ABOUT GOOD WHEELING.

The Daily Times of last Friday contained this article upon the road question that should set some of the people referred to, and those interested in the matter, to thinking:

"Both the democratic and republican parties of Michigan can help the people of the state by selecting for their candidates for the legislature this fall, men who are in favor of enacting such laws as will compel the building of good wagon roads. That should be one of the requirements demanded of every candidate for the legislature.

"Our highways are of far more importance to the people of Michigan to-day than is the question whether Harrison or Cleveland shall be the next president.

"In traveling about the country the neglect of the roadways is one of the most remarkable things to be noticed.

"Our farmers not only neglect the highways, but they have taken to fencing them in.

"Roads that originally were three rods wide have been fenced in by farmers in many places until there is scarcely room for two teams to pass. This species of theft is winked at and allowed to go on, but it is stealing, just the same as taking a neighbor's horse or his grain would be. And it is theft that will have to be put a stop to in some way or serious consequences will follow.

"Every person who has fenced in any portion of a roadway ought to be compelled to place his fence back where it belongs. The law in this state explicitly defines the width of all public highways, and the legal width is none too wide.

"The greed of men for more land makes them dishonest, and the law makers should compel them to improve these public highways so that they and the public may be benefited.

"A good gravelled road passing any farm enhances the value of that farm. It not only pays for itself in the increased value of the property along which it passes but also in the service to the very men who allow themselves to be deprived of its enjoyment every year by declining to take hold and help effect the change.

"There ought to be one or more road commissioners in every county, appointed by the governor, (so as to be out of the clutches of the enemies of good roads) into whose keeping shall be placed all the highways and bridges of the county. Then the legislature should authorize every county to bond itself to a certain amount for the benefit of the road fund, and then build its public highways so that they will last for all time to come.

"Give us legislators pledged to road improvement."

The republican state ticket is one of the kind that the party feels like fighting for.

If Adlai would only change his name to Adelaide, it would be more gettable and quite as appropriate.

The republican party has no apologies to make to the people for any of its past deeds. How about our friends the enemy?

For rank inefficiency and a record for doing nothing, the first session of the 52d congress stands at the head of all others.

The anarchist in this country is like a devil let loose in Heaven. Not only entirely out of place but liable to be sent to the bottomless pit.

After all, the question at Homestead seems to be, "Shall the owners of the works control the business, or shall those in their employ control it?"

The free trade anthracite coal combine proposes to make the price of coal so high that it will take all a man's summer wages to keep from freezing to death next winter.

Some lunatic has sent Candidate Weaver a silver pen with which he is to sign the silver bill when he becomes president. Some people have no conception of the lapse of time.

The platform of the republican party in this state demands that the members of the legislature shall be prohibited from receiving passes from railroads. Who will say that it is not a just demand?

The new war ship Columbia is rightly named. It is to be the gem of the ocean, and the pride of old Neptune. At any rate Columbia is a far better name than the Pirate which was at first proposed.

The tariff has nothing to do with petroleum or with hard coal, and yet these two household necessities, that enjoy all the beauties of free trade represent two of the greatest monopolies in the world to-day.

Representative Bankhead, of Alabama, moved to give the World's Fair $5 instead of $5,000,000. The gentleman is wrongly named. He is a Bullhead, lacking in both good sense and patriotism.

Every Michigan member of congress voted for the World's Fair appropriation except Representative Gorman, of this district. His name does not appear in either list. Where was he when this important vote was taken?

The opposition to the World's Fair appropriation in the lower house of congress comes almost without exception from the southern members. They evidently do not feel that Columbus did a good thing when he discovered America.

Cleveland is having a hard time of it. In order to carry New York he must have the votes of the mugwumps and of Tammany also. How to hold both and still retain the respect of the masses is a greater puzzle than was the ancient 13-14-15.

The calling together of the legislature to reappoint the legislative districts is a useless expense of $1,000 a day for the tax-payers of Michigan to meet. Gov. Winans should have allowed his own good judgment to have prevailed in that matter.

It is quite amusing to hear the Canadian papers bluster over American retaliation. That impudent little colony has taken advantage of Uncle Sam's good nature so long that she deems it a right. She better cool off a little before Mamma Vic calls her down.

There is a rumor afloat that Senator Hill, of New York, regrets his rashness in once asserting: "I am a Democrat." He has learned caution and wisdom in the eye-teeth cutting school of experience. David is not as fresh now as he used to be. In fact David is silent as the Sphinx.

Looking at the matter from an unbiased standpoint, we believe the republicans made no mistake in nominating Mr. Rich—Dexter News.

The News is right. The people demanded the nomination of Mr. Rich, and the republican party did not propose to have its will thwarted as it was two years ago. The wire pullers were left in the lurch this time.

Mr. O'Donnell, the leader of the strikers at Homestead, owns a good ten room house, on a good city lot—at a moderate estimate worth $3,000—on which is a lawn and flower garden, and during the present troubles, even when he is out of employment, he sends his wife to the seashore for the season. He cannot be terribly ground down by the iron heel of capital, can he?

Holman, of Indiana, in opposing the World's Fair appropriation makes a mistake. In many ways Mr. Holman has been a balance wheel to his party, and has prevented them from going into foolish expenditures, but patriotism calls for this appropriation, and the American people can well afford it. Mr. Holman should not allow himself to be used by the southern congressmen in this instance.

The intense popularity of Germany's greatest statesman Prince Bismarck, makes the young Kaiser look through green eyes of jealousy. Everywhere the prince goes he is received with the greatest evidences of the love that is in the hearts of the German people for him. Emperor William should study French history and learn the fate of Louis when he cast aside Richelieu for younger advisers with less brains.

Benjamin Harrison has never been defeated. Grover Cleveland has been defeated.

Recorder Smyth, of New York City, has sent up one Charles Reilly, an anarchist, to prison for life on a charge of murdering a non-union longshoreman.

The republican party believes in an honest dollar worth one hundred cents. It does not believe in a cheap dollar for the laborer and a dear dollar for the capitalist.

Candidate Adlai Stevenson, of Illinois, is becoming more tired than ever. He toured through the east seeking intense enthusiasm due a candidate, but couldn't find it.

It should be noted that the platform of the republicans in this state demands short sessions of legislature, and that after 100 days the pay of every member be stopped. Good.

The republicans of Michigan can smile a smile of satisfaction as they drop their ballot containing names for state officers into the box next November. It is a clean and able one.

A cleaner or better set of men were never presented to the people by a party than the republicans present to the voters of Michigan this fall for state officers. And they will certainly be elected.

It took $6,000 to dine and wine Cleveland and Stevenson upon the occasion of the "official notification" of their nomination in New York recently. That is simply a specimen of the boasted "Jeffersonian simplicity" of these candidates.

The appointment of George Shiras, Jr. of Pennsylvania as justice of the U. S. supreme court in place of the late Judge Bradley, is another one of the president's excellent appointments. The senate did wisely in confirming the appointment.

