REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION

The Largest and Most Enthusiastic Ever Held in the County.

That the republicans of Washtenaw county are alive and ready for action was well demonstrated last Thursday. There assembled at the court house in this city the largest convention ever held by the party. The full number of delegates were present from every township and ward, there not being one vacant seat. And the life and energy they put into the work denotes that they mean business, and that the chronic 1,000 democratic majority of old Washtenaw is a thing of the past.

It may be considered a little strong for some of our democratic friends, but the Courier predicts that every man nominated by the county convention last Thursday will be elected on the 6th day of November next, and we ask you to stick a pin in that prediction and fasten it to your hat where you can see it and read it on the morning of Nov. 7th.

The convention was called to order by Chairman Prettyman and Hon. Edward P. Allen, of Ypsilanti, was called to the chair. He opened the ball with a most excellent speech, reviewing the acts of the democratic party and comparing them with those of the republicans, and putting the cause of these hard, cheap labor, and nothing to do times where it rightfully belongs, on the shoulders of the democratic congress and democratic administration. It was a masterly effort and put the convention in the best of spirits.

N. D. Corbin, of Ann Arbor, was made secretary, and the following committees appointed:

Creditors—H. W. Newkirk, Seco; J. H. Kingsley, Manchester; H. S. Dean, Ann Arbor; F. C. Burkhardt, Saline; J. H. Campbell, Augusta.

Resolutions—E. F. Johnson, Ann Arbor; Wm. M. Osband, Ypsilanti; A. P. Freeman, Manchester; John Essig, Freedom; G. Hoyt, Lodi.

Permanent Organization and Order of Business—Jas. L. Gilbert, Chelsea; G. F. Allmendinger, Ann Arbor; Geo. Rawson, Bridgewater; I. B. Wortley, Ypsilanti; Chas. Canfield, Superior; G. S. Wheeler, Salem; Nathan Pierce, Lima.

The entrance of Gen. Geo. Spalding. Speeches were also made by Hons. A. J. Sawyer and H. W. Newkirk. The republican candidate for congress, was made the occasion of a great demonstration.

Adjournment was then had until 1:30 p. m.

Upon reassembling Gen. Spalding was introduced to the convention by Chairman Allen, and he proceeded to make a good speech, dwelling almost entirely upon the tariff and money issues. He said that this campaign was being fought out mainly on economic lines and it mattered little what party a man might be able to do he could now stand with the republicans on this important subject. If a person believed in sustaining the mechanics, the merchants and the working people of the old world, as against our own, then he should vote with the democratic party; if on the contrary, he was in favor of helping American mechanics, American merchants, and American laboring men, then he should vote the republican ticket. The General entered into an elaborate elucidation of the money question, telling why he was a bimetalist, and why it was necessary for this government to re-establish the old time ratio of the two metals, and maintain them, in order to make a sound, stable and enduring circulating medium that would deal justly by all its citizens alike.

After the General was through the business of the convention was then proceeded with. The temporary officers were made permanent, an order of business reported, and the following resolutions adopted:

Believing that the best interests of the people of our state and nation will be better subserved by returning the republican party to the control of affairs at Washington, therefore be it

Resolved, That we the republicans of Washtenaw county, in convention assembled, pointing with pride to the great achievements of that party in the past in so successfully managing the business of our country, hereby renew our pledges and our support to the principles of that party as enunciated in its state and national platforms.

We point also with no little pride and satisfaction to the political condition, so obvious and admitted that democracy is upon the defensive, a threat of disorganization, and if long demerits leaving its ranks by the thousand everywhere; and a contrary condition whereby every republican is aggressive, shouting and more firmly believing, than ever, its patriotic living principles for good; to that end, old Washtenaw proposes coming to the column of republican victories and successes in the approaching election.

To the gallant patriotic and true American, Gen. Geo. Spalding, we speak the good will and cheer of every republican in Washtenaw county. We commend him to the voters of this congressional district, regardless of past political affiliations as a safe counselor in matters of state and nation and as one who has attained no little success in the past in the various conditions of life, his advice may safely be sought and followed in times of our country's need and in the coming political battle for American supremacy. Further than that we pledge, to the tax-payers of this county if we are entrusted with the management of our county's affairs, a frugal and economical administration of the various offices.

Archie Wilkinson of Chelsea, J. H. Kingsley of Manchester, and W. K. Childs, of Ann Arbor, were appointed tellers, and all the officers of the convention sworn in.

A ballot was ordered for sheriff with the following result:

Wm. Judson, Chelsea, - - - - -	130
Wm. E. Stocking, Lima, - - - - -	52
George Clarken, Ann Arbor - - - - -	25
A. P. Ferguson, Ann Arbor - - - - -	12
	219

Mr. Judson was thereupon declared the unanimous nominee of the convention.

County clerk being the next in order, the first ballot resulted:

Wm. Dansingburg, Augusta - - - - -	57
Geo. H. Pond, Ann Arbor - - - - -	94
John Cook, York - - - - -	39
M. F. Case, Pittsfield - - - - -	27
	217

Mr. Case withdrew in favor of Mr. Dansingburg, and no choice being made, another ballot was ordered, resulting:

Dansingburg - - - - -	88
Pond - - - - -	85
Cook - - - - -	39
	212

There were seven ballots for C. P. McKinstry that were not counted, being in by mistake, making 219 cast.

Mr. Pond and Mr. Cook both withdrew their names, and left the field to Mr. Dansingburg who was made the unanimous nominee.

For Register of Deeds there was a contest between two Ypsilanti candidates. They didn't appear to be able to settle their own affairs in their own caucus and brought them to the convention to settle, which it did by choosing between them as follows:

C. P. McKinstry - - - - -	109
Geo. P. Cooke - - - - -	95
M. F. Case - - - - -	10
	214

The nomination of county treasurer was next in order, and the various candidates came out of the ballot as follows:

Wm. F. Rheuss, Manchester - - - - -	87
John Heinemann, Ann Arbor - - - - -	61
E. A. Hauser, Saline - - - - -	31
Perry Townsend, Superior - - - - -	31
	210

Messrs. Hauser and Townsend withdrew, and the next ballot showed the following result:

Rheuss - - - - -	144
Heinemann - - - - -	62
	206

There were two candidates for prosecuting attorney, both from Ann Arbor. Had Frank Jones, of Saline, allowed his name to be presented, the result, it is thought, would have been the same with respect to Ann Arbor candidates as it had been heretofore, for he had a host of friends in the convention, and the tide was that way. The vote stood:

Seth C. Randall, Ann Arbor - - - - -	143
Andrew E. Gibson, Ann Arbor - - - - -	52
	195

For circuit court commissioners Fred Webb of Ypsilanti, and Oren E. Butterfield, of Ann Arbor, were nominated by acclamation, as were Dr. W. R. Burton, Ypsilanti and Harris Ball, of Ann Arbor, for coroners; and Jerome Allen, of Ypsilanti, for surveyor.

One of the most amusing incidents that ever occurred in a convention took place when the nominees for county clerk were being presented. Andrew Campbell, of Pittsfield, had been speaking for some minutes in a bankrupt strain, that was entirely uncalculated for, and nearly every word of which was giving comfort and encouragement to the democrats, when an old gentleman from Ypsilanti who is somewhat deaf, and didn't realize what terrible bug-a-boos the speaker was portraying to the audience, took occasion to clear his throat in a way that is peculiar to himself. He happened to hit on one of Andrew's most pathetic and appalling rounded sentences, and it had the appearance of calling the speaker down. Andrew turned about and looked with glistening eyes for the fellow who dared to thus interrupt him; but every one in that vicinity was as innocent as the boy who stole the jam. The effect was supremely comical, and besides convulsing everyone in the audience, broke up the speaker so that he could not continue, and no one knows how much the convention may have lost thereby.

The nominating speeches were all very good, and developed the fact that Washtenaw county is chock full of orators.

The very best of feeling prevailed, and the nominees will have the faithful and hearty support of every republican in the county.

It is understood that there is at least one man in Ann Arbor who stands ready to give $200 toward a campaign fund to elect the ticket.

Forsan et haec olim meminisse iurabit.—Virgil.

It was the custom of the Romans to fasten a wisp of hay about the horns of dangerous animals to warn the public. As a Campbell has no horns, the wisp might be used for a hat band.

REPRESENTATIVE CONVENTION.

Upon the adjournment of the county convention the delegates for the first representative district convention assembled in the same room.

Hon. Andrew J. Sawyer was made chairman, and Fred C. Brown secretary.

