The Charity Ball.

The Charity Ball will take place at the rink Tuesday evening, February 6th. It promises to be a great success. The committees have been appointed and are at work making all the arrangements under the chairmanship of Mr. Lew Clement. A good feature of the affair will be the working together of the townspeople and the University people, as there are too few such occasions bringing them together.

It will enable many to contribute to the needs of the poor, both of our own city and of the Upper Peninsula, where thousands of miners are out of work, for the proceeds will be evenly divided between the two. Tickets are on sale by the committeemen and at the following places:

Ann Arbor Organ Co's office.
Ann Arbor Gas Co's office.
Goodyear & Co's drug store.
Moore & Wetmore's.
Geo. Wahr's (both stores).
Sheehan & Co's.
E. E. Calkins'.
Bowditch & Matteson's.

Also at Dodge's jewelry store and by Walter L. Pack, in Ypsilanti.

Boxes will be arranged about the rink to be sold to societies, fraternities or business men. The first twenty-five tickets are to be handsomely printed and sold in order to the highest bidders. Bids will be received by Mr. Clement.

The use of the rink was donated by Mr. Preston; of the Gibson art rooms by Gibson & Morgan; of fuel by Eugene Hall; of the music by the Chequerboard; of the printing by the printing offices; of decorations by C. F. Staebler. Consequently the receipts will be nearly all for charity.

A fine list of patronesses has been secured among the ladies of the University and town, and the Charity Ball promises to be one of the events of the year.

G. A. R. Installation.

The ceremonies of installing the officers for the ensuing year, of Welch Post No. 137, G. A. R., on Friday evening, proved to be an occasion that will long be remembered by those who participated in it.

The regular business was carried through in an incredible short space of time and then the doors were thrown open and the Woman's Relief Corps and Sons of Veterans, together with members of their families were admitted to the hall. A number of visiting comrades were also present.

Col. Henry S. Dean, the installing officer, was conducted into the hall and introduced to those present. He then proceeded to install the following comrades to fill the positions named below:

Commander—Wm. K. Childs.
Senior V. C.—Frederick Pistorious.
Junior V. C.—Warren E. Walker.
Adjt.—H. P. Danforth.
Quartermaster—Conrad Noll.
Chaplain—J. Milton Perkins.
Surgeon—Wm. F. Breaker.
Officer of the Day—Ed S. Manly.
Officer of the Guard—John C. Allmendinger.

Outside Guard—Wm. J. Clark.
Sergeant Major—Chas. Dunn.
After which the new officers were conducted to their official chairs, and, on suggestion, Past-Commander Greene was called upon to act as installing officer, and in a very unique but appropriate manner, proceeded with the installation of Comrade Henry S. Dean, as the person elect to fill that position.

On taking the chair Commander Childs made a very neat and interesting speech, which met the approbation of all present.

Mrs. Henry S. Dean, president of the Woman's Relief Corps, was then called forward and made a few well-timed remarks.

Speech-making was here put a stop to by the suggestion of Senior Vice Commander Pistorious, that the ladies had something better in store for us, and that the Post take a recess for the purpose of allowing them to present it to the Post. This was done, and in a short time the committee appointed by the Corps were busily engaged in passing around the "good things," and the social time which thereupon ensued proved to be one of the most enjoyable times these organizations have yet participated in.

FIFTY VIEWS AND TWO PAPERS FOR $1.25

We have made arrangements with the firm of Mast, Crowell & Kirkpatrick, of Springfield, Ohio, by which we can furnish our subscribers with a portfolio of 50—remember 50, not 16 as is usually offered—Photographic Views, for practically nothing.

The offer is this: To anyone paying us $1.25, the Courier and the Farm and Fireside will each be sent to their address one year, together with this portfolio of 50 Photographic Views of the World's Fair.

The Farm and Fireside is a bi-weekly paper of 28 pages, full of useful reading, invaluable to the farmer, and excellent in any household.

This is the best offer ever made. You cannot afford to let it pass by unheeded.

Don't wait until it is too late and then kick yourself for the neglect.

Now is the time to catch on to this magnificent offer.

Sentenced for Life.

The second trial of James Clifford Hand for the murder of Jay Pulver, at Ypsilanti, closed last Thursday evening at about half past 10 o'clock, with a verdict of guilty. The jury was out but a short time, when they sent word to Judge Kinne that they were ready to report.

Upon rendering their verdict Judge Kinne asked Hand if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon him, and he stood up and made a very effective little speech, stating that he supposed that he should go to prison but he should go as an innocent man, and calling upon God to care for his wife and children, and his aged parents.

Hand further stated that he should call upon the governor of the state to give him the liberty which belonged to him as an innocent man.

The Judge then proceeded to pass sentence upon Hand which was that the balance of his natural life should be spent in State prison at Jackson, at hard labor.

The verdict caused considerable surprise, but as Judge Kinne had warned the audience to make no demonstrations whatever, the verdict was received in silence by the immense crowd present.

During Mr. Sawyer's speech, Miss Pulver, a daughter of the murdered man, fainted and had to be taken from the room, and one of the jurors had a slight attack of vertigo, which delayed things until medical attendance brought him around again.

There is a general feeling of satisfaction over the verdict of guilty in the Hand murder case. Although it may have been difficult to furnish indisputable evidence, yet the deep seated conviction in the minds of a great majority of the people, that Hand was guilty, will uphold the jury in the conclusion at which they arrived.

It is probable that Mr. Sawyer's excellent plea in the case had considerable influence, but not perhaps more than the facts brought out on the trial, and the prevailing feeling that Mr. Hand was guilty of the murder of Jay Pulver.

No one went upon the witness stand and swore that Hand's past life was what it should have been. His past record was certainly against him, and that also had its effect, while all the circumstances pointed to him as the only person who could have had an object in it, and murders are seldom committed without an object.

The outcome of this case proves to many of our people the desirability of keeping our law relative to punishment for murder as it is, and not returning to capital punishment. Had that been the law there was perhaps not a man on that jury who would have taken the responsibility upon himself of a verdict of guilty. Although they honestly believed him guilty, yet there was a doubt, the proof was not absolute, and the prisoner would have received the benefit. As it is, they do not deprive him of his life, but of his liberty, and should he ever be able to prove his innocence, as he will if he is innocent, then there is a way to undo the wrong. With capital punishment it would have been different.

