Notes of Travel.

It is decidedly refreshing for one who for weeks has been sweltering in a torrid zone with the mercury up in the nineties, surrounded by a dull dead calm of a summer university vacation, to have an outing and get out of town and out of ones self, mingle with the outside world and see what it is made of.

The railroad trip to Buffalo on the Canada Southern is rather dreary until you reach Niagara Falls, where the train stops five minutes for the passengers to mount a raised platform and have a capital view of the falls and rapids above.

Buffalo is an old city of 341,000 inhabitants; was burned by the British in 1814; is very prosperous and wealthy, situated as it is at the terminal point of navigation on the great lakes; and is a tremendous depot for shipping purposes especially of grain, coal and merchandise, beside the freight facilities of twenty-six railroads. It has thirty-six elevators with a capacity of fifteen million and five hundred bushels of grain, the N. Y. Central and Erie railroads doing a very heavy business. In 1893 there was received at the port of Buffalo 127,000,000 bushels of grain, the Erie elevator alone in 1892 receiving 23,000,000, it being 140 feet in height and having a capacity of elevating 5,000 bushels an hour, equal to ten car loads. Its wooden conductors are lined with ½ inch steel plates and the grain goes through these conductors with such force that holes are worn through these steel plates every year, and new ones have to be put in.

The Erie road has two vast freight depots 1,200 feet in length, one for through traffic up and down the lakes and the other for local and city traffic. These monstrous freight depots and elevators are under the management of Wm. N. Perrine, one of the most efficient and capable agents Buffalo has ever had—he has 100 clerks and 150 workmen in his employ.

Buffalo is a very charming and beautiful city to live in, it has 123 miles of electric street railways, 120 miles of stone, 150 miles of asphalt pavement, and 19 more contracted for, giving Buffalo more asphalt streets than Paris or Washington or any other city in the world. The writer of these notes had the exquisite pleasure, through the kindness of a lady relative, to ride with her in her elegant phaeton over 100 miles on this asphalt pavement, through all the beautiful shaded avenues and captivating parks. These pavements are a great but costly luxury, level as a house floor with not a particle of obstruction, and a carriage runs over it almost as noiseless as a bicycle, while a person can ride over it for hours without becoming weary. But it is hard on horse shoes, for the hind shoes of a horse will wear down as thin as a ribbon in two weeks and the fore shoes in a month.

This city has 800 acres of parks and 17 miles of park driveways. The largest park has several hundred acres in it. A charming little lake winds its way through it with here and there tiny islands interspersed with the deep foliage of their trees, while large numbers of snow white swans gracefully move about the placid waters. At the head of this lake is a resort where the elite of the city with their elegant tournaments come at eventide to cool off and listen to the most excellent music of the 74th regiment band, which receives $1,300 for twenty open air concerts.

We had the good fortune while in port to visit the famous steamer, Northwest, the most magnificent floating palace on the great lakes. She is 375 feet in length, three stories high, and all finished inside in red and white mahogany. She cost seven hundred thousand dollars, runs at a speed of 20 miles an hour, and goes to Duluth and return in six days. It takes a pocket of money to take a trip on her. First you pay your passage money, about thirty dollars for a round trip, then comes your state room for which you pay from twenty-five to sixty dollars, according to locality, size and furnishing, and lastly you purchase your meals on the European plan, which will cost you anywhere from three to nine dollars a day. We saw the menu of this steamer and as a sample of cost noticed the price of a porter house steak was one dollar and twenty-five cents, which with all the other etc's for a full first class hotel dinner would make it cost

HON. A. J. SAWYER.

The Washtenaw county republican convention, last week, by a handsome vote, determined that it wanted Hon. Andrew J. Sawyer, of Ann Arbor, for its candidate for congress in this district. The decision was by such a decided majority that there could be no mistaking it.

At the congressional convention which is to meet to-morrow at Adrian, Washtenaw county will cast twenty-one votes solidly for Mr. Sawyer, and continue to do so as long as there is any hope for his nomination.

Mr. Sawyer would make an able representative in congress, one that would command attention, and he prominent from the start, for he is a man of brains and learning, and one who has the faculty of mastering whatever he undertakes. He would honor this district. He would work for its interests, and for the interests of the great republican party, and work in such a way that it would be felt.

three dollars. And yet there are plenty of people who like this kind of expensive traveling.

It may be of interest to some to learn the capacity of the Buffalo water works. The plant is situated on the banks of the Niagara river and the water is pumped from a deep well quite a distance from the shore of the river. The works are on the Holly plan, the water being pumped direct to the customers, there are seven engines, two of which pump each day 20,000,000 gallons; four pump each 15,000,000 and one 10,000,000, making 110,000,000 in all, daily. Two of the engines cost nearly ninety thousand dollars each. There is also a large reservoir at the east side of the city of some twenty acres, the water being thirty feet deep, and the whole enclosed by a large stone wall—it is kept for emergencies, in case of accident at the works, its cost was three million dollars.

Near the cemetery we visited a crematory, with its small chapel having in it a beautiful little church organ. Services are held here when a body is brought for cremation. When the oven is heated to a white heat, the body lying on a small platform with rollers under it, is rolled into the mouth of the oven and in two hours all that remains of the body is the ashes of the bones, which are quite heavy. Two hundred and eight cremations have occurred since 1885. It costs twenty-five dollars to cremate.

Fifty years ago we visited the Niagara Falls and to-day hear that same eternal roar and see that same awful plunge of old Niagara's waters to the fearful abyss below. Great changes have taken place within a few years. Uncle Sam has purchased all the land in the vicinity of the Falls, has laid out captivating lawns and lovely drives all over Prospect Park and Goat Island, driven out the robber hackmen, and now one can take an open bus, for fifteen cents, and visit all the points of interest as long as he pleases.

The great water power created here is a wonderful production. The terrible rush of waters coming through the great tunnel has destroyed the huge water wheels and the company has been compelled to send to Sweden for wheels which will not break by the velocity and great body of water coming upon them. Some people believe that the great amount of water going through this tunnel above the falls will decrease the amount of water going over the falls.

If a person wishes to see the falls and the great chasm to the best advantage, he should, as we did, take a fine steamer on Buffalo, go down twenty miles on the Canada side of the river, land just above the old village of Chippewa, there take the electric cars and go down on the Canada side of the river fourteen miles to the village of Queenstown, near Lake Ontario. On this trip you first go by the whirling, tumbling, roaring rapids, above the falls, then the cars go so near the horse shoe cataract that you get a shower of spray. Here you have the finest view of both falls. You then pass along on the brink of the great chasm 150 feet below you, through the artistic Victoria Park, under the three suspension bridges, then by the whirlpool rapids and the great whirlpool itself, and on down to Queenstown. No one should omit this wonderful trip who visits the fall.

On the homeward trip we took passage on the staunch iron steamer Japan, running to Duluth and had a delightfully cool voyage. The steamer landed at Cleveland, and remained long enough for passengers to ride over the city, call on friends, and visit the great monument and last resting place of the lamented Garfield. M. C.

