A DARING SCHEM.

An Attempt to Break Jail Frustrated by Having a Good Jail.

Tuesday morning Sheriff Dwyer got up very early because of the illness of one of his children.

Investigation developed the fact that during the night some expert among the prisoners had done what it was thought an impossible thing to do.

In the southwest corner of the corridor surrounding the cage a pipe had been laid to connect with the jail sewer.

They used a bar of iron broken off of the bath tub to dig with. The wire used had been passed in to the prisoners by some one, for it was new, and no wire is used about the jail.

Besides two pieces of wire and the bar of iron, Sheriff Dwyer found in their possession two bills, made of an old map handle, with which they hoped to fight their way to liberty.

The plan was a bold one and ingeniously worked, and the only thing that saved a wholesale escape of prisoners was the fact that we have an excellent jail, well made.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

"For free trade everything. For free men nothing." Democratic doctrine.

The democrats should endorse Prohibition Partridge, by all means. He is a hummer!

Cardinal John Henry Newman, of London, England, died Sunday last, the 10th inst.

There are about 100 congressional districts in the United States where few but democrats are allowed to vote.

The wife of H. B. Rowison, of the Hillsdale Standard, died Tuesday evening after a protracted illness.

At the Lenawee county convention held last Saturday, it is understood that Turner has 16 and possibly 18 of the delegates for governor.

If you could make anything but robbery out of free trade, it would be a charity to the public to show how it can be done.

The latest democratic candidate for the presidency is Senator Brice of New York, representing Ohio in the U. S. Senate.

Will our democratic contemporaries please tell us of just one right of a citizen of the United States that is abridged or in any way interfered with by the Federal election bill?

The people of New York City have allowed horse stables to be built near the tomb of Gen. Grant.

The railroad bosses paid the knights to work and set and support their families; the knights pay the new houses and maintain them in luxury for directing them to the life and stars.

RAPID TRANSIT!

An Electric Road to be Built Between Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti.

An electric railway connecting the cities of Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti certainly looks like one of the practical enterprises of the near future.

Richard Bibbe, highway commissioner for Ann Arbor town; Fred Staebler, holding the same office for Pittsfield, and Richard Fletcher for Ypsilanti, together with Supervisor Case of Pittsfield and Supervisor Hunter of Ypsilanti, were all present, together with many other residents on the proposed line.

H. D. Platt had circulated a paper east of his residence and secured the names of every property owner except one man having a four rods frontage. Wm. Campbell had taken west of that point and made a clean sweep of it, thus securing the consent of all property owners.

The road is to be constructed by the Haines Bros., of Kinderhook, N. Y., who desire to build it at their own expense, and do not ask any one to take stock. They were here some two weeks ago and looked over the different roads leading to Ypsilanti, and selected the south road as the one most likely to be built up and become paying, and it is along the line of this road that the right of way will be obtained.

The prospect now is that work will be begun within a short time, and that before winter sets in there will be cars running between these sister cities.

Ypsilanti, Aug. 12, 1890.

Another Pioneer Gone.

On Tuesday morning at about 2 1/2 o'clock the life of Hanson Sessions passed away.

The deceased was born in New York in 1813, and received his early education at Cazenovia Seminary, in that state.

In 1837 Mr. Sessions gave up active life on the farm and removed to this city here he has lived ever since in retirement.

The children are Chas. Sessions, of Kansas, Oceans O., Hanson Sessions, of Meigs, Kansas, Harriet Draper, of Nebraska, Nebraska, wife of Judge Draper, and Miss Mary Sessions of this city.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow, Thursday afternoon, from his late residence No. 12 S. Fifth ave.

Mrs. L. L. James and family, Dr. E. F. Chase and family, M. E. Sill and family, and C. H. Stebbins and family, all of Dexter, go to-day to Base Lake for an engagement of two weeks.

Paris S. Banfield is at Bay City this week, and as commander of Ann Arbor Tent No. 296, of this city, the banner tent of the state, is representing the same at the grand camp now in session there. Rev. F. T. Morris, of the Congregational church, Dexter, left Tuesday for the upper peninsula, to be absent three weeks. During the time he will have charge of a teachers' Institute at Ishpeming.

Prof. W. H. Hawkes, for three years superintendent of Birmingham schools, was tendered a position at Flint and Howell. He accepts it as a superintendent of this city.

