Special
Sale June 17
to 24.

We offer this week, a line of goods that cannot fail to add one more victory in our long conquest of merchandising. We place on our special sale counters the most sought after, foremost, seasonable goods at prices that attract widespread attention. This week it's

Satteens AND Dotted Swiss Muslins

Gilbert's Satteens—They are the best the world produces. This season the manufacturers brought out a new line resembling the best grade of silks and known as the Ondine Weaves and are the most popular goods in the market to-day. These goods have been extensively advertised in all the large cities at 30c a yard and are well worth that price. In this sale we offer our entire line about 50 pieces black and white, and black and colored, figures at

to be sold while they last.

Another line Dotted Swiss Muslin. Just what you want for warm weather, 100 pieces worth 20c a yard at

to many people just now is the selection of a good place for a summer vacation. With a great many it is customary to get away from home as soon as the hot weather comes, and spend the summer at some place near the water. Harbor Springs, Bay View, Petoskey, Charlevoix, Traverse City, and the various resorts on Grand Traverse Bay offer many advantages to the seeker after rest and coolness. They are so well known that a description of their charms is not necessary in this limited space. We want to say that the new route to these points, the Chicago and West Michigan Ry., is a favorite one and will be used by a great many people this year, who appreciate its splendid service and the beautiful scenery along its line.

For over forty miles north of Traverse City the road skirts the shores of lakes, bays, and rivers, which with the forest-surrounding them form pictures which must be seen to be appreciated. Commencing June 25th, the service will consist of three through trains per day from Chicago, to Bay View via the "West Michigan," and two from Detroit via the Detroit, Lansing and Northern R. R. to Grand Rapids, there connecting with the C. & W. M.

Morning trains will have elegant parlor cars, and night trains Wagner's best sleeping cars through from Chicago and Detroit to Bay View, through Traverse City, Charlevoix, and Petoskey. All agents sell tickets via the "Western Michigan." We want you to try it this year.

The Adams-Breakey Wedding.

The M. E. church never looked more beautiful than it did last Thursday evening in its neat and tasty decorations of white and green, in honor of the marriage of Mr. Ephraim Douglass Adams, of Lawrence, Kansas, and Miss May Stevens, only daughter of Dr. Wm. F. Breakey, of this city. The front of the church around the pulpit was a bower of beauty, the flowers and draperies being arranged with exquisite taste.

Prof. A. A. Stanley presided at the organ, and Rev. C. M. Cobern performed the ceremony assisted by the groom's father, Rev. Dr. Adams. Mr. McMillan, of Chicago; Mr. Oscar Schmid, of Jackson; Mr. Alexander, of Grosse Isle; and Mr. Anderson, of Detroit, were the ushers.

The bridesmaid was the bride's cousin, Miss Bessie Stevens, of this city; and the bride's brother Mr. James Breakey, acted as best man.

After the ceremony a brilliant reception was given at the residence of Dr. Breakey, which was one of the finest affairs of the kind ever held in Ann Arbor. Every room in the house was handsomely decorated with flowers, a different color being used for each one. The presents were numerous and elegant.

The bride has always resided in Ann Arbor, and has as many friends here, probably as any young lady in the city, being an accomplished and lovable lady.

The groom graduated from the University with the class of '87, and took the degree of Ph. D. in 1890. He then went to Washington, D. C., and served the government a couple of years under his brother Prof. Henry C. Adams. Then he received an appointment to the chair of political economy in the state University of Kansas, at Lawrence, which he still retains, and at which place the couple will be "at home" after October 1st.

A Racy Notice of Johnstone's Poems.

Ann Arbor's young poet, E. F. Johnstone, sent the Adrian Press man a copy of his book, and that gentleman gives it the following flattering notice:

"In spite of exhortation, entreaty and threats of personal violence, that Johnstone, of Ann Arbor, has sent us his book! We have examined the volume and do not hesitate to say that henceforth, until we have accomplished the purpose, our chief aim in life shall be to procure his assassination. The mode of his death we are willing to leave to our executioners, so that the contract be well and truly performed. The man may be shot, stabbed, run through with a red hot poker, have his brains knocked out with a bladder, or he be tied up and compelled to listen to his own poems till death puts an end to his agony. All that we shall require to know will be that he has been permanently separated from his breath, and the reward will be such that our assassin will therefor command respect for his wealth and live admired and honored by all who know him. It will not suffice to bring us an ear or a toe as proof of the poet's death. We exact no less than his liver or his heart, having his full name, E. F. Johnstone, (with the "e") carved in the corner and bearing the great seal and coat of arms of the University of Michigan. But, though the man merits death—and nothing less will satisfy us, we would be just. In sky-rocketing about the confines of his erratic field, this poetical northern light has touched with the coloring of a weird fancy, many objects within range of his polaric red fire. The Alaskan glint shoots forth conspicuously at various points. "The Devil's visit to Ann Arbor" is decidedly brimstonic and there is lurid lunacy and an eruption of genius in other productions. The book is eccentric enough to repay perusal, and is embellished with elegant half-tone engravings of the author and professors of the University. Still, on the whole, Johnstone should have been killed before he wrote it."

The Proposition Should be Accepted.

The proposition of Mr. Clay Green to erect a building on N. Fourth ave., adjoining the Arlington House, for the use of the city, if the city will agree to rent offices therein for its officials, is one that the council should not let pass by without securing.

Anything that tends to build up the city in any part helps all property therein. The location of this building is central and convenient and the people would be well accommodated.

The street on which it is proposed to erect this building is one of the principal thoroughfares of Ann Arbor, and there is probably more travel upon it than upon any other within the corporation. It is the main traveled route to the M. C. R. R., to the boulevard, and to the Northside, and a large majority of the strangers coming here pass and repass it.

A handsome building where now is an old wooden structure, would be a credit to Ann Arbor, and help wonderfully in giving people who come here a favorable first impression. And besides, if this one is put up, several of the old structures which now encumber the land and are eyesores in that vicinity, will be torn down and replaced with new and neat buildings. It is a scheme that should be fostered and encouraged, and one that the people generally will appreciate and approved after it has been accomplished. Mr. Greene proposes to give the city large and commodious quarters, with the vaults necessary for the safe keeping of all papers and documents.

The Late Mrs. Inman.

Battle Creek, Mich., June 6, 1893.

Editor Courier:—Mrs. Eleanor Inman, relict of the late Alvah Inman, of Ann Arbor, died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Dr. L. A. Foote, on Monday June 5th, from the result of an apoplectic stroke received March 3d. Mrs. Inman was born near Victor, N. Y., Sept. 18, 1802. She came to Michigan with her husband in 1832 and settled upon Lodi plains. In 1860 they moved to Ann Arbor, where they resided until March, 1879, when Mr. Inman died. Since then she has resided with her daughter Della, most of the time, at Battle Creek.

She leaves three children, Geo. W., of Ypsilanti; Mrs. Anna Cowdery, of Hartford, Conn., and Adela E. Foote, of Battle Creek.

Mrs. Inman was one of the few left of the pioneers of the old territorial days. Her life covering as it did, nearly a century of history, has witnessed the entire growth of Michigan as a state, as well as several years as a territory. In character she was sturdy, and inflexible in her principles of right. She was a splendid representation of that type of womanhood of which our grandmothers so universally presented. She belonged to the Presbyterian church of Ann Arbor, and had been a member of that denomination from early life, at which time she was active in church work. Her religious life was of that same sturdy kind represented by the church in those days.

She was buried at Lodi, by the side of her late husband, Wednesday, June 7th.

Prof. Wm. G. Sumner, of Yale, appears to be losing his grip as far as the advancement of his free trade theories are concerned. In spite of all he has done to keep the free trade flag flying at New Haven, Yale seniors continue to stand about two to one for protection. There were, in the class of 1889, 55 free traders and 43 protectionists, or 44 per cent. for protection; in 1890, 40 free traders and 36 protectionists, the latter numbering 47 per cent.; in 1891 49 free traders and 70 protectionists, or 58 per cent.; in 1892, 42 free traders and 83 protectionists, or 66.4 per cent., and now there are 36 free traders and 71 protectionists, or almost exactly the same percentage of the latter as in 1892. This growth has taken place since the complaint became notorious that only one side of political economy was taught at Yale, and measures were taken to see that the students heard both sides.

Death of Alderman Fillmore.

Ariel H. Fillmore died at his residence on Spring st., last Saturday evening, after a somewhat extended illness, of Bright's disease, aged about 47 years. He had been quite ill, but was apparently mending somewhat, until Saturday evening when he was taken suddenly worse and died at about 10 o'clock.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the residence, and was attended by the Masonic fraternity in a body.

The deceased was a nephew of Millard Fillmore the 13th president of the United States, and some little time since inherited about $20,000 of that famous man's estate.

At the time of his death, Mr. Fillmore was alderman of the 3d ward, having been re-elected for a second term last spring; he was a member of Fraternity Lodge F. & A. M.; Washtenaw Chapter R. A. M.; Ann Arbor Commandery Knights Templar; and a Mystic Shriner.

He leaves a wife but no children. In temperament he was mild and quiet, and made many friends who will regret his early demise. He was a native of this county, having been born in Dexter township, Sept. 16, 1846. He was married in 1867 to Miss Kittie Alderton.

The floral offerings at the funeral were beautiful indeed, and were from the different Masonic bodies, the city council, and friends. The council's offering was thirteen bunches of roses one for each seat in that body, and one bunch being turned down, or reversed in position from the others.

The Ann Arbor Commandery Knights Templar, the city council, and city officials were in attendance upon the obsequies.

In Honor of Damon and Pythias.

The tenth annual banquet of the Ann Arbor Lodge Knights of Pythias was given last Monday evening at the Cook House. The fore part of the evening was occupied in the lodge room in instructing some candidates how to execute a somersault over the goat, and at the same time land squarely on their feet. At about 10 o'clock the Knights assembled at the banquet table, Chancellor Commander Dr. J. L. Rose acting as toast master for the occasion. Dr. Rose filled the position gracefully and put every one at their ease, even those who were to respond to toasts, of whom the following is a list: E. M. Bumphrey: "An Observation;" G. Kuyper, "The Knight of the Nineteenth Century;" H. J. Kennedy, "Our Future;" A. C. Hindmen, "Fortifications of Our Castle;" Prof. E. F. Johnson, "What We Get From Fraternity Life;" C. W. Wells, "The Ladies;"—none of whom were present to listen to the good things said of them—J. C. Travis, "Our Absent Members;" Mark A. Sands, "Ann Arbor Lodge, No. 44;" H. D. Billings, "Farewell," which closed the speech making for the evening. The occasion was one that will dwell in the memory of those present for many and many a day.

