LOCAL.

Peter Come has been granted a pension. Hon. Frederick Douglass will speak at Ypsilanti next week Friday.

Richard Baker, of Pinckney is working at his trade—carpenter—in this city. The Ann Arbor City band has organized an orchestra ten strong for dances and evening entertainments.

Rev. Dr. Ramsay, very much to the delight of the congregation, will occupy the pulpit of the M. E. church next Sunday morning and evening.

The republican club of the 6th ward will address by Wm. M. Osband, of Ypsilanti, at the 6th ward engine house, next Tuesday evening.

The Ann Arbor Greys and the Milan Club played a game of baseball on the campus Saturday, the score standing 21 to 9 in favor of the Greys.

A special train will run to Detroit on the M. C., leaving here at 9:10 a. m. Friday, and returning leaves Detroit at 7 o'clock. Fare for the round trip $1.

The stone work on the new Christian Association building is nearly completed, and it is here in the United States that can equal it we should like to see it.

Members of Company A celebrated their 12th anniversary by going to the Lake Saturday night accompanied by the city band in busses and returning Sunday evening.

Four air Lodi poles are being exaggerated up north until they now number 250 and the height varying from 1,500 to 10,000 feet. Tully Woodruff has got hold of them, you know.

Business on State st. now. John V. Sheehan, Geo. L. Moore, Williams & Son, Vorheis & Dietz, and others are all moving, and goods are flying about regardless of consequences.

Emmaus Wheelock of Bridgewater, Vermont for Gen. Harrison in 1810. Since then he has raised seven sons, all of whom will vote for the present Gen. Harrison this fall. Hurrah for Wheelock!

There was a crowded house at the Superior town hall Friday evening, and two good speeches were made by Messrs. Sawyer and Lawrence. The Republicans in this section are active and ready for business.

Solon Chase, of Maine, spoke at the rink yesterday afternoon to a good audience, and in his Yankee and farmer's way made some excellent points. "Them steers" are headed in the right direction this year.

There was a good crowd present at the rink last evening, and they listened to a good speech from Mr. Stearns' standpoint. The pole raising was not a success, owing to the great weight of the bandanas on the top.

There will be a meeting of republicans of the 1st ward, at 7 o'clock p. m., Friday evening at Firemen's hall, to perfect an organization of a Harrison and Morton club. The second ward club are invited to join with them on this occasion.

Dead of parasites in the intestines of Mrs. Sylvia Isbell, wife of Augustus Isbell, on Sept. 3, 1888. Mrs. Isbell was born in Ann Arbor and was 38 years, 7 months old. She was married Oct. 21, 1848, and united with the M. E. church about 45 years ago.

The city ought to be sufficiently proud of the appearance of her court house lawn to see that hydrants are put in, hose purchased and the grass kept alive. It is not a pleasing prospect for strangers at least, to look upon the lawn in a dried up and shiftless condition.

The West Branch Times says "J. W. Knight of Ann Arbor, has taken this week. Mr. Knight has considerably money invested in this county and is interested in our growth and development. He is greatly pleased with the movement since his last visit two years ago."

The democrats have levied an assessment on each of their candidates on the county ticket of from $100 to $250, we are told. Why? Republicans in Cassville, N. Y. have levied a similar assessment from 1,000 to 1,500 democratic march in the county, while the democrats claim 2,000. What is the money for?

The tender of the Presbyterian pulpit of this city to Rev. J. H. Gieseler, of Pontiac, will probably be accepted by him, though there are certain formalities that must be gone through with before it can be accomplished. It is thought that he will commence the pastorate here about the middle of October.

Saturday, at about midnight, fire broke out in the barn of Col. Geo. H. Winslow, on West 5th st., and it was burned with contents, the only thing the "Col." succeeded in saving being his horse. There was some furniture stored in the barn, valued at $2000. Mr. Winslow seems to be quite unfortunate in losing property by theft or fire.

Last Sunday's Free Press had this item in reference to an Ann Arbor boy in whom many of our citizens feel an interest: "Julius V. Sawyer is attracting marked attention in Berlin musical circles by some really artistic piano playing. A correspondent of the American Musical Union writes from the front of students at the Scharwenka Conservatory."

Wm. Tate, living on E. Liberty st., near Col. Dean's, was found dead last Saturday night. A coroner's inquest was held Sunday and the result of their deliberations was that heart disease was the cause of death. Mr. Tate was one of our respected old citizens, having reached 75 years of age.

The "great big" city of Ann Arbor has a Harrison and Morton club of 250 members. That isn't a particularly large boom is it? Brother Corcoran—Republican Commercial.

The Commercial should be fair. It is the 6th ward that has a Harrison & Morton club of 60 members. The 3rd ward club of 110 members, the 1st ward one of 80 members, the 4th ward one of 75 members, and the 5th ward will have at least 50 names on its roll before the year is through. How is that for a boom? Satisfactory?