President Cleveland says the senate bill which was passed is an act of "party perfidy and dishonor." If Grover thinks so harshly of this sectional, trust favoring iniquity what must the people think and say of it in the November elections. It pleases no one and in three months will be condemned by every one.

COMMON SENSE.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN's first speech on the tariff question was short and to the point. He said he did not pretend to be learned in political economy, but he thought that he knew enough to know that "when an American paid twenty dollars for steel to an English manufacturer, America had the steel and England had the twenty dollars. But when he paid twenty dollars for steel to an American manufacturer, America had both the steel and the twenty dollars." That was the sum and substance of the tariff question as he viewed it.

At a meeting of the school board held last evening Henry B. Dodsley was chosen enumerator for this district, and started this morning making a canvass of the district to find out how many children there are entitled to draw primary school funds. Miss Donaldson, of Bay City, was appointed to the vacancy in the corps of High School teachers caused by the resignation of Prof. Eagan. Miss Dicken, of Romeo, was appointed as teacher in the second ward school in place of Miss Cowan, who is to be transferred to the first ward, taking the place of Miss Stevens, resigned.

As this is the season of the year when the wife is often on a vacation and the husband is left to his wits or a summer boarding house for his meals, a friend who is now enjoying a season of bachelor's hall tells us how he economizes in his meals and lives pretty well also, he thinks. He abhors having a lot of dirty dishes about the house, so he went to work and purchased several pounds of crackers, bribed the milk man to bring him the best lactical fluid possible for the cows to give. Then he bought some bananas, which he slices in the milk, and has a "feast fit for a king," so he says. Then there are no great amount of dishes dirty, and he saves enough to keep him in cigars, etc., every day. He has a great head on him. But having tried his favorite dish, we must admit it tastes pretty well for a change.

COVERED HEAD &amp; NECK

Eczema of Worst Type. School and Society Abandoned. Felt Death Would be Relief. Cuticura Soon Put An End to all Sufferings.

Ever since I was three years old I have been troubled with Eczema of the worst type. It at times completely covered my head and neck. I have tried all sorts of medicines, and have been doctored by many very eminent physicians, but with no favorable result. Sometimes my head was one mass of thick scab that would run and bleed, and in summer would be so much worse; my ears looked as though they would fall off. I could not go to school or mingle with society, as the disease smelt so bad. I felt at times that death would be a relief, suffering and itching until I hardly knew what to do. I got your CUTICURA REMEDIES the 20th of January last, and used them according to directions, and can now say that they soon put an end to all my suffering. Words can never tell my thanks to you and your valuable medicine, and I shall always recommend them to whoever I see suffering from the terrible disease. I had spent money and tried the best of doctors with but little relief.

Mr. Debs has conveyed the pleasing intelligence to the people of this country that he will never again engage in a strike of any kind. In which decision Mr. Debs shows much wisdom. He ought to have arrived at that conclusion sooner. It would have saved much trouble.

The McKinley bill, with its high protective duties, just yielded enough revenue to pay the expenses of the government and provide a fund for the redemption of our outstanding bonds. How can the Wilson bill, with greatly reduced schedules, increase the revenue without greatly increasing importation? With greatly increased importation, how can the markets for our home manufactures be kept up?—The Texas Miner.

In demanding protection for their sheep, the wool raisers of California have simply asked for justice. Any tariff bill which places American wool on the free list and dooms American flocks to slaughter is infamously unjust. The northern and western sheep grower has precisely the same right to protection as the southern sugar and rice planter, and no measure which denies that right should ever be permitted to pass the American senate.—Burlington Hawkeye.

The Dutch, when they came to New Amsterdam, were alarmed lest some destructive element should come among them. So they erected, overlooking New York Harbor, a large gallows—a warning to all colonists who came that they must obey the laws or die. To-day there should be raised a sign of admonition at our immigrant stations to the human rubbish coming here year after year. Let it be the American flag waving from a thousand places, that it may be the first object which catches the eye of the new-comer to our shores. The naturalized foreigner must love but one emblem—the Stars and Stripes. If he does, our future is secure.—Northville Record.

If the republicans of Washtenaw county desire success they must get together, and pull together. This idea of finding fault with the will of the majority is not good republican politics. The past must be buried and the future only looked to. A mistake made by any republican should not be eternally treasured up against him. A parent receives back his child though he may have erred many times. So the republican party cannot ostracize any one who believes in its principles and desires to act in its ranks. The success of republican principles is the first thing for republicans to look to, personal feelings should be cast aside in the coming campaign.

The assassination of President Carnot belongs to the new class of political crimes that have been perpetrated within the last half of this century. The killing of Henry IV. by Ravallac and the Prince of Orange by Balthazar Gerard, were acts of religious fanaticism. The assassins of two American presidents were not actuated by the motives of the anarchists. The various attempts upon the life of Napoleon III. by Orsini and later by the emissaries of Mazzini, were largely personal, intended to express antagonism to a policy rather than a social condition. But the killing of President Carnot was aimed as a blow at society, law, and government. It was the act of a class of men who think that they possess an absolute specific for doing away with all the ills of life, and they can only put it in practice by first entirely demolishing the present structure of society. These new motives for criminal deeds, can not gain a great foothold among the Anglo-Saxons, and those nations will surely rise and crush all such foreign ideas out of their body politic.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills, assist digestion, prevent constipation.

A SHREWD SCHEME.

An attempt is being made by certain democrats to again cheat the laboring man in a political way. Whether that great body of American citizens will again allow itself to be deceived and slaughtered, remains to be seen.

Thousands of workmen who believed the falsehoods told them by the democrats two years ago and voted the democratic ticket have had good reason to see the folly of the course they pursued then. Many of these men had been republicans. By appeals to class prejudice the democratic orators succeeded in making them believe that the republicans were their enemies; that republican laws were enacted in the interest of the rich, and that the government had been administered by republicans in the interest of the same class. They were told that they would have more work and better wages, and, in fact, that there would be a general improvement in their condition if the democrats won the election of 1892.

Not one of the promises made to the workmen by the democrats two years ago has been fulfilled. Never before has the condition of labor been worse than during the last year and a half, under democratic administration of both the executive and legislative branches of the government. The workmen have good reason to be disgusted with democracy, and it cannot be expected that they will support the party of false pretenses and broken promises at the coming election.

The democratic labor leaders realize this fact. That is why they are coming out in favor of "independent" action at the polls or as advocates of the principles to which the populists adhere. These democratic labor leaders hope to hold the disgusted democratic workmen in line and prevent their voting with the republicans, and at the same time they expect to draw away from the republican party to the populist organization enough republican workmen to offset the votes of those who are sure to leave the democratic party.

A child, upon putting its fingers into the fire and getting them burned, has sufficient wisdom not to put its fingers in the blaze a second time. Do our democratic brethren think the laboring men of this nation are not equally intelligent?

They will not follow into the pit of destruction the second time.

If the young man who manufactures political dispatches in the Detroit Evening News office, out of his own brain, and then credits them to country correspondents, will cease that sort of work, and allow correspondents who are right on the ground and know what they are talking about, to send their own dispatches, he will not only get better information, but more truthful statements, save that paper's correspondents from being placed in very annoying and sometimes very embarrassing positions, and what is still more important, he will be doing the Evening News a most admirable service.