A $100 Souvenir—Columbian Year.

E. F. Johnson is not in the stone yard business. He says that business is overdone here anyway. He has a check for $100 in his possession, given for services rendered—which of course is the same thing as value received—that he proposes to keep as a memento, and will hand down to the future generations of his family as a valuable souvenir of how near he came to being taken in by a slick and adroit scoundrel. The fellow, through Mr. Johnson's introduction, hoped to swindle the Ann Arbor Savings Bank, but Cashier Hisecock was too shrewd for the chap, and he left town without attempting to draw out any money against a worthless check he had deposited. The same sort of a game was attempted at Port Huron the day previous, but failed. Strangers coming here to enter extensively into business, will hereafter be obliged to bring affidavits of identity.

The desperate struggle of the Ohio democrats to find a man on whom to thrust the nomination on their ticket for governor is truly pathetic.

Cleveland beat the snappers in 1892. If he is afraid of them now, and is holding back his New York appointments on their account, his spunk has been overestimated.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Atlanta Constitution, in the intervals of pleading for dollars worth less than a dollar apiece, takes time to tell the Illinois democrats that compulsory education "will never commend itself to genuine democrats."

The Louisville Courier-Journal states that "the mission of the democratic party is not to conserve, but to destroy." Mr. Watterson is entirely authentic from an historical point of view. Modern history tells us that in 1861 it attempted to destroy the entire country.

The so-called "financial policy" of the administration has certainly caused a sufficient number of wrecks in the business world to impress people. As a "ruler" President Cleveland is most useful when he is away fishing.—Rochester (N. Y.) Democrat and Chronicle.

The democratic party must now proceed to do something more than to exorcise the republican scamps.—Tucson Herald.

The above indicates that the Herald, at least, is waking up to the situation. When will Mr. Cleveland awake?

Edward Atkinson, an honest free trader, declares that "the Western farmer is to a greater extent creditor than he is debtor," and shows that according to official statistics the percentage of mortgaged farms in the state of Michigan has decreased from 47.4 in 1888 to 38.5 in 1893.

The manufacturers down east have sent this word to their buyers out west: "Wool must be bought on a free trade basis this year. Buy sparingly. We shall take only sufficient quantities to keep our mills in operation, and wait for the action of congress to give us free wool." The loss to Michigan wool growers by the election of a free trade president and congress is about $1,000,000. Watterson is right. "The democratic party is a party of destruction."

He serves his party best who best serves his country. And as republicanism means country first, party next, it stands to reason that every republican in either branch of congress, should do everything in his power to defeat any unamerican free trade legislation attempted by the democratic majority. It is not good politics for the republican party to remain passive and allow things to be done that are detrimental to the best interests of all the people of the country. We believe that there are enough patriotic northern democrats in congress who will unite with the republicans in preventing any of the old slave state theories to be made into laws.

EUROPE'S GREAT ARMIES.

Germany's election, which will decide whether the army shall be increased, makes interesting the following fresh figures, showing the present strength and expense of the principle European armies. The following table will show the armies of Europe on a war footing in 1869 and 1892:

In 1869 Europe had 6,958,000 soldiers and now she has 22,248,000.

ANNUAL EXPENSES IN FRANCS.	1869.	1892.
Russia.....	492,000,000	661,000,000

Europe expended in 1869, 2,228,000,000 francs on its armies, and now she expends 4,069,000,000 francs and the various governments find they have not yet enough.

The income tax is English, you know, which accounts for the fact that it is favored by the free traders in this country.—New York Press.

The Courier says we plagiarized from Eli Perkins. We apologize. We didn't know it.—Register.

It is conceded that confession is a good thing. But the confession contained in the last sentence of the above quotation is entirely superfluous on the part of the Register, as it is a chronic condition with which its readers have been familiar for a long time.

Wm. R. Laidlaw, the clerk who was so terribly injured when a lunatic attempted to blow up Russell Sage with dynamite some months ago, has lost his suit instituted against Mr. Sage, to recover $50,000 damages. Laidlaw alleged that Sage used him for a shield, otherwise he might have been uninjured. The jury did not see it in that light and brought in a verdict of no cause of action. The sympathy of the public was largely with the complainant.

The original charter of Zion Lodge, F. A. M., of Detroit, bears the date of April 27, 1764, and is now in the possession of the grand lodge of New York. Negotiations are now in progress looking to the restoration of the ancient document, but it is considered doubtful about the New York people giving up so valuable a relic of ancient masonry in the United States. It is said to have been the first charter granted in this country, and bears the important endorsement "No. 1." The masons of the state hope that Zion lodge will succeed in securing it.

During the recent financial excitement throughout the country in many places, Ann Arbor went on without any trouble, for two reasons. Our citizens had not been speculating or getting into debt, and they had perfect confidence in their banks. The banks of this city are ably managed and merit the confidence of their depositors. One good to come out of all this panic will be to teach conservatism—for people not to run headlong into debt, but to pay as they go, and not speculate.

There has been an immense amount of liquidation all over, and it is hoped that the worst is past, although the uncertainty about silver and tariff legislation will lead to caution during the rest of the year, accompanied by a contraction of business.

Queen Victoria has again proved to her family that she rules their destinies as well as those of all England. Because of her unbending will she has made her daughter-in-law, the Princess of Wales, extremely disconsolate over the approaching marriage of her son, Prince George, the Duke of York, to the Princess May, of Teck, who was betrothed to the elder brother of the man she is soon to wed. Prince Albert Victor, the unfortunate Duke of Clarence, would have been heir to the throne of England and husband of Princess May had he lived, but now, hardly a year after his death, the young man seems to be forgotten by all save his mother. Under the circumstances it is not strange that she cannot take pleasure in the approaching marriage over which British court circles are agog.

Good Looks.

Good looks are more than skin deep, depending upon a healthy condition of all the vital organs. If the Liver be inactive, you have a Bilious Look, if your stomach be disordered you have a Dyspeptic Look and if your kidneys be affected you have a Pinched Look. Secure good health and you will have good looks. Electric Bitters is the great alternative and Tonic, acts directly on these vital organs. Cures Pimples, Blisters, Boils and gives a good complexion. HOW UNIONS ARE UNJUST.

There is a game now being played by a body of men in this city which is not the less interesting in that it is so subtly carried on. The Typographical Union holds the players, and their aim is to get all compositors not Union men out of the offices. That may seem perfectly right, but when one reflects that hundreds of compositors are not members of the Union, there can easily be seen that there are two sides to the story. The spirit of any trades union is non-American. The unions are not composed of Americans to any extent. They keep boys from learning trades. They put a premium on incompetency, for they claim as much for one member of the Union as for another. If a man is discharged because he is worthless, the Union men require him to be reinstated, not because he is a good worker or unjustly discharged, but because he is a Union man. The Typographical Union has asked all Knights of Labor to boycott one of the best and cleanest newspapers published in Boston. Why, do you suppose? Perhaps you think the workers on it are paid barely living wages? Not at all. Its force is paid among the best in the city. It keeps its old men who have got beyond the ability to work on daily editions, and gives them miscellaneous work to do at regular rates, simply to reward them for the years they worked when in their prime. It pays the family of part of its repertorial force who died on duty, a pension, to be indefinitely continued. It treats every member of its force, from the editor-in-chief to the office boy, as if they were all members of the same family. And yet the Typographical Union wants that paper boycotted. Why? Because they employ some compositors who are not members of that Union. They want to turn all women out of office because most men who hire women like them better than men as compositors. They are steady, reliable, neat and quiet. The Union objects to them because they work in smaller offices at less pay than Union workers demand. But the Union fails to consider that many papers which now support from five to six dozen workers would be forced out of existence had they to pay double rates, and those workers would have nothing whatever to do, which is hardly an improvement to the world at all. If capital tyrannized over labor as labor unions tyrannize over employers, the world would be filled with cries of the slavery of rich over the poor; but the impositions of the working men over others who do not belong to unions, and on employers, are not heeded at all. There will come a day when this sort of thing will cease. The unions by their injustice will bring about their own downfall, and for the sake of the boys who want and need to learn trades, for the sake of the real working men who depend upon the quality of his work to bring him more, for the sake of the employers in a small way who cannot compete with the men who can pay the heaviest wages, the sooner the downfall comes the better. A monopoly of labor is more wicked, and its effects are more evil than any trust on articles of commerce can be.—Massachusetts Ploughman.

There are two doubts which ought to be removed from the public mind and so aid in the restoration of confidence. One is the apparent determination of President Cleveland to force on the silver bill, and reassemble congress in September next. That is now the most probable date for action. Public opinion has received some pretty severe object lessons on the silver question of late, and an important change of sentiment in the west can be depended upon to aid in repealing the Sherman law. Moreover, the great business centers of the west are not so silver crazy as has been popularly supposed in the east. Another important element of doubt has been taken much more seriously than deserved; that is, the tariff outlook. Business operations extending into the future have often been seriously curtailed through fear of early tariff revision. Such fears are entirely groundless. Congress will certainly not begin the tariff question until the silver muddle is settled; and even should it be taken up at the same time as silver, it would be late in the current year before any general plan of procedure could be agreed upon. Months would be used in taking testimony, in compiling schedules, in committee conferences; and even should the question be expeditiously handled, which does not seem at all likely, several months would probably elapse before the new bill became law; so that it seems utterly impossible for any change in the tariff to be put into force within ten or twelve months. If the business mind were relieved of these unnecessary uncertainties much would be done towards a restoration of confidence. There are periods when sentiment carries prices much above their intrinsic level; but this is a time when distrust has carried them as much below their true level. This is particularly true of good railroad shares which are beyond the perils of reorganization.

AFTER JULY FIRST.

The Game Wardens Will Get You if You Don't Watch Out.