Where was Representative Gorman when the vote was taken upon the World's Fair appropriation? He was present when the vote was taken upon the silver bill, and in the face of the plank adopted by his own party, voted for free silver.

Ex-Speaker Thos. B. Reed has been renominated by the republicans of the first congressional district of Maine. It almost makes one feel as if he would like to live down east long enough to cast a ballot for that gallant man from Maine.

The New York Press says that it costs the saloons of New York City $500,000 to replace their broken glasses. It costs a great deal more to replace the broken heads and hearts that the saloons are responsible for—Iowa State Register.

If you want to see a really fine bit of acting, including the best simulation of nervous terror ever seen in American theatricals, just step up behind a democratic patriot and in a hoarse, tragic voice, whisper "Force bill" at him. The effect is worth going miles to see.—N. Y. Press.

This is a free trade platform, as nearly as it is possible to make one with any customs duties left in it at all. It declares that protection is not only a fraud, but is entirely unconstitutional; the execution of this platform would require a prompt and powerful revision of the present tariff in order that protection might be eliminated.—N. Y. Sun.

The Wayne Review touches a point that needs touching in this item: "A leading daily paper, speaking of the appointment of two men to responsible positions, goes into details regarding their foreign birth and the relationship they trace to the royal crowned heads, noblemen, etc., of Europe, as if such stuff gave great weight and reflected great credit in their selection. The term American, it would seem, has become obsolete and only fit to bring out on pioneer meeting occasions."

The scale of wages at Homestead, and the compensation offered the strikers has been published in papers all over the world, and the skilled workmen in the iron industries of England, Wales and Germany are as much astonished as was the southern democratic representative sent to Homestead to investigate the difficulty in the interests of the democratic party. He exclaimed in astonishment: "I never heard of such wages being paid to workmen!" The foreign laborers look upon Homestead as a silver mine, and it must not astonish our people if many of them leave their homes and seek to better their fortunes in a land where labor is looked up to and dignified, and where the laborer is paid such wages that he can clothe his family and educate them, and hold up his head as a sovereign among sovereigns.

When a workman strikes he abandons the job he has been employed at. In the eyes of the law, and in the eyes of justice, in free America, all men are free and equal. Any man who is unemployed has a right to seek employment. If there is a vacant job he has a right to secure it if he can, no matter who has held it, or who wants to hold it. To deny this right is to deny the most sacred right of American citizenship. When a striker says to a laborer "You shall not work in that place," he is setting up a tyranny even greater than that from which many of the adopted citizens of this country have fled. A laborer or a band of laborers have a perfect right to say to their employer that they will not work for him, but they have not the right to say to him who he shall or shall not employ. That sort of doctrine is the doctrine of anarchists.

It's just like a man

The newspapers of the country are engaged in a crusade against bad roads. The wonder is that they did not begin it before. Bad roads cost the farmers of this country more than all their railroad freights. But if the farmer of the future has good roads, free mail delivery, a piano for his daughters, a top buggy for his boys, a typewriter for his correspondence and a telephone to talk with the "town fellows," where will be the charm of country life. It will be the city over again, with a little more room and plenty of fresh air. N. W. Agriculturist.

It is a remarkable fact that both candidates for president of the two foremost parties are running for a second term. Whichever party wins, it will mean an endorsement of their administration. If one of the candidates had been president while the other was new to office some capital might be made against the second term man. As it is they stand on equal ground in this regard, and no matter how much electors in general may be opposed to second terms for the presidency, this cannot be a factor in the present campaign. The people must compare the records of the two candidates and decide for themselves which of them did the most to advance the interests of the nation at large while occupying the presidential chair.—Saville Observer.

Yes, sir, and on that very ground the republican party asks a careful scrutiny of every act, every deed, and every veto of President Harrison's administration in comparison with that of his predecessor Grover Cleveland.

REPUBLICAN.

In 1891, during the six months ending June 30 of that year, the R failures in the United States showed liabilities aggregating $92,416,026.

In 1892, after the benefits of T republican protection had begun to be felt, during the corresponding period the failures in this country showed liabilities amounting C in all to $62,273,680.

This decrease of $30,142,346 T was caused by republican protection.

"THE ROCKY MOUNTAIN LIMITED," AND "THE BIG 5."

TWO GRAND TRAINS DAILY BETWEEN THE WORLD'S FAIR CITY AND THE FOOTHILLS.

ONE NIGHT OUT OR ONE DAY OUT. TAKE YOUR CHOICE. BUSINESS DEMANDS IT AND THE PEOPLE MUST HAVE IT.

The popularity of "The Great Rock Island Route" as a Colorado line—its having long time since taken first place as the people's favorite between the Lakes and the Mountains—has compelled the management to increase its present splendid service by the addition of a train that is one night on the road from Chicago to Denver, Colorado Springs or Pueblo. This train will be known as the "Rocky Mountain Limited," and will be put in service May first. Leaves Chicago daily at 10.45 a. m., arriving at the above cities in the afternoon of the next day, earlier than any of its competitors. Special equipment has been built for this train, with the view of making it a limited in every sense of the word, and best of all, there will be no extra charge. The route of this exceedingly fast train is by the Rock Island Short Line, and a few of the larger cities through which it passes, are Davenport, Des Moines, Lincoln, Council Bluffs, Omaha, Beatrice, Fairbury, Belleville, Phillipsburg, Colby, Smith Centre and Goodland. This makes it the most desirable route, and particularly interesting to the traveler. Another point: The popularity of our dining-car service is still on the increase, and no money spared to make this service what our patrons always say, "the best."

Our "Big 5" will continue as usual, leaving Chicago at 10 p. m., and arriving at Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo the second morning, being out one day out, and this fast and popular train goes through Omaha. Our No. 11 will leave as heretofore at 6 p. m., arrive at Kansas City at 9 a. m., and will reach Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo the second morning.

Our Colorado service is made perfect by this new "Rocky Mountain Limited" and the "Big 5," and gives to the traveling public two flyers daily.

Manitou passengers should consult the map and time tables of our line, to fully appreciate the advantages in time saved by taking this route, when on their summer vacation.

A Visit to Chalcedony Park Arizona.

BY H. C. HOVEY.

Twenty years ago a miner who had been prospecting in Arizona gave me an oblong block of peculiarly marked agate. After letting friends cut off a dozen pairs of sleeve buttons from it, I had the rest of the block polished as a cabinet specimen. It was evidently a kind of petrified wood, and the donor told me that there were immense quantities of it in a region where he had been exploring. That same region is now known as the Chalcedony Park, and was mentioned to me by the railroad officials as being one of the most extraordinary of the many remarkable localities along the Santa Fe route. Holbrook was the place where I was told to leave the cars and take a stage for the park. But there was no stage, and the sand that was raining at the time was such as no man who valued his comfort and safety was willing to encounter. Corrizo was somewhat nearer the park, but it was a mere watering station, with no houses or conveniences. On stating the case to the conductor of the fast California express, he kindly relaxed his rules and stopped his solid train of Pullman cars at "whistling post 233" in the midst of the sage brush, and just at sunset. Pointing to a windmill near the horizon, he said: "That is Adam Hanna's ranch, the only house within 10 miles. Maybe you can get a horse there; and if not, you can foot it in the morning." The train rolled on and left me and my kodak alone in the wilderness.

