The Supervisors Annual Pie at Ann Arbor's Expense.

The chronic appetite known as the board of supervisors, went through its annual act of adding to the equalized valuation of Ann Arbor city again last Thursday. The committee on equalization,—four members, at least—had been working incessantly for three, long, busy weeks in figuring out how they could take from their own valuation, and add to that of the city. It was not a question with them, whether it was right or not, (no city supervisor was conferred with or asked what he thought, or in any way consulted about the matter) but it was a question of how much they should take, because they had the power and proposed to do it anyhow.

Of course we realize that it is not customary when a man is going to rob you to tell you about it, and confer with you as to how much he shall rob you of.

Last year they practically added $888,000 to Ann Arbor's assessed valuation—that was a fine record for them to go to their constituents on! This year they were more modest and only added $200,000 to Ann Arbor and $50,000 to Ypsilanti.

The following figures show how they divided the plunder this time:

Ann Arbor town	$10,000
Bridgewater	15,000
Dexter	10,000
Freedom	10,000
Lodi	20,000
Lyndon	10,000
Manchester	25,000
Northfield	10,000
Pittsfield	20,000
Salem	15,000
Saline	15,000
Scio	15,000
Sharon	20,000
Superior	15,000
Webster	20,000
Ypsilanti town	20,000

The towns of Augusta, Lima, Sylvan and York, for reasons best known to themselves, probably, were left without any of the pie.

* * * *

The four members of the committee concocting this gigantic scheme each unloaded $20,000—nothing selfish about that! But the queerest freak in the whole business was the reduction of Manchester $25,000! What earthly reason there was for it no one seems to know except that the committee had that much to scuttle in some way, and Watkins, the supervisor, is one of the jolly good fellows of the Board. And he labored with them incessantly to that end. The town did not deserve it. It is one of the best in the whole county. It is wide awake and thriving. There is no dead wood in Manchester, and there is not a township in the county so so rich in good farms, live business houses in a thriving village, bright, active and well-to do men and women, as in Manchester. It is the last one in the bright galaxy of Washtenaw county townships that one would think belonged in the charitable column. But there it went, while townships like Lyndon, and Freedom and Northfield had to be content with a paltry $10,000. "Justice" looked through queer eyes, that time.

* * * *

When one considers that this amount of $250,000, by being taken from the tax rolls of these towns and added to the burdens of the city taxpayers ,makes in reality $500,000 the richness of this supervisor's gold mine can be readily appreciated.

At the rate the transfer of tax burdens has been going on for the past years from the county towns to the city, it is only a question of time when the city will not only have to pay all the taxes, but actually pay a per capita premium to the residents of these townships.

It has been suggested that this last statement is overdrawn; perhaps it is; time alone can tell; but that's the way it looks now.

The complaint is constantly made by county supervisors that Ann Arbor is not assessed high enough, but yet no one ever brought forward a figure to prove such an assertion.

* * * *

In looking over a Kalamazoo paper the other day we came across the work of the supervisors there, and we find Kalamazoo city valued at only $6,719,190!

Kalamazoo is a place of 25,000 inhabitants. It is worth double Ann Arbor city to-day in wealth and manufactures, and yet its supervisors place it at only $1,000,000 more than our supervisors do Ann Arbor, our figures being $5,175,000.

In Washtenaw county there are 20 townships; in Kalamazoo 16; and yet Ann Arbor pays more than one-fifth of the whole tax of the county, while Kalamazoo though double the size of Ann Arbor, and having four less townships to help her out, pays less than one-fourth the tax of the entire county. This goes to show the injustice with which the county supervisors treat Ann Arbor. And yet you might as well try to give the man in the moon a Delsarte movement as to try to argue with one of these supervisors on this point. They are as deaf as a stone monument and as silent as the sphinx.

Their answer is: "We have got the votes; this is our pie; we propose to slice it up as we choose and eat a piece every year. In the language of the mortal Flannigan, of Texas, 'That's what we are here for.'"

Here is the way the equalization committee worked this year, (and it is a specimen of every year). Toward the last end of the session they got together and discussed this one point only: "How much shall we give the city of Ann Arbor this year?"

There was no comparing of rolls—except the log rolling done by the supervisor from Manchester—no questions asked of the supervisors from the city of Ann Arbor, as to their opinion as to what was right; in fact the question of right never once entered the minds of the committee, it was a question of might.

After the amount was agreed upon as $200,000 then they set about dividing the swag. This was a somewhat difficult task as they all wanted it, and the Manchester man especially, and he succeeded so well in showing that he had more personal on his books than all the other supervisors put together, prevailed upon the committee at last to give him the biggest slice. After each of the committee had agreed to keep for their own use $20,000 then they set about giving to their personal friends on the board. And that's the way it was done. And that is probably the way it will continue to be done until the injustice gets so rank, as it has in some counties, that the legislature will interfere, and fix it so that the imposition can be continued no longer.

That our readers may know just how much the city has been raised since this "salting" business commenced, we give below a table, showing equalized valuation as it was in 1883, and as it is now, with the increase and decrease for each district. It will be interesting to peruse!

	Equaliz'd 1883.	Equaliz'd 1893.	Decrease
Ann Arbor city	$ 4,577,000	$ 5,175,000	$
Ann Arbor town	1,285,000	930,000	355,000
Augusta	693,000	562,000	131,000
Bridgewater	1,020,000	765,000	255,000

Superior	1,220,000	955,000	265,000
Sylvan	1,230,000	905,000	325,000
Webster	1,125,000	855,000	270,000
York	1,156,000	972,000	184,000
Ypsilanti town	1,295,000	950,000	345,000
Ypsilanti city, 1st dist	1,890,000	1,883,000
Ypsilanti city, 2d dist	683,000	535,000	148,000
	$30,000,000	$25,000,000	$ 5,713,000

The increase has been $598,000 for Ann Arbor city, and $5,000 for the first district of Ypsilanti. The decrease for the townships and the 2d district of Ypsilanti city, as will be noticed, has been $5,713,000!

It is a wonderful record, isn't it?

When the basis of equalization was changed from thirty millions to twenty-five million dollars, the towns took it all themselves and gave this city none, though Ypsilanti city did receive a share of the same.

We hope that our friends, the supervisors of the various townships, will cut out this table, paste it in their hats, and bring it to the next meeting of the Board. It may be a help to them when the question is asked them, as it always is in the equalization committee, "well, how much shall we raise Ann Arbor this year?"

They may take occasion to look over the figures of the past, and it is possible that their consciences may get a chance to work on them a little.

Mr. Duncan, of Northfield, who voted with the city supervisors against the committee's report this year, did so in the interest of his own township. By adopting that report Webster was reduced $20,000, Salem $15,000, and his own township only $10,000, thus giving them the advantage of his town in the fractional school districts, and practically raising the taxes in Northfield, while lowering his rich neighbors.

He was simply making an attempt to get a just division of the plunder.

* * * *

It must be remembered that all this time the assessed valuation of these towns has been going down. Every year the supervisors have been shrinking the value of the property they placed upon their assessment rolls.

That our readers may have some idea of the extent of this shrinkage, we give below a table showing the assessed valuation in 1883, and the same in 1893, together with the amount each township has decreased its property:

	Assessed Valua'n 1883.	Assessed Valua'n 1893.	Decrease
Ann Arbor city	$ 4,784,980	$ 5,582,860	$
Ann Arbor town	1,316,630	1,128,035	188,595

	$33,473,105	$28,594,300	$ 3,026,385

In the meantime the property on the rolls in the city of Ann Arbor has increased $797,870, and in Ypsilanti $419,200.

In other words, the assessed valuation of the towns has been decreased $3,026,385, while the assessed valuation in the cities has been increased $1,254,670.

A difference of over $4,200,000 in ten years!

You would hardly believe it, but such is the fact, nevertheless, as these figures are taken from the proceedings of the Board of Supervisors, as found on their journal in the county clerk's office.

Under One Man's Control.

The sales of Armour & Co., Chicago and Kansas City, for the fiscal year ending April 1, 1893, were $210,000,000, that is over $300,000 for every working day in the year. The firm killed 1,750,000 hogs, 1,080,000 cattle, 625,000 sheep. It employs 11,000 persons and pays them $5,000,000 wages. It has an equipment of 4,000 cars, 700 horses. And the brains and push of this gigantic enterprise lie with one man—American Grocer.

The World's Columbian Fair, just closed, has been a success beyond the highest expectations. It was greater than the last Paris and Centennial expositions put together. It has been a mighty educator,—an upbuilder in all lines of human work and thought. All its bonds were paid off, and the treasurer has over two millions of dollars for the stockholders, nearly enough for a 50 per cent dividend. Chicago may well feel proud of such a brilliant success, while the whole world may feel proud of Chicago.

No railroads being built this year. Never can build railroads during democratic administrations.—Harbor Springs Republican.

The record of railroad accidents to passenger trains so far this year is 24 in number, with 203 people killed, and 548 wounded. The greatest ever known in any one year.

What a mess of it the Courier would make if it made the law! It wants the code to permit a verdict of "Guilty, but not proven." Where then would be the prisoner's hope? The law is better now, in holding him innocent until proven guilty.—Ypsilanti Sentinel.

The Courier did not ask for anything of the kind. Simply suggested such a change in the code would be a great help to jurymen, ofttimes.

The Altruist Society in this county is a settled fact. The Gibson farm in Whigville has been purchased and the rosiest dream of Bellamy will be out-dreampt and outdone too if the community has good luck. If you want to live in peace with your fellow man, go over and join. One hundred dollars is the amount required on the go in.—Fenton Independent.

Remember that a dollar spent in the community may come back to you in its active rounds of duty between the merchant, the farmer and the home manufacturer. But when sent off to purchase foreign supplies, it is withdrawn beyond your reach and is missed in the activities of trade and lessens the demand for your productions on the farm and in the factory. The free trade invites you to send your money away, protection enables you to keep it in circulation at home.

Congressman Weadock, of Bay City, proposes to make membership in the secret society known as the A. P. A., a sufficient ground on which to disfranchise a man. That is, he has introduced a resolution in congress to deprive Congressman Linton, of Saginaw, of his seat, because he was said to have been elected by votes of that order. If he is successful the next thing will be to deprive men of their right to vote because they are Masons, or Odd Fellows or Knights of Pythias. Congress will hardly dare set that precedent.

The New York papers seem to have just found out that there has been a great World's Fair in progress in Chicago this summer. After the affair is over, and they can in no way benefit it, they commence to praise and give illustrations. In the meantime the great western and central portions of this Union have arisen and made a success of the fair without the aid of the mighty New York. In acting like a little spoiled child, mad because the chunk of sugar did not fall in its hands, New York has not been able to play, at all this summer. The loss is New York's alone, that is one satisfaction. By not attending the show they have lost something that they never can regain. The show was the greatest on earth, and to Chicago and the great west alone is due the glory.

Hood's Pills do not purge, pain or gripe, but act promptly, easily and effeciently. 25c.

HOW DO OUR FARMERS LIKE IT?

If you desire to know something of the effects of the present democratic policy of the nation upon the people, it is well to listen to what our neighbors have to say occasionally.

Here is an extract from the Ridgetown (Canada) Plaindealer, of Oct. 5, 1893, that we should be pleased to have our democratic readers peruse and ponder over:

"A Washington dispatch says: It will be of interest in Canada to know that the ways and means committee has probably decided to put the following articles on the free list: Wool, binding twine, cotton bagging and ties, lead, tin, iron ore, coal, timber, hewed and sawed and unmanufactured, salt, hemp, needles, copper ore, vegetables, meats, game and poultry, eggs, beans and seeds. It cannot be stateed that this is official, for the committee is working in secret and all official information is witheld. The chairman of the committee, Mr. Wilson, of West Virginia is in an embarrassing position as to coal, for his state is a coal producer, and is opposed to the abolition or reduction of the duty of 75 cents a ton on bituminous coal.

"Canada will share freely with other nations the reciprocal effect of the advantage to be secured by the American consumers.

"Last year wool produced in Canada, to the value of more than $200,000, was exported to the United States in spite of the duty of 11 cents and 12 cents a pound. National prejudice will no longer make the American refrain from wearing cheap woolen goods, even if the sheep which bore the wool nibbled grass springing from Canadian soil.

"Meats, game, poultry and seeds may be called staple Canadian products. Beans are an important product in western Ontario and other parts of the dominion, and mutual advantages will follow the tariff removal.

"The egg market of the American cities will be specially valuable to the Canadian farmers. The placing of this important product on the free list will relieve the consumers of the fancy prices they are occasionally obliged to pay, and will at the same time afford an outlet for the Canadian products at prices as high or higher than can be obtained at home."

And so Wilson is having a little trouble is he? There are some men in his district who want protection for themselves? They vote for free trade, and then when it comes to business, sneak in before the committee and ask protection for their own interests, but free trade for their brethren in other localities! That's the idea of free trade justice most free traders possess. Protect us, but do not protect our neighbors.

But what do our farmers think of the above? How will they relish coming in competition with Canadian wool, for instance, without any tariff, especially when $200,000 worth has been sent in here despite the existing tariff? How will they like to have this market thrown open to all the products of Canadian farmers without let or hindrance? Will it be desirable?

THE ASSASSAIN AGAIN.

The assassination of Hon. Carter Harrison, mayor of Chicago, by a crank, at his home in that city Saturday, was a most deplorable event. He was shot down in his own home, as a dog would be in the street. The fellow who did the deed is named Eugene P. Prendergast, an ex-policeman, and who did the shooting as he said because Mr. Harrison had agreed to appoint him corporation counsel, and failed to do so. The fellow delivered himself up voluntarily, and gave that as his reason for doing the awful deed.

The entire nation, regardless of party, will mourn Chicago's loss. Mr. Harrison, much to the surprise of the country, made a splendid mayor for the World's Fair City. He was elected largely by a questionable class of people, but he did not favor them in the least, on the contrary, every known pickpocket and crook who found his way to the World's Fair was immediately arrested and convinced that he better leave the city on the first train. The mayor was a man of fine presence, and had honored his city by representing it as its head during the visit of noted people at the fair this summer. He was a man 68 years of age, a cousin of ex-President Harrison, a widower, and was to have been married on the 7th of November, to Miss Howard, of New Orleans, a very wealthy lady, about 30 years old. He leaves two sons.

Gov. Altgeld and his bloody anarchists can now have another season of rejoicing.

OUT OF WORK.

A census has been taken by the American Economist, of the employees in various factories when Cleveland was elected in November, 1892, and in September 1893. A comparison shows out of 143,041 employed in November, only 56,384 had work ten months later; while the 1892 weekly wages were $1,509,891 and the 1893 weekly wages were $459,089. This showed a decrease in labor of 61 per cent., and a decrease in wages of 69 1-2 per cent.

Michigan has not even fared so well, for where she had 10,847 employees at work in 1892 only 2,352 were employed September '93. The weekly wages had dropped from $92,467 to $20,437. The cause for this is given in detail and is almost uniformly because of the fear of the effect of a change in tariff.

