WEST MAIDEN.

Darling, I have often thought
That Pd put my racket in,
But I've had to listen on
To the music of your chin.
Will you love me when I'm old.
And my locks are turned to gray?
Will you buzz into my ear
With your grand and flowery way?
When I weigh two hundred pounds
Will you keep your love for me?
Will you promise, 'cross your heart.
That you'll hold me on your knee?
Shall we be the same as now
After we have older grown?
When you're troubled with a boil
Will you be my ownest own?
When my hair is dapple gray
And I cannot make it curl,
Shall I be your solid pard,

Shall I be your solid pard, More so than the hired girl? Will you hover o'er my head

Will you hover o'er my head
When I'm going up the flume?
Will you weep and paw the ground
When I'm planted in the tomb?
Will you watch the lonely spot
Where your loved one's dust is laid,
With your shofgun cocked and primed,
For the student with his spade?
Will you shoot him full of holes
If he digs around my tomb?
Will you send him by express
To his long, eternal home?

OUR CHICAGO LETTER.

No. 1.

As we step from an incoming train on the Michigan Central in Chicago, we are greeted by a familiar sight. There, like the ghost of some past generation, rises he ruins of what was once the Michigan Central and Illinois Central depot, destroyed by the great fire of 1871, with the exception of being a little more weather-beaten and discolored by smoke, its walls have not changed, during the eighteen years that have passed. The majority of the shareholder's of these roads are New Yorker's, hence the dilapidated condition in which this building is premitted to remain. These New Yorkers with their accustomed generosity (?) would build a new depot provided the city would release to them valuable land now used as a park. The men who control these roads, are now engaged in ridicul-Chicago and calling it a provincial city, whereas the only provincial thing about it, is of their own creating. But strangers are not apt to be acquainted with these facts, hence express ther sur-prise that Chicago with all its boasted splendor should allow such a building to exist. Such was our dissapointment at finding it the same as we left it some 15 years ago, but as we traverse the streets we see, that even if the depot remains the same, a mighty transformation has really taken place, old familiar landmarks are buildings that years ago we had considered the finest in the west, are now mere pygmies by the side of the lofty sky scrapers towering far above every thing in their immediate vicinity. ings whose granduer would put to shame, the finest palaces we read of in the "Arabian Nights Entertainment." Our disappointment is turned to enthusiasm,

CHICAGO'S GROWTH. rapid, that if the reader has not visited it during the past two years an introduction will be necessary, indeed it is almost impossible for a resident, to keep up with its numerous changes, unless one's business takes, him around a good deal; buildings spring up, and are com-pleted as by magic, and we constantly hear expressions of surprise from people, who visit some familiar locality a ter a few months absence.

"ALL ROADS LEAD TO ROME." And all railroads lead to Chicago. Situated at the head of Lake Michigan, Chicago occupies a position, that makes it the commercial center of the United States, north, south, east and west must by the natural conditions of things pay tribute to the "Garden City," the second city in population, the first in energy, enterprise, and business capacity. The greatest railroad center in the United tates, with its great continental lines reaching on the one hand to Puget Sound, and on the other into Mexico, having their terminal thousands of miles apart, these with their numerous branches and feeders and the great trunk lines of the East, together with its water highways, means a great distributing center, such as no other city can or will

> . A MICHIGANDER'S MISTAKE. In connection with the World's Fair, a good story is told of a lady living on the south side, who recently mailed to a sister living in Michigan a lot of Herald's World Fair stickers, telling her to be sure and use them on all her correspondence. This sister lives in the little vil-lage of Ionia near the thriving city of Grand Ledge (Ionia citizens will forgive me if I tell the story as it is told here) and consequently hears but meagerly of what is going on in the great world outside. The weeks rolled by, the Chicago 1 dy heard nothing from Iona, thinking it strange she wrote again. Then came a letter explaining the long silence. The Michigan sister had received the stickers, but supposed they were to be used in licu of postage stamps. She had written four letters and posted a sticker in the stamp corner of each envelope, and she had begun to wonder why the answers did not arrive, when the village post-master called on her with the missing

