THE CITY ELECTION.

The election in this city passed off Monday very quietly. Nevertheless there never was more work done by the parties than there was on that day.

The vote polled was the largest ever given at a city election, although there were only two city officials voted for.

Party lines were not tightly drawn although the party leaders on both sides attempted to whip in the recalcitrants, but they didn't come in line worth a cent. There were fully 250 democrats who voted the republican ticket in the main, and about 100 republicans who slipped over to the democratic candidates. It was not party politics that divided the people as much as it was local matters, especially the enforcement of the law in regard to the closing of saloons on Sundays and election days. The masses of the people believe that the law should be obeyed in this respect, and they will stand back of any officials who will enforce it. There is no reason why saloons should be given special privileges in this respect any more than stores, factories, and other business establishments. And it is a well known fact that a majority of the saloon keepers themselves prefer to have the law obeyed, but insist that there shall be no partiality shown, which is right.

The vote in the city on mayor and president of the council, by wards, is as follows:

	DARLING	WALKER
First ward.....	298	199
Second ward.....	123	253
Third ward.....	106	257
Fourth ward.....	165	173
Fifth ward.....	70	96
Sixth ward.....	298	58
Majority for Darling.....	1,096	1,068

And on president of the council:

	WINES	WATTS
First ward.....	298	199
Second ward.....	123	271
Third ward.....	164	231
Fourth ward.....	161	173
Fifth ward.....	75	82
Sixth ward.....	207	50
Majority for Wines.....	1,068	1,062

These figures show some queer results. For instance, although Mr. Wines received 96 majority, and Dr. Darling only 38, he actually received only two more votes than Darling. This is accounted for by people who made mistakes in voting, and only voted the head of the ticket.

The result in the various wards was as follows:

FIRST WARD.

For Supervisor, John R. Miner, R. 268-81 James Kearns, D. 187 Joshua G. Palmer, P. 25

For Alderman, Pearson L. Bodmer R. M. C. and P. 291-92 Ross Granger, D. 199

For Constable, William E. Eldert, R. 287-110 Willis L. Clark, D. 177

For Alderman, F. A. Wilson, D. 71 Horace G. Prettyman, R. 258-187

ELECTION NOTES.

It was a republican day in weather, also. There were but two ballots in the fourth ward this time that were cast without a mark. Heretofore there have been several. Dr. Darling had one friend who was so anxious to vote for him that he was the only man voted for on the ticket, and the same was true of Geo. H. Pond for supervisor.

While the republicans are feeling good and rejoicing over their victory, they should not forget the fact that the victory was gained by the aid for a large number of democrats who threw aside party feeling and voted for what they considered the best men.

Walker did make a Darling run, as the Democrat suggested, but the runner was too fast for the Walker, altogether.

For the first time in nine years the republicans have a majority of the common council.

Some one suggests that it was the fine old name of the republican candidate for president of the council that made him run so—Wines.

Mayor Thompson, as president of the Municipal Club, did some excellent work for the club's candidates. He did it systematically and well, so that it made the power of the organization felt. For which the mayor is entitled to much credit, for say what you will, it takes "sand" for a man to stand out against his party and do what he considers to be right. Mayor Thompson's influence was no small factor in the recent canvas.

Our democratic friends now fully understand how their republican opponents have felt for several years. It wouldn't do, you know, to always have things one way.

There is no truth in the rumor that City Attorney Norris proposes to move out of the 6th ward. He is snowed under so deep that he can't move anyway—in fact he can't hardly talk. He has had the wind knocked completely out of him.

In the 3d ward there were 24 tickets having a cross opposite Mr. Walker's name, but not another scratch upon them. They were evidently strong Walker men.

He Didn't Do It.

Congressman Gorman had a conference a short time ago with a democrat who stands high up in the party councils of the nation, and is credited with this remark:

"I have a candidate for the post-office in my district who has opposed me each of the five times I have been before the people—three times for the legislature, and twice for congress. Now if you were so situated what would you do?"

The reply came quickly, "I should tell him to go to h—l."

And yet Jimmie didn't seem to have the power to act upon the suggestion.

On the remaining Sunday evenings until June, beginning with Sunday next, at the 7:30 p. m. service, a series of Bible Talks will be given in St. Andrew's church, by the Rev. E. M. Duff. The subject to be taken up is "The Pamphlets of a Political Idealist, or The Book of the Prophet Isaiah." At the beginning of each talk, questions which have been handed in during the week, bearing upon points in the previous talk, will be considered.

A Technicality for Candidates.

It is possible that by a technicality a man who is a candidate for office may be permitted to sit upon an election board, but there is no question but that the law intended to entirely exclude him therefrom, or it would not have been enacted; and the law should be obeyed. A candidate who breaks this law by forcing himself upon the board is a law breaker and ought to be treated as such. If public officials themselves treat the law with contempt, how are we to expect private citizens to obey it? Greed for money and a desire for prominence should not lead officials to do unlawful acts.

Improvement on the Motor.

The motor road has made an important addition to its facilities by arranging with the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern road for connection and exchange of passengers. Their trains will stop at the crossing to let off passengers for Ann Arbor for the motor leaving Ypsilanti at 5 p. m., making close connections. Passengers from Ann Arbor wishing to go west on the Lake Shore train, leave the junction at the city limits at 9:30 a. m., connecting at the L. S. crossing. Formerly these passengers have had to go to Pittsfield junction on the T. & A. A. road and wait two hours. The fare on the motor from Ann Arbor to the crossing has been put at ten cents. Trunks can be carried. These new accommodations will be a good thing for passengers.

It Must be Sarcasm.

Friends who send in items in relation to entertainments will please bear in mind that they must send also complimentary tickets if they expect any account to appear in these columns of the programme presented.—Democrat.

What an absurd proposition! Are not newspapers purely philanthropic enterprises? Do their owners need any compensation for anything? Should they not be glad to give extended notices of all entertainments, etc., and then pay their own way in so that they may be able to write elaborate descriptions of what they see, filled with fulsome praise of actors and participants? The idea that these notices should be worth complimentary tickets is preposterous! No one but an insane person would even hint that in order to write up an account of an affair it is necessary to see it! Even then, isn't it worth the price of admission to be allowed the privilege of writing up an account of these affairs, any way? We can't conceive how the Democrat should be so extravagant in its suggestions! The item was probably written in haste without giving it proper thought and reflection?

Another Ann Arbor Man Missing.

The fact that another Ann Arbor young man has disappeared in Chicago has been made public. Dr. Lee Kapp, son of Dr. John Kapp, of this city, left his father's home here in Ann Arbor, on Feb. 15, to visit Miss Della Robins, of Galesburg, Ill., to whom he was engaged to be married. He had upon his person about $100 in money, a gold watch, diamond ring, etc. He went directly to Chicago in company with a medical student named Burns, it is said. The two were met in that city by Carl Hertel, who invited young Kapp to take tea with him on the evening of Feb. 19. This invitation was accepted but never kept, and Lee Kapp has never been seen since, nor can any trace of him be found. Had the earth opened and swallowed him, his disappearance could not have been more effectual. He never went to Galesburg. As there was no cause for the disappearance, but on the contrary reason in the world why he should desire to remain with his friends, there is strong ground for believing that he has met with foul play. It will be remembered that only a few months ago John Rice Miner disappeared from the same city and no clue has ever been found to tell what became of him.

There is always some reason for things that happen. The recent cold weather was for the especial benefit of Coxe's army of fools and tramps.

The vetoing of the Seignorage bill by President Cleveland is not received very happily by many of our good democrats.

"I'll considered, carefully drawn, and contrary to sound policy." That is what Mr. Cleveland says of the Bland Seignorage bill. Many more people than is generally supposed disagree with the president.

Mr. Crisp rather be speaker of the house than senator, so he declined an appointment as United States senator tendered him by Gov. Northern, of Georgia, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Colquitt.

The republicans of New York have nominated Rev. Fr. Sylvester Mahone of Brooklyn, N. Y., a republican catholic, for the office of Regent of the University. The democrats nominated Eugene Kelly, of New York.

Sugar is to cost the people 50 per cent. more under the Wilson bill than under the McKinley bill. All for the benefit of democratic United States senators who are interested in the sugar trust. Mark it down in your memory.

The Wilson bill makes a 19 per cent. reduction on foreign rags. The reduction was useless. From the way things are going this country will soon have millions of rags for export. Everybody will be covered with rags.—Cedar Springs Clipper.

Cows are allowed to roam and pasture in the village of Newaygo to such an extent that all the grass in the streets is being eaten up and bicyclers and pedestrians are obliged to take to the fences.—Northville Record.

Even the "fences" didn't save Billy Gonsidine, you know.

Dundee has been honored and one of her citizens has received a recognition of his worth in the selection by Gov. Rich, of Hon. Wm. A. French for state land commissioner. To say that Mr. French is highly qualified for the position is unnecessary, and he is too favorably known to need any mention by the Ledger. Dollars to doughnuts that the gentleman will prefix a higher title than land commissioner to his name before many more years.—Dundee Ledger.

The way in which the Argus attempted to slur the "honored professors of the University last Friday, was quite astonishing. Of course the Argus did it for political effect. It probably has not lost its respect for those gentlemen simply because they are in a reputable profession and connected with the University. The Argus thought to make votes with a class whose ignorance and prejudices would lead them to oppose any man the professors in the University might favor. When the Argus thought all the professors in the University were mugwumps and were going to vote for Cleveland, it purred very prettily to them. It also nestled lovingly in their arms when Prof. M. E. Cooley was its candidate for president of the council. It emitted no screeches then. What do the honored professors themselves think of the treatment of the Argus, we wonder? And we also wonder what the Argus really thinks of itself because of its treatment of the University people.

UNEQUAL REPRESENTATION.

There is one sectional issue that will never down until it is wiped out of existence, and that is the representation of the southern states in congress.

If the representation of the former slave states in congress were only proportionate to the vote which the political despots of the south permit at the polls, the enactment of the Wilson bill would be impossible. There is a fact for men who believe in justice to remember.

The following table gives the vote of all the states, and the number of congressmen chosen in each:

Table with 2 columns: State and Vote in No. of 1892, Reps. Lists states from California to Wyoming.

In the states which abolished slavery before the slaveholders' rebellion or else were never tainted by that curse, 8,651,108 men voted in 1892 and elected 229 representatives in congress. The average number of votes cast was 37,777 for each representative. With the exception of the three far western states of Idaho, Nevada and Wyoming, which elected only a single congressman apiece, not one of the northern states cast less than 25,000 votes for every congressman who represented it at Washington. Even where the result of the election was known in advance the average was usually over 30,000.