The Economist has these reports tabulated by various factories and in summing up says:

"The effect of a reduction in the tariff on business, as given by our correspondents, who are men occupied in all branches of life, who have been trained to business and have had such experience as entitles their opinions to be worthy of very considerable weight, is conducive to the belief that there is a very gloomy future in prospect for the United States. There are few cases where the tariff does not directly affect the industries enumerated, but in those cases it is clearly stated that business will be affected by the surrounding conditions; that where any change in the tariff affects other industries and the wage-earning power of the people, it must, indirectly, affect all industries. People who are earning less money have less money to spend. The comforts and luxuries to which wage earners have become accustomed under their prosperity must be done without, thus curtailing the production and supply of such things, thus affording less work for those who are engaged in their output, thus making more abundant and cheaper the general supply of labor, and thus it comes around that labor has less money with which to buy; that fewer goods will be sold; that goods must be sold at cheaper price, and that outputs must be curtailed.

"It is plainly stated by manufacturers that where a reduction in the tariff would enable the importation of foreign goods the wages now paid to those engaged in similar industries must be reduced to the level of those who work in the same industries abroad, or else the American factories must be closed. It is a plain case of working for less money, in proportion to the reduction made in the new tariff, or else having no work at all.

"Again, the point is made that our output of American goods must be decreased by the quantity of foreign goods of a similar nature that shall be imported in the future over and above the present importations. The consumers will not buy one each of an American shirt and an English shirt when they need only one shirt. They will not buy two hats when they need but one hat, or two pairs of shoes when they need but one pair of shoes. The quality of the goods being equal, they will buy the cheapest, and the cheapest can be supplied by the country that is paying the lowest rate of wages, and if the American manufacturer cannot place his goods upon the market on an equality with the foreign manufacturer, and does not receive ample protection through our customs tariff to enable him to do this, then he must close his works and his laborers must be idle."

In the year 1723, a law was enacted in Maryland that for the third offense of blasphemy or of denial of the doctrine of the Trinity or utterance of any profane word concerning the Trinity, the offender upon conviction or confession should be put to death without benefit of clergy. For the second offense he was to be branded (by burning) in the forehead, with the letter "B," and fined forty pounds, or if the fine could not be collected he was to be imprisoned twelve months. For working on Sunday or allowing children, servants or slaves to do so, or for hunting, fishing or anything of the kind, the offender was to be fined 200 pounds of tobacco. That is the sort of "religious liberty" that prevailed in that colony one hundred and seventy years ago. But to-day even, men are tried and imprisoned according to law, in the state of Maryland, for exercising their moral right of obeying the dictates of their own consciences in regard to the day that they shall observe as a day of rest. There isn't such a great difference after all, is there, between 1723 and 1893?—Midland Republican.

The supervisors of Hillsdale county raised the township in which Jonesville is situated $49,353; and two wards in Hillsdale city $44,500, and one other town $12,000, and divided the plunder among themselves. The Hillsdale supervisors have been a long time catching on, but they seem to have made a start.

STATE OF NEW YORK, } ss.
County of Washtenaw. }

Lucien Rodd of Whitehall, N. Y., being by me duly sworn, deposed and says that some years ago he suffered very greatly with insomnia, nervous prostration, and his body was so covered with sores that he was hardly able to comb or even brush his hair, so great was the pain it occasioned.

That he consulted the local physicians without successful result; that he took quantities of medicine with no benefit whatever; that physicians told him his disease was incurable and he had come to the same conclusion himself and had made up his mind to go to a hospital and await death.

That just about this time he learned about Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, which he began to use. That this remedy entirely relieved and cured him, healed and dried up his sores, enabled him to sleep soundly and comfortably, and restored him to his ordinary vigor and vitality, in short, made a sound and well man of him so that he was fully able to work at his occupation, and has done so since that time.

That he attributes his recovery to Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, as it restored him when everybody and everything else had failed and he had been given over to go to the hospital and die.

MR. LUCIEN ROOD.

Mr. Rood makes this statement voluntarily and cheerfully out of sincere gratification for what the remedy has wrought for him.

LUCIEN ROOD.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 15th day of January, A. D., 1893, and I certify the affiant to be a credible and reliable person, whose statements may be accepted with confidence and implicitly relied upon, having known him personally for the last twenty-five years, and that I have no interest, direct or indirect, immediate or remote in this matter.

HON. WILLIAM H. TEFFT.

{SEAL} Notary Public in and for said County and State, residing at Whitehall, where this deposition was taken and executed.

Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is purely vegetable and is sold by druggists for $1.00. As is proven by the wonderful cure of Mr. Rood, it is the very best medicine possible to take for the blood, nerves, liver, kidneys, etc. It is the discovery and prescription of Dr. Greene of 35 W. 14th st., Ne wYork, the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. The doctor can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

Overdid It.

An eccentric clergyman in Cornwall has been much annoyed by the way the regular members of the congregation had got of looking around to take stock of late comers. After enduring it for some time he said on entering the read-desk one day: "Brethren, I regret to see you attention is called away from your religious duties by your natural desire to see who comes in behind you. I propose henceforth to save you the trouble by naming each person who may enter, and I hope that the services will then be allowed to proceed without interruption."

He then began, "Dearly beloved," but paused half way to interpolate, "Mr. Stubbins, with his wife and daughter."

Mr. Stubbins looked rather surprised, but the minister, with perfect gravity, resumed his exhortation. Presently he again paused, "Mr. Curtis and William Diggle."

The abashed congregation kept their eyes studiously bent on their books. The service proceeded in the most orderly manner, the parson interrupting himself every now and then to name some newcomer. At last he said, still with the same perfect gravity, "Mrs. Symons in a new bonnet."

In a moment he felt his mistake, but it was too late. Every feminine head in the congregation had turned around.—Christian Nation.

D. Lothrop Company have published many a dainty book for children, but their list for 1893 seems choicer than ever. Be sure to ask for their three new color books. "The Child's Day Book," is compiled and arranged by Margaret Sidney, as is "Lullabies and Jingles." Margaret Sidney, all parents know, can be trusted to give the right touch to such books. The other dainty color book is "Mother Goose's Ball" by Annie M. Street. This is the inviting title to the feast of joys inside.

A Song of Get There.

You kin hear the storm winds blowin' from the land, an' from the sea,
An' they're knockin' down the steeples an' they're makin' mighty free;
But in spite o' wind an' thunder we are goin' to hold the fort,
An' we ain't a goin' under while we're twenty miles from port!

Fer you jes' kin say
That we're built that way;
An' we go to bed at sundown,
An' we rise at break o' day!

Though our ships may toss an' dangle on the billows beatin' high,
If the sails are out o' tangle we will make it by an' by;
An' the brighest stars'll spangle o'er the thunder's smokin' fort,
An' in spite o' all the wangle, we'll go sailin' into port!

Fer you jes' kin say
That we're built that way;
An' we go to bed at sundown,
An' we rise at break o' day!

Mighty London.

Ten thousand new houses are annually added to the 700,000 dwellings which shelter London's population of 5,000,000.

Sixty miles of shops open every Sunday in London, and there are 1,400 places of worship and 12,000 public houses.

Late statistics show that out of London's 5,000,000 inhabitants more than 300,000 families earn less that 3 shillings a day.

There are 99 different banking companies in London. The bank of England turns out about £24,000,000 worth of notes a week.

London's river has over 700 acreage of docks. Those at Tilbury are large enough to accommodate the whole shipping of London.

Ten million letters are delivered each week in London by over 4,000 postmen, who walk a distance equal to twice the circumference of the globe.

London's 60,000 streets, if put end to end, would reach from London to St. Petersburg, yet some 30 miles of new streets are laid out yearly.

A birth takes place in London every three minutes and a death every five minutes. Recently the births registered twice the number of deaths.

London's area is larger than New York, Paris and Berlin put together, an area which may be represented by a circle of thirty-six miles in diameter.

The monetary value of this mighty Babylon is worth 2 1-2 times as much as Paris. There are fifty people with incomes over £100,000 a year cash.

It has been calculated that the annual income of the London Jews is nearly £5,000,000, which means that the Jews are 2 1-2 times richer than Gentiles are.

Nearly 1,000 children are born yearly in London workhouses. Two years ago there were more than 12,000 ablebodied paupers in those charitable institutions.

SAD END OF THE FAIR

ALL JUBILEE CEREMONIES AT CHICAGO ABANDONED

The Tragic Death of Mayor Harrison Causes a Change in the Program for the Closing Day of the Greatest Fair Ever Held—Flags at Half-Mast.

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—All the jubilee ceremonies projected for the closing day of the Fair have been abandoned. The exercises which were to have been held in Festival hall at 1 o'clock to rejoice over the success of the Exposition were turned into a brief, impressive service in recognition of the dead mayor's connection with the directory. Prayers were offered and fitting resolutions adopted, but there were no speeches. This change of program was agreed upon at an informal conference of officials Sunday morning in the director-general's office. Those present were: Col. Davis, Director Edwin Walker, President Palmer and P. A. B. Widener of the national commission, Assistant Director of Works Graham and F. D. Millet, director of ceremonies.

It was taken for granted by the conferees that the festivities planned for to-day would not be held, and the only subject under discussion was as to the propriety of a memoral meeting. Several suggestions were made, but it was finally decided that some official expression of the prevailing sentiment of sorrow would be proper, and Director-General Davis accordingly issued the following announcement to the public:

"OFFICE OF THE DIRECTOR-GENERAL, WORLD'S COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION, ADMINISTRATION BUILDING, JACKSON PARK—In view of the assassination of the chief magistrate of the city of Chicago the ceremonies which were announced to take place to-day in connection with the closing of the World's Columbian Exposition will be wholly dispensed with, except that all heretofore invited guests and the public generally are requested to assemble in festival hall at 1 o'clock p. m., as originally intended. The Hon. Thomas W. Palmer, president of the World's Columbian commission, will preside. Prayer will be offered by Rev. John Henry Barrows. Appropriate resolutions, formulated by the following joint committee, which has been appointed for the purpose, will be submitted by President H. N. Higinbotham.

National commission.	Board of Directors.
Thos. W. Palmer.	H. N. Higinbotham.
D. B. Penn.	Lyman J. Gage.
P. A. B. Widener.	Edwin Walker.
R. L. Saunders.	Ferd. W. Peck.
Geo. V. Massey.	Robert A. Waller.
A. H. Mitchell.	George R. Davis.

"All the festivities arranged for the closing ceremonies will be omitted with the exception of an appropriate salute and the lowering of the United States flag at sunset.

"It is further ordered that the flags upon all buildings within the grounds remain at halfmast until the closing of the Exposition.

GEORGE R. DAVIS,
Director-General."

At the request of Mrs. Potter Palmer, president of the board of lady managers, the reception in her honor announced by the national commissioners of the World's Fair to be given in the New York building this evening was postponed indefinitely on account of the tragic death of Mayor Harrison. Invitations have been issued to several hundred guests, and these are now canceled.

Out of respect for the memory of the mayor of Chicago and the mourning of the city the farewell reception of the French commissioners is postponed till Friday, Nov. 3, at 8:30 p. m.

Mayor Harrison's last public expression was full of hope and vigor. Standing in music hall at Jackson park before a great concourse of chief executives and municipal officers, a little before noon Saturday, he said that it was a pleasure to him to welcome the officials to witness the dying scene of the Exposition.

"It is a little chilly in weather," he said, "but the sun is coming out and you have a warm beat from the heart of our people. Thus it is that this dying scene, while the e beauties are passing away, this World's Fair is showing itself in its most majestic proportions as the moment approaches for it to pass away forever." He told how the Fair sprung up in two years from a morass, the home of the muskrat, the realization of the divine madness of artists and architects, and summed up his thought in this sentence: "Genius is but audacity, and the audacity of the wild and woolly west and of Chicago has chosen a star and has looked upward toward it and knows nothing that it will not attempt, and thus far has found nothing that it cannot accomplish."

After praising Chicago for the dauntless courage which made her and achieved the Fair, he said: "I myself have taken a new lease of life, and I believe I will see the day when Chicago will be the biggest city in America and the third city on the face of the globe."

By order of the director-general all the flags on the Exposition grounds were at halfmast. The bands, which, in the absence of instructions, had begun playing the regular program, were ordered to stop and a tone of quiet was observable everywhere.

Just the Name.

Some years ago a Rochester clergyman in baptizing a baby paused in the middle of the service to inquire the name of the infant, to which the mother, with a profound courtesy, replied:

"Shady, sir, if you please."

"Shady?" replied the minister. "Then it's a boy, and you mean Shadrach, eh?"

"No, please, your reverence, it's a girl."

"And pray," asked the inquisitive pastor, "how happened you to call the child by such a name?"

"Well, sir," responded the woman, "if you must know, our name is Bower, and my husband said as how he should like her to be called Shady, because Shady Bower sounds so pretty."—Quips.

A Contrast.

Governor Russell's little son Eustis surprised his mother one morning a short time ago by exclaiming, "Mamma, I want a dark breakfast." Mrs. Russell was at a loss to know what he meant and demanded an explanation. "Well," replied the young hopeful, "last night you told Mary to give me a light supper, and I didn't like it. Now, mamma, please do let me have a dark breakfast."—Boston Globe.

SCENES OF MUCH INTEREST.

Galleries of Chamber Thronged with Anxious Spectators.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—This is a field-day in the senate. No greater degree of interest has been shown at any stage of the long eight-weeks struggle than was manifested to-day.

The question at issue has been virtually decided, the battle has been waged and won, the weapons of the opponents of unconditional repeal have been sheathed and the victorious forces are simply awaiting the final vote to register their triumph. To-day the leaders of the opposing factions deliver their valedictories to the country—from one side the justification for the long opposition and the reasons for the ultimate surrender; from the other the calm, dispassionate statement of the principles for which the majority contended and the meaning of the victory achieved.

The public had ample warning of the great speeches to be delivered and before 11 o'clock the galleries were black with people and the press gallery thronged with the newspaper correspondents who have vigilantly watched this fiercely contested battle from its outset. From the heavily upholstered diplomatic gallery a number of the foreign ministers looked down and listened.

The scene on the floor was impressive. Almost every seat was occupied, while a hundred representatives from the house were ranged against the wall. A death-like stillness prevailed, broken only by the rise and fall of the voices of the speakers. The senate and the galleries seemed awe-stricken Every one seemed deeply affected with the idea that the result of this great parliamentary struggle about to be terminated was fraught with gigantic importance to the country and that the policy about to be inaugurated was for weal or for woe to 67,000,000 people.

HONORS TO MICHIGAN.

Edwin F. Uhl Nominated for Assistant Secretary of State.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The President to-day sent the following nominations to the senate:

State—Edwin F. Uhl of Michigan to be assistant secretary of state, vice Josiah Quincy of Massachusetts resigned.

James R. Roosevelt of New York to be secretary of embassy at London, vice Henry White resigned.

Mr. Uhl is a leading lawyer of Grand Rapids, and is said to be specially fitted for the position. There is, however, some surprise that he should accept it, as he declined in the spring another assistant secretaryship paying a larger salary. His present appointment is said to have been inspired by ex-Postmaster General Don M. Dickinson.

Total Number of Prizes for this County, 226.

CAUTION.—No Tags will be received before January 1st, 1894, nor after February 1st, 1894. Each package containing tags must be marked plainly with Name of Sender, Town, County, State, and Number of Tags in each package. All charges on packages must be prepaid.

READ.—SPEAR HEAD possesses more qualities of intrinsic value than any other plug tobacco produced. It is the sweetest, the toughest, the richest. SPEAR HEAD is absolutely, positively and distinctively different in flavor from any other plug tobacco. A trial will convince the most skeptical of this fact. It is the largest seller of any similar shape and style on earth, which proves that it has caught the popular taste and pleases the people. Try it, and participate in the contest for prizes. See that a TIN TAG is on every 10 cent piece of SPEAR HEAD you buy. Send in the tags, no matter how small the quantity.