Woman Suffrage.

The convention of women who meet in Ann Arbor this week to discuss women's right to vote, is largely attended by those who go to hear the able speakers advocate their rights. Many who attend do not believe in it as very necessary or even desirable just yet, but all generally admit it will come after a while. When the women really want it, they will get it.

The great trouble is that we already have too many voters. The toughs and criminals of our big cities by their fraudulent practices, outrage the ballot, and by their balance of power swing an entire state for those who are under pledges to protect them. The wives and consorts of this low element would all turn out to vote with them, while the better class of women would shrink from going to vote where they would be insulted.

Every year more and more of the best men in these large cities are becoming disgusted with city politics and are staying away from the polls. If this is so with the men, how much more so will it be with their tender wives, less accustomed to jostling ill-smelling crowds than their husbands? Women suffrage will double the vicious vote, but it will not increase the vote for just laws and upright officials.

The political temperance element go in for equal suffrage hoping to get help. They would find they had been chasing a rainbow as delusive as was the one when they abandoned the good old red ribbon clubs, to run after the political sore-heads like Dickie, St. John and other workers of temperance "for revenue only," at $25 per night for cheap talk. It would be the same farce that amuses the voters at school elections when the prohibitionists get up a woman's ticket which has fewer women voting for it than vote against it. The real home loving women prefer not to be dragged into the political dirt, for they adopt the theory where you have a sewer to clean, first stop the dirt from going in, then clean it out. But the female suffragists go on the plan of jumping into the filth and wiping it up with their skirts and gowns. It does not clean out the sewer but it soils the dresses most woefully.

A blow is about to be made to female suffrage by congress, in passing the bill to repeal the federal election laws, because that throws down the safeguards to the ballot, putting the elections still firmer in the hands of the vicious, and it is plain that we can afford less than ever to double the vicious vote.

One of the speakers last night stated that nearly all our troubles originated from faults in municipal government, which is undoubtedly true. But her logic then carried her to say that was where women suffrage ought to begin. When a doctor goes to amputate a diseased limb he does not try to cut it off right in the midst of the disease, but back of that where it is still sound, so as not to leave any affected portion there.

In the body politic, the diseased part is the city; the sound part is the country. Begin your work there female suffragists, for there the vicious do not control. There is no ballot box stuffing, no fraudulent counting out, no repeating of voters, no bribery, no intimidation. The women of the country are like men, intelligent, honest, sober. Double that vote if you want to, but don't begin by doubling the vicious element's strength in the large cities.

When the tough, ignorant class of city voters is disfranchised, then we might be ready for women suffrage.

The New York Sun tells us why an income tax would be very acceptable to the democracy. It would furnish employment to about 25,000 officials.

Judge Long won his suit against Commissioner Lochren, Justice Bradley deciding that that official exceeded his authority in suspending him. Did Hoke Smith have his ear to the ground with the decision was made?

Free lumber is provided for in the Wilson bill, but a tariff is placed on wood pulp. Why? For the benefit of newspaper publishers? Or some of the friends of this administration?

The democrats of Detroit are not all altogether happy over the appointment by President Cleveland of John B. Moloney as collector of the port of Detroit. John has some red hot enemies.

The reply of President Dole, of Hawaii, proves him to be a bright, patriotic man, and the way he "does up" our president in right down solid argument is something astonishing. Mr. Cleveland can take lessons of Mr. Dole, not only in patriotism but in statesmanship as well.

The ways and means committee of the House have knocked out the income tax, and the committee on banking and currency have decided not to report the repeal of the state bank tax! What's the matter with the democrats? Their platform promised both of these reforms?

The soul of heavy tragedy is at work in Dexter trying to organize a democratic club and one will be formed there, or the hand of the mover will be "thicker than itself with brother's blood."—Adrian Press.

What can this terrible "democratic club" be? A new Ku Klux? Or a premature result of the Wilson bill? Monday the democrats mustered forces enough to order the previous question on taking up the report of the committee on rules, that brought the tariff bill before the house. Bontelle of Maine, filibustered, and Reed objected, but the motion carried. Among those not voting was Gorman of Michigan.—Adrian Press.

The great petition against the Wilson bill from Troy, N. Y., containing 67,000 names, making a book a foot thick, six feet long, etc., was presented to congress by Mr. Haines, formerly of the A. A. & Ypsi. St. R. R. He had a page place it on a wheelbarrow and run it up to the speaker's desk. A pretty brave deed for a democrat in his position.

J. Proctor Knott was at first offered the Mission to Hawaii, but he says that when he learned what was expected of him, he at once said that he was too good a poker player to make such a bluff as that. "Had I known, however, that the administration wanted a queen, I should have consulted my cook." Not bad for Knott.—National Tribune.

The strangely mild winter which has so far been experienced here, has its opposite in the severely cold weather that has visited England and continental Europe. The lack of preparation for such a winter, which we generally enjoy, has caused much suffering across the Atlantic.—Ypsilanti Sentinel.

The "lack of preparation for such a winter, which we generally enjoy," is good. Pass the Wilson bill and help keep the lack.

A JACKSONIAN DEMOCRAT.

At the banquet of the Jackson Club at Columbus, Ohio, upon the occasion of their patron Saint's birthday, there was one speaker who had the courage to say what he thought, and he thought that President Cleveland and Prof. Wilson with their un-American bill, ought to be kicked out of the democratic party.

The speaker was Mr. Ingalls, president of "The Big Four" railway system. Among other things he said this:

"The theory that 'the king can do no wrong' will never succeed in this country. Neither does all knowledge all wisdom, lie with the president and his advisers, nor with the senate or the house. We might say, perhaps, to each, sarcastically, as did Job of old to his accusers: 'No doubt ye are the people, and wisdom shall lie with you.' But we do not believe it will."

And he reminded the Jackson Club of Columbus that "we are in the midst of evil times; mills have stopped, industries are paralyzed, everywhere idle men are filling the streets and asking for work; but there is none for them to do. No such calamity ever before has befallen us."