The House has had to bow to the will of the Senate at last, and the Senate bill, which with a few notable exceptions is about the same as the McKinley bill, will become a law, and the tariff controversy ended. Mr. Crisp, the Speaker of the House, is said to have brought it about, and yet in a speech this gentleman asserted that the bill was in the interest of the sugar trust which would make $40,000,000 by its passage. And he a patriot and American citizen, and advise such a steal from the pockets of the poor people of this nation! The McKinley bill gave the people free sugar, this bill gives them tariff that means not only dearer sugar, but sugar which every poor man who eats it must pay tribute to the great sugar trust for the privilege. It is one of the most gigantic jobs ever saddled upon the American people.

Will they resent it? Wait and see!

Writing With Milk.

In the course of a trial in France last year a letter was read from a man named Turpin, a chemist, under sentence of five years' imprisonment as a spy, giving directions to a friend with a view to establishing a secret correspondence with him while in prison. This led to an official inquiry upon the subject by the French authorities, and some strange revelations were obtained from some of the convicts.

It appears that when information has to be conveyed to a prisoner a formal letter, containing apparently nothing but a few trivial facts of a personal nature, is forwarded to the governor, who stamps it, and allows it to be handed on to the man to whom it is addressed. The latter, however, is aware that there is another letter to be read within the lines, this being written in milk, and being easily decipherable on being rubbed with a dirty finger.—Chamber's Journal.

The Fun That Adam Missed.

That Adam was a lonely man I'm ready to believe, Although his many days were blest Of the light; West-Ever's best-Ever; By maiden aunts and cousins fair The man was never kissed, And thus I often think about The fun that Adam missed.

It seems to me his life was like An ever-repeated dream, He never treated girls and paid Three dollars for ice cream; He never, when a little boy, By grown-up girls was kissed; And when he died he never knew The fun that Adam missed.

He never went securely And had the note to pay; He never saw his bank's cashier Steal gracefully away; In all his life he never yet A mother-in-law was kissed; But why go on and "numerate The fun that Adam missed?

Perhaps, if he were living now— But, then, why speculate? He'd be too old and not inclined To play with little fide. For centuries they wanton winds His unknown grave have kissed; Perhaps he sleeps the better for The fun that he has missed.

—New Mood.

Over at East Jordan early last Friday morning when the sky was clear, the sun was surrounded by a large circle, resembling the circles often seen around the moon, except that the inside of the circle was spotted and speckled with flakes of cloud. The peculiar phenomenon has mystified the people not a little, the superstitious seeing in it a fore-shadowing of the end of the world. "Jordan am a hard road to travel" and this sure sign of a storm will not bring the world to an end.

Prickly Lettuce.

HISTORY.

This plant is one of the most vigorous weeds that has ever appeared in our state. During the past few years it has spread from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Soon after the close of the war of the rebellion this weed was introduced to this country from Europe and was first observed growing in waste places near Cambridge, Mass. Traveling rapidly westward it reached Ohio in 1878. In 1882 it was noticed in Detroit, reaching Owosso in 1887 and Grand Rapids the next year.

During the past six years this weed has spread throughout the whole western states, and now from its strongholds in the cities and villages it is invading farming communities.

Prickly Lettuce is the wild parent of our cultivated lettuce and in its native land has never shown any of the vicious tendencies it is now exhibiting in the land of its adoption. Here it seems to want the earth, and has evidently come to stay. From numerous inquiries lately received by the station in regard to this plant, it seems that possibly many people fear that this weed is the dreaded Russian Thistle. However, there is no record that this western pest, which is in no respect like Prickly Lettuce, has ever been seen east of Lake Michigan.

DESCRIPTION.

Prickly Lettuce is an annual plant from two to five feet high with numerous slender branches towards the upper part of the stiff, solid stem which when broken or cut pours out a milky juice. The bluish green leaves have a row of prickles or bristles on the under side, along the midrib and by a twist near the base, assume a verticle position by which the plant may be easily recognized. Flowers are yellow in small heads generally appearing late in July producing from twelve to twenty flat, brown black, rigid seeds, having parachute like attachments by which the wind is able to carry them a long distance.

REMEDY.

Cut the plants close to the ground early in July before the blossoms appear. New branches will immediately spring up from the cut stems so that repeated cuttings must be made later in the season.

It is not probable that this pest will ever prove troublesome in meadows or in well tilled fields, but in all waste places, especially in vacant lots in cities and villages, it will become a continually increasing nuisance unless speedily stamped out.—Michigan Experiment Station.

How He Worked It.

He voted for his candidate from early morn till night; He was ever in the thickest and the quickest of the fight; He followed up the battle till his man was out of sight— But he always got his money in the morning.

He whooped up all the voters from the country far and near; He furnished them with mountain dew and drowned them out with beer, And the candidate was "boosted" till he read his title clear. But he always got his money in the morning. —Atlanta Constitution.

The Army Worm.

The northern part of our State has suffered considerably this season from a raid on meadows and grain fields by the army worm. It came too late to do much harm to wheat, rye and barley; but oats, corn and timothy fed the armies wherever found. Potatoes were untouched, peas sown with oats were left while the oats were eaten, and clover in timothy was left. The true army worm seldom, if ever, touches the foliage of trees or shrubs. There are many invasions of insects known as the army worm, but this is the only real army worm, and is known scientifically as Leucania unipuncta. It may be recognized by the general dingy black color with the following longitudinal stripes: On the back is a broad dusky stripe with a narrow white line in the center; below this is a narrow black line, then follows, in the order named, a narrow white line, a yellowish stripe, a faint white line, a dusky stripe, a narrow white line, a yellowish stripe, and an obscure white line; the belly is a dirty green.

The army worms change but little in color through their entire growth. When fully grown they are about one and one-half inches long. They then bury themselves in the ground, when they finish feeding, and a few days later transform to a chrysalis, or pupa. They will remain in this condition until the last of August or first of September, when they will appear as a reddish brown moth, similar to the dingy moths flying around the lights at night. These moths do not feed on the plants, but mate; and a few days later the female will commence laying eggs on the grass in meadows, pastures and especially waste places, such as marshes and "cat holes." The moths soon die. The eggs remain over winter, and the next spring hatch out into small army worms that feed and grow just as their predecessors did.

The army worm caterpillars and moths may be found in limited numbers almost any season, but it is only an occasional season when they march out from their usual feeding ground, the marshes, and strip the surrounding fields of their growing crops. A dry season, such as that of last year, is very favorable for them to increase rapidly and soon to spread outside of the marshes on surrounding grass, when tender food becomes scarce. If people with marshes on or near their farms would take the trouble to burn the marshes over at any convenient time through the fall, they would burn most of the eggs, and so prevent what might result in an army worm invasion the next year.

The prospects are that there will be no general invasion next year. There are a great many parasites, such as the "blow flies" and slender bee-like parasites that lay their eggs on the army worms. The eggs hatch into a maggot that feeds on the army worm, destroys it, and later changes into a parasite-like its parent. If the parasites have done as good work in all the states as in the regions visited by myself, and we do not have a dry autumn, there will be little danger of an attack next year, as nearly every caterpillar collected has been killed by some parasite.