Very sincerely,
THE P. J. SORG COMPANY, MIDDLETOWN, OHIO.

A list of the people obtaining these prizes in this county will be published in this paper immediately after February 1st, 1894.

WONDERFUL CURES!

THOMAS MINCHIN.

Before Treatment. After Treatment.

Nervous Debility and Catarrh Cured.

Thomas Minchin says: "I was reduced to a nervous wreck—only weighed 118 pounds. The result of early abuse was the cause. I had the following symptoms: Miserable mentally and physically, melancholy, nervousness, weakness, specks before the eyes, dizzy, poor memory, palpitation of the heart, flushing, cold hands and feet, weak back, dreams and losses at night, tired in the morning, pimples on the face, loss of ambition, burning sensation, kidneys weak etc. Doctors could not cure me; but Drs. Kennedy & Kergan by their New Method Treatment, cured me in a few weeks. I weigh now 170 pounds. It is three years since I have taken their treatment."

MAJOR W. A. SIMFIELD.

Before Treatment. After Treatment.

Blood Disease and Dyspepsia Cured.

Major Simfield says: "I had Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the Stomach for many years. To make matters worse I contracted a Constitutional Blood Disease. My bones ached. Blotches on the skin looked horrible. I tried sixteen doctors in all. A friend recommended Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. I began their New Method Treatment and in a few weeks was a new man with renewed life and ambition. I cannot say too much for those scientific doctors who have been in Detroit for fourteen years. I conversed with hundreds of patients in their offices who were being cured for different diseases. I recommend them as honest and reliable Physicians."

83-yr

UNIVERSITY.

There are seven U. of M. graduates in the Boston School of Theology.

Douglas Sherley was entertained by the Phi Delta Theta boys when here.

Ned. Beck, lit. '93, now on the Chicago Tribune staff, spent Sunday at the Beta Theta Pi house.

The U. of M. Republican Club is fully alive this year, while their opponents do not appear to be very active.

The Wisconsin foot ball team are to tackle the U. of M. eleven on Saturday afternoon next, on the athletic field.

R. E. Minahan, M. D., of Wisconsin, was elected president of the senior law class last Saturday. There were four candidates.

"Ted" Smith, of Chicago, a former popular member of the U. of M. Glee Club, has been visiting old friends here during the week..

The committee chosen to have charge of junior lit. affairs consists of Messrs. Welch, McPherran, Weeks and Misses Crane and Colby.

Cornell is to play Minnesota at Minneapolis, on Thanksgiving Day, and get $1,000 for it. The sympathy here is all with the Minnesota boys.

The junior law election, which is to come off Nov. 11, will be a very exciting affair. Candidates for president are pushing their claims in a lively manner.

Grand High Priest Bagg, who was here last Thursday night, giving a School of Instruction to the R. A. Masons, was entertained by the Beta Theta Pi fraternity, whose pin he wears.

The Supreme Court has decided the case of Julius Weinberg et al vs. The Board of Regents of the University of Michigan, in favor of the Regents. It holds that suit should have been brought against the contractor, and not against the Regents.

Harvard has over 3,000 students. That knocks out the U. of M. this year, the great west having suffered more severely from the hard times than has the slow going east. The students here are largely drawn from the silver states, that are now so badly effected by business inactivity.

Populist Jerry Simpson, he of the long hair and sockless feet, lectures before the Ann Arbor students Friday evening, Nov. 10, on "The Decline of Agriculture, and some of the Causes." If Jerry says anything about the scarcity of good soil, we suggest that his shoes be searched.—Dundee Ledger.

To any one who has heard the local oratorical contests it is unnecessary to say anything. They are among most interesting events in college life. No one should fail to miss them.—Daily Times.

Now the question is, did the writer say what he meant? And if so, did he mean what he said?

The sophomore lits. met Saturday and chose the following executive committee to represent their interests: J. Baird, in foot ball; W. D. McKenzie, in base ball; T. P. Hickey, social; J. L. LeRoy, track athletics. The co-ed member was not chosen, but will be later when selected by them.

The alumni of the Michigan Agricultural College attending the University met and formed a temporary organization, Monday, with C. P. Locke as chairman, and F. P. Lawrence, as secretary. The association will be made permanent, as there are a large number of Agricultural College students here.

At the meeting of the Congress of Anthropology, held recently in Chicago, "The Work Done in Anthropology at the University of Michigan," was the subject of a paper by Mr. H. I. Smith, '95 Lit. The paper caused quite a little talk on account of the progress made here in so short a time. The paper was also favorably mentioned in the editorial columns of the American Antiquarian.

Since the defeat of the U. of M. eleven Saturday afternoon, by the University of Minnesota eleven, at foot ball, on the athletic grounds, our boys have felt considerably discouraged. Criticisms have been made fast and freely, some of which are just, and some very unjust. The fact appears to be that our boys have not as yet got their winning clothes on. Victories can not always come our way; we must have some defeats, and it appears to be our turn just not to be defeated. These defeats early in the season are oft times a good thing. They point out where the defects are, and enable the boys to earn victories later on when victories are more desired. The U. of M. eleven will yet come to the front. Just wait a bit. We'll wager that there'll be a U. of M. victory Saturday.

It will be remembered by our readers that there was some kicking last spring on the result of the intercollegiate field day in Chicago, June 2. It was claimed that Mr. Holt, the track athletic manager, entered several men who were not students of the University. Among these were Mitchell, Keep, and Patterson, who made good records, winning points for the U. of M. Saturday Chas. Baird went to Chicago and met other members of the executive committee to settle the matter. All the points won by these outsiders were thrown out, so that the points finally stood 49 for the U. of M. and 45 for the U. of W. This result gives Michigan the championship still, and will stand as the final decision of the matter. The result, however, as given above hardly shows the relative strength of the two athletic teams from Michigan and Wisconsin since in many of the contests no other Michigan men were entered than those whose records were thrown out, giving Wisconsin the full number of points. The settlement was made, however, as well as it could be under the circumstances.—Daily Times.

A Georgia Philosopher.

When the sun was blazin' and blisterin' down,
He'd cross his legs an' say:
"Here's what I hold: Ef the weather was cold,
We wouldn't be makin' hay!"

When it rained three weeks, with never a stop,
An' folks for the sun was wishin',
He'd sorter smile an' say: "Arter a while,
There'll be powerful lots o' fishin'!"

When the engine jumped an' the train was ditched,
An' the folks by the wreck surrounded,
He says, says he: "Ef we'd been at sea,
Hanged ef we wouldn't ha' drowned!"

An' when they told him the jig was up
An' he'd die, some time er other;
He says, says he: "Mighty glad it's me—
Fer it might ha' been Molly an' mother!"

The Dropped Stitch.

Grandmother sat in her easy chair,
Knitting a little girl's stocking;
And she didn't know that she dropped a stitch,
While she sat there knitting and rocking.

But by and by, when the stocking was worn,
There appeared a great hole in the knee of it,
Which grew, till the little girl found to her shame,
The hole was all the people could see of it.

A little girl went to school one time,
But to study she didn't feel willing;
So she sat and played without thinking then
Of how much time she was killing.

But when she at last to womanhood grew,
She found too late, to her sorrow,
That the lessons unlearned were the stitches she'd dropped,
And no mending-time could she borrow.

So now, little friends, you'd better take heed
And improve every hour with its niches,
For life is too short for you to make up
For any lost time or dropped stitches.

—Etta M. Murray.

The Old Church Bell.

It's rustin' in the steeple, for it's been a many a year
Since we heard it on the evening breezes swell;
Since across the vale and mountain it has summoned them to prayer—
The old—the old church bell!
The dusk owl hoots around it, but it has no tale to tell!
It is silent in the steeple—the old church bell!

Did it cease its pleasant chiming when the pastor, bent and gray,
Was laid within the old church yard to rest?
When they dressed the church in mourning on that desolated day,
When his faithful hands were folded o'er his breast?
Not much! it has a story that is different to tell—
The sheriff—he has levied on the old church bell!

A. L. Noble returned from his business trip to New York Monday. He reports great stagnation in certain lines of trade down there.

D. F. Schairer returned from Chicago Monday. He says the excitement over Mayor Harrison's assassination completely overshadowed everything else.

Mr. and Mrs. Will A. Brown returned to their home in Minneapolis Saturday, after a very pleasant visit with relatives and friends in this county for a couple of weeks.

The Hon. C. R. Whitman kindly gave the Times the substance of the recent decision of the supreme court in the case of Weinsberg vs. the Regents. The facts were briefly this. Wm. Biggs took the contract for building the hospitals. He sublet the contract for a part of the work to Lucas. Weinsberg supplied Lucas with material, and not receiving his pay, brought suit against the regents for it. His contention was that a statute referring to the construction of state, county or town buildings, specifies that bonds for the security of laborers and others furnishing material, shall be exacted from the contractors, and that the regents had failed to require such a bond in this instance, therefore becoming liable. It was one feature of the case that whether the liability rested on the University as a corporation, or on the regents individually, or on the executive board—consisting of the president and secretary, was in question, in case there should really be any liability at all.

The decision of the court frees the University and its agents from all liability whatever under the statute quoted.

The theory of Judge Grant, who is supported by two other justices, is that the University is a constitutional corporation, not a statutory one, and that the board of regents is an independent legislature vested with its control and responsible directly to the people. Although as much a state institution as the Normal school and Agricultural college, yet it is differently originated and controlled. The property of the state is held in trust by the board of regents. The legislature may appropriate money for the University and make conditions in the grant as to how it shall be used. The regents accept this money as trustees to use according to the terms of the grant. The title is vested in the regents of that portion of the state's property under their control. Such being the facts of the relations of the University to the other departments of the state government, the statute above quoted cannot be held to have any application to that institution or its officers. Justice Montgomery rendered a dissenting opinion, holding that liability existed under the statute against the executive board.—Daily Times.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

HON. JERE SIMPSON.

The above is said to be an excellent portrait of the Hon. Jeremiah T. Simpson, the famous populist sockless congressman from the breezy state of Kansas.

Mr. Simpson is to hold forth at University Hall, before the S. L. A., Friday evening Nov. 10, on "Some of the Causes of the Decline in Agriculture," or words to that effect.

While a great deal has been written and said in a jesting way about Mr. Simpson, the fact remains that he is nobody's fool, and will doubtless have a great deal to say that will interest his audience.

Alpena.

A little over 200 miles north of Detroit on Michigan's eastern shore lies one of our most enterprising and hustling cities, Alpena. The shelter of Thunder Bay and the river gives protection to vessels loading or unloading, while this same river has been the carrier for millions of logs floated down from the interior, which have supplied the huge mills with sawing for thirty years.

Untold wealth has come from their lumber, until, now, when the pine has been nearly exhausted, the lumbermen have purchased large pine limits across the lake in the Georgian Bay region. Thence tugs tow the logs across to be sawed up in Alpena. This adds fifteen years to the work of the mills.

But the hustling business men are solving the problem which faces all lumber towns in another way. Among the pine forests are great quantities of soft woods, bass, poplar, birch, hemlock, etc. These are being utilized by the establishment of a large pulp mill, making paper pulp by the German sulphite fibre process; also a hemlock bark extract plant; a large spool factory, an excelsior factory, carriage works, etc. A fine electric light plant is run by water power.

Alpena has a population of over 14,000, with assessed valuation of real estate at $4,000,000. Many miles of block pavement have been laid, good school buildings, churches and hotels are enjoyed.

In boring for salt a number of years ago, strong magnetic sulphur water was discovered and a handsome bath house has just been completed where the rheumatics get in condition to throw away their canes.

Good farming lands are being cleared all about Alpena, the soil and climate being found especially adapted for plums and other fruits.

Her people are very hospitable, as was demonstrated this summer when the State Press Association was there, and at any time the people stand ready to welcome visitors.

Circuit Court Proceedings.

The following cases have been disposed of since our last report:

Wm. Boughton vs. L. S. & M. S. R. R. Verdict of jury for plaintiff, $2,500.

The People vs. Lyman Brown. Recognizance fixed at $1,000.

Mary Hutchinson vs. The City of Ypsilanti. Verdict of court, no cause of action.

Ludwig Becker vs. Franz Kapp. Verdict for plaintiff $600.

Lucy A. H. Wood vs. Carlos W. Childs. Decree granted of $1,398.25.

Acelia M. Wood vs. Stowell Wood. Divorce. Decree granted upon the ground of cruelty, with custody of minor child.

Henry E. Lutjen et al vs. Wm. Meyer et al. An injunction restraining a portion of a church congregation from interfering with the holding of divine services in the St. Paul's German Evangelical church at Whittaker station, in Augusta. On trial.

WE NEED MONEY!

And to get it we are selling goods at prices that cannot help but bring us the required amount.

We have had our choice of fine stocks from manufacturers who are hard up for cash, and in buying so liberally we feel the need of ready money.

Ours is the finest in the state. We have created a demand for fine goods, and the trade comes to us for anything they need that is right.

Cheap stuff is expensive at any price, but good goods at fair prices are always cheap.

Of the estimated expenses for the ensuing year, there is due the poor fund twenty-nine hundred and seventy-nine and 8-100 dollars, from towns and cities for last year's board and care of their poor at the county house. There is due from the guardian of Roper Whiteman, eighty-six and ten 100ths dollars for his board, clothing and care for the last year.

This will leave Five Thousand, Five Hundred dollars to be provided for.

We would respectfully ask you to allow us what you please, and with no prevailing diseases or extraordinary expenses, we will do what we can to keep the expenses as low as good care and the best interests of the county will admit. In July last, much to our surprise and unanimous regret, we received the resignation of Charles Mc Cormick and wife as keeper and matron of the county house. We wish to express our unanimous regret at having them leave us and also that we are under many obligations to them for the very faithful and untiring diligence they have shown in the discharge of their duties. And our best wishes for their future welfare and happiness.

All of which is respectfully submitted by the undersigned Superintendents of the Poor of Washtenaw County.

ELISHA LOOMIS,
C. H. KEMPF,
E. P. MASON.

Mr. Edwards moved that the report be received and referred to the committee to settle with the superintendents of the poor.

Mr. Miner moved as a substitute that the superintendents be instructed to change their report so as to make said report conform to the facts, and when said report was so changed that it be referred to the committee to settle with the superintendents of the poor.

Carried.

Mr. Scott moved that the clerk be authorized to advertise for sealed proposals for medical attendance on the prisoners in the county jail for ensuing year, said attendance to include medicine and surgery, and that said bids be handed in on or before Friday, October 20, 1893, at 2 o'clock, P. M. Carried.

Mr. Oesterlin, from the committee on public buildings presented the following report, which was, on motion, accepted and adopted and ordered printed with the proceedings.

To the Honorable, the Board of Supervisors, of the County of Washtenaw:

GENTLEMEN:—Your committee on public buildings, beg leave to respectfully report, that at a meeting of your said committee, held at the court house, on the first day of February, 1893, we examined the roof of the court house and found it necestary to cause extensive repairs thereto to be made. The flat tin part was found to be full of small holes and leaking badly, doing damage to the frame work and greatly injuring the ceilings. After full examination we engaged Charles Grossman of Grossman & Schlenker, to repair the same and put the same in thoroughly good condition, which was done at a cost of $311.01.