He paid Prof. Wilson's tariff bill this bit of attention:

"The committee on ways and means has sent to congress a tariff bill which, in addition to the deficit of $50,000,000, will produce $75,000,000 more of loss, leaving the government at the end of the fiscal year short $125,000,000 unless it can be made up in other ways."

"How do they expect to make up this $125,000,000? Cover your heads in shame, my fellow democrats, for your party in power these days of peace proposes to go back and enact the war taxes of the past. And why? In order that they may make a tariff framed according to the theories of a few men familiar only with the books and reduce the duties on certain articles which do not demand it and make certain articles free which are not called for."

Some of our democratic friends are in deep thought over this matter.

The Detroit Free Press goes on the principle that "a lie well stuck to is as good as the truth," for after being officially informed over and over again that such was not the fact it continues to assert that ex-Minister Stevens interfered and with U. S. troops helped to establish the provisional government of Hawaii. As that is the only way for it to crawl out of a bad hole, perhaps it is best to let it hug the delusion.

Queen Lili, very frankly told Minister Willis that should she be restored to power she would promptly cut off the heads of the members of the provisional government and confiscate their property. The letter containing that information was withheld by President Cleveland from congress. He probably thought its effect on congress would not be in the interest of the profligate queen whom he sought to replace on a throne she disgraced.

If the tardy U. S. officials are responsible for the goods of foreign exhibitors remaining in the World's Fair buildings until this date as alleged, the government should pay the recent losses by fire promptly and manfully. If government officials are too indolent to attend to their business as they should then the government itself is responsible for the consequences. The fair was made a national matter by congress and the government should treat foreigners who came here upon its invitation with fairness.

The fellow that used to shriek out at every opportunity "the rich are growing richer and the poor are growing poorer" must view the present situation with complacency, and be thankful for the desired change, as now the whole outfit is growing poorer. It must be a kind of grim satisfaction to such a man, though, to know that where the rich man has been deprived of a part of his income, the man who was poor under the change lost the whole of his, and in many cases is dependent on public charity.—Jonesville Independent.

Speaking of the efforts of the foremost men of Hawaii, foremost not only in brains but in business interests and possessions as well, to establish a safe and reliable government in that land, the Ypsilanti Sentinel wheezes out: "This condition of things ought not to be allowed to exist much longer." Bro. Woodruff should get Mr. Cleveland to send him over there to squelch those patriots who are striving for freedom and a government free from oppression and licentiousness. It is against the principles of the present democratic administration to foster any such thing. Queen Lili's rotten monarchy must be restored though blood runs like water through the streets of Honolulu. The cry is for blood! blood! blood!

Hood's Pills cure all liver ills.

REFORM IN THE JURY ROOM.

Trial by jury has always been more or less of a farce, and is gradually becoming more so. No one has ever explained exactly why perfect unanimity is required of a jury when a majority, greater or less, is allowed to decide all other matters of contention. It is hard to see why the majority rule may not be applied in the jury-room with perfect justice. Less time and money would be squandered on worthless criminals if the present custom were abolished. As the case now stands, it is comparatively easy for counsel to secure the necessary "one stubborn man," whose power the law renders absolute to defeat the wishes of his eleven colleagues and, perhaps, the ends of justice. All sorts of pretexts affecting merely one jurymen may undo weeks of work, and cause the waste of much public money. Only a few days since, during the progress of a noted trial, the sudden real or feigned (it does not matter which) insanity of one of the jurors compelled an entire re-trial, with great attendant costs. Contingencies of this sort may arise at any time, and are not only expensive but clearly detrimental to the administration of justice.

A reform is also needed in the rules for the selection of jurors. It is impossible to select a jury composed of intelligent citizens to try a case that has filled the public prints without excepting men who have already "formed opinions." The test of moral integrity and good horse-sense would be far better than the ordinary test of ignorance—for that is what the law requires in many cases.—Blue and Gray for January.

DEMOCRACY TO THE DREG.

The eight uninterrupted years of democracy under Jackson brought on the panic of 1837, and the other eight years of uninterrupted democracy, 1852 to 1860, brought on the panic of 1857-58, culminating in secession. In both cases the hard times were the result of a tariff built on the free trade plan and a pernicious monetary policy. In 1837 there was a destructive contraction of the currency, in 1858 there was a wildcat expansion.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Jerry Simpson thought to make free trade capital in the tariff debate by displaying a suit he bought from an old gardener at Washington, which originally cost $7.50, and which had been worn the old fellow confessed "high onto five year." But Col. Grosvenor, of Ohio, turned the tables nicely by calling attention to the brand new suit he himself had on that he had bought that day for $10.50, and it was warranted all wool. In contrast he displayed a suit much inferior in looks, that he had purchased in England last summer for $16.50, a difference of $6 in cash in favor of the present American plan of protection.

General Jackson, once president of the United States, and a man whom all the people of America, who are Americans, revere for his many brave deeds and brainy words, once gave his party this advice on the tariff question:

"We should become a little more Americanized and instead of feeding the paupers and laborers of Europe we should feed our own."

While democrats in congress are debating a bill designed to provide more work for "the paupers and laborers of Europe," and to lessen the wages of American labor, and to diminish the demand for it, Old Hickory's request that "we should become a little more Americanized" may well be renewed.

It must have been very gratifying to Chairman Wilson to see his pet measure, on the first day of its formal appearance in the house, confronted with a remonstrance from 67,000 citizens of one small section of New York state against his bill's assault on the collar and cuff industry. It must have added to his delight to see a democratic congressman from New York present that remonstrance and to hear him say that if the Wilson bill is passed in its present shape "it will ruin this great industry." It must have made his heart throb with joy to learn that a great many of those 67,000 petitioners are workingmen who have hitherto voted the democratic ticket.—Detroit Journal.

William Black's latest serial story will appear in Harper's Bazar. Its title is "Highland Cousins," and the first installment is announced for the issue dated Jan. 5th.

AN APPEAL OF THE HOME.

To American Women:

The Woman's Republican Association sends its New Year's Greeting. We have often appealed to you to give your influence and effort for the maintenance of the principles of the republican party. Many of you have nobly responded, and the good results of your efforts appear in various states and local communities.

One year ago last November, the voters of the nation thought they wanted a change in its industrial policy; the change has come.