Chicago is to be congratulated on her cumalated in Chicago, and Chicago institutions got the bulk of it, $1,500,000 is to be used for a free public library, for the masses, to help educate and elevate those who are unable to assist themselves. Besides almost every charitable institution in the city was richly provided for. By so doing he has left a monument more asting and enduring, than one of metal or stone could possibly be. A man whose memory win be therisned in the whose memory will be calculated in the hearts of the people for many long years. One class of people have expressed their disapproval of this good man. The anarchists at one of their Sunday meetings did nothing but snarl and insult the memory of the man whose bequests were largely for their benefit. The question naturally arises: what do these ungrate ful creatures want, anyway? John Crerar left thousands of dollars to the nanuel training school that their children might be taught the industrial arts, thousands of dollars for poor and friendless children, for poor and friendless old men and women, thousands of dollars for hospitals, where sick and injured poor may be properly taken care of. Thous-ands for training schools, where nurses may be trained to wait on the sick. Is this the reason they insult his memory, or is it because they have not the grati-

Any farmer would be bound to feel flattered, could he have stepped into the exposition building last week, and seen the great crowds of city people shell out their half dollars for the sake of gazing at the many attractions at the Fat Stock Show. M. Apostoloff elected to study at Marseilles. There a representative of Pall Mall Gazette called upon him. M. Apostoloff is tall and dark, his face bespeaks energy and great determination. He is eight-and-twenty.

"Is it true" esked our representative

"Is it true," asked our representative, "that you expect to perform the voyage from here to Algiers in four hours?" "Certainly," replied M. Apostoloff. "My boat will travel 100 knots an hour, that is to say five times quicker than the fastest steamer. I have applied to navigation the spiral principle, that is all."

"But what is the spiral principle?"
"It is somewhat difficult to put into words. You know that it takes longer to hammer a nail into the wall than to screw it in. Again, in the old days the ball from a gun went thus — straight at its object and hit perhaps at a hundred yards. Now the ball is twisted out and goes immensely quicker and much further. Still another reply. Very good. But why does a serpent swim?" and M. Apostoloff smiled triumphantly. "You do not know? Perhaps you did not even know that he who tempted our first mother swam at all. Yet a serpent in the water goes quicker along than the fastest fish."

"What suggested this idea to you?"
When I was quite a young fellow my regument was ordered to S. When I was quite a young fellow my reg-iment was ordered to Samara, where a bridge was being built over the river.

The district is singularly bereft of stones and as they were absolutely necessary in making the foundations of the bridge, the master called on her with the missing letters and said he must have eight cents or four stamps, before they could be forwarded. Then she learned that red warded. Then she learned that red large tree trunk. One end of the rope large tree trunk. Sometimes very large stones were brought up in this manner. This the spiral principle for themselves! Sim-

"Then I suppose you began trying experiments?" "Just so. I tried many experiments, wishing also to discover some new motor to drive my boat along. But the great principle of the thing lay

"But how can you apply the pencil and thread plan to a boat?" "Thus. My boat to look as it is not unlike a long, rather pointed, egg in shape, an egg around which has been twisted a piece of string. It will revolve rapidly; in fact, the difference between the speed of my boat and the modern steamer will be-to quote myself again-the differ-ence between a blunt nail driven into the wall and a nall screwed in. You are wondering where the passengers will go. Well, inside, for this egg-shaped form is only an outside shell. Inside, fastened securely to the beam running through it, is an inner shell, cabin, etc., which remains absolutely steady as if on land. You will note that the rudder is both ndicular and horizontal. This enables the steerer to direct the boat up or down under the water, a thing the usual torpedo boat cannot do. This is, roughly speaking, a torpedo boat-half in and half out of the water. My Bateau Plongeur will remain habitually under water. "Of what material will your Plongeur be made?" "Of the strongest steel, to enable it to resist the great pressure of the water above it. On the other hand, the boat will be very light, so light indeed that in case of and injury to the machinery, etc., there will be no danger, for it will of itself rise to the surface of the