The corresponding figures for the former slave states are as follows:

Table with 2 columns: State and Vote in No. of 1892, Reps. Lists states from Alabama to West Virginia.

It will be seen that in the sixteen states which clung to slavery until the civil war broke down the power of the southern sellers of men, women and children, only 3,449,941 votes were cast for president, but 127 representatives in congress were elected. The average number of votes for every congressman elected was 27,164, or just 10,613 less than the average in the northern states. The difference equals 39 per cent. of the southern vote.

That is to say, if the north were given the same representation, in proportion to the whole vote which it casts, that the south enjoys, there would be 39 per cent. more members of congress from the northern states. Instead of 229 votes against the 127 of the south, the north would have 318.

To reverse the method of calculation, the average vote, at the last presidential election, for every southern congressman was 10,613 less than the average in the north, and the difference was 28 per cent. of the full normal vote as shown in the north. Therefore, a just proportionate representation of the southern states would be 28 per cent less than 127 congressmen, or just ninety-one. If the south had no more representation, in proportion to the votes which it casts than the north, the division between the sections would be 229 for the north and 91 for the south. The consequences in national legislation would be momentous, and the Wilson bill, in its present form, or anything like it, could never have been forced through the house of representatives.

This question of unequal representation is a sectional issue which will not down at the bidding of any guilty party. It is not a shame and curse of the past alone, but of the present and the future. It persists in all its monstrous injustice, and it can never be settled until the evil is wiped out of existence.

Unequal representation in the congress of the United States is a live issue.

This country can not afford to throw silver away as a money metal. Bimetallism must be worked out in some way. It is evident that this administration can never do it, however. It is too much under the control of Wall st. It is a gold bug administration.

In reply to an item in the Courier the Adrian Press remarks: "Thanks for credentials; but we shall not be able to get a job till the editor of the Courier dies or resigns—and we would not ask too much; though were Samson alive he would probably borrow the Courier man's jawbone and slay him for having mis-spelled his name." The Press man is very astute.

BETRAYAL OF TARIFF REFORM.

The group of democratic senators who have succeeded in almost entirely destroying the free list of the Wilson bill, are the agents of special interests. Their motives are infinitely meaner than those of the men who passed the McKinley act. We can respect an honest protectionist who is suffering under the delusion that he can enrich two men by taking money from the pocket of one and transferring it to the pocket of the other. But these democratic senators profess to disbelieve in this theory, and are simply seeking the pecuniary advantage of interests in which they or their constituents are concerned.

They are trading in legislation for the money there is in it. They are log-rolling and dickered, not for a principle, but that they or their constituents may be better off than the rest of the country. It is charged that some of the senators have used the information which they obtained in secrecy from the sub-committee to speculate on Wall street; that the sugar trust maintained a lobby in Washington, a lobby offering the tempting bait of speedy fortune. The country heard this accusation without astonishment. When men like Gorman, Pugh, Murphy, McPherson, Smith and Irice openly declare that they are in the senate to guard the interests of makers of colars and cuffs, of railroads that transport coal and iron ore, of potters that have reduced wages at every increase of their bounty, why should it surprise any one to be told that senators buy and sell stocks on Wall street, affecting the market by the knowledge they obtain of legislation on which they were acting? And this is especially true in view of the confession of Mr. McPherson, that he does deal in stocks that are necessarily affected by congressional legislation, while Mr. Hill comes to New York and consults with the counsel and other agents of industries that are still demanding higher duties than those provided for in the bill before the senate.

The demoralization of the senate is so complete that Mr. White saw no reason why he should not remain a member of the body after his confirmation as justice of the supreme court, for the purpose of protecting the sugar-growing industry, in which he had a direct pecuniary interest.

There was never such wholesale and overshadowing scandal in the United States senate. There was never such a general belief throughout the country that legislation is being sold to favored interests. The people who placed the democratic party in power because they thought that it was in favor of lower tariff taxes, are being betrayed. At the front of this conspiracy against his party and the country, is Senator Hill. He is not accused of seeking pecuniary gain; doubtless he has taken the leadership of the democratic protectionists for the gratification of his political ambitions. He is now urging the party to declare that for twenty years it has been deceiving the country with promises of reform that it did not mean to fulfill. He is intent on defeating any tariff bill. He is determined to make it worth the while of all the protected interests of the country to favor his candidacy for the presidency. With Hill in the White House and a protectionist senate, the men whose agents now in the senate chamber are blocking the way of reform would control the resources of the country, and the people of the United States would be governed by the owners of mines and factories.

If this conspiracy succeeds, and it is strong and determined, the voters who have made democratic triumphs possible have been basely deceived. Since 1876 thousands of voters, the young men from the colleges to whom the war is a tradition, and all who revolted against the economic doctrines of the republican party, have been seeking to gain their object, and win a victory for reform through the democratic party. They have met with disappointment after disappointment. And now if it is shown that no relief can be obtained for the tax-ridden consumers through the democratic party because of the over-weening and unscrupulous ambition of one leader, and the greed of others, the loss of time and energy will be enormous. If the democratic administration expires in 1896 with nothing accomplished for tariff reform, 20 years of earnest effort has been lost, almost a generation of voters has been wasted, a most stupendous blunder has been committed. The men who have allied themselves with the democratic party in order that good might come of it, have thrown away their opportunity, and after Grover Cleveland retires they must begin, what events may show should have been begun twenty years before, the slow process of building up a new party—a party not dominated by speculators and political tricksters, but a party meaning what it says, and honest enough to keep its word in the hour of its victory.—Harper's Weekly.

SHOULD BE EXPELLED.

The lower house of congress owes a duty to the people of this nation. That duty is to expel from its membership, the Hon. W. C. P. Breckenridge. His own story upon the witness stand was so disgusting and disreputable, so corrupting of public morals, that it ought not only to forever disbar him from all decent society, but should most certainly exclude him from the great body of men sent to Washington to make laws for the people. The idea of such a man, who confesses to have lived a life of debauchery and shame, while posing as an example for others, making laws for other people to live by! It is simply an outrage.

There are, no doubt many other members of that body who could not consciently cast a stone at Breckenridge, but there are sure y must be enough pure minded, clean men in congress to prefer the charge, and the decent constituents of the others should bring such a pressure, to bear that they dare not do otherwise than to vote for his expulsion, however much they may sympathize with him.

This is a duty congress owes to the decent people of the nation. No man ought to be allowed to sit for one moment as a member of congress who confesses to the things he has voluntarily told upon the witness stand. The trial of Breckenridge has been the greatest destroyer of public morals since the infamous Beecher-Tilton suit, and the proceedings ought to have been suppressed for the public good. The testimony of Breckenridge himself, is too vile for public reading, and all papers publishing it ought to have been excluded from the United States mails because of indecency.

Expel Breckenridge.

Experiments with glass building bricks were begun in 1891 by M. Falconier, an architect of Lyons. These bricks are hollow, being blown like cubes, hexagons, etc.,—that permit of ready laying. A bituminous cement, with a base of asphalt, is used with them. The bricks serve as double windows, giving protection against both cold and heat; they are good insulators of humidity and noise; and they lend themselves readily to the decoration of buildings either by their form or their color. Many applications are foreseen. The bricks are heater than marble in meat markets, and are especially adapted for bath halls, hot-houses, hospitals, refrigerating establishments, and buildings in which absence of windows would be an advantage. A hot-house of glass bricks is of about ordinary cost, saves fuel, and resists hail.—Ypsilanti Commercial.

The law relative to registering citizens who are connected in any way with the University, should be made so explicit and plain that there can be no mistake about it. There is always trouble about it. On the last registration day a gentleman applied for registration in one of the wards, and made this statement, in effect: "I have lived in Ann Arbor eight years. This is my home. I have no other home. I came here to go to college, and have lived here, summer and winter since I first came. I graduated two years ago, and am now an instructor in the University. That is my occupation." To the question if he was not still a student he replied that of course he was continuing his studies in order to advance his profession, the same way that any professor continues his studies, or any man studies his business. On that ground his name was refused. The ground for the refusal being based on the instruction of the city attorney that any man who came here for educational purposes could not obtain a residence here even if he remained here a life time.

Now the law is all right, but the interpretation of it by some people is not right, and it ought to be stated in such plain terms that no lawyer or no board of registration can juggle with it.

Furthermore it ought to be printed on large cards and tacked up at every polling place.

A REPUBLICAN SWEEP.

Referee system, general dissatisfaction and local issues combined to lay the Democrats out in bad shape throughout the state yesterday. They have little left from the wreck. Below will be found a summary of the election in the principal cities in the state:

In Kalamazoo the Democrats got one supervisor out of five and two aldermen one of them Fred Cellem, late deputy warden of the state prison. The republican mayor was elected by 420 majority, the treasurer by 603, and the justice of the peace by 539. The townships of the county went Republican except Cooper, which is a Democratic stronghold.

The city ticket of St. Joseph went straight Republican by 532 majority for the mayor down to 80 for city clerk. The question of removing the county seat from Centerville to St. Joseph was decided in favor of the latter by 228 majority.

The republicans got everything in Jackson except two supervisors. On the city ticket the majorities ranged from 464 for justice to 676 for school inspector. The returns from the county show large Republican gains.

Pattie Creek elected the republican city ticket by from 631 to 820 majority. The amendment to pay the aldermen a salary of $150 a year was defeated.

At Albion the Democrats saved only two supervisors and one constable out of the ruins. The vote, 1,157, was the largest ever polled. The Prohibition party gained in votes but elected no officers.

For the first time in Grand Rapids' history the Republicans made a clean sweep of almost everything. Two aldermen, out of 12, and a constable were all that was left to console their opponents.

The Democrats in Saginaw elected Mayor Mershon by 40 majority, the rest of the ticket going Republican.

At Flint the republican ticket rushed through. All the city offices and three out of four supervisors were elected, but then Flint is a Republican city anyhow. E. A. Murphy, supervisor of the First ward, was the only Democrat elected in the city.

In Monroe the Democrats elected most of the city officers. The republicans got three out of four aldermen, treasurer and marshal.

Party lines were not drawn in Marquette, the contest being on purely local issues. Mayor Kaufman was elected to succeed himself as also were his associates in the city government.

The Republicans got everything on the city ticket at Adrian, except city clerk. The next council will stand seven Republicans to two Democrats.

At Lansing the Republicans elected Alvey A. Wilbur mayor by 140 plurality and three city assessors provided for by the new city charter by pluralities ranging from 67 to 310, also three aldermen and two constables. The Democrats elected treasurer, clerk and three aldermen, a gain of treasurer and two aldermen.

At Eaton Rapids three tickets were in the field, Democratic, Republican and Prohibition. The Democrats elected mayor, recorder, one alderman and two constables. The Republicans elected treasurer, supervisors, two aldermen and one constable. The Prohibitionists were not in it.