The present administration at Washington came into power amid conditions of prosperity which even this favored nation had never known. Heaven had furnished the basis of prosperity: Fertile soil, genial sunshine, "growing" rains, immense natural resources, answered Man's honest toil, and brought returns in bountiful harvests, and abundant raw material for manufacturing interests.

Mills and factories were in full operation; the hum of machinery, the ring of the bell and the shriek of the engine were the music of industrial prosperity.

This prosperity was secured and assured through the American System of a protective tariff.

The democratic party, the advocate of free trade, assumed control of the government under contract to repeal this tariff which is declared unconstitutional.

Uncertainty as to what the democratic majority in congress will do, and the fear that it will enact free trade, have unsettled the commercial world and brought a panic of distrust to finance and trade.

Mills and factories are closed, and idle workmen and workwomen walk the streets, in vain seeking opportunity to earn an honest living.

Soup houses and clothing dispensaries now take the place of "pay day" comforts and luxuries. Nor is there prospect of better times, unless the people of the whole country make themselves felt at Washington.

There is now pending before Congress, a measure known as the Wilson bill. It embodies in substance the delusive theories of tariff reform. It is now supported by the administration and a majority of the members of congress. If it becomes a law, many industries will be unable to compete with the pauper labor of the old world, and will be permanently closed. Others will compete, but labor will be the loser. Wages will be cut down to the foreign level, in order that the American manufacturer may compete with the importer of foreign wares.

More than three millions of workmen—because of these conditions actual and prospective—out of work today. Add to this number the dependent women and children, and then count the famishing host.

Can nothing be done?—Yes. DEFEAT THE WILSON BILL.

Let every woman who suffers or who cares for those who suffer, write—at once—a letter or postal card to her member of congress and to both senators from her state, asking these representatives of the people to vote against the Wilson bill.

Many of these men, perhaps all, desire to serve their constituents, women as well as men.

Let them not be ignorant of what the people want. Do this, women, and do it immediately. Your personal request may be the one to turn the tide against this un-American measure. Do this for the home and the flag. Please write us here what you have done.

Yours sincerely,
Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, Pres.
Mrs. Thos. W. Chace, Sec'y.

The Cause of the Feud.

They were seated at a table in a prominent restaurant—four fond parents and two youngsters, each about old enough to lip a few words.

"Our Charlie can walk so nice, can't oo, oo nice 'little fellow?' said one mother.

"And our Clara walks clear across the room without falling, don't oo, sweet?"

"Charley's so good; he will play by himself by the hour, and I can tend to my work."

"And Clara never kept us up a night since we have had her."

So the conversation went on, each parent trying to out-do the other in bragging. Finally the family to which Clara belonged, finished the meal. The mother picked up the girl and said: "Now give Charley a nice kiss before we go." Charley was in the act of slaughtering an orange, and he had already reduced it to a mushy mass. As Clara's face came close to his, he raised his arm on high, and, bringing it down forcibly, planted the mushy orange very artistically upon Clara's pug nose. Such a howl as went up startled all the guests, and when Clara slapped him, the noise was doubled. Clara's ma and pa hardly speak to Charley's ma and pa, and each family thinks that the younger member of the other family is just horrid.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

An Imperative Duty

What greater duty is possible than the care of our health? Until recently it has been impossible for persons living at a distance from large cities to obtain the best medical advice without great expense. This is now obviated so that the poorest persons, in any part of the land, may consult the great medical authority on nervous and chronic diseases, free of charge, and without leaving their homes. Dr. Greene, of 35 W. 14th street, New York, the most successful specialist in curing all nervous and chronic diseases has lately adopted the plan of giving the sick everywhere consultation and advice by letter correspondence, free of charge.

Write him a description of your complaint and he will return you an exact explanation of your disease, as to its cure, entirely free of charge. He gives most careful and explicit attention to all letters and will make your case so plain to you that you can not fail to understand exactly what ails you. Dr. Greene is the discoverer of that wonderful cure, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. He uses nothing but harmless vegetable remedies in his treatment. What sufferer can resist such an opportunity as this to regain health and strength? Write him about your complaint and you will never regret it.

They were two sons of the Green Isle. Said one: "That is this about the pension reform?" "It's just this," was the reply. "A lot of fellows do be gittin' pensions that don't deserve them. And so they are goin' to give pensions only to them as were mortally wounded, and they will git them for ever."

WITHOUT THE

BOW (RING)

It is easy to steal or ring watches from the pocket. The thief gets the watch in the hand, the chain in the other and gives a short, quick jerk—the ring slips off the watch stem, and away goes the watch, leaving the victim only the chain.

This idea stopped

that little game:

The bow has a groove on each end. A collar runs down inside the pendant (stem) and fits into the groove, firmly locking the bow to the pendant, so that it cannot be pulled or twisted off.

The Forum

"The Greatest of all our Periodicals."

The foremost men of the world write the literature of contemporaneous activity for THE FORUM.

Every great subject is taken up by The Forum when it naturally comes into public attention and is treated by the best authorities, without regard to parties or creeds. It will keep any thoughtful reader informed on the tasks and problems of the time, as no other periodical does.

To many thoughtful people, the price of The Forum has hitherto been prohibitory; indeed all the great Reviews have been too high in price for the masses of intelligent readers. But now the number of readers of thoughtful literature—men and women who wish really to know what is going on in the world outside the narrow limits of particular sects and parties—is great enough in the United States to warrant so revolutionary a reduction in price. The Forum discusses important subjects, but it is not dull. The literature of contemporaneous activity is, in fact, the most interesting of all literature. American citizenship implies that a man shall know the opinions of the foremost men and the latest great achievements in every direction of activity.

MEMORIES OF THE WAR.

The Horrors of Libby Prison Revived.

An Event Which Will Surprise Even Old Soldiers.

The Most Wonderful Experience of the Army Ever Recorded.

We never tire of hearing of the thrilling adventures of the war and the wonderful escapes from Libby Prison. The recent removal of this famous jail to Chicago renders any facts about it at this time particularly interesting.