There were two candidates presented to the convention for nomination: Emery E. Leland, of Northfield and Reuben Kempf, of Ann Arbor. The choice was made as follows:

Kempf - - - - -	54
Leland - - - - -	40
	94

On motion of Mr. Leland, Mr. Kempf was made the unanimous choice.

A district committee, consisting of one from each voting precinct in the district, was then selected, consisting of H. S. Dean, A. C. Schumacher, N. J. Kyer, Frank Vandawarker, Ell W. Moore, J. W. Bennett, Geo. Foster, Chas. Canfield, Fred. Vogel, Thos. Birkett, Frank Wheeler, H. W. Newkirk, Judson Salzer and F. D. Wheeler.

An Ann Arbor Boy to the Front.

Hon. Emory Townsend, of the Saginaw district, having been nominated for the state senate and being an old Washtenaw county boy, a short account of his life will be interesting.

His grandparents came into this county at a very early day and made their mark by the same sterling integrity which has been transmitted to Emory. The family has continued in this county on their old farm where their son was born and reared.

With the independence inculcated by our forefathers, Emory Townsend came to the high school and University, always paying his own way. After completing his education here he traveled out west for a couple of years, thereby getting valuable experience and broadening ideas by meeting people.

Since then he has practiced his profession in Saginaw, starting in at the foot of the ladder and by steady attention to business and uprightness he has won friends everywhere. It has been an especial feature of his life that as he mingled with people he has won their confidence and respect. The voters of Saginaw will be fortunate in having such an able man to represent them in the senate and the Courier assures them they will always take pride in the clean record he will make.

A Faithful Official Resigns.

Thos. J. Keech, after a six years' gratuitous service, has resigned his position as member of the Board of Public Works. Mr. Keech has done the city good service during that period and deserves the thanks of the citizens of Ann Arbor for the time spent in their behalf without any compensation save the criticism and condemnation of people who believed things should be done some other way. Mr. Keech took similar action once before, but he was prevailed upon to reconsider it. The press of private business and other considerations makes this action now imperative. We believe Mr. Keech has been conscientious, and has always done what he believed to be for the best interests of the taxpayers of Ann Arbor. It must be remembered that he was only one man upon the board and the business that came under his supervision was always well done. The criticism that falls upon the work of the board in relation to the sewers falls upon other shoulders than his. He attended to the purchasing of supplies and no one can say but what that was well done, bargains always being made in the interests of the taxpayers. The office is entirely an honorary one, and one of the most difficult to fill of any in the city, from the fact that this board has the entire business of the city in charge. While differing with the board on some things, we believe that Mr. Keech has never taken a step that he did not believe to be right, and that he deserves the hearty thanks of all Ann Arbor citizens for his six years of service, without money or without price.

Wilkinson of Marquette County. For Auditor-General, Stanley W. Turner of Roseman County. For Attorney-General, Fred A. Maynard of Kent County. For State Land Commissioner, W. A. French of Presque Isle County. For Supt. Public Instruction, H. R. Pattengill of Ingham County. For Member State Board Education, Perry F. Powers of Wexford County.

CONGRESSIONAL TICKET.

Representative in Congress—2d District—GEN. GEO. SPALDING, of Monroe.

COUNTY TICKET.

- For Sheriff, William Judson of Chelsea. For Clerk, William Dansingburg of Augusta. For Register of Deeds, C. P. McKinstry of Ypsilanti. For Treasurer, William Relfuss of Manchester. For Prosecuting Attorney, S. C. Randall of Ann Arbor. For Circuit Court Commissioners, J. Webb of Ypsilanti and O. E. Butterfield, Ann Arbor. For Coroners, Harrison Ball of Ann Arbor and W. R. Barton, Ypsilanti. For Surveyor, Jerome Allen of Ypsilanti.

LEGISLATIVE TICKET.

Representative in State Legislature—1st Dist. Reuben Kempf, Ann Arbor. For Senator—10th Dist. John Watts of Jackson.

The nomination of John B. Corliss by the republicans of the first district for congress, insures another republican in congress from Michigan. He will be elected, and he will be a live congressman, too.

Reuben Kempf has been nominated by the republicans of this district for representative in the state legislature. He is so well known to every man in the district that it is not necessary for us to tell who he is.

Kansas appears to be saving in. The populist sensation has waned, and there were no grasshoppers this year, or floods or anything to keep the state before the people so now nature has taken hold to help the sensational and has taken to sinking a lot of Kansas soil out of sight.

If Washtenaw county democrats elect anyone this year it is sure to be an Ann Arbor man. In fact with the exception of a coroner from Ypsilanti no one else was allowed on the ticket.—Northville Record.

Ann Arbor is not in it this year. The republican ticket is to be elected in this county, and that has not an Ann Arbor man on it with one or two exceptions. Just watch the result.

"All run down" from the weakening effects of warm weather, you need a good tonic and blood purifier like Hood's Sarsaparilla. Try it.

THE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES.

All Men Who Are Worthy of an Election.

For sheriff the republicans of Washtenaw county are asked to vote for Wm. Judson, of Sylvan. He is rightly called a hustler. No grass is ever allowed to accumulate under his feet when he sets out to accomplish anything, and he is now after the office of sheriff and proposes to capture it. It has been a great many years since Washtenaw county has had a republican sheriff. In fact some of the good republicans have grown gray since that day, but their time of waiting is about over, for the handwriting is on the wall that "Billy" Judson, of Chelsea, will move down to Ann Arbor along the last of December, and for two years at least occupy the county jail residence as sheriff. We speak positively about this for we believe that the thing is settled now.

Wm. Dansingburg, the republican candidate for county clerk, is a man the people of this county can afford to tie to. He is an honest, capable, hard working man, and one in whom the utmost confidence is placed by friend and foe alike. He is a man, who if chosen to the position will not be obliged to hire some one to do the work for him, but will be able to do it himself. He was born in this country to be sure, but that ought not to be anything against him. He is very popular at his home, having been repeatedly elected as supervisor of Augusta, when no other republican on the ticket pulled through. The Courier honestly believes Mr. Dansingburg will be the next county clerk.

Ypsilanti didn't do just the right thing when she came up to the republican county convention with a quarrel on hand, and forced the convention to decide the scrap. But the convention did the deed and placed C. P. McKinstry, the gentleman who made such a grand fight for Register of Deeds two years ago, on the ticket again. "K" McKinstry is known all over the county as a man peculiarly fitted for the office, and the people can just make up their minds to meet his genial face in the southwest corner office of the court house for the two years following Jan. 1st next, for there is where he will be found.

Wm. H. Relfuss, the nominee for treasurer is a resident of Manchester. He is a German, a business man, and one who is thoroughly competent to fill the office. He is popular, also, and he is as sure to be elected as the sun is to rise on Nov. 6th. The entire delegations from the western portion of the county were sold for him and they promise such a majority from that section as was never before rolled up for a candidate. And it might not be out of place to add right here that the central and eastern portions of the county will not be backward about coming to his support.

Seth C. Randall, for prosecuting attorney, is an old soldier, a good lawyer, and a fine gentleman. He has offices in Milan and Dundee, but lives here at Ann Arbor with his family going to and from his place of business mornings and evenings on the T. A. A. & N. M. R'y. Being the only representative Ann Arbor has on the ticket with one exception, he certainly ought to and will poll a magnificent vote in this city, one that will carry him far toward success in the county.

The candidates for circuit court commissioners on the republican ticket, Mr. Webb, of Ypsilanti, and Mr. Butterfield of Ann Arbor, are gentlemen who are starting in their profession and who are bright, energetic young lawyers, that any person in this county may feel it an honor to vote for and make no mistake. It is altogether probable that they will be called upon to gain some extra experience in their line by filling these positions for a couple of years.

The republican candidates for coroner are Dr. W. R. Barton, of Ypsilanti, and Harris Ball, of Ann Arbor. Mr. Ball although at present living in Ann Arbor has not resided here long enough to become tainted or contaminated in any way with the awful rings and combinations of the county capitol. He has lived here on a year or so, coming from the pleasant and neighboring village of Dexter. No man could set with better grace on the defunct carcass of the defeated democracy than could this gentleman, unless it should be his running mate, Dr. Barton.