After proceeding for about a mile the banks of an arroyo were reached, usually dry as a tinder box, but now flooded by melting snow. The stream seemed to be a moving quicksand and varied in width from forty to two hundred feet. The ranch was on the outer side of the stream, but my halloo brought out the inmates, who directed me to a pile of drift wood as the only means of crossing. Why Mr. Hanna does not occupy higher ground, near the railroad, and further his own interests, as well as those of tourists, by regular trips to the park, was a matter not fully made clear.

The next morning, after an exciting episode, being nothing less than an attack on the lady of the ranch by a pair of savage coyotes, I started alone, on horseback, for my destination. It was an easy trail, and the distance did not exceed seven miles. But it was a dreary ride over mesas and arroyos, with occasional glimpses of the distant mountains. From the very start the road was lined by specimens of agatized wood equal to the one I had been guarding for so many years. Now and then a petrified log or solitary stump, were harbingers of what was to be seen further on. The term "park" is a misnomer, for there is no natural park here, nor has the hand of man done anything but to shatter the marvelous relics of dateless antiquity. The people of the vicinity always speak of it as "the Petrified Forest." But that again is misleading, for there is no forest, whatever there may have been fifty centuries ago. It certainly seems as if the place ought to be made a national park, and should be both better protected and more easy of access. As it is, the enchanted spot lies at the mercy of vandals, the only precaution against spoliation being a railroad rule against shipping specimens from it in bulk.

How shall the Chalcedony Park be described? At first one gets the impression that it is a small affair, or perhaps fifty acres. Then he says it must be a hundred. After riding over its amazing ruins for many hours in succession, he concludes that the area includes a thousand acres; and finally he hardly questioned the bold estimate of Mr. C. F. Lammis that the extensive forest now hardened into stone formerly covered "hundreds of square miles;" and accepts without dissent the assertion of Mr. G. F. Kunz, that there may here be seen at a glance a million tons of precious stones. A matter-of-fact visitor might say that the scene reminded him of a vast logging camp, where the lumbermen had tossed the huge logs from their sledges at random, and then had gone away, leaving them rain-soaked and moss-grown. The trees when standing were fully 200 feet high; for even now their prostrate trunks measure, when unbroken, from 100 to 150 feet. The peculiarity already hinted at is that these mighty trunks are as regularly severed into sections as if the work had been done by a cross-cut saw. The lengths vary from disks like cart wheels to logs 20 or 30 feet long, or longer. Twigs are found an inch through, and trunks ten feet thick. They lie at every angle; parallel to each other, and at right angles; singly and in great groups; down in gulleys and perched like cannon on hill tops.

And all these myriads of trunks, stumps, logs, branches and tiny twigs are soiled stone. Those that remain intact have been weathered to a dark red, rich brown, or sober black. But time's relentless ax, aided by the geologist's hammer, has made havoc with so many of them that the ground is thickly strewn with their fragments, from rocks like bowlders down to chips and minute splinters, that show their brilliant colors under the fierce Arizona sun with kaleidoscopic effect. At every footfall you tread on gems, some of which might grace a ducal coronet, while the most plain and least attractive would be worthy of an honored place in the finest cabinet. There are no rubies, sapphires nor diamonds here (as has been incorrectly reported), but the amethyst abounds, and the red and yellow jasper, chalcedony of every hue, the topaz, the onyx, the carnelian, and every imaginable variety of agate. No log, nor fragment, is limited to a single kind of gem. Many are massive mosaics of all the kinds named above. The material breaks pretty easily into cubical forms, but it is extremely hard, and takes a brilliant and durable polish.

Under a magnifying glass the cellular structure is plainly visible, and experts assure us that the ancient forest was made up of trees analogous to our pines and cedars. The region is decidedly volcanic, lava beds and extinct craters being in sight in every direction. Some catastrophe doubtless felled the "forest primeval," which was subsequently buried in volcanic ashes. Floods of hot silicious waters were poured over the ashes, possibly from geysers. The wood became water-soaked, and gradually the silica took its place and shape. The pure silica, as Mr. Kunz suggests, would form the limpid quartz, while the rich colors of red, brown, yellow and purple would be due to iron and manganese held in solution. I found one block of wood that had changed to solid iron.

Spurring my horse from the valley to the summit of the mesa, mainly formed of light sandstone, I followed a trail to its further side, where it is cut by a small canyon about 50 feet deep. And here is the Agate Bridge, the most wonderful object of its kind in existence. This unique bridge is simply a huge trunk spanning the canyon where it is 60 feet wide. The trunk itself is 100 feet long, and tapers down from a thickness of five feet to a diameter of three feet. Its entire mass is made up of agates, jaspers, and other precious materials. At a point two-thirds of the way across it is fractured, whether naturally or by violence I could not determine. At the bottom of the canyon is a pool resorted to by the cattle of the plains, and around it grow the only living trees to be seen for miles.

The task of selecting specimens from a million tons of gems is less easy than it is agreeable. Each crystal, or moss agate, or amethyst, or onyx, seems most desirable till it lies in your pocket or saddle pouch, and then others assert their superiority. At last my load was as heavy as could be managed on horseback. With reluctance I left the enchanted forest, made my way back to Hanna's ranch, crossed the perilous arroyo, flagged an approaching train, gained permission to take my sackful of treasures on board, and sped on my journey, convinced that whatever marvels may have existed in the days of the Arabian Nights' entertainments, none in these more modern times could rival, in its way, the petrified forest of Arizona.

Attempts have been made, to a limited degree, to introduce agatized wood for ornamentation. The material, however, is so extremely hard as to require special machinery for cutting and polishing, and we do not know of any company that has undertaken this work on a large scale except the Drake Company, of Sioux Falls, Dak., specimens of whose work are on exhibition at Tiffany's, in New York City. The largest of these is a block 86 inches in height, 41x34 in. in diameter, and weighing 2.1 tons. Its entire top is beautifully polished, showing the many kinds of gems of which it is composed. The Indian name for agatized wood is "Chinarump." For centuries the aborigines have resorted to the Petrified Forest for materials from which to make the precious arrow tips so greatly admired by collectors.—Scientific American.

Home Education.