A most fascinating story has just come to us of a man who passed five months of agony in this prison. The experiences of this person during and since the war are the most remarkable that have ever been brought to public notice. This man is none other than the well-known Mr. L. W. Porter, of West Berlin, Vt. He writes the following interesting letter:

"Since my return from the war my health has been growing poorer from exposure and hard service and the horrors of a five months' imprisonment in Libby prison. I came home a complete wreck and was sick for a whole year, during which time I did no work at all, being confined to my bed for about half the time.

"After I got up I was so weak that I could not walk but a short distance and then was obliged to stop and rest. About two years ago I found myself in a very bad condition with nervous prostration, the results of my long time poor health. I took most every kind of medicine that I could hear of, with no good results until I commenced on Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, which relieved me of nervousness and gave me strength so that I was able to walk and work. I consider Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy the best medicine there is for nervousness and to give strength to any weak person."

"Then personally appeared before me L. W. Porter, of West Berlin, Vt., to me personally known, and subscribed and swore to the truth of the foregoing statement."

Notary Public.

Well may Mr. Porter be called a hero, well may every inhabitant of the civilized world read of his experience and well may all mankind rejoice at its termination. The horrible sufferings which he experienced from disease were even worse than those of the war and prison. But he is a well man at last and cannot say enough in praise of this remarkable remedy. His restoration to health after so many years of suffering is indeed most wonderful.

If you are suffering from any form of nervous or chronic disease, indigestion, weakness, kidney or liver complaint, take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It will cure you.

Dr. Greene the noted specialist in the cure of all nervous and chronic diseases, can be consulted at his office, 20 West 14th St., New York, free, personally or by letter.

Save Your Eyesight.

The following rules for the care of the eyes conform to well-established law of eye physiology:

Avoid reading and studying by poor light.

Light should come from the side, and not from the back or front.

Do not read or study while suffering great bodily fatigue or during recovery from illness.

Do not read while lying down.

Do not use the eyes too long at a time for near work, but give them occasional periods of rest.

Reading and study should be done systematically.

During study avoid the stooping position, or whatever tends to produce congestion of the head and face.

Select well-printed books.

Correct errors of refraction with proper glasses.

Avoid bad hygienic conditions and the use of alcohol and tobacco.

Take sufficient exercise in the open air.

Let the physical keep pace with the mental culture, for asthenopia is most usually observed in those who are lacking in physical development.

Mme. Bernhardt introduced an innovation at the Renaissance theater in Paris recently by persuading the manager not to allow women wearing bonnets to sit in the orchestra stalls. The result was that the house gained greatly in appearance and there was rejoicing among the male sex present.

Julian Hawthorne is soon to remove his family and his lares from the "House of the Seven Gables" at Sag Harbor to establish them for a year or two—possibly longer, if he yields to the fascination of the place, as Stevenson has to the charms of Samoa—on the island of Jamaica, in the West Indies.

Commander Montell, the French officer who is to make an expedition into Central Africa, has had a flat-bottom ferryboat constructed which has a capacity of fifteen tons and weighs only 2,000 pounds. The metal part of the vessel weighs 1,800 pounds, and its hull is made of plates of aluminum four feet long, two feet four inches wide and 0.12 of an inch thick.

John Hogg, who died the other day in his home near Washington, was the oldest chief clerk in the government service. He had been in the navy department nearly forty years, and had been chief clerk of the department for nearly half that time. He was 75 years old. There is said not to have been a question of naval custom or a fact of law regarding the naval establishment that he did not have at his fingers' ends.

The sewer and street bills for the month of December were read and audited by the Board and their payments recommended by the Common Council at sums stated.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS, Ann Arbor, January 12, 1894.

Adjourned session. Called to order by Pres. Keech. Roll called. Present, Messrs. Keech and McIntyre.

The sewer labor bills for the last two weeks were read and audited by the Board, with the recommendation that said bills be submitted to the Council for their allowance at sums stated.

Pres. Keech moved that the verbal proposition made at the last meeting by Mr. Ashley, of the Toledo, Ann Arbor and North Michigan Railway, as to right of way for the main sewer on their property and to building a spur track crossing First and William streets along First street, on their property, be submitted to the Council for their consideration and approval.

Adopted as follows: Yeas—Messrs. Keech and McIntyre. On motion the Board adjourned.

W. J. MILLER, Clerk.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS, Ann Arbor, January 10, 1894.

Regular session.

Called to order by Pres. Keech. Roll called. Full Board present. Minutes of the previous meeting read and approved.

The following members of the Sewer Committee present: Alds. Martin, Snow, Ferguson, Manly, also Pres. Watts.

General Superintendent Ashley and Chief Engineer Riggs, of the T. A. A. & M. R. R., were present by request of the Board of Public Works, in reference to procuring the right of way over the property of the T. A. A. & M. R. R.

Mr. Ashley stated that the road was willing to give the city the right of way for the main sewer, on condition that the company be given permission to cross First and William streets with a spur track along First street, the track to be in six feet from property line.

All the members of the board and the aldermen present favored the proposition.

Whereupon, Mr. Ashley said with such understanding that his proposition would be accepted, the city could enter upon the railroad property at once.

On motion the board adjourned to Thursday evening.

UNIVERSITY.

Now Cornell proposes to make the law course one of three years.

President Angell delivered an address at Chicago last Saturday.

The Fresh and Soph. lites. expect to hold socials during the coming week.

New classes are being formed in the S. C. A. Bible school in Newberry Hall.

On Friday evening the S. C. A. gave a fine reception to the Illinois students.

About 150 new books have been received at the general library from Vienna.

The first Sophomore social is to be held at Nickel's Hall Friday evening Jan. 26.

Miss Ida Clendening, lit. '92 has accepted the chair of Botany in the University of Louisiana.

Students must not register at Brown University after the first day, under a penalty of $5.

On Friday evening, Jan. 26, the S. C. A. is to give a reception to the students of the middle western states.

The S. C. A. is discussing the subject of "College Honesty." The "pony" will be introduced incidentally, it is hinted.

The sum of $85,000 has been appropriated by the Wisconsin legislature for building purposes and athletic grounds for their university.

The proposition to construct a walk across the grounds used for practice in athletics, is met with a storm of opposition from the students.

The Art Recital by Miss Griggs, assisted by Prof. Trueblood's pupils, will take place to-morrow night, having been postponed from the holiday season.