The Republicans swept Democratic Ionia as with a broom, electing their whole ticket except two aldermen, a supervisor and a constable. The election was very close all round, only the member of the board of public works getting over 100 majority. The mayor, John B. Chaddock, was elected by 66 majority, the treasurer got 53, the justice 51, the clerk 43, and the collector 8. The ward officers all got under 75 majority.

From all over the state the same tune is repeated and the same song sung—the Republicans got the lion's share.

The Board of Supervisors.

The next board of supervisors will have the usual democratic complexion. The republicans gain one in the city of Ann Arbor, one in Saline and one in Superior, and lose one in Sylvania, making 15 democrats and 13 republicans:

- Ann Arbor city—1st ward—John R. Miner, R. 2d ward—Eugene Oesterlin, D. 3d ward—John J. Fischer, R. 4th ward—George H. Pond, R. 5th ward—Thomas Speechly, R. 6th ward—Evert H. Scott, R. Ann Arbor town—Charles Braun, D.

A Chapter on Etiquette.

Dr. Green, the new president of Elmira College, has suggested rather a novel feature in college life—a systematic study of manners. A representative committee of all the college classes has been formed, styled the Council of Etiquette. The aim is by studying the best authorities to become well versed on all disputed points. No provincial code of manners will do, but the standard must be the customs of cultured circles all over the world.

Every two weeks some member of the council presents an original discussion to be read at chapel to the students. The subjects are varied, the first one being "Manners in Public Places," which a young junior treated in a scholarly way. Other essays to follow are on "Letters and Letter Writing," "Chaperons and Their Uses," "Conversation, What to Say and What to Avoid," etc.

The movement seems to be a good one, and one which will help the college girl to attain the modest and dignified bearing that she will be expected to have as a graduate.

The following is a resume of the essay of manners in public places, presented through the council of etiquette of Elmira College by one of its members, as noticed in a previous issue of The World:

In any public place there should be a marked quietness of dress, speech and manner, with no loud laughter or other behavior. Whistling, staring or pointing should be avoided, and personal remarks should never be indulged in. Upon entering or leaving a car, a slight bow or low-voiced salutation is all that is necessary. Calling out a person's name in the street or on a car is a very ill-bred habit, although very common. Many people who consider themselves authority on such matters regard lounging in the presence of others as a mark of ease, but the best standards do not allow it, and in European countries it is rarely seen. Never put the elbows or hands on the table, and do not make yourself disagreeable by drumming with your fingers. Never enter or leave a room without a word or look of civility. Always apologize for any inconvenience given, however slight. One should always leave a room quietly, never taking the precedence either in leaving or entering.

College or Home.—Here manners should be just as refined as in the presence of strangers, or on great occasions, so-called. There is only one code of politeness—a lady should be as truly a lady at home, where the associations are necessarily intimate and constant, as in society.

Traveling.—Uncleanliness, dignity and modesty distinguish the gentlewoman in traveling as well as everywhere else. Her dress should be plain and unostentatious, of some dark or neutral tint not easily soiled. A conspicuous gown is vulgar, and jewelry is entirely out of place. On a sleeping car a lady's good breeding is tested as perhaps nowhere else. The conveniences are limited, and a lack of consideration on the part of one may disturb many. Plenty of time should be allowed and the attentions of the porter should not be monopolized. Acquaintances formed on the train need not be recognized afterwards unless mutually agreeable, and remember that dignity and courtesy will do more to rebuke rudeness than anything else.

Hotels.—It is better for a young lady not to go to a hotel alone unless it is unavoidable. Upon arriving, go at once to the ladies' parlor, and inquire for the clerk, arranging with him for rooms and a seat at the table. In order to avoid the embarrassment of waiting for a seat, it is a good plan to have a specified time for dining. Courteously greet ladies whom you may meet in the corridors, but you need not keep up the acquaintance afterwards. For meals a walking or traveling dress is most suitable. Full dress is never proper when one is alone.

On account of its publicity a woman's conduct is more apt to be criticised on the street than anywhere else. Although the passer-by may barely glance at her, every un ladylike action will be noticed. Her walking costume may be as rich and well-fitting as she chooses, but never conspicuous. Beware of self-consciousness on the street. Nothing looks worse than to see one arranging her dress in public or putting on and taking off gloves. Take a few moments more to getting ready, so as to be properly attired before going out. Do not swing the arms or link them with another, and be careful about walking too fast or too slowly. There is nothing wrong in a lady's being on the streets alone after dark; still it subjects her to criticism, and possibly, in large cities, to insult. In America and England it is a lady's duty to recognize a gentleman first, but in Germany the contrary rule is observed. A gentleman never stops a lady or offers his hand—it is her privilege. She decides also when a conversation shall end, and by her manner indicates whether he may join her in her walk. While bowing to a lady a gentleman removes his cigar and in walking or driving with her never smokes. It is not necessary to introduce acquaintances on the street, and if one does so they need not acknowledge it afterwards.

Driving.—A rather gay costume is appropriate for driving. The seat facing the horses is the seat of honor in a carriage, and is assigned to the oldest lady or the first in rank. The hostess always occupies her own seat, and no guest should allow her to resign it. As in leaving a room, a guest always proceeds in entering a carriage.

In general, selfishness is the root of all ill-breeding. A quiet, unpretentious appearance and dignified demeanor, with kind consideration for others, will insure respect, though one may journey from Maine to San Francisco.—New York World.

The Wolverine "Child of the Devil."

The trials endured by the luckless hunter, whose track was once discovered by this monster, are frequently recounted. Day after day would the hunter visit his traps, only to find the ruinous work of his four-footed enemy who, not satisfied with robbing the occasional prize, would often, simply for the merriment of bait, completely destroy scores of traps. Hence arose the stories of the impo sibility of trapping the fiend. No deadfall, snare, or spring gun ever injured this "evil one," and it does not require a vivid imagination to trace the growth of fiction, when we consider the impulsive courage of boys, after the toil of setting his chain of traps and visiting them with the result above referred to, allowing himself to believe that he was verily beset by a devil, and at the camp fire, or, better still, as the honored guest of some credulous settler, unfolding and enlarging upon his experiences. These stories, however, become comprehensible when we remember that the track through the deep snow, beaten by the snowshoes of the hunter on his rounds, formed an inviting highway along which the short-limbed quadruped could freely travel, while it soon learned that a journey of a few miles meant the picking up of a substantial meal which some kind friend had carefully placed in sheltered nooks as if regardful of its wants; for the traps of those days were mostly modifications of the "deadfall," and required but limited strength and cunning to circumvent.—By Horace T. Martin, in The Popular Science Monthly for April.

Literary Notes.

The leader of the April Forum will be a candid and impartial, though frank and sharp, review of the first year of Mr. Cleveland's Administration, and of democratic control of the government. The writer is anonymous, but is so plainspoken that the article will doubtless provoke widespread discussion and comment.

The hard-money men find satisfaction in reading a paper by Munroe Smith, which will appear in the April Century. He calls timely attention to the fact that Goethe, in the second part of "Faust," makes the father of all evil the original creator of fiat money.

SHEEP AND WOOL IN THE FUTURE.

To Editor of the Michigan Farmer: Perhaps no branch of farming is, or will be, more affected by national legislation than the growing of sheep and wool. The same thing cannot be truthfully said about cattle breeding or wheat growing. The United States, except for breeding purposes, do not import to any large extent cattle or horses, and both cattle and horses imported as thoroughbreds for purposes of improvement in breeding, are under present laws brought in free of duty. Very little wheat is imported into this country, while large quantities are exported. This exported wheat meets in competition the surplus wheat of the world's production, much of which can be produced cheaper than can be profitably done on lands worth more per acre and by higher priced labor.

The United States produce a little more than half the amount of wool manufactured and consumed by her people, while all that is needed should and could be produced here if a reasonable price could be assured for it when placed upon our market. Almost every part of this country is well adapted to wool and sheep production. It has for many years been one of the important factors in farm economy. About half the wool needed for consumption and manufacturing purposes is imported in addition to what is already grown, from the fact that it is so important a matter to the American farmer.

The important question to be settled by the wool-grower is whether he can longer afford to engage in this industry. This cannot be settled satisfactorily at once, nor perhaps in a year or more. In the meantime it is good policy (as some are doing) to get rid of the flocks of sheep at any sacrifice? As well might the farmer stop breeding horses, and sacrifice what he has on hand because they are so low in price just now. With more propriety, as a business proposition, could he abstain from wheat production, for he is dependent upon the competition of the whole world for the sale of his surplus wheat, while in horses, wool, sheep and largely in cattle and swine, his market is found at home. Sheep and wool growing, while not yielding the returns for the investment desired, should not cease. If I read the feelings of flock-masters correctly, it conveys this conviction to me: That the main stimulus in the formation of so many fine flocks of sheep in this country lay in the fact of the money received, and as soon as a seeming reverse was apparent, neglect of flocks became prevalent. The animals which had given so much pleasure when highly profitable are now objects of suspicion, and a desire to get rid of them has become a mania and once more are we beholding the characteristic of the American people to become anxious to sell when prices are going down, only to be followed by a like desire to purchase again when prices for the same kind of stock are rapidly advancing. This (in my opinion) is not the time for the American farmer to experiment too largely upon guess work. Better that he receive a smaller return from his flocks or herds for a time than that he sacrifice them while in the peculiar condition he finds himself placed by one of those disturbances which occasionally occur in the history of all countries. If he sells for low prices now, and pays high prices in the future for similar animals, he sustains a double loss, besides the loss sustained in the intervening period. Grain raising can be abandoned with much less risk than stock raising, for it can be resumed again if desirable with so much less expense. No industry to-day is less embarrassed than good farming. Farmers must, in the future, raise to a large extent the same kinds of grain, the same kinds of stock, improved in every way possible, and manage with improved skill the various farm duties, conditioned according to the changed circumstances under which they operate.

Men and women will be clothed with woolen and cotton goods mainly, will eat wheat, corn, oats, potatoes, fruits of all kinds, garden vegetables, beef mutton, pork, poultry, honey, butter, cheese and all other dairy products. They will work horses, mules, and in some cases oxen, and all these must come from the farm. This necessity will be no less in the future than in the past. If the various products of the farm bring less in price than formerly, the loss must and can be made good in superior methods in cultivation and propagation; and in more economic methods and practices. The farmer is as necessary a factor to success in all departments of industry to-day as he has ever been in the past. He is likely to be more necessary in the future. Sheep and wool-growing will be an important factor in American Agriculture, and the farmer who sticks by his flocks now and in the future as manfully as he has in the past, will in my opinion be well paid for his faith and good work. This opinion is based upon the fact that farming must be continued as the most important industry in any country adapted as ours is to agriculture. Being continued its success depends largely upon its diversification. Wool growing will be one of the important branches in farm management. The kinds or breeds of sheep kept will depend upon the choice of the breeders.

