FIELD DAY POSTPONED.

At the meeting of the university senate Monday eve., at the urgent request of Prof. Stanley, it was decided to allow the field day events to take place on a week day, and the date has accordingly been changed to next Tuesday, May 21. This is on account of the May Festival concert of Saturday afternoon. While the athletic management did not desire to place field-day on the same date with the May Festival, there seemed no other way, inasmuch as the Saturday dates were all taken and permission could not at first be obtained for holding the events on a week day. Last night's action has happily obviated all difficulty. There seems to be every indication of a very successful field day, with more entries than usual. The events will be as follows: 100-yards dash; 220-yards dash; 440-yards run; 880-yards run; mile run; mile walk; 120-yards hurdles; 220-yards hurdles; running broad jump; running high jump; pole vault; shot put; and hammer throw. There will be no bicycle races, as the track is not properly banked.

SEVEN EXCELLENT ORATIONS.

L. G. Long Won the Contest for Class Orator Last Night.

The senior law oratorical contest for the purpose of selecting the class orator took place in the law lecture room Monday eve. President Walsh made a few introductory remarks, after which H. L. Bright took the floor. Mr. Bright took as his subject, "The Lawyer in Our National Life." The next speaker was M. H. Scott, who discussed "Labor and Socialism." J. F. Henry spoke on "Our National Problems and Perpetuity." "Webster and the Constitution," was the subject of the next oration, which was followed by J. N. Davis. L. G. Long followed with an oration entitled "The Relation of Modern Isms to Progress." M. H. Porter took as his subject, "Wendell Phillips." The last speaker was A. E. Davis whose subject was "Law and Liberty as the Basis of Government."

The contest on the whole was good, several of the orations being of a high order. Professors Bogle, Johnson and Thompson were the judges on delivery, while the compositions were passed upon by Professors Mechem, Kowilton and Hempl.

The decision of the judges gave L. G. Long first place, and he will accordingly represent the class in the class-day exercises. Mr. Long won this contest with the same oration which he gave at Oberlin, Ohio, two years ago in the Northern Oratorical League contest. Mr. Long received first place on delivery and third on thought, Mr. A. E. Davis receiving first in thought and third in delivery while J. N. Davis took second place, receiving second both on thought and delivery.

An Owosso base ball manager was in the city Saturday looking for material from the 'varsity nine. It is rumored that he bagged some good game for his state league team.

The university senate passed a resolution last evening to the effect that it be the sense of that body that student correspondents guilty of sending out untrue reports injurious to the university should be expelled by the faculty of the department to which the student belongs.

At Saturday evening's meeting of Kansas students temporary organization of the Kansas club was effected, a constitution was adopted, J. G. Wine, '95 law, was chosen chairman and Miss May Whitney, '96 lit, secretary. Permanent officers will soon be elected.

Thought to be a Deceiver.

Chief of Police Peterson received a copy of the Swanton, Fulton county, Ohio, Enterprise of May 10, with the following article marked:

"About two weeks ago a party by the name of Ed. Chadman, rented the Curtis building, south side, and placed therein a stock of new groceries. About a week ago another young man appeared on the scene by the name of E. W. Hooper. Mr. H. took charge of the stock as manager of the Toledo Grocery Co., who, he claims, bought the stock of Chadman for cash; the latter claiming to be the owner and that the stock bought was paid for. Chadman then disappeared.

"Within the last two days, three agents from wholesale houses of Toledo have been in town looking for Chadman, stating that the goods had been bought wholly on credit.

"Mr. Hooper although an innocent purchaser is as anxious to find Chadman as the wholesalers. For this purpose he went to Elmore Thursday and was told by Mrs. Chadman that he was in the extreme eastern part of the state while the facts were he was in Bryan.

"Chadman left Ann Arbor, Mich. last February about as suddenly and for about the same reason that he left Swanton."

It must have been a mistake about Mr. Chadman leaving this city for any such cause, for he and his wife were here visiting only a short time ago.

Epworth League Election.

At the annual meeting of the Epworth League last night at the M. E. church, an entertaining program was carried out.

Sandwiched in between the reports of officers, charming solos were rendered by Miss Grace Foote, soprano; Miss Rachel McKenzie, violin; Mrs. C. M. Coburn, alto; Dudley Tattenor.

The officers elected were: President—D. W. Springer. 1st vice pres.—Miss Carrie Dicken. 2d vice—Miss Sara Whedon. 3d vice—Clarence Noble. 4th vice—Miss Addie Stevens. Secretary—Paul Voorheis. Treasurer—A. A. Pearson.

The annual reports showed the League to be in a very flourishing condition, and good work being done in all departments.

Attention, Pioneers.

Dexter, Mich., May 8, 1895.

EDITOR LEADER:—The local officers and members of the Washtenaw County Pioneer Society are quite enthusiastic over the prospects for a grand rally on June 12th at Dexter, which is the date for the annual meeting of the society.

They think that Dexter and vicinity can show a greater number of pioneers that settled in the county previous to 1830 than any other section of the county of the same extent of territory, but send special greeting to all such pioneers and a cordial invitation to meet with them for a pleasant old folk's reunion. ISAAC TERRY, President.

The Dundee Ledger shows its enterprise and prosperity by coming out as a seven column, eight page paper. It is bound to get to the front.

In the Circuit Court.

The People vs. Elmer Thompson, George Kelly and George Richie. Arraigned, plead not guilty, and Arthur Brown and J. W. Bennett appointed to defend. Admitted to bail in the sum of $500 or stand committed. Afterwards plea of not guilty withdrawn and plea of guilty entered, and each sentenced to one year at Ionia.

Emily J. Sumner vs. Thomas F. Leonard. Verdict for plaintiff of $100, and judgment entered therefor.

Sophia Burkhardt vs. Martin Heber, et al. Verdict for defendant by direction of court.

Sophia Burkhardt vs. Martin Heber. Verdict for Plaintiff of $100.

The People vs. Charles W. Vogel. On filing reasons for not filing information, defendant discharged.

Clara A. Lampkin vs. Lawrence Lampkin. Divorce. Decree granted.

Henry Breitenwischer vs. Elmer C. Clough. The jury went out at 5 o'clock last night and remained until noon today, when they came in and returned a verdict of $55.15 in favor of the defendant. A stay of proceedings was ordered for 30 days in which to file a bill of exceptions.

Alfred E. Putnam vs. Alvin Wisley. Judgment by default by order of the court for $183.75.

James Linen vs. Paris Banfield, et al. Ordered that plaintiff file security for costs, or case be dismissed as against John V. Sheehan. Another order was also made requiring security in the amount of $50 be given within 30 days.

Peter Oesler vs. Frank P. Glazier. On trial.

It is a five column quarto and promises to be the organ of no clique or faction, but to act as a cement to unite all of them. Which is certainly the proper thing and the only proper thing. If it will strictly adhere to that principle it will be an immense success. The Maccabees can not afford to disintegrate by quarreling among themselves.

CATARRH OF THE KIDNEYS.

Sometimes Called Bright's Disease—Dr. Hartman's Latest Lecture.

In the course of a recent lecture at the Surgical Hotel Dr. Hartman said:

"Catarrh of the Kidneys is a very common disease, growing more and more common each year. The symptoms are pain in the back, scanty, high-colored urine, containing albumen and various sediments; nausea, and sometimes vomiting; puffiness of the face and feet; dropsy of the legs; shortness of breath and general weakness, pallor and dryness of the skin, and chilly feelings, alternating with fever and sleeplessness.

"A tablespoonful of Pe-ru-na should be taken before each meal, between meals, and at bedtime, and enough Man-a-lin at night to produce one natural action of the bowels each day. When the disease is of long standing heated Pe-ru-na should be applied to the back in addition to the above treatment, and the diet consist principally of milk and dry toast. Avoid liquors and tobacco."

Medical Books Free.

The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Co. of Columbus, Ohio, are offering free, post-paid, two medical books, one on catarrh and catarrhal diseases, the other on spring medicines and spring diseases. These books contain the very latest and most reliable information on these important subjects.

Mrs. Waite, punch the old man in the ribs and the nightmare will let up! Then tell him to turn over and go to sleep. We have heard enough. Gov. Waite is a dead weight.—Ypsilanti Commercial.

The mayor of Boston and the chief justice of the Massachusetts supreme court were engaged one day last week (Arbor Day) in planting six American elms in front of the court house in that city. Boston maintains an official called the City Forester, and during the busy planting season in the spring and fall he has over 100 men at work in beautifying the streets and parks. Yet the cost of the department is comparatively small.

A lady's card should be very nearly square, of moderate size, fine in texture, and needless to say, white. If married, "Mrs." should precede the name on an engraved card, and the husband's name should be given in full. The address is printed in the lower right-hand corner, and the day for being at home in the lower left-hand corner, and the engraving is invariably in plain script. When there are daughters the elder is entitled to a separate card—as, "Miss Curtis," for example—only after one or two seasons in society. Up to that time she is supposed, and her sister also, to call only with her mother, upon whose card their names appear.

Must Surely Be Crazy. It is feared that the members of the present Australian legislature are on the dizzy verge of insanity. They have voted to reduce their own salaries.

It is easier, cheaper and better to make a lawn by sowing grass seed than to transplant sod. A rich seed bed is required to make the transplanted sod take root, and although for a few days it may look well, when dry weather comes the sodded lawn presents a shabby appearance. A seeded lawn will in a few weeks show a lively green, and it requires much less watering in dry weather than does the sod. Besides with a good seed bed, the householder who makes his own lawn can select the kind of grasses that he wants. Some sweet scented vernal grass should always be sown. It is rarely or never found in sods cut for transplanting, as they are usually gathered on the commons or by the roadside.

The legislature has provided that the English sparrow is a legitimate object of attack by the small boy or the large one either, the year around, and that the bounty for each shall be three cents. But the boys should confine themselves strictly to sparrows for they are liable to a fine of $5 for every other bird they may kill in mistake for the English pest, and that would take off a lot of profits. The sparrow has increased very fast since the law was changed in regard to paying bounty only a few months during the year. The lads who do most of the killing seem to care more for Fourth of July money than for Christmas money. Well, there is a good chance now, to get a good lot of spending money for the next Fourth.

One day in each week, during the continuance of the Art Loan Exhibit given by the Detroit Art Club, in that city, the M. C. R. R. will give an excursion to Detroit for people desiring to attend. The exhibit will be one that will attract lovers of art from this entire western—or central—world. Mr. James E. Hanna, the secretary of the Detroit Art Club, writes us that "the exhibition will actually be one of the finest given west of New York City, excepting at the World's Fair, of course. We shall have about $1,000,000 worth of pictures to show, from the brushes of the foremost American artists. The management have not attempted to import any European works, but nevertheless will have a large number of valuable ones loaned them." Many of our citizens have expressed their intention of attending this great exhibit, and now that the railroads propose to come to the aid of the enterprise, with a series of cheap rate days, there will no doubt be a large attendance from Ann Arbor and vicinity. Like the May Festival here, this exhibit will be the event of a life-time in its particular line.