For surveyor on the republican ticket is the name of a staunch and true man, Jerome Allen, of Ypsilanti. He will be called upon to lay out a charming plot in the democratic county grave yard, wherein will be interred in a most becoming and stately manner the dead political corpses of Messrs Manly, Schuh, Brenner, Suckey, Hughes, Kearney, Mc-

Kernan, Towner, Clark, Batwell, Mills and Kane. There will be quite a body of mourners, but not nearly as many as is popularly supposed. The pallbearers who have already been selected will be Messrs. Brown, Duffy, Norris and Beakes, of this city with Nate Schmidt and a few others from the interior. It will be a grand and mournful occasion. The burial will be private by request. No one of the corpses will lay in state, unless the present arrangements are changed. Date of death Nov. 6th. Date of funeral Nov. 7th. The funeral comes pretty close upon the heels of the demise, but on account of the heated state of the atmosphere at that time it is thought best for the public good that immediate interment should follow.

HE ATTEMPTS TO DECEIVE.

When Louisiana sugar planters meet, and resolve to leave the democratic party, by reason of its legislation on sugar, it is easy to see whether the McKinley tariff or the democratic tariff is in favor of the sugar trust.—Adrian Press.

The editor of the Press is attempting to deceive his readers. The sugar trust and the sugar cane raisers are as different as the wool growers and the wool manufacturers. The policy of the McKinley bill was to encourage the production of sugar in the United States. The present policy is to crush out the growing of sugar cane in the United States and transfer the industry to foreign countries. The southern planters have no more to do with the sugar trust than the wool growers, but they believe in the American doctrine of protection to American industries, American labor and American homes.

The difference between the McKinley bill and the Wilson bill on this point is that the McKinley bill encouraged the raising of sugar cane together with the production of raw sugar in the United States, and practically wiped out the sugar trust so that it went into bankruptcy; while the Wilson bill bankrupts the southern sugar cane growers, and at the same time the sugar trust octopus makes untold millions out of it, and every person in the United States who buys a pound of sugar has to contribute toward it.

The democratic tariff policy helps to enrich the capitalist who does no manual labor; the republican policy of protection helps the planter and the farmer who raise the sugar cane or sugar beet that makes the sugar; also the wool grower, and the producer who tills the soil. The democratic policy of protection helps the foreign manufacturer, and grinds the American producers in the dust. That is why the planters of Louisiana propose to leave the un-American party of foreign and fossilized ideas and join the party of progress and American ideas.

There is one thing to be admired about Ezra B. Norris, and that is his indefatigable work, night and day, for the democratic party. There are few points that escape his vision, and he never lets one pass without improving it. If a man is wavering some one is sent to him to bolster him up; he is brought out to caucus, sent to the county, representative, senatorial or some other convention, and brought into line again. No one is allowed to get away and a new one are roped into the web, that it is possible to allure there by promises or persuasion.

Talk about the democratic party being indebted to any one, E. B. Norris has done more practical, telling work for his party than any other men in this county to-day. There are one or two others that have buzzed around and created an impression that they had done great things, and then whined year in and year out because the party didn't recognize the great service they had rendered. But Ezra never whines. When his party snubs him, he goes right along just the same and works for its interests, and if party fealty and practical hard work counts for anything, he is the man the democratic party owes something to in this county.

There is a new complication in the Democratic management. Hon. John Strong declined to act as chairman of the Democratic State Central committee, and the administration element of the state central committee seemed to make it impossible for him to do so. They finally, through proxies, got control, and elected E. G. Stevenson, chairman. This means that no Democratic congressional candidate who has not bowed down to Cleveland, can have any support. These chaps are bound to rule or ruin. It is time the Democratic party as a whole, entered its protest. Mr. Fisher has not had half a support, and any silver man can't get it. Dr. Jordan has resigned as candidate for lieutenant governor. There was an effort made to put Mr. Gorman in chairman. This was defeated by Mr. Duffy.

Now why not nominate Hon. Gorman for lieutenant governor and give the anti-referees, anti-cuckoos, and working Democrats a chance to express their opinion.

Well, it's an "off" year. Let 'er go Gallagher, Adrian Press.

RUIN IN FREE WOOL.

Ohio Growers Issue an Address to the Country.

The Ohio Wool Growers' Association held its annual meeting at the Ohio state fair ground recently, it being the first since the Gorman tariff bill became a law. Judge William Lawrence, president of the association, made a stirring speech, in which he said the treatment of the great industry by the government was similar to the methods of the anarchists. The association issued an address to the people of the United States which clearly shows the temper of the wool growers of the country toward the new tariff law. The address says:

For over seventy-eight years there have been high tariff duties, more or less protecting, upon wool. The Gorman law not only denies wool growers the benefit of a tariff for revenue, but places wool on the free list, though not one citizen petitioned Congress asking it. Until President Cleveland's free wool message of December, 1887, all political parties favored protection for the wool industry. The price of foreign wool imports is now so low that without protective duties American wool growers cannot successfully compete with them.

Free wool as a permanent policy would substantially destroy the American wool industry, and in a large measure annihilate the capital invested therein. The threat of free wool has reduced the value of our 45,000,000 sheep nearly $70,000,000, and reduced the price of the wool clip of 1894 more than $30,000,000 below the normal under adequate protection.

The Gorman law attack on agricultural interests is aggravated by the fact that the odious whisky trust and the sugar trust and others are amply provided for and protected. Free wool is an infamous and odious discrimination and conspiracy against all our agricultural industries. As a permanent policy it would drive a million of wool growers from sheep husbandry into increased production of hay, wheat, corn, oats, cotton, and other products, destroy our sheep and reduce the demand they would make for food, and thus add to our existing overproduction and low prices the ruin of still further overproduction. This would take from all farmers a large measure of their just income and render them unable to maintain merchants, grocers, mechanics, schools, and churches. All industrial and other classes would be involved in common disaster. Free wool is a blow at civilization and progress. Immense imports of low-priced wools would supplant to a large extent the use of cotton and bring disaster to the planters of the South. In 1893 the imports of the third-class wool were 133,197,581 pounds, at a valuation of 7.75 cents per pound.

FREE WOOL A CONSPIRACY.

Why is free wool thrust upon the country? Not one of all the Senators who voted for the Gorman bill ventured to give any reason in support of free wool. Their silence is a confession of its injustice, and that it means ruin. It is a conspiracy with four purposes:

- 1. To add to the existing overproduction of cereals, cotton, and other farm products, and still further reduce prices, already ruinously low. 2. To alienate wool growers from the protective policy, and thus enlarge the policy of free trade. 3. With cheap foreign wool and protective duties on manufactures, to limit manufacturing to the Eastern cities and New England states. 4. Its political purpose is to win for the democratic-Gorman party a few New England states and punish the protective wool-growing states.

The pretense of cheaper clothing is false and fraudulent. With the destruction of American flocks, and the manufacturers limited to a narrow section, combinations and trusts would prey upon the people with a monopoly of wool and woolen goods. The government must have revenue. If not derived from duties, the people will pay in some other form. The wool tariff yielded in 1893, $18,147,219. The Gorman bill surrenders the wool tariff revenue, but imposes four times greater tariff by a tax on sugar of $40,000,000 annually.

ADEQUATE PROTECTION DEMANDED.

We endorse the doctrine announced by the National growers that while protection is accorded to any industry it should also be given to wool.

Full and adequate protection for the wool industry would soon increase our 45,000,000 sheep to a required 110,000,000, furnishing 150,000,000 pounds of wool annually, all needed and we would import no more. This would save an annual export of gold of $60,000,000 or more to buy foreign wool from countries which take substantially nothing from us in return but gold. It would make such an increased demand for pasturage, hay, oats, and corn, as to increase their production and secure full and fair prices. It would enable farmers to reduce the wheat production, and thus secure fair prices. It would enlarge the resources of more than 30,000,000 of the agricultural classes, give prosperity to all. It has been proved that no foreign wool is needed to mix with ours for successful manufactures.

WOOL GROWERS MUST VOTE RIGHT.

What, then, shall wool growers do? The free wool policy cannot be reversed until after 1896. In the meantime sheep cannot be made to pay for capital invested and labor in producing wool.

Let all people who desire prosperity for Americans rather than for foreigners vote for no candidate for Congress who does not favor protection equally to all American industries, which by its aid can be made to furnish all needed supplies at fair American prices. The free wool infamy will soon be wiped out, never more to return, and the people, admonished by the ruin of the last years, will not soon demand again a change to the policy which brought it.

WHERE REPUBLICANS ARE WEAK.

There is one thing that the republicans of Washtenaw county have got to learn if they ever succeed in getting to the front political, and that is to cultivate the boys.

There are lots of old party leaders who have got so accustomed to coming to every convention that they have come to look upon it as a right instead of a privilege, and if a young man attends a caucus he is quite often frowned upon for his impudence, and treated so badly that he doesn't go again, and just as like as not wanders away to some other political caucus, where he is taken up and patted on the back and sent to a convention.