It is well known by those acquainted with me that my choice of breeds is the American Merino. I do not contend that they are more profitable at the present time than many of the mutton breeds; nor do I admit, as many claim that profitable wool raising is a thing of the past. Sheep for mutton are a necessity; sheep for wool production principally are also a necessity. The wool market is no more disturbed than the mutton market. The same conditions which affect one class of sheep, so far as price and demand are concerned, affect all other classes. No one breed has a marked superiority over any other breed. All breeds should be kept and improved that prove themselves worthy. All should be bred with some specific object in view. As breeding flocks, each breed should be kept pure from any crossing with other breeds. If for early mutton crossing can be profitably done, I am not in sympathy with the theory that the different mutton breeds of sheep, which are much nearer allied to each other in blood than they are to the Merino, should be bred pure, and that a better sheep can be produced by crossing a flock of Merinos with some of the mutton breeds. The very fact of the belief of the breeders of the mutton breeds that the best results are obtained by breeding each family distinct is a stronger reason why the Merino breeder should keep entirely free from the practice of crossing his flock with any mutton sheep, except as before stated for early mutton. To the Merino breeder I would say, improve your flock with judicious selections in mating. That selection should be made from the American Merino. Improve the wool-growing tendencies of your sheep. Add to the length of the fleece if it can be without loss of density and quality. Increase the size gradually, getting rid of too many wrinkles, if this can be done without loss of symmetry. Keep the constitution unimpaired.

The same, or similar advice, might be offered to the breeders of the mutton breeds. Improve your sheep in regard to their own peculiar characteristics. Make them the best of their kind. Do not cross your pure bred flocks of Shropshires with Oxford ewes or Lincoln; and above all do not cross them with the American Merino.

WONDERFUL CURES!
THOMAS MINCHIN. MAJOR W. A. SIMFIELD.

Nervous Debility and Catarrh Cured.
Thomas Minchin says: "I was reduced to a nervous wreck—only weighed 115 pounds. The result of early abuse was the cause. I had the following symptoms: Miserable mental and physical, melancholy, nervousness, weakness, specks before the eyes, dizzy, poor memory, palpitation of the heart, flushing, cold hands and feet, weak back, dreams and losses at night, tired in the morning, pimples on the face, loss of ambition, burning sensation, kidneys weak, etc. Doctors could not cure me; but Drs. Kennedy & Kergan by their New Method Treatment, cured me in a few weeks. I weigh now 170 pounds. It is three years since I have taken their treatment."

Blood Disease and Dyspepsia Cured.
Major Simfield says: "I had Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the Stomach for many years. To make matters worse I contracted a Constitutional Blood Disease. My bones ached. Stitches on the skin looked horrible. I tried sixteen doctors in all. A friend recommended Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. I began their New Method Treatment and in a few weeks was a new man with renewed life and ambition. I cannot say too much for these scientific doctors who have been in Detroit for fourteen years. I conferred with hundreds of patients in their offices who were being cured for different diseases. I recommend them as honest and reliable Physicians."

THE POST-OFFICE.

E. B. Pond Gets the Choice Plum.

Last night's dispatches bore the news to this city that E. B. Pond had been appointed postmaster at Ann Arbor. It was sad news to some of our democratic friends, and happy news to some others. The list of candidates for the office were as follows:

S. W. BEAKES.

First in the list of candidates comes the editor of our able and ardent democratic contemporary, Samuel Willard Beakes, of the Ann Arbor Argus. He is an American, pure and simple, has been a bona fide resident of this city since 1887, but had lived here as a student some years previous, and possesses a thorough knowledge of the city and vicinity. He is an able man, and no one doubts his ability to make an excellent postmaster. He has a claim upon the party in services rendered as editor of the Argus, and valuable time spent in furthering his party's interests. He is always and everywhere a democrat, and probably secured the largest petition of any candidate, and among the names thereon are said to be many of the best workers and hustlers of the party. He has a backing that is certainly powerful, besides which is the power of the press. This latter element is not a small one, by any means, a fact that no one recognizes more than does Congressman Gorman. The public, also, would have been quite generally satisfied had Mr. Beakes been appointed. There would have been some kickers, no doubt, but the rank and file of the party, together with the people of all classes, would have accepted it with good grace.

EDWARD DUFFY.

Mr. Duffy is a man whose influence is felt wherever he goes. He is a man who would be selected in a crowd as one of prominence and ability. He has served one term as postmaster, and made a good one, devoting his time to the work, and favoring the public with a genial and pleasant force of employees.

Some of Mr. Duffy's opponents urged the fact that he had had the office for one term, and was not entitled to a second, but it is fair to presume that they were too cunning to advance that "argument" when conversing with Congressman Gorman, who served two terms as State Senator, and is now serving two terms as Congressman. President Cleveland could with perfect propriety have failed in seeing any force to that as an argument. Mr. Duffy then stood an equal chance with his competitors, with the further advantage of knowing all about the position, and he could have stepped in and conducted the business without any of the annoyances and errors that invariably come to a new man. He is a strong man with his party, and always a hard worker for its candidates.

CAPT. J. F. SCHUH.

Mr. Schuh urged his candidacy on several grounds, the first and greatest being that he made a most admirable chairman of the county committee for many years, and has never been rewarded for his labors. He was a candidate for county treasurer in the last democratic convention, but was defeated for the nomination by over-confidence, and perhaps other reasons.

Mr. Schuh stands as a representative of the German democratic voters of the city and vicinity, which it was thought would, just at this particular time, have had a bearing upon Mr. Gorman in making his decision. There were people so sanguine of his appointment that they offered to wager money thereon no longer ago than Tuesday.

DR. JOHN KAPP.

Another representative of the German democrats is Dr. John Kapp. He is a man who carries the votes with him when he runs for office, and has a record of never having been defeated. He has come to the rescue of his party several times when they have been on the ragged-edge, and has pulled the mayoralty out of the republican clutches. He is an honest, capable man, and would have made an excellent postmaster.

E. B. POND.

Another American bred and American born candidate was E. B. Pond. He has grown old in the service of his party. For years he conducted the Argus, and piloted the party through the darkest days of its existence. He has never had an office that in any way compensated him for his services. He is strictly honorable and no more capable man is to be found in city.

Mr. Pond never possessed the faculty of "standing in with the boys," as it is termed. He had a backing, however, that was not to be slighted. He went to the president with names that carried weight and could not be brushed aside.

Such men as Secretary Morton, Assistant Secretary Uhl, Vice-President Stevenson, ex-Minister G. V. N. Lothrop, Chief Executioner Maxwell, Judge Cooley, and others of like prominence, might be mentioned as having been personally interested in his candidacy.

In appointing Mr. Pond the president, without doubt, entirely ignored Congressman Gorman, for that gentleman is known to have been bitterly opposed to his candidacy, and did it entirely upon his own responsibility, a thing he had a perfect right to do, but which is seldom done by a president.

The great mass of the people will be satisfied with the choice.

Republicans especially are finding no fault, for although they have nothing to say about it, yet they are interested in having a good postmaster.

UNIVERSITY.

The J. Hop issue of the Wrinkle was a good seller.

Capt. Baird is getting the football candidates in training.

The cold snap has frozen out the enthusiasm in athletic lines.

Ray D. Lamson, lit. '88, has a clerkship in the department of state at Columbus, Ohio.

The gym makes a splendid dancing room, a thing that has long been desired by the students.

There were said to be 275 guests entertained by the fraternities upon the occasion of the recent hop.

The Junior hop was somewhat expensive. It cost the boys $1,400 in cold cash. The tickets were $6 each. The fraternities make up any deficit there may be.

Vacation in the University commences next week Friday. A large number of the students are making arrangements to go home and see the old folks at that time.

The Inter-Collegiate debate between the Northwestern and the U. of M. takes place at University Hall, on Friday evening next. The meeting will be a memorable one.

The many strange ladies, both old and young, upon our streets last Friday and Saturday, were the mothers, sisters and sweethearts of the young men who attended the Junior hop.

The students in all departments—even the law—are being given enough to do this year so that they are kept out of mischief. There is far more boozing this year than customary.

The University of Chicago, with its standard oil revenue, has swooped down upon the U. of M. and scooped up one of her professors. Prof. John Dewey, holding the chair of philosophy, has accepted a similar position in the Chicago institution. A good philosopher reasons: "the greater the salary the more money I can make," and that is why Prof. Dewey leaves here.

The annual election of the S. C. A. was held Wednesday night last, and resulted as follows: President, N. A. Gilchrist; vice presidents, L. H. Beals, Mary P. Blount, William Mertz, Lenon Conover, E. A. Nerven, W. W. Mills, T. E. Leland, H. B. Henman and Jennie Geriffin; treasurer, L. A. Pratt; assistant, Nellie Nennan; recording secretary, Wilson Klingler; corresponding secretary, W. A. Hearsh; Bulletin editors, F. P. Sadler, Anna Richards, Frank Hamsher, D. C. Thompson, J. H. Prentiss and Eureka Hoyles. The new officers will assume control of the offices of the S. C. A. May 1st.

On Friday evening April 6th, comes the great inter-collegiate debate between the U. of M. and Northwestern University. The question to be discussed is, "That it ought to be the policy of the Federal Government to bring about the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands." Michigan has the affirmative of the question. Our debaters are E. W. Marlatt, E. C. Lindley, and J. H. Mays. Northwestern is represented by E. I. Goshen, H. S. Hadley and C. B. Campbell. Gov. Rich will preside. Every one should turn out and hear the discussion. Both sides will be ably presented and the contest will doubtless be close and exciting.

University Hall was well filled Sunday evening, the occasion of the annual address of the Students' Christian Association, to listen to the lecture of Dr. Graham Taylor, of Chicago Theological Seminary. President Ladd had charge of the meeting, and after scripture reading by Rev. J. N. Bradshaw and prayer by Rev. J. M. Gelston, President Angell introduced Dr. Taylor.

The speaker announced his theme as the relation of the church to the industrial, social and political world. He laid down three general laws applicable to all forms of life and illustrating their effects historically. First, life is an organism. Second, the organism adapts itself to its environment. Third, it pushes out into new forms of institutions as necessitated by changed conditions. Business, Dr. Taylor said was civil war. The law of competition is in direct opposition to the law of God and of Christ's gospel. The church, he said, never made a more tremendous mistake than to set itself in opposition to the outside world, as it has done. The church is a legitimate growth of society, and should be in harmony with it. The speaker went on to show how the church was trying to put itself on the right side of current problems and how this was shown in its position toward various labor organizations. Dr. Taylor ceased his address with a strong plea for educated usefulness in the world and calling on youth to devote itself to solving the great problem of social life.