The Art Loan exhibition at Detroit, heretofore mentioned, commences on Friday next, May 17th.

Farms in the United States.

In 1880 the number of farms was, in round numbers, 4,000,000. In 1890 it was 4,565,000, having increased during the decade at the rate of fourteen per cent. This, which is also much less than the rate of increase of population, indicates that the accessions to our numbers during the past decade have been, in the main, additions to the ranks of other vocations.

The value of farms in 1880, including all improvements, was, in round numbers, $10,200,000,000. In 1890 this item had grown to $13,276,000,000, showing a rate of increase of thirty per cent., an increase greater than that of the number of farms, thus showing a decided advance in the average value of farms.

Farming tools and machinery had a value in 1880 of a trifle over $400,000,000. The same item had a value in 1890 of 494,005,000, or nearly twenty-four per cent. greater.

Hence the capital invested in agriculture in 1890 was not less than $13,770,000,000; and this capital produced a return in that year of $2,460,000,000, or less than eighteen per cent. upon the capital.

Since 1850, when agricultural statistics were obtained for the first time, the average size of farms has been diminishing, having decreased from 203 acres in 1850 to 134 in 1880. During the last decade the average size has slightly increased, being in 1890 137 acres.

In 1880 the extent of cultivated or "improved" land, as the census designated it, was 285,000,000 acres. Ten years later this had increased to 358,000,000, or about 560,000 square miles. In other words, in 1890 a trifle more than one-fifth of the total area of the country, excluding Alaska, was under cultivation.—From "The Building of a Nation," by Henry Gannett. New York: The Henry T. Thomas Company.

After Every Game of Chance. At the opening of the Wayne county Circuit court in Lyons, N. Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder World's Fair Highest Medal and Diploma.

A Tribute. There was laid away in Forest Hill Cemetery Sunday afternoon, one of the good women of this earth. Miss Mary D. Beers was as near faultless as it is possible for human beings to be.

Her life was pure, simple, quiet. Not a particle of jealousy or moroseness or revenge ever entered her mind. She was blest with a disposition as sweet as the nectar that the bees and butterflies sip from the bloom of the clover fields, and the influence of her life was as fragrant with kindness, with charity and with blessings, as were the wealth of beautiful roses that surrounded her casket, with odors pleasant to the senses.

One cannot think of her life, and the balm, sweet spirit that animated it, without instinctively turning to the Saviour, who bore all trials and ordeals without a murmur, but with praises of God upon His lips, so great was the love He bore to all mankind.

Her ways were truly ways of love, and her path through life was a pathway of peace. Those who knew her mourn the loss of a true and sympathizing friend, and her absence from the home she has had for the past two decades, will be missed beyond conception. Such spirits, such lives, sweeten, soothe and make enduring the troubled paths of many other lives with whom they come in contact. They are the laven placed here and there among the human family to permeate by their influence other lives with sweetness.

Her light has gone out, but its rays will lighten the paths others have to tread, until the end is reached. Her spirit has passed away, but its kind, sweet influence will remain as long as those remain who were touched by it.

It's a Secret that many women owe their beauty to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The reason—beauty of form and face, as well as grace, radiate from the common center—health. The best bodily condition results from good food, fresh air, and exercise, coupled with the judicious use of the "Prescription." In maidenhood, womanhood, and motherhood, it's a supporting tonic that's peculiarly adapted to her needs, regulating, strengthening, and curing, the derangements of the sex.

If there be headache, pain in the back, bearing-down sensations, general debility, or if there be nervous disturbances, nervous prostration, and sleeplessness, the "Prescription" reaches the origin of the trouble and corrects it. It dispels aches and pains, corrects displacements and cures catarrhal inflammation of the lining membranes. Once used, it is always in favor.

CALIFORNIA DEFEATS PRINCETON

The Men From the West Win the First Contest of Their Eastern Trip.

The University of California track team began its eastern campaign on Saturday with the meet with Princeton, defeating that team by ten points, the totals being California 61, Princeton 51. Everything seemed to be propitious for the event. Princeton won the 100-yards dash in 10 2-5; the one mile walk in 7 min. 43 2-5; the 220-yards dash in 22-2-5; the one mile run in 4 min. 57 4-5 sec.; the pole vault at 10 feet 2 in.; and the running broad jump at 22 feet. California got seconds on the 100-yards dash, the one mile walk and the 220-yards dash. Her firsts were won in the half mile run in 2 min. 6 1-5 seconds; the 120-yards hurdle in 16 1-5 sec.; putting the 16-pound shot at 37 feet 1 in.; the 220-yards hurdle (tied) won by toss up; the running high jump at 5 feet nine inches; the two mile bicycle race in 5 min. 41 3-5 sec.; and the 440-yards dash in 51 1-5 seconds.

COUNTY AND VICINITY.

The annual May Festival at the Methodist church will be held this year on Tuesday, May 28th, and the entertainment is expected to excel in attractions all preceding ones. No effort will be spared to make it an evening of delight. Further notice will be given later.—Ypsilanti.

Rev. M. M. Goodwin arrived home late last night, upon a seven-day leave of absence. His ship, the Columbia, is in dry-dock preparatory to a trip across the ocean, where she will take part in the celebration of the opening of the Kiel canal, between the Baltic and North Seas. This will be the greatest naval event of the century, and the navies of the world will be present as guests of Emperor William of Germany.—Ypsilanti Sentinel.

American Publications. It is interesting to note the enormous increase the business of publishing newspapers and periodicals has undergone in this country during the last twenty-five years. It is without parallel anywhere in the world. Statistics show that in 1870 there were 5,871 publications; now there are 20,000, "varying from daily to quarterly." Of this total 1,885 are dailies, and 14,077 weeklies. In 1890 the aggregate capital represented by these publications was about $105,000,000; to produce them, 105,005 persons were employed; the wages paid amounted to $70,000,000 per annum, while the material used cost $40,000,000.—Philadelphia Record.

Tired Women

Should stop and consider the dangers which threaten them because of their weakness, languor and lack of ambition. Thousands of women find their strength unequal to the demands of duty. And yet there is no escape from the incessant round of care and toil. They must have strength. How shall it be given? By building up their systems through purified, enriched and vitalized blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla will give them strength because it will make their blood pure and enable it to feed the nerves upon proper nourishment. It will create an appetite, tone the stomach and invigorate every organ. It is what tired women need.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Is the Only True Blood Purifier

Prominently in the public eye today. It feeds the nerves on pure blood.

Hood's Pills act harmoniously with Hood's Sarsaparilla. 25c.

UNIVERSITY.

The spring field sports will occur on Saturday, May 18, at 2 o'clock.

The sum of $2,166.69 has now been subscribed for the co-ed's gymnasium.

The debate between Webster and Adelphi literary societies has been postponed until Friday evening, May 31.

On the evening of May 24 the sophomores will give a party at Granger's hall. It will be a two-step party with music furnished by a banjo orchestra.

The inter-fraternity base ball games are now on. The Dekes have won a game from the Zeta Psi, and the Psi Us defeated the Alpha Deltas on Friday, 12 to 2.

The S. C. A. would like some shade trees in front of Newberry hall and some benevolent minded individual with lots of good looking maple trees could do nothing better than to plant a few in this place.

The next base ball game will be with Wisconsin on Friday of this week, on the athletic field. On Saturday the team will play the first game of the western trip with Northwestern, at Evanston.

The following sorority girls have been elected to the executive board of the Woman's League: Miss Julia Hodge, '97, Alpha Phi; Miss Bessie Larrabee, '96, Gamma Phi; Miss Effie Danforth, '96, Delta Delta Delta; Miss Helen Ramsdell, special, Sorosis; Miss Maud Cooley, '96, Delta Gamma; Miss Jessie Smith, '97, Pi Beta Phi.

The Independents of the Woman's League have re-elected the following members of the executive committee: Misses Georgia Bacon, '98, May Taylor, '96, Louise Stickney, '98, Katherine Reed, '97, Gertrude Boynton, '98, and Ellen Beach, '98, Misses Jennie White, '97, and Dora Fisher, '97. The sorority members have not yet been chosen.

At the meeting of the Harvard faculty of arts and sciences, a resolution was offered that the students in Harvard College be prohibited from engaging in intercollegiate football contests. The resolution was defeated by a very large majority. This settles the long discussed football question for the year at least, as no further action will be taken. The matter is now left to the athletic committee to settle.

The annual reports of the retiring officers of the S. C. A. are printed in the April S. C. A. Bulletin. They are very interesting, and show the association to be in prosperous condition in almost every respect. The treasurer, L. A. Pratt, reports, however, that the depression in business has materially affected the financial resources of the association and money is consequently needed. Only about 175 members have thus far paid their dues. C. E. White, missionary treasurer, reports that of the $500 promised Mr. Roberts in Africa only $178 has been raised, while $45 remains pledged. Everyone is urged to pay up.

ENGINEERS HAVE A GOOD TIME.

They Enjoyed Their Fifth Annual Banquet Last Saturday Evening in Granger's Hall—The Toasts.

The annual Engineering Society banquet was held Saturday evening in Granger's hall under the supervision of the following committee: C. T. Johnson, '95, Chairman, H. W. Wyckoff and M. G. Barnes, '95, G. T. Lamont and H. B. Kelly, '96, L. F. Morehouse and E. N. Baldwin, '97, and L. Goldsmith and G. K. Newbury, '98. After an elaborate menu was disposed of, President J. Henry Dye, '95, gave an address, introducing Toastmaster I. F. Stern, '95.

Under his management the following program of toasts was given, "The Dawn of Life," by G. Mx. Co, '98; "Realization," H. B. Merrick, '97; "Contentment," G. T. Lamont, '96; "The Cares of Life," by G. A. Damon, '95; "Products of the Season," by D. B. Luten, '94, C. G. Wrenmore, '93, and E. L. Allor, '92; "The Toehicne," by H. W. Wyckoff, '95; "The New Engineer," by Prof. W. H. Pettie; "Bridges," by Prof. C. E. Greene; "Shoals," by Prof. M. E. Cooley; "Perspective," by Prof. C. S. Denison; "Engineering Units," by Prof. H. S. Carhart; "Axe Grinding," by Prof. J. B. Davis; "Engineering Infinity," by Prof. A. Ziwet. The programmes were of very unique design, being specially designed by some of the engineers.

All in One Breath.