Then there is another thing. In several wards and townships the same set of delegates were sent to the county and representative conventions both. That isn't right. Two complete sets should be made out, thus interesting more people by giving them something to do.

The republicans must learn that they can not succeed except by recruiting their ranks from the boys, and in order to do that they must recognize the right of the young men to attend conventions, and help make the tickets they are expected to vote for.

These tactics are pursued to a far greater extent by the democrats than by the republicans, and that is one reason why the republican party has prospered no better in this county in the past.

Barkworth's Populist Letter.

There has been much inquiry as to Barkworth's letter on which he got the populist nomination. Mr. Peters wrote him, asking him if he would endorse the populist ticket and the Omaha platform, and for his views on populist principles. The letter was read in reply to a ruling that Barkworth has not committed himself to the populists in writing. Mr. Peters claimed he had, and produced the following, which is the letter Mr. Baldwin wanted read at the convention:

Jackson, Aug. 27, '94.

George A. Peters, Esq.: My Dear Sir.—Your letter of the 27th came duly to hand. I am sure that no excuse need be offered for the writing. It is pertinent and evidently sincere. I shall be equally frank and sincere in reply. I have always been interested in social questions, and lately have given much time to their consideration. I have not been slow to express myself as my mind has reached conclusions, hence I need only quote my own previous utterances to define my position. This is fortunate, as otherwise I should hesitate to take a position for the purpose indicated in your letter, as pre-election pledges are as easily ignored as made.

My advocacy of unlimited coinage at the present ratio and the restoration of silver to the place it occupied prior to 1873, as the money of ultimate redemption must be fresh in your mind as I especially stated my position on that question in an interview in the Evening News last spring. The same interview also stated my earnest belief in the propriety of a graduated income tax as an immediate measure of relief, also that no further issue of bonds should be permitted in time of peace. I have many times asserted that the government credit which sustains the issue of national banks had better be used to sustain its own notes and save the interest to the people. It goes without saying that all money should be a full legal tender; any other proposition is an absurd anomaly.

My position relative to government control of all means of transportation and communication as well as all monopolistic industrial forces is partially stated in the interview before alluded to; and will be found more fully set forth in the paper read by me before the Michigan Political Science association and published in the proceedings of that body, a copy of which I will send you.

I am heartily in favor of immediate action looking to a result covering even more than your suggestions. I quite agree with you that these propositions are the logical outgrowth of the principles of democracy taught to Jefferson, applied by Madison, Jackson and the long line of statesmen whose influence overcame the monarchial and class tendencies of our old social system. The changed conditions largely resulting from the progress of invention, but materially influenced by improvident and sometimes corrupt legislation, need the vigorous application of these principles to restore the equilibrium of the social forces.

Of course, since Peter's letter was not published, no one can determine the import of the last paragraph.

Northern Michigan Resorts

Few places offer so many advantages for tired people as do the popular resorts on the shores of Lake Michigan and its tributary bays.

Bay View, Petoskey, Harbor Springs, Charlevoix, Traverse City, and Grand Traverse Bay Resorts are peculiarly inviting during the hot weather she bracing air, cool nights and freedom from dust contribute to make this region a natural Sanitarium, for the recuperation of exhausted energies. To those interested, Bay View offers special advantages in the great Chataqua course and Assembly, held in July and August, the program of which will be of unusual excellence this year, comprising classes in many branches of learning and lectures by noted professors and teachers from the highest colleges and universities of this country.

The Way to Reach these RESORTS IS VIA THE CHICAGO AND WEST MICHIGAN

Railway, which runs through the entire region, and is known as "The Scenic Line," on account of the beautiful scenery through which it passes, traversing the shores of lakes, rivers, and bays, for miles, with the splendid service offered by this line makes the trip a delightful one.

The White Squadron in Port.

The "White Squadron" will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House Oct. 28th.
The play is on the patriotic melodrama type, and furnishes plenty of exciting scenes. The present production is not only handsomely staged, but is being produced by a company of capable artists. The leading role, of Victor Staunton is sustained by Mr. W. A. Whitecar, who is an actor of much merit, and the role of the hero is well impersonated by Mr. Robert Neil. The heaviness of the plot is lightened in a most refreshing manner through the comedy of Mr. W. F. Phillips, who poses as a kodiac fiend. Others in the cast are: Frederick Julian, J. W. Smiley, Charles Macklin, J. Edwin Leonard, Percy Plunkett, J. J. Morris, C. E. Guere, G. F. White, B. G. Martin, W. Vestal, J. W. Harmon, Alvin Chandler, and Misses Laura Booth, who makes a capital heroine, and Edith Julian, Laura Almosino and Adeline Colton. The scenic effects are exceptionally fine, especially the representation of the "Congress of Navies" in the port of Rio Janeiro.

Mrs. Jos. Bailey, Cedar Springs, Mich., says: "Adironda" Wheeler's Heart and Nerve Cure is the best medicine I ever had in my family; it never fails." Sold by John Moore.

BABY ONE SOLID RED

Literally on Fire with Eczema from Head to Feet. Screaming and Clawing all the Time. Added to this were Abscesses and Suppuration. Local Doctors and Remedies without Relief. Entirely Cured by CUTICURA. Now Stout and Hearty.

Our little baby, almost 21 years old, was taken with some form of Eczema when she was about three months old. Her little body was one solid red, from the soles of her feet to the crown of her head, and she seemed to be literally aflame, screaming and clawing all the time. When she was about five months old, there was added to her affliction, abscesses and suppuration. We tried the local M. D.'s, and some other remedies without any relief. I had read considerable about the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and one of our neighbors had used them, claiming that they were as good as claimed. I concluded to try them, and after the use of three or four boxes of CUTICURA, and about one and one-half bottles of the CUTICURA SOAP, my little one is now entirely cured, and is stout and hearty. Your CUTICURA REMEDIES are all and more than you claim them to be. I always have a good word to my friends and neighbors for your excellent remedies.

Death of James E. Field.

A life was closed Friday, September 21, 1894, in Alpena which had been an active one at Dexter in the sixties. All the older residents of western Washtenaw will remember James E. Field.

He was born in Wolcott, New Haven county, Connecticut, Dec. 20th, 1832, the son of Julius L. and Maria B. Field, coming with them to Michigan in '36, and settling in Unadilla. May 5th 1858 he married Loretta J. Beal, sister of the late Rice A. Beal, being then in business at Port Huron. It was at this time and place that he experienced religion and joined the Congregational church, of which he always remained an active member. His conversion was brought about by the sweetness and piety of his young wife, who, in less than three years, was called higher.

Going to Dexter, he engaged in the dry goods business until 1873. In the meantime he married Sarah Beal, a sister to his first wife, and who now survives him.

Alpena attracted his attention as a city of good prospects. So he removed there in the year above mentioned to engage in the drug business. With scarcely any knowledge of the business, it was taken up, and by hustling the largest wholesale and retail trade in northern Michigan was built up. All the great lumber camps and the small towns in Alpena, Montmorency and Presque Isle counties, purchased their supplies at his store. In the days before the railroad went to Alpena, the store had to lay in six months supplies by the fall boats. The writer remembers how, in some of the long winters, when all the oil had given out on the east side of northern Michigan, sleighs came a hundred miles for kerosene, paints and oils.

He worked hard, and was of such a disposition that it was always easier for him to take a box or barrel down cellar than it was to ask the clerks to do it. Hunting and fishing were his recreations, and his annual excursions into the woods were successful both in game and health secured.

But wiry and nery as he was, a disease fastened upon him three or four years ago which baffled all physicians' skill. He got weaker, until last winter he went south, however, that did not help much. He felt that it was fatal, calmly made all his preparations and sat down to fight death. Although he wanted to go because of his sufferings, yet the spirit within him was unconquerable. He said the night before he died, when he felt death grasping him: "If I only had a little more blood in me I would like to give him a fight." He got up, dressed and went out to meals with his family up to the day of his departure.

An autopsy showed that while the organs of the body were sound, the lower intestines had become diseased contracting and refusing to digest or assimilate food. This came from a fever he had sixteen years ago.