"How will the inhabitants of your little craft breathe?" "Every thirty-eight hours it must come up for a long deep breath," answered M. Apostoloff, smiling. "Practically, the only danger we have to fear is the outer shell or corps tournant getting smeahed either by we tournant, getting smashed, either by run-ning on to a rock or encountering a whale. Still, a powerful electric light will shine through a belt of thick glass running around the boat, and will illu-"And will the Plongeur always remain under water?" "No, not necessarily so; but if it is half out of the water the speed of the corps tournant will be reduced by nearly half, the boat will proceed at a rate of eighty knots an hour, instead of scuttling along at 120 knots an hour.' "Your invention will be chiefly useful for the purposes of maritime warfare." "I wish more to utilize my discovery for

"Have you ever actually tried it yourself in water?" "Yes. Some time ago in Russia, on the Volga. I was not rich, so I built my boat of tin, rather a foolhardy proceeding. A steamer containing a party of my friends started to race In a few minutes I had rushed far beyond it, and in fact dissappeared en-tirely from their sight. 'Alas!' cried they, 'Poor Apostoloff has gone to the bottom.' But after some time they came up to me. I was resting comfortably on the bank. Great, as you may suppose, was their joy and relief. But the extreme rapidity with which my boat had gone caused the tin, of which it was

"And when will you have your craft in working order?" "By January. It will be twenty-eight metres long and about three and one-half metres through in the thickest part. There will be room for twenty-five persons. My first voyage will be to Toulon and back in fifty minutes; my next trip will be an attempt to go to Algiers and back in eight hours. I now have over fifty applications from people anxious to go on the trial trip."
"Now, M. Apostoloff, we come to what is of course an important item. Where your motive power come from?" "Ah, that is my secret. I have discovered a new electric motor which cannot unluckily be patented; that is why I am keeping it to myself as long as I can. Soon it will become common property, but no one can steal from me my corps tournant," he added cheerfully, "and without it they can never hope to attain one-third of my speed."

"And what will be the relative cost of your Bateau Plongeur in comparison to the ordinary torpedo boat?" "Forty per cent cheaper, as far as the cost of con-struction is concerned, and 34 per cont cheaper in actual working expense. Thus the 100f, worth of coal which goes to supply the torpedo boat will be re-placed by 6f, worth of my new motive force! In fact there will be practically no working expenses after the first in-stallation."

stallation."

"You can at least tell me one thing about your new motive power. Will it also supply the light?" "Yes, it will."

"Have you ever thought of seriously adapting your Bateau Plongeur to passenger traffic?" "Certainly. Think what it will be for a man of business to get to New York in twenty-six hours. Those who do not like the idea of being inside the shell will have to have a kind inside the shell will have to have a kin of platform attached to the extremities of

Messrs. Boardman & Gray, Gentlemen:—I take pleasure in saying that the Boardman & Gray urchased from your agent here has given great satisfaction. The tone action and tone sustaining quality are admirable. I think it peculiarly delightful as an accompaniment to the voice, there is a certain quality of richness, which is wonderfully helpful in prolonged tones. It requires less frequent cuning than any plane I have known and I think few planes equal it. Yours respectfully,

These novel entertainments were heartily enjoyed by the au-d enc. Occasionally however these wild forses got the better of the cow boys. The other night, one had been lassoed, thrown and blindfolded, the excited animal had no sooner regained his feet than he made a desperate plunge and broke away from his tormentors. While blindfolded he dashed into the fence and went through it, the crowd scattered in every but a second high fence stopped his progress, and the cow boys finally tangled him up in ropes, and in a few minutes Bob Campbell the most skillful and daring of the boys was rid-ing the wild pony around the ring. ### PROTECTION VINDICATED BY EX-PERIENCE.

Listening to the denunciations of the policy of protection to home industries, so persistently employed by Free-Trade advocates, the unposted voter might readily infer that Protection was a mere experiment, unsanctioned by practical statesmen of other countries, and without warrant in the experience of nations older than ours.