Prof. Taylor is an eloquent speaker and carried his auditors by his power of speech. The address was thoroughly interesting as an expression of Christian sociological philosophy, and if all could not entirely coincide with his conclusions no one could assert that he is not a fair, reasonable, liberal and broad as well as forcible and eloquent speaker.—Daily Times.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Pratt, of Detroit, were guests over Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Fred. H. Belser.

Mrs. E. H. Bennett of Owosso, is visiting her husband who is a conductor on the T. & A. A. and resides here.

Miss Abbie A. Pond was called to Flint last Saturday because of the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. R. M. Barker.

J. D. Ryan returned from his trip to San Francisco and the Pacific coast last Monday, but not early enough to save the day for his party.

John R. Miner returned from Florida last Friday. He looks just as natural as he did when he went away. Southern airs have not changed him.

A. L. Noble reached home from New York City last Friday. He is convalescing as rapidly as could be expected, and stood the long, tedious journey better than he anticipated.

John E. Travis and Mrs. J. E. Beal accompanied their father Mr. D. D. Travis, to his home in Cooper, Mich. last Monday. Mr. Travis had come to Ann Arbor in the hope of receiving medical assistance, but not gaining strength and health as he had hoped, he desired to return to his old home again, and was taken there, making the journey very comfortably.

About Hawaii.

To the Editor of The Courier:—There are so many questions asked me in regard to the Sandwich Islands and the situation there that with your permission I will answer some of them through your paper.

The distance from San Francisco to Honolulu is 2,100 miles, a six to seven days' voyage by steamer. The climate is fine and equable, the extremes of temperature the year around being 65 degrees and 85 degrees. The valleys and plains are very fertile. Sugar, as is well known, is the chief production. One industry that is at present in its infancy is the raising of coffee. The Kona is the finest coffee in the world, having the flavor of Mocha and being stronger than Old Government Java. It is beginning to be largely planted. Large quantities of coconuts and bananas are shipped to the United States and many kinds of tropical fruits are grown, such as guavas, mangoes, etc. Flowers are everywhere and the scenery on the islands is fine and of great variety, the mountains being mostly covered with verdure. Honolulu is the seat of government and a city of about 25,000 inhabitants. It is situated on the island of Oahu at Pearl Harbor. Socially it is equal to any city of its size in the United States.

Kilauea, the most active volcano in the world, is situated on the island of Hawaii, the largest of the group and distant from Honolulu 240 miles. Hilo is the principal town on this island.

As to the situation, the provisional government is not only able to hold its own, but almost to a man the intelligent people stand by President Dole and the council in their wise course and able judgment in governing the islands. The natives are in full sympathy with them, which is shown from the fact that all of the policemen are natives. I understand that on Friday evening at University Hall an inter-collegiate debate is to be held by Michigan and Northwestern Universities on annexation of the islands to the United States. Messrs. Mays, Marlatt and Lindley are selected by Michigan and have the affirmative. Three of Northwestern's best debaters take the negative. University Hall should be packed as all are interested in this subject. Governor Rich and other notables are to be judges of the debate.

A railroad man says: "It is very easy to find out the speed when you are traveling on a double tracked road. Just look at the inside of the outer rail on the opposite track for a minute or two until you find that you can distinguish where one rail joins another. Then count the joints and as many rails as you pass in twenty seconds is the number of miles your train is traveling an hour. Figure it out and you will find I'm right."

The lecture announced on the Unity Club programme for Monday April 9, to be given by Miss Caroline J. Bartlett, of Kalamazoo, will be given by Mrs. Fanny B. Williams, a colored woman, of Chicago. Her subject is to be "The Progress of Colored Women since their Emancipation."

Miss Bartlett was to speak upon the "Rights and Wrongs of the American Negro," but thought that Mrs. Williams could present the subject more satisfactorily. Mrs. Williams is a fine speaker, and took a prominent part in her cause at the Chicago Women's Congress, in May last, and at the Parliament of Religions in September. The Club is confident that its patrons will be pleased with the speaker, although she has never been before an Ann Arbor audience. She is spoken of very highly by those who have ever heard her speak.

Did You See it?

Of course we mean the World's Fair. Whether you did or not you want to preserve a souvenir of the most beautiful scene this earth has witnessed.

Miss Ruth Durheim has been appointed a teacher in the 1st ward school in place of Miss Cecelia Burke, who resigned because of the death of her father.

Now that the heat and passion of election is over the affairs of the city will settle down in the accustomed groove, and the people will commence discussing the hard times again.

Saturday was lamblike, so March came in and went out like a lamb. Now if April will only perform the lamb act all the way through it will make us all happy. It started out all right.

There were 492 new names registered last Wednesday and 209 stricken off the books, making in all of the polling precincts of the city a net gain of 283. The first ward had the greatest gain and the fifth ward a loss of 15.

There will be a meeting of the Horticultural Society next Saturday in the supervisor's room of the court house, at 2 p. m. Subjects: Ornamenting Roadsides. Fruit Prospects. Insects and their Warfare. Question box.

There were 103 young ladies and young gentlemen, mostly the former, who appeared at the examination of teachers for this county last Thursday and Friday. The list this time was composed largely of those who are engaged in teaching.

If the tiles laid in our sewers are giving out already, crushed by the weight of the earth, there will be an enormous expense entailed upon the tax payers for which some one is to blame. Were not the tiles tested and if they were, who tested them?

The sausage link between Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti, will probably not be consolidated with the electric road. It appears that there was a "kick" about the motor coming to Division street, Ann Arbor. There are people who "kick" simply because they would kick because they were not in—that is, not in heaven.—Adrian Press.

The 18th annual convention of the W. C. T. U. of the second district of Michigan, is to be held in the M. E. church, Tecumseh, on Wednesday and Thursday, April 25 and 26. The convention will open at 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning and the following evening Rev. Anna H. Shaw will deliver an address. Names of delegates should be sent to the chairman of the entertainment committee, Rev. Mary C. Wood.

There was a change in the head officials of the Toledo & Ann Arbor R. R. a few days since, but the report that the Ashley's were frozen out is incorrect. They have outwitted the bears who attempted to tear them down and bulled the market in great shape on T. & A. A. stock. The quotations of the road's stock dropped from 35c to 13c on the report of the change, but when the fact is known that the Ashley's are still at the helm, the price will probably reach the former notch again.

The teachers and children of the sewing school wish to express their gratitude to Mrs. Trueblood for the benefit she gave them last Friday evening. They will now be able to go on with their work, but they hope their friends will continue to send in donations. They have over 80 children and it takes a large amount to supply material. They have, this year, used over 400 yards of factory and 80 yards of gingham. Needles, pins and thread have also had to be bought.

It is altogether probable that the supervisors will now see the necessity of having that defective chimney fixed on the court house. The alarm of fire Monday was the third time the fire department has been called out because of this same defective flue, and had the fire got the start in the night that it did this time, the court house would probably be in a sad state of wreck if not entirely destroyed. It is a foolish policy to allow a danger of this sort to exist for the sole and only purpose of saving a few pennies. The only safe way to do is to promptly attend to such things, and not try to plaster them up temporarily.

Chicken thieves are in business in the city again.

Prof. Delos Fall, a former Ann Arbor boy, and now a member of the faculty of Albion college, was elected alderman of the 2d ward of Albion, by 57 majority.

There was a beautiful display of aurora borealis last Friday evening. The heavens were streaked with aurora's search lights until midnight and at times the scene was grand.

The U. of M. Waltz, of which Lew H. Clement is the author, contains a handsome picture of University Hall. We have not danced it or sung it, or played it, but those who have all unite in saying that it is a wonderfully pretty piece of music.

Mr. Geissenhainer, of New Jersey, has introduced a bill into congress to create the American College of Musicians, and Prof. A. A. Stanley, the head of the University School of Music of this city, is named as one of the incorporators. Why not have that college located here?

Herbert W. Childs, of Ypsilanti, who was elected justice of the peace in Ypsilanti, is a nephew of Wm. K. Childs, of this city. He has broken his leg three times, and yet he could run well enough to break the record and defeat his opponent, Tracy L. Towner.

The appointment of E. B. Pond as post-master had an electric shock effect upon the other candidates for the position. The shock didn't kill, however, for they have all united in a remonstrance, and are circulating the same now for signatures, in the hope of defeating confirmation.

A recent decision of the supreme court sustains the law making Saturday afternoon a half holiday for the banks, and a note for acceptance due on that day cannot legally be protested until Monday and if Monday be a legal holiday the maker of the note has until Tuesday to pay it.

Here is a hint for Ann Arbor. Several of our sister cities have made this proposition to property owners: "The city will bear one-half the expense of all stone or artificial stone sidewalks of proper width and grade." Many cities have secured excellent and durable walks on nearly all their streets by this means.