His acquaintances remarked upon his fixed purpose to complete everything undertaken, obstacles only adding to his determination. As an instance, the Dexter people still remember when he was a young clerk working for R. A. Beal, and how he cleaned out a big lot of men who tried to stop him. It happened that Mr. Beal had some salt in barrels on a vacant lot owned by old Judge Dexter. Matt Van Ripper bought the ground and issued orders that no one could go on it. Young Field went after a barrel and Van Ripper tore around swearing to lay out any one who ever got another one. He built up a high barricade of boxes, barrels, stakes and boards at the entrance, which was seen next morning by Field and Don Briggs when they went with a farmer after another barrel. As soon as they started to remove the pile of obstructions, the owner pounced out in an awful fury, struck down Briggs and grappled the slight young clerk. A lot of carpenters and masons came rushing out of a building near by, who were working for a friend of Van Ripper's. They grabbed stones and sticks, climbing the pile of obstructions and started to jump on to the two defenseless lads. Field jumped into the farmer's wagon, plied the whip to the team, took a big circuit around the road until he got good momentum and charged the breastworks. The big team, maddened by the lash did not hesitate, but rushed up on the big pile and over, while the defenders rolled off in every direction. The wagon box jumped high in the air, but fortunately came down on the wagon and the two boys emerged on the other side safe and sound. By the time they had the salt barrels loaded, their former opponents who had been so struck with the suddenness and boldness of the attack, quietly rolled aside all the boxes and stakes, and cheered them as they drove out.

The funeral held Saturday afternoon, was at the residence, conducted by Rev. Van Auken, his pastor. At the grave the Masons took charge, according to his last wishes. He had been for a long time treasurer of the blue lodge, the chapter and of the commandery. As a republican he helped the party, but would never allow his name to be used for office. The city flags of Alpena were floated at half mast in respect to his memory and every one said the church, the party and the city have lost a great hearted man who was as true as steel and who never turned his back upon friend or foe.

Golden Wedding.

Congratulations are to be extended to Mr. and Mrs. Alpheus H. Roys who Sept. 19th celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage at their own home on W. Second street, of this city.

Mrs. Roys reached her 74th birthday on the 2d of last March, and Mr. Roys reached the same age on the 6th of the same month. They were married by Rev. Dr. Elijah Piche, in Detroit, Sept. 19th, 1844. They are both in excellent health and in the many vivacious discussions that arose between the brothers and sisters at this delightful reunion, were full of wit and humor.

The relatives present from without the city were:

Sisters of Mrs. Roys—Mrs. P. Wilcox, Phoenix N. Y.; Mrs. Fanny Wood, Wayland, Mich.; and brother, Lafayette Bostwick, Pontiac, Mich.

Brothers and sisters of Mr. Roys—Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Roys, Ypsilanti, Mich.; E. Roys and daughter Minnie, Bellville, Mich.; Mrs. Judge J. W. McMath, Bay City, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Picket were also here from Wayland, Mich., Mrs. Picket being a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roys; and H. M. Roys, their son, was here from Farwell, Mich. The latter brought with him his ten year old boy Spencer, who had all the favors showered upon him which a grandson should receive.

After a delightful afternoon during which time the bridegroom, who is yet an excellent musician, played several inspiring tunes upon his flute, the guests were invited to partake of a collation and finally went to rest at 10 p. m., after one of the happiest days of their lives. The presents were many and valuable, but they can not properly represent the respect and love which this good couple receive from the entire community.

Better than gold is a peaceful home, When all the household cares come,
The shrine of love and the haven of life, Followed by mother or sister or wife;
However humble that home may be,
Or tired with sorrows by heaven's decree,
The blessings that never were bought or sold,
And center there, are better than gold.

"Gosh! I'm Here."

"Si Plunkard" is coming Monday, Oct. 1st as announced in our advertising columns, the amusement goes are to be treated to two and a-half hours of pure, solid fun. Then upon the stage of the opera house will sit an amusee, "Gosh, I'm here." Seats on sale at the box office. The Richmond Bee says of the presentation of the play in that town:

"Si Plunkard" set up his threshing machine on the opera house stage Saturday evening, playing to the best business that has been known in Richmond for a long time. What is more, the genial Si and his fellow artists pleased the beholders mightily, and went away leaving a good impression behind them. The piece is the production of a clever comedian who knows the general public wants and has set himself at work to meet the demand. The result is a Yankee Comedy full of queer situations and quaint sayings, and enlivened by that unfable "snap" and "go" which is the life and soul of the drama.

The Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegram says:—"The play of 'Si Plunkard,' given by J. C. Lewis and Comedy Co., is the most laughable thing that has ever been produced in this city. The threshing machine which is used in the play seems to carry the audience far back to some happy country home where everything is mirth and happiness."

On the 18th inst., the barn of John Burns, of Augusta, near Willis, was burned, with entire season's crop, together with $100 worth of hogs. Only $75 insurance on barn in Washtenaw Mutual, balance total loss.

The A. M. E. church on N. Fourth ave., are making an effort to get into the auditorium before cold weather comes on, and need $300 to finish the interior, put in glass, plaster the ceiling, etc. This little church has done bravely in paying as the building went along, so as not to leave a debt. It is the way all churches should do, and there is no doubt now that they and their friends will succeed in raising the necessary fund. Rev. W. M. Collins the new pastor is taking up the work.

J. C. Lewis, the original "Si Plunkard" in his hay seed get up, gave a long to-be-remembered entertainment at the Grand Opera House last night to a crowded house and the best of the season. The performance was well put on, and the Dutch comedian brought down the house every time he opened his mouth. Si Plunkard, with his original sayings and farmer-like blunders, made the windows rattle with laughter. The play is well-written and deserves full patronage wherever it is given. Mrs. Lewis, in the character of the country maiden, brought forth much comment as a stage beauty, and her graceful acting. Si, we'll not forget you.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

A state bicycle tournament will be held in Battle Creek on Thursday, Oct. 11th. Forty of the best riders in the state will be there and enter the contests. The club promises a day of sport and will give the people the best class of races they have ever witnessed.

At last Ann Arbor is to have what it has needed for a long time, a first-class restaurant. E. V. Hangsterfer has rented the large brick building at the corner of E. Washington st. and S. Fourth ave., formerly occupied by Mrs. Otto's millinery store, and will fit it up for restaurant purposes. In the first place an addition will be built on Fourth ave., while the third floor will be fitted up in elegant style for a banquet hall. The first floor will be used for a salesroom and ice cream parlors, while on the 2d floor will be dressing and toilet rooms. Mr. Hangsterfer never does things by halves, and he will have the nicest establishment to be found in this section of the state.

The new gallery of H. Randall, on E. Washington st. is a beauty. The second floor of the entire block of three stores is occupied by the gallery proper. The operating room, which is 60 feet long by 30 feet wide, has the much desired north light; one of the finest dark rooms in the state, a retouching room with light not surpassed, reception rooms, toilet rooms, and everything in the very best and most complete shape. It will repay a person to step in and see how excellently well everything is arranged, and how proud Mr. Bent is of his new business home. Mr. Randall has not returned home yet, and does not know what a fine place of business he has.

TUBERCULOSIS.

Advice to Owners of Cattle Affected With It.

WASHINGTON, September 11.

The results of investigations dealing with the serious question of tuberculosis in cattle from both economic and sanitary standpoints are embodied in an important report of the Agricultural Department prepared by Theobald Smith, chief of the animal pathology division. It reviews the examinations, discusses the history and character of tuberculosis and presents many valuable suggestions for the diagnosis and prevention of the disease. The report is in substance as follows:

In making tests the temperature of the inspected animals should be taken every two hours, at least six or seven times before making the injections, without a knowledge of the variations before the injections it is frequently impossible to estimate correctly the value of the elevations of temperature after the injections. The variations in the temperature of an animal during the course of the day are frequently so great, that if the variation is not determined, and the temperature is taken only once before a tuberculosis injection it is merely a matter of chance if a high temperature, natural to the animal and independent of the action of the tuberculin injection, is not erroneously taken for a reaction. The most convenient place for an injection is in the side of the neck where the skin is thin, and a large, strong needle gives much more satisfaction

THAN A SMALL FINE ONE.

Seven or eight hours after the injection the temperature should again be taken and from then on every two hours until a decided reaction continuous during several hours has occurred, or until eighteen or twenty hours have passed since the time of the injection.

The report suggests that a careful inspection of all dairy herds with the object of detecting and removing all advanced cases of tuberculosis and especially of cows with diseased parts, would probably exclude the sale of most infected milk. Observations show that milk of dairies may contain enough tubercle bacilli to prove fatal to guinea pigs in two months.