At which meeting we also found on inspection, that the cooking-range at the jail was badly burned and wholly useless for which the same is used, and your committee thought it prudent to purchase a new range, which was ordered from Eberbach & Sons at an expense of $35.00, the old range and old gasoline stove being traded toward such new range.

Your committee also found, that the return pipes on the boiler in the court house from some cause were leaking badly, and that water was kept in the boiler with great difficulty; the pipes are laid under the cement bottom of the court house and it was a work of considerable trouble to find the broken pipe, the cement covering having to be cut in many places. It was also found that a new pump had to be procured for the court house boiler—for all of this work and other needful plumbing at the court house, done by Hutzel & Co., your committee have expended the sum of $96.74.

For plumbing and gas fitting at the jail the sum of $33.18 has been expended.

On account of the storms of last winter, and from other causes, many of the glasses in the court house have been broken, and your committee have been compelled to lay out and expend the sum of $110.09 for new window glasses and their setting at the court house, and for the same purpose at the jail the sum of $18.38, the work and material having been done and furnished by William Herz, esq., and the sum of $2.20 for painting screens, doors and windows at the jail.

The document book and records at the treasurer's office have accumulated to such an extent that a new file case was found to be a necessity and one was ordered from Rauschenberger & Co., for the sum of $85.00.

At the last session of your Honorable Board the purchase of the Reports of the Supreme court of the United States was ordered and your committee found that no proper use of the books could be made without a suitable book-case, the book-case in the court room was full without it and a new book-case was purchased for the sum of $30.

Your committee have expended the sum of $5.00 for the repair to tables in the court house—one in the probate office and one in the treasurer's office and one at the jail for the sum of $3.00.

Your committee have had great trouble with the boiler in the court house, either the boiler is old and considerably worn or else the person in charge is not sufficiently competent to properly manage the same, the grates were worn or burnt out and much and frequent repair were needed to proporly heat the court house, and your committee have been compelled to pay out for all such purpose during the year to Lawrence Sutter the sum of $108.43, which sum represents all labor and material.

The chimney at the west end of the court house in the Register of Deeds and Treasurer's offices have not properly answered the purpose for a long time, especially in stormy weather, and your committee was advised that they could be remedied at a small expense by the use of the "Star Chimney Top," after a trial which proved satisfactory your committee purchased one for each of said offices at a total expense of $21.00.

Your committee thought it prudent to maintain the shade trees in the court house square. Some trees were dead and others had been removed—the dead trees were ordered cut and young trees planted in their stead, so that the yard is now properly planted with thrifty trees. This was done at an expense of $18.75.

Your committee on inspection found much of the tile flooring of the court house in bad repair and deemed it advisable to cause the same to be properly relaid and repaired. The work was done by John Baumgardner at an expense of $56.50.

The glass in the sky-light in the dome of the court house had long been broken, and your committee thought it prudent to seal the same with matched sealing, making it water-tight, which was done at an expense of $10.05.

Your committee constructed a raised platform for the probate office, and that and other carpenter work done about the court house cost the sum of $35.53.

The repairs in Ann street in front of the county jail consisting of laying an 18 inch sewer pipe in the gutter which was a needful improvement, was done at an expense of $76.56, as follows: For sewer pipe the sum of $66.94, and for labor, the sum of $9.62.

Then was paid to Grossman & Schlenker for 120 tin file boxes for use in the various county offices the sum of $66.00.

To William Herz for painting roof of court house, in probate office and door of circuit judge office for the sum of $84.05, and for painting and lettering file boxes, $21.60.

There was paid for dirt, stone and material to extend the lawn on north side of the jail, $10.10.

For repairing and painting at the county jail, the sum of $6.00.

For digging vault at jail, $4.50.

For carpet in probate office, $5.00.

For three iron hitching-posts in front of jail, $6.00, and providing carry-all for jail, $2.50.

For repairing seats and blinds, including material therefor, $17.85.

Repairing court house steps and floor in jail with cement, $20.91.

The whole amount paid during the past year and since your committee was appointed, for repairs at the court house and jail and fixtures thereto, is the sum of $1,300.93.

All of the work in extending the lawn at the county jail was done by prisoners without cost to the county.

The system of lighting the basement of the court house with electricity proved insufficient, the light frequently being out for days at a time, and other arrangements had to be made, so your committee concluded to contract with the Ann Arbor Gas Company to put in gas fixtures and to furnish gas at $1.25 per thousand feet, since which time the basement has been properly lighted.

All of the aforesaid work and repairs has been done under the personal supervision of the chairman of your committee, and the time which your committee had devoted to such work and for which pay is expected is as follows:

Eugene Oesterlin, 35 days at $3 per day..$	105 00
M. J. Howard, 15 days, at $3 per day.....	45 00
Edwin Ball, 15 days, at $3 per day.....	45.00

All of which is respectfully submitted, and your committee beg to have their supervision of this work approved by your Honorable Board and to be discharged from the further consideration thereof.

EUGENE OESTERLIN.
M. J. HOWARD.
EDWIN BALL.

Mr. Oesterlin, from committee on finance, made the following report, which was, on motion, adopted. The following is the report:*

Mr. Scott, from special committee appointed to consider and report to the board the matter of depositing the county funds, made the following report:

Your committee to whom was referred the care of the county funds, would respectfully report as follows: By a local act passed and approved June 3, 1885, and designated as local act No. 373, which authorized the treasurer of Washtenaw county to deposit the county funds with certain bank or banks on interest, and which reads as follows:

(No. 373).

An Act to provide for the deposit of the county moneys by the treasurer of Washtenaw county with banking corporations on interest, and to authorize the investment of certain moneys now in the hands of the treasurer of said county.

Section 1. The people of the State of Michigan, enact that it shall be lawful for the board of supervisors of Washtenaw county to contract with any bank or banks incorporated under any laws of this state or United States, for the safe keeping of any moneys belonging to the county, and for the payment by such bank or banks of interest thereon, at a rate not exceeding that estabtished by law, interest to be computed upon daily balances, and shall be paid on the 31st day of December, and the 30th day of June, in each year, or at any other time when the account may be closed.

Section 2. Before any deposit shall be made with any bank or banks, as aforesaid, such bank or banks shall execute and deliver to said county treasurer a bond in such sum and with such sureties as may be approved by said board of supervisors; said bond shall be made to the county, and shall be conditioned for the safe keeping and re-payment of such moneys or any part thereof on demand, and the payment of the said interest. Said bond shall also contain other conditions as may be required by said board of supervisors.

Section 3. All interest maneys so paid by every such bank or banks shall be credited, and form part of the general fund of the county.

Section 4. The board of supervisors whenever they shall deem it unsafe to continue said deposits with any such bank or banks, or they deem the security insufficient, may direct the county treasurer to withdraw said deposit from such bank or banks, and it shall thereupon be the duty of said treasurer to demand and withdraw the deposits as so directed by said board. Provided, That if any such bank or banks should suspend payment of its deposits while it may hold any deposit of said public moneys, the county treasurer and his bail or his bondsmen shall not be liable for the amount of any loss that may be occasioned or sustained by such suspension.

Section 5. The treasurer of said county of Washtenaw is hereby authorized with the consent and approval of the judge of probate of said county, to invest any moneys in his hands, subject to the provisions of act number eighty-six, of the session laws of eighteen hundred and eighty-one, approved April 15, 1881, in interest bearing bonds of the county of Washtenaw, or other municipal, state or government bonds, to be approved by the judge of probate.

Whenever said treasurer shall be called upon to pay any money pursuant to the provisions of the act aforesaid, he shall pay the same from the general fund of the county if there be sufficient money in the general fund available for that purpose, and if not, he may negotiate the sale of any bonds authorized by this section, at not less than their par value, to an amount sufficient therefor, and any advances that may be made from the general fund, as herein provided, shall be reimbursed from the interest on any bonds hereby authorized to be issued, or from the principal thereof, any annual balances of interest that may be due or in the hands of said treasurer.

This act is ordered to take immediate effect.

Approved, June 3, 1885.

We would recommend that before any deposit shall be made with any bank or banks aforesaid, said bank or banks shall execute to the county of Washtenaw a good and sufficient bond in the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, with such sureties out of the directors and officers of said bank or banks as shall be approved by this board. We also recommend that the county clerk of Washtenaw county be instructed to call for sealed proposals from the incorporated banks of the city of Ann Arbor for the term of one year, commencing January 1, 1894, for the highest rates of interest, payable on deposits in said bank or banks, interest to be computed on daily balances, to be paid on the last days of June and December; also, for bids on lowest rates of interest on overdrafts on said bank or banks by said Washtenaw county.

Respectfully,
WM. B. OSBORN,
J. L. GILBERT,
EVART H. SCOTT.

Mr. Braun moved that the committee to settle with county officers be directed to make a list of all county orders more than six years old, alphabetically arranged, and that said orders be destroyed; also, that said list be published with the proceedings of this

*See r part at end of proceedings.

Board, said list to contain the name of the person to whom the order is payable; also, the number of the order and the amount. Carried.

On motion, the board took a recess until 2 o'clock p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

3. The following named drains have been begun by me during the year, and are only partly completed, viz.:

The Saline and Bridgewater Drain.
The Saline River Drain.

The Lambardt Drain of the Township of Freedom is surveyed and right of way obtained and will post notices for letting in a few days.

4. The following drains have been applied for but not established, for the reasons given in each instance:

The Stony Creek Drain was surveyed and notices posted for letting to be cleaned out. When I went to let said ditch, some of the parties claimed that the said ditch was never laid out to the width the application called for, so I did not sell the ditch. Will have to get the right of way before anything more is done.

I also received an application to construct a drain in the village of Willis, Augusta Township. Have looked the ground over but have not surveyed it yet.

And do hereby certify that the above embraces a full and true report of all the drains constructed, finished or begun under my supervision during the year now ending, and that the financial statement of each drain is true and correct.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

HARRISON RUTHRUFF,
County Drain Commissioner of Washtenaw County.
Dated, Oct. 19, A. D., 1893.

Report adopted.

Mr. Gilbert from the same committee also reported the bill of Robison & Howlett without recommendation.

Mr. Case moved that the bill be allowed as claimed. Carried.

	Claimed.	Allowed.
Robison & Howlett	$20 00	$20 00

Mr. Gilbert also reported the bill of Emma J. Gardner without recommendation.

On motion of Mr. Case, the bill was laid upon the table.

The special hour having arrived for the election of county drain commissioner, the board proceeded to said election.

The chair appointed Messrs. Davenport and Gilbert tellers of said election.

First ballot—Whole number of votes cast, 27, of which Daniel W. Barry received 14, E. M. Cole 5, Harrison Ruthruff 7, blank 1.

Mr. Barry was declared duly elected.

Mr. Gill, from committee to settle with the superintendent of the poor, made the following report:

To the Honorable Chairman and Board of Supervisors of the County of Washtenaw:

Gentlemen—Your committee appointed to examine the accounts of the superintendents of the poor respectfully report that they have examined the said accounts, and find that the stub-book and ledger agree with vouchers and bills for the same, and that the business is conducted in an economical and satisfactory manner. We desire to thank the superintendents for the assistance rendered in the work; also to Mr. and Mrs. Shankland for kindness shown your committee.

P. T. GILL,
EVART H. SCOTT,
S. S. BIBBINS,
Committee.

Mr. Scott offered the following:

Resolved, That Judge E. D. Kinne be allowed one hundred dollars for personal expenses while holding court in Monroe, and that the same be paid in quarterly installments of twenty-five dollars each.

Carried.

Mr. Miner offered the following:

Resolved, That the building committee be and are hereby authorized and directed to dispose of the lease of the stone-yard, the fence around it, and the broken stone therein, and turn over the proceeds to the county treasurer.

Carried.

On motion, the board adjourned to to-morrow at 11 o'clock.

ARTHUR BROWN, Clerk.
THOMAS YOUNG, JR., Chairman.

Friday, October 20, 1893.

The Board met pursuant to adjournment. Roll called and quorum present.

The journal of Wednesday and Thursday last was read and approved.

Mr. Wheeler, from the Committee on Criminal Claims No. 2, reported the following bills and recommended their allowance at sums stated, to wit:

	Claimed.	Allowed.
Nosh G. Butts, Justice of the Peace	$194 15	$195 55
S. H. Perkins, Justice of the Peace	5 30	5 30

Report adopted.

Mr. Case moved that when this Board adjourns it be to meet in special session on Monday the 23rd day of October, A. D. 1893, at the hour of eleven o'clock in the forenoon.

On motion, the Board took a recess until 2 o'clock p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Board called to order by the Chairman. Roll called and quorum present.

Mr. Pond, from the Committee on Printing, presented the following bids for printing the proceedings of this Board:

Ypsilanti, Mich., Oct. 17, 1893.

Robert Shannon:

DEAR SIR—Yours of the 16th inst., asking for bids for printing Supervisors proceedings, at hand. We should be glad to bid, and would do so, but for the condition requiring the completion of the work by Nov. 25th. The time is so short we could not do the work, and must decline to give figures on the contract.

Respectfully yours,
W. M. OSBAND.

Ypsilanti, Mich., Oct. 17, 1893.

I will publish the proceedings of the Board of Supervisors, taking the pamphlet of 1892 as a basis, in accordance with the proposition made by the Committee on Printing, at a uniform rate of $1.75 per page, counting the cover as four pages. Under this bid, 1,000 copies of the last pamphlet would have cost $87.50.

Last year's contract was 1,500 copies and cost the county $108.

Respectfully,
M. T. WOODRUFF.

Chelsea, Mich., Oct. 18, 1893.

To the Board of Supervisors of Washtenaw County:

I would respectfully submit the following:

I will print 1,000 copies of the proceedings of the Board of Supervisors, and also the same in the columns of the Standard, for the sum of $104.50.

Respectfully yours,
O. T. HOOVER,
Pub. Standard.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 20, 1893.

Printing Committee, Board of Supervisors:

Believing that the interests of the people will be best subserved by printing the proceedings in two newspapers of general county circulation, of opposite politics, the Ann Arbor Courier and the Ann Arbor Argus make the following joint bid. We will publish the proceedings in both papers and print 1,000 copies in pamphlet form for $130, as per specifications; more or less pages pro rata. We will also finish the work within two weeks after the adjournment of the Board.

Yours respectfully,
BEAKES & CURTISS,
J. E. BEAL.

Mr. Duncan moved to accept the bid of the Argus and Courier.

Carried.

Mr. Dancer, from the Committee on Per Diem, made the following report:

Adopted.

On motion, the Board adjourned without day.

THOMAS YOUNG, JR.,
ARTHUR BROWN, Chairman.
Clerk.

To the Hon. Chairman and Board of Supervisors of Washtenaw County:

Your committee on Finance would respectfully report that they have carefully inquired into the need of the county for the ensuing year, also into the present condition of the County finances and find that during the last year the County has paid interest on overdrafts of $137.43. In the opinion of your Committee there should be a sufficient sum raised to pay the expenses of this County, and the interest of deposits should balance the interest on overdrafts. We recommend that there be raised for county purposes the sum of Forty Thousand Dollars ($40,000), and of this amount we recommend that the sum of Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars be appropriated to the Poor Fund.

CHARLES BRAUN,
THOMAS SPEECHLEY,
EUGENE OESTERLIN.