"Marmar," yelled one of those dear children occasionally encountered in public vehicles, looking at a young woman with very red cheeks and very dyed hair. "Marmar, why has she got five chimneys on her hat, one at each side and three behind? You've only got two, and that lady over there has only got one. Say, is that one of the hats they won't let 'em wear to the theater." His mother escorted him to the street.

Hutzel's Water Back!

A very important invention which will be hailed with delight by every body using a stove or range for hot water circulation. After years of experience we have succeeded in producing a simple and perfect WATER BACK.

It overcomes all the present troubles of extracting lime and other sediments which accumulate in water backs, often making them useless and in great many instances becoming dangerous.

The outlay of dollars is reduced to dimes. No household using a range can afford to be without it.

No more trouble by using city water for hot water circulation.

Can be used in any stove. Ask your stove dealer for Hutzel's Water Back.

Mason & Davis Co's. ranges for sale at C. Eberbach are provided with our improvement.

Everybody call and examine this useful invention.

An Odd Death Announcement.

The following death announcement appeared the other day in the Frankische Tagespost, Nuremberg: "The life principle of our dear wife and mother ended to-day, in the fifty-fifth year of its existence. The material will be given back to earth in the graveyard on Saturday."

Refreshments Below.

Luella stood thoughtfully watching the heavy downpour of rain, and inquired of her mother as to where all the rain went, who answered: "Into the earth." "Then," said Luella, "the hell people do get a drink sometimes."

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

The same old absence of light in the court house tower nights.

Silas Saxton, of Ypsilanti, takes Walter Hick's place in the Cook House bar-room.

J. L. Babcock is building a colonial porch on the front of his house on Division street.

The Congregational church is to put in a new heating apparatus and J. F. Schuh is to furnish it.

Prof. L. P. Jocelyn of the High School, has been honored by being selected to revise the algebra of the late Prof. Edward Olney. Sheldon & Co., the publishers, have sold many copies of it to universities, colleges and schools all over the country, and they propose to have it revised to bring it up to date. This is a merited compliment to a worthy teacher.

Benj. E. O'Neil and Geo. F. Sanze have been recommended by Postmaster Beakes, for appointment as substitute mail carriers. Harry Nichols, who took the examination for a postoffice clerkship at the recent civil service examination, received the highest markings ever given under the civil service rules. His average was 93.50. Fourteen passed the examination and five failed.

Notices have been posted about the Athletic grounds giving the section of the law relative to trespassing thereon, and the people who have been in the habit of taking in the athletic games without paying for it, had better look out for breakers, for the authorities have determined to enforce the law. A student was arrested Saturday as a starter, and paid costs. Others will not be let down so easy.

Dr. W. W. Nichols brought down a twig from a hickory tree from his fruit farm Monday a. m. that showed how cold weather had effected it. The leaves were practically cooked by the frost. The Dr. thinks, however, that his fruit has not been injured. He had no fears for the peaches, but he had grave concern about other fruits, pears, especially, but is inclined to believe them uninjured. Sunday morning ice was reported found on sidewalks in many places, and in gardens in many localities.

Mrs. Susan G. Cooper, widow of A. M. Cooper, died yesterday morning in this city at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ralph C. McAllister. Mrs. Cooper was born in Dublin, Ireland, of English parents, Nov. 21, 1823. She came to this country when a girl and lived for many years in the township of Lima. After her marriage she lived for many years in Saline and later in Ann Arbor and Jackson. She was a sister of the late Robert Price. She leaves two children, Mrs. Ralph McAllister of this city, and W. G. Cooper, of Jackson. Funeral from the house, 81 E. Huron st., Tuesday at 1 o'clock, burial private, at Saline.

Officers Fred Huhn and Jay Wood took three prisoners over to Ionia Monday. The prisoners were the ones who had the goods secreted in the straw stack on the Lawrence farm.

That "fair and warmer" weather, reported for Monday, was a slight error on the part of the weather bureau.

George Shellmire, formerly with the Ann Arbor Organ Co., goes to the Lake Park summer resort hotel at Lake Minnetonka, Minn., as soon as the season opens, as chief clerk.

The man who said "don't plant anything that will be injured by the frost until after May 18th," was a very wise man, was he not? Now, how about even the 18th? That's the question.

George Johnston of this city, is back from Ann Arbor, where he was called to attend the funeral of his brother, John W. Johnston, which occurred last Thursday. Deceased had many friends in this city.—Jackson Citizen.

The cleaning of the streets and gutters during the month of April, including the removal of all ice and accumulations of the winter cost $548.48. The gravel on the streets to repair the same during that month was $302.25.

Stage Manager A. L. Barker arrived in the city Monday in the interest of our home talent opera, Mikado, which will be produced May 28th, and 29th, at the grand opera house. Mr. Barker is delighted with the excellent chorus he begins his work with to-day.

George Wahr, who is the local agent for the Hamburg-American Line states that the June steamers are already crowded, and that it is next to impossible to secure a berth, even at this early date. He says that the same is true of nearly all the first-class lines. Talk about hard times. Some way people get money to travel on.

Friday evening, May 24, George R. Swain will give a stereopticon entertainment in the Congregational church, under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society. His subject will be "Glimpses of California." The stereopticon to be used is one of the finest, and the entertainment has been highly complimented by the press of several eastern cities. Admission will be fifteen cents, children ten cents.

Jacob Kapp, the man who was injured by being upset while trundling a wheelbarrow on the T. & A. A. tracks recently, died Monday morning from the effects thereof. He was a native of Germany, and had been a resident of this city some 20 years or more. He was a brother of Franz Kapp, Mrs. Barbara Sauter, and Miss Mary Kapp, all of this city. The funeral services will be held on Wednesday afternoon, from the Bethlehem church, at 2 o'clock.

Timotheus Taminosian, a student from Antioch, Syria, who attended the University here for a number of years, but who could not satisfy the faculty that his faculties were sufficiently developed to be granted a sheepskin, is a member of the graduating class of the Jefferson Medical college, of Philadelphia, Pa., and on May 15th he becomes a full-fledged M. D. He was a good student while here, but found the English language quite perplexing, and was too ambitious to take the time necessary to thoroughly master it. His address is No. 1003 Spruce st., Philadelphia, Pa.

On Friday evening two young ladies, Miss Frazer of Albion, and Miss Ida Johnson, of this city, were walking upon the stone walk on the north side of the University square, when a girl came up behind them on a wheel and ordered them off the walk. They did not get off as quickly as the rider desired, and made some remark about not being obliged to give the right of way to bicycles. The girl then said that "bicycles had a right to the walks here, and she would show them whether or not they would get off the walk," or words of like import. Then she took her wheel, went back a ways, mounted and ran into the ladies. Miss Frazer was thrown down, and an arm considerably injured and was bruised quite badly. It was an outrage, and the perpetrator ought not to go unpunished. Pedestrians have rights on the walks that everybody is bound

FLOATING WIT, HUMOR AND SATIRE.

The Theater Hat—The Pineville Farmer and the Telephone—Ruling Passion Is Strong in Death—A Darkville Resurrection.

Some lawmakers quite recently sat Very gravely discussing the theater hat. With the purpose of calling it down from its perch At theater, opera, lecture or church, Or suppressing it wholly from decking the pates Of their charmingly lovely but obstinate mates. Then they drew up a bill with this object in view. But lacked enough ballots to carry it through; For each married man in that legislature Knew something at least of one woman's nature, And said in effect, that contrariwise Must be any statutes that they should devise. That victory only by them could be won By commanding the ladies to keep their hats on. —Truth.

She Gave Thanks. He (earnestly)—And now that we are engaged, Ethel, will you pray for me? She—Oh, no, George, I've been praying for you for the last eight years. But, now that I've got you I'll thank the Lord for you. I really think I ought to.

Literary Usury. Rebecca—Oh, Ike, dat poy Leopold reads his books vit such great interest! Ikey—Mine gracious, Rebecca—great interest! We can't afford it.

Hard to Avoid. "Like all men, you have a pet name for your wife, I suppose?" "Oh, yes." "What do you call her?" "I call her my income tax, usually."

Impending Trouble. "Is there a surgeon aboard?" hastily asked the excited passenger on a Third Avenue car as he rose up and looked anxiously about. "I am a surgeon," answered a man near the door.

"Thanks," rejoined the excited passenger. "Don't get off for a few minutes, please. I see a fellow up there at the next crossing that always grabs my arm about the elbow with his left hand, while he gives me the pump-handle shake with the other hand. I was vaccinated a week ago, lost $10 on a baseball match yesterday and my wife is cleaning house. If that man gets on this car there'll be bloodshed."—Texas Sitings.

A Chronic Flirt. Mrs. Pete Amsterdam is much given to flirting. On catching her winking the other eye for about the fortieth time, Pete told her to go to a certain warm climate. "Did you tell me to go to hades," she asked. "Yes, I did, but I'll take it back. You needn't go. You wouldn't be there ten minutes before you would be flirting with the devil."

A Long Range Kiss. Johnnie Masher—May I kiss you with the ardor of the rising sun kissing a beautiful flower? Miss Flirty—Yes, I will grant your request if you will stay as far away from me as the sun is.

He Knew Him. "So Mr. Westside is not in?" "No, sah. What name shall I tell him, when he returns, sah." "No name necessary; I am an intimate friend of his."

Fifty-four new postoffices were established in Michigan during the month of April.

The billiard rooms at the Cook House are to be discontinued and the store they occupied is now rentable.

Mrs. Mary Schlenderer, widow of the late Fred Schlenderer, has had an increase of pension issued to her.

Chas. Schott has been notified that by the death of his father in Stuttgart, Germany, recently, he will be entitled to $3,500 of his father's estate.

There is a lot of improvements in progress on Spring st. Wm. H. McIntyre is painting his residence, Mr. Phelps has thoroughly renovated, repaired and painted his house next door, and many other places in the locality have been repaired and repainted.

When J. T. Jacobs returned from Chicago, the other night, he could obtain no other car berth but No. 13 so he took that, and strange as it may seem, nothing happened to him on the way home. It may be because he is not a believer in the 13 superstition.

Maurice O'Rourke, who was at one time a prominent tailor doing business in this city, and who will be remembered by many of our citizens, died at Elreno, Oklahoma, April 29, at the home of his son and the remains were taken to Plattsmouth, Neb., for interment.

It may be she will ride a wheel,
It may be that she'll walk;
But come one as howe'er she come,

Ed. Dunwell, formerly with H. J. Brown, who has been visiting his home in Plainwell for several weeks, has returned and is now with Goodyear & Co.

The people in that vicinity object to the dumping of dead dogs, cats and other refuse in the ravine on Felch st., between Ashley st. and the T. & A. tracks.

F. T. Swan, No. 43 S. Thayer st., had a Rambler bicycle stolen on April 14. Last night Mr. McCarthy, who lives near the poor farm, came in and reported finding a wheel in an unused well on his premises, which proved to be the lost one. The thieves had hid it there for future use.