The following rules are worthy of being printed in letters of gold, and placed in a prominent place in every household:

1. From your children's earliest infancy inculcate the necessity of instant obedience.
2. Unite firmness with gentleness. Let your children always understand that you mean what you say.
3. Never promise them anything, unless you are quite sure you can give what you say.
4. If you tell a child to do something, show him how to do it and see that it is done.
5. Always punish your child for wilfully disobeying you, but never punish him in anger.
6. Never let them know that they vex you, or make you lose self command.
7. If they give way to petulance or ill-temper, wait till they are calm, then gently reason with them on the impropriety of their conduct.
8. Remember that a little present punishment, when the occasion arises, is more effectual than the threatening of a greater punishment should the fault be renewed.
9. Never give your children anything because they cry for it.
10. On no account allow them to do at one time what you have forbidden under the same circumstances, at another.
11. Teach them that the only sure and easy way to appear good is to be good.
12. Accustom them to make their little recitals with perfect truth.
13. Never allow tale bearing.
14. Teach them self-denial, not self-indulgence.

It Lives 1,000 Years.

The extreme limit of the age of the oak is not exactly known, but some sound and living specimens are at least 1,000 years old.

Oak timber is not the heaviest, toughest, nor most beautiful, but it combines more good qualities than any other kind. Its fruit is valuable food and its bark useful in certain industries. An oak pile submerged for 650 years in London bridge, came up in sound condition, and there are specimens from the tower of London which date back from the time of William Rufus. To produce a good oak grove requires from one hundred and forty to two hundred years.

If an oak could be suspended in the air with all its roots and rootlets perfect and unobscured, the Ohio State Journal says, the sight would be wonderful. The activity of the roots represent a great deal of power. They bore into the soil and flatten themselves to penetrate a crack in a rock. Invariably the tips turn away from the light. The growing point of a tiny outer root is back of the tip a small distance. The tip is driven on by the force behind it and searches the soil for the easiest points of entrance.

When the tips are destroyed by obstructions, cold, heat or other causes, a new growth starts in varying directions. The first roots thicken and become girders to support the tree, no longer feeding it directly, but serving as conduits for the moisture and nourishment gathered by the outer rootlets, which are constantly boring their way into fresh territory. These absorb water charged with soluble earths, salts, sulphates, nitrates, phosphates of lime, magnesia and potash, etc., which pass through the larger roots, stem and branches to the leaves, the laboratory of new growth.

An oak tree may have 700,000 leaves, and from June to October evaporates 226 times its own weight of water. Taking account of the new wood grown, we obtain some idea of the enormous gain of matter and energy from the outside universe which goes on each summer.

Drunkennes or the Liquor Habit
Positively Cured by administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It is manufactured as a powder, which can be given in a glass of beer, a cup of coffee or tea, or in food without the knowledge of the patient. It is absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. It has been given in thousands of cases, and in every instance a perfect cure has followed. It never fails. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. Cures guaranteed.

World's Fair Notes.

It is estimated that the thirty-five railroads which enter Chicago will expend $110,000,000 in increasing and improving their equipment and facilities for transporting World's Fair visitors and freight.

The Board of Trade and citizens of Fargo, N. D., have undertaken to raise $30,000 to supplement the state's World's Fair appropriation of $25,000.

Butterflies to the number of 150,000 will be shown in the Pennsylvania exhibit at the World's Fair. The collection is said to be the most complete and finest in the world.

Costa Rica's pavilion at the world's Fair will be surrounded by gardens ornamented by a profusion of tropical plants, and in the galleries of the pavilion will be placed more than 3,000 beautiful birds, many of which have very gorgeous plumage.

France intends to show its skill in landscape gardening at the World's Fair. A cablegram has been received from the French commission asking that it be allowed to do, and bear the expense of, the "whole decoration of the spaces surrounding the Horticultural and Woman's buildings." This generous offer, doubtless, will be accepted if it does not interfere with plans too far advanced to be changed. The French are world renowned as artistic landscape gardeners, and it is believed, they would hardly have made the offer referred to unless they intend to make a display of surpassing beauty. The commission asked also for 60,000 square feet for the French horticultural exhibit.

The Duke of Edinburgh has announced his intention of sending for exhibition at the World's Fair some of the almost invaluable collection of ancient musical instruments, which he possesses. A part of the collection is now on exhibition at the International Music and Art Exhibition at Vienna, where it attracts much attention.

A Little Girls Experience in a Light-house.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Trescott are keepers of Gov. Lighthouse at Sand Beach, Mich., and are blessed with a daughter, four years old. Last April she was taken down with measles, followed with a dreadful cough and turning into a fever. Doctors at home and at Detroit treated her, but in vain, she grew worse rapidly, until she was a mere "handful of bones."—Then she tried Dr. King's New Discovery and after the use of two and a half bottles, was completely cured. They say Dr. King's New Discovery is worth its weight in gold, and yet you may get a trial bottle free at Eberbach & Son's and Geo. T. Hauss.

How Stanley Was Defeated in English Elections.

The argument now being used in London against the election of Henry M. Stanley to parliament, is in the shape of the old and pretty well established charge that, while in Africa, he was a "negro-killer." It amuses us to hear this charge warmed up and repeated by our British cousins, notoriously the most distinguished people in the civilized world in their disregard for human life. The trail of the Briton everywhere is a trail of blood. When there are no human beings to kill, the innocent beasts of the forest, prairie and jungle are murdered to sate the Briton's greed for blood. Who accompanied Stanley in his killing tours? Who were prompt to become his accomplices in the butcheries which are just now being paraded with hypocritical denunciation? Britons all!

Henry M. Stanley is essentially British. He is British in that roving, irresponsible disposition of his, British in his acquisitiveness, British in his disregard for human rights and human life. British in his hatred of the United States of America, and British in his serene impudence in aspiring to political aggrandizement. In the mother country, which for many years he disowned, so let the British keep him and care for him, for he is one of them, truly.—Eugene Field, in Chicago News.

The Diameter of Fulgurites.

When a bolt of lightning strikes a bed of sand, says an exchange, it plunges downward into the sand for a distance, less or greater, transforming simultaneously into glass the silica in the material through which it passes. Thus, by its great heat it forms at once a glass tube of precisely its own size. Now and then such a tube is found and dug up. Fulgurites have been followed into the sand by excavations for nearly thirty feet. They vary in interior diameter from the size of a quill to three inches or more, according to the bore of the flash. But fulgurites are not alone produced in sand; they are found also in solid rocks, though very naturally of slight depth and frequently existing merely as a thin glassy coating on the surface. Such fulgurites occur in astonishing abundance on the summit of Little Ararat, in Armenia. The rock is soft, and so porous that blocks a foot long can be obtained, perforated in all directions by little tubes filled with bottle-green glass formed from the fused rock.—Scientific American.

What a Woman Does.