On motion the report was adopted.

An electric engine has been designed for ordinary passenger traffic on a subcity line in London, which admits of its motors being revolved when the train is at a standstill. It operates on a center rail system, and many economical advantages are claimed for it.

For the piano player, a circular sandbag about twelve inches long and an inch in diameter, is found very useful for keeping the music open. It is most appropriately covered with some delicate shade of silk or satin, upon which is painted or embroidered a bar of music and a few flowers.

It is stated that some of the senators favor wearing silk gowns while they are in session. It is respectfully urged that they stop this side of crinolines.

COUNTY TREASURER'S REPORT.

To the Honorable, the Chairman and Board of Supervisors of Washtenaw County.

Gentlemen: I herewith transmit my report of monies received and paid out by me during the time of January 1, 1893, and October 1, 1893.

Also a statement of the Resources and Liabilities as shown by the books of this office on the first day of October, 1893. All of which is respectfully submitted for your inspection and examination.

P. G SUKEY,
Co. Treasurer.

The Well Bred Woman.

The funny papers are never weary of descanting upon the flatteries of your society dame. "How are those beautiful children? I shall never forget how sweet they looked when I peeped in at them in their nursery that day. And how is your precious mother? What a wonder she is! Everybody speaks of her marvelous crazy quilts. And your husband? All the men are talking about him. That speech of his at the —— club dinner took everybody by storm." And so on, ad nauseam. But it never gets to that point with the listener. "The one thing of which men never tire is the honeyed voice of approval."

If, as Frederika Bremer says, "the great duty of life is not to give pain," your society dame is performing the great duty of life with admirable success. She not only does not give pain, but she bestows positive pleasure. Even to those who know that her words are meant only to smooth the passing moment and must not be taken too seriously her little "euphuisms" are grateful.

Among the better class of well bred people compliments are not "laid on with a shovel" nor "dragged in by the hair." They flow easily, for they are the result of a lifetime of effort to make one's self agreeable to everybody, so far as one can do it within the limits of truth. The unfailing aplomb of the well bred woman assists her wonderfully here. She recalls clearly at the first glance the peculiarities and the circumstances of her visitor, she sorts out the pleasant from the unpleasant, and she invariably alludes in her remarks to the pleasant. The transplanting, without its luxurious effusiveness, of this good custom into the home life and into the narrow circles of the "outs" could result only in good.—New York Times.

VALUE OF ANTISEPSIS

HOW SURGERY HAS BEEN ADVANCED BY THIS PRACTICE.

Different Viscera Once Avoided Are Now Treated With Safety—Invaluable In War Times—Chloroform Is Now Used In Cases of Sunstroke.

These last 20 years surgery has been advancing at an almost vertiginous pace. and its progress and improvement are due to the universal practice of antisepsis and to the adoption of proper dressings. The most daring operations are now crowned with success, and different viscera which had previously been carefully avoided by surgeons are treated safely and to the welfare of the patients. It is an every day occurrence to see the abdominal cavity opened either to remove a tumor or to make some operation on the intestines. The brain is laid bare to free it from some compression from which it is suffering or to open an abscess and give a free exit to the pus. Under all these circumstances the surgeon intervenes with perfect security when he has minutely taken the necessary precautions to protect the wound he creates from infection by germs.

These dangerous germs are both within the patients and about them, and for this reason it is absolutely indispensable to disinfect the spot that the operation is to affect and also everything connected with the operator, his instruments or assistants. As for the germs floating in the atmosphere, some surgeons endeavor to counteract their effect by spraying antiseptic liquids about the room during the operation. The point to be guarded against above all others is infection of the seat of intervention, and this can be accomplished by destroying the germs that may have already invaded it or by closing up all access to it on the part of those that may be about it. The former can be effected by the use of antisepsis and the latter by asepsis.

Complications arising from firearm wounds seem to result from the action of germs which are not carried by the projectiles, as might be supposed at first thought, but by the patients' clothing. In one of the late meetings of the Societe Imperio-Royale des Medecins de Vienne, M. Habart reported the experiments he had undertaken in this connection with M. Faulhaber concerning the infection of firearm wounds. These two investigators, using regulation rifles, fired at boxes of gelatin, of which some were sterilized or covered with sterilized blotting paper, others surrounded with pieces of old uniforms and others with pieces of uniforms dipped in pure cultures of staphylococci. In the first case the track of the bullet remained aseptic; in the second were found, in addition to pieces of cloth, a variety of microbes, while in the third the boxes contained nothing but staphylococci.

In short, a bullet striking the body of a soldier or a piece of shell entering his flesh stands every chance of creating an infected wound. It is therefore imperative to treat all wounds in wartime antiseptically, and we owe a great debt to the different authorities who in time of peace are preparing a sufficient stock of packages of dressing to supply each soldier or officer on the day war may break out. This small package of dressing with which each soldier is to be furnished is to be placed, in the French army, in a pocket specially prepared for it and is certain to render great services, whether used by the wounded man himself or by the ambulance corps. However temporary this remedy may be, it will still have the advantage of supplying the regimental surgeon with almost enough dressings for the first demands on the battlefields without his having to make use of his stores, and it will rapidly place the wounds out of reach of the danger of infection arising from contact with clothing, hands or the ground.

A German army surgeon, M. Koerfer, has been testing the value of inhalations of chloroform in the cerebro-spinal form of sunstroke, and in the case of two soldiers very seriously affected with unconsciousness, convulsions, hyperæsthesia of the skin, livid skin and weakened pulse, the prolonged administration of chloroform succeeded in putting an end to all the symptoms. The favorable effect of the chloroform showed itself as soon as its use was commenced by marked improvement in the pulse, but the convulsions did not cease altogether until the narcosis had been kept up for an hour and a quarter in one case and for a quarter of an hour in the other.

The use of cold water and hypodermic injections of ether, which recourse was had in the first case, where the symptoms were particularly serious and before the chloroform was tried, were found to be powerless and to have no other effect than to bring on or increase the convulsive attacks each time they were tried. With this patient M. Koerfer also made an injection of two centigrams of morphine toward the end of the chloroform seance, and when the man began to come out from the effect of the chloroform he fell asleep again under the influence of the morphine, and on awakening finally the convulsive attacks had entirely disappeared.

Chloroform acts in these cases by stopping the convulsions which help to raise the temperature of the body by lessening the production of heat and also by facilitating the radiation of the heat of the body. Hypodermic injections of ether are given to prevent asphyxia, and caffeine administered in the same way has a twofold purpose, to increase or re-establish the urinary secretion and to tonify the system in general. In the future it will be well to bear in mind the usefulness of chloroform in these very severe cases of sunstroke.—Paris Herald.

PERFECT PHYSICAL REPOSE.

A Firm Hair Mattress Rather Than a Feather Bed Promotes It.

There is an old story of an Indian and a "paleface," who, after a long day's journey, lay down in a deserted cabin at nightfall to rest. The Indian, wrapping himself in his blanket, stretched himself on the floor of the cabin with his feet to the fire and was soon asleep. His companion meantime has espied a feather bed in another room, and congratulating himself on his discovery jumped in and was also soon in a doze.

With the first rays of the morning light the Indian rose refreshed and ready for the day's task. He went to arouse his comrade, when, lo! he found him dead from the exhaustion of the previous day.

Luxurious repose is never true physical rest.

To enjoy that blessing to its fullest extent freedom from restraint must be allowed every part of the body. A firm surface is required—one that will tend to keep the body stretched out at full length, that the lungs and heart may feel no sense of restriction by compression of the chest walls, and that the blood may have uninterrupted course in every direction.

We should never be guilty of supposing that the person whom we saw sitting in a chair with his chin pressing on his sunken chest was enjoying true physical rest, no matter how fast asleep he might appear to be.

The tendency of the body to gravitate toward the lowest part of a feather bed is beyond remedy.

In this position the whole body is often so curled up that no one part is free from constriction. The chest walls are caved in, and the whole body suffers from the consequent lack of proper oxygenation of the blood and the restriction which is placed upon its general circulation. The blood moves sluggishly, and as a result the condition of "fat and flabby" is superinduced.

This condition is never likely to follow the constant use of a firm hair mattress, for the blood has no chance to get dropsical from too sluggish a circulation.

Perfect physical repose, like perfect physical activity, is dependent upon a proper equilibrium of the bodily functions during slumber.

The story of the Indian and the white man might easily have been founded on fact.—Youth's Companion.

How to Know a Caxton.

Title pages were unknown till after 1491. There must be no Roman or Italic lettering, but all in Gothic or old English. There must be no commas, but an oblique stroke in their place. Further, there must be no catchwords at the bottom of the page. The use of these, long gone out of fashion, did not come into vogue till years after Caxton's death.

There are other tests necessary, such as the measurement of the lines, for some of the type used was imitated pretty closely by Caxton's successors. It is clear, however, that during his career Caxton only used six kinds of type. The first, distinctly foreign in its character, was used by him at Bruges in the printing of "The Recuyell of the Histories of Troye" and in the first edition of "The Game and Playe of the Chesse." This style was never used in England. The second style, such as in "The Moral Proverbs" and "Tulle of Olde Age," printed in 1477 and 1481 respectively, was beautiful and artistic. It follows a design of manuscript which obtained the name of Gros Batarde, common in use in the fifteenth century. Several books were written in this manner under the order of Edward IV and are now to be seen in the British museum.

Looking at the dates when Caxton's books were issued and the types he used, it is evident he did not make new type till the old was worn out. A pretentious style came next in 1483, very bold in its character. It is problematical whether there is a book in this type; the only examples we have of it at present are in headlines.—Chambers' Journal.

A Quick Recovery.

The doctor of a hospital ship complained to a visitor of a lazy colored man whom he could do nothing with. "We don't like to throw the rascal out, but it is easily seen he is only shamming."

"Well, doctor," said the visitor, after a little reflection, "lend me a few yards of string and that nigger will be miles away before night."

He got the twine, and putting on a melancholy air he went to the darky's berth.

"Very bad?" he said.

"Yes, massa," replied Sambo. "Dreb-ful sick."

The visitor made no further remark, but placed one end of the twine at his head and drew it slowly—very slowly—until it reached his toes. Then he measured him across the chest. The fellow looked the picture of astonishment and terror and gasped:

"What dis for?"

"My poor fellow, the doctor knows you are not going to recover, and it is only an expense keeping you here without any chance of doing you good. I have just been taking your measure"—here he lowered his voice still more—"for a coffin. We'll bury you with honors tomorrow. It's the custom here in a case like yours. 'Tis best for all hands, you know."

No one knew how or when the negro got clear of the hospital ship, but there was no trace of him in the morning.—London Tit-Bits.

In Bad Company.

Learned Judge (severely)—John Jones, the jury have taken a very lenient view of the case. You have had a very narrow escape, and it should be a lifelong warning to you. After this you ought to keep away from bad company.

John Jones—Yes, yer honor, ye won't see me here again in a hurry.—Judy.

Ethel—Why don't you acknowledge the bow of the gentleman who just passed?

Yvette—The impudence of him! He was presuming on the fact that we are engaged.—Chicago News.

LOCAL.

The best recommend some men have is their excellent good wives.

City Clerk Miller expects to move into his new office on N. Fourth ave., in about two weeks.

The M. E. church organ sounds like a new instrument. Prof. Blessing did good work in repairing it.

The Ann Arbor Light Infantry have a bazaar and a Midway Plaisnce in prospect for next month. To be held in the rink.

The Washtenaw County Horticultural Society will meet next Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m., at the court house, the usual place, Nov. 4th. Subject for discussion, the lessons of the season.

A plate glass window in the front of Will F. Stimson's residence, on E. Liberty st., had a hole shot through it by some careless reveler last evening. The destruction of property is not fun, and boys should remember it.

The next re-union of the 16th Mich. Infantry will be held in Ann Arbor. It will be remembered that Dr. Breakry was surgeon of that regiment, and that the lamented Col. Norvel E. Welch, for whom the local G. A. R. Post was named, was the colonel.

The Ladies' Aid Social of the M. E. church will be held in the parlors of the church, to-morrow evening, Nov. 2d. In response to an invitation extended to the members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. church, Ypsilanti, a goodly number will be present from there. It is hoped the members of the church and congregation here will come out and give them a cordial welcome. Tea at six p. m.

Not all the little birds go south to spend the winter. Quite a per cent. will roost on ladies' hats, as usual.

The recital given by the pupils of Mr. E. N. Bilbie, at McMillan Hall Monday, was exceedingly enjoyable for those attending.

How doth the little, busy "ad"
Improve each shining minute?
It "gets there Eli" every time,
And pays the man that's "in it."

The first snow of the season, only a trifle then, came down last Saturday. It was a little flurry, to remind the people that it was time to put on their winter apparel.

Arbor Hive L. O. T. M. will celebrate its 2d anniversary on the 14th of November with a banquet, etc. Some of the officers of the great Hive will be present upon the occasion.

At the Young People's Vesper services at St. Andrew's chapel next Sunday evening, H. J. Brown will be the leader, and he will speak upon the Brotherhood of St. Andrew and its work.

Elizabeth Wolpert, by her attorney, Chas. H. Kline, and Francis Crawford, by the same, have entered suit against the city for $2,000 each, because of the cutting down of N. Fifth ave., two or three years ago.

Hallowe'en parties were quite numerous last night, and some of the youngsters had a great amount of fun. A few of the boys carried the game too far, and went beyond legitimate sport with their antics. But as a general thing they behaved themselves pretty well.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. church will give a supper and social in the parlors of the church Thursday evening. By special request the ladies of the Aid Society of the M. E. church, Ypsilanti, will be present. It is hoped that there will be an excellent attendance of home people to meet them.

Will R. Price, the local agent for The Equitable Life Assurance Society, of New York City, received a check of $7,000 yesterday morning in favor of Mrs. Ella R. Stafford, that being the amount of the policy held by her late husband in that company. He had been in the company only about two years and a-half.

How to spend the winter profitably and comfortably is a question being thought over by many these days no doubt. Supply yourself with good reading matter is the first requisite. You can obtain both the Courier and the New York Tribune, one whole year for $1.25. The best reading matter in the world, and at the same time the cheapest.

Charles, the eight years old son of ex-Sheriff Chas. Dwyer, of this city, died suddenly on Thursday night, Oct. 26th, of hemmorrhage of the lungs. Funeral services were held Saturday a. m., from St. Thomas' church. Mr. and Mrs. Dwyer have the deep sympathy of many friends, in this, the second affliction of the kind that has come to them within a few years.

Johnathan Schmid, who lived on S. Main st., a brother of Fred Schmid Esq., died on Sunday a. m. of consumption, aged 45 years. He was a native of this city, the son of the first German Lutheran clergyman in the county, Rev. Frederick Schmid, and was a man much respected. He was never married. The funeral services were held yesterday at 2 p. m., being conducted by Rev. Max Hein.