The organ concert of the May Festival, to be held Saturday May 18, at 11 o'clock a. m., will be free to all holding Choral Union Season tickets.

Those having such tickets will present the entire ticket to either the Ann Arbor Organ Co's store or Calkins' drug store at any time before the concert, and secure tickets for this special concert.

The meeting held at the M. E. church to take into consideration the proposition to establish a coffee room in this city was attended by about fifty people. The plan was thoroughly discussed and it was resolved to make an attempt to raise a sufficient amount to try the experiment. It is desired to secure about $500, and an effort will be made to raise that sum of money to start in with. The ladies have one or two locations offered them, and a prominent lady of the city we understand, has volunteered to take charge of it for a time, at least.

Chas. H. Allmand, of the firm of Jacobs & Allmand, was married last evening at the residence of Rev. Fr. Kelly, to Miss Kathleen M. Moe, of this city, Rev. Fr. Goldrick of St. Patrick's church officiating, Rev. Fr. Kelly being out of the city, called away by the sickness of his father.

The bride is one of the finest young ladies in the city, and Charlie one of our most popular young business men. They have taken rooms for the present at No. 30 E. Washington st., and will receive the hearty congratulations of hosts of friends.

Last night as the special merchandise train that leaves Detroit at about 7:30 and arrives here at about 9:30, was pulling out of Ypsilanti, it was boarded by upwards of fifteen tramps.

The train men felt alarmed, and when they reached Ann Arbor Sheriff Judson was sent for, and four of the hobos were arrested, the balance scattering themselves in all directions.

The M. C. detectives are up here today to make the proper complaints. Night before last a gang of tramps broke into one of the cars near Marshall and stole some $200 worth of gent's furnishing goods.

The funeral services of the late John W. Johnston were held Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, at St. Andrew's church, Rev. Henry Tatlock officiating. The honorary pall bearers were Moses Seabolt, H. J. Brown, Dr. A. C. Nichols, Geo. H. Pond, and the active bearers were Eli. W. Moore, Henry B. Masten, Pusey W. Moore and John Christiansen. Washtenaw lodge I. O. O. F. came out some forty strong as an escort, and the Daughters of Rebekah were also out in a body. There were a large number of beautiful floral remembrances. At the grave the I. O. O. F. burial service was read by Johnathan Sprague and the ritual was read by the members of the order.

There is going to be a great many people in the city from all over the state for the May Festival.

A gentleman's bicycle was found secreted in the coal sheds near the T. & A. R. R. tracks Saturday night.

Prof. Stanley says that they are having difficulty in securing enough rooms for the May Festival visitors.

All railroad tickets for the May Festival, on all railroads in Michigan, will be sold at one fare for the round trip, and be good to return up to and including May 20th.

An agent for the National Masonic Accident Association, of Des Moines Iowa, has been very successful in securing members here. Elmer E. Beal has been appointed local agent and collector.

Our friends from abroad should remember that the railroad tickets which they will purchase for the May Festival, will be good to return on Monday May 20th. This will give them a Sunday in Ann Arbor if they desire it.

There was no evening service at the Unitarian church Sunday evening nor will there be from this time on until the vacation, except by special announcement. The morning services Sunday school and Bible classes will continue as usual.

The librettos for the Musical Festival will be put on sale this week. Boys will canvass the city, going from house to house, and selling them for ten cents each. It is hoped that our citizens will generally provide themselves with a copy.

The M. C. R. refused to haul the Knights Templar Boston train to Detroit, consequently the same will be taken out of town by the T. & A. & N. M. R. to Hamburg, and from there to Port Huron. There is more than one way to get out of town, you see.

Eugene Du Boise, a grandson of Mrs. Israel Hall, while coasting down the N. State st. hill Wednesday, was thrown from his wheel by the breaking of the chain, and considerably injured. The wheel was smashed into "flinders." He was taken to the Hospital and cared for.

The editor of the Ann Arbor Courier notes that he has paid out $12 to get his garden planted and thinks the vegetable production will net the Courier family about $2.96.—Northville Record. That's where you make a mistake. The income mentioned is too abnormally excessive.

Patrick Cavanaugh, of Northfield, lost seventeen sheep by lightning on Tuesday, April 7th. The sheep were standing or lying beside a wire fence, and the lightning struck a post and ran along the wires killing every animal that touched the wire. Insured in the Washtenaw Mutual. Loss $15 or $20 perhaps.

Miss Emma Alexander, for a number of years teacher in the Northville schools, has resigned her position, to take effect at the close of this term. The young lady is an excellent teacher, and her resignation loses for the school here one of its very best teachers. She will return to her home in Ann Arbor.—Northville Record.

Calvin Lucas was put off a M. C. train July 4, 1884, after having given the conductor his ticket. Day before yesterday the railroad paid him over $1,500 for the indignity. The case has been in court some twelve years, and Lucas got a judgment of $1,200 at one time, which the supreme court reversed on a technicality.

Stephen D. Allen, of E. Washington st., went to his lot on the Hill addition, where he is building, Wednesday with a pony. When the rain came up, he attempted to get on the pony's back with a small ladder he had. In some way the pony got frightened, and threw him off, and it is thought must have kicked him and trampled upon him also. He lay unconscious until some one came along who knew him, when he was taken home. He was still unconscious this morning, and it is thought the injuries may prove very serious.

The residence on the Thomas Earl estate near homestead, in Northfield, was struck by lightning Tuesday, and considerably damaged, but just how much is not known. There was no one living in the house. Insured in the Washtenaw Mutual. There is a little incident connected with this that is worth relating. A young lad was working on the farm, that day, and when the storm came up he drove his team up to the barn and after putting them therein he went to the house. For some reason, which he could not explain, he could not be contented to remain, so he went to a neighboring house some little distance away, and has ever since been glad he did so.

The Free Press today speaks of our regent as Col. H. S. Bean. This calls for blows.

The pupils of the 5th ward school will take an active part in the Memorial Day services again this year.

Chicken thieves attempted to "swipe" the coop of George Spathlef Jr., of the Northside, last Wednesday morning, at about 3:30 o'clock, but they were heard by Patrolman Armbruster and frightened away.

John W. Babbitt, who died at Washington, D. C., last Saturday, had been a clerk in the treasury department a number of years. He was treasurer of this county during 1866 and '67, being elected from Salem, against Philip Blum, of Lodi.

On the south side of Frieze Memorial hall is a fence, high enough so that when a lad climbs upon it he can look into the window and see the musicians as well as hear the music. Last night one of the kids fell back over into a lot of tin cans etc., making a rattling accompaniment to the piano and violin.

Great Commander Boynton of the K. O. T. M. has issued an order that Tuesday, June 14th, be celebrated by members of the Maccabees. This will be the 14th anniversary of the order and the subordinate tents everywhere should observe it as heretofore as a day of jubilee.

The postoffice department is not entirely satisfied with the present form of money order, and the general public never has been. It is too large to handle easily and adds great bulk to the mails. The department is now at work on a new order which will resemble a bank draft in size and will be much more convenient. It will be issued soon.

The third lecture of the Wesleyan Guild series for the year, will be given in the Methodist church next Sunday evening, by Bishop W. X. Ninde, of Detroit. His subject will be "Observations in Eastern Asia." The Bishop has only recently returned from a visit to Corea, Japan and China, and will without doubt, have something interesting to say.

We understand that there is an ordinance upon the city's statute books, to this effect: "That the gas company, water company, street railway or any other organization, dig no holes in the streets anywhere, for any purpose, without permission and proper notice, and that in filling all trenches, the earth must be solidly tamped. Now the question is whose duty is it to enforce that law?"

President Angell, Col. H. S. Dean, Robert Campbell, Maj. Harrison Soule, Dr. W. F. Breakey, Maj. Wm. C. Stevens and George W. Bullis, were in attendance upon the Michigan Commandery, Loyal Legion, at the Russell House, Detroit, Thursday. President Angell responded to a toast after which he was given three cheers. Judge Robert E. Frazer, formerly of this city, also responded to a toast, in a very pleasing manner, if we are to judge by the reports.

May 6, 1870, at Chelsea, Michigan, at the residence of the bride's parents, Miss Durand and George A. Robertson were united in marriage. Last night at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. George A. Robertson, 174 East Main st., this worthy couple celebrated the 25th anniversary of their marriage by a silver wedding. There were about seventy-five guests present who spent a very enjoyable evening. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Billings, of Toledo, who were the bridesmaid and best man at the wedding, also the father and mother of Mrs. Robertson. The rooms were handsomely decorated and illuminated. Very fine refreshments were served in excellent style. Dr. and Mrs. Robertson were the recipients of numerous elegant presents in silver.—Battle Creek Moon, May 7.

The Faculty Concert at Frieze Hall last Thursday evening was greeted by a magnificent audience. Magnificent in the sense of quality, and a good one in point of numbers. The selections rendered were all excellent, and every participant was obliged to respond to an encore. Miss Jaffe and Mr. Zeitz opened the entertainment promptly on time—an incident worthy of note and emulation—with a sonata for piano and violin from Rheinberger. Mr. Lamson followed with one of Wagner's productions, Slegmund's Love Song, from the "Walkure," and after a great deal of urging he responded with another selection, quite as classical. Alberto Jonas interpreted a bit from Schumann and from Schubert in a truly artistic manner, also responding to an encore. The next selection, "Fantaisie-Caprice op. 11, H. Vieuxtemps" as produced by Mr. Zeitz, was the best thing of the evening. Mr. Zeitz refused to appear again, and surely the audience were satisfied not to have the memory of those beautiful strains marred by anything that might follow. The evening's splendid entertainment closed with "Toreador's Song, from Carmen," by Mr. Lamson. Altogether it was a delightful evening, and thoroughly enjoyed by the music lovers present.

SCIENCE UP TO DATE

RECENT DEVELOPMENTS IN VARIOUS FIELDS.

Chemical Compounds Gradually Working a Remarkable Change in the Condition of Mankind—May Live on Vitalized Air in the Future.

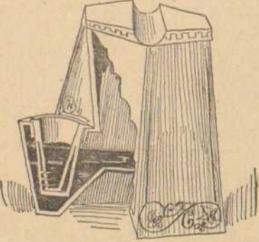

FOR MANY YEARS chemistry and science have been working to the top of their bent to divide and subdivide and analyze various elements in nature. It is but a natural sequence that they should after a while, attempt to unite different elements to form new compounds, or add to the ingredients of those already in existence. Some years ago, when Edison declared that the day would come when food products could be made in the laboratory, he was laughed at. That this is possible is already been proven; but as it is in the chemist's power to make an egg, yet not one that will hatch, so it is possible to unite ingredients according to chemical formula, but not to have them take the place of the time-honored bread and meat of the generation behind us. It would be, no doubt, a good thing if the common articles of food could be chemically prepared. Getting fresh in quantity, coal-tar and petroleum furnishing an enormous number of valuable chemicals. Matter originally came from a plant, but the red color obtained from coal-tar has practically driven it out of the market. Indigo is also made artificially, and as soon as cheaper processes can be brought into use, will destroy the Indian industry altogether. Sugar, or that which answers its purpose, has been produced with great success. There are various chemical sugars that are not known in natural states, but these are too expensive because of the cost involved in their manufacture. From quartz to quartz crystals chemical analysis is on the alert, and only the price of the production keeps some of the new articles out of the market.