When an army worm invasion occurs, the best thing that can be done is to trap the caterpillars in ditches. When they start from their breeding ground it is in some certain direction, and few obstructions stop them, or change their course. If they come to a building, they climb up over it, down on the other side, and continue on their journey. If it is a brook, they bridge it with their numbers and pass on, or perish in the attempt. When they come to a ditch, they drop into it and attempt to climb up the other side, but if it is properly constructed, they will keep dropping back because of the loose soil near the top. When the ditch is well covered, kerosene may be poured along in it and ignited, or straw put in the ditch and burned. Another method is to plow or cut another ditch in front of the first ditch, and bury the ones in the first ditch, and so continue ditching ahead of them. When the army is once in a field, little can be done to stop their ravages, except by burning the field or rolling with a heavy roller.

HE WANTED THAT NAIL.

Believing It Responsible for Tears and Swears She Was After It.

This is a woman's age, and a business man who knows says there is positively nothing she will not undertake. He was lounging in his office the other day when a well-dressed, comely little woman appeared. She wore a resolute expression in addition to other apparel and in her hand she carried a large tack-raiser.

"Good morning," she said, winningly. "Is this Mr. Cash's office? Will you please tell me which chair it is that has that nail in it?"

The business man was confused—the nice little woman was a total stranger to him. He answered mildly: "What chair? What nail?"

"Why," she exclaimed, "my husband has come home three times recently with dreadful holes in his coat and trousers, and he said he tore them on a chair in your office. I'm about tired darning and patching those rents and thought it would be more sensible and satisfactory to come down here, pull the nail out and be done with it. Don't you think so?"

Still in a trance the merchant agreed with her, found the offending chair, extracted the nail and with many thanks and smiles the enterprising little woman withdrew.

Mackerel Wearing a Rubber Band.

A mackerel with a rubber band—a sort of primitive corset—around its body has caused much comment at Gloucester, Mass. The band had evidently been put on him when he was small, and had stayed there in spite of its rapid growth. Under the band the fish's body had not grown, and the depression was about three inches deep. The band was sound and flexible, and the fish was in a healthy condition.

It is the recognized State agricultural organ. It contains matter written by educated successful agriculturalists, who are practical farmers, live stock breeders, horticulturalists and dairymen of this state. It gives all the agricultural, live stock, dairy and horticultural news of this state. It publishes full and reliable markets from all the important points where Michigan farmers sell their products. It reaches every postoffice in the state within twelve hours after it is printed. Its editors and correspondents are Michigan men, thoroughly in earnest in their desire to advance, protect and improve the agricultural interests of this state. It is filled with original paid for matter expressly for it. It is first-class in every particular, its publishers sparing no expense to make it the equal of any agricultural paper of America. It admits no immoral, snide or swindling advertisements. It is a weekly of 52 issues a year—64 columns in each issue—and is furnished at the lowest possible price that such a paper can be published at; and last and greatest—because it is many times more valuable and instructive to the agriculturalists of Michigan than any agricultural paper published outside of the state.

Nothing Strange.

Intelligent people, who realize the important part the blood holds in keeping the body in a normal condition, find nothing strange in the number of diseases Hood's Sarsaparilla is able to cure. So many troubles result from impure blood, the best way to treat them is through the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla vitalizes the blood.

The lateral sewers ought to be commenced at once if it is expected that anything can be accomplished this fall. The $35,000 that Ann Arbor has laid in the ground from the Huron river to the 6th ward is drawing interest all the time, and no sewage is being drawn from the city by it.

Call at the Courier office or at the Farmers and Mechanics Bank and get a premium list for the county fair, Sept. 25-28.

Sunday's News-Tribune gave a cut and fine write up of the Columbian organ now being put in position in University Hall.

If there is anything you don't know about the Washtenaw county fair to be held on Sept. 25-28 that you want to know or ought to know, just ask F. Elmer Mills, the secretary, and find out.

The Courier has commenced work upon the catalogue of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity. It will be a work of 1,000 pages, and will be gotten up in the very best style of the printer's art.

There is much regret expressed by many of our citizens over the resignation of John W. Bennett as justice of the peace. He made an excellent official and the people generally are sorry that he gave up the office.

Sidewalk grades make a great deal of trouble for the city engineer and board of public works. There are often serious objections brought by residents along streets where the grade has to be raised or lowered, but the board appears to stand its ground pretty well.

The corner stone for the new English Lutheran church, at the corner of S. Fifth ave. and E. William st., is to be laid next Sunday. To which exercises the public are invited. The foundation walls of this edifice are said to be extremely fine, in fact the workmen claim them to be the very best in the city.

Ann Arbor has the double barreled system of taxation, the city tax coming in July, and the state and county in December. The July assessment has all been paid but $24,000. The total levy was $24,560.—Adrian Press.

The Press did not secure its figures from a reliable source. The total assessment is $46,000.

The Petoskey Daily Resorter had this item, in a recent issue: "Rev. Dr. Camden M. Coburn, of the First Methodist church, of Ann Arbor, occupied the pulpit of the M. E. church Sunday morning. He preached from Deut. 31:32, defining the difference between the agnostic and the Christian. He related a great deal of personal experience with noted infidels. His sermon appealed to students and was spoken of as a splendid effort."

Mrs. Augusta Otto died at her home on E. Washington st., last Thursday, Aug. 9th, aged 54 years, after an extended illness. Mrs. Otto had followed the millinery business here in Ann Arbor for nine years, and for 31 years previous to that had followed the same business in Germany. She was an industrious woman and had made many friends since coming to Ann Arbor to reside.

Attorney General Ellis has given it as his opinion that where butter, eggs meat and other produce are sold from wagons, the seller is liable to the peddler's license fee. This would make a great commotion among the farmers and garden truck raisers, should this construction of the law be enforced. It is evident from the above opinion that Attorney General Ellis is not a candidate for reelection.

Jacob Ganzhorn, L. Gruner and Chas. Clark, are the commissioners for the city in respect to the peach yellows disease, and Mr. Ganzhorn has been appointed by them to take care of the city. He has been investigating, and reports finding it very bad, there being over 100 different places that he has already visited where he finds trees effected.

The law is very explicit in regard to the duties of these officers and the people notified must obey the order and take out the trees. If they do not they are subject to a fine of $100 and three months' imprisonment for selling the fruit, and if they neglect taking out the trees, the city must take them out and the expense thereof will be charged up as taxes. For the benefit of everybody we publish the state law respecting the yellows and black knot.

President L. D. Wines is now a temporary resident of the glorious 4th ward. He is living at 91 E. Huron st. until his new house on Tappan Park is completed.

The state militia went to Island Lake yesterday. There is no doubt but the boys will deport themselves like old veterans when the battles shall be fought.

The University campus looks like an entrenched camp with trenches shooting out from the center citadel in every direction. There is some tall hustling being done by contractors.

The street railway is to be equipped with six closed cars and two open trailers which will be here in a few days now. Mr. Sweet proposes to have the tracks all cleaned, ready for business, this week. The people of the city are certainly rejoicing over the prospects.