There will be a special meeting of the council to-morrow night to set as a jury upon the charges made by the mayor against Marshal Murray for neglect of duty. If a theft was committed, and proven to have been committed, in a saloon on Sunday, it would seem as if that fact was evidence enough for any reasonable person, that the saloon was open on Sunday in violation of law. If the council want this city advertised in a way that will injure it, then the best thing they can do is to set down on any attempt that may be made to enforce the law. We do not believe that Mayor Thompson is an unreasonable man. On the contrary his actions in whatever position he has beeen placed, have always been characterized by broadness and liberality, and if any one shows a disposition to do what is right they will not find him opposed to them. This city can not afford to go before the country with a fight on this question. Its interests will not permit it. There is too much at stake. It should be remembered that two years ago there were more students in this University than in any other in the nation. Last year Harvard came out a few ahead. This year Harvard comes out 500 or so ahead, and Yale is following close upon our heels. All these contests between the saloons and the authorities here in Ann Arbor, travel all over this country. The parents everywhere have their eyes on Ann Arbor, and for her own sake she ought to have a care about her conduct. As long as the authorities nly ask thoat the law should be obeyed there ought not to be any contest. No good citizen will counsel the disobeying of the law.

There is to be a beefsteak party at Zukey Lake to-morrow evening.

Supervisor Oesterlin, of the 2d ward, wishes it understood that he did not sign the report of the equalization committee, as passed by the Board, but on the contrary told them that it was an outrage upon the people of this city.

Henry McMajor, who lived at 48 W. Third st., died Sunday evening, aged 67 years, and funeral was held yesterday, at 2 p. m., from the residence. He had been a resident of the city but a few weeks, removing here from New York.

Edwin F. Uhl, of Grand Rapids, a native of Washtenaw county, and for many years a resident of Ypsilanti, has been honored by being appointed by President Cleveland, as assistant secretary of state, in place of Josiah Quincy, resigned. He has accepted.

New York city feels very proud over the fact that she can now talk direct with Ann Arbor via long distance telephone. This will doubtless be a great convenience for New York people.—Northville Record. Yes, sir! You are right. New York already feels the impetus.

Rev. W. Lenoir Hood preached an inspiring sermon to a congregation of 1,000 in the M. E. church last Sunday morning. Miss Clara Cushman, from China, melted the great audience to tears in the evening by her address in which she told of incidents in her own experience.

Next Sunday evening the pastor will give a lecture in the M. E. church on "The Poetry of the Bible," and the oldest piece of written music in the world—"The Tigdol Elohim"—recently brought from the British Museum by a friend of the pastor's, will be rendered by the choir.

A hard-up contemporary fiendishly exclaims: "The body of an ordinary person contains three pounds and thirteen ounces of calcium, which, at the present market rates, is worth $300 an ounce, so that the amount of it contained in one ordinary human body has a money value of $18,300. What a pity that some of our subscribers cannot realize on their calcium."

The remains of a person were found in the old gravel pit, north of Mill st., on the Northside, Sunday, by a student in search of geological specimens. Coroner Clark summoned a jury and viewed the body, but came to no definite conclusion, and had it buried in the city cemetery. It is altogether probable that it was a subject used by medical students and buried there.

First a theft; then the thief is caught; then comes the friends of the thief; then comes "the lawyer for the defense;" then comes a compromise; then the atmosphere is clear again. How many cases is that a true history of. Many times, where the offense is the first one, it is the very best way, but there are times when it seems as if justice would be better served by a conviction.

It is reported that a good deal of damaging evidence has lately been found against Hand, and will be brought out in the next trial. It is said that the prosecution will prove that he did not go home at 10 o'clock on the night of the murder, but was out till after 2 in the morning.—Ypsilantian.

If this is true would it not be a wise thing for the prosecution not to give away what it proposes to do ahead of time? The lawyers for the defense are pretty shrewd, sharp men.

Perhaps no other subject to-day is so profoundly agitating public thought as that of the Relation of Evolution to Religion. The Unity Club had therefore arranged to bring to Ann Arbor for a lecture upon this subject, Rev. M. J. Savage, of Boston, whose sermons lectures and books on evolution and its religious bearings, are known not only all over this country, but throughout the English speaking world. Mr. Savage will speak in the Unity Club course next Monday evening, November 6th.

Mrs. Belle Gibbs, of Chicopee Falls, Mass., noting the item in a recent issue of the Courier about the picking of ripe tomatoes out of doors, writes to a friend in this city: "Massachusetts weather can not be beaten yet by Michigan, for to-day, Oct. 29, we had lettuce, tomatoes and beans, fresh from the garden, and besides we picked a boquet of pansies, bachelor buttons, verbenas, phlox drummondi, calendula, etc." The writer of this item can pick blossoms from all the varieties of flowers mentioned above in his garden, to-day, Nov. 1st, besides he can add daisies, larkspur, sweet mignonette and sweet alysum. How's that?

Taking effect Sunday November 5th trains on the T., A. A. & N. M. R'y will run daily, except Sundays, as follows: Leave Ann Arbor going north at 7:15 a. m., 12:15 p. m., 4:15 p. m., and going south at 7:15 a. m., 11:30 a. m., 9:00 p. m. Sunday trains have been discontinued, and trains 2 and 5, 7 and 8, will run to and from Mt. Pleasant instead of Clare as heretofore.

The address of Mr. B. B. Nagarkar, of Bombay, India, before the Unity Club Monday evening, was very interesting. He is a full-blooded Hindoo, a descendant of Airian ancestors, and claims the kinship of a cousin to the Anglo-Saxons. He is a very intelligent man, speaks English remarkably well, is pleasing in manner, and instructive in what he has to say. He told his audience much that they never knew before, and left with them a much more favorable impression of the social customs of India than they had previously entertained. He uses excellent language, is a good reasoner, and impresses you with his earnestness and candor. Last evening he delivered an address at the Unitarian church upon Religious work in India.

At the Masonic School of Instruction held here last Wednesday evening, there was a large attendance of visiting brothers about the county. The temple was crowded as full as it could be, the floor space left for the work not being as great as was desired. Some idea can be obtained of the extent of the work, and of the exactness with which it was accomplished, when we state that the obligation, which was conferred by Past Master Chas. B. Davison, containing exactly 698 words, was so correctly repeated that Grand Lecturer Clark found only one unimportant error, the transposition of a word. This is all the more noteworthy when it is remembered that not a line or word of any of the secret work of Masonry is ever printed or written. Ann Arbor Masons have long stood at the front for the excellent manner in which they confer the degrees, and this last school proves that they are still there.

Messrs. Riley and Sherley gave their readings at University Hall last Friday evening. They were received by a larger house than was Douglass, but still not as many as attended the lectures last winter. Sherley was a new man to the audience and was considerably disappointing. What he had to offer had no point to it. The only thing given by him which was first rate being the take off on the English Lord who was indignant because he could not purchase a postage stamp at the Public Comfort building at the World's Fair. Riley was much better, but Riley should keep a record of the pieces he gives to various audiences about the country, and endeavor not to give the same recitation too many times in one place, for such things tend to make an audience weary oft times, however good the recitation may be. He gave the very same pieces as last year with three or four exceptions. This would not have been so noticeable had he waited three or four years, for in that time Ann Arbor audiences change completely, but with only one year intervening it made his entertainment have a chestnut flavor, though the chestnuts were good.

For the annual meeting of the Knights of the Grip, at Saginaw, December 26 and 27th, the T., A. A. & N. M. R'y will make rates of one fare for the round trip to all members of the Association, their wives and all immediate members of their families. These tickets will be on sale December 26th and 27th, limited to return December 28th.

A. L. Noble has returned from New York. Lots of new goods will follow then we will expect to hear from the Star Clothing House.

Hood's Cures

Mr. Abner C. Folsom,
Drake, Mich.

After the Grip
In Miserable Condition

"I take this opportunity to speak my mind on the virtue of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have found that the grip uses elderly people pretty severely. I am sixty-nine years old, and when the grip attacked me last winter I came very near dying. I was all broken down and

Reduced to a Mere Skeleton.

I could not seem to gain any strength or get any medicine to help me. I was advised to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. One bottle cured me; built me up so that I do not feel any effects of the disease left. My son is taking for liver and kidney troubles and is recovering very rapidly." A. C. FOLSOM, p. m., Drake, Mich.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

HOOD'S PILLS are purely vegetable, and do not purge, pain or gripe. Sold by all druggists.

E. A. WALLACE & CO.

THE MAN WHO FORGOT HIS NAME.

Fred Graham and his sister Fanny had built a house at the foot of the orchard, in a corner in the hedge, which formed the north side and the rear wall. It was not very strong, but strong enough not to topple over on them; it was not very high, and yet high enough for them to stand up inside of it with comfort. When they played "make-believe" it proved to be one of the most accommodating houses ever built. It was a smuggler's cavern one day, and a wigwam or a castle the next; a canal-boat on one occasion, and a Deadwood coach on another—and all without any alteration, and without the accessories of lakes, cliffs, prairies, gulches, sailors, soldiers or retainers. Fred was twelve years old and Fanny seven, and the house in the orchard was a great source of pleasure to them. Fred built it and Fanny looked on, and approved and admired, and it was a great help to the young workman, though she did not carry a stick of timber or hand him a nail. Perhaps the fact that they did not go to the house without permission, or at least not until their work for the day was done, was the reason why they enjoyed themselves so much.

They were frightened one afternoon by an intruder. He stepped into the hut without any warning beforehand and without an apology afterward. His clothes were shabby and his face was unshaven. He carried a heavy staff, and there was a strange, bright watchfulness in his eyes.

"What do you want?" Fred mustered up enough courage to ask. Fanny half hid herself behind him, a look of fear on her face.

"What do I want?" the man repeated, and there was no gruffness in his voice, "To rest more than anything else."

He sat down in the doorway, filling it entirely, and thus closing all egress, which deepened the consternation on Fanny's face. The man took off his slouch hat and wiped his forehead with a very dirty handkerchief.

"Don't be afraid of me, children," he said, his voice as sweet and soft as a woman's, a slow smile breaking over his face. "I'll do you no harm. I'm no tramp—anyhow, no old, vicious tramp." He laughed in such a genial way that Fanny's alarm very much abated.

"Children, I've lost something," he said.

"I don't think you lost it here," suggested Fred.

"Well, no," he replied, with a broad grin. "If I did, I'd know where to look for it, don't you think No, I lost it somewhere else, and long ago."

"What did you lose," asked Fred.

"My name," replied the man. The children looked at him in sincere surprise.

"Don't think that I do not know what I am saying," the man resumed. "I've forgotten my name."

"Was it such a hard name?" asked Fanny, with suddenly awakened sympathy.

"Oh, no," he said, a little absently. "I've forgotten my name, and the place where I was born. It dropped out here," and he touched his forehead. "I was in an insane asylum. They said I am well now, and sent me away. Yes—I am well, only I don't know my name. I walk and walk, and walk, thinking maybe some one, or something, will bring it back to me. If not, how can I ever find my home and my friends?

The tears trickled down his cheeks and fell upon the sunburned hand which clutched his staff. Presently he shook off his emotion. "Come here, little dear," he said, beckoning to Fanny.

"Go, Fanny," Fred whispered. She advanced slyly but confidently, charmed by the warm light which filled his eyes. He laid his hand on her soft, blonde hair, and said:

"You are not afraid of me, are you, dear? I was all wrong here," and he once more touched his forehead. "I'm all right now, though. All right, except that I can't remember, can't recall my name. What is your name?"

"Fanny," replied she.

"I have a little girl. You remind me of her, only her hair was very black."

"What is her name," asked Fanny.

"Geraldine," he said.

"You haven't forgotten it," Fanny said.

"No," replied he, as he lifted his hand to his mouth. "But I have forgotten her last name—our family name. If I hadn't, I'd remember my name, don't you see?"

"Don't you even know your Christian name?" asked Fred.

"No, my boy," he huskily said, "Nor where I was born, nor where I lived before I got into the asylum. Oh, if I only had a clue! It would come back to me like the rush of a torrent. Others laugh at me, but you don't, and I am very grateful. It is because you are not suspectful, because your confidence has never been betrayed nor your faith shattered. I passed a little town, yonder," and he pointed across the orchard. "What is the name of it?"

"Brice-Mawr," replied Fred.

The stranger rose so suddenly to his feet that he almost upset Fanny, while Fred stepped quickly to one side. "Brice! Brice!" the man repeated, in a dazed way, and one hand at his throat, as if something choked him. "Brice! Yes!" Then he sat down, trembling all over.

"That's my first name," he huskily said. "Dear Lord, I thank thee. It will all come back to me! It will all come back to me." Again the tears were trickling down his cheeks.

"Sir, papa will tell you your other name," Fanny said, crying herself, though she didn't know it.

"Your papa!" he exclaimed, flinging up his head. "How can he tell me?"

"Papa knows pretty much everything," Fanny innocently said.

"You have as much faith in him as Geraldine used to have in me," he softly said.

"Will you not come to the house and see papa?" Fred asked, in sincere solicitude.

"Why, of course," cried the stranger.

To the house they went, and Fred told his father the man's story in a terse, sympathetic speech.

"Pray be seated," Doctor Graham kindly said.

The stranger sat down and placed his hat on the floor beside him. He pushed the heavy brown hair from his forehead, and a high, brainy-looking forehead it was.

Don't think me demented," he said, in a clear, half-appealing tone. "I'm not thirty-five yet, and hence cannot be in my dotage. As your boy has said, I cannot recall my name, and hence, to a considerable extent, I don't know who I am." He laughed, and added: "It's funny, isn't it?"

"On the contrary, it is very serious," replied the doctor. "Yours is not an extraordinary case, sir."

"Oh, it isn't, eh?" asked the man, with an incredulous stare. "Now, do you know, that I think it is? Through that manly boy of yours I've found the handle to my name. It is Brice—but Brice what? That's the trouble."

"Who took you to the insane asylum?" the doctor asked.

"Likely nobody, sir," replied the man. "I wandered, and wandered, and wandered, and probably brought up there myself. I've no doubt I was out of my head. I was inventing a contrivance, and then my mind became unshifted."

"Was it patented?" asked the doctor.

"Oh, yes," the man eagerly cried. "And it would have made me rich. I saw how I might improve it. There's where I made a mistake. I studied, experimented, made models lost appetite, lost sleep, and then lost my mind. I just left everything and walked away. Left my wife, my child, my beautiful little home, and everything. It was hard then, sir, and it is harder now, because I cannot recall, and I want to go home, oh, so much." There was a sob in his voice, and it touched the doctor deeply.

"When was your invention patented?" the doctor asked.

"On the 15th of September, 188—" the man promptly replied.

"You are sure?" asked the doctor.

"Why, of course, sir," the man said, a little irritatedly. "My memory couldn't be better, except about a few things," and his voice fell.

"Well, sir," the doctor said, "I think I can tell you your name and residence."

"How?" asked the man, with a powerful effort to repress his excitement, little Fanny watching him with a sort of famished look in her eyes, her interest in him was so great.

"In the Scientific American of that year," the doctor said.

For a moment the man seemed stunned. He caught his breath; his face put on a squarer shape, and the muscles of his mouth twitched.

"Yes!" he cried explosively. "Yes! Why didn't I think of that? Yes, you'll find it there; name, day and date. Have you a bound copy of the paper?" he asked, a feverish gleam in his eyes.

For reply the doctor went to his bookshelves, took down the bound copy, fumbled the leaves, and then aloud: "No. 45,411. To Brice Rutherford, Chelsea, Mass. Device for a submarine grapple. Issued September 15, 188—."

A wild cry of delight broke from the man's lips. He laughed, wept, prayed, grew strangely hysterical, but it was soon spent.

"Shall I write it down for you?" asked the doctor.