Sports indulged in last Saturday were varied. Some played tennis, others took to their wheelies, while the majority took to their skates and had a good time on ice. It was a great day.

Prof. Geo. D. Herron, of Iowa University, is to deliver a series of lectures on Sociology under the auspices of the S. C. A., commencing in U. of M. Hall Jan. 28, and giving two lectures a day in Newberry Hall until Feb. 2nd.

Rev. F. W. Gunsalus is to deliver the next lecture in the S. L. A. course, at University Hall, next Friday evening. The gentleman has always entertained his audience when he has lectured here, and will call out a full house.

An alumnus of Yale has left by will $70,000 to that university to establish a professorship in English Literature, the salary to be $3,500 per year. The graduates of the U. of M. as has been proven by statistics, seldom die—rich.

Do not forget that the next Choral Union concert is to take place on Tuesday evening, Jan. 30, to be given by M. de Pachmann, in University Hall. It will be one of the most interesting in the entire series to lovers of piano music.

The regents are to meet to-day, at which time Regent Fletcher, of Alameda, will take the place of Regent Whitman, whose time has expired. The other new regent is Dr. Kiefer, who succeeds himself. The summer school will occupy considerable of their time, it is supposed.

Robert Wilcox, lit. '90, of Grand Rapids, has been appointed to the chair of Agriculture at the Agricultural College at Lansing, to succeed Prof. Cook who went to California, at an advanced salary. Prof. Wilcox has been in the government employ as a scientist since graduating.

The talk of Miss Susan B. Anthony Saturday evening at University Hall was but a repetition of her former lectures upon the suffrage question. She presented nothing new but rehearsed her old familiar story. Miss Anthony is beginning to show her age, not only in appearance, but in her voice and power of expression. p

The catalogue of Harvard University just issued, gives the names of 322 teachers of all sorts and descriptions and the names of 3,156 students in attendance upon all the different schools. There is an increase of 62 teachers and 190 students over last year, and places Harvard at the head of American Universities once again in point of attendance. It also proves that the people of the east have not been effected by the hard times as have the people of the west.

On Washington's Birthday an association of Chicago lawyers and prominent men, known as the Union League, holds meetings in various parts of that city, addressed usually by undergraduates of various universities selected by the presidents thereof. These young gentlemen speakers go to Chicago as the guests of the League and are royally entertained by them. Mr. Wm. W. Wedemeyer, lit. '94, president of the S. L. A., has been selected as the representative of this University this year. An honor upon which he is to be congratulated. Mr. Wedemeyer has won this through merit alone.

Gov. Winan's Policy.

A correspondent of the Detroit Evening News interviewed Ex-Gov. Winan a few days ago on political affairs and elicited the fact that the ex-Governor favors Hon. Justus R. Whitling as next democratic candidate for governor, because "he is sold on the silver question."

In respect to the policy of the administration relative to Hawaii he said:

"I am not at all in sympathy with President Cleveland in his Hawaiian policy. While ex-Minister Stevens may not directly have helped to unseat the queen, I am of the opinion that he winked at the proceedings. I am of the opinion that the government was about rotten enough to fall of itself. Anyway, the queen is deposed, and Cleveland had no business to try to put her back. In my opinion the United States government is in a bad hole, and Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Gresham with it. I do not like this spirit of placing the blame on Minister Willis. I was in congress with him four years ago, and knew him intimately. I know him to be an honest man, and a conscientious man, a man who would follow his instructions to the letter. If he tried to restore the queen to her throne it was because he had instructions to do so. That is my opinion from a personal acquaintance with him."

Made a Difference.

When my neighbor sent for me the other evening I found him lying on the lounge and a strong smell of liniment about.

"Look here, Comfort, I'm going to sue old Blank for $10,000!" he exclaimed.

"Indeed!"

"Yes, and I'll pursue him to the last court of record! You know that corner of his?"

"Of course."

"Well, I fell down there this afternoon and nearly killed myself. He didn't have it cleaned off according to the ordinance. I shan't be able to get out for two or three days, and I wanted you to drop in and send Lawyer Star up here. They say he's the best lawyer in the town on such cases."

"I'm afraid he won't come."

"But why? It's a tip-top case to take a hold of."

"Yes, but I happened in his office to-day just as a citizen was retaining him in a case against you for $15,000 damages. Fell on your side-walk a week or two ago, you see. He's only one of fifty, as your walk has not been cleaned this winter. Still, if you wish it I'll—"

"But he didn't wish it. In fact he said I could go to Halifax, and so I put on my hat and said good-night and went there.—Detroit Free Press.

35 SOUTH MAIN ST., ANN ARBOR.

In conversation with the Times representative at Ypsilanti, Mr. John Laidlaw, the Michigan Central gardener who laid out the beautiful grounds at Ypsilanti, Niles, Battle Creek and other points, stated that if the citizens of Ann Arbor would build a fence around the terrace at the depot to keep dogs away from the flower beds, he would beautify the depot grounds in an artistic manner.—Daily Times.

The M. C. grounds would be beautified by Mr. Laidlaw, no doubt, but just why the people of Ann Arbor should pay for fencing in the grounds is a question that perplexes many of our citizens when they remember the amount of money they have already invested in M. C. R. R. improvements here, and especially the favors granted that road by shutting up State st., and bridging Pontiac st., thus saving that corporation hundreds of dollars yearly, besides and undoubtedly long list of accidents. The city has already expended $8,500 for the M. C. here, besides taking upon itself the expense of keeping in repair the bridge over the tracks on Pontiac st., and its approaches, together with other expenses that would naturally arise from such an improvement. If the M. C. R. R. will give Ann Arbor people a two cent per mile rate, then Ann Arbor as a corporation can afford to take this project into consideration. All the favors should not be upon one side. By the way, how much did Ypsilanti, Niles or Battle Creek give toward their M. C. flower gardens? And why should Ann Arbor, that has already done so much be asked to give when others are not?