A slick sort of a tramp sneaked a watch from the office of Dr. J. A. Dell, on E. Huron st., Monday evening, and has been shrewd enough to keep out of the claws of the officers, so far. He talked horse to the Dr. and passed himself off as a respectable dealer in equines.

President Henry C. Waldron writes us that all the nominees for Governor of the several political parties in Michigan will be present at the Annual Basket Picnic of the Farmers Picnic Association of Washtenaw, Wayne, Oakland and Livingston counties, to be held at Whitmore Lake, Washtenaw county, on Saturday, August 25. Each will make a short address to be followed by an appropriate campaign song.

Daily Resorter, Aug. 13: "Ann Arbor people are to have a social this afternoon at 3 o'clock. There won't be any ice cream and cake but something better will be served. The people from the University city will meet at Evelyn hall and proceed thence to Hitchcock hall, where Dr. Camden M. Coburn will show the Egyptian collection to the visitors, giving a running lecture at the same time."

The name of Michael Staebler's hotel, heretofore known as the Germania, will hereafter be called the American. It is being thoroughly overhauled and repaired, and when the workmen get through with it will be as good as new. Mr. E. E. Hallett, who is to be the clerk and general assistant, is of the class of young men known as hustlers, and will make the guests who stop there as comfortable as is possible for any one to make them. The traveling public can rest assured that the new American will be a delightful place for them to put up.

The museum building at Ann Arbor is to have a new roof. The Hansfreund suggests that the whole be torn down and rebuilt, as it is the most miserable and weakest of the lot. That is saying a great deal, but it is probably the truth, as there is not a building on the campus that can be considered a model of excellence. —Ypsilanti Sentinel.

And so it goes. When it is not the University curriculum its something that President Angell has said, and when it isn't that, its the buildings. Verily, nothing good can come out of Nazareth,—according to the Sentinel.

Zenas Sweet has the contract for cleaning the street car tracks, and proposes to have the work done on time. It is thought that the material for other repairs will be here by the time that is cleaned, and that travel in Ann Arbor by street car service will soon be commenced again. When the cars start again there will be enough of them so that the service will be better, and on time. The making of a loop line as proposed will also do away with a great deal of the unpleasant waiting on switches. The new management proposes to have things done in a business manner.

Probably one of the best publications, that is one that attracts the most attention, ever gotten out in Ann Arbor is the little 12-page publication called The Hard Times. It is published monthly by Jas. R. Bach and W. H. Butler, of the Bach Real Estate and Insurance Agency, No. 16 E. Huron st., and has much in it that people are interested in. If you are in need of rooms, house, or farm, it tells you all about what you desire to find out. You can learn of some excellent opportunities to exchange property also, in fact there is nothing in the line of bargains that is forgotten. The circulation is 3,000. Get one and read it.

Hon. Samuel G. Ives, who died at his home in Chelsea last week Friday, was at one time a very prominent man in the state, and one of the best known men in this section. He resided for many years in Unadilla, and was the first republican ever elected to the legislature from Livingston county. He occupied a high place in the councils of his party, and was esteemed by thousands of people who knew him. His death will be sincerely regretted by many people outside of his immediate family, to whom will be extended the condolence of the community in their loss. Mr. Ives, while a man of decided convictions, was a pleasant and genial gentleman, and made everybody feel that he was their friend. He was one of the pioneers of the state which he had seen develop from a wilderness into a great and wealthy commonwealth. He fought a good fight and left a name behind him that will long be remembered and honored.

On Wednesday night last, a young man named John Butler, who had been in the employ of Snow's livery stable for some time, died very suddenly in McNally's saloon, on N. Main st. The facts of the case appear to be that he came into the saloon under the influence of liquor, and was very abusive to young Tony Schiappacasse, who was engaged in a game of cards, and finally got into a scuffle with him. Schiappacasse hit Butler a blow which knocked him down, and he never got up, dying within ten minutes thereafter. Martin Clark, coroner, summoned a jury, a post-mortem was held and a verdict returned that Butler came to his death by the bursting of a blood vessel while fighting with Schiappacasse. Those who witnessed the row do not appear to blame Schiappacasse, and do not think that the blow he struck could have produced death. Prosecuting Attorney Kearney ordered the release of Schiappacasse, who had given himself up, last Saturday, on the ground that there was no evidence to convict.

Our First Mistake!

Our second purchase was altogether too large, and the inclement weather has left us with too many goods. There is but one way to unload and that is to put the price within reach of all our customers. We have been selling goods at small profits the entire season and from now on margins will cut no figure. ### A Jumper.

He jumped out of bed and jumped into his shoes.
He jumped for the paper that had the day's news;
When breakfast was o'er he jumped, quick as a cat,
For his big outside coat and his every day hat.
He jumped on the car that was going down town,
And he jumped to shake hands with his neighbor, Miss Brown;
He jumped from the car when the office was reached,
And he jumped with alarm when the fire whistle screamed.
He jumped into harness to do his day's work,
And never was known one small duty to shirk;
When doing his work, if folks into him bumped,
He stopped not to argue, but over them jumped.
He jumped at each chance that the day brought to him,
To enlarge and expand his wallet's bright rim.
And when he got through at the end of the day,
He jumped on the car that was going his way.

His wife and his children jumped at his return,
To greet him and all the day's triumphs to learn;
And when the last prayer and good night had been said,
Year in year out he jumped into bed.
—Albany Evening Journal.

An Impression.

John Kendrick Bange, in Harper's Weekly.
DEBS!
A splendid rhyme for "Rebs!"
It always has occurred to me
In writing—well, say poetry—
That there were words—
Quite up to time.
But Debs,
When rhymed with Rebs,
Seems wondrous sensible,
So reprehensible
Is Debs.
It goes with ebs,
Which shows a tendency
For the ascendancy
Of Government o'er Debs.
Dear Debs doth show
Not in the flow;
Contrariwise, the tide is low
For Debs.
We're on the brink,
Some people think,
Of anarchy,
But as for me
I don't believe it. I'll confess
It sometimes seems so in the press.
The populists
Would like to govern with their fists;
But on the whole, from Texas up to Maine,
The anarchist's distinctly on the wane.
From Florida to far off Idaho
The teachings of the tribe have little go;
And we've enough of people with prepense
For decent living and for solid sense
To save the land, including Pennsylvania
Some people write it "dispo"; 'I'm too dense
I must admit to see much difference.

The Printer's "Devil" Jim.

He was the "devil"—that boy, Jim;
Couldn't do anything good with him;
Rough and ragged, for mischief ripe;
Trailing errands and disturbing type;
Pelling the neighbors on their heads
With brand new "furniture," "slugs," and "leads."
From early morning to evening dim;
He was "devil"—that boy, Jim.
Editor whined him all no good!
Head as hard as a stick of wood;
Just burst out in a loud "Hooryay!"
And went right on in his don't-care way.
But once—when the train was passing by,
And the editor's child on the track—Oh, my!
Jim—he rushed with his same don't-care
Right in front of the engine there!
Child was saved, but where was Jim?
With flaming lanterns they looked for him,
While the people trembled and held their breath.
Under the engine, crushed to death!
There in the dust and grime he lay—
Jim . . . he had given his life away!
Not much need of their tears for him;
"He was an angel—that boy, Jim!"
—Frank L. Stanton.