State Game Warden Hampton has issued the following circular regarding what the legislature did in regard to the fish and game laws:

To the Public:

In reply to many inquiries I would state that none of the bills making changes in the seasons during which certain fish may be caught and certain kinds of game may be taken became laws. The open seasons are as follows, the same as under the laws of '91:

Deer, lower peninsula, from Nov. 5 to Nov. 25; upper peninsula, between Sept. 25 and Oct. 25. Wild turkey and quail, Nov. 1 to Dec. 15 inclusive. Partridge, lower peninsula, Nov. 1 to Dec. 15 inclusive, upper peninsula Oct. 1 to Jan. 1. Woodcock, Aug. 15 to Dec. 15. Jacksnipe, red-headed, blue-bill, canvas back, widgeon and pin-tail ducks and wild geese between Sept. 1 and May 1. Other wild water fowl and snipe between Sept. 1 and Jan. 1. Prairie chicken, protected until next year, then open season September and October. Speckled trout and grayling May 1 to Sept. 1.

A great many local acts in regard to fishing were passed, but the general fish law recommended by the fishermen's association and the fish commissioners, the fish shute bill, and the bill prohibiting the fouling of fishing waters, were among the measures which were not considered. There is therefore no use of people writing about fish shutes or saw dust in streams. A general law was passed prohibiting entirely the killing of Mongolian and English pheasants.

A very important change in the game warden law takes effect July first. It continues the present system by allowing the game and fish wardens in each county, but they will be termed county wardens under the new law. The state warden is also authorized to appoint deputy wardens who can serve anywhere in the state, and who receive three dollars a day from the state for the work they actually perform under his orders. But as there can not be more than ten deputies at any time, and as the whole amount expended must not exceed two thousand dollars a year, the office will not be desirable from a financial point of view. The law will, however, enable the state warden to have violations promptly attended to when the circumstances warrant sending a special deputy.

Under this new law it is made the duty of every game and fish warden in the state to seize all nets and fishing apparatus found in use in violation of law, and all game, etc., found in possession contrary to law, and dispose of the same as the court may direct. Every game and fish warden has the right to arrest without warrant any person caught violating the law. They also have the right to "search any person and examine any boat, conveyance, vehicle, fish box, fish basket, game bag or game coat, or any other receptacle for game or fish, when he has good reason to believe that he will thereby secure evidence of the violation of the law; and any hindrance or interference with such search and examination shall be prima facie evidence of a violation of the law by the party or parties who hinder or interfere with, or attempt to hinder or interfere with such search and examination."

This unusual power was given the wardens so that violators would be running the greatest possible risk in trying to evade the law. An officious officer could of course make himself and the law very objectionable under this provision; but if any law-abiding citizen is ever needlessly annoyed under this clause of the law, the obnoxious officer will be immediately removed if the facts are reported to the state warden. It is of course expected that all law-abiding sportsmen and fishermen will assist the wardens in the enforcement of the law upon others by cheerfully furnishing proof of compliance with the law themselves, but except in imperative cases no forcible searches will be made without search warrant which the new law provides for. It is important to note in this connection that "any person who hinders, obstructs or interferes with, or attempts to hinder, obstruct or interfere with the said game and fish warden or any deputy or county warden in the discharge of his duties," is liable to fifty dollars fine or thirty days in jail. These are stringent provisions, but no one will have any occasion to complain of them if they obey the law.

The only other important fish and game law was "An act regulating the use, possession, transportation and sale of fish and game." It takes effect August 27th and forbids the shipment out of the state of "any of the birds, game or fish or the killing, taking or having in possession of which is at any time or at all times prohibited." It therefore applies to grayling, trout and all protected game named above. Another section of the act forbids the sale of the same during closed seasons, and is framed to avoid the objections which caused our supreme court to overthrow a previous law intended to secure the same object.

This law is considered of great importance by all who have studied the subject, for it restricts shooting to the open seasons by making it impossible for the law-breakers to dispose of their game. A new compilation of the fish and game laws will be issued in August.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreadful disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. p

Literary Notes.

If you want to make your little ones happy, subscribe for Our Little Ones and the Nursery. It costs only $1.50 a year and is the prettiest and best monthly magazine for them we have ever seen. Every number is like giving them a new book. The June number, just received, is filled with attractive pictures and pretty stories.

Under the title Evil Spirits, The Popular Science Monthly for July will have an article by J. H. Long, pointing out the terrors of the belief in demons, and especially in witches, that was so earnestly fostered by the church during the Middle Ages.

The views of Herbert Spencer on Private Relief of the Poor, are contained in an incisive article to appear in the July Popular Science Monthly.

Gummery—"Say, Gargoyle, I can not imagine how you have managed to save enough to build a ten-thousand-dollar house in five years out of a salary of one thousand two hundred dollars."

Total Number of Prizes for this County, 226.

CAUTION.—No Tags will be received before January 1st, 1894, nor after February 1st, 1894. Each package containing tags must be marked plainly with Name of Sender, Town, County, State, and Number of Tags in each package. All charges on packages must be prepaid.

READ.—SPEAR HEAD possesses more qualities of intrinsic value than any other plug tobacco produced. It is the sweetest, the toughest, the richest. SPEAR HEAD is absolutely, positively and distinctively different in flavor from any other plug tobacco. A trial will convince the most skeptical of this fact. It is the largest seller of any similar shape and style on earth, which proves that it has caught the popular taste and pleases the people. Try it, and participate in the contest for prizes. See that a TIN TAG is on every 10 cent piece of SPEAR HEAD you buy. Send in the tag, no matter how small the quantity.

A list of the people obtaining these prizes in this county will be published in this paper immediately after February 1st, 1894.

DON'T SEND ANY TAGS BEFORE JANUARY 1, 1894.

Mrs. Sophia Ewing, widow of the late Dr. Alex. Ewing, of Dexter, is visiting relatives in the county. She has been spending the winter at Los Angeles, Cal., and is on her way to New York, where she resides with her oldest son, Dr. Wm. A. Ewing.

Judge Harriman says it is worth a trip to Chicago just to see a sunset on the World's Fair Grounds. Those great buildings are then transformed into palaces of marble and silver, and present a sight more beautiful than any pen could ever convey to the mind.

Miss Mattie Drake returned from Chicago and the World's Fair last Saturday, after a two week's stay. Miss Drake is very enthusiastic over the great exhibition, and says that the reports about exorbitant charges are all false. That any person may go as economically as they choose, or be as free with their money as they choose. There are accommodations of all kinds, suited to all purses, and whether it costs a person a little or a great deal depends entirely upon the person.

UNIVERSITY.

Every train out of town takes with it some student or students who manage to get away ahead of time.

Of 21 games of base ball played this spring, the U. of M. team has won 17 and lost 4. Not a bad record by any manner of means.

Harry Hatch, '91 lit., son of ex-Warden Hatch, of Jackson, is to be married to Miss Alice Hill at Arkansas City, Kas., to-day, June 14.

Dr. J. N. Martin read a paper at Milwaukee last week before the American Medical Association on 'Methods of Removing the Uterus for Tumors.'

The students democratic club are in hot water. It is claimed that their president has been figuring it out that a public office is a private snap, and a futile attempt has been made to impeach him.

President Bordeaux of the democratic club has been tried and exonerated of the charges made against him, by an almost unanimous vote of the club. He claims it to have been spite work of enemies.

By winning the game from the Wisconsin nine last Saturday 15 to 4, six innings only being played, the U. of M. will fly the Northwestern International pennant for the year. Our boys lost only one game of the schedule this year.

The 'professionals' who adjourned to the law lecture room and elected officers of the S. L. A., have filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state at Lansing, and propose to injunct the regular S. L. A's from using their own name.

The senior medical class of the University recently visited Pontiac asylum in a body. Visitors and visited gazed upon each other with mutual pity. And who in the light of progress, 'looking backward,' a hundred years hence, shall say whether at Pontiac or the University existed the wildest dementia?—Adrian Press.

Dr. J. W. Keating, of the Physician and Surgeon, returned Saturday evening from a week's stay at Milwaukee, where he had been in attendance upon the meetings of the American Medical Editor's Association, and also the American Medical Association. He reports a very interesting time.

The Normal girls must have more winning ways that those of the University. The former got their appropriation for their 'gym' while the latter got the cold shoulder. Come down here and ask them how they did it.—Ypsilanti Sentinel. 't isn't necessary. Our girls are fully posted as to 'how they—the Normal girls—did it.'

Graduates of the Hudson high school can now secure admission to the U. of M. course in pharmacy, without a preparatory course, and without the applicant being required to state the number of cubic inches there is in the sun, or to specify the particular stuff of which the pantaloons of the man in the moon are made of. Things are gradually changing.—Adrian Press.

The board of directors of the Student's Lecture Association held its first meeting on Monday evening of this week and elected F. M. Wells chairman and A. H. Felger secretary for the ensuing year. On Tuesday evening the board, together with other officers of the Association, held another meeting and business matters and methods were discussed at length. The course that will be given the coming year promises to be the best ever offered by the Association.

The adjourned meeting of the Student's Lecture Association was held at the gym. building last Saturday a. m. The literary students were out in full force but the 'professionals' quite generally kept away. There was no strife or rushing, and the following officers were chosen without opposition: President, Wm. E. Weydemeyer, '94 lit.; vice president, S. C. Spitzer, '94 law; cor. sec'y, C. E. Wakefield, '95 lit.; rec. sec'y, L. H. Petrie, '96 lit.; treasurer, Franz C. Kuhn, '94 law; assistant treas., J. Q. Adams, '94 lit.; committeemen H. D. Haskins, '96 medic., Miss Lucy E. Textor and Miss Frances E. Hartley.

The arrest of a noted crook at Detroit the other day, probably saved Postmaster Austin of Monroe, some trouble. The Commercial, speaking of the narrow escape, adds this: 'Mr. Austin is extremely fortunate in his escapes, and it may be as some one pleasantly remarked to him after this affair, because he is on the Lord's side. While in the army and on his way home for a furlough his train was wrecked and he was so badly injured that he was reported dead, and for some years his obituary was on record at the University at Ann Arbor. It remained there until '87 he walked in and explained that the death notice was premature by several years. We all remember how, just after he left the mail service, the train he was accustomed to be on met with a terrible accident and several of the mail clerks were killed. Now he has missed being robbed. But there is one thing he won't escape and wherein the Almighty won't be of any help to him—he will have to give way to a roaring democrat just as soon as Gorman gets ready to get at him.'