"Write it down!" repeated Mr. Rutherford, with a queer tone and look. "No. It is written on my brain in letters of fire! 'Brice Rutherford, Chelsea Massachucetts,' Sir, I'll thank you to my dying day," and he caught both of the doctor's hands, in the fierceness of his gratitude.

"Be calm, my friend," advised the doctor, his face aglow with gratification. "I'll send you home. You must shave, and have better clothes."

"And money," added the visitor. "Every cent will be repaid, with interest."

"I know that," the doctor said. "Here is half a dollar. Go to the village and get shaved and have your hair cut. By that time my wife will have clean linen for you, and a suit of my clothes, for we are about the same build. While you are gone, I'll write to your wife."

"Yes, doctor!" and the man struck his hands together. "That is thoughtful, and it will be better than if I wrote. She must not be shocked. Tell her the truth in a—a—gentle way, doctor."

The next morning Brice Rutherford stood on the porch, just about to walk to the station. He did not resemble a tramp then. He was as much of a quiet, sedate, professional-looking man as the doctor himself.

"I am wholly clothed in my right mind," he gratefully said. "I've taken a new hold on life. I'll not worry or over-tax my brain again, sir. May God bless you, sir! And you, too, my big-hearted boy! And you, sweet one!"

He lifted Fanny into the air, and covered her face with kisses.

"What if you hadn't called at our play-house?" she asked.

"Or, what if you hadn't been in when I called?" she added, a great glad light in his eyes. "Ah, God's hand was in it all! I'll write to you little dear. And I'll send you Geraldine's picture."

"Oh, do!" cried Fanny, clapping her hands. "Oh, do!"

A Woman of Business.

We were camped alongside of an emigrant train in Nebraska, and just after supper a woman about 40 years of age, who was smoking a pipe, came over to our fire and sized the crowd up and said:

"I've got sunthin' to say. I'm a plain spoken woman. When I've a thing on my mind I don't beat around the bush."

We looked at her with curiosity and surprise, and she leaned against the wheel of a wagon and continued:

"I've been a widder for three years. Over there I've got a span of mewls, a good hoss, a new wagon filled with housekeepin' stuff and I kin rake up about $50 in cash. I cum along with the party to take up a claim. I'm good tempered, healthy and can swing an ax or hold a plow with most anybody. As I said, I'm a plain spoken woman. If there's a critter among you that wants to get married, let him stand up while I take a look at him."

The eleven of us promptly stood up.

"Git into line," she continued, with a wave of her hand. "I hain't after beauty or eddecashun, but I can't take up with a fellow who'd skeer a wolf to death."

She passed down the line and then returned half way and said to a middle aged man of the name of Remington:

"You'll do, I reckon. There's a preacher in camp, and 'twon't take fifteen minuted to settle things. All of you who want to see the marrying come on."

We followed the couple, who were made man and wife inside of twenty minutes, and next morning as we passed the wagon on the road, the woman looked out and bowed and said:

"Sorry for the other ten of ye, but perhaps you'll meet up with the other train soon and strike luck."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Hints to Housekeepers.

Gloves can be cleaned at home by rubbing with gasoline.

Tooth powder is an excellent cleaner of fine filigree jewelery.

Corks warmed in oil make excellent substitutes for glass stoppers.

The fumes of a brimstone match will remove berry stains from the fingers.

For a "pink tea" have your decorations, china, bonbons, etc., as far as possible in that color.

To roast small birds fasten the head under the wings. Lay a thin slice of pork on the breast of each bird and a slice of bread underneath. Roast in a hot oven.

Scratches on furniture may be removed by rubbing with a woolen rag dipped in boiled linseed oil. The varnishing may then be done with shellac dissolved in alcohol.

CITY IN BLACK.

CHICAGO MOURNS THE LOSS OF THE MAYOR.

THE WORLD'S FAIR GOES OUT IN DEEP MOURNING.

The Lunatic Who Took the Mayor's Life Held for Murder in the First Degree—Last Sad Scenes in the Official Life of the Columbian Exposition.

CHICAGO, Oct 31.—Emblems of the nations are at mourning height on this the dying day of the World's Columbian Exposition. The people came and looked toward the sunlit sky of blue, realized that not only Chicago mourned, but the whole world of humanity as represented at the Exposition. They came in much smaller numbers than was expected at sunset Saturday, and they found no evidence of rejoicing over the crowning achievement of the age, no sounds of sweet music in the court of honor, no merry throngs, no celebration; only a solemn stillness, an unparalleled tribute to the memory of Chicago's mayor, one grand symphony of sympathy for the loss of a loving father, an illustrious, faithful citizen and the chosen chief of a 1,500,000 people. The multitude laid their tribute of respect at the bar of the assassin's victim as much by their presence and quiet actions as if they had laid rich flowers on the casket and eulogized the dead in eloquent speech. The greatest Exposition the world has witnessed died in the same gloom and silence which pervade the home of the afflicted family and the city which loved and honored him who was slain for no earthly cause. Even the midway plaisance was quieter than usual. The voice of the few criers who stood outside the resorts in the chilly air was more subdued and the attendance on the last day of the fair will reach about 250,000 persons.

Patrons of the street seemed to share in the general sorrow. In the administration offices the chief men of the Fair returned to their desks with saddened hearts, and a gloom hung over all. At 10 o'clock the committee of twelve which was chosen to draft the resolutions which were read to the people at Festival hall, met in President Higinbotham's offices. The resolutions express at some length and in the most sympathetic language at the committee's command the general sorrow and shock which the tragic end of the World's Fair city's chief magistrate created in the hearts and minds of the national commissioners, foreign and state representatives.

FOR THE FUNERAL.

Elaborate Preparations to Honor the Distinguished Dead.

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Patrick Eugene Prendergast, the murderer of Mayor Carter H. Harrison, has been held to the grand jury for his awful crime.

With all the manifestations of sorrow that can be shown by a great city to its murdered executive, the remains of Mayor Carter H Harrison will be borne to the grave at 11 o'clock Wednesday night. The city and county offices will be closed. Civic and military organizations by the score will follow the hearse. Men of national reputation will act as honorary pall-bearers. The state and the nation will be represented by prominent officials and the city will be draped in mourning. The cortege will leave the late home of the deceased at 11 o'clock and proceed to the Epiphany church at Ashland avenue and Adams street, where Rev. T. N. Morrison will conduct the funeral services according to the Episcopal ritual. The remains will then be taken to Graceland cemetery and interred.

Funeral services will be held in Church of the Epiphany. Rev. T. N. Morrison will conduct the obsequies and deliver the funeral sermon. The music in the church will be rendered by a specially selected choir. One of the bands that has been at the World's Fair will precede the procession when it takes up its march to the Graceland cemetery.

The aldermen will wear crape on the left arm, as is customary, and will also wear suitable badges, which are being prepared. The county board held a special meeting at noon to-day and passed suitable resolutions of condolence and appointed committees to arrange for the participation in the funeral by the commissioners. The city council will not meet to-night, the aldermen having mutually agreed to remain away from the council chamber.

At the special meeting of the city council at 10 o'clock to-day arrangements were made for the funeral. The council chamber was crowded. Nearly all the aldermen were present. The gallery was filled with citizens and prominent men were in the reserved galleries to the right and left of the chair. The mayor's desk and seat were heavily draped in black crape.

The proceedings were brief. Assistant City Attorney J. G. Neumeister called the council to order and read the call for the special meeting. Alderman Swift was chosen chairman without opposition. After the call of the roll Chairman Swift said:

GENTLEMEN OF THE COUNCIL:—Under the shadow of a great sorrow and in the midst of the emblems of mourning we are called this morning to take official action and do that which is proper consequent upon the death of our mayor. Understanding that a memorial meeting will be called in the near future, your temporary chairman will defer any remarks he would be glad to make on this occasion. I have in my hand and now hand to the clerk to read, resolutions offered by Alderman Ryan.

Then Alderman M. Ryan, of the Fifteenth ward, offered the following resolutions, which were adopted by a rising vote:

Chicago, the pride of the world, is in tears. The city council, the municipal government of Chicago, mourns the death of Carter H. Harrison, Chicago's great chief executive.

Resolved, That the chair appoint a committee of seven aldermen to act as a guard of honor to escort the remains to their final resting place; also a committee to make arrangements for the funeral; also a committee on resolutions which shall report to a memorial meeting of this council to be held Nov. 1.

Resolved, That all civic and military organizations in the city are hereby invited to attend the funeral of him who was "first in the hearts" of the citizens of Chicago, and that as a mark of respect to the great mayor the city offices shall be closed from Tuesday morning till after the burial of our people's dead.

Alderman Campbell of the Twelfth ward moved that the council chamber be tendered to the former officials and ex-alderman of the city who acted under Mayor Harrison during his previous administrations. The motion was unanimously adopted.

DR. PARKHURST THREATENED.

Warned to Abandon His Crusade or Be Murdered.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst declares that his life has been threatened, and although he has not yet accepted the advice of friends, who insist that he should have a bodyguard, he has taken measures to protect himself. Dr. Parkhurst says that on Saturday he received a letter which not only said that he would be killed if he persisted in his social crusade, but even told of the means that would be adopted in murdering him. Dr. Parkhurst would not say anything further about the contents of the letter.

In Brooklyn last night some person, under cover of darkness, fired a shot at Rev. Cortland Myers, who has been preaching some stinging sermons against the McLaughlin political machine. The preacher was riding in a Flatbush avenue trolley car. Mr. Myers is pastor of the First Baptist church now holding services in the Academy of Music. With his wife he boarded the car about 7 p. m. on his way to the evening services. The car had just started when a bullet or stone struck the frame of the window back of the minister's head and covered his coat with the fragments of broken glass. Mrs. Myers became hysterical with fright. There were six or seven other passengers on the car, all of whom were badly scared. The car was stopped and the conductor rushed out into the street, but the would-be assassin had fled.

A DAMAGED EYE.

Jim Blaisdell Was Too Confounded Sympathetic to Suit the Colonel.

There are some people who have no imagination, but cling to the literal with painful assiduity. Jim Blaisdell was one of these, and his happy faculty of taking things seriously lost him an elegant wife.

It was this way. Colonel Lafitte is a Southerner and very sensitive, especially about his general appearance, which is quite distinguished. He rather liked Jim, and Jim doted on the colonel's daughter, and it was a foregone conclusion in the family that Jim would win the girl, as the father was on his side.

One day the colonel took Jim out to ride behind his cantankerous Kentucky mare, and she kicked the dashboard of the buggy into smithereens and landed both gentlemen by the roadside.

This wouldn't have been so bad, as neither of them was hurt, and the colonel was doing the driving, but Jim had to discover a fracture in the colonel's right eye and he began at once to make a fuss about it.

"You're seriously hurt, sir," he said in his most sympathetic manner.

"Nothing wrong with me," snapped the colonel, who was looking for the mare in a dazed sort of way.

"But your eye, sir, is badly damaged."

"Never mind the eye. Help me to catch the critter."

"I must insist on bandaging your eye first, colonel. Why, it is a blurred mass and I greatly fear you have lost the sight of it," persisted Jim.

"Look here, you young fool," roared the colonel, "can't you attend to your own affairs. That eye, sir, is glass—do you hear—glass! glass!"

And that is why Jim didn't marry the colonel's daughter.

A PHILOSOPHER.

He Knew the Trials of the Farmers Near the Village.

Nearly every village has its philosopher, ofttimes in humble guise, whose chief business is to observe the ways of the world and duly moralize thereon. Such a philosopher held forth in the corner grocery the other evening to a small crowd of listeners.

"There are lots of farmers," he began, "who think they can turn everything they touch into gold, if they can only locate near some village where there's business going on. Well now let me tell you that on an average there never was a bigger mistake in the world. You look around the outskirts of any large village or city in the state and see if what I tell you isn't true.

"You'll find some good farmers living close to the towns, but you'll find a heap more of men that farm a little, keep shop a little, work out carpentering or in the factory a little, and sit round a good deal and don't amount in the end to much of anything anyway. I've known lots of 'em of just that sort. If they had farms too far from town to loaf in the stores and to catch up so many 'jobs' as they call 'em, they'd attend strictly to business and run the farm to make a dollar out of it. But this 'edge of the village' business spoils them."

We all deplore quarreling, but we dearly love to see a good fight.

The prize-ring and the marriage ring are both neglected for the stage.

Extra Session.

On the 23d speeches against the silver purchase repeal bill were made in the senate by three senators from silver states—Jones and Stewart, of Nevada, and Teller, of Colorado.... In the house the public printing bill was passed and a bill was introduced amending the civil service law so as to provide for an equal division of offices among the states and their congressional districts. The Oates bill to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States was discussed.

In the senate on the 24th, after discussion of the silver repeal bill, it was announced that the southern senators opposed to the measure had decided to give up the fight and allow a vote to be taken in a day or two.... In the house the time was occupied in discussing the bill to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy in the United States.

Several speeches against the silver repeal bill were made in the senate on the 25th.... In the house bills were introduced providing for the retirement of the national bank notes and for the issue in their place of United States notes, and providing that no pension claim heretofore or hereafter allowed shall be annulled, suspended or set aside unless it is shown that the pension was obtained by fraud or perjury. The bankruptcy bill was further considered.

On the 26th discussion of the silver repeal bill occupied the time of the senate.... In the house the death of the chaplain, S. W. Haddaway, of Maryland, was announced, and a committee of seven was appointed to attend the funeral. The senate resolution extending the acknowledgment of the United States to foreign governments for their participation in the world's fair were concurred in. The bankruptcy bill was further considered.

Senator Peffer's amendment to the repeal bill providing for silver coinage at a ratio of 16 to 1 was defeated by a vote of 39 to 28 in the senate on the 27th, which was taken as meaning that the Voorhees bill would become a law. The measure was further discussed.... In the house a resolution calling for information as to state banks was the cause of animated discussion, and an attempt to pass it disclosed the presence of less than a quorum, whereupon an adjournment was taken until the 30th.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

[OFFICIAL.]

Special session.

President Watts being absent, the council was called to order by the clerk.

Roll called. Quorum present.

Absent—Pres. Watts—1.

Ald. Manly was chosen president pro tem.

The clerk read the following call for special meeting:

MAYOR'S OFFICE,
ANN ARBOR, October 24, 1893.

To the Honorable the Common Council.

GENTLEMEN:—I have the honor to report to your honorable body that I have this day suspended from office James R. Murray, Marshal and Chief of Police, and also, that with the consent of the council, I have removed said Murray from office, for cause upon charges and specifications hereto annexed and to which your attention is called.

Yours respectfully,
B. M. THOMPSON, Mayor.

ANN ARBOR, MICH., October 26, 1893.

WM. J. MILLER, City Clerk.—You are hereby directed to call a special meeting of the common council of this city to be held on Monday night, at 7:30 in the afternoon of that day, to consider the message of the mayor of October 16, 1893, reporting the appointment of Charles Wheeler, Marshal, and also the message of the mayor October 24, 1893, reporting this action in suspending James R. Murray from office as marshal, and also removing him from said office, providing the council consent thereto.

B. M. THOMPSON, Mayor.

MAYOR'S OFFICE,
ANN ARBOR, October 24, 1893.

By virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the charter of this city, I do hereby order, direct and declare

1. That James R. Murray, Marshal and Chief of Police, be and he is hereby suspended from said office.

2. That James R. Murray, Marshal and Chief of Police, be and he is hereby removed from said office, provided a majority of the common council consent thereto.

