from the department, 3,015 "sheepskins" have gone out. The Jay professorship, made vacant by the resignation of Judge Cooley, will soon be filled, it is expected.

A forty-one page pamphlet, entitled "Second Series of Selected Papers read before the Engineering Society of the University of Michigan," issued from this office, has the following list of contents: "Wrought Iron," R. C. Gemmill, '84; "Pavements," F. M. Dunlap, '83; "Mortar and Cements," Job Tuttle, '83; and "Friction and Lubrication," H. D. Burnett, '84. A list of the Society's transactions during the past year show that fifteen meetings have been held and seventeen papers presented on various subjects. This organization furnishes a very profitable adjunct to the different engineering courses in the University.

If the State of Michigan would have the University progress as it should, something has got to be done, and that right quickly, by way of furnishing a larger amount of money for meeting the current expenses. At present the income from all sources does not meet the annual outgo. The problem is before you—how shall you solve it? By law, the sum of one-twentieth of a mill is assessed on each dollar of the taxable property of the State, which provision furnishes regularly about $400,000 for the needs of the University. Make this one-twentieth of a mill tax one-tenth of a mill tax and you secure $4,000,000 a year more, which will place the institution on a proper financial footing. On reading the above, our State exchanges would do well to follow Captain Cuttle's advice, namely, "when found, make a note of."

IXIKIUKIHI. Again we are called to mourn the loss of one of our members, our beloved sister, Mrs. Malby Gelston, who died July 13, D.S.A. She was a member of the Executive Board, and the oldest member of our Charitable Union. She was an earnest, faithful Christian worker, and leaves a record of a pure, a lovely, a useful life; always interested in our work, caring for the poor, and doing what she could to alleviate suffering. Society we extend to the afflicted husband, children, relatives and friends, our deepest and most heartfelt sympathy in this grief, who have been so inexpressibly bereaved by this afflictive dispensation. "Blessed are the dead which live in the Lord." They rest from their labors and their works do follow them.

Mrs. M. B. GILBERT. MRS. PHEBE STEELE. Committee from the Charitable Union, Aug. 12, 1884.

BACH & ABEL.

Now is the time to buy summer dress goods, when regular trade is over and every thing light is going for little. You can quickly look through all we have.

This list may help: Brocaded dress goods 8 cents now 5 cents.

Large variety of half wool dress goods 25 cents now 12 1/2 cents.

Nun's veilings in all the desirable shades, 50 Cts. and 75 cents now 50 cents.

Combination suitings, $1.50 and $1.00, now $1.25.

Lace buttonings, 20 and 25 c. now 12 1/2 c. Some are marked so far below value as to be picked up as fast as they are seen by those who only half want them.

We are looking forward to the time when what are left must be packed away for another year. BACH & ABEL.

Even now in midsummer we may warn you not to buy materials and fill your leisure time with making underwear, or get it made without knowing how we get it made ourselves.

There is need of this caution. Thousands do not know yet.

You might almost as well whittle out your matches, dip them in the friction-tiring mixture to save 3c a box. So in underwear, the factory beats you. Whether we are right depends on the underwear.

Don't judge it by what you see in windows, nor by the prices you hear it advertised at. Judge it by the underwear itself, and see it here, examine the materials, the sewing, the cutting, the decorating, the styles. You, ladies, know the good from the bad. Not a word about that. We ask your judgment not your favor.

BACH & ABEL. Printed linen lawns, ten cents below the usual prices, very few left. Now 25c. reduced from 35c. We are ashamed to keep on saying that we mean all linen when linen means the same. But the naughty prodigality of adventurers makes it necessary to be careful.

BACH & ABEL. The great demand for Jerseys still continues. WP HTE, as we have had all along, by far the largest stock in the city.

The qualities are what they ought to be; the shapes are all correct and all the grades arc here from $1.69 to $20.

Those at $7.50 and under arc in your minds; especially those below $5.00.

They are every way correct, there is no such other stock in town. We do not mean that nobody else has any proper garments, but, properly speaking, competition with this stock as a whole is out of the question. Below $5.00 our prices are about half of last year's; but no lower than a month past, and there is no occasion to make them lower. If we were going to single out the cheapest of all we have we should probably hit on that at $1.09, and this we say rather to ask your most exacting eye upon it.

BACH & ABEL. With the laying off of high cut coats and vests during this hot weather the condition of the shirt front must be looked into.

The large stock we display shows that we are ready. The "Pearl" leads as the best dollar shirt in Ann Arbor unless ladies' eyes deceived them, and when they are deceived 'tis more apt to be their hearts than their eyes that make the mischief. We would like the opinion for good or bad of every lady who passes through the store on the "Pearl."

BACH & ABEL. Messrs. Koch & Haller, of this city, have been given the contract of furnishing the mantels for the Alpha Delta Phi house on State street. They will probably fit out the building with its furniture also. The mantels and furniture for the house will cost from $1,000 to $1,200, it is estimated.

C. Gemmill, '84; "Pavements," F. M. Dunlap, '83; "Mortar and Cements," Job Tuttle, '83; and "Friction and Lubrication," H. D. Burnett, '84. A list of the Society's transactions during the past year show that fifteen meetings have been held and seventeen papers presented on various subjects. This organization furnishes a very profitable adjunct to the different engineering courses in the University.

If the State of Michigan would have the University progress as it should, something has got to be done, and that right quickly, by way of furnishing a larger amount of money for meeting the current expenses. At present the income from all sources does not meet the annual outgo. The problem is before you—how shall you solve it? By law, the sum of one-twentieth of a mill is assessed on each dollar of the taxable property of the State, which provision furnishes regularly about $400,000 for the needs of the University. Make this one-twentieth of a mill tax one-tenth of a mill tax and you secure $4,000,000 a year more, which will place the institution on a proper financial footing. On reading the above, our State exchanges would do well to follow Captain Cuttle's advice, namely, "when found, make a note of."

IXIKIUKIHI. Again we are called to mourn the loss of one of our members, our beloved sister, Mrs. Malby Gelston, who died July 13, D.S.A. She was a member of the Executive Board, and the oldest member of our Charitable Union. She was an earnest, faithful Christian worker, and leaves a record of a pure, a lovely, a useful life; always interested in our work, caring for the poor, and doing what she could to alleviate suffering. Society we extend to the afflicted husband, children, relatives and friends, our deepest and most heartfelt sympathy in this grief, who have been so inexpressibly bereaved by this afflictive dispensation. "Blessed are the dead which live in the Lord." They rest from their labors and their works do follow them.

Mrs. M. B. GILBERT. MRS. PHEBE STEELE. Committee from the Charitable Union, Aug. 12, 1884.