The fact is, England enforced the most rigid Protection legislation known to history during a period of four hundred years, and changed her policy but forty yeart ago, when, confronted with the fact that there were more people on her little Island than could be fed from its products, she believed herself strong enough to compel other nations to adopt a policy promised that in twenty years all the persistently worked in colleges, in commerce and through the press, England is to-day seemingly as far from the fulfillment of her ambition to dictate the tariffs of other nations as she was forty years ago. All the other leading governments wish, in this case, is father to the news. industries of their people, some of them (notably Germany) adding largely to their import duties in recent years.

While the overwhelming majority of statesmen throughout the world are thus vindicating the wisdom of Protection by engrafting it into the laws of their governments, it is fashionable for theorists without knowledge of government beof a sound national policy?

The change from the non-partisan to the partisan basis was not favor. India, China and Japan included will be ably received by many of the local unions and as a consequence there has been products. much discussion and turmoil within their ranks ever since. The climax was reached when the Iowa delegation and others withdrew from the recent convention in Chicago, and called a meeting of the non-partisan members immediately after which resulted in the appointment of a provisional committee to make arrangements for a reorganization. This committee of which Mrs. Ellen J. Phinney of Cleveland, O., is chairman and Mrs. Ellen W. Watson, of Pittsburg, Pa., is secretary has just issued its call for a convention to be held on or about Jan. uary 22, at Cleveland, O., for which it gives the following reason:

gives the following reason:

First—We believe the political policy of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union to be wrong in principle, contrary to the letter and spirit of the original constitution, illogical in its reasonings, inconsistent in its conclusions, and exceeding detrimental to the cause of temperance.

Second—We believe that the work of Christian temperance stands above and beyond the lines of party or sect, and we cannot follow the lead of the national in pledging our influence to any party. We must be tree to call on the best men of all parties for the aid we need and must have, to make our work a success. We must have the influence of the press of the nations of ar as that influence is on the side of God and humanity, irrespective of party lines. We must range under our banners the Christian temperance women of all sections of our nation, which cannot be done by an organization whose sympathies and support are piedged to a party.

Third—An increasingly large number of sympathies and support are piedged to a party.

Third—An increasingly large number of women who have contributed money, influence, and years of hard self-denying labor to build up the National W. C. T. U., feel that their usefulness is crippled and their consistency questioned by the equivocal policy of the national, which avows its allegiance to, and boldly champions the cause of a political party, while at the same time it denies its partisanship.

Fourth—The refusal of the National Union Fourth—The refusal of the National Union, by an overwhelming majority, to adopt a not-partisian amendment to its constitution makes it imperative for honest non-partisan women to let the world understand that they will no longer remain in this anomalous position, being committed by resolutions and so-called tests of loyalty to partisan action in the national, while disavowing the same in the field; and since the old organization will not right the wrongs that have resulted from the unwise and unjust policy, but show determination to stamp out all honest doubts in the minds of women in the ranks and treat with unveiled contemptal who differ from the msjority in regard to methods of work, dissenters must quietly yield or withdraw in company with those of like faith and pursue the course that seems right and wise.

Fifth—A demand is also growing for a national temperance society less complex in its aims and more simple in its government, which will work in its organized capacity for such objects only as have a direct bearing upon the temperance reform.

Sixth—The unchristian treatment accorded to Christian women, from year to year, who dare to utter sentiments in these national assemblies not in harmony with their chosen policy emphasizes the need of another organization.

Seventh—The increasing impossibility of in a measure at least the lamentable loss tendency to dethrone gun-powder and of moral power that has resulted from mark a great era of change in modern the partisan attitude of the National W. warfare. C. T. U.

CRAIG-Y-NOS CASTLE, YSTRADGYNLAIS, (SWANSEA VALLEY)

SOUTH WALES. MESSRS. HAINES BROS. :- The Upright Piano-forte you shipped to me has arrived in perfect condition at the Castle, and I must say I never heard one with such lovely tones. Each time that I use it I am the more surprised and pleased with it. Until I became acquainted with your instruments I believed it an impossibility to find such pure quality and volume of tone in any instrument but the Concert Grand. Assuring you of my delight with my Piano, and with sentiments of distinguished regard, believe me, Your sincere friend, ADELINA PATTI.

Do you consider PATTI a Judge?