Old Salt Factories.

Salt is one of the most ancient articles of diet, and its manufacture has at all times been extremely interesting. A factory of very old date exists in a Mexican town in the state of Michoacan. The works are more than four thousand feet above the sea level. They are situated in a volcanic region, and salt water drops out through various crevices in the rock. The most primitive methods are employed for making the salt. They are little terraces built on the hillsides and these are covered with flat-topped stones. Over these clay is placed and formed in basin shape. In these hollows on the terrace the brine is put and evaporated by the atmosphere. It takes about four days to clear the water out of one of these little vessels. The salt is dirty and coarse, as might be supposed, but a really remarkable quantity is prepared in this fashion.

An Improved Ink Well.

The illustration represents, in perspective with a broken-out section, an ink well that is not easily tipped over, which is designed to prevent dipping the pen too deeply into the ink, and to hold the ink in the well proper ally clean and free from sediment. The improvement has been patented by John Black, New Zealand. The main reservoir has a raised bottom, in the front side of which is a depression with tapering inner and outer walls, adapted to receive a removable double-walled well, having perforations near its bottom through which the ink flows slowly from the reservoir. On the outside of the removable well is a vertical groove, admitting air to the reservoir, and by regulating the thickness of the top flange of the well, the height to which the ink rises in it may be determined. Above and back of the well is a recess to provide room for the fingers in dipping the pen, and in the top is a transverse groove to receive the pen when not in use. It is apparent that the removable well is kept supplied as long as any ink remains in the reservoir, and the point of the pen is protected from settlements.

A Ship's Buoy

Among the interesting novelties in the way of inventions is a ship's buoy. It is arranged to be carried on the deck of the vessel and so attached that if the ship goes down it records the hour and minute of the disaster. Automatic machinery is set in motion, when the buoy shows a lamp, burns blue lights, rings a bell and fires rockets.

An Electric Submarine Torpedo Boat. Mr. Allen, a resident of Melbourne, has invented an electric submarine torpedo boat, which he claims, can be sunk to any depth and can be run as fast as a surface boat. It can be kept submerged, he says, for three days. A successful experiment with Allan's model was made lately in the presence of the Earl of Popotoun and many naval and military officers. After seeing the experiments Rear Admiral Bowden-the opinion that the boat is all that Mr. Allan claimed, and is destined to revolutionize naval warfare.

A Refractory Mixture.

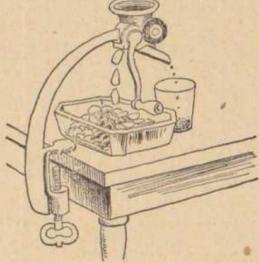

M. Debois, of Reuleaux, France, has patented a mixture which, according to the Moniteur Industriel when burned will withstand the highest temperatures. The mixture is composed of quartz, or flint and sulphate of barium. The proportions are varied according to the needed resistance of the material, in some cases ground, Pudding stone is also added to the "mix." The mass when moistened will take any shape like ordinary fire clay, and is dried and burned in the same manner.

New Use for Aluminum.

One of the improvements made in the accoutrements of the Prussian soldiers is in the boots. The old-fashioned steel nails have been displaced by nails from aluminum, which is much lighter and more durable. The extra weight under the sole of the foot imposed by the heavy nails formerly worn, and the added weight consequent upon the clogging mud in nasty weather, made an extra amount of muscular expenditure necessary.

A Raisin Seeder.

We take pleasure in presenting to our lady readers the accompanying cut of a raisin-seeder. It is the first implement designed for this purpose that has proven practical and satisfactory. It seeds raisins without waste of pulp, and does the work speedily. It is certainly a boon to the housewife, and it will become an indispensable kitchen requisite.

Purifying Water. While the importance of pure water is universally admitted, and ways of obtaining it are said to be many and certainly are complicated, it is a comparatively simple formula that will purify ordinary water, especially in reservoirs and filtering basins. The preparation is composed of calcium permanganate, one part; aluminum sulphate, ten parts; fine clay, thirty parts. These are thoroughly mixed and one part is added to about ten thousand parts of water. It is said that even a sewer drainage is almost completely purified by this mixture. It precipitates all of the impurities and living organisms, and the clear portion may be drawn off and used with perfect safety. This is simple and sure of great value, especially where malarial conditions prevail in water.

Scientific Theories.

It is amazing what queer things people will believe if they are only marked science. Some years ago Schiaparelli declared that he had observed artificial waterways or canals on the surface of Mars. The conclusion was that Mars was inhabited. Some months ago an eminent professor of science announced that certain lights on Mars were electric flashlights, and that they were signals to the scientific people of this world.

And now we have from another professor a voluminous book explaining the high state of civilization among the Martians. But now Prof. Campbell of Lick Observatory, the best-equipped in the world, says that Mars has no atmosphere.

Popular Science.

Mountains are climbed in Central Africa by the aid of a long loop of calico called a "Machila." The climber reaches back at one end, while six or eight strong men pull at the other.

Sir Robert Ball, the astronomer royal for Ireland, is said to believe that the time is approaching when photography will be able to construct machinery that will be operated with heat obtained by the direct action of the sun's rays.

"The unprecedented death rate in England, largely due to influenza, and especially severe upon old people," says the Medical News, "has of late in London reached so high a figure as 38.5, and in Liverpool the frightful rate of 55.5 has been recorded."

The waters of North America, which means the Gulf of Mexico, the two great oceans and the rivers, creeks and lakes, are stocked with 1,800 different varieties of fish. Of the above number 500 are peculiar to the Pacific and 600 to the rivers, creeks and lakes.

Dr. A. E. Bridger expresses the opinion in the British Medical Journal that in the act of kissing we encounter only beneficial organisms. He says that "The advantages of kissing outweigh its infinitesimal risk, for it provides us with microbes useful for digestion."

In a recent balloon ascent of six miles, Dr. A. Berson of Berlin states that the thermometer registered eighty-four degrees of frost F., and that he took an occasional sip at an oxygen cylinder which was part of his equipment, but that he suffered no serious inconvenience. This is so unprecedented that it would be interesting, and perhaps more satisfactory, to know whether the accuracy of the instruments used had been properly verified.

Precept and Example.

Scene—A Sunday school. Johnnie—I say, Miss Jones, I know now why you didn't want me to rob birds' nests last spring. Miss Jones (with an oriole in her hat)—Why was it, Johnnie? Johnnie (gazing with admiring eyes at the hat)—Cause you wanted the birds to grow big enough to wear 'em.—Kate Field's Washington.

FOR THE CO-ED GYMNASIUM.

Enthusiastic Alumni and Alumnae Raise $670 at the Detroit Meeting of Saturday.

There was a very enthusiastic meeting in Detroit last Saturday in behalf of the co-ed's gymnasium. It was held in the new Chamber of Commerce building, the beautiful hall of which was filled with friends of the university and of the co-eds. In the absence of President Angell, Don M. Dickinson, law '67, preside at the meeting and made an address. He spoke in an eloquent manner of the advantages that would follow the building of such a structure as is proposed and announced himself heart and soul in favor of the enterprise. Mrs. Marshall Pease sang "Calm as the Night" and then Mrs. Mary Thompson Stevens read a paper on the "Physical Needs of a Woman's Gymnasium." Judging from the available extract of Mrs. Stevens' talk, it was not only very interesting but valuable as setting forth the great value of a woman's gymnasium. Mrs. Sunderland followed her in an address, showing the social influence that the gymnasium must exert. Miss Winnifred Lane spoke of the plans for the building. She told of the gymnasium at Vassar with its bathing facilities and swimming tank. She hoped that these things would not be forgotten in the Ann Arbor gymnasium. Alberto Jonas at this point played three piano selections to the admiration of the audience.

Then began the important part of the afternoon's program, the scheme for raising the money. Hon. S. L. Smith to the platform. That gentleman vigorously scored the present legislature for its picaresque policy toward the university, saying that it was worthy of every consideration. He believed that the girls should not be grateful for what they were given at the university; what they received was only their right. Mr. Smith thought that a good idea in raising the money would be to get 130 alumni or alumnae to pledge $100 each, and showed his good faith in making the proposition by at once subscribing $100. Subscribers were then the order and in a few minutes $670 were raised.

At this point Senator McLaughlin entered the room and he was called upon for a speech. He said he would do all for the university that he could at Lansing and possibly the legislature would relent and do something yet. Mrs. President Angell was then introduced. She made a neat address, explaining the advantages of the proposed woman's building. Mrs. G. O. Robinson and Miss Winnifred Lane were appointed a committee to co-operate with the other committees in raising the money and the meeting adjourned, a great success.

School Enrollment.

The total number of children enrolled in schools, in 1890, was 14,219,571. The total number of children of school age, which is arbitrarily assumed at from five to seventeen years, inclusive, was 18,543,200, or nearly 30 per cent. of the population. The school enrollment was 75 per cent. of the children of school age. The attendance at school was about two-thirds of the enrollment. Therefore it appears that about one-half of the total number of children of school age attended school.

Of the total number of children enrolled in all schools, 12,728,417, or about nine-tenths of the whole, were enrolled in the public schools; 753,972 were enrolled in private schools, and 737,182 in parochial schools.—From "The Building of a Nation," by Henry Gannett, New York: The Henry T. Thomas Company.

ESTATE OF ISAAC C. HANDY, DECEASED.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Washtenaw, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office in the City of Ann Arbor, on Friday, the 15th day of April, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five. Present, J. Willard Babbitt, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Isaac C. Handy, deceased. On reading and filing the petition, duly verified of William R. Clark, Executor, praying that he may be licensed to mortgage certain real estate whereof said deceased died seized. Thereupon it is ordered, that Tuesday, the fourteenth day of May next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the devisees, legatees, heirs-at-law, or any of them, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the City of Ann Arbor, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted. And it is further ordered, that a copy of this order to be published in a newspaper printed and circulating in said county, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. J. WILLARD BABBITT, Judge of Probate. Wm. G. Dory, Probate Register.