And now another former Washtenaw county man of prominence in the councils of state has departed this life. Col. George Poindexter Sanford, of Lansing, the veteran soldier, editor and politician, died Monday morning from a stroke of paralysis, aged 69 years. He was born in New York, but came to this county when an infant, his parents settling in Saline. He worked his way through the State Normal school and still later through the University, graduating in 1861, being a student who attracted attention for his signal ability. He shortly afterward went to the war as a captain, having raised a company of over 100 men, and served to the end retiring as a colonel. He probably had more political scars on his political anatomy than any other man in the state. The best part of his life was spent as a republican, but in 1871 he flopped over and proceeded to make it as hot in the democratic ranks as he had in the republican. He was a combative, brainy, erratic man, with many excellent qualities. He will be missed at the state capital.

About Horse Distemper.

[From the Michigan Farmer.]

Worden, Mich., Dec. 26, '93.

To the Editor of the Farmer.

There is perhaps no disease so common among horses or from which they suffer so much, as that commonly known as horse distemper. Many persons scarcely pass a single year without having more or less of this disease among their horses, and when the affected horse is one commonly used, unless he is so sick to be under the doctor's care, or in immediate danger of dying, he is still kept in service, being driven upon the public highway, to the market town, to church on Sunday, to the blacksmith shop, hitched to public hitching posts, and in public barns. Thus the disease is scattered broadcast in violation of the law. Much of this comes from a want of knowledge that there is any law upon this subject. Will you, therefore, in the interest of the horse, the noblest of the animal creation, and in the interest of his owners, many of whom are constant readers of your valuable paper, please say through its columns:

That the disease commonly known as horse distemper is a contagious or infectious disease (see Webster's or Worcester's dictionary) and as such comes under the provisions of the law found in Chapter 61 A, 3rd Vol. Howells' An. Statutes, page 3,150 to 3,154.

No person has the right to expose even his own animals to disease, and on discovering that any horse belonging to him, or that is in his possession has the distemper, it at once becomes his duty to quarantine the animal. Vol. 3 Howells' An. Stat., Sec. 2,136.

It is the duty not only of the owner, but of every person who knows of a horse that has the distemper, to at once report the case to some member of the State Live Stock Sanitary Commission, "or to some member of the local board of health" in his township, the latter board being by statute (Vol. 1 Howells' An. Stat., Sec. 1,333,) the township board which is composed of the supervisor, the two justices of the peace, whose term of office will soonest expire and the township clerk (Vol. 1 Howells' An. Stat., Sec. 744,) to any one of whom cases of horse distemper may be reported, and it is the duty of such board to at once investigate the case. Vol. 3 Howells' An. Stat., Sec. 2,136 o, 2,136 p.

The statute forbids the driving of horses affected with distemper or in any other way exposing other horses to the disease. Vol. 3 Howells' An. Stat., Sec. 2,136 v.

Any person who willfully violates or disregards any of the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred, or be imprisoned in the county jail not less than ten days nor more than ninety, or both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court. (Vol. 3 Howells' An. Stat., Sec. 2,136 v.)

The State Live Stock Sanitary Commission is at present composed of Hon. H. H. Hinds, president, Stanton, Mich.; Hon. J. J. Woodman, secretary, Paw Paw; Hon. J. E. Barringer, Armada.

Familiarity with the law on this subject, and a strict compliance with its provisions, or a rigid enforcement thereof, will prevent ninety-nine per cent of the cases of horse distemper. HENRY C. WALDRON.

That our correspondent is calling attention to a very important matter every one who has had any experience in raising colts will admit. It is generally regarded as a certainty that all colts or horses in an infected stable will, if they have not before had the disease, become affected, and consequently no attempt at proper sanitary precautions is made. In the last issue of the Breeders' Gazette Mr. A. J. Cassatt, breeder of thoroughbreds, details the method he has adopted in quarantining affected animals, and the good results which have followed the practice. He says:

"I have a small detached lot of four or five acres adjacent to the farm, but separated from it by a railroad, on which there is a house occupied by one of my stablemen, and a small, old-fashioned barn. I altered and rearranged this barn at light expense, and was able to convert it into a very comfortable stable containing five dry and well-ventilated box-stalls. Connected with the stable is a grass paddock of about an acre.

"My plan for preventing the spread of distemper, is a very simple one, and consists only in isolating at once any cases that may appear.

"This fall a thoroughbred suckling foal showed a slight swelling between the jaws. It was at once taken with its dam to the hospital. In a day or two it developed an ordinary case of distemper, with discharge from the nostrils and increased swelling of the abscess under the jaws, which soon broke. The case was treated in the usual way: the only person allowed to go near the foal was the stableman who attended to it, and who never went where any of the other young horses were. Within a few days after this foal was attacked, a Hackney sucking foal on a different part of the farm half a mile away from the thoroughbreds, developed a similar case of distemper. It was also at once removed to the hospital and treated in the same way. When the foals had fully recovered and the openings under their jaws were entirely healed, the mares and foals were carefully sponged all over with a weak solution of carbolic acid and rubbed dry with clean linen rubbers; their halters were put in boiling water, and then washed with carbolic soap, after which the mares and foals were put back with the others. The hospital stable was thoroughly cleaned and disinfected, all bedding being removed, and the walls, feed troughs, etc., were washed with carbolic soap and a weak solution of carbolic acid. The fences around the paddock were similarly treated.

"These were the only two cases on the farm this year. Heretofore when a case of distemper appeared every foal or yearling on the place not having previously had it was sure to catch the disease, and frequently some of the young things would have it a second time.

"I also use the hospital stable for quarantine purposes, keeping mares coming from suspected places in it for a sufficient time to insure against their bringing the disease on to the farm.

"I know that some breeders think that all horses must sooner or later have the distemper, and that it is as well to let the foals have it and be done with it. I cannot agree with either of those views. Horses need not necessarily have distemper. My old friend, Mr. D. D. Withers, for twenty years the mainstay of the American turf in the east, told me not long before his death, that for a number of years he had had no distemper on his place, and, in answer to my inquiry, said that the young ones he sent to the race courses did not seem liable to catch the disease there; that in fact he had no trouble whatever from that source.

"Besides, the very worst time for an animal to have the disease is weaning time, and it is then that it is most likely to appear, and once on the farm it is sure to go through the lot unless preventative measures are taken."

A Novel Idea.

"There is absolutely no necessity of anybody's being stood up by foot-pads if they only use proper precautions," said Judge Joachimsen the other day.

"A little ingenuity," he explained, "would enable even the most timid to walk the streets safely."