MESSRS. HAINES BROS.: - The Piano-forte of your make used at my concert last night, is the most admirable instrument I have ever seen. I was especially pleased with its marvelous sustaining and carrying quality, as well as with the delicacy and evenness of its action, which I was afforded a complete opportunity of testing in accompanying myself during the concert.

Very sincerely yours,

Christine Nilsson.

Do you consider NILSSON a Judge?

Messes. Haines Bros.:—I beg to acknowledge receipt of the invoice of the magnificient Upright of your make that I selected, and herewith enclose shipping directions. Neither in Europe nor America have I seen an Upright that equalled yours in pure singing quality and great volume of tone, or elasticity and evenness of action. It will have constant use in the salon of my villa at Bologna. Believe me, with much respect, Sincerely your friend,

ETELKA GERSTER.

Do you consider GERSTER a Judge?

MESSRS. HAINES BROS., N. Y. Gentlemen: - Permit me to congratulate you on your great success in the front rank of American manufacturers, who, beyond question, make the best Piano-fortes in the world. I am especially pleased with your Upright. It is superfor in quality of tone and evenness of acaction to any instrument of this style I have ever seen, and fully deserves all the praises that can be sounded in its favor. Sincerly yours,
CLARA LOUISE KELLOGG.

MR. JULIUS V. SEYLER, Son of Adam D. Seyler. Nov. 10, 1889.

MR. LEW H. CLEMENT, Dear Sir:-My opinion of the Haines Piano? It is one of the best instruments made. I say it unhesitatingly. In judging an instrument, three things are considered: The tone, action and wearing qualities. The tone of the Haines Piano is remarkably sweet, the action well tempered and the wearing qualities as good as any in the market. Yours respectfully,

JULIUS V. SEYLER.

Read what the Am. Musician, New York, has to say of Mr. Seyler's ability: "Julius V. Seyler has met with most enthusiastic reception whenever he has appeared, since his return from Berlin, where he spent two years under Prof. X. Scharwenka. His first concert was at the Detroit Opera House, Oct. 1st. He played the F minor Fantasia, by Chopin, a group of pieces by the Scharwenka Bros., and the 12th Rhapsodie Hungroise, by Listz. His playing is virile, functious and consumately artistic and his success immediate and pronounced. He has since played at Ann Arbor, under the auspices of Prof. A. A. Stanley, of the U. of M., and at Ypsilanti, under the auspices of Prof. E. H. Pease, of the State Normal School. At both places his reception fairly amounted to an ovation."

(Am. Musician, Nov. 2, 1889.) I think you will acknowledge that Mr. Seyler is competent to judge on the merits of a piano and knows what he is talking

Our genial County Clerk is satisfied.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Dec. 16, 1889.

MR. LEW H. CLEMENT, Dear Sir:—The Haines Bros. Piano we bought of you some months ago, is wholly satisfactory to us and a source of continual favorable comment from our friends. If any one wants to know what we think of it, say anything in its praise, and you can't put it too Yours,

FRED A. HOWLETT.

Haines Bros. were established in 1851 by Mr. Napoleon I. Haines, who is still actively at work in his new factory, erected about one year ago, and which is considered by every piano manufacturer in New York City to be one of the largest and best appointed factories in America. Small dealers, who sell inferior instruments, and those but little known in the market endeavor to claim that testimonials from prominent artists mean nothing; that they are all purchased and can be obtained for any piano by paying for them. We will defy any piano maker or any dealer to show us a testimonial equal to the above for any instrument whatever which does not stand among the trade as a first-class instrument, among which are Steinway, Knabe, Haines Bros., and others of equal merit. A first-class piano can get first-class testimonials from first-class artists, but no artist will lower themselves in the estimation of musical people by giving testimonials for inferior instruments.

If you desire to know more of these standard instruments, we shall be glad to show them to you and furnish you further testimonials, catalogues and price lists.

WHAT IS

SCROFULA It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, pro duces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which developes ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or the many other manifesta tions usually ascribed to "humors;" which fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has

Cured by Cuticura.