THE JUNE FESTIVAL.

One of the Finest Entertainments Ever Given in Ann Arbor.

The June festival given by the pupils of St. Thomas' Conservatory of Music and the school at the Grand opera house last evening was one of the most pleasing events of the season. One feature which was especially pleasing and is generally lacking in amateur affairs was the smoothness with which the program was carried out. There was no hitch in the proceedings, one number following the other with admirable precision.

The curtain rolled up at 8:10 on a very handsome scene 'Columbia's Greeting to Spain.' About 50 pupils of the school had been arranged in two pyramids. On the apex of one was Miss N. Brown, draped with the national colors representing Columbia, and on the apex of the other Miss R. Seery, in the Spanish colors. 'Columbia' sang the greeting to which 'Spain' replied, the whole closing with a chorus by all the voices.

The second number was a piano number, Marcia, Op. 115, DeKontski, for three pianos and 12 hands. It was very finely executed by the Misses A. Sullivan, L. Covert, K. Burns, O. Lentz, V. Fohey and L. Rinsey. Their technique was splendid and the work of the three pianos was like one instrument.

Miss V. Fohey read 'A Plea for Sound Reading,' in which she attacked the cheap literature which is so prevalent.

The next number, a piano duet for three pianos and 12 hands by Masters V. Seabolt, W. Walsh, H. Brown, D. McIntyre, F. Adams and W. Burleson, was also very well executed.

Probably the most pleasing part of the evening's entertainment was the juvenile drill 'Reign of the Roses,' by the little Misses E. Fohey, A. Tice, E. Covert, L. Meyer, I. Meuth, M. Millman, J. Clarken, M. Kennedy, I. Ross, M. Haney, J. Fullerton, L. Covert, K. Morrison, H. Fullerton, F. Parsons and S. Rinsey. The little ones went through the various evolutions with a grace and precision truly remarkable and evoked several bursts of applause. One of the features was a quartet by the Misses E. Fohey, A. Tice, F. Parsons and S. Rinsey.

'Waltzer,' Op. 264, Fr. Spindler, three pianos and 18 hands was very artistically rendered by the Misses L. Lusby, M. Hamlin, C. Gilbert, L. Kenny, L. Fitchell, M. Tice, L. Rinsey, V. Mead and L. Walsh.

The recitation in costume, 'A Sicilian Tale,' by Miss G. Kress, was a very pleasing piece of work with its effects, the chanting chorus behind the scenes furnishing a very effective background for Miss Kress' pleasing voice.

'Heavens are Telling,' a chorus piece for ladies' voices, was not as smooth as some of the other numbers, but was fairly well done. The chorus consisted of R. Seery, M. Rinsey, O. Lentz, L. Kenny, G. Osborne, Mrs. Willis, B. Newton, A. Reilly, A. Ryan, L. Covert, G. Kress, M. Rockwell, K. Burns, A. Hamlin, M. Hamlin, N. Brown, L. Rinsey, L. Fitchell, M. Audette, M. Tice, Pianos, Misses A. Sullivan, V. Fohey, C. Gilbert.

Part second was opened by a piano number for 12 hands, three pianos, 'Polish Dance,' Op. 3, Scharwenka. It was finely done, showing the same faultless technique as the other piano numbers, by Misses L. Covert, A. Ryan, O. Lentz, N. Brown and Mrs. Willis K. Burns.

Another very pleasing number was 'Dream of Ancient Greece,' some Delartean figures by the Misses G. Kress, L. Fitchell, N. Brown, V. Fohey, M. Audette, M. Clarken, M. Dwyer, J. Herey, M. Tice. The young ladies changed from one figure to another with a grace and ease of movement which charmed the audience. Some of the figures were quite difficult, but the posturing and expression were as near perfect as could be.

'Moonlight,' was a vocal number in costume by Miss L. Kenny, Miss M. Rinsey and Miss R. Seery. It was a pretty number very well done.

Beethoven's Sonata, Op. 13, was performed very creditably on three pianos by the Misses C. Gilbert, N. Brown and K. Burns.

Miss L. Fitchell gave a recitation, 'The Chariot Race,' from Ben Hur in a very spirited manner.

Three tableaux of the life of Columbus were given without a hitch. The drill of the 'Naval Cadets,' consisting of Masters D. McIntyre, J. Duffly, M. Slater, E. Taylor, W. Dwyer, R. O'Neil, S. Camp, J. Brahm, J. O'Reilly, C. O'Connor, W. Rockol, F. Adams, H. Audette, G. Clarken, R. Clarken, F. Haney, captained by H. Brown, elicited much applause. Their evolutions were very well done.

The opera house was packed from the orchestra to the back part of the gallery.

The following reverend gentlemen from out of the city were present at the entertainment: Fr. McManus, Port Huron, Fr. Sadler, Battle Creek, Fr. Kennedy, Ypsilanti, Fr. Clarsen, Milford, Fr. Fleming, Dexter, Fr. Goldrick, Northfield.—Daily Times.

J. Howard Allen, formerly with St. Andrew's choir in this city, is now the organist and choir master of the First Presbyterian church, of Bay City, which was dedicated June 4th.

A. Tucker, of this city, is a candidate for the new position of food commissioner. Mr. Tucker is a thorough going man and would make a good official.

Jacob Bassier, of Ann Arbor town, died last Friday, and funeral services were held Sunday p. m., from the residence, being conducted by Rev. J. Mills Gelston.

Instead of the regular prayer meeting at the M. E. church this Wednesday evening, there will be a free lecture by a missionary who has recently returned from India.

Catharine, wife of Jacob Reimold, died Sunday, at her home in Saginaw, aged 82 years. She was a sister of Mrs. Christian Eberbach, of this city, and a former resident of the county.

It's not in good form now to assert that anything is "as good as the wheat," which was once quite common. Now it must be "as good as gold" to be right up to the highest standard.

At the Congregational church last Sunday morning a pleasant feature of the Children's Day exercises was the presentation of a bible to every member of the Sunday School over seven years of age.

Ed. C. Pitkin, lit. '84, of Galveston, Texas, is home for the summer. While here he will superintend the erection of a new house on the site of the old homestead on S. Division st. The old house is now being removed, and the new one will be commenced at once.

The first catalogue of the University School of Music contains 142 names. That is pretty good for a youngster. The next one will contain double the number if our citizens are wise and come to its aid promptly with a new building, etc.

Judge Cooley, of Ann Arbor, in an article in the Forum, opposes the annexation of the Sandwich Islands. The Judge has been mortally opposed to anything like a sandwich, ever since he was a member of the Interstate railroad commission and patronized the eating stations.—Adrian Press.

About 150 Knights and Lady Maccaebes attended service at St. Andrew's church last Sunday forenoon, and Rev. Henry Tatlock preached the annual anniversary sermon for them. Representatives were present from the tents of Milan, Delhi and Leland's, beside Adrian and Johnson tents of this city, and the L. O. T. M.

Here is a bit of conversation between two "young men of the street," as overheard by the pencil pusher last Saturday: "Did you go and see what that fellow wanted of you?" asked the first. "Yas," was the reply. "Dat fellow he got no sense. What you tink? Why he wanted me to wurruk! De gall of de bloke!"

Children's Day at the Presbyterian church last Sabbath was a very pleasant affair. A rich display of flowers and plants, excellent music both vocal and instrumental, especially the flute solo, good speeches from the pastor, Supt. Mills, homeward bound students, and recitations from the children were the happy incidents of the occasion.

The Adrian Press remarks: "Gradually the amenities of newspapers, one toward another, are becoming more marked. Already the Ann Arbor Courier refers to the Register as 'Our amiable and sweet tempered(?) republican contemporary,' and although it means about the same thing as 'top-sided, blubber-faced idiot,' it has a less wrenching effect on a highly sensitive nervous system."

There are two Ann Arbor boys in the employ of the Standard Oil Co. at Fargo, N. Dakota, whose offices were burned in the recent great fire in that city, A. H. Dodsley and L. C. Pond. They just had time to get the books of the company stored in the vaults, close the doors thereof and make their escape from the building. The fire swept out almost the entire business part of that city, and was as extensive in proportion as was the great Chicago fire of 1871.

Many people are inquiring about the payment of city taxes in July, not being familiar with the provisions of the new law. City taxes, which constitute about one-third of all the taxes paid, will be due and payable from July 15th to August 15th. All taxes not paid by August 15th will have 3 per cent. added to the amount and be carried over to the usual time of tax collecting in December. The office of the city treasurer will be at the Courier office, and the assessor's books will be ready for inspection and payment on the 15th of next month.

The Ann Arbor School of Music will certainly be a success, and when the music pupils return next fall they will find new and pleasant quarters prepared for them, it is hoped.

Bishop Davies will confirm a small class at St. Andrew's church this a. m., it being the candidates who were unable to be present at the regular confirmation during Easter.

Dr. Frothingham intends to heat his new house, now being erected on E. Washington st., also his two houses adjoining, from a steam boiler situated in a large brick barn located on the premises.

Rev. A. Cottman, pastor of the A. M. E. church, lost his little 10 years old daughter Naomi, Tuesday evening, of consumption. Funeral services will be held Thursday p. m., at 3 o'clock, from the A. M. E. church.

We understand that Mr. Glen Y. Mills is about starting upon the compilation of another County Directory, and will make the new book an improvement upon his last one, which was the most complete of any ever issued in this county.

Miss Olive Paul, a sister of Mrs. Rev. R. B. Pope, and who is well known in this city, is to be married on Wednesday, June 21st, at the home of her mother Mrs. Hannah Paul, in Forrest, Ohio, to Mr. Charles M. Bailey. The couple will reside in Chicago.

The Board of Review which has been in executive session since last Tuesday, will meet in open session next Monday, and remain in session several days, for the purpose of giving citizens an opportunity to look over their assessment, and rectify any errors that may occur.

The state convention of the Michigan Music Teacher's Association is to be held at Adrian, on the 28th, 29th and 30th of this month. Mr. J. Erich Schmaal, of this city, will take part in one of the concerts, as will also Prof. A. A. Stanley. Miss Taylor will be among the vocalists.