"I have been thinking the matter over. The result is I have evolved a little scheme that I feel satisfied will revolutionize the foot-pad industry."

"A man can carry an umbrella always without danger of being supposed to have a deadly weapon. The handle of this should be loaded with lead and have a number of knobs. In the end of the handle should be a secret chamber filled with the red fire that usually accompanies torchlight processions."

The whole secret of success, the judge explained, lay in the secret chamber. The footpad meets the belated traveler. He commands: "Throw up your hands!"

The order is at once obeyed. In one of the unfortunate's hands is the apparently innocuous umbrella with the handle end up. His thumb presses a spring in the side of the stick. This releases the covering of the chamber which, flying open, strikes out a spark.

"Then you have him," said the judge. "The fire flashes fiercely. The footpad looks up, startled. You bang him over the head with the loaded umbrella and leave him for dead."

"If you don't want to hurt him, you need only carry a large quantity of fire, and that will scare the robber off. It might even attract a policeman," the judge added, "and at any rate it would create a diversion under cover of which an active man might escape."

There are none of the judge's footpad discouragements on the market yet.—San Francisco Examiner.

A Household Treasure.

D. W. Fuller, of Canajoharie, N. Y., says that he always keeps Dr. King's New Discovery in the house, and his family has always found the very best results follow its use; that he would not be without it, if procurable.

G. A. Dykeman, Druggist, Catskill, N. Y., says that Dr. King's New Discovery is undoubtedly the best Cough remedy; that he has used it in his family for eight years, and it has never failed to do all that is claimed for it. Universal Superstition.

"The superstitious is the natural," said Dwight Wilkinson, of New York. "In a state of absolute nature, man is governed almost entirely by his superstitions, and it is only when culture displaces this with another form of superstition, called reason, that it is lessened, while no amount of education will cause it to disappear entirely, although it may cause the individual to deny its existence. As knowledge is bounded by a very narrow mental horizon, the most familiar objects, such as the life we live, the death we die, the air we breathe and the water we drink, being mysterious, and their source, their true nature, and their ultimate end being unknowable, superstition must begin where knowledge ends, and we tell in fable, dignified by the name of metaphysics or philosophy, what we lack in understanding. A man may laugh at the dropping of a dishrag, the spilling of salt, the settling of coffee grounds, the hoot of the owl, or the chirping of the cricket, have no objection to wearing a topaz or beginning a journey on Friday; he may view the moon over his left shoulder with the utmost equanimity; the numbers seven and thirteen may bear no more significance than any others to his mind—but down deep in his heart there are superstitions. He may try to convince himself that they are reasons, but it requires an important element of superstition to make realities reasonable."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Curious Coin.

Capt. Welsh, of Welshton, has in his possession a great curiosity in the shape of a coin, which is probably the most ancient in the world. It is about an inch and a half in diameter, and is a mixture of copper and gold.

The coin was found by a negro named Eichelberger, on Mr. B. C. Bowman's place near Welshton. It was at the bottom of a muck bed seven feet below the surface, in what was once the channel of a stream, but now covered with heavy forest timber.

On the side of the coin is a representation of a man attacking another. Capt. Welsh thinks it represents the murder of Abel. On the same side is an inscription, which, though submitted to a number of scholars, has not yet been deciphered, nor have the characters been recognized as belonging to the alphabet of any language now known.

On the other side is a representation of a man, evidently a Caucasian. There is also an inscription on this side, which no one has been able to make out, though it has been placed under the most powerful microscopes. The coin was evidently worn as an ornament, as shown by a hole punched near the edge.

Capt. Welsh thinks that this coin was made by the same race that built so many of the mounds that still remain to perplex the archaeologist—that this race crossed from Asia to Bering straits, and was afterwards exterminated by the Indians, who took the coin and wore it as an ornament.—Florida Times-Union.

Three Hours Just the Same.

One of the waterpipes in my house began leaking and I sent for a plumber and said:

"You work by the hour, of course?"

"Of course."

"The distance between my house and your shop is at least a mile?"

"About a mile, sir."

"And the walking is bad?"

"Very bad."

"Please come up stairs."

I took him into the parlor and sat and entertained him for an hour. Then I gave him the family album and he entertained himself for another hour. Then I played a game of checkers with him to consume three-quarters of the third hour, and then took him down cellar to his work.

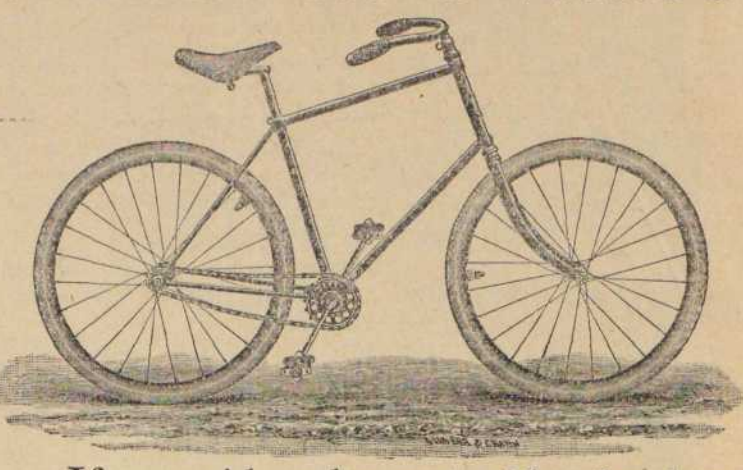

The mending of the leak was a matter of only ten minutes. When he had finished he seemed puzzled, and I therefore explained:

"As you work by the hour you naturally seek to use up all the time you can. But for my action, you would have returned to the shop after a monkey-wrench. When you discovered that a monkey-wrench had nothing in common with a pin-hole leak in a water-pipe, you would have gone back for a jack-screw, an air-pump or a smoke-jack. You would have traveled a distance of eight or ten miles, tired yourself out and then charged me with only three hours' time. My idea was not to save on the bill but to put you to as little trouble as possible."

The man looked at me in a doubtful way and muttered something about "old cranks" as he left the house. The bill came in yesterday, and it was for three hours' time, just as I expected. Why can't a plumber appreciate a good thing as well as anybody else?—Detroit Free Press.