"To attack tuberculosis as it exists at present," continues the report, "is a most difficult problem, and no single measure, however sweeping, is likely to be successful. The present wide dissemination of the disease and its prevalence among other domesticated animals, as dogs, cats, horses, and above all, its prevalence among men, makes the complete extinction of the malady an unrealizable problem. Infection through the air is the most serious problem to be dealt with. A question of such practical consequence is the effect of repeated infections. That cattle may be infected more than once is self-evident. The more frequent infections, the more rapid the disease and the speedier the danger of the disease to other animals. The fewer the tubercle bacilli in the air, the

MORE REDUCED THE DANGER.

It is highly probable that cattle may under conditions inhale a few tubercle bacilli without permanent injury. The importance of reducing the amount of infection in a herd by all possible means and keeping it permanently reduced, is one necessary condition for the successful eradication of tuberculosis.

The summarized facts bearing on tuberculosis of the lungs in cattle are, primary infection through the air is more frequent under existing conditions than any other mode of infection; early stages of the disease may consist of granular affections only; extent and rapidity of the disease depends, at least in part, upon the number of tubercle bacilli inhaled, either within short or long periods of time; tuberculosis of the lungs is not necessarily associated with any other recognizable lung affection as a pre-existing, favoring condition. Tuberculosis of the liver is probably in most cases a result of food infection. Tuberculosis of the serous membranes seems to cause least damage to the animals infected. It takes place principally by escape of bacilli from some forms of the disease situated under one of the serous coverings, as lungs, liver, intestines, and associated lymph glands. It does not appear probable that organs are invaded to any extent by tuberculosis starting on their serous covering. The tubercle bacilli appear to be usually carried in lymph channels with the current, but a case of evidently retrograde movement of the bacilli has been noticed. The virus of tuberculosis is not in the blood, its presence there being accidental. In the more advanced stages of the disease infection of the blood may occur repeatedly. Generalized infection may be recognized by the discovery of foci of disease in organs not in any other way than through the circulation, or in the lymph glands of such organs. Tuberculosis of the subcutaneous lymph glands, and of those situated in the muscular tissue of the trunk and limbs, is universally accepted as indicative of the generalized disease. Such glands may be infected from without but infection through wounds of the skin is quite rare. Generalized infection both chronic and acute, has obtained considerable attention owing to its important bearing on the infectiousness of meat and milk and furthermore on the infection of milk. In all cases of generalized disease the milk should be regarded as dangerous. The difficulty from the practical standpoint lies in the recognition of the generalized infection during life. With the meat the question is simple and resolves itself into thorough inspection of every carcass at the abattoir by trained inspectors, and with the living animal there are only a few guides such as the condition of the udder lymph glands or fragment of some superficial lymph glands.

The region of the throat and of the small intestines is more likely to absorb tubercle bacilli early in life than later on, while the lungs seem to become with age the preferred seat of the disease. Demonstration of this assumption is complicated by the fact that calves are more exposed to food infection than adult animals, because of the dangers of tubercle bacilli in the milk. There is every reason to believe that most of the tuberculosis of cattle is not demonstrated at or before birth but is contracted by contagion later on in life. Cattle owners should pay special attention to the condition of udders, disease in which is particularly dangerous because the milk at first appears normal for some weeks and therefore

WOULD BE USED WITH IMPUNITY.

With this disease the only danger to other herds lies in direct contact or in the transfer of a diseased animal or of milk from such an animal. The greatest danger exists in the immediate surroundings of the infected and loses itself as the distance increases.

"In order to effectually control any infectious disease it is of the utmost importance to recognize in the living animal not only advanced stages, but even the slightest infection. The precise composition of tuberculin is unknown, but with further improvements in the means for determining its exact qualities and the methods used to test its strength and purity, more accurate results from tuberculin injections can be expected."

In recommending general sanitary measures, the report concludes: "Cattle owners should become familiar with the general nature of tuberculosis, thereby lifting themselves above the plane where quackery and specifics abound, and understand precisely what to expect after the disease has entered the herd, and how to meet the demands of public health. Sanitary precautions should begin with the removal of diseased and suspected animals. Attention should be paid to stables, and owners should look out for the inhalation of disease so common in tuberculosis cattle. Each animal should have plenty of room, always occupy the same place, and be housed as little as possible. The infection of food and water should be cautioned against.

"Much of the difficulty which arises when radical measures for the repression of the disease are discussed, is the economic value of the cattle products, the meat, and milk. The investigations show that the milk of tuberculosis animals is not so frequently infected as suspected.

"Milk of animals in the earliest stages of the disease and with perfect udders, does not contain tubercle bacilli. Only those showing signs of labored breath and emaciation should be gravely suspected, and their milk excluded at once from sale. The relative danger of the stable air of human beings is another phase of the question that should not be overlooked."

NOT PRONOUNCED CORRECTLY.

Common Errors in Placing the Accent in Familiar Words.

Why should so many persons say spontaneity instead of spontaneity?

There is some excuse for saying apricot for a-ppricot, or eck-quable or e-qual, or Er-rin for E-rin, or asafetida for asafetida, or Ven-zu-e-la for Ven-zu-el-a or Adon-is (short o) for Ado-nis (long o), or Dian-na for Dia-na (long a), or matron for patron, and so on. It is just as easy to accent the last syllable as the first in "pretense." Some persons call bomb "boom" instead of "bum," because the spelling seems to warrant it, but when they call tedious "tejus" they have no such apparent warrant. In the west and south the "i" in insolite is made long and nearly everywhere educated persons say truck-u-lent for truc-u-lent, a-men-able for a-meen-able, lev-ver for lee-ver, and give the sound of "u" in up instead of "i" in it in such words as squirrel, stirrup and sirup. There are many words in which the accent is per- sistently misplaced by persons who know better. It is common to put the accent on the second syllable of perem- pory instead of on the first, on the first instead of the second syllable of eocquet- ry, on the second instead of the first syllable of exemplary, etc. Many persons place the accent on the first in- stead of the second syllable of inquiry and do not give the "i" its proper length. The accent in gladiolous should be on the second syllable, with a long "i," but many place it on the third.

The exasperating thing about it is that some of these persons who are so care- less about common words take the most pains to learn how to pronounce Bouque- rain, and are convulsed when they hear anybody mispronounce Chopin and Bee- thoven. Recently they broke out with yawf for vase, though the weight of au- thority is against it. Knowles alone al- lows it. Webster authorizes only one pro- nunciation, the long "a" and hissing "s." Worcester prefers the "z" sound, but not the "aw." The improper use of the sounds of "a" is most serious. Those who have the courage to use the Italian or the modified Italian "a" often use it unlawfully, as in cawn't and rawther. The proper sounds of "o," particularly in God, dog and some other words, are widely ignor- ed. The common usage is wrong in the case of the terminal "ine" in the names of chemicals, as morphine, chlorine, iodine, aniline, benzine, etc., all of which should be pronounced as though there were no final "e." It is morphin, not morphen New York Advertiser.

What Matter?

BY GEORGE H. CONRAD.

What matter tho' the dreary night
With darkness should obscure my way?
Thine eyes, my love, with sweet fires light
My life with never-ending day.

What matter tho' the way be long,
What tho' its path be fraught with strife?
Thy loving cheer will make me strong
To do the irksome toils of life.

What matter tho' with wearied brain
I watch the day die in the west?
Thy gentle touch dispels the pain
And soothes my aching brow to rest.

And so life's golden span appears
More golden as the days pass by:
For sweet, my love, the gliding years
But add new luster to thine eye.

And when our setting sun's last rays
All lurid make the autumn skies,
O, then will heaven's love-dames blaze
Forth from the love-fires of thine eyes.

Different Ways Tomatoes are Served.

TOMATO CHUTNEY.—One peck of green tomatoes; six large green peppers; six onions; one cup salt. Chop onions and peppers fine. Slice the tomatoes a quarter of an inch thick and sprinkle the salt over them. Next morning drain off the salt and water, and put into a porcelain lined kettle.

Mix two pounds brown sugar; quarter pound mustard seed; one ounce each of ground cloves, cinnamon, ginger and black pepper; half an ounce of all-spice; quarter ounce each of cayenne pepper and ground mustard. Stir these ingredients, well mixed, in- to the tomatoes; cover with good elder vinegar—about two quarts—and cook two hours. This is pretty hot; if desired less so, omit all or one-half of the cayenne and mustard.

GREEN TOMATO SWEET PICKLE.—Twelve pounds sliced green toma- toes; six pounds sugar; three pints vinegar; one teaspoonful each of all- spice and mace, and two teaspoon- fuls cinnamon. Cook the tomatoes and sugar together two or three hours, letting them simmer gently, then add the spices and vinegar and cook forty minutes. This will scorch easily while the sugar and tomatoes are cooking together.