If I had known of the CUTICURA REMEDI twenty-eight years ago it would have savid a $200.00 (two hundred dollars) and an immen amount of suffering. My disease (psoriasis) con menced on my head in a spot not larger than a cer menced on my head in a spot not age; the speed rapidly all over my body and got und my nalls. The reales would drop off of me all time, and my suffering was endless and withor relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt it to have this disease over again. I am a poor mi but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the speed of but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, some ringworm, pso riasis, etc. I took... and... Sarsaparilla over one year and a half, but no cure. I went to two o three doctors, and no cure. I cannot praise the CUTICURA REMEDIES too much. They have mad my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's All I used of them were these bexes of CUTICURA and three bottles of CUTICURA SOAP. If you have had been here and said you would have cured ms for $200.00, you would have had the money. I looked like the picture in your book of is riasis (pictur number two, "How to Cure Skin Diseases"), bu now I im as clear as any person ever was now I im as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and legs to scratch once in a while, but to no purpose. I am all well. I scratched twenty-eight years, and it got to be a kind of second nature to me. I thank you a thon-sandtimes.

How a Little Monkey Took the Conceit Out of a Prize-Fighter.

In the old St. Louis museum we had, Sun. He was a solid chunk of a fellow, good-tempered and a great favorite. He had one peculiarity, which we had to cater to. He took short naps twice a day, and if aroused before his time he was a solid chunk of a fellow, good-tempered and a great favorite. He had one peculiarity, which we had to cater to. He took short naps twice a day, and if aroused before his time he was a solid chunk of a fellow, good-tempered and a great favorite. He had one peculiarity, which we had to cater to. and if aroused before his time he was as ugly as sin all the rest of the day. We had him dressed up as a little boy, and when the time came to take his nap he crept into an old-fashioned cradle and the fat woman generally rocked him to sleep. That very thing was quite a draw, and plenty of people came in soley to see the baboon rocked to slumber.

One day, soon after Dick had closed his eyes, a half-drunken chap entered the place and created considerable disturbance. He went by the name of Awful Pete and was a hard slugger. I tried to reason with him and get him out, but he unfortunately caught sight of the sleeping baboon and at once demanded that the animal be aroused and put through his tricks. I sought to explain, but he wouldn't have it, saying:

"I paid to see the bab, and I'm going to see him or bust the b'iler!"

"But if you wake him he'il fight."
"Then I'll wring his neck!"
Before I could stop him he dodged under the rope and lifted Dick out of the cradle. The animal woke up and took in the situation in about the tenth part in the situation in about the tenth part of a second, and then he fastened his hands into Pete's hair, got a grip with Pete roared and whooped and pranced around in pain and terror, and the bab pulled handfuls of hair from his head, and bit and scratched like a wildcat. When we finally got him off that slugger was a sight to behold, and had to be taken to the hospital at once. Two hours after his wounds had been dressed

I went to see him, and as soon as I spoke to him he began crying and asked: "Was it a baboon that did this?" "Yes." "Big as a lion?" "Oh, no. He weighs about twenty-six ounds. Why do you weep?" "Hadn't I orter weep?" he savagely demanded, as the tears came afresh. "I've had thirteen fights and knocked my # downed by a weazen faced monkey in one round has broke me all up."

He Got His Answer.

A fast young man decided to make a formal offer of his hand and heart,—all he was worth. He cautiously prefaced his declarations with a few questions Did she love him well enough to live in a cottage with him? Was she a good cook? Du she think it a wife's duty to make home happy? Would she consult his tastes and wishes concerning her associates and pursuits in life? Could she make her own clothes? etc. The young lady said that before she answered his questions she would tell him of some negative virtues she possessed: She never drank, smoked or chewed; never owed s think I came over from Ireland in a coal bill to laundress or tailor; never staid out all night playing billiards; never lounged on street corners and ogled giddy girls; never "stood in" with the boys for cigars and wine suppers. "Now," said she, rising indignantly, "I am assured that you do all these things, and yet you expect all the virtues in me, while you do not possess any yourself. I can never be your wife;" and she bowed him out, and left him on the doorstep a wiser man. -Ex. A Scrap of Paper Saves Her Life.