What Manner of College to Select.

I believe, says Thomas Davidson, in the July Forum, that most boys who find themselves in a position to do so, will go to college. Nor will they be wrong in doing so; for, notwithstanding all the drawbacks of our colleges; their want of definite and ideal; their half medieval, half-professional curricula; the dry, uninspiring formalism and useless erudition of much of the teaching; the easy philistinism of dreary pessimism of many of the older teachers, the pert, callow Germanism of many of the younger ones; the boyishness of many of the students; their smug foppishness and stupid devotion to half-brutal games and half-silly girls, —notwithstanding all this and much more, there are elements in college life which the youth who aims at free manhood cannot afford to overlook. It is at college that the young man who by discipline, study, and travel has attained self-control, an earnest view of life, and a large generous outlook, can best put these qualities to a practical test, by mingling with free and easy terms, with men of his own age entering into intimate relations with them, and comparing their aims with his own. He is now old enough to have definite views and purposes, but not too old to learn how they must be modified in order to be serviceable in the actual world.
And nowhere can he learn this sooner or better than at college. It is natural enough to suppose that the value of college life is due to what is done in the solitary study and in the class-room, whereas in truth it is due mainly to the social and friendly relations which the students establish with each other.

Accordingly, the wise parent, in trying to select a school or college for his son, will ask first, not where the most learned professors are (still less, of course, where the best baseball team is, or where the most millionaires congregate), but where the tone of social life is purest and man-liest; where the young men behave neither as young monkeys nor as rakes; where the conditions for complete moral autonomy are most fully established. At the same time he will ask what college best understands its business,—which is to impart that culture, intellectual and moral, which is essential to free manhood, and does not attempt to forestall the university by dabbling in professional knowledge or erudition.

The Spelling Match.

Ten little children standing in a line,
"F-a-l-l-y, fully," then there were nine.
Nine puzzled faces, fearful of their fate,
"C-i-l-l-y, silly," then there were eight.
Eight pairs of blue eyes, bright as stars of heaven,
"B-u-s-s-y, busy," then there were seven.
Seven grave heads, shaking in an awful fix,
"L-a-l-l-y, lady," then there were six.
Six eager darlings, determined each to strive,
"D-u-t-l-e, duty," then there were five.
Five hearts so anxious, beating more and more,
"S-c-o-l-l-a-r, scholar," then there were four.
Four mouths like rosebuds on a red rose tree,
"M-e-r-r-y, merry," then there were three.
Three pairs of pink ears, listening keen and true,
"O-n-l-y, only," then there were two.
Two sturdy laddies, ready both to run,
"T-u-r-k-y, turkey," then there was one.
One head of yellow hair, bright in the sun,
"H-e-r-o, hero," the spelling match was won.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

[OFFICIAL.]

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS,
ANN ARBOR, AUGUST 1, 1894.
Regular session.
Called to order by President Keech.
Roll called.
Present—Messrs. Keech and Schuh.
Absent—Mr. Clark.

A communication from Miss Martha
W. Ladd, asking that the time be extended for building sidewalk at her place, until September 1st, 1894, on account of being absent from the city until the above date. The Street Commissioner was directed to examine the walk and report to the Board in what condition the walk is in.

City Engineer Key submitted profile and grade for South State street, along the east side from Monroe to Hill streets.

On motion the grade was approved and recommend to the council for adoption.

City Engineer Key submitted a report and profile of street center and gutters on parts of Church and Willard streets and East University avenue relative to the surface drainage of East University avenue, there being necessary to move about 2200 yards of earth and that the appropriation of $450 will be necessary to put the streets mentioned in proper condition.

On motion of Mr. Keech the report was accepted and recommended submitted to the Council.

Mr. Key asked permission for Mr.
Edwards to cut Washington street for the purpose of connecting with the High School sewers.

By Mr. Keech.
Resolved, That Mr. Edwards be allowed to cut Washington street for the purpose of connecting with the High School sewers, provided permission is given him by the School Board of District No. 1, and that this permission for connecting with the High School sewer does not exempt Mr. Edwards from the lateral sewer tax.

Adopted as follows:
Yeas—Messrs. Keech and Schuh.
The street and sewer bills for the month of July were read and audited by the Board, and their payment recommended to the Common Council.

Sidewalk Inspector Sutherland reported that he had personally inspected the following sidewalks which are in want of repairs:

On William street, in front of the property of Mrs. M. A. Clancy and Wm. H. Clancy.
On Fourth avenue and Packard st.
at the property of Miss Cornelia F.
Kerr.

On the east side of Thayer street, in front of the property of the Lucy W.
S. Morgan.

On the corner of Huron and Ingalls streets, at the property of Mary Fitzgerald estate.

On the corner of William and Division streets, at the property of Elum S.
Worren.

On the north side of Kingsley street, at the property of A. R. Schmidt.

On motion of Mr. Keech, the Street Commissioner was ordered to take the necessary steps to cause the sidewalks to be put in good repair.

On motion the Board adjourned.
W. J. MILLER, Clerk.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS,
ANN ARBOR, MICH., AUG. 8, 1894.

Regular session.
Called to order by Pres. Keech.
Roll Called. Present, Messrs. Keech, Schuh and Clark.

Minutes of the previous meeting
read and approved.

The petition and protest of property owners in the vicinity of S. State street, which was referred to this Board by the Common Council, asking that the proposed grade as fixed by the City Engineer, on and along the east side of S. State street from Monroe to Hill streets, be modified so as not to damage the property along the said street.

The petition was received and filed and the Board agreed to examine the proposed grade Friday next at 9 o'clock
a. m.

Two young men from the North side, representing the I. O. G. T. lodge, asked permission to use 5th Ward Engine House Hall for a lodge room.
The matter was referred to the Street Commissioner for investigation and report.

The petition referred to the Board of Public Works by the Common Council of property owners in the vicinity of Washtenaw Ave. between S. University Ave. and Hill street, asking that the grade be re-established and a new grade fixed substantially as it now is, since the recent levelling and filling at the property of Mr. Coon.

By Mr. Keech:
Resolved, That this Board does not recommend a change of sidewalk grade in front of Mr. Coon's residence on Washtenaw avenue, as referred to by your honorable body for the following reasons: The grade was acted on by the Sidewalk Committee of a former Council, who with the City Engineer and members of this Board, inspected the grade before it was approved by them, or this Board.

Adopted as follows:
Yeas—Messrs. Keech and Clark.
Mr. Schuh was excused from voting.
On motion the Clerk was directed to advertise for sealed bids for the replanking of the Sixth Ward Engine House floor according to specifications on file in this office, bids to be received up to an including August 22d, 1894, at 7 o'clock p. m.

By Mr. Clark:
Resolved, That a blue printing frame and apparatus pertaining thereto be purchased for the Engineer's office.

Adopted as follows:
Yeas—Messrs. Keech and Clark.
On motion the board adjourned.