The thousands upon thousands of people of all classes and kinds, visiting and shaking hands with Gen. Harrison is something never heard of before in our political history. He has already shaken hands with more people, it is thought, than any other man in America. What is the matter with the "Capt. E. P. Allen Social Club" getting up an excursion to Indianapolis? Let us go and give Ben a hearty shake, ourselves.

Mr. Stearns commenced his speech at the rink last night by telling a story which brought into ridicule the bible, referring to the passage which tells of Jonah and the whale as "that old fish story." Now the people may not be so religious, but they almost without exception respect religion, and a man who scoffs and sneers at the bible will not find the favor he hopes to, after all. The sober, second thought steps in after the blackguardism dies out. Mr. Stearns may carry the effervescence of his audience, but he cannot carry their sober conviction.

In another part of the paper will be found a number of the first state fair in Michigan. Aside from the fair described by Mr. Raymond, Ann Arbor had another state fair. It was on or about 1850, and the then vacant grounds opposite the University, to the west, where now are the fine residences of Judge Conley, et al, was where it was located. Preparations were made this time for a fair, but the weather being so unfavorable for the three days of the exhibition the rains poured down in torrents, and a secret cessation. So it seems that the second state fair at Ann Arbor was no better than the first. In fact, Ann Arbor has not been as successful as Jackson, even, in that line.

The work of Secretary Wade in the buildings under the hands of the campus proves him to have been a busy man this summer.

The appointment of Prof. Henry C. Adams as statistician to the Inter-State Commerce Commission is a credit to the university as well as credit to the gentleman himself.

Dr. Angell tells us, will no longer be materially assisted by his duties at the university. Prof. Adams is already in Washington attending to the business assigned to him, which is that of receiving and assorting the volumes of statistics sent to the commission by the rail roads, and gather the proper results. As it needs a practical, practiced and skillful man to do this the appointment can be appreciated.

Prof. Albert A. Stanley, of Providence, R. I., was appointed Director of the School of Music, at a meeting of the executive committee of the Board of Regents held Monday evening. Mr. Stanley has been a prominent teacher of music for the past thirteen years in Providence, and organist of Grace church, the prominent Episcopal church of that city. He has held the office of president of the Music Teacher's National Association, and stands at the head of his profession.

During the four years he pursued his studies in Leipzig, he was in company with Prof. C. B. Cady, late director of the school. He will come on at once and begin work. This will be good news to musical people, many of whom are greatly interested in the department. Mr. Stanley has also been appointed director of the school of music.

Many old citizens remember the free trade era, when money was not to be had, and store trade or orders were the commercial paper, and want no more of it.

According to Stearns' speech the COURIER is one of "the issues of the campaign" and to him the principal one. However, we believe it represents the winning issues and propose to stand by it.

COUNTY FAIR NOTES.

Our county fair is forty years old next week. Fair and forty it will be.

Mills Bros. will have their state premium cattle at the county fair—all Holsteins.

Pleasant weather is the only thing needed for a grand success at the fair next week.

The officers of the fair have worked hard for and deserve success. Come in and help along the show.

D. Henning will exhibit 12 head of Herefords at the county fair, having already engaged stalls there.

R. N. Nowland and the Valentine Bros. all noted stockmen, will have an exhibit of their various breeds at the county fair.

Reduced rates on the M. C. from Detroit and Jackson, and on the T. E. A. A. from Toledo and Howell next week. Come to the fair and see the crowd.

President Braun, of the county fair desires to have it stated that the grand parade will be a success, in every way, and that all entering stock for premiums will be required to join in the procession.

The services of Frank W. Dickey, of Marshall, a horse man of considerable note in the county, will be secured to act as judge in the horse department of the county fair. Another good move.

Owing to a misunderstanding of dates, Col. J. H. Brigham, of Ohio, ex-master of the National Grange, will not speak at the county fair, but his place will be supplied by Gen. Geo. Spaulding, of Monroe, an eloquent speaker.

The county fair, which commences Tuesday and ends Friday, is something the people ought to be interested in. Have you not something that will help the exhibition? If you have, just bring it along and help make the fair boom.

The secretary of the fair has received applications from no less than fifteen men desiring to run games of chance on the fair grounds during fair week. To all of them the same answer was given: "No games of chance allowed on the grounds."

The Baptist Convention of the State of Michigan.

This body holds its Fifty-third Anniversary with the Baptist church in this city, commencing Tuesday evening, Oct. 15th, and closing Sunday evening, the 21st. It is much desired over the state, and in itself very desirable, that the different religious organizations should occasionally meet in Ann Arbor, making it their opportunity of becoming better acquainted with the state university. It is twenty-five years since the Baptist Convention met here, and fifty years since its first meeting in this city. The other denominational bodies have held their anniversaries here in recent years.

It will be a necessity very cordially met by all those who are interested in the entertaining of the delegates shall be shared in by families outside of the Baptist church. We understand that a committee will leave at our houses within a few days invitations for such co-operation, and we bespeak for them such thoughtful attention as the peculiar room-occupancy of our city makes especially necessary.