Matthew Duke, who has been employed by E. F. Mills & Co. ever since they have been doing business in Ann Arbor, has severed his connection with that firm, and goes at once to Hancock, in the upper peninsula, to take charge of the general store of Mr. Wm. Condon. Mr. Duke, of course betters his fortunes by making this change, but many friends will regret his departure from the city. He is the present secretary of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, also librarian of St. Andrew's Sunday School, and an active member of the parish. Hancock will gain in him an estimable, popular and wide awake citizen.

Mrs. Richard Bibbie died very suddenly Sunday evening, of heart disease, while at the residence of Wm. Taylor, on the Pontiac road, where she had gone to take some flowers to be used at the funeral of Mr. Taylor's son, Dr. J. S. Taylor, the day following. She was taken suddenly ill with severe coughing and died almost instantly. Mrs. Bibbie was the mother of Prof. E. N. Bibbie, the musician, and a person very much esteemed by her neighbors. Funeral services were held yesterday p. m., at 2 o'clock from the Unitarian church.

Next week is commencement week for the Ann Arbor High School. On Tuesday senior recitations close. On Wednesday the class of '93 will hold its annual Class Day exercises at 2 o'clock, p. m. In the evening of Wednesday occurs the banquet of the senior class. On Thursday evening Superintendent and Mrs. Perry will give a reception to the senior class, at their residence on E. Washington street. The regular graduating exercises take place on Friday, at 10 o'clock a. m., in the High School chapel. On the evening of Friday occurs the annual banquet of the High School alumni.

When will people learn to sign their names to items they send to newspapers for publication?—Manchester Enterprise.

Never. Here is a harder one. When will people ever learn that it takes time to set up the type necessary to fill up a paper, and that it cannot all be done in a half day? For instance, a paper coming out on Wednesday, is actually flooded Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning with items, advertisements and articles to "be published this week, sure." Hardly a week passes but items and articles have to be left out because there is not time to put them in type.

In another column of this paper will be found a description of the Hotel Winchelsea, of which S. R. Winchell, formerly of Ann Arbor, and a brother of the late Dr. Alexander Winchell, is the manager, and H. C. Winchell the clerk. As Mr. Winchell has been a teacher for many years, very naturally he designs to make this hotel a home for that class of people while in Chicago, visiting the World's Fair, though all reputable people will be welcomed. The building is a handsome one, nicely furnished, and with plenty of bath rooms for which there is no extra charge. Rates from $1.00 to $2.50 a day. The National Educational Association have made this their headquarters, and teachers and students alike will find this a cheap, safe, and in every way desirable place. And it is considerable to feel and know that one is in a perfectly safe place, especially in Chicago, in a crowd. The hotel is located at 4931-41 Indiana ave., near 50th st., and the hotel's own carriages and buses run to the grounds, or the elevated R. R., or street car lines, either one can be taken. If any of our citizens desire to secure quarters for themselves, family or friends, they will do well to write to S. R. Winchell, 262 Wabash avenue, in regard to the same. Prof. Levi D. Wines is the agent here in Ann Arbor, and any further information relative to the hotel will be gladly furnished by him.

Called back to health—every tired, ailing nervous woman. The medicine to bring her back is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. If she's weak, run-down, and over-worked, that builds her up; if she suffers from any of the distressing derangements and diseases that afflict her sex, it corrects and cures. It's an invigorating, restorative tonic, a soothing and strengthening nerve, and the only guaranteed remedy for the ills and ailments that beset woman. It regulates and promotes all the proper functions, improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, brings refreshing sleep, and restores health and strength. All "female complaints" and weaknesses are positively and permanently cured with the "Favorite Prescription." It's the only medicine for them that can be, and is, guaranteed. If it doesn't benefit or cure, in every case, you have your money back. Something else may be better for the dealer to sell—but think for yourself whether it can be "just as good" for you to buy.

A GHASTLY FIND.

The Story of Long Forgotten Crimes at Fairbault, Minn.

For two months workmen have been excavating at Fairbault, Minn., for the foundations of a new theater building. The site is on the principal street of the city, almost opposite the post office and the leading hotel. Fronting the street there is a bed of sandstone. Behind this is soft clayey earth. The sandstone was first cut through and then work was begun on the clay. Here it was found that a cellar of some kind had formerly been built, though it was now filled with earth.

While a workman was digging in a corner of this cellar on the afternoon of May 8th, his pick unearthed something that looked like the bones of a man's arm. A few more blows of the pick and a skeleton was brought to view. Physicians examined the bones and pronounced them to be those of a woman. The find did not at first excite any unusual interest, as it was supposed that the skeleton was the remains of some person buried years ago in the ordinary way.

But on closer examination one of the doctors made a discovery. He found a three cornered break in the skull under the right ear—a break like that which is made with a heavy hammer. The ground where the skeleton had been found was then gone over carefully. Near where it had lain were unearthed a butcher knife and a rusty hatchet. The skeleton was four and a half feet in length. After an examination of the teeth it was decided that the bones were those of a girl not more than 18 or 19 years old at the time of her death.

Everyone was convinced that the and an almost forgotten chapter of history was recalled by old residents. On the ground where an excavation is being made a livery stable was built in 1857. It was destroyed by fire two years ago. From 1852 to 1875 there stood there the one building on the ground now covered by the town of Fairbault. This building was an inn, a postoffice, a stage office, a blacksmith shop and a general store. It was a stopping place for stages running from St. Paul to Rochester, further south, and for people on their way to the gold fields of California.

The building was a frame structure one and a-half stories high. Old Jacob Crows, who had put it up and who ran the inn and general store, made lots of money. He made remittances to the St. Paul bank by nearly every trip of the stage.

Finally a rival came, and Crows began to lose many of his respectable customers. Disreputable people began to hang about the place, and there were rumors of queer doings in the inn at night. Travelers were warned to shun it.

Stories were told of mysterious disappearances. Men would drive up to the tavern in the twilight after a long journey and ask for food and lodging. They would enter, and that would be the last seen of them.

"They had a hard trip before them," old Jacob Crows would say to such as made casual inquiry, "and got off long before daylight."

But horses would turn up days or weeks later which looked very much like the animals these travelers had ridden.

On June 12, 1857, two girls, Vira and Addie Lawson, left St. Paul by the Burbank coach line. They were on their way east from the Pacific coast. Their parents had died in California and they were going to relatives in Connecticut. Vira carried with her $1,400 in gold, her father's savings. The girl was inexperienced and had probably made no secret of the fact that she had a large sum of money in her possession.

It is not known whether the stage driver was a confederate of the Crows' gang, but anyway the two girls were taken to the tavern and told to stop there for the night. They never were seen again.

It happened that some persons who had become interested in the girls while on their journey made inquiries about them. Crows was questioned. He said that they had left the next morning, he thought, for the south, where they could get a train. But the questioners were not to be put off so easily. Investigation developed the fact that the girls had not reached their immediate destination further down the line, and that they had not been seen to leave Fairbault.

People now began to do more than whisper their suspicions and to point meaningfully. There was talk of securing Crows' arrest. On June 19, when the stage came in from St. Paul, the tavern was deserted. Not a soul was about the place. Nobody had seen the inmates leave.

An examination of the house was made. Four rooms at the back were used for guests. One of these rooms revealed the secret which had been puzzling the scattered population of Rice and Goodhue counties. In it was found a curtain hanging from the ceiling to the floor and serving as a partition. Against this curtain was standing a table and by the table was a chair, with its back to the curtain. Under the chair was a trap door four feet square, opening into a cellar between 10 and 15 feet deep.

There was a slit through the curtain about on a level with the head of the person when sitting in the chair. It was thought that when a traveler came to the tavern who was supposed to have money he was given this room. Then one of the gang would hide behind the curtain with a hammer in his hand. When all was ready the murderer would deal the death-blow, the trap door would be opened and the victim would fall into the cellar. The body would then be rifled and buried either in the cellar or in the rear of the house.

The surrounding country was for a time considerably excited over the matter, but no effort was made to bring the murderers to justice. Neither was any search made for the bodies of possible victims.

At the time 21 cases were mentioned of people who had been known to enter Crows' inn and who were never seen again.

All this was revealed in Fairbault when the skeleton of the girl was discovered in the excavation. A thorough search of the plot of ground was begun with the result that eight other skeletons have been unearthed. One of these is a woman's. It is thought certain that the two female skeletons are those of the Lawson girls. An effort has been made to communicate with the girls' relatives in Connecticut, but so far without success.

At least two of the male skeletons have been pretty positively identified by articles found near them. By one was a knife about 10 inches long. On one side is the inscription, "The gold fields of death," on the other side, "Harry Mawson, Ohio, 1855."

Near the remains of another man were a steel pocketbook and a silver coin. On one side is engraved, "Remember mother," on the other side, "Charles B. Langton, Boston, Mass. Seven years old Oct. 13, 1839."

The same indentation of the skull was observed in the skeletons found. Usually it was over the right ear, but sometimes it was on top of the skull. Langton's skull had three in-head and sometimes at the base of dentations as though the man had made a struggle for life.

The plot of ground has been dug to a depth of about 10 feet. It is possible that more skeletons may be found further down. It is hoped that more of the remains may be identified. Old people in this section of country are being questioned as to their knowledge of travelers who passed through at the time of the murders.—Detroit Evening News.

One of the Brightest Charms.

Of a fair face is a fine set of teeth. The ladies being fully alive to this fact, patronize SOZODONT in preference to any other dentifrice, since they know by experience that it preserves like no other the pristine whiteness and cleanliness of the teeth, and makes a naturally sweet breath additionally fragrant. It is one of the privileges of the beau sex to look lovely and that proportion of it which uses SOZODONT, has learned that the article contributes in no small degree to the end in view. All druggists sell it.

Expressions that are Incorrect.

Miss Hodgkins, teacher at Wellesley College, has prepared for the benefit of her young lady students the following list of words, phrases and expressions to be avoided:

Guess, for suppose or think.
Fix, for arrange, or prepare.
Ride, and drive, interchangeable. (Americanism.)
Real, as an adverb, in expressions, real good, for really, or very good, etc.