ESTATE OF JOHN M. LETTS, INCOMPETENT.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Washtenaw, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office in the City of Ann Arbor, on Wednesday, the 1st day of April, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five. Present, J. Willard Babbitt, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of John M. Letts, incompetent, George J. Crowell, the guardian of said ward, comes into court and prays that he be assigned to render his final account as such guardian. Thereupon it is ordered, that Friday, the 3rd day of April, next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said account, and that the next of kin of said ward, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court, then to be held at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, and show cause, if any there be, why the said account should not be allowed. And it is further ordered, that said guardian give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said account, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in a newspaper printed and circulating in said county, two successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. On Bad Handwriting. One of the most important things for boys or girls to learn to do is to write plainly, so that those who have to read what they write are left in no doubt as to their meaning. Several amusing stories of the embarrassment which has resulted from not learning to write legibly are told. One of these is of a Massachusetts clergyman who newly got himself into a peck of trouble because of the bad quality of his handwriting. It was more than a century ago that this clergyman had occasion to address a letter to the general court of Massachusetts upon some subject of great interest at that time. When the letter was received the court ordered the clerk to read it, and was filled with wrath at what appeared to be these words in opening: "I address you not as magistrate, but as Indian devils." "What?" they cried. "Read that over again. How does he address us?" "Not as magistrates, but as Indian devils," repeated the clerk. "That's what he says." The letter was passed around, and the judges were by no means pleased to see that the clerk had apparently made no mistake. Very angry at what they believed to be an insult, the judges passed a vote of censure upon the clergyman, and wrote to him demanding an apology. He came before them in person, when it turned out that where the judges had read Indian devils he had written individuals—which, of course, made an apology unnecessary; but the reverend gentleman was admonished to improve his handwriting if he wished to keep out of trouble.

THE OUTCOME REVIEWED.

The Attempt to Wreck the Board of Public Works and Mr. Clark not a Success.

The trial of Mr. Clark, president of the Board of Public Works of this city, by the common council, acting as a court of inquiry, closed yesterday afternoon with a verdict in favor of Mr. Clark on a tie vote.

Two republicans voted for Mr. Clark's conviction and two democrats voted against his conviction, so that it could not be called entirely a partisan verdict, although it was a partisan prosecution.

There is no question in the minds of a large majority of the people that the pushing of these charges against Mr. Clark originated in a desire to destroy or control the Board of Public Works by a clique of people here in the city who found out that they could not run the Board to suit themselves.

That is the way it originated. Then it was added to by the contractors and their friends who had been obliged to fulfill their contracts, and do the work according to specifications; then again, the Board has used quite rigid economy, Mr. Clark managing the city's business as he would his own, and there are people who do not believe in that, but think that anything the city can be beaten out of is so much clear, legitimate gain. Then there are others who are opposed to anything that exists anyway and also those who are ready to jump in and condemn a man without a question, all they need being to have some one say a word, and some one to lead.

All these classes combined to oust Mr. Clark and eventually destroy the Board of Public Works, and put the city back again into the old rut where the aldermen controlled the work and consequently the patronage.

The trial was eminently fair. There was no shutting out of testimony, either heresy or any other kind. Everything that was known came out, as it should. It is the opinion of many that Mr. Clark's attorneys injured his case somewhat by objecting to the introduction of testimony that would have been ruled out in any court, but which in this instance it was best for Mr. Clark's own interest to admit. It was not for Mr. Clark's interest to have anything shut out, but on the contrary to have a full, free and clear exposition of everything.

There was not a particle of evidence brought out that would convict Mr. Clark of the charges preferred against him. There was evidence, however, that a sharp agent had attempted to do something—just what may possibly be known hereafter.

It is easy to see how men could consider it a duty to vote with their party; it is easy to see how others who were determined to kill off Mr. Clark and the Board of Public Works, could vote to convict him on the sort of testimony brought out; but how a man who pretends to be an exponent of the law, and a good one at that, a man who makes pretense to extreme fairness, could vote to convict on testimony that would not stand for a minute, even in a justice's court, is among the inscrutable mysteries. Such a vote from such a source might not effect a man's standing as a lawyer, perhaps, but it would seem to show a total deficiency in the peculiar qualities that go to make up an impartial and satisfactory judge.

City Attorney Kline did admirably in handling the case. Considering the little ground he had to stand on, and the up-hill fight he had to make, he did himself credit. It was no fault of his that Mr. Clark was not convicted.

Neither does the Courier have any criticisms to make upon the council they managed the case admirably from the first; and Mr. Hiscock, who presided with so much dignity, ability and eminent fairness to all sides, is due much praise. Ald. Brown and Freyman also proved fully alive to all that was going on, and allowed no evasions or dodges. The trial was conducted with dignity and fairness, and a desire to obtain all evidence possible that could throw any light upon the subject.

The outcome, while not as decisive as could be desired, is creditable to all concerned, all the more so to Mr. Clark from the fact that his enemies left no stone unturned, no possible point uncovered, and yet did not produce a scintilla of evidence against him.

Thus ends the chapter. Things will probably move forward again now.

The Devil.

We are told he does not go about like a roaring lion now; But who shall we hold responsible for the everlasting row To be heard in homes, in church and state, to the earth's remotest bound. If the Devil, by a unanimous vote, is nowhere to be found? Won't somebody step to the front forthwith, and make their bow and show How the frauds and the crimes of a single day spring up? We want to know The Devil was fairly voted out, and of course The Devil's gone; But simple people would like to know who carries his business on.

As You go Through Life.

Don't look for the flaws as you go through life. And even when you find them, It is wiser and kind to be somewhat blind. And look for the virtue behind the crime. For the cloudiest night has a tint of light somewhere in its shadows hiding; It is better by far to look at a star Than the people would like to abide.

The current of life runs ever away To suit your whim to the great ocean; Don't set your force 'gainst the river's course, And think to alter its motion. Don't waste a curse on the universe— Remember it lived before you; Don't butt at the storm with your puny form. But bend and let it go o'er you.

The world will never adjust itself To suit your whim to the letter; Some things go wrong your whole life long, And the sooner you know it the better. It is folly to fight with the minute And go under at last in the wrestle; The wisest man shapes into God's great plan, As water shapes into a vessel.

The Lewis Art Gallery.

The collection of paintings and works of art in Coldwater, known as the Lewis Art Gallery, comprising 650 paintings and forty pieces of statuary, some of them very valuable, will now become the property of the University, Mr. Lewis' widow, who after his death became Mrs. Dennis, having died in Coldwater yesterday.

It is intimated that there is a party in the state who contemplates giving an art building to the University.

Death of Miss Mary D. Beers.

Miss Mary D. Beers, sister of Mrs. R. A. Beal died Friday a. m. at the age of 75 years, at Mrs. Beal's home, of general debility.

The deceased was born in Clinton, Dutchess county, New York, on August 7th, 1820, and came to Ann Arbor to live about 27 years ago.

She had been a faithful member of the M. E. church nearly all her life, and was greatly respected by all who knew her.

Death of John W. Johnston.

Word was received here this morning of the death last night, at Pontiac, of Mr. John W. Johnston, of the Northside.

Mr. Johnston was a native of this city, and 56 years of age, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnston, who were among the earliest pioneers of this city and county. For a period of twenty-five years he was with the Ann Arbor Agricultural Co., one of the most trusty, and best men in its employ. He was a member of Washtenaw Lodge I. O. O. F., a member of Huron Council National Union in which he carried a policy of $1,000 on his life, and for a number of years was a vestryman of St. Andrew's parish, of which he was a communicant. He leaves a wife, a daughter Ida M., and one son, Clarence W. Johnston. The funeral services have not been fully decided upon yet, but will probably be held at St. Andrew's church Friday afternoon.

Mr. Johnston's health failed him some four years ago, since which time he has been cared for at Pontiac.

Women often feel the effect of too much gaiety—balls, theatres, and teas—in rapid succession find them worn out, or "run-down" by the end of the season. They suffer from nervousness, sleeplessness and irregularities. The spirits take flight. It is time to accept the help offered in Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It's a medicine which was discovered and used by a prominent physician for many years in all cases of "female complaint" and the nervous disorders which arise from it. The "Prescription" is a powerful uterine tonic and nerve, especially adapted to woman's delicate wants for it regulates and promotes all the natural functions, builds up, invigorates and cures.

Many women suffer from nervous prostration, or exhaustion, owing to congestion or to disorder of the special functions. The waste products should be quickly got rid of, the local source of irritation relieved and the system invigorated with the "Prescription." Do not take the so-called celery compounds, and nervines which only put the nerves to sleep, but get a lasting cure with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

"FEMALE WEAKNESS."

"Mrs. WILLIAM HOOVER, of Belleville, Richland Co., Ohio, writes: 'I had been a great sufferer from "female weakness." I tried three doctors; they did me no good; I thought I was an invalid forever. But I heard of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and then I wrote to him and he told me just how to take it. I took eight bottles, and I now feel entirely well. I could stand on my feet only a short time, and now I do all my work for my family of five.'"

Mrs. HOOVER.

TRAVELING TRUNK.

Who Did Not Want Its Numerous Foreign Labels Washed Off?

A Chicago woman who has traveled extensively and who intends to make her annual departure for Europe in a few weeks, sent her steamer trunk to a Randolph street establishment to be repaired. The workman who was put in charge of the job was a willing soul, and he wanted to make the trunk appear as if it were new. Accordingly he went all over it with hot water and a sponge and peeled off all the disfiguring labels placed there by the steamship companies, railways and hotels of foreign nations. He did not know that the special pride of a traveler is the number of labels on his trunk. These labels show that he has been in London, Paris, Berlin, Vienna, Rome, Constantinople, and Cairo, stopping at first-class hotels and traveling by the best routes. A trunk has no dignity until it is plastered over with colored paper says Chicago Record. The workman didn't know that—at least not until the woman came in to inspect the repairs, and then there was a scene. First she screamed and then she wanted to break down and cry. The proprietor told how sorry he was, and the workman made his frightened apology. He happened to remember that he had thrown the labels into a waste basket, so he searched and found most of them, although they were rather torn and crumpled. However, he spent two hours in piecing out the labels and sticking them on the trunk so there was some balm for the woman's feelings. Now there is a rule in that shop: "Never remove a label from a trunk or valise."

PLANTATION MINSTRELSY.

Some of the Old-Time Musicians Still Found in the Far South.

I have just been down in the valley of the Mississippi—away out in the lowlands of Louisiana, where the sugar cane grows and the country grows so green and beautiful in the spring-time. I go there annually a little later than this and put in several months at that season of the year when the trees are budding and the ground is growing over with a verdant carpet and the birds are singing to a charm, and I tell you there is no more tempting land, no more reposeful and dreamy region to be found anywhere. But, as I was going on to say, one finds many of the old-time musicians there on the great cotton and sugar plantations. The old fellows have the air and manner of the barons of the old south they used to be. They were reared in luxury and ease and have never known a care, it would seem. You sometimes find them sitting on the verandas of their great white houses surrounded by the tall columns that tower up, and amid a world of fragrant flowers—just sitting out there in their shirt sleeves, or with some light coat on basking in the sunlight and singing the old-time songs, while away off yonder in the fields the darkies are singing too, while they work. It is a picture one never forgets when he has once seen it. Some how the air down there in the early springtime seems to have some sort of narcotic in it, for it makes a fellow feel as sleepy and drowsy and dreamy and at perfect peace with the world as a clime could make him feel.