W. J. MILLER,
Clerk.

Objects of the Y. M. C. A.

The preamble of our constitution reads thus: "Actuated by a desire to stimulate interest in evangelical religion among the young women of the city and vicinity, and to improve their intellectual, social and physical condition by means of an association for young women . . ."

There are several words in this that we need to study. The first is evangelical. To sum up briefly the definition as given by the national convention of the Y. W. C. A. those are evangelical who believe that the Bible furnishes the only safe guide in life and that only through the Lord Jesus Christ can we be saved. (Acts iv:10-12.) "Religion" doesn't mean going to church, or even speaking in prayer meeting. It may and does mean this, but it also means much more. In James 1:27 we have the Bible definition—religion means that which will enable us to walk through the world busy with good things and keeping away from evil. Look it up and see if that isn't just what it says.

"Intellectual." Christ's own words are, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul and with all thy mind." The more capable we are the more we can do, the better our minds are trained the better we can plan the work we have to do, the more we know the more we shall be able to accomplish. We ought to give God the very best that we can be. "Social." "He that hath friends must show himself friendly." Does that simply mean that if we are not friendly we won't have friends? I don't believe that. It seems to me that it means something like this, "If you have friends and enjoy them be friendly to someone who hasn't so many, perhaps, as you have. Share your good times with someone else. Now we hope this will be a "ride and tie" society (I'll tell you what that means some other time), a friendly sisterhood, a place where we shall meet on common ground, where each shall give and each shall get something good and pleasant and real."

"Physical." Christ brought strength and health to so many sufferers while he was on earth that at last we have gotten the thought "of a duty to be well." The day is past when a saint is a pale hermit, living in a cave or cell, and eating bread and water. Nowadays a saint is oftenest one who is out and about the Father's business and a strong body is a very useful factor in the work. Rom. xii:1 says it is a "living sacrifice" that is wanted. One who is full of life and health can carry sunshine and cheer about with them and bring it into the lives of other people. That is why the association makes so much of physical culture, talks on "How to keep well," etc., etc.

There are duties connected with the association. It wouldn't be good for anything if there were not. It is the duty of the active member to extend the work, reaching out after those who don't come of themselves, to assist in what we are trying to do. Some can give money, some can give time, some can give enthusiastic interest. One can bring in new members, another can help in the devotional meetings, another can make or give something to help furnish our room, someone else can be hostess in that room for certain afternoons or evenings. Everyone can do, or give, or be something to help along. We are to seek out young women who may not attend church and induce them to go, young women who may not have friends here or who may need better ones, and show them what a friend a Christian woman can be, young women who do not have a home here and give them a touch of home around that cosy tea table we're going to have in our rooms. We are to become personally helpful to each other in all possible ways.

We have committees who have been at work these past weeks and with good results. The prospect is that very soon we shall be settled in our association home, for those furnishing many things have already been given, and towards whose support a number of "sustaining members" have generously pledged themselves. We plan evening classes (of which a list of subjects will soon be offered), pleasant class socials being one feature of these, and parlor talks by those who are well fitted to both teach and entertain by them.

Resolutions Adopted by the Colored People.

We, the colored people of Ann Arbor and vicinity, after due deliberation, have resolved that:

Whereas, The statements made in the daily paper of the city referring to the recent affair on the Boulevard and attempting to implicate some colored person or persons in the disgrace attaching to the same, were made, not only in the face of the most conflicting testimony, but in terms expressive rather of race hatred than crime hatred. And

Whereas, These unfriendly statements, accepted by the public in a community more than fifteen-sixty years white, cannot fail to affect to a greater or lesser degree, the whole of this smaller number. Therefore we have

Resolved, That while we stand always ready to be the last to shield, the first to denounce the guilty person of whatever race, we do deeply deplore the lack of honesty and justice that could prompt such an arraignment, utterly unfair and unaccompanied by later retraction and do condemn the spirit of malevolence exhibited in the use of terms intended to express contempt and race hatred. And we ask of a Christian community on this and future occasions the withholding of hasty judgment and censure born of prejudice, till at least sufficient evidence has been obtained to warrant it.

A "New Eng and Primer."

A short time ago there appeared an article in the Detroit Free Press stating that there were only two copies of the original edition of the "New England Primer" in the state and that they are valued at $75 each. Justice Childs, of this city has one which has been handed down in his family for a number of generations. It is a small book about 2x3 inches in size and contains perhaps 40 pages. The cover is of board crudely protected by a leather outside covering. The illustrations in the work look as if they had been chopped out of wood with an axe, but the letters are very distinct. The title page announces the book to be "The New England Primer, Or an Easy and Pleasant Guide to the Art of Reading, Adorned with Cuts to which is added the Catechism.—New England: Printed for the BOOK SELLERS." It then starts out with the alphabet, the single and double vowels and consonants, one syllable words, two syllable words, and so on until the catechism is given. There is nothing in this primer about "This is a rat. Is the rat fat? No, the rat is not fat, but it will fat the cat. Seat, cat! Rats!" which the children of the present generation have to indulge in. It goes directly to work to teach morals. It is a valuable keepsake and one which cannot be purchased.—Daily Times.

John Eisele Had a Lively Ride.

Last night at about 9 o'clock John Eisele had a runaway which might have been extremely serious. His horse became frightened at something and came tearing down Ann st. at a 2-minute clip. Mr. Eisele was thrown out of the buggy in front of Chas. Vogel's meat market and dragged to the corner of Main st., where he became untangled, and laid until assistance came. The horse ran into a lamp post on the corner and the left front tire became tired and stayed behind, while the spokes went along with the race. The lines became entangled in the wheel and the horse came to a standstill on the east side of the court house. Dr. Kapp was called and had Eisele removed to his home, where he is attending him. He is resting easily this morning considering the way he was banged up. Further than losing a couple of teeth and being cut in the face he is not injured badly. As the horse was making his circuit around the court house square he met the militia company, but as the boys did not have their bayonets on they had to run and a regular stampede was created in the ranks.—Daily Times, Saturday, Aug. 11.

Return of the Singers.

The Harugari and Lyra Singing Societies returned home from Bay City last evening. The T. & A. depot and platform were crowded with the friends of the Saengerfest favorites. The City Band was also in attendance and headed the procession to Germania hall, where Paul G. Suekey and others had an elaborate lunch spread for the boys. It will take the Lyra Society a long time to unload the compliments which were loaded on their broad shoulders by the different musical directors of this state and Canada and by the fairer sex, who were in attendance and forever talking about the singers of Ann Arbor with white suits.

Among the musical directors who complimented the boys was Prof. Yunk, of Detroit, who said that the Lyra stood paramount.

Prof. Kempf is deserving of a great abundance of credit for the able manner in which he has instructed the Lyra and put them in the foremost rank of Michigan singing societies.

The following is a clipping from a Bay City paper: "The Lyra society, of Ann Arbor, composed of about 20 young men all dressed in duck suits, created a very favorable impression and their selection, 'Freihliche Fahrt,' by Pfeil, was encored. Their second selection was the University of Michigan college song, 'The Yellow and Blue,' which carried the house."—Daily Times, Saturday, Aug. 11.