CHOW CHOW.—Two gallons green tomatoes; one large cabbage; one dozen green peppers; one dozen red peppers; one dozen onions. Chop each vegetable separately, very fine; mix together, then put into a pan a layer of the mixture, then a hand- ful of salt. Put in a bag and let drain all night. In the morning squeeze dry with the hands, put in a kettle, cover with vinegar, let stand six hours, then squeeze again. Mix one cup mustard; three tablespoon- fuls celery seed, one of mace, three of allspice, one quart of grated horse- radish and one pound of sugar. Stir this through the pickle, allow vine- gar to cover, let it boil and turn on the pickle while boiling.

MISS PARLOA'S PICKLE.—One peck green tomatoes and six large onions, sliced. Sprinkle with one cup salt, and let stand over night. Drain them. Put one quart of vine- gar into two quarts of water and cook in this fifteen minutes. Drain from this, throwing the liquid away.

To two quarts of vinegar allow two pounds of sugar, two tablespoonfuls each of cloves, cinnamon, ginger, all- spice and mustard, and a teaspoonful of cayenne. Boil in this fifteen min- utes.

CHOPPED PICKLE.—Cut up one gallon of cabbage and an equal quan- tity of green tomatoes; one quart onions and four green peppers. Sprinkle with salt and let drain over night. Mix four tablespoonfuls of ground mustard, two of powdered ginger, one each of cinnamon, cloves and mace; three pounds sugar, three ounces turmeric powder; one ounce celery seed. Mix with the chopped vegetables, cover with vinegar and cook tender.

PICALILLY.—One peck green toma- toes; one cabbage; one dozen green peppers; two dozen large cucum- bers. These are to be chopped. Al- low two quarts of small white on- ions, whole. Sprinkle with a pint of salt and let stand over night; put in a bag and squeeze very dry. Put in a kettle one gallon of vinegar; one pint brown sugar, half ounce tur- meric powder, half ounce cinnamon, one tablespoonful each of all-spice, mace, celery seed and horseradish. Cook two hours, then add two hundred tiny cucumbers. Let these cook ten or fifteen minutes, and then stir in a quarter pound of best mustard.

TIP-TOP PICKLE.—One peck green ma- toes, one dozen large onions; slice both, keeping them separate. Sprin- kle salt on the tomatoes and let stand half a day; turn scalding water on the onions, and let stand till toma- toes are ready. Drain and squeeze both from the liquid; arrange in a jar in alternate layers, and sprinkle between each layer a handful of cel- ery seed and white and black mustard seed. Put a pint of sugar into a quart of vinegar, let come to a boil pour over the pickle while hot.

GREEN TOMATO PICKLE.—Slice a peck of green tomatoes and stir in a small cupful of salt. Drain all night. In the morning put over the fire with three chopped peppers, one cup grated horseradish, two quarts vinegar and one cup of sugar. Let boil till the tomato is tender, then add a tablespoonful of cinnamon and cloves. The horseradish may be omitted if desired.

Hold Thou My Hands.

Hold thou my hands!
In grief and joy, in hope and fear,
Lord, let me feel that thou art near,
Hold thou my hands!

If ever my doubts
Of thy good fatherhood depressed,
I cannot find in thee my rest,
Hold thou my hands!

Hold thou my hands—
These passionate hands to quick too
smite,
These hands so eager for delight,
Hold thou my hands!

And when at length,
With darkened eyes and fingers cold,
I seek some lost-loved hand to hold,
Hold thou my hands!

A Wheel in His Head.

My thoughts are all in a constant whirl
And I daily mope and sigh,
Since I caught a glimpse of the sweet wheel
girl,
As she on her bike went by.

'Twas a charming vision that past me rode
In a bloomer costume trim,
Which only a well-turned ankle showed
And a hint at a shapely limb.

And my mind from my task goes all astray
As idly here I sit,
For I've got a wheel in my head to-day
With a girl on top of it. —New York Press.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Lehman at Chelsea, rejoice over the advent of a daughter at their home on the 14th inst.

Rev. Geo. P. Tildall, who for 12 years was pastor of the Presbyterian church at Ypsilanti, during the 60's and 70's, died at his home in Sacra- mento, Cal., aged 72 years.

Last Thursday night dogs made it lively for sheep east of town. They killed seven for John Hauser and fifteen for Adam Schroen. No clue to the dogs.—Saline Observer.

The farming community have not given up the idea of sowing wheat this year, and although the price is ridiculously low about as many acres as ever will be put in, in this county.

The farmers are looking sharp to see wool go up to 50 cents per pound, that figure having been promised by the free traders. If it does reach that figure, both dollars and free traders will be more plentiful.—Brighton Citizen.

Hon. James S. Gorman has had a windmill erected on his property at this place and does not propose to have another drouth catch him un- prepared—Chelsea Standard. No trouble in raising the wind, of course.

Gen. Geo Spalding, of Monroe, rep- ublican nominee for congress, was in town Wednesday, and greeted the honest voters and others without dis- tinction of race, creed or previous condition. He is a plain, unpretentious, every-day sort of a level-headed business man, and favorably im- pressed those whom he met.—Ypsilanti Commercial.

Salen can boast of two very noted women, one of whom alone and un- aided killed a blue racer with a common house broom and then beheaded it with an ax. His snake- ship measured over four feet in length. This happened on Saturday and the following Monday the other lady above mentioned, being some- what angered at the actions of a large mink which had killed several of her hens, and observing the animal as he ran from a corn crib where he had taken temporary shelter, took a club and gave chase, outstripping her husband, son, two dogs and a shot gun. She at last overtook the animal and with one swoop of her war club laid Mr. mink lifeless on the ground.—Cor. Plymouth Mail.

This is a strange and mysterious world that we live in. Every day the unaccountable happens and men and women are mystified beyond ex- pression. But the strangest and most unaccountable of all the strange and unaccountable happenings in this neck of woods is, how in the Dickens do people who can't be persuaded nor coaxed into subscribing for the Ex- press know every item of news among its many items of news that appear in its ample columns every week! How do they find this out; how do they manage to quote so glibly from this paper when they are too stingy to subscribe for it?—Brighton Ex- press. That seem sto be the common fate of all.

"School's took up." School has begun, and because of it there is a great vacancy, an oppressive sense of loneliness, in many a home. The other day, a fond father and mother drove away from their home in the country to the neighboring railroad station. In the wagon with them a slight girl and a big trunk. The girl glanced back for a parting look at the old house and the familiar

"Lost on the Lady Elgin."

Cleveland, Sept. 24.—The old schooner Col. Cook, is either a derelict or has gone to the bottom of Lake Erie.

The Cook was of 265 tons, considerably smaller than the old Welland canal schooner size, and was 39 years old.

It was learned subsequently that the unknown schooner was the Augusta, coal laden. Had she been light there would have been few, if any, lives lost.

Her owners realized that the name Augusta would always be associated with the disaster and quickly changed to Col. Cook, but in spite of this the little green schooner with the two masts was recognized wherever she went.

FROM THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

To the Common Council: The Board of Public Works beg leave to submit the annexed bids which they received for the construction of sidewalks where not built by the property owners, for your consideration:

George Kirn is the lowest bidder for building sidewalks on Catherine street along the north side, between Fifth avenue and Main street; also on Kingsley street in front of the property of William Burk estate, William Foley, Mrs. Noble and John Pfisterer, at $2.50 per rod, and on Chubb street along the property of the St. Thomas cemetery, Henry Mann and the F. L. Parker estate, at $2.10 per rod, four foot walk.

N. Felch bids $5.50 for the grading and $2.69 per rod for building walk, and is the lowest bidder for building E. E. Beal's walk on Kingsley street.

E. C. Jacobus bids $8.80 per rod and is the only bidder for building sidewalk on Clark street, along the property of Mrs. Mahany.

W. H. Richmond bids sixteen cents per square foot, and is the lowest bidder, for building artificial stone walk along the property of the Goodrich estate, on E. Huron street, between the Engine House and the Hamilton Block.

All things considered, the Board recommends that the above bids be accepted.

By order of the Board of Public Works. W. J. MILLER, Clerk.

Ald. Manly moved that the report be accepted and adopted, and the Board enter into a contract with each of the lowest bidders.

Adopted as follows: Yeas—Ald. Bodmer, Martin, Allmendinger, Wood, Snyder, Brown, Manly, Taylor—8. Nays—None.

FROM THE SAME.