Empress Frederick.

The eldest child of the queen, Victoria Adelaide, Princess Royal of England, and widow of Frederick the Noble, Emperor of Germany, was born in November, 1840, and is therefore 55 years of age this year. When her husband was a youth of 24 he ascended the hills of Balmoral with her, and plucking a piece of white heather, the emblem of good luck, he offered her the throne of Prussia, and, though then they knew it not, the imperial crown of Germany. An informal engagement was entered upon. The marriage followed two years later. Empress Frederick is an abler woman than her mother or any of her sisters. Bismarck and a bigoted Prussian following could not crush this gifted iron-willed little woman, whose husband worshipped her and believed her to be his guiding star in all things.

Outfit for a Titled Infant.

The Countess of Flanders sent a lovely layette to Potsdam last week for the expected infant of her young daughter, Princess Josephine (Princess Charles of Hohenzollern-Sigmaringen). The christening mantle is in rich silk reps, embroidered with fleur-de-lis and acanthus, with entre-deux of Brussels lace and Venetian point; a large fluted rubans falls from the right shoulder, attached to the cloak by the escutcheon of Flanders, embroidered in silk and interlaced with the arms of the Hohenzollerns. The bibs bear the same device and are trimmed with costly Valenciennes lace; this truly royal outfit is composed of 700 articles.

Beneficiaries of Worth.

In memory of their father—of world-wide renown—MM. Gaston and Jean Worth have distributed $800 to the following societies; $200 each to the "Mutualite Maternelle and the Association de l'Aiguille, and $400 to La Couturiere, an association for mutual support. They have also given $200 to the poor of the Second Arrondissement of Paris, in which their house of business is situated, and as much to the Bureau de Bienfaisance of Suresnes, where the late M. Worth had his abode.

A Sad Case.

Hostess—My dear count, you must pardon me, but I have such a very poor memory of names it's a real affliction. I have forgotten yours.

That What the Tribune Critic Thinks Detroit Ought to be About the Musical Festival.

The musical critic of the Detroit Tribune, Mr. Wilcox, who is also publisher of the Song Journal, writes in the Sunday News-Tribune of April 28, as follows:

A copy of the bulletin announcing the festival concerts at Ann Arbor on May 17 and 18 has just reached me. How any Detroit music lover can read of the treat which is in store for the people of University City, and not feel ashamed of his own big town, when he remembers that we are not to have so much as a one day "festival," is more than I can understand. All our boasted musical culture sounds pretty much like hollow talk when one remembers that we have not had an oratorio performance, and only one good orchestral concert in a year.

To be frank with ourselves we have not yet attained to the degree of culture where we enjoy the best in music sufficient to pay our money to hear it. We lead hard times and remain at home when a great artist, or organization, visits the city, and the next week we spend three times as much as tickets would have cost for some frivolity or other—anything which happens to be the social fad at that particular time. The managers have become familiar with this characteristic, and as a result they are not anxious to arrange expensive concerts, and run the risk of losing money.

But if we cannot have May festival concerts in Detroit, we are glad that Ann Arbor is more progressive. No doubt many Detroit musicians will attend the concerts there.

EIGHT LOTS FOR SALE.

THE OWEN ELECTRIC BELT

FOR MEN AND WOMEN

The latest and only scientific and practical Electric Belt made, for general use, producing a genuine current of Electricity, for the cure of disease, that can be readily felt and regulated both in quantity and power, and applied to any part of the body. It can be worn at any time during working hours or sleep, and

WILL POSITIVELY CURE

RHEUMATISM, LUMBAGO, GENERAL DEBILITY, LAME BACK, NERVOUS DISEASES, VARIOUS SEXUAL WEAKNESSES, IMPOTENCY, KIDNEY DISEASES.

WITHOUT MEDICINE

Electricity, properly applied, is fast taking the place of drugs for all Nervous, Rheumatic, Kidney and Urinary Troubles, and will effect cures in seemingly hopeless cases where every other known means has failed.

Any sluggish, weak or diseased organ may be brought to healthy activity before it is too late. Leading medical men use and recommend the Owen Belt in their practice.

OUR LARGE ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE

Contains fullest information regarding the cure of acute, chronic and nervous diseases, prices, and how to order. In English, German, Swedish and Norwegian languages, will be mailed, upon application, to any address for 6 cents postage.

CAMP FIRE STORIES

SHORT SKETCHES AND ETCHINGS FOR OLD SOLDIERS.

Home for the Woman's Relief Corps in Missouri—The Man on the Cask—Anecdotes of a Great General—Some Tricks of Soldiers.

CLIP THE FOLLOWING concerning the good work of the ladies of the W. R. C. from the Western Veteran "Mrs. Hollen E. Day, president of the W. R. C. Soldiers' Home of Missouri, is working hard to accomplish the purpose of the organization. A number of desirable bids have been received from localities wanting the home, all of which will be considered at the annual meeting at Macon, Mo. Urges that memberships be renewed at once so that there may be a large representation at that meeting. The dues are $1 a year and must be paid to entitle one to a vote. A payment of $25 makes one a member for life. Mrs. Day criticises a certain post in the department for giving a supper and entertainment for the benefit of the Confederate home at Higginville, while it has done nothing in that direction for its own comrades. Mrs. C. A. Day, 1818 Penn street, and Mrs. Alice L. Glenn, Fourteenth and Jefferson, Kansas City, Mo., are authorized to receive subscriptions for the home."

Watch for the Drop.

One of the soldiers of the Seventh Cavalry at Fort Sheridan strolled into the canteen one day and found a number of soldiers trying games of one kind and another. Some were tricks in athletics and some were amateur sleight-of-hand performances. The young cavalryman waited till things eased up a little, and then climbed on a table and stuck the open blade of his pocketknife into the plain pine ceiling. Then he got down and announced that he would set a beer bottle so squarely under that knife that when it fell it would drop straight into the neck of the bottle. Nobody believed he could do it, and before the knife fell he had a number of bets against his ability. Just then the knife loosened. Straight as a dart it fell and dropped into the neck of the bottle, touching not so much as a hint of the sides, and knocking out the bottom in its heavy fall. There was a murmur of amazement and the declaration that he could not do it again. The cavalryman said nothing, collected his debts and went back to his quarters. After a day or two, in which the fame of his prowess had been circulated, he went to the canteen again and some one tackled him to try the trick again. He said it wasn't any trick; it was simply his ability to gauge correctly. They had never noticed any particular mechanical marvels about him, and they were willing to bet that he could not repeat the success. Again he took their bets, again he climbed upon a table and stuck his knife in the ceiling, again he put a beer bottle under it, and again the knife went home, as if it knew the way. This time again he did what he did the first time. The infantryman from Niobrara watched him. As the cavalryman got down from the table the "doughboy" noticed a tiny drop of water fall from the handle of the knife and mark a spot on the floor. When the bottle was set it covered that spot. Of course the knife when it fell must fall where the water did. But the infantryman didn't give it away, says the Chicago Herald. He struck the horseman for a third of the proceeds of the bets, and kept its solution for his own use when he gets to his fort on the frontier.

A Hint from Henry Clay.

A well known southern politician who died just before the civil war not infrequently spoke of an incident that took place in his first term in congress, in which he received a lesson in statecraft from the great whig leader, Henry Clay. "I was a young man and an entered congress, quivering with eagerness to serve my party and to distinguish myself. I was on my feet shouting 'Mr. Speaker' a dozen times a day. I opposed even petty motions made by the opposite party, and bitterly denounced every bill, however trivial, for which they voted. Before the session was half over I had contrived to make myself personally obnoxious to every democrat that I met. "One day after an ill-tempered outbreak on a question of no moment, I turned and saw Mr. Clay watching me with a twinkle in his eye. " 'C—', he said, 'you go fishing sometimes?' " 'Yes.' " 'Don't you find that the best rod is the one that gives a little at each joint? It does not snap and break at every touch, but bends, and shows its strength only when a heavy weight is put on it.' "I caught his meaning, had seen him chatting familiarly with the very men whom I was berating. Yet I knew when great interests clashed he was the one man whom they feared. "I set myself then to learn patience and coolness. It is the strong, flexible rod which does not break under the big fish."

A personal friend of General Grant says: "During the whole course of the war I never knew him to indulge in the acrid personalities which were so common among many of the northern combatants when condemning the leaders of the rebellion. But he sat down with his troops before Richmond with inexorable patience, until he had won the victory. "To come down from national to domestic life, it will always be found that the fretful, quarrelsome member of the family is of little use in a crisis. It is the men and women of coolness, reserve and good humor, who control the emergencies in the household as men and women of this type have always done in all human history."

Statues for Brooklyn.

Three more statues will soon ornament Brooklyn. The city has in the past been rather slow in the matter of statues and monuments, but the sentiment in their favor is growing. The Union League club is at work raising funds for the equestrian statue of General Grant, as designed by Partridge. This work of art will be placed on a huge pedestal on the plaza in front of the club house, at Bedford avenue and Dean street, says the New York Press. The admirers of General Henry W. Slocum also have inaugurated a movement whose object is the raising of a statue to that famous union soldier, and Grand Army men, some time ago, started a fund for a statue to General G. K. Warren.

Henry Ward Beecher's statue is still in front of the city hall, but it is believed that it will, in the course of time, be transferred to Prospect park. That great resort is lacking in statuary and monumental attractions, the only statue it possesses being that of J. S. T. Stranahan, Brooklyn's best known citizen. The venerable merchant and politician is probably the only living American honored by a public statue. There is a fine statue of Abraham Lincoln on the plaza leading to Prospect park, but it is in a place that is not calculated to secure for it the greatest amount of respect and care, and the Grand Army men wish the authorities to have the statue placed in a suitable place inside of the park. It may be removed in time for a Decoration day celebration. These three, with an excellent one of Alexander Hamilton, in front of the Hamilton club house at Clinton and Remsen streets, are all the public statues which the great city of Brooklyn can boast.

On An English Line.