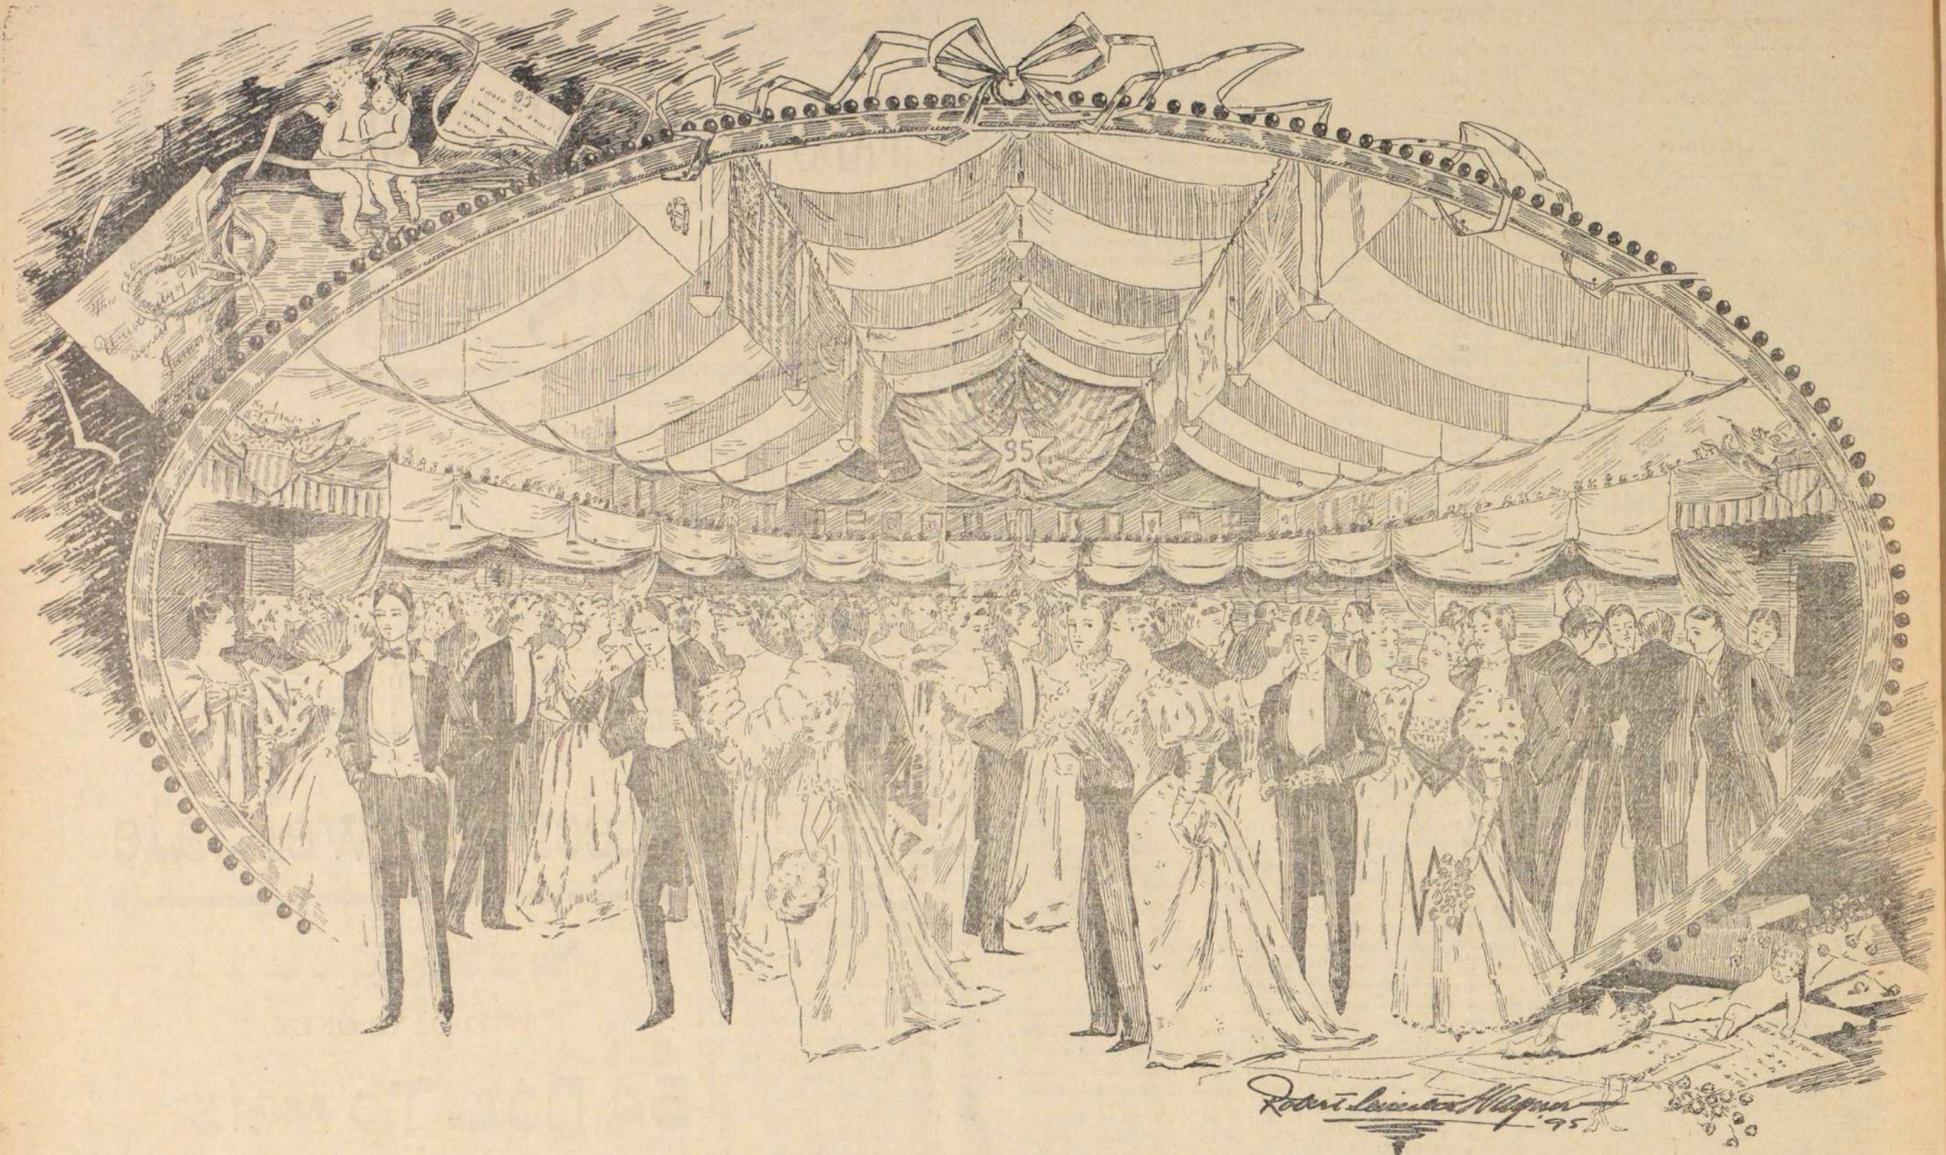

Robert Metcalf, aged 74 years, died Friday last, at his home on Brooks street, and funeral services were conducted there Sunday p. m., by Rev. J. M. Gelston. The deceased was a native of Yorkshire, Eng., where he was born March 22, 1820, and had lived in this country since 1840. He leaves a widow and five children, among them being Peter E. Metcalf and Mrs. Maria Johnson, of this city. Mr. Metcalf was a citizen who had the respect and esteem of many friends and acquaintances.

On Friday afternoon last Anna C. widow of the late Henry Krause, died at her home on W. Liberty st., after an extended illness. Funeral services were held Monday p. m., from Bethlehem Lutheran church. Rev. J. Neumann conducting them. Mrs. Krause, who had been a resident of this county and city since 1835, was a native of Wurtemberg, Germany, where she was born April 16, 1830. She leaves a family of three sons, of whom Samuel is the only resident of Ann Arbor, and four daughters, Mrs. Geo. Haller, and Miss Rosalie Krause, only, residing in this city. The interment was in Forest Hill cemetery. She was a lady greatly respected by friends and neighbors.

I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.: "For about eight years I have patiently suffered from a discouraging and weakening failure of the liver, kidneys and bladder. During this long time I suffered everything but death. Different medicines were taken but without any avail. It was on the fifth of August, 1891, that the doctor told my mother that he had not the faintest ray of hope of the recovery of her child. For eight weeks I lived on nothing but brandy and beef-tea. I could not even keep milk on my stomach. In May I was just able to be taken to a hospital, where I remained till January, 1893. The physician declared my case incurable. All hope was gone, but I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. From the day I began to take the medicine I began to feel better. I have taken several bottles and have been able to assist my mother in light household duties. I surely owe my life to that great medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla. Words Cannot Express the condition I was in before I took Hood's Sarsaparilla. It can only be realized by experience and few live to pass through and get better from such a complication of diseases." MISS ORTENCIA E. ALLEN, Salem, Michigan. N.B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy any other instead. Hood's Pills cure liver ills, constipation, biliousness, jaundice, sick headache, indigestion.

"THE JUNIOR HOP" as Sketched by the Wrinkle Artist.

In a Michigan Forest Fire.

"The most exciting experience I ever had," said T. E. Spencer, "was in a forest fire near Manistee, Michigan. I had visited a small lumber camp and retired to rest in one of the bunks provided for the choppers. I was awakened by a strong light from the north, and, going outside of the wooden shanty, it seemed to me that the entire world was on fire. It cracked and snapped, danced and jumped, as if the demon of fire was holding a high carnival and celebrating the end of the world. From every side could be heard sounds like firing of cannon, and the shrieks of dying human beings. It was the falling of the boughs and the sighing of the wind, but I never heard so horrible a sound nor witnessed so weird and terrible a sight. Hastily awakening the other men in the camp, I mounted a horse and fled from the flames. But the horse could not keep pace with the progress of the fire. The lurid heavens looked as though they were at molten heat; the air was stifling; the smoke almost suffocated me, while falling leaves and boughs burned my horse, and the sickening odor of burned flesh added to the horror. Within two or three hours I was in an opening where I was no longer in danger, but my horse was badly injured, while my clothing was full of holes where embers had struck me. I will take my chances with cyclones or earthquakes, but not with a burning forest again."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Crescent Clasp Works.

Junius E. Beal, president, Dr. C. G. Darling, vice president, C. K. McGee, secretary, treasurer and general manager, Wm. F. McGee, superintendent, manufacturers of Fine Corsets, Walsts, Hose Supporters, etc. Among our manufacturing industries which have recently sprung into prominence special mention should be made of this firm which was organized and incorporated under the laws of the state, less than three years ago. The officers of the company are among our foremost citizens, the president, Mr. Beal, being the well known capitalist and publisher of the Ann Arbor Courier. Dr. Darling is a member of the faculty in the medical department of the University and a leading physician of the city. Mr. McGee, the manager of the business, came to this city in 1876 to attend the University and afterwards became instructor in the same institution, which position he resigned in 1891 to become the manager of the newly organized company and it is largely due to his business ability that the enterprise has achieved so marked a success. Mr. Wm. F. McGee, the superintendent, is a practical corset man, having been for several years connected with one of the largest corset factories at Jackson, Mich., and is the original inventor and patentee of the Crescent Corset Clasp, which constitutes the peculiar feature of the goods made by this firm. Their factory upon the corner of Main and Catharine sts., contains more than 7,000 square feet of floor space and is fully equipped with the special machinery required in corset manufacture, and enjoys the reputation of being the first corset factory in the country to adopt a newly invented machine for the ornamental stitching of corsets and walsts. Since organization, their business has grown with marvelous rapidity. Notwithstanding the disastrous business depression of last year, their business was 95 per cent. ahead of 1892 and the total retail value of their output amounted to more than $20,000, while orders for the first two months of the present year are more than double what they were for the same period last year. As the company's business, for the present, is confined to the work of agents, who take orders from house to house, these figures speak volumes not only for the popularity of their goods, but for their straightforward and honorable methods of doing business with their agents.