Some, or any, in an adverbial sense; e. g.: I have studied some, for somewhat; I have not studied any, for at all.

Some ten days, for about ten days.
Not as I know, for that I know.
Storms, for it rains, or snows, moderately.

Try an experiment, for make an experiment.

Singular subject with contracted plural verb, e. g.: She don't skate well.

Plural pronoun with singular antecedent. Every man or woman should do their duty; or, if you look any one straight in the face they will flinch. Expect, for suspect.

First-rate, as an adverb.
Nice, indiscriminately.
Had rather, for would rather.
Had better, for would better.
Right away, for immediately.
Party, for person.
Promise, for assure.
Posted, for informed.
Post graduate, for graduate.
Depot, for station.
Stopping, for staying.
Try and go, for try to go.
Try and do, for try to do.
Cunning, for smart, dainty.
Cute, for acute.
Funny, for odd, or unusual.
Above, for foregoing, more than, or beyond.

Does it look good enough, for well enough.

The matter of, for the matter with.

Like I do, for as I do.

Not as good as, for not so good as.

Feel badly, for feel bad.

Feel good, for feel well.

Between seven, for among seven.

Seldom or ever, for seldom if ever, or seldom or never.

Taste or smell of, when used transitively.

More than you think for, for more than you think.

These kind, for this kind.

Nicely, in response to an inquiry.

Healthy, for wholesome.

Just as soon, for just as lief.

Kind of, to indicate a moderate degree.—Buffalo Evening News.

Patent medicines differ—One has reasonableness, another has not. One has reputation—another has not. One has confidence, born of success—another has only "hopes."

Don't take it for granted that all patent medicines are alike. They are not. Let the years of uninterrupted success and the tens of thousands of cured and happy men and women, place Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription on the side of the comparison to which they belong. And there isn't a state or territory, no—nor hardly a country in the world, whether its people realize it or not, but have men and women in them that're happier because of their discovery and their effects.

Think of this in health. Think of it in sickness. And then think whether you can afford to make the trial if the makers can afford to take the risk to give your money back, as they do, if they do not benefit or cure you.

Ruskin's Poems.

Though not classed as one of the English poets, John Ruskin has produced considerable verse. Here are some examples:

At the age of 14 he made pilgrimages with his parents to Skiddaw and Snowdon, the Jungfrau and Mont Blanc, and inspired by the mountain scenery he wrote these lines:

"I weary for the fountain foaming,
For shady home and hill;
My mind is on the mountain roaming,
My spirit's voice is still.

"I weary for the woodland brook
That wanders through the vale;
I weary for the heights that look
Adown upon the dale.

"There is a thrill of strange delight
That passes quivering o'er me
When blue hills rise upon the sight
Like summer clouds before me."

Like other poets he sometimes permitted his muse to dwell lovingly upon the charms of spring, and here is one of the results, which is not without beauty:

"Infant spirit of the spring,
On thy flesh-plumed pinion bring
Snowdrops like thy staidest brow—
Violet, primrose—call them now
With the cup of daffodil,
Which the fairies love to fill,
Ere each moon-dance they renew,
With the fragrant honey dew;
Bring them, spirit—bring them hither
Ere the wind have time to wither,
Ere the sun to steal their dyes,
To paint at eve the western skies;
Bring them for the wreath of one—
Fairest, best that time hath known."

An extract from one of his earliest poems is of a more serious turn:

"That Great One whose spirit interweaves
The pathless forest with their life
Of leaves;
And lifts the lovely blossoms, bright
In birth,
Out of the cold, black, rotting, charnel
earth;

Walks on the moon-bewildered waves
at night,
Breathes in the morning breeze, burns
in the evening light;
Feeds the young ravens when they cry; uplifts
The pale-lipped clouds among the mountain cliffs;
Moves the pale glacier on its restless
path;
Lives in the desert's universal death;
And fills with that one glance which none elude,
The grave, the city, and the solitude."

The latest of Mr. Ruskin's poems was written in 1887. The following is a sample of it:

"Fishes in the sea—
Apples on the tree,
What is it to me,
Baby, whose they be?"

Durability of Woods.

Experts seem to be divided as to which of the two hard woods—Jarrah and karri—of Western Australia is the most durable.

Jarrah wood piles two feet two inches square, driven thirty-three years ago at the Largs Bay pier, were found, on examination, to be as sound as the day they were put in.

Some specimens of karri wood taken from a fence, were recently sent to London, and, though the wood had been underground for twenty-five years, it was perfectly sound. A specimen of jarrah wood under similar circumstances showed serious decay.

Timber of the tamarisk or shittim wood has been found perfectly sound in the ancient temples of Egypt in connection with the stonework which is known to be at least 4,000 years old.

In some tests made with small squares of various woods buried one inch in the ground the following results were obtained: Birch and aspen decayed in three years; willow and horse-chestnut in four years; maple and red beech in five years; elm, ash, hornbeam and Lombardy poplar in seven years; oak, Scotch fir, Weymouth pine and silver fir decayed to a depth of half an inch in seven years; larch, juniper and arbutus were uninjured at the expiration of seven years.

The redwood of California has the quality of being nearly fireproof. The root of the briar is the only wood which does not burn when exposed to fire.

Cocoon-wood is the hardest known wood; oak is the strongest. The heaviest British wood is that of the box-tree, which sinks in water. Hornbeam is the strongest and toughest wood for mechanical use.

The strongest American wood is the nutmeg hickory; the most elastic, the Tamar oak; the heaviest, the bluewood of Texas.

In situations so free from moisture that we may practically call them dry the durability of timber is almost unlimited. The roof of Westminster Hall is more than 450 years old. In Stirling castle are carvings in oak, well preserved, over 300 years of age. Scotch fir has been found in good condition after a known use of 300 years, and the trusses of the roof of the basilica of St. Paul, Rome, were sound and good after 1,000 years of service.

Wood constantly wet in fresh water is quite as durable. Piles were dug from the foundations of the old Savoy Palace, in a perfectly sound state after having been down 650 years. The piles of Old London bridge were found sound and perfect 800 years after they were driven.

Hutzel's Water Back!

A very important invention which will be hailed with delight by every body using a stove or range for hot water circulation. After years of experience we have succeeded in producing a simple and perfect WATER BACK.

It overcomes all the present troubles of extracting lime and other sediments which accumulate in water backs, often making them useless and in great many instances becoming dangerous.

The outlay of dollars is reduced to dimes. No household using a range can afford to be without it.

No more trouble by using city water for hot water circulation.

Can be used in any stove. Ask your stove dealer for Hutzel's Water Back.

Mason & Davis Co.'s ranges for sale at C. Eberbach are provided with our improvement.

Everybody call and examine this useful invention.

SOLSVILLE MIRACLE.

A TRUE ACCOUNT OF THE SUFFERINGS AND RESTORATION OF PHILANDER HYDE.

HE SUFFERS INTENSE AGONY.

Helpless and Bed-Ridden, and Longs for Death—His Recovery from this Pitiable Condition—A Remarkable Narrative.

(From the Syracuse Standard.)

During the past few months there have appeared in the columns of the Standard the particulars of a number of cures so remarkable as to justify the term miraculous. These cases were investigated and vouched for by the Albany Journal, the Detroit News, Albany Express, and other papers whose reputation is a guarantee that the facts were as stated. That the term miraculous was justified will be admitted when it is remembered that in each of the cases referred to the sufferer has been pronounced incurable by leading physicians, and at least one of the cases was treated by men whose reputation has placed them among the leaders of the world's medical scientists, but without avail and the patient was sent to his home with the verdict that there was no hope for him, and that only death could intervene to relieve his sufferings. When some months later the restoration to health and strength of the former sufferer was announced it is little wonder that the case created a profound sensation throughout the country. Recently the following letter, which indicated an equally remarkable cure, came under the notice of the Standard:

Solsville, Madison Co., N. Y., June 5th, 1892.

Five weeks ago, father, Philander Hyde, was very low and not expected to live, but a short time. He was in such agony that we had to give him morphine to relieve the terrible pain from which he was suffering. The doctors had given him up. They said there was no help for him, and my dear father longed for death as being the only certain relief from his sufferings. One day he saw in the Albany Journal an account of how a man who, afflicted like father with locomotor ataxia, had been very benefited and hoped for permanent cure from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. On learning that these pills could be had of Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, and that they were not expensive, my husband sent $2.50 for six boxes of them. And what a blessing they have been! Father has taken four boxes of the Pink Pills. He is no longer confined to his bed, but is able to get up without assistance and with the aid only of a cane to walk about the house and all around out of doors. He has a good hearty appetite, for food agrees with him, the pain in the back from which he suffered so long and so terribly has left him. He has no more creeping chills and he appears and says he feels like a new man. The doctors had pronounced his disease to be creeping paralysis and said he could not be cured. How glad we are that we heard about these wonderful Pink Pills, and how thankful we are for what they have done for father. Indeed they have done wonders, yes, even a miracle for him.

Respectfully yours, MRS. WM. JOHNSON.

The above letter indicated a cure so remarkable as to be worthy of the fullest investigation, and the Standard determined to place the facts, if correctly stated, before the public for the benefit of other sufferers, or if unfounded, to let the public know it. With this end in view a reporter was sent to Solsville with instructions to give the facts of the case as he found them. So he went, and on Tuesday, August 2, 1892, called upon Philander Hyde.

Mr. Hyde walked into the sitting-room, and said he would willingly tell the story of his sickness and cure, and had no objection to its being published, as it might be the means of helping to relieve others whose sufferings were the same or similar to what his had been.

His story was as follows: "My name is Philander Hyde. I am nearly 70 years old—will be 70 in September. I was born in Brookfield, Madison County, where all my life was spent until recently, when, becoming helpless, my son-in-law was kind enough to take me into his home, and from him and my daughter I have had the kindest care. My life occupation has been that of a farmer. I was always prosperous and well and strong and rugged until two years ago last winter, when I had the grip. When the grip left me I had a sensation of numbness in my legs, which gradually grew to be stiff at the joints and very painful. I felt the stiffness in my feet first and the pain and stiffness extended to my knees and to my hip joints, and to the bowels and stomach, and prevented digestion. To move the bowels I was compelled to take great quantities of castor oil. Cold feelings would begin in my feet and streak up my legs to my back and would follow the whole length of my back bone. These spells, which occurred daily, would last from two to four hours, and were excruciatingly painful. I could not sleep, I had no appetite, I became helpless, and life was such a burden that I prayed for death. Why, my dear sir, the pain I suffered was more to be dreaded than a thousand deaths.