The guileless man who asked this foolish question got this answer from a woman, says the Washington Star. Having kept a statistic account for one year, she gave the result as follows:

Number of lunches put up, 1,157; meals ordered, 933; deserts made, 172 lamps filled 328; times dressed children 786; visits received, 897; visits paid, 167; books read, 88; papers read, 553; stories read aloud, 234; games played, 329; church services attended, 125; articles mended, 1,236; particles of clothing made, 120; fancy articles made, 56; letters written, 426; hours in music, 20 1-2 hours in Sunday school work, 208; hours in gardening, 49; sick days, 44; amusements attended, 10.

Besides the above I nursed two children through the measles, twice cleaned every nook and corner of my house, put up seventy-five jars of pickles and preserves, made seven trips to the dentist, dyed Easter eggs, polished silver and spent seven days in helping nurse a friend who was ill, besides the thousand and one duties too small to be mentioned, yet taking time to be performed.

Now we hope that man is satisfied; if not he can try it himself.—Pittsburg (Kas.) Daily Headlight.

ELEPHANTS KNOW THINGS.

Here is One Who Gave Medicine and Reasoned Successfully.

Miss C. F. Gordon-Cumming, in her recent book on Ceylon, gives a few lines to a pet elephant, who seems to have been a creature of much amiability and intelligence.

He had been captured young, and was known as Kurunggalia Jack. He used to go the hospital rounds with his master, a medical officer, who had taught him to be generally useful, and even to administer pills! A Malay soldier one day dropped his pill, whereupon Jack picked it up and dropped it into the man's open mouth, with a puff that blew it safely down!

Jack learned to go out shooting with his master, combining the work of stalking-horse and retriever. He could discern the game from afar, and wander toward it in the most casual manner, acting as cover for his master, and when the gun was fired he would scamper off quite delighted, and return with the jungle-fowl or peacock in his trunk.

To Quiet Angry Waters.

It is proposed to cover the surface of the sea around an endangered vessel with a thin cotton or silken net, rendered unsubsorbable and ever floating by means of being dipped in a special chemical preparation. The idea is due to the fact that when crossing the track of the gulf stream it has been noticed that the vast spreading fields of floating seaweed within the confines of the stream, though upheaved by the swell, remain glossy and smooth. The net acts in the same way as the seaweed.

Care of Plants.

It frequently happens that one is unable, for various reasons, to raise or secure plants desired for outdoor cultivation, as early in the season as usual, and, too often, because of the fact the flower lover is led to think that it will be impossible to have a good display of blossoms during that season. This is a mistake, and this article is written for the purpose of showing the reader how she may have a good supply of flowers between the time she reads this and frost.

Usually the quickest way to make up for delay in early planting, is to purchase plants from a florist, and the list of suitable varieties for outdoor growing which may be obtained in this way includes geraniums, ageratum, coleus, pansies, cannas, caladiums, alyssum, hydrangeas, etc.; verbenas, petunias, santuriums, thunbergias and other plants of a like nature, may also be found but are not likely to be desirable plants from the fact that they are usually started early in the spring.

By sowing seeds of petunias, verbenas, dwarf nasturtiums, mignonette dwarf and climbing morning-glory and sweet peas (in a good location where it is not too warm and where the plants may have considerable nursing) directly in the open ground, we will, in a few weeks obtain quite a supply of plants which will bloom abundantly before the close of the season. Oftentimes the results from late plants are better than from earlier ones, and I question greatly if a good supply of fresh bloom and strong healthy plants in the late summer and fall, is not more desirable than the same effect in the early season.—The Housewife.

What Good Roads Would Do.

They would make it possible for the farmer to take advantage promptly of the highest market, no matter at what season of the year. They would save him days and weeks of time which he wastes every year wading through the disgusting mire of dirt roads.

They would reduce to a minimum the wear and tear on wagons and carriages.

They would lessen the expense in keeping horses in working order, and vastly less horses would be required in the country to perform the farmer's work.

They would require less expense to keep them in repair than do the dirt roads.

They would make it easier for a team to pull several tons over their smooth surface than to drag a wagon through the mud.

They would afford ready communication with the outside world at all times of the year.

They would spare the farmer many vexations and nervous strains.

They would practically shorten the distance to the local market.

They would increase the demand for county and suburban property.

They would be free from dirt in the summer and mud and ruts in fall, winter and spring.

They would bring every farming community into closer social relations.

They would make an evening drive a pleasure instead of a vexation, as it is now.

They would do away with the absurd polltax and supervisor system in places where it is still in use.

They would be, in short, the best possible investment to the taxpayer if built and cared for by the national government and paid for by a national tax.

All these they would do, unless experience goes for naught.—Rural World.

LITERARY NOTES.

An article on "Architecture at the at the World's Columbian Exposition" in the August Century will describe the Electricity and the Mining Buildings. The author of the article, Mr. Henry Van Brunt, is one of the architects of the former building.

Mr. Bok has succeeded in unearthing a quantity of unpublished material by Henry Ward Beecher, which will shortly be published as a series of articles in The Ladies' Home Journal. The material is especially valuable since it deals with a range of topics both varied and timely, and will advance, for the first time in print, the great preacher's views on a number of such interesting questions as marriage, home government, woman in public and private life, politics, etc., etc. Mr. Bok has secured the co-operation of Mrs. Beecher and Professor Ellinwood, Mr. Beecher's private reporter, in the editing of the material.

There is a fitting instance of natural selection in the contributors of a number of talks in the August Wide Awake. Annie Sawyer Downs, one of the best practical botanists, tells how to botanize. Prof. Charles E. Fay of the peripatetic Appalachians tells us how not to get lost in the woods. Captain Julius A. Palmer, Jr., an acknowledged nautical authority, tells the difference between starboard and port. Willis Boyd Allen, the veteran camper, tells how to make a fire, and Charles M. Skinner, a veritable "globe trotter," tells how to take a walking tour. Not one of these brief papers but is full of real suggestive and practical advice.

Strength and Health.

If you are not feeling strong and healthy, try Electric Bitters. If "La Grippe" has left you weak and weary, use Electric Bitters. This remedy acts directly on Liver, Stomach and Kidneys, gently aiding those organs to perform their functions. If you are afflicted with Sick Headache, you will find speedy and permanent relief by taking Electric Bitters. One trial will convince you that this is the remedy you need. GEMS IN VERSE.

Two Truths.

"Darling," he said, "I never meant
To hurt you," and his eyes were wet.
"I would not hurt you for the world.
Am I to blame if I forget?"
"Forgive my selfish tears!" she cried,
"Forgive! I knew that it was not
Because you meant to hurt me, Sweet—
I knew it was that you forgot!"
But all the same, deep in her heart
Ranked this thought and rankles yet—
"When love is at its best, one loves
So much that he cannot forget."
—Helen Hunt.

He Had Better Propose at Once.

I know, my friend,
We never have been lovers, but when we
Of these sweet summer hours shall find the end,
And there shall be
A courteous close to all our pleasant speech:
When you go out into the hurrying crowd,
To battle with a warrior from browed,
For all the worldly blessings which you claim,
Wealth, power and fame,
Things which I do not crave and cannot reach;
I wonder if your heart will be the same,
Will beat as even and as tranquilly
Away from me?
If, when you find your separate life once more,
'Twill be as whole and happy as before?