The above notice is a reprint from the trade edition of THE WASHINGTON EVENING TIMES, March 20th, 1894.

Farms for the Million

The marvelous development of the states of Minnesota, South Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska and Wyoming, within the last few years has attracted attention in all parts of the world. It is not necessary, however, to search far for the causes of this wonderful growth, for this entire region, which is penetrated by the North-Western Line, teems with golden opportunities for enterprising farmers, mechanics and people who desire to better their condition. Here are lands which combine all varieties of soil climate and physical feature that render them most desirable for agriculture or commerce. Rich rolling prairies, capable of raising the finest quality of farm products in luxurious abundance, can still be secured at low prices and upon most liberal terms, and in many cases good productive farms can be purchased for scarcely more than the yearly rental many eastern farmers are compelled to pay. Reaching the principal cities and towns and the richest and most productive farming districts of this favored region, The North-Western Line (Chicago & North-Western Ry.) offers its patrons the advantages of ready markets, unexcelled train service, perfect equipment and all the comforts and conveniences known to strictly first-class railway travel. Maps, time tables and general information can be obtained of ticket agents of connecting lines, or by addressing W. A. Thrall, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, Chicago & North-Western Ry., Chicago, Ill.

A SPRING STORY.

A Few Things You Ought Surely to do at This Season.

In the spring we feel tired, languid and debilitated. The change from cold to warm weather causes a depression of the vital forces resulting in an inactive state of the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys. Headache is common, and the blood undergoes changes which greatly debilitate the system. The complexion is apt to be sallow, and dark circles gather under the eyes. If something is not done to overcome these conditions, they will last indefinitely and may result in severe sickness. Read the experience of the well known Mrs. A. A. Herrick, of 40 Everett street, East Somerville, Mass.

"Two years ago I contracted a very severe cold that settled all over my body. My head and left side pained me all the time, I had no appetite and could not sleep at all nights. I was so nervous I thought I would go insane and any work seemed like a mountain ahead of me.

"I would become completely exhausted on the slightest exertion. I was obliged to give up and take to the bed. I lay there several weeks but got no better. I began to fear I should never get well, as nothing seemed to affect me. I was finally advised to use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and did so.

MRS. A. A. HERRICK.

"It seemed to quiet me just as soon as I began using it. Before a week I could rest and sleep through the night and could feel my strength coming back.

"When I began the second bottle I could see I had improved very much. I continued taking it, and in a few months no one would know I had been sick with severe nervous prostration.

"It also cured me of female troubles which I had had a great sufferer from. It is a wonderful medicine and I cannot say enough in praise of it. I advise any person afflicted with any of these complaints to use it, and I am positive they will get well."

If you want to be perfectly strong and healthy the best possible thing to do is to take this great curer and strengthener. You can be cured quicker in the spring than at any other season. You must take a spring medicine, everyone knows that, and Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is the best and most certain because it always cures. It is the discovery of Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th street, New York City. He is the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, and can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

Literary Notes.

Current History for the 4th quarter of 1893 sums up in a nut-shell both sides of the Hawaiian question; gives an elaborate review of the situation in the United States as regards the tariff and the general interests of business and industry with statistics for the year; traces the causes and significance of the trouble in Brazil; discusses with great clearness the international problem of the balance of power in the Mediterranean; reviews the political situation in the United States, the Gravesend affair, the working of the liquor dispensary law in South Carolina, the prohibition movement and the growth of new political forces in Canada; discusses the facts and tendencies of the growth of socialism and anarchy in Europe; sums up what has been done to the end of 1893 in the way of Australian federation; chronicles the events of the Matabele war; treats of the anti-foreign sentiment in China and Japan; gives a resume of progress in scientific research, astronomical and archaeological discovery, photography in natural colors, etc.; reviews of over 100 of the new books; sketches the careers of the eminent dead; outlined the life and work of Frank Parkman; and contains a fund of valuable information on a host of other timely topics. Portraits of many prominent personages as well as useful maps, etc., adorn the pages. Editorially and typographically the work shows the greatest care. No addition to the family library could be more useful, or possess a more general interest than a bound volume of this unique publication, which, with the current number, completes the fourth year of its historical record. An elaborate itemized index for the volume is given with the present number. It covers 26 closely printed pages, and adds greatly to the value of the book as a reference work. Garretson, Cox & Co., Buffalo, N. Y.; $1.50 a year, single copies 40 cents; sample 25 cents; specimen pages sent on application.

Try the New Fig Honey.

Honey mixed with a nice extract of California figs, etc., make "Honey of Figs," the most delicious of all gentle cures for Constipation, Colds, Fevers, Nervousness and Disordered Kidneys. Californians greatly prefer it to simple syrup. Old folks enjoy it and babies love it. The Fig Honey Co., of San Francisco make it. No other laxative is so soothing or sells so well. Large bottles (50 doses) 50 cents. Trial size 10 cents. In this age of progress be wise and get the best. Eberbach & Son, Agents for Ann Arbor.

Answers to Correspondents.

Farmer—Yes, South Dakota furnishes an excellent field for diversified farming. Wheat, corn, barley and flax are produced in abundant quantities and find a ready market at good prices, while the cost of production is much less than in the eastern states. Stock raising and wool growing have become successful industries in South Dakota, where thousands of acres of the finest land in the United States can be secured at reasonable figures and upon long time deferred payments. Further information will be cheerfully furnished free of expense by addressing Harry Mercer, Michigan Passenger Agent, 82 Griswold street, Detroit, Mich.

When my little girl was one month old, she had a scab form on her face. It kept spreading until she was completely covered from head to foot. Then she had boils. She had forty on her head at one time, and more on her body. When six months old she did not weigh seven pounds, a pound and a half less than at birth. Then her skin started to dry up and got so bad she could not shut her eyes to sleep, but laid with them half open. About this time, at the earnest request of friends, I started using the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and in one month she was completely cured. The doctor and drug bills were over one hundred dollars, the Cuticura bill was not more than five dollars. My child is now two years old, strong, healthy and large as any child of her age (see photo), and it is all owing to CUTICURA. Yours with a Mother's Blessing, MRS. GEO. H. TUCKER, JR., 335 Greenfield Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis.

Hutzel's Water Back!

A very important invention which will be hailed with delight by every body using a stove or range for hot water circulation. After years of experience we have succeeded in producing a simple and perfect WATER BACK.

It overcomes all the present trouble of extracting lime and other sediments which accumulate in water backs, often making them useless and in great many instances becoming dangerous.

The outlay of dollars is reduced to dimes. No household using a range can afford to be without it.

No more trouble by using city water for hot water circulation.

Can be used in any stove. Ask your stove dealer for Hutzel's Water Back.

Mason & Davis Co's. ranges for sale at C. Eberbach are provided with our improvement.

The good book says, "Watch and pray." Byron Schermerhorn can omit the first part of the injunction, because he already has the watch. It was given him by the family last Sunday, that being his birthday.—Hudson Post. It wouldn't do him any harm to pray a little, though, would it?

Farmers may think because the fruit buds are injured by the severe weather, that it will not pay to spray their fruit trees, but it is necessary that the insects that are hidden beneath the bark, be destroyed, and spraying seems to be the most effectual method.—Manchester Enterprise.

Wayne's "Peck the Peeper" has been caught and his person was recognized as that of a well known villager, inside of whom was a pint or so of an anti-gold cure brand of embalming fluid.—Northville Record. A cat-nine-tail cure, externally applied, would have served an excellent antidote for that internal fluid he carried.

It is with deep sorrow that we tell the story of how two Hudson ladies induced their husbands to go to bed last Monday evening, and then tripped to the dance. Whether they figured as belles of the ball we know not, but the way those two men declare that they do not care to dance, is a caution.—Post.

One of Chelsea's industrious matrons has been improving her spare moments in pulling "cheese weeds," for her husband for the modest sum of ten cents per bushel. She is quite willing to receive the patronage of her friends whose gardens need improvement.—Chelsea Standard. That item was probably written in the spring time of March.

Just hear this from the Chelsea Standard: "Stockbridge is just now patting herself on the back because she has more dry goods establishments than Chelsea. Bring them all over, little sister, and we will store them comfortably away in the cloak room of one of our stores. Then, too, we believe in quality rather than quantity, so don't break your arm in this self-congratulatory movement of yours."

Regarding a statement referring to a member of the council, the Wayne Pilot in a later issue says: "Saying a thing in one issue and taking it back or apologizing for it in the next, is a practice we never got into, neither do we intend ever to get into it." The Pilot man is evidently one of the "lay-on-and-damned-be-he" kind of fellows. One wouldn't think it, to look at him. He revises his grammar, however by adding: "We made a correct statement except that we unthoughtfully used the plural instead of the singular noun."—Adrian Press.

ELECTION IN YPSILANTI. Yesterday's municipal election resulted in nearly a complete overthrow of the Democratic party here, the only ones able to crawl out of the ruins being Ald. Schaffer, Justice Beach and Supervisor Forsythe, all of them the present incumbents. The Fourth ward which was expected before the caucus to be the hotbed of an internal fight among the Democrats was the only ward that united and all three of the successful candidates come from that precinct. Last night the Republicans made a demonstration that would equal a victory at a presidential election and bonfires, rejoicing and marching about the streets were the order until midnight. The common council will stand with Mayor-elect Seymour in the chair six Republicans and four Democrats and consequently all the appointive offices will go to the former without any hesitancy.

For alderman in the first ward some Democrats had hopes of seeing George Alban elected and he did poll the highest vote on the ticket except Rogers, who was running against Seward Day for constable. It was a surprise for Alban's friends. The vote was as follows: Sherwood 212, Alban 126. In the Second ward Beal's friends confidently claimed his election all day by at least 20 and Mr. Worden acknowledged defeat at noon. But the size of Beal's majority was as great a surprise to the Republicans as to the Democrats. The vote stood Beal 165, Worden 87.

In the Third there was a great effort made by the Prohibitionists to elect Vroman and they succeeded as follows: Vroman 173, Carr 108.

In the Fourth Schaffer ran ahead of the rest of the ticket and this was the only ray of sunshine out of the darkness that the Democrats could glean. The vote stood Schaffer 126, Colby 53.

The Fifth, however, was the battle ground and when the straight votes were counted it was seen that John Terns had been defeated by Isaac Davis. The news was immediately spread about the city and it could hardly be believed. There had been some hard work done by the Republicans and the Democrats hint that certain parties knifed their man. It will possibly result in a split in the ranks of the Democrats in that ward. The vote stood Davis 175, Terns 128.

The number of straight tickets voted yesterday was more than was anticipated. The Republicans had 173, 108, 124, 34, 107 in the respective wards, making a total of 546, while the Democrats had 74, 58, 73, 98, making a total of 376. The total vote of 1,373 is phenomenal for a charter election and shows the great interest taken in the election.—Daily Times.