"While in this condition I was treated by a number of prominent physicians. They did me no good. I soon became perfectly helpless and lost all power of motion even in my bed."

"On the 24th of February last," said Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, "we had him brought to our home. He had to be carried all the way in a bed. He was so helpless and such a sufferer the doctors gave him up. They said he had locomotor ataxia and that he could not be cured. They stopped giving him medicine and said they could only relieve the pain, and for the purpose he took a pint of whisky a day for three months and morphine in great quantities.

"It was while father was in this dreadful condition that we saw in the Albany Journal the story of a miraculous cure by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. We hadn't much faith, but we felt that it was our duty to try them and so we sent to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, at Schenectady, and got six boxes of the pills. We stopped giving him morphine or any other medicine, cut off all stimulants, and gave him the Pink Pills and treatment according to directions in which each box is wrapped. The effect was wonderful and almost immediate. In ten days after father began taking the pills he could get out of bed and walk without assistance, and has continued to improve until now he walks about the house and the streets by the aid of a cane only."

"Yes," said Mr. Hyde, "and the pain has gone out of my legs. I have no more chills, my digestion is good, and I have an excellent appetite." And then, after a pause, "But, ah me, I am an old man; I have seen my best days, and cannot hope to recover my old vigor as a younger man might, but I am so thankful to have the use of my limbs and to be relieved of those dreadful pains."

Mr. Hyde has continued to take the pills regularly since he began their use, and was on his tenth box at the time he told his story.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, other people in Solsville confirm the accounts of the sickness of Mr. Hyde and of his most remarkable recovery, and a number of others for various ailments, are using the Pink Pills. The mother of Aleb Curtis is using them, and Mrs. Lippitt, wife of ex-Senator Lippitt, is using the pills with much benefit, for nervous debility.

A further investigation revealed the fact that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not a patent medicine in the sense in which that term is usually understood, but a scientific preparation successfully used in general practice for many years before being offered to the public generally. They contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, and the tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration; all diseases depending upon vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities, and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In case of men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork, or excesses of whatever nature.

These Pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., and Brockville, Ont. They are sold in boxes (never in loose form, by the dozen or hundred, and the public is cautioned against imitations sold in this shape) at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company from either address. The price at which these Pills are sold makes a course of treatment comparatively inexpensive as compared with other remedies or medical treatment.

TOAD AND CENTIPEDE.

An Extraordinary Scene in the Court yard of a Texas Town.

In the courthouse yard there were quite a number of large, sleek-looking toads. One of these toads was seen by the loungers about the place, says the El Paso Herald, engaged in an earnest attempt to swallow something that seemed to tax all his energies. A closer examination revealed the fact that the toad had seized a centipede by the rear end and was slowly and placidly stowing him away within his jaws, in spite of the victim's frantic efforts to escape. Nearly one-half of the reptile had disappeared, when the centipede, with the unnumbered balance of his one hundred feet, succeeded in getting a ground hold, and with a desperate effort freed himself from the jaws of the devourer, and was moving rapidly away when the toad, finally realizing the situation, made a jump and again caught his victim. This time the centipede seemed to realize the hopelessness of his situation and frantically turned to the right and left, each time nipping his enemy severely upon the lips and head, but all to no purpose. The toad would coolly brush away these attacks first with one foot and then with the other, all the time taking the centipede in until at last nothing remained but the toad, calmly and serenely seated upon his hunches considering the next move.

THE MAN OF DESTINY.

A Scene on the "Mary Anne" During a Panic Among the Passengers.

It was in the early days of river navigation that a merry party steamed up the Mississippi on the "Mary Anne." Prominent among them was a loud-voiced, overbearing, opinionated man, who took supreme delight in engaging his fellow passengers in long-winded religious arguments. Predestination was his hobby, and all opposition to his views was overborne by sheer aggressiveness and lung power. From dawn till bedtime he rung the change on "Whatever will be, will be," until he became the terror of all.

One night there came a shock, says the Shoe and Leather Review, which brought the boat to a sudden standstill. She had struck a snag. There was really no danger, but for a short time the wildest confusion prevailed among the panic-stricken crowd.

In the midst of it all, our argumentative friend was running to and fro in a frenzy of fear, begging and praying for a life preserver.

"My dear sir," said the captain, soothingly, "why this needless alarm? Remember that whatever has been fore-ordained will be in spite of our efforts to prevent it."

"Oh, I know it," he said, wringing his hands in agony. "I know it. But what is the use to hurry matters?"

NOVEL DUELING.

How Our Indian Neighbors Settle Their Differences.

It is a fact that among American Indians of the same tribe, though they may number thousands, there are few cases of quarrels that ever result in murder. This is strange when it is remembered that the Indian is passionate, uncontrolled in his impulses, cruel and ferocious by nature. They have their difficulties and quarrels, however, but arbitration of the old men prevents bloodshed or murder.

Yet once in a while a fight occurs, and it is a novel sight to witness, says an old western traveler. One buck challenges another to combat. Accompanied by his friends to the battle-ground, each buck is stripped and made to confront the other.

Between them lies a war club, a smooth, long piece of hard wood, seasoned by years of service and regarded with reverence because of the bloodstains on it received during the war. The seconds of the surly-looking duelists toss up a piece of bark. The winner picks up the club and his opponent, folding his arms, plants himself, bending his head.

It is the clubbearer's privilege to whack his antagonist just as hard as he can and with all the vigorous maliciousness he can command on the back. One blow is struck and then the man who has endured it picks up the club and his opponent is subjected to all the force he can command.

So the whacking goes on and almost every blow is a knock-down one, until the duelist last knocked down refuses to accept the club from his opponent. He has had enough and the party breaks up. The severity of the punishment endured in these duels is marvelous. The club used has a jagged edge and every blow struck brings blood, making deep cuts and fearful bruises.

Tongue Twisters.

Over 18,000 tongue-tangling post-cards have reached us in our recent competition, and here we give some of them to our readers to try their skill upon, says London Tit-bits.

Having carefully tested the "tangles" ourselves and on our friends, it seemed to us that one sent in by Rev. A. B. Orr, Denby Vicarage, Huddersfield, "A growing gleam glowing green," and another, "The bleak breeze blighted the bright broom blossoms," by Mr. C. E. Adams, 160 Green Lane, Small Heath, Birmingham, positively defied quick repetition, and as their tripping merit seems equal, we have divided the prize and forwarded checks to each of those gentlemen.

Read the following aloud, repeating the shorter ones quickly half a dozen times in succession:

Six thick thistle sticks.

As I was going down the street I saw two bootblacks—one was a black bootblack and the other a white bootblack, and both had boots as well as blacking and blacking-brushes. The black boot-black asked the white bootblack to black his, the black bootblack's, black boots with blacking. The white bootblack consented to black the black boots of the black bootblack with blacking, but when he, the white bootblack, had blacked one boot of the black bootblack with blacking, he, the white bootblack, refused to black his, the black bootblack's other black boot with blacking unless he, the black bootblack, paid him, the white bootblack, the same as what he, the white bootblack, got for blacking other people's black boots, whereupon the black bootblack grew still blacker in the face, called the white bootblack a blackguard, at the same time booting the white bootblack with the black boot that he, the white bootblack, had already blacked with blacking.

KEEPS UP WITH THE NEWS.

The Cockroach Prefers the Newspaper Office to the Most Gorgeous Palace.

The keen-eyed cockroach seems to be a native of the well-regulated newspaper office. If you have any business with Mr. Roach and fail to find him elsewhere go to a printing office and you will find him looking over the wedding reporter's shoulder or helping the baseball editor to paste his copy together.

I think the roach has a keener sense of humor than even the humorous editor. The roach knows what a joke is and sometimes the editor does not. These sleek birds without a feather have converted my desk into a meeting place or club house, and they transact most of their affairs while I am busy. They are quite fond of display, and, like people who wear diamonds, want to be seen, says a writer in the Louisville Commercial.

Almost every night when I begin to work a battalion of these roaches march out on the smooth surface of my desk and drill like soldiers. The generals of the battalion place the soldiers in command of the captains and then sneak over to the side and eat my paste while the battalion is practicing.

The other night an advance guard of one walked out on my writing paper, and to move him I flipped the end of the sheet and threw him a double berserk. In a moment he was back on the paper again. I kept this up until I discovered that Mr. Roach was delighted with the pastime.

If Columbus had had all the money that has been spent in celebrating his memory, he would have been too lazy to sail in anything but a pleasure yacht.

There is nothing quite so interesting in this world as other people's affairs.

It is an error to suppose that Drunkenness, Morphine and Tobacco Habit cannot be cured. The Double Chloride of Gold is known to be a positive antidote for these habits, or rather diseases, and the wonderful cures effected through its agency have given the remedy a national reputation. Until recently, the "Gold Treatment" was only given at expensive sanitariums, but at the present time it can be had of any first-class druggist. Hill's Chloride of Gold Tablets are guaranteed to cure any case of Drunkenness, Morphine or Tobacco Habit, and no effort whatever is required from the person taking them. The use of Tobacco, Liquor or the Drug is permitted until such time as they are voluntarily given up. These Tablets may also be given without the knowledge of the patient, and a permanent cure is sure to follow their use. The price of the Tablets—$1.00—certainly places them within the reach of all. If your druggist does not keep them, write for full particulars to the Ohio Chemical Co., Lima, Ohio.

If you want to know why wool is lower than last year, it is easily explained. The wool manufacturers refuse to buy of our own growers. They say that congress will give them free wool in September, and then they can get it at their own price.

The commencement exercises at the Dexter High School occur June 23d. There are nine in the graduating class, two boys and seven girls, as follows: Joe Ball, Jay Lucas, Myrtle Bostwick, Agnes Pratt, Minnie Daley, Maggie Phelps, Mamie Phelps, Alice Devine and Anna Lee.

Prof. Still, connected with the State Normal for years, and a man with much gray matter in his skull, has resigned. The professor loves to feel that he knows something that other people do not, and therefore refuses to give the reason for resigning, except that it is not because of a "hot box" anywhere.—Adrian Press.