It may be so.
Ambition has broad leaves, which overgrow
The feeble heart plants, blooming small and low,
And yet, I think,
When time or change, or both, have snapped
The link
Which holds us ne'er so lightly heart to heart,
When you have found out new and pleasant ways
From these apart,
Have loved fair women and have known great men,
Perhaps grown great yourself, and tasted praise,
Despite the roses which bind you then,
You will look back to these tame, quiet days
With dim, strange pain;
And haply in your dreaming think of me
Half mournfully,
Saying, while all surrounding witcheries
Seem dull and vain,
And beauty's smile, and datter's ministries
Lose, for the time, their hold on heart and brain,
"Ah, me! how little she was like to these!
Would I could look upon that face again!"
—Boston Transcript.

The Question.

He asked her today,
But she gave me no answer,
Neither word would she say,
Though I asked her today
In the most approved way
Of the modern romancer.
I asked her today,
But she gave me no answer.

He has spoken at last—
Shall I take him or leave him?
At my feet he is cast;
He has spoken at last.
If his hopes I should blast,
Would it really grieve him?
He has spoken at last—
Shall I take him or leave him?

Is he rich, as they say,
Or a penniless masker?
I must find out today
If he's rich, as they say.
For she's not said him nay,
And again he may ask her.
Is he rich, as they say,
Or a penniless masker?
—Yankee Blade.

If I should die tonight,
My friends would look upon my quiet face
Before they laid it in its resting place
And deem that death had left it almost fair;
And laying snow white flowers against my hair,
Would smooth it down with tearful tenderness,
And fold my hands with lingering caress;
Poor hands, so empty and so cold tonight!

If I should die tonight,
My friends would call to mind, with loving thought,
Some kindly deed the icy hands had wrought;
Some gentle word the frozen lips had said;
Errands on which the willing feet had sped;
The memory of my selfishness and pride,
My hasty words would all be put aside,
And so I should be loved and mourned to-night.

If I should die tonight,
Even hearts estranged would turn once more to me,
Recalling other days remorsefully.
The eyes that chill me with averted glance
Would look upon me as of yore perchance,
And soften in the old familiar way.
For who could war with dumb, unconscious clay?
So I might rest, forgiven of all tonight.

Oh, friends, I pray tonight,
Keep not your kisses for my dead, cold brow;
The way is lonely, let me feel them now.
Think gently of me, I am travel worn;
My faltering feet are pinched with many a thorn.
Forgive, oh, hearts estranged, forgive, I plead!
When dreamless rest is mine I shall not need
The tenderness for which I long tonight.
—Belle E. Smith.

Mothers.

[A dialogue at Boston, U.S.A.]
"See there," he said, "my fair American!
You noisy child
I'd like to choke, being but 'brutal man.'"
That Mother mild

"Takes all his howls for music, comforts it
With song and kiss,
And gives it at the loudest of its fit
Her milky bliss."

"And there again, my little lambkin bleating—
Made for mint sauce—
At its first cry the ewe quits eveler eating
And runs, performs."

"And yet again that purple winged hen starling,
Hungry—I'll vouch it!—
Flies with a fat grub to her nestled darling,
Nor dreams to pouch it!"

"She-mercy everywhere, she-pitying
In helpless season!
You Boston girls seem up to everything:
Tell me the reason?"

"Why, certainly," she smiled: "don't poets know
Better than others?
God can't be always everywhere, and so
Invented Mother."
—Sir Edwin Arnold.

Liberty.

One fairer thing he showed him, and in might
More strong than day and night,
Whose strength build up time's towering pyramid,
Yea, one thing stronger and more high than God,
Which, if man had not, then should God not be,
And that was Liberty.
And gladly should man die to gain, he said,
Freedom, and gladly, having lost, lie dead.
For man's earth was not, nor the sweet sea waves
His, nor his own land, nor its very graves,
Except they bred not, bore not, hid not slaves.
—Swinburne.

Turn to the Children.

Turn to the children, sisters! and in them lose
Your pain;
In children's hopes and hearts and lives we Find lost faith again.
—May Austin.

AGONIZING ECZEMA

Awful Suffering. Driven Almost Insane by Doctors. Tried Cuticura. Relief Immediate. Entirely Cured in 4 Months.

I suffered with the dreadful eczema for over six months, during which time I had consulted three doctors, and this tormenting skin disease had grown worse and worse. My arms were raw, my face and neck full of eruption, which made me scratch until my whistlers were soaked and pasted with the sticky fluid. I could hardly bear my clothing. When night came I was afraid to go to bed, no sleep would come to relieve me, but the itching would increase. During day time I had no rest, I was all broken up, nervous to the highest degree, and nearly driven to despair. At that time I read about the CUTICURA REMEDIES, intended to try them, and dropped the doctors. After applying CUTICURA I had the first night's rest. Using the CUTICURA CUTICURA SOAP, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, with proper judgment, my condition improved slowly but surely day by day, until after three to four months' use of them I was cured. Our minister, Rev. J. G. Perrault, in Mandan, knows me and knows how I suffered. Any one may write to him and he will certify to the truth of this testimonial.

E. R. STEINBRUECK, Mandan, North Dakota.

R. S. GREENWOOD.

GEORGE SHIRAS, JR., NEW JUSTICE OF U. S. SUPREME COURT.

George Shiras, Jr., who has been nominated by the president for the vacant judgeship in the United States supreme court, was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., in 1832, where his father who is still alive and 86 years old, was a brewer. After passing through the schools of his city, he entered Yale college and graduated from that institution in 1853. In his class were many men, who have become eminent, among them are Justices Brewer and Brown and Chauncey Depew. After leaving Yale he read law in the office of Judge Hepburn and was admitted to the bar in 1855. Since then he has practiced in Pittsburgh and has during the last twenty years been in the front rank of his profession. For years his income has been estimated at $65,000 a year. Mr. Shiras has never held any political office and although repeatedly urged to accept the nomination for a judgeship, has always refused the same. In 1880 in the Pennsylvania legislature, when a deadlock existed on the election on a U. S. senator, Mr. Shiras, in a secret caucus, was chosen by a majority of 2 votes, as a compromise candidate. The next morning however, another caucus was ordered by the party managers and John Mitchell was nominated and elected. Mr. Shiras' nomination has been received with pleasure by both parties. He is a good lawyer, no politician and esteemed by all men.

Last Sunday forenoon, as the people were going to church, two wheelmen came down E. Ann st., on the sidewalk, compelling the people to either leave the walk or be run into. One couple did not hear them, and the head wheelman ran into the lady tearing her dress quite badly, besides shocking and injuring her. There was no excuse for running up on the walk. There are times when the streets are muddy and the sidewalk free from people that a wheelman is excusable for taking to the walk, but in this instance it was entirely inexcusable. The young man gathered himself up as quick as possible, took his wheel into the road, and never even as much as stopped to see what damage he had done. Had he been a little more of a gentleman his transgression would have been more easily overlooked.