To the Common Council: The Board of Public Works recommend and ask for the appropriation of Fifty Dollars from the Street Fund, for to do the necessary grading on Forest avenue, south of Hill street.

By order of the Board of Public Works. W. J. MILLER, Clerk.

REFERRED TO THE COMMITTEE ON STREETS.

PRESENTATION OF PETITIONS.

A petition signed by John Berger and fifteen others asking the council to order the construction of a cement cross-walk along the north side of Liberty street, across Ashley street.

REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES.

ORDINANCES.

The third reading by sections of "An Ordinance Relative to the Licensing of Dogs; and Regulating the Running at Large and Slaying of Dogs."

Ald. Taylor moved that the amendment to Section One, as submitted by the city attorney, be substituted for Section One, which amendment reads as follows:

Section 1. It shall be unlawful for any person owning, possessing or harboring, or having the care or keeping of any dog, male or female, over the age of three months to suffer or permit the same to run at large in any street, alley, square, commons, or other public place, within the city of Ann Arbor, without first obtaining a license therefor from the said city of Ann Arbor, the fee for which license shall be: for a male dog, one dollar; and for a female dog, two dollars, and complying with the provisions hereinafter set forth. No license shall be granted for a period exceeding one year, and all licenses shall expire on the first day of September succeeding their issue.

Which amendment was lost. Ald. Brown moved to strike out in Section One, line 3, the word "two" and insert in lieu thereof the word "three"

Which motion was lost. Ald. Snyder moved to amend Section One, in line 3, after the words "male dog," insert "and a spayed female dog."

Which amendment prevailed. Ald. Wood moved to strike out in Section Two, line 4, the word "fifty," and insert in lieu thereof the word "twenty-five."

Which motion prevailed. Ald. Manly moved the following amendment and substitute for Section Nine:

Section 9. It shall be unlawful for the owner, possessor, keeper, or harbinger of any licensed female dog, knowingly to permit her to run at large while in heat, and it shall be the duty of the police of said city to seize, take up and deliver to the pound-keeper any such dog found running at large in said city at such time. It shall be the duty of the pound-master to serve upon the owner, or keeper of such dog a notice in writing of the impounding of such dog at once, and any such dog so impounded may be redeemed or taken from such pound by the owner or keeper of such dog within forty-eight hours after service upon such owner or keeper of said written notice upon the payment to said pound-master of the fees as provided in Section Five. In case the owner or keeper of any such dog so impounded shall not have redeemed said dog as herein provided it shall be the duty of the pound master to kill the same, or in case said dog is worthy and valuable the same shall be sold by the pound-master, at the pound, by public outcry, to the highest bidder, at the hour of noon next succeeding the expiration of said forty-eight hours.

Which amendment was adopted. Ald. Prettyman moved the following amendment and substitute for Section Twelve:

Section 12. Whenever any person shall have been convicted of owning, possessing or harboring any dog that has bitten any person within said city while peacefully walking or riding without the enclosure of such owner, keeper or harbinger, the justice of the peace before whom such person shall have been convicted shall issue an order in writing directing such owner, keeper or harbinger of said dog to kill the same within six hours after service on him of such order. The owner, possessor, keeper or person having in charge any such dog, who shall refuse or neglect to kill it within six hours after having received such order, shall on conviction before the proper tribunal, be liable to the punishment provided in Section Thirteen of this ordinance, and it shall be the duty of any police officer to destroy such dog wherever he shall be found at large in said city six hours after service of said order.

Which amendment was adopted. After which the chair, having stated the question to be: "Shall this ordinance pass as amended?"

The yeas and nays being called, the ordinance, as amended, passed as follows:

Yeas—Ald. Bodmer, Martin, Allmendinger, Wood, Snyder, Brown, Manly, Kitson, Prettyman, President Wines—10. Nays—Ald. Taylor—1.

FROM THE PARK COMMITTEE.

To the Common Council: Your Committee on Parks find that now is the time to do the necessary grading and seeding on the old cemetery grounds. We would therefore recommend that an appropriation of $50.00 be made from the Contingent Fund for the necessary grading, etc. Respectfully submitted.

D. F. ALLMENDINGER, WALTER L. TAYLOR, Park Committee.

Accepted, and recommendation concurred in as follows: Yeas—Ald. Bodmer, Martin, Allmendinger, Wood, Snyder, Brown, Manly, Taylor, Kitson, Prettyman, Pres. Wines—11. Nays—None.

REPORTS OF SPECIAL COMMITTEES.

Chairman Brown, of the special committee to whom was referred the Mayor's message relative to the water supply of this city, reported progress and asked for further time, which was granted.

REPORTS OF CITY OFFICERS.

Chief Siple, of the Fire Department, reported that the water gauge at the Engine House had registered from 60 to 70 pounds during the last two weeks. The report was received and ordered filed.

NOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS.

By Ald. Martin: Resolved, That the Clerk notify the Ann Arbor T. H. Electric Co. that their contract of lighting the city expires December 31st, 1894; also that the Clerk advertise and ask for bids to light the city for the next ensuing year from January 1st to December 31st, 1895, with 91 2000 c. p. arc lights and two 65 c. p. incandescent lights.

Adopted. By Ald. Prettyman: Resolved, That the Board of Public Works be directed to report at the next meeting of the Council estimates for bringing to sidewalk grade the south side of the Cemetery Park; also for the grading of E. University avenue between Prospect street and Packard street.

Adopted. By Ald. Prettyman: Resolved, That the grading of East University avenue between Prospect and Packard streets to the established grade of the street be referred to the Board of Public Works, and the Board be ordered to ask for bids for such work, and report to the next meeting of the Council.

Adopted. Ald. Snyder moved that the Street Commissioner is hereby directed to give all residences of this city their proper house numbers where the free mail delivery has been established.

Adopted. By Ald. Prettyman: Resolved, That the matter of establishing a new sidewalk and street grade on East Huron street, between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets, be referred to the Street and Sidewalk Committees.

Adopted. On motion the Council adjourned. W. J. MILLER, City Clerk.

OF PUBLIC INTEREST.

A Matter Which is Exciting Much Talk.

IT CONCERS A WELL AND PROMINENT FAMILY.

The Wife of an Honored and Respected Public Man Writes a Letter.

G. A. Williamson, Esq., has for thirty-five years been City Recorder of Deeds, of Providence, R. I. During all this time he and his family have occupied a very prominent position in Providence where they are held in the utmost regard and esteem by everybody. They reside at 8 Bradford street.

Mrs. Williamson has for a long time been a great sufferer. She has lately been cured of her complaints by a most remarkable remedy and her love for her fellow-beings is such that she writes the following letter telling them just what to do to be well and strong:

"For some time I had been troubled with numbness of my hands and arms. It was very distressing and a constant annoyance to me. My nervous system was badly affected. I was unable to sleep, getting but very little rest at night. I suffered from indigestion and my appetite was very poor. I learned of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and hearing it most highly spoken of, determined to use it. It has helped so many despairing sufferers I believed it would help me. After taking the second bottle I noticed a marked improvement and I continued to steadily gain in all respects. I cheerfully recommend Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy to all sufferers."

No wonder everybody is taking this remarkable medicine for it is a known fact that Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy always cures. If your health is not exactly what it should be, take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It will make you well. It is the discovery of Dr. Greene, of 35 W. 14th St., New York, the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. He can be consulted free, personally or by letter. Don't neglect your health but take his wonderful medicine now.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS, Ann Arbor Mich. Sept. 19, 1894. Regular session. Called to order by Mr. Clark.

Roll called—Present Messrs. Schuh and Clark. Absent Mr. Keech.

The Clerk reported that the Council had approved of the bids for building walks, which were reported to the Council by the Board at their last meeting.

On motion of Mr. Clark the Street Commissioner was ordered to take the necessary steps to build the walks, under the advice of the City Attorney.

On motion the Engineer and the Street Commissioner were directed to make an estimate for bringing to grade the south side of the Cemetery Park; also for the grading of East University Ave., between Prospect and Packard streets.

On motion the Board adjourned. W. J. MILLER, Clerk.

Try the New Fig Honey.

Honey mixed with a nice extract of California figs, etc., make "Honey of Figs," the most delicious of all gentle cures for Constipation, Colds, Fevers, Nervousness and Disordered Kidneys. Californians greatly prefer it to simple syrup. Old folks enjoy it and babies love it. The Fig Honey Co., of San Francisco make it. No other laxative is so soothing or sells so well. Large bottles (50 doses) 50 cents. Trial size 10 cents. In this age of progress be wise and get the best. Eberbach & Son, Agents for Ann Arbor.