A brutal Webster, Washtenaw Co. man said to possess unerring weather instincts, prophesies five more full grown cyclones before the end of '93. Ordinarily we would not encourage blood shed; but it wouldn't be wicked for some philanthropist to rise up and skin that prophet's nose.—Adrian Press.

The electric light plant has become self sustaining during the past month. To reach this end in only the third month of its existence is beyond the most sanguine hopes entertained by its promoters. It is announced that the castor oil plant is a valuable protection against mosquitoes—that planted about houses it will drive them away, and that young plants in pots in the rooms, or leaves placed about, will completely rid a house of the pests. This is very important, if true, and it is easily tested.—Ypsilantian.

Many people have arrived at the conclusion, that the only way to get rid of the dandelion is to attempt to cultivate it. That was the remedy of the late Rev. Henry Ward Beecher for Canada thistles. He said that, if farmers would dig about them, the bugs, worms, and other pests would "go" for them, and the crop would be shortened for with.—Northville Record.

A band of Dearborn boys came to Wayne Monday evening, filled up with "bug juice" and made the rounds of the "vestibules of h—t" until closing up time, making Rome howl with a noise that would drive a "song and bear dance" man into his hole.—Wayne Review. Dear born boys, indeed! But why didn't your officials gather them in? Doesn't your library fund need increasing?

Rev. S. T. Morris in Dexter Leader: "Now can not Dexter have a library and reading room? A glance about our little town will show that outside of the saloon there is not a spot in the whole town where a young man can drop in and pick up a newspaper or book. A movement is on foot to provide such a place, but to insure the plan the success it deserves there must be a hearty co-operation of all the societies, orders and churches in the place. With such co-operation it cannot fail."

In the southern counties the wages per month of farm hands average $18.01 with board, and $24.82 without board; in the central counties $17.45 with board, and $26.26 without board, and in the northern counties, $19.28 with board, and $29.39 without board. The average wages paid farm hands are higher now than in any previous year since 1884. In 1890 the average wages paid in the southern counties, with board, was $16.45; in 1891, $16.89; in 1892, $17.59, and in 1893, $18.01.

An exchange says: Take a drive through the country and carry a three foot pine stick with you. Cut a notch every time you see a piece of farm machinery standing out of doors unprotected, wind cracked, paint washed off and iron rusting. We will wager your pine stick gives out before your team gets tired. Implement dealers and manufacturers are not making much fuss about this. It suits them all right, if it suits the farmer. This is the grossest kind of carelessness, and if every farmer would build a cheap, straw covered shed, for tools or implements to shed rain, wind and sunlight, and use it, they would save hundreds of dollars annually.

The Dexter Leader, in closing an article in reference to W. E. Boyden's great stock sale says: "Mr. Butterfield, of the State Board of Agriculture, and Alvin H. Sanders, editor of the Stock-breeders Gazette, seemed to take great interest not only in the sale, but also in the display of fine stock and conveniently arranged buildings of Springbrook farm. In fact Springbrook with its broad acres and magnificent array of buildings so tastefully arranged, is an object of interest to the most listless eye. One may travel hundreds of miles through the best farming lands, without meeting so much capital so judiciously invested in that which goes to make up fine farm appearances and there is no doubt but the thrifty farmers who attended this sale from so many parts of the state are satisfied that old Washtenaw county can show up as thrifty a lot of agriculturists as the average, to say the least."

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

OFFICIAL.

Council Chamber.

Ann Arbor, June 12, 1893.

Special session.
Called to order by Pres. Watts.
Roll called. A quorum present.
Absent—Ald. Wagner—1.

Following is the call:

Ann Arbor, June 12, 1893.
To the City Clerk:—
You are hereby required to call a special meeting of the common council of the city of Ann Arbor, for Monday evening, June 12th, at 7 o'clock, for the purpose of taking suitable action on the death of Alderman A. H. Fillmore.

W. W. WATTS, President.
Ald. Manly moved that the president appoint a committee of three to draft proper resolutions on the death of our fellow councilman, A. H. Fillmore.

Adopted.
Pres. Watts appointed the following committee:
Aids. Manly, Prettyman and Ferguson.

On motion of Ald. Martin a recess of fifteen minutes was taken.

After the expiration of fifteen minutes the council re-assembled and the committee on resolutions on the death of Ald. Fillmore offered the following resolution:

"We, the Common Council of the City of Ann Arbor, assembled, having learned of the death of Alderman A. H. Fillmore, in due appreciation of his service to his ward and city are desirous of acknowledging his worth as an officer by placing on the records of the city, the following resolutions:

"Be it Resolved, That in the death of Alderman A. H. Fillmore, we lose a true friend, a genial associate and an able counselor, and the city an official ever at his post ready for duty, discharging his official acts without fear or favor.

"In due respect to his memory and past service, it is ordered that his chair be properly draped for the period of thirty days.

"Be it further Resolved, That individually as well as an official body, we extend to the family of the deceased, our heartfelt sympathy in this their hour of affliction.

"Be it further Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon our records and a transcript therefrom be furnished the press of the city, and that the clerk be and is hereby instructed to present to the family of the deceased a true copy thereof."

Ald. Snow moved that the resolutions be accepted and adopted.

Adopted.
Ald. Prettyman moved that this council and the city officers be notified to meet at the council chamber June 13th, at 4 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of attending the funeral of Ald. A. H. Fillmore.

Adopted.
On motion the council adjourned.

WM. J. MILLER, City Clerk.

Resolutions of Thanks

Passed by Welch Post, No. 137, G. A. R., at its regular business meeting, June 9, 1893.

WHEREAS, The Post feels under special obligations to all (especially the authorities of the University, for the use of University Hall,) who so kindly assisted them in the exercises of Memorial Day, this year, it offers the following:

WHEREAS, On the occasion of our Memorial Services, on the evening of Memorial Day at University Hall, we were favored with singing by the girls and boys of our public schools, in a manner which reflected credit upon all who took part, especially to Miss Lucy K. Cole, teacher of music in the public schools, through whose efforts such gratifying results were attained, (we congratulate the school board in having the services of so efficient a teacher.)

Therefore be it Resolved, That we extend our grateful acknowledgments to Professor Perry for his interest in gathering the children for instruction in our patriotic songs; to Miss Anna D. Robinson for valuable assistance; to the boys and girls for the part they took in giving us such charming singing; and to the teacher, Miss Cole, who are under obligations and trust that she may live long to grace our future memorial occasions. "We thank them one and all."

And be it further Resolved, That we tender the thanks of this Post to the Misses Mingay, Anspach, and the young ladies of the fifth ward, in the manner of delivery and choice of recitations rendered by them.

And be it further Resolved, That we, as a Post, extend to the teachers of the fifth ward school, (especially Miss Flora C. Goodale) and the scholars of the same, our sincere thanks for the patriotism displayed in preparing and performing the musical exercises of Memorial Day at Forest Hill as well as the fifth ward cemetery.

Resolved, That we, as members of Welch Post, No. 137, Grand Army of the Republic, in regular session assembled, desire to tender to Rev. Augustine S. Carman, pastor of the First Baptist church of Ann Arbor, our sincere and unstinted thanks for the masterly, historical and appropriate sermon, delivered before us on Memorial Sunday, May 28, (as well as for the other courtesies extended to us as a Post, on that occasion.)

And be it further Resolved, That, deeming the said production of such intrinsic value, we do hereby appoint a committee to call on the Rev. Mr. Carman and secure, if possible, a copy of the above mentioned sermon for publication in one of the most widely circulated newspapers of the city.

And be it also Resolved, That we tender our sincere thanks to the Common Council, Ann Arbor Rifles, Co. A, Light Infantry, the S. of V., Woman's Relief Corps, and to the citizens generally, for assisting us in the observance of these solemn exercises, in such an impressive manner, thereby instilling the principle of patriotism into the minds of the rising generation, and thus greatly assisting us in doing our duty toward our departed comrades.

And be it finally Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the Proceedings of this Post, and also that copies of the same be furnished to the different newspapers of the city for publication.

WORLD'S FAIR VISITORS

From Ann Arbor are respectfully invited to make note of the Following Facts:

1. It is not desirable to have a room near the entrance to the Fair grounds, on account of the noise of the cabmen, fakirs, teamsters, newsboys, etc., who throng the streets in the neighborhood of every entrance. The dust flying in the air in that neighborhood renders life miserable to one who has any regard to cleanliness.

2. The prices charged in that neighborhood for rooms, board, and most other articles of necessity or comfort, are at least double those charged a mile or more west or north.

3. The danger from fire is much greater on account of crowding so many people into a single house and a limited district. At all hours of the night there are men and boys about the place, some working and some carousing, and it is almost impossible to sleep with any degree of comfort or security.

Hotel Winchelsea, is a large building a mile and a half northwest from the grand entrance to Midway Plaisance, in a quiet and respectable neighborhood, between 49th and 50th streets, on Indiana avenue. It is built of stone and brick, containing 138 rooms, constructed for permanent use as flats, three stories high, with a bath room for every suite of rooms, all new and newly furnished.

The 51st street station of the Elevated R. R. is only two blocks distant which takes passengers into the ground, or to the business center for 5 cents.

Carriages and busses run regularly between the house and the grounds for the special accommodation of guests—fare to Midway Plaisance ten cents.

Rates to guests for room without board, from $2 to $5 a day, which may be divided by two if two persons occupy the room.

A First-Class Restaurant is open in the same building, where a good meal may be had for 50 cents or less.

ESTATE OF CAROLINE H. CHAPIN.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Washtenaw, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, on Monday, the 5th day of June, in the year one thousand, eight hundred and ninety-three.

Present, J. Willard Babbitt, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Caroline H. Chapin, deceased.

Charles B. Chapin, the administrator of said estate, comes into court and represents that he is now prepared to render his final account as such Administrator.

Thereupon it is ordered that Friday, the 20th day of June inst., at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for examining and allowing such account, and that the heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, in said County, and show cause, if any there be, why the said account should not be allowed; And it is further ordered, that said Administrator give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said account, and the hearing thereon, causing a copy of this order to be published in the Ann Arbor Courier, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.