COUNTY AND VICINITY.

The Sunday Schools of Milan are enjoying themselves at Whitmore Lake to-day.

Wm. Rheinfuss, of Manchester, shipped a car load of calves to Detroit a few days since.

The Ladies' Library at Chelsea will be open only from 4 to 5 o'clock p. m. Saturdays until Sept. 1st.

The prospects for an apple crop in the southern part of the county is said to be exceedingly discouraging.

An order has been issued at Manchester to have all the dogs muzzled. A good order and ought to be enforced.

The Ypsilanti council is now engaged in figuring up how much two new bridges over the Huron will cost the city.

A train on the Lake Shore R. R., at Manchester ran into the team of Chas. Sloat, killed one horse and smashed things up generally, a few days since.

Mrs. Samuel Barnard, the wife of one of Ypsilanti's prominent and wealthy citizens, died very suddenly Sunday morning. She leaves a husband and two daughters.

The farmers in this vicinity have about all finished harvesting and the crop was secured in a 1 shape. Now what we need is a little rain for corn and the season will have been a capital one.—Dexter News.

Nearly everybody in the neighborhood of the milk depot is recalling in ice milk, purchased at the modest price of 2 cents per gallon.—Wayne Review. That must be awful cheap milk or awful cheap ice, or both.

Mrs. Augusta E. Wedemeyer, of Lima, died July 19, aged 53. She came to Lima from Germany in 1855, and married the late Frederick Wedemeyer in 1857. She was the mother of Supervisor Wedemeyer, of Lima.

The Dexter Cheese Company mean business. The attachments are ordered and the cans will be here in less than a week. Before two weeks have passed they expect to be paying the farmers 75 cents per hundred for milk.—Dexter Leader.

The next farmer's picnic at Pleasant Lake promises to be the best that has ever been held. If the weather permits, it will be made an old fashioned feast day. It will be held Aug. 18, and Washington Gardner will deliver the address.—Stockbridge Sun.

One of Dexter's pleasure resorts for pedestrians yielded four rattlesnakes, one of them having 10 rattles. The News advises people who go for pleasure strolls in that vicinity to "keep in the middle of the road," step high, and never fail to be provided with a liberal supply of lotion for snake bites.

They have a pet toad at the power house of the electric lighting company, and every night he hops up to the steps where Ham Kingsley takes him by the scuff of the neck and lifts him into the building where he enjoys himself catching bugs, etc. He has been caught eyeing the big driving belt and if he tackles it, the place will probably be without a pet.—Manchester Enterprise.

Lightning struck the large barn on the Lapham farm near the church last Sunday afternoon about 5 o'clock and the group of farm buildings were burned to the ground. A large crowd of people was attracted to the place but could do nothing except to save the house. The buildings were insured in the southern Washtenaw farmers' mutual for $1,800, but nevertheless there will be a heavy loss for the owner to bear, as there was the whole of this year's crop of wheat and hay destroyed.—Manchester Enterprise.

A fair attendance was in the house of worship, although the day was warm. Gaily the blue-tailed fly buzzed about the room, alighting alike upon the bald pate of the aged deacon, and the pink ear of the blushing maiden. The last stroke of the morning bell had sounded and the man of God was preparing to read his morning lesson, when clear and sweet as a flowing brook came floating in upon the calm Sabbath air, the following, from the open church door: "Yes I always put my beams asoak the night before, because I think it makes them more digestable and they will brown so much bet—why bless me if services haven't commenced!" and the fair worshipper sank confusedly into a seat while the services proceeded. Nota Bene! Ladies should always drop all worldly conversation before reaching the church door.—Rochester Era.

Petty burglaries are being committed at Milan.

In the wheat threshing about Mooreville the yield so far is reported at only 5 to 15 bushels per acre. A poor yield.

A. A. Bucklew, of Webster, had a narrow escape from death by falling off a load of hay recently, and striking on his head.

According to the Leader, the Daughters of Rebekah will hold a lawn social at C. M. Blackmer's residence on Saturday Aug. 6th.

A student looking for protection came to the home of Dr. and Mrs. D. P. McLachlan last Sunday. A 12 pound boy.—Saline Observer.

Lee Hitchcock has bought out W. R. Needham's bakery and stock of goods and has moved them into the new Palmer block, at Milan.

The So. Lyon boys must be awful slow. The girls recently got up a picnic all by themselves, but of course they didn't have a very good time of it.

Touch not the fruit while it is yet green or before its ruddy glow appeareth on its cheek, for at last it grippeth like a vice and "billeth" like a volcano.—Chelsea Herald.

Detroit real estate boomers are buying up farms at Wayne and plating them up into village lots. This is probably preparatory to taking the village into the corporation a la Chicago.

A Dexter township farmer was lamenting over the great cost per acre for binding twine, 33 cents. Guess he never went through the raking and binding process in his harvesting.—Dexter Leader.

An Indiana editor says: "To all those who are in arrears one year or more, who will come in and pay up and one year in advance, we will give a first-class obituary notice in case it kills them."

On Wednesday August 24, will occur the marriage of Reinhold J. Joseph, of Mooreville and Miss Emma Freudenrich, of Evansville, Ind., the ceremony to take place at the latter city.—Milan Leader.

An old lady over in the Southern part of this county, near Lambertville who seemed to be boss of all she surveyed, threshed her hired man a few days ago for uttering cuss words in the presence of her young son.—Dundee Reporter.

Mr. W. S. Hancock, who for about three years has been agent for the United States Express in this city, has been promoted by that company to its agency at Akron O. As the promotion carries with it the comfortable increase of $500, in salary, Mr. Hancock is correspondingly pleased. He will leave for his new field of labor to-day, and his place here will be taken by Fred Hinton, of Jackson.—Ypsilanti Commercial.

If the land speculators and boomers are anxious to get rich fast they will find it to their advantage to purchase land here, and plant out for a village. With the advantages of natural gas around here, proposed Detroit & Ann Arbor street railway, telephone connections, milk depot, refrigerator and farming tools manufactory, etc., it seems to us that there are no better points in this country than Inkster for a genuine boom.—Cor. Wayne Review.

The weather editor of the Chelsea Herald says:—There are many natural barometers, which, in a general way, are just as reliable as the best aneroid instrument that ever came from the factory. A plug of tobacco by its moisture and softness will indicate the approach of a storm, a loose window cord will tighten up just before a rain, and a pair of gloves ordinarily tight on the hands, will become almost baggy on the approach of bad weather.