Said James R. Murray is removed from office as Marshal and Chief of Police for cause. I hereby charge him with:

1. Neglect of duty.
2. With disobedience of orders.

Specifications under charge 1, neglect of duty.

(a) That said James R. Murray well knowing that on Sunday, the 8th day of October, 1893, a large number of persons were in the saloon kept by one Joseph Dennison, in this city, and that one of such persons while in said saloon on that day, committed a felony, and was afterwards arrested, and on Monday, the 9th day of October, was convicted of such offense, he, said Murray, wholly neglected, until ordered so to do by the mayor, to make complaint against said Joseph Dennison for keeping open said saloon contrary to the provisions of the statute.

(b) That said James R. Murray having been informed by Joseph Dennison that a building kept and occupied by him as a saloon, in the city of Ann Arbor, was on the 8th day of October, 1893, feloniously broken open and entered by a number of persons, who then and there drank the beer and smoked the cigars of said Joseph Dennison, he, said James R. Murray, wholly neglected to make complaint against any person or persons for feloniously breaking and entering said saloon, although he well knew the persons so charged with the commission of said offense, in violation of the instructions which he had heretofore received to report promptly to the mayor any violation of the statutes or ordinances coming to his knowledge.

B. M. THOMPSON, Mayor.

The chair ruled that the only business before this council was to hear message from the mayor, of Oct. 24, 1893, reporting the suspension of Jas. R. Murray, marshal.

ANN ARBOR, October 25, 1893.

To the Common Council of the City of Ann Arbor.

Gentlemen:

The undersigned, James R. Murray, Marshal and Chief of Police of the City of Ann Arbor, hereby submits to your Honorable Body his answer to the charges and specifications heretofore made by the Honorable Mayor of said city, charging the undersigned, first with neglect of duty and second with disobedience of orders.

The undersigned, answering, says that the first specification of neglect of duty made by the Honorable Mayor for his suspension and removal from office is as follows:

"(a) That said James R. Murray, well knowing that on Sunday, the eighth day of October, 1893, a large number of persons were in the saloon kept by one Joseph Dennison in this city, and that one of such persons while in said saloon on that day committed a felony and was afterwards arrested and on Monday the 9th day of October was convicted of such offense, he, the said Murray, wholly neglected, until ordered so to do by the Mayor, to make complaint against said Joseph Dennison for keeping open said saloon contrary to the provisions of the statute."

In answer to this charge the said James R. Murray says that on the 8th day of October 1893, he was by the saloon of the said Joseph Dennison a number of times and that the curtains in said saloon were drawn aside and that an unobstructed view could be had from the street through said saloon and that the undersigned was not aware that on that day any person or persons were in said saloon or in any of the rooms connected with the same; that he has since been informed and believes that some person or persons on the morning of the 8th day of October aforesaid, before the hour of nine o'clock on said morning, in the absence of said Joseph Dennison, the proprietor of said saloon, and of his clerk, broke into the back room of said saloon and helped themselves to beer and cigars without the knowledge or consent of said Joseph Dennison or his clerk, and that said Joseph Dennison on returning to his place of business, which was between the hours of nine and ten o'clock on said morning, discovered that some persons had made an entry into his saloon against his desire and wish, and he then and there turned such persons out of his saloon, closed his place of business and went away.

The unersigned says that these facts were clearly developed on a trial which took place on the 9th day of October, before Justice Bennett of the city of Ann Arbor.

The undersigned further answering, says that the reason why he did not make a complaint against said Joseph Dennison for keeping open his saloon upon Sunday contrary to the provision of the statute, was because he did not consider that where a man's saloon is broken into without the proprietor's knowledge or consent, or that of his clerk, that any jury or any reasonable Court would hold such man guilty of a violation of any statute of this state; that it it absurd to say that the law contemplates that if, in the absence of the proprietor of a saloon and of everybody connected with it, some outsider should make a forcible entry into such saloon without the knowledge or consent of the owner or of his clerk, the saloon keeper would be guilty of a violation of the liquor law; and for such reasons he made no complaint in the first instance against the said Joseph Dennison.

The undersigned, further answering, says that the Honorable Mayor became greatly exercised because a complaint had not been made against the said Joseph Dennison and took the undersigned to task for not making such complaint; that at the earnest solicitation of the Honorable Mayor, the undersigned did on the 13th day of October make a complaint against said Joseph Dennison, charging said Dennison with having kept open his said saloon on Sunday in violation of the liquor law; that said Dennison waived examination before Justice Bennett and was bound over to the Circuit Court; but the undersigned says that he took this action not believing it to be the proper action to take in the premises, but simply because he deemed it his duty to obey the order of the Mayor.

The undersigned, further answering, says that the Honorable Mayor makes the following charge against him, to-wit:

"(b) That said James R. Murray having been informed by Joseph Dennison that a building kept and occupied by him as a saloon in the city of Ann Arbor was on the 8th day of October, 1893, feloniously broken open and entered by a number of persons, who then and there drank the beer and smoked the cigars of the said Joseph Dennison, he, said James R. Murray wholly neglected to make complaint against any person or persons for feloniously breaking and entering said saloon although he well knew the persons so charged with the commission of said offense."

To this charge and specification, the undersigned, answering, says that the offense mentioned in this charge was one which would properly come under the supervision of the prosecuting officers of the County of Washtenaw; that he does not deem it his province necessarily as marshal of this city to go out of his way to make complaints against persons who have broken and entered the place of business of another in the day time or night time without having had personal knowledge of the commission of such offense; that in the opinion of the undersigned, Joseph Dennison, whose place of business was broken into, was the proper person to make complaint against the persons damaging his property; and he was not aware that he was guilty of any neglect of duty or of official misconduct in not volunteering to make a complaint against persons whose names were unknown to him, on information and belief for committing the offense above mentioned.

The undersigned further says that the third specification made against him is as follows:

"(a) That the said James R. Murray, having been informed and well knowing that the saloon kept by one Joseph Dennison in the city of Ann Arbor was open on Sunday October 8th, 1893, and that a large number of evil disposed persons were congregated therein on that day, drinking, carousing, committing robberies and other offenses, he wholly neglected to report to the Mayor any such facts and information, in violation of the instructions which he had heretofore received to report promptly to the Mayor any violation of the statutes or ordinances coming to his knowledge."

To this specification and charge the undersigned, answering, says that he did not at once report the fact that the saloon of said Joseph Dennison had been broken into on October 8th, 1893, for the reason that he did not consider at that time, and does not now, that the said Joseph Dennison had violated any of the laws of this state; that the undersigned had not supposed that it was one of the duties of the Mayor of the city to actively engage in the prosecution of any felony or misdemeanor that might be committed within the limits of the city or county simply because he held the office of Mayor; that the undersigned was and is of the opinion that it was and is the duty and province of the criminal authorities of the county, the sheriff and his deputies and the prosecuting attorney to take charge of the prosecution of such an offense as breaking into a man's place of business in the day time or night time.

The undersigned would further say that prior to any knowledge coming to him whatever of the commission of the offense above mentioned, the same has been reported to the sheriff and was in the hands of the sheriff to take such actions in relation to the same as he saw fit.

The undersigned would further say that he has endeavored in his official action to promptly report any violation of the ordinance of this city or of the liquor laws of this state to the Mayor and has promptly made complaint for any violation of said ordinances or said liquor law where such violations have come to his knowledge.

The undersigned further answering, says that he does not consider that he has been guilty of any neglect of official duty in not reporting the breaking and entering of said saloon on said 8th day of October by presons to him unknown, and he is at loss to understand how the Honorable Mayor can charge him with malfeasance in office and neglect of duty in not reporting an offense which is usually taken care of by the county criminal officials; that as has already been intimated in this answer he had been advised and believes that the breaking and entering of said saloon on the day aforesaid by evil disposed persons without the knowledge or consent of said Joseph Dennison or his clerk, is in no way a violation of the liquor laws of this state by the said Joseph Dennison, and that no court or jury will ever convict a man for committing an offense which was entirely beyond his power to prevent.

Under these circumstances the undersigned would respectfully submit to your Honorable Body that the said charges and specifications made by the Honorable Mayor are without just foundation and are not based upon a correct interpretation of the law, and therefore the said James R. Murray submits that said charges and sprcifications so made by the Mayor ought not to be entertained and that your Honorable Body ought not to consent to his removal from the office of Marshal of this city. All of which is respectfully submitted.

JAMES R. MURRAY.

Ald. Herz moved that the matter be laid on the table until said charges can be approved.

Ald. Prettyman moved a substitute that the charges and answer be read.

Adopted.

By Ald. Prettyman:

Resolved, That when this council do adjourn, it be to meet in special session on Thursday evening next, at 7:30 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of considering and disposing of the charges of neglect of duty preferred by the Honorable Mayor, against James R. Murray, Marshal and Chief of Police.

Second. That the order of proceedings on the hearing of the said charges, shall be as follows, that is to say: The Honorable Mayor shall have leave to supplement his said charges with such proofs relating thereto, as he shall or may be advised; and that thereafter the said James R. Murray shall have leave to produce proofs in answer thereto, and in support of his said answer this day filed—as he shall or may be advised, after which other proofs may be produced by the Honorable Mayor, and the said James R. Murray, explanatory and in rebutal thereof. Whereupon after hearing argument of the respective parties, and their counsel the said charges shall be disposed of on roll calls, as follows: Charge number one, and the specifications thereunder shall be deemed and considered one question, and charge number two and the specifications thereunder, shall be deemed and considered as another question.

Third. That after the said question shall be disposed of a third and final question shall be put as follows:

Resolved, That this council does hereby consent to the order of removal of James R. Murray, Marshal and Chief of Police, made and filed by the Honorable Mayor, on the 24th day of October, A. D., 1893.

Fourth. That after the disposal of all of which questions a motion to adjurn shall be in order.

Ald. Ferguson moved that the resolution be laid on the table.

Which motion was lost by a yea and nay vote as follows:

Yeas—Alds. Herz, Martin, Snow, O'Mara, Ferguson—5.

Nays—Alds. Schairer, Wagner, Taylor, Wood, Manly, Prettyman, Kitson—7.

The original resolution passed as follows:

Yeas—Alds. Schairer, Wagner, Martin, Wood, Taylor, Manly, Prettyman Kitson—8.

Nays—Alds. Herz, Snow, O'Mara, Ferguson—4.

On motion the council adiourned.

Populist Nepotism.

The following extract is taken from a communication from the World's Fair, published in the last Sault Ste. Marie News. Will Mr. Belden explain it:

"A prominent citizen of Lansing, while at the World's Fair a few days since, went over to the agricultural building to see the Michigan exhibit and compare our products with those from surrounding states. He found the space allotted to our noble state, but a sorry exhibit it was. An air of desertion seemed to surround it, while other state exhibits were thronged with visitors continually. The Lansingite approached a young lady who appeared to be looking after the exhibit and asked her some questions. She was prepared to give all needed information. The Lansingite said: "What may I call your name?" "My name is Belden, Grace Belden, and that young man, who has charge here, is my brother'." "Then you are the son and daughter of the commissioner who placed the exhibit here?" "Yes, sir." At that moment a middle-aged lady stepped behind the railing and took off her bonnet, and appeared to be another one helping to look after the Michigan show. "Who is this lady?" asked the Lansing gentleman. "That is my mother, wife of the commissioner; she is helping us to look after the affairs here." The Lansing gentleman left with an impression that Democratic-Populist Commissioner Belden had lost no opportunity to hit the Michigan World's Fair appropriation a hard knock with his family, each one present drawing a good fat salary."

The Courtesy She Expected.

"When I was down in North Carolina last," remarked the drummer, "I met a mountaineer beauty in Asheville for a day's sightseeing. She was tall and angular, and her calico dress and limp sunbonnet of the same material clung to her as if they had no other support in the wide world. Her face was freckled. I met her in the railroad station, waiting for a train, and she spotted me on sight.

"'Ain't you a drummer?' she inquired.

"'I'm a traveling salesman,' I replied. 'What will you have?'

"'I want to know about my train, an ther ain't nobody round that seems to know anything. Drummers know it all,' she laughed.

"I told her what she wanted to know, and then she branched off.

"'I wuz over thar in the men's side uv the deepot awhile ago,' she said, 'lookin round, and when I went in thar every man was smokin, and the way they treated me wuz real insultin.'

"'You didn't expect them to stop smoking when you came in, did you?' I asked. 'That's their waiting room, you know, and they have the right of way.'

"She tapped the floor with the toe of her big calfskin shoe for a moment.

"'But they might have been polite,' she contended weakly.

"'What did you want them to do?'

"'Well, some uv 'em,' and here she pouted, 'might 'a' axed me to smoke.'

"Then I offered her my cigar case, and she took all I had, and I smiled."—Detroit Free Press.

HE TALKED TOO MUCH.

The Story of a Little Chap Who Wanted to Get Aboard.

"It ain't no sign of bravery ter abuse folks over a high fence or from t'other side the river," said the captain, tilting the keg on which he was sitting so that his back might rest against the fish house. His companion sat by mending his nets. "Now when I was quite a lad," he went on, "I hed an experience that showed me what uncommon poor policy it is to be too funny—even at a distance."

"How was that?"

"Well, I was put in alternate cap'n on one of them steamers that runs in Frenchman's bay, an bein young an tolerable successful I got to thinkin I knowed pretty much the whole of it.

"One day we was layin at the wharf loadin the freight on, an I see a little man walkin up an down waitin ter go aboard. He was a pompous lookin individual, an follerin an hangin on his words was two or three men that seemed ter consider what he said as golden speech.

"I kept thinkin that I wished it would come time ter start when he was way up t'other end of the wharf, an sure enough, just as he got much as a rod away it was time ter pull out.

"I pulled the whistle an waited full time, but he turned round mighty moderate an come toward the plank. The men commenced ter haul it on, an we fell back from the wharf. Then he broke into a run an waved his hat an shouted.

"When we was clear of everything I hollered back, 'Hurry up, little chap, or you'll hev ter walk!' an a lot of sech talk, when I got a signal from the cap'n that was 'longside ter put back, an findin somethin unusual was up I hed to.

"The men lowered the plank, an the little man walked on board an come right up ter the pilothouse an passed me his card.

"He was the owner of the whole line of steamers, an he says very slow an kind: 'Speakin of walkin, p'r'aps you'd better go ashore now 'fore they draw the plank in. We shan't need you on this trip.'"

"What did you do?"

"Do? Why, I went of course, an my assistant run the trip. The matter was fixed up, but when I makea joke now I take keer 't's one that ain't comin home ter roost."—Youth's Companion.

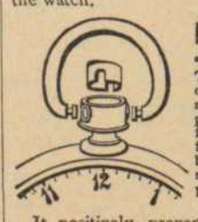
Non-pull-out

is an arbitrary word used to designate the only bow (ring) which cannot be pulled off the watch.



Here's the idea

The bow has a groove on each end. A collar runs down inside the pendant (stem) and fits into the grooves, firmly locking the bow to the pendant, so that it cannot be pulled or twisted off.

It positively prevents the loss of the watch by theft, and avoids injury to it from dropping.

IT CAN ONLY BE HAD with Jas. Boss Filled or other watch cases bearing this trade mark——

All watch dealers sell them without extra cost. Ask your jeweler for pamphlet, or send to the manufacturers.