Major Soule, the genial treasurer of the University, is still at Ypsilanti fighting the rheumatism with the curative waters of that place, and doing it successfully, too. The attack prevented him from attending the great cantonment at Chicago last week, and has also saved the waters in and about Topinabee from being denuded of fish this summer.

Gov. Felch has returned from the upper peninsula and reports an excellent and enjoyable trip. The gold mines at Ishpeming are being developed in the Ropes mine interests to make a dividend next January. The governor saw a specimen of gold bearing rock from a new mine which he said surpassed in value any he ever saw in California.

The regular boarders at the county house now number 78. The month of August has five Fridays—Oh! how unlucky!—five Saturdays and five Sundays.

Eloy J. Lane, of Ypsilanti, applies for a divorce from Henry C. Lane, alleging neglect to support.

Quite a large number of our citizens went to Whitmore Lake to-day to attend the Catholic picnic.

The bright and attractive faces of the school teachers upon our streets this week are pleasant to look upon during the dull vacation season.

Lehman & Cavanaugh will be found up stairs over the temporary quarters of the F. & M. Bank, until their new offices shall be ready for them.

Wm. Wagner's kitchen was visited by a tramp last Saturday, who made a square meal of what he found there, but did not succeed in getting into the house any farther.

The old fruit drying building formerly the property of E. J. Knowlton, is now on wheels on Fuller st., bound for the lot on Detroit street owned by the D. De Forest estate.

Editor Allen, of the Dexter Leader, has sold his fast trotter, and has bought a "side-wheeler," pacer, which takes no other horse's dust in this part of the country. So we are told.

A hay-day party of young folks, boys and girls, went through the streets yesterday tooting dinner horns and having a high old time generally. They were seated on two loads of hay and bound for the lake.

John Cromie had an examination before Justice Pond Monday on the charge of stealing a horse of George McCormick of Salem, and was bound over for trial at the October term of court. In default of bail he went to jail.

A new building is being erected at the electric light works, in which the street railway company are to place their engine and dynamo. It is located upon the south side of the old building so that steam connections can be made from their boiler room.

The Sunday School excursion netted $100, which will be divided among the five Protestant churches and the Ladies' Charitable Union. It is proposed by some to put the entire amount in fund to pay the fare of poor children who can't pay even the 50 cents for their ride. A worthy object.

Rev. A. F. Bourne having resigned as superintendent of the M. E. Sunday School, Mr. W. J. Booth has been chosen to complete the year. H. M. Frost having resigned the assistant superintendency, Mr. E. C. Warriner has been selected to fill the vacancy. Prof. Frost goes to Saginaw.

Sid Millard and Osgood Ingalls are getting out a directory containing a list of all boarding houses in the city and also of all the rooms to rent. It will contain a map of the city and will be a book of fifty pages, containing valuable information for students especially, and will be distributed to strangers coming into the city gratis.

Miss Nellie Garrigues of this city, lit. '88, who has been employed in the office of Dr. Angell for the past two years, has received an appointment to the chair of English literature in the high school at Washington, D. C. Miss Garrigues expects to publish a novel soon entitled, "How the Prince Found his Heart."

For many friends in this city will tender their congratulations upon her success and good fortune.

The largest Teachers' Institute that has ever been held in Washtenaw County is now in session at the high school building, there being registered yesterday 147 teachers. Prof. Hinsdale of the University, and Prof. Goodwin of the State Normal school, are instructors. The success of the Institute is largely due to the secretary of the board of school examiners, M. J. Cavanaugh, who has been untiring in interesting the teachers of the county in the good work. He is very much interested in the schools of this county, and his energies are directed early and late toward making them a success.

Yesterday water came ploughing out of the south embankment of the overhead bridge crossing the M. C. R. R. tracks on Beakes st., and surprised people of that vicinity by its force and power, digging a hole in the paved embankment as large as a store front. The outpouring was caused by a break in the water mains leading to the 5th ward, and just at this place buried about fifteen feet deep, making it a very bad place to get at.

Consequence of this break water has been shut off from Depot street and the 5th ward, making wells and cisterns in that section in good demand. At the fire department the boys have got the steamer ready for an emergency, and in case of fire in the shut off section, they will be prepared for business. Workmen are engaged in finding the broken pipe, and it will be prepared as soon as possible. The pressure on the pipes at this point is about 95 lbs.