The members of the Baptist church seem to have caught the progressive spirit of their Methodist brethren, and are making extensive repairs upon their church building. The roof is repaired, and the outside of the building, from the pinnacle of the steeple down, nicely repainted. The inside is being cleaned, and O. E. Thompson & Sons have the contract for frescoing the interior. The new grand Yorgan has been ordered of one of the largest firms of organ builders in the United States, and will be put in position as soon as it is completed. Altogether, members of that church, when returning from their vacations this fall will hardly know their place of worship.—Ypsilanti Commercial.

It is a mean man who is not merciful to his horse this kind of weather. Tight check reins ought to be loosened or discarded. Strict attention should be paid to watering often, and to keeping the horse as comfortable as possible when at work or at rest. It is not only much more agreeable to the animal, but it pays in enabling him to do a great deal more work and with better results. The horse has more sense than lots of men, and its intelligence should meet with such treatment as to awaken his gratitude, and at the same time its interest and ability to do its work. An uncomfortable horse can not do as well as one that is not suffering. And then, too, common humanity should teach us to be kind to the animal who does so much for man.—Fowlerville Observer.

Hood's Sarsaparilla absolutely cures all diseases caused by impure blood and it builds up the whole system.

CONGRESSIONAL.
A REPORT from the conference committee on the sundry civil bill was presented to the United States senate on the 25th. A resolution was introduced requesting the president to open negotiations to secure and maintain the uniform value of silver as a money metal throughout the world. In the house the conference report on the general deficiency bill was nonconcurrent and a new conference was ordered.

In the senate on the 26th the report of its conferees on the deficiency bill was adopted, leaving only the sundry civil bill to be disposed of. Mr. Hale's resolution as to the relative effects of the republican policy of "protection," and the democratic policy of "tariff for revenue only," was discussed. The nomination of Judge Shiras as a supreme court justice was confirmed. In the house bills were passed setting apart lands in Oklahoma territory for school purposes, and forbidding railroads to charge over three cents per mile on passenger fare in the Indian territory and Oklahoma. The conference report upon the deficiency bill was agreed to. The appropriations amount to $5,900,319, being $333,569 less than as passed by the senate and $1,081,087 more than as passed by the house.

The anti-option bill was discussed in the senate on the 27th, a bill was passed to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States and the following nominations were confirmed: Watson A. Sperry, of Delaware, to be minister to Rumania; Truxton Beale, of California, to be minister to Roumania, Serbia and Greece; and A. Barton Hepburn, of New York, to be comptroller of the currency. A resolution permitting foreign exhibitors to bring into the United States skilled laborers from abroad in connection with the world's fair was passed. In the house a motion to concur in the $5,000,000 world's fair appropriation made by the senate for the world's fair was carried, 117 yeas, 105 nays.

In the senate on the 28th a motion favorable to the anti-option bill was passed and the house resolution for final adjournment was referred to the appropriation committee. An eight-hour law as to public works of the United States and of the District of Columbia was passed. In the house a favorable report was made on a bill appropriating $50,000 for the relief of the southern flood sufferers. Filibustering tactics were pursued to defeat the world's fair appropriation and a motion to adjourn sine die on the 30th was passed.

The Hale resolution as to the relative merits of the republican policy of "protection," and the democratic policy of "tariff for revenue only" was discussed the entire day in the senate on the 30th. WATER COMMITTEE REPORT.

To the Common Council:

Your committee on water, to whom was referred the resolution of Alderman Ferguson relative to the rental of fire hydrants from the Ann Arbor Water company, have given their careful attention to the subject matter of the resolution and would respectfully report:

The contract made May 6th, 1885, by the Mayor, Recorder and Alderman of the city of Ann Arbor with the Ann Arbor Water company calls for an annual rental of $4,500 for 100 fire hydrants for thirty years, which under the rule of construction laid down by the Supreme Court is equivalent to an obligation for $135,000. As this sum is largely in excess of the amount of tax which the city raised in the year 1885, or could levy in that year, the Council for that year had no authority under the charter to make the contract in question. Hence the contract is clearly void. Under Section 186 of our city charter which is copied verbatim from the charter which was in force at the time the contract was made, the Council of 1885 could not burden the revenues of the Councils of 1892 or of 1914. In recent years the Council has determined that it was impossible to make an electric light contract for more than one year and we are satisfied that the only kind of a contract that the council can make with the water company calling for an annual rental, without an enabling act of the legislature and vote of the people is an annual one. Similar provisions in other charters of cities in this State have been construed by the courts to prevent the making of these 30 years contracts without complying with the provision calling for an enabling act of the legislature and a vote of the people. We may instance the cities of Niles and Monroe, where the courts have declared similar water contracts void.

The Water Works Company made the contract with the city with full knowledge of this provision of the charter. Their franchise to furnish water to private consumers is not questioned and your committee feels that the Council is willing to make a fair and just contract with the Water Works Company to furnish water to the city for fire purposes for the ensuing year.

The contract calls for a hydrant to be placed at every 700 feet of extension of the water mains at an annual rental of $40, and under this provision the city is now paying for 23 fire hydrants in addition to the 100 for which they now pay $4,500. The water rental now reaches $5,420. Within the past year about a dozen petitions for fire hydrants made by citizens and tax payers have been denied because the revenue of the city could not stand the heavy additional burden which would be entailed. Your committee believes that if hydrants were placed at intervals of 700 feet so that water could be thrown on all the buildings of the city the water rental would be increased to $10,000 or more, a burden which the city could not bear without increasing the tax allowed to be levied by the charter. Nor is it at all necessary that hydrants should be placed at intervals of 700 feet to furnish fire protection.

Each of our houses carries 1,000 feet of hose, so that if the hydrants were placed as far apart as 2,000 feet, the firemen could reach all buildings between them.

In the belief of your committee the rental for extra hydrants is out of all proportion to the expense entailed upon the Water Works Company, they are put in for use only in case of fire and very little water is used from most of them; the expense consists mainly in putting down the main and the first cost of the hydrants and this of advantage to the company in increasing the number of their private water consumers. If the present water contract is continued in force for the balance of the thirty years, every new hydrant now put in would cost the city $920.

Your committee is advised as has been stated above that the contract made in 1885 with the Water Company is void. It hence becomes the duty of this Council to contract with the company for water for fire purposes for the ensuing year.

We would therefore recommend: First, That an ordinance amending an ordinance relative to water works passed June 1st, 1885, which is submitted with this report, be passed so that that part of the ordinance creating a liability for fire hydrants for the sums stated be repealed until the Water Works Company makes a new contract with the city, the city shall pay for use of the hydrants only such sums as the use is reasonably worth.

Second, That a resolution be passed asking the Water Works Company to make a new contract with the city for the ensuing year.

Third, That your committee or a special committee as the Council sees fit, be empowered and instructed to investigate what other cities under recent contracts are paying for fire hydrants rental and be instructed to report to the Council such facts as they deem will be of service to the Council in making a fair contract with the Water Works Company.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