A U. of M. Boy's Success.

The following from the Michigan Christian Advocate tells a good record of a gentleman formerly resident here:

Cincinnati has its Chautauqua assembly annually at Epworth Heights, within easy reach of the great city. The assembly has just closed, after a very successful and profitable four weeks. The assembly was under the superintendency of Prof. Willis Boughton, of Ohio University, to whose energy and efficiency the success of the session was largely due. The Western Advocate says of Prof. Boughton's work: "The superintendency of Professor Boughton was eminently satisfactory. His quiet, gentlemanly manner of conducting the exercises won the co-operation of everyone. At the closing exercises, on last Friday night, Bishop Walden proposed a series of resolutions highly complimentary to Professor Boughton, expressing the sentiments of the entire audience, as was proved by the unanimous vote in their adoption. The department of English, in charge of Professor Willis Boughton, of the Ohio University, was well patronized. A class in rhetoric continued through the assembly. A great amount of work was accomplished. A class for beginners in the study of English authors was early organized. In spite of the heat and the outside attractions, the reading continued until the close of the season. This was one of the most interesting classes of the assembly. Professor Boughton has rare ability in arousing enthusiasm among his pupils." Altogether, the assembly is pronounced the most successful ever held at Epworth Heights.

A Former Ann Arbor Man in Hard Luck.

The following from Buffalo to the Chicago Herald, relating to a former citizen of Ann Arbor, will be read with interest by all, and those who knew the subject of the dispatch will regret the blasting of a career of one whose rise and fall, from the zenith of success to the abyss of failure is its own great moral lesson:

"BUFFALO, Aug. 8.—H. H. Warner, of Rochester, the patent medicine man who made $7,000,000 out of the 'Log Cabin' remedies, which were so extensively advertised everywhere, has returned home from Europe penniless. He left the last of his fortune at Monte Carlo. Mr. Warner went to Europe about two months ago. He was supposed at that time to be nearly bankrupt. He had made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors and his beautiful house and observatory had been sold to help meet his indebtedness. His fall had been swift. He began to lose money with the earliest indications of the business depression, and his fortune was soon sliding away from him. Creditors got judgments, and being unable to realize on some of his investments he was helpless to avert the avalanche. When this was nearly over he took a European trip at the advice of his friends. It was his intention to try to float abroad the stock of a company organized for the manufacture of beet sugar. In this scheme he associated with him William Cannard, who, in Mr. Warner's days of prosperity, had drawn a salary of $7,000 a year as one of the advertising writers. By arrangement Mr. Warner met Mr. Cannard and Mrs. Cannard in Paris. They planned a pleasure trip to Monte Carlo. Mr. Warner could not resist the temptations there and soon lost the ready money he had with him. He secured a loan from Mr. Cannard and lost that playing a system. This left the party somewhat impaired for funds, but Mrs. Cannard stepped into the breach. She is a beautiful young woman who was in Mr. Warner's employ before her marriage, and she had a lot of splendid diamonds, some of which were the gifts of Mr. Warner and since her marriage, for he was generous to his employees. She went to one of the numerous pawnshops near Monte Carlo and pawned her diamonds for 10,000 francs, which she turned over to Mr. Warner to continue his system. Luck came his way, and when he left the bank at the end of his second day's play he had 60,000 francs; although at one time in the game his capital had been reduced to 1,600 francs. He gave an elaborate dinner that night to a few friends, and Mr. and Mrs. Cannard entreated him to go with them to Paris before he lost the money. He refused, saying that his success had proved his system, and next day found him in his seat at the Casino. He played three days and lost every franc. He raised enough money to get to Paris and there met an old friend, a Rochester business man, who gave him enough money to pay his passage home. He left Mr. and Mrs. Cannard in Paris. Mr. Warner has told the story of his play to his friends. He is confident that there are good things in store for him in the future and that he will be rich again.

Crop Report for August.

The following is received from the office of the Secretary of State: The estimates in this report are based on more than 1,050 returns received since August 1.

The average yield of wheat per acre as estimated on the first of this month is, in the southern counties 15.57 bushels; in the central counties 15.05 bushels, and in the northern counties 15.46 bushels. The average for the state is 15.47 bushels. Wheat is of excellent quality. Fully nine-tenths of the correspondents report the quality "good" or "average."

The total number of bushels of wheat reported marketed by farmers in July is 847,972, as compared with 541,857 reported marketed in July, 1893. The total number of bushels reported marketed in the twelve months, August-July, is 15,146,278, which is 843,931 bushels more than reported marketed in the same months last year.

Oats are estimated to yield 28 bushels per acre in the southern counties, and the state, 27 bushels in the central, and 23 bushels in the northern counties.

The average condition of corn is reported at 75 per cent in the southern counties, 88 in the central, and 89 in the northern counties. The average for the state is 80. One year ago the percentages were 91 for the southern and central, and 101 for the northern counties. The percentages for potatoes are, southern counties 68, central 79, northern 82, upper peninsula 77, and state 72.

Meadows and pastures, and clover sowed this year, are in poor condition. The percentages range from 66 to 77.

Apples promise 53 per cent of an average crop in the southern counties as compared with 21 per cent one year ago. In the central and northern counties, the outlook is for two-thirds of an average crop. One year ago the estimate for the central counties was 35 per cent, and for the northern 61 per cent.

Negro Superstitions.

We used to say of our servants: "Becky is going to cut up to-day. She fell down in a trance last night at a meeting and had to be carried out." And she did cut up. She was the nurse for four children and they had to keep away from her until she got over her fit. She was accused of being a conjurer, and a black negro named Luke swore out a warrant for her, and Tom Percy the "Squire," issued it, just to see what Luke could prove. He said that she made him sick in the back and kept him sick, and he handed the "Squire" a dime that she gave him for a chicken, and pointed out a spot on it that was the sign—the proof that she had conjured the money before she paid it to him. That was all.

"What do you wish done with her?" said I.

"She have to swaller de dime," he said, "and dat break de spell. I tried rabbit foot, and I bury lizard under de door, and I plant de ole mare's mane when de roosters crow for midnight, but it don't do no good. I is dyin' every day."

But Luke got well and Becky didn't swallow the dime, either.

One of my father's negro women got jealous of Minty, the cook, and determined to poison or conjure her to death. Minty got sick and my father told Juno to make her some chicken soup. She got from an old rag a red scorpion's head, a lizard's leg, a bat's wing, a beetle bug, and three or four centipedes, or thousand legs, as we call them, and the tail of a green snake, and had the horrible mess cooking in a saucepan, when my mother happened in to see how Minty was and took the top off the pan to look at the soup. Juno confessed that she had been gathering material for that soup a good while, and she wasn't much disturbed at the discovery. She declared that Minty had "cunjud" her husband and I reckon she had. So my father had to separate the families. Now, did Shakspeare get his witches' caldron and its venomous contents from the old Africans of England?

Fillet of a fenny snake, In the caldron boil and bake; Eye of newt and toe of frog; Wool of bat and tongue of dog; Adder's fork and blind worm sting; Lizard's leg and owlet's wing.