WEBSTER. In this township the republicans had it all their own way, and the following ticket was elected: Supervisor—Edwin Ball. Board of Review (2 years)—Frank H. Wheeler. Board of Review (1 yr.)—Otis W. Cushing. Township Clerk—Bert Kenny. Justice of Peace (full term)—Harrison T. Phelps. Justice Peace (2 yrs.)—Henry Shams. Justice Peace (1 yr.)—Lewis Chamberlain. Treasurer—E. F. Evans. Highway Com.—Corydon L. Thurber. Drain Com.—Wm. Hooser. Constables—Lewis Bennett, Peter Parsons, John Bleicher, Ed. Geraghty.

DEXTER. The democrats have elected the following ticket: Supervisor—Thomas McQuillan. Clerk—Michael McGuire. Board of Review—Agur Taylor. Treasurer—Clifton Green. Highway Com.—James T. Blady. Justice of the Peace (to fill vacancy)—John Hild. Justice of the Peace (full term)—William H. Witte. School Inspector—John Kelly. Constables—James Ivory, Edwin Ferris, Godfrey Lutzer, John Ledwidge.

GEMS IN VERSE.

Grief. There are despairs which seem to blast and kill, That darken day and rob the stars of light, That make the manliest weep as women might, That bend the valor of the human will— Despairs which burn like hopeless love; and still Love can transfigure while it seems to blight; Strong hearts feel nobly on their grief, despite A world where hearts can ever thrive but ill. Sweet love and laughter are the dream of youth, And soft contentment is a golden bar Which shuts a life within its commonplace; But the old world grows wiser in the truth That sorrows fashion us to what we are And round the invincible genius of our race. —G. E. Montgomery.

"Sleepy Hollow." O place of beauty, place of rest! Above These high the mountains crest, the river rolls Beside, the peace of God broods over thee. Like benediction falls his smile upon Thy face. 'Tis like the gladness of the heart When work is done, like rest that follows toil, Like sleep "he giveth his beloved."

When earth and skies were drear, and autumn winds Moaned shrill, and dark the threatening river rushed Between its banks all strip and bare, in dull November day a train of mourners, sad And slow, brought one to thee and laid him down, In his last sleep. A good, great man was he, Of long of days. Honors he had, and friends, And that mysterious spell which men call fame Was his. A good, great man, whose name will live. No wonder, then, that men like pilgrims come To thee, seeking his resting place, as to A shrine.

O stars, can you beam the livelong night? O flowers, can you open in morning light? O falls, can you fleck the river white? O sun, can you blaze in sky so bright? O birds, can you sing your midday token When she lies dead and a heart is broken?

O place of beauty, place of rest! The good And great had made his bed with thee. And Not that enough? To fill thy hungry grave Must cruel death strike her, the young, the brave. The fair? Oh, she was fair, and she was good As she was fair. And she had hope and love.

O place of beauty, place of rest! Cruel As beautiful thou art. I charge thee keep That which is to thee was given that summer day— That early summer day whose sunshine struck Me blind. Keep as a sweet and sacred trust That which to thee was given "until he come." —Sarah De Wolf Gamwell.

Columbus. Columbus was, they tell us now, A man of flaw and feck— A man who steered a pirate prow And trod a slaver's deck. In narrow, bigot blindness lurked, Cruel and vain was he— To such was given to lift a world From out the darkened sea.

Though weak and cruel, vain, untrue, From all earth's high and low God picked this man his work to do, Four hundred years ago. There in the distance standeth he, Beal on his highty quest. This rough old admiral of the sea Still pointing toward the west.

There stands he on his westward prow, A man entirely strong, So great, the bald truth spoken now Can never do him wrong. Though slaver, pirate he might be, He had that gift of fate— That wise and sane insanity That makes the great man great. —Yankee Blade.

Letting His Soul Loaf. I don't spend none o' my good time in politics an' such, I ain't a-makin' folks grow poor, an' me-a-gettin' rich; I ain't a-pesterin' any one—jes' livin' at my ease, A-huffin' when I want to, an' fishin' when I please!

Jes' let 'em take the offices an' run 'em fur an' high, I'd ruther have a violet from a girl's hand—sweet an' shy. Than run the whole United States! So, brethren, let her roll, For a streak o' April sunshine is jes' lightnin' up my soul!

Give me birds a-singing in the sweet, salutiferous trees, A-lavin' an' a-wavin' all their blossoms in the breeze. Give me my daisied meadows, jes' a-smilin' to the sun, An' the bendin' trees above 'em jes' a-bowin' "howdy-do!"

An' the country girls—God bless 'em, an' dress 'em plain an' sweet, Jes' like he does the violets that purple at their feet— The girls a-huntin' honey in their bonnets an' curls— Oh, what is all your money to the red lips of the girls?

Sing sweet, O birds o' April! Sing sweet o'er hill an' plain, While the wonderin' world is tangled in the sunlight an' the rain! We ain't a-pesterin' any one—jes' livin' at our ease, A-huffin' when we want to, an' fishin' when we please! —Frank L. Stanton.

Average People. The genius soars far to the fountain That feeds the snowcap in the sky; But though our wings break in the flying, And though our souls faint in the trying, Our flight cannot follow so high; And the eagle swoops down from the mountain To answer the ground bird's low cry.

The world has a gay gerdon ready To back the fleet and the race; But on the dull highway of duty, Aloof from the pomp and the beauty, The stir and the chance of the chase, Are toilers, with steps true and steady, Pursuing their wearisome pace.

False prowess and noisy insistence May capture the garrulous throng, But the "average" father and brother, The home keeping mother and mother, Grown gentle and patient and strong, Shall learn in the fast nearing distance Wherein life's awards have been wrong.

Then there's the "average" people, The makers of home and its rest; To them the world turns for a blessing When life's its hard burdens is pressing. For stay-at-home heroes are the best; Birds bid who they will in the steeps, But safer the eaves for a nest. —May Riley Smith.

The Essence of Life is Divine. Space is as nothing to spirit, the deed is outdone by the doing; The heart of the wooer is warm, but warmer the heart of the wooing; And up from the pits where these shiver, and down from the heights where those shine, Twin voices and shadows swim starward, and the essence of life is divine. —Richard Realf.

What of That? Hard! Well, what of that? Didst fancy life one summer holiday, With lessons none to learn, and naught but play? Go, get thee to thy task! Conquer or die! It must be learned! —G. E. Montgomery.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Washtenaw, ss. Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of and under the seal of the Circuit Court for the County of Washtenaw, in favor of John W. Dunklee against the George H. Hammond and Annie E. Wilson, executrix of the estate of W. H. Wilson, deceased, in said County, I, the undersigned, Sheriff of said County, do hereby direct and delivered, I did, on the sixteenth day of October, A. D. 1894, levy upon and seize all the right, title and interest of said Geo. H. Hammond, in and to the following described real estate, lands and tenements situate in the township of Ypsilanti, County of Washtenaw, State of Michigan, to-wit: First piece being the northeast fractional quarter of sec. twenty (20) in township three (3) south, range seven (7) east, Sec. 20, piece being that parcel of land described as beginning at the southwest corner of the A. H. Ballard fifty (50) acres (so called) and following the line of section twenty-one (21) in said township of Ypsilanti, State of Michigan, eleven (11) chains and eighty-seven hundredths (87-100) of a chain south of the following corner, thence running north seventy-one (71) degrees east eight (8) chains and seven (7) links to the center of the center of said highway, thence south along the center of said highway twenty-two (22) chains and seven (7) links to the center of the center of said highway, thence north along the center of the highway to the place of beginning, thence piece being part of section twenty-one (21) beginning at a point in the center of the highway on the south line of section twenty-one (21) number six hundred and eighty-one (681) running thence westerly along said French line to land owned by Dan. Potter on the second day of August, A. D. 1874, thence southerly along said Potter's east line to land owned by said Potter at the last named date, thence easterly along said Potter's north line to the center of highway, thence northerly along the center of the highway to the place of beginning. The said land pieces of land being the same land conveyed to said Dan Potter by Josephine C. Ballard by deed bearing date August seventh, 1874, and recorded in the Register's office for said County of Washtenaw in Liber 81 of deeds on page 164 containing in all one hundred and forty-nine (149) acres of land be the same place, of all of which I shall expose for sale at public auction, to the highest bidder, at the south front door of the Court House in the City of Ann Arbor, in said County, on Monday, Fifth day of March, A. D. 1894, at ten o'clock a. m. Dated this 15th day of January, 1894.

The above advertised sale was held by me at the time and place above specified, but as there were no bids received by me, I did adjourn said sale to Monday, the 22nd day of April 1894, at ten o'clock a. m., at which time it will be held at the south front door of the Court House in the City of Ann Arbor in said County, at the same place, at which the original sale was to be held. MICHAEL BRENNER, Sheriff.

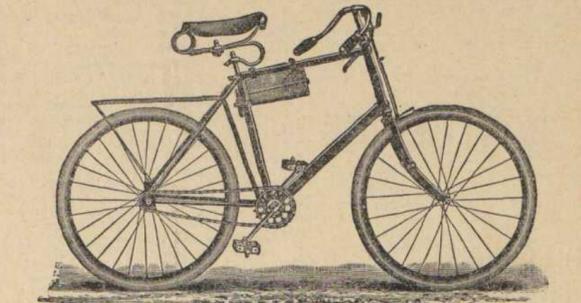

MORTGAGE SALE.

DEFAULT having been made in the condition of a certain mortgage made by John William Keating to Mary A. Keating, at Ann Arbor, Mich., dated March seventh, A. D. 1892, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Washtenaw and State of Michigan on the seventh day of April, A. D. 1892, in Liber 102 of mortgages, on page 404, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of one thousand three hundred and fifteen dollars and an attorney's fee of twenty-five dollars, provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Thursday, the tenth day of May, A. D. 1894, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, I shall sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, at the north front door of the Court House in the City of Ann Arbor (that being the place where the Circuit Court for Washtenaw County is holden), the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage with five per cent interest and all legal costs, together with an attorney's fee of twenty-five dollars, and the balance of the premises being conveyed to the purchaser as all that certain lot, piece, and parcel of land situate in the City of Ann Arbor, in the County of Washtenaw and State of Michigan, and known and described as follows: Block two (2) north of Huron street in range thirteen (13) east of the (5) separate parcels of land four by eight (48) rods sold to Thomas Clancy, John O'Mara, William Batts, Michael Allen O'Mara and Mary A. Keating, which transfers are of record in the office of the Register of Deeds for Washtenaw County.