Some singular things are recorded as having happened yesterday between a soldier, a footwarmer, a locomotive and other rolling stock on the Great Western line in the parts of Berkshire and Newberry. The soldier and the footwarmer were traveling in the same compartment. There was, of course, nothing stronger than water inside the footwarmer; there may have been inside the soldier. Whether the footwarmer did anything to him—boiled his boots or froze him—does not appear. But what the soldier did to the footwarmer was first to cast it forth into space. The space into which he cast it happened, at that particular moment, to be occupied by the locomotive of another train. Irritated, but illogical, the footwarmer seems to have struck the locomotive for all it was worth. The locomotive retaliated. Thereupon the footwarmer went back to its own train for the soldier. In its eagerness to get at him it broke the handle off the carriage door, and the wrong carriage door at that. Falling the door, it tried the window, and the nerves of the lady who occupied the compartment. She screamed. The footwarmer recoiled, made a last desperate effort, broke another window and fell exhausted on the six foot way. There it was picked up, watering in some congealed fluid or other, and battered almost out of recognition. What light the soldier may be able to throw upon this strange drama remains to be seen.

Endurance of the Chinese.

"Remarkable though the statement is in the Sun's Chinese correspondence concerning the endurance of Chinese soldiers, I can quite understand it," said an ex-police surgeon of San Francisco, who is visiting New York. "The correspondent says that, though the men in question were shot through the chest and the head, they walked great distances; and in one case, if I remember aright, it was a hundred miles. "During four years of service as police surgeon in San Francisco, I saw some pretty severe cases of wounded Chinamen—yes, and China women, too—and I declare their insensitiveness to pain seemed to be almost absolute. Part of it, I have no doubt, is due to racial, inherent stolidity; but I am also inclined to the opinion that the Chinese do not feel the pain as we do. Now, I remember the case of a woman who was brought down to the city prison ward from Chinatown with her head literally split open in five places by one of the highlanders' hatchet men. From the very first to the last—I think she died—she gave no indication of pain, and did not even refer to her injuries. The Chinese dislike our surgical appliances, our knives and saws, not, however, because of the pain they produce, but because that sort of treatment is foreign to their ideas. Let one of their doctors put a pitch plaster over an injury, no matter if it be a broken leg, a lost nose, or a hole through the lungs, and the man will be perfectly satisfied, and will accept whatever may come without a word of suffering or complaint. They're certainly a queer people."

Some Anecdotes of Napoleon.

In his busiest hours Napoleon Bonaparte was kind to children. At the battle of Austerlitz a little girl asked him for his autograph. "Certainly, my child," said he. Then turning to one of his aides, he cried: "Stop the battle for ten minutes. I wish to write my name for this child." "It will take ten minutes, will it?" asked the child. "Yes, quite," returned Napoleon. "I've a much bigger name than I used to have." At the battle of Waterloo, when the day was over, an aide riding hastily to the emperor's side, cried out, breathlessly: "Sire, the battle is lost." "Good," returned the emperor. "Let it stay lost. I don't want any more." Listening to a discussion among his officers as to the value of a name, Bonaparte once said: "It has much. Do you suppose that I could ever have become emperor of France if my name had been Skaggs? No, no. The French will stand a great deal, but Emperor Skaggs would have aroused their deepest animosity."—Harper's Bazar.

The Man on the Cask.

In St. Paul an army officer was entertaining a party of friends to dinner, and among them was a civilian who was an entertaining story teller, but very improbable in his statements. On this occasion he told of being off the Cape of Good Hope in an Indian man, when a floating object was discovered, which proved to be a cask whereon a man was seated clinging to a small staff in the bunghole. Of course he was invited to come aboard, but he refused, and said: "I'm very comfortable here. 'm bound for the Cape. Can I take letters there for you?" Amid the silence which followed this incredible yarn a gray-haired colonel arose and said gravely: "For years I have been trying to find someone belonging to that ship to earn that money for the kindness shown me on that occasion. At last I am enabled to do so. Sir, I was the man on that cask."

RIISING LIKE TRUTH.

THE KEELY MOTOR READY TO START.

The Long-Abused Scientist About to Demonstrate His Claim that He Has Harnessed the Interatomic Ether—Report of a Visitor.

HAT MANY INTELLIGENT men have full faith in the ultimate success of Mr. Keely and his system of producing power and motion, there can be no doubt. Mr. Keely has been enabled to keep steadily at work upon his experiments, and he and his adherents believe that he is about to demonstrate to the world the truth of all his claims. A gentleman who has been connected with Mr. Keely's interests from the first, and who has never doubted Mr. Keely's ability or success, visited the workrooms last week. He writes as follows:

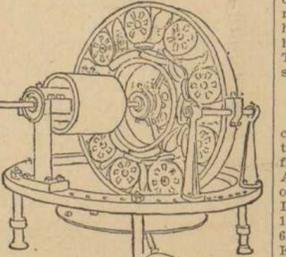

"Nothing is so misunderstood as the real facts as are Mr. Keely's inventions. Three-fourths of the statements made by the public press during the last few years have been entirely at variance with the real facts. Mr. Keely has always objected heretofore to having anything said of his work until the proper time came. "Not till I can produce a mercantile engine, one that will do practical work, will scientists and the people generally believe in my discoveries," we have often heard him say. "Mr. Boyd Elliott, the eminent mechanical engineer, says in a letter now in our possession:

"I have seen the etheric liberator of Mr. Keely. I believe he has six times the value in his shops to-day that Mr. Edison has," and in answer to a letter he wrote: "At first I thought I would reply to some of the critics (against Mr. Keely's work), but I have concluded that the game is not worth the powder. Let them scribble away. We shall enjoy the fun when these fellows are compelled to compare the new engine with their predictions of it. I have already enjoyed several such victories, and hope before long to lead some of these prophets around and rub their noses into this sensitive conviction." Mr. Elliott was a friend of the great English scientist, J. Tyndall.

"Mr. Tyndall, in an article headed 'Atoms, Molecules, and Ether Waves,' published just before his death in Longman's Magazine, is said by Keely's friends to have struck upon the very foundation stone (if we may use the term) of Mr. Keely's discoveries, which gives the beginning, as it were, of his discoveries in vibratory power, etc. but, while Mr. Tyndall was still groping after the truth, Mr. Keely had found it, and has already produced several engines, every successive one of which has been an improvement upon the other, until the present one, now about to be given to the world, will show how grand the system is upon which he has labored so long. Mr. Tyndall in the article above referred to says:

"The union of bodies in fixed and multiple proportions constitutes the basis of modern atomic theory. We cannot form water but by using two volumes of hydrogen and one of oxygen invariably. A group of atoms drawn and held together by what chemists term affinity, is called a molecule. The ultimate parts of all compound bodies are molecules. When water is converted into steam, the distances between the molecules are greatly augmented, but the molecules themselves continue intact. We must not, however, picture the constituent atoms of any molecule as held so rigidly together as to render intestine motion impossible. The interlocked atoms have still liberty of vibration which may, under certain circumstances, become so intense as to shake the molecule asunder. Most molecules, probably all, are wrecked by vibratory motion. The constituent atoms of molecules can vibrate to and fro millions of millions of times in a second.

"Further atoms of different molecules are held together with varying degrees of tightness; they are timed as it were, to notes of varying pitch—the same as what occurs when a piano is opened and sung into. The waves of sound select the strings which respectively respond to them, each string constituting itself thereby a new center of motion. Mr. Tyndall then refers to how vibrations are increased or accelerated by sound, and how great is the power of vibration when simulated as follows: "We have given a few of the expressions of Mr. Tyndall as to the power of vibratory action, wherein he treats and confirms the very things which certain scientists, who have never seen Mr. Keely's experiments, have stated cannot be true. We will not give Mr. Keely's words on vibrations as to their power, etc. He says: "Vibration is a difficult thing to define, if we speak of it theoretically. The scientific men of the world cannot fully explain it. Vibrations may be increased by sound. As regards atomic vibration, if I were to assert that I could make a machine which, by a certain process, could create a disturbance of equilibrium so as to produce a pressure of fifty tons to the square inch, persons would be dumfounded. Yet such is the case with the machine now in my laboratory. The process involved in etheric liberation is the same as if familiarly witnessed in the liberation of gases from water, water being known as the highest specific gravity. The liberation of the ether in my machine furnishes simply the medium, and that is used as introductory of the disturbance of the equilibrium which gives the initiatory impulse.

"It is well known that by means of a mechanical impulse innumerable vibrations can be produced per second, and these vibrations I claim can be produced by what I call the theory of interatomic ether acting upon molecular construction. In my machine the force is in the vacuum, because the power which is to be liberated is greater than the power behind it. In my machine I have two forces at work, the negative vibration and the positive vibration. I could not operate my engine if it were not for both of these agencies. The books treat of metallic vibration. This same vibratory motion is present in wood, air, plaster, and everything else. Mechanical impulse can be given to molecular structure. I claim that I produce the molecular vibrations by means of the ether which is liberated by my machine. Vibration is a force, not the effect of force.

"We visited Mr. Keely's laboratory last week and had an interview with him. He said, after showing us the coming mercantile engine which is now almost set up: "I am, as far as proving to the world the integrity of my vibratory system, about through with my work. My provisional engine (from which the coming 300-horse-power engine is modelled) was a perfect one in every respect, and the big one will be a more mechanical structure, and which combines within itself all of my system. I know scientists and all others will be pleased with its running, its power, etc., and all done with a costless force."

SOLUBLE GLASS.

How It is Utilized in France for Bleaching Linen.

According to M. Geisenheimer, in the Comptes Rendus, an entirely new departure has lately been made in France in the application of soluble glass to the bleaching of linen. In explanation of this it is stated that, to insure the complete bleaching process, the process arose of increasing the causticity of the lye and prolonging the time of boiling to the injury of the fabric though improving the color; and though the production of yellowish or brownish patches on the linen is usually attributed to impurities in the chemical, it is chiefly due to the presence in the water of calcium and magnesium salts, which are precipitated on the fabrics and act as mordants, fixing the yellowish coloring matter of the lye—an effect prevented by adding to the water a mixture of sodium carbonate and soluble glass. Calcium and magnesium silicates are thus precipitated in a flocculent form which settles rapidly, does not adhere to the fabric, and becomes granular and pulverulent on boiling; and, thus purified, only a very small quantity of caustic alkali is necessary, the greater part of the saponification being effected by means of the less injurious alkali carbonate. A convenient form in which to have the soluble glass for this purpose is said to be obtainable by adding from ten to twenty per cent of anhydrous sodium carbonate to a saturated solution of the soluble glass

MME. ACIANA.

Her Threatened Visit to This Country Has Caused Some Alarm.

Aciana, a Jewish she, has stirred up an American theatrical publication to a high pitch. The paper says:

MME. ACIANA.

"Aciana is well known in Vienna. She is also well known in Berlin and other gay cities of Europe. She is on the stage, but she cannot act. She appears in comic opera, though she cannot sing. She has, however, the faculty of getting into the good graces of wealthy men, who do not mind making a star of her, so long as they are kept in the background. Aciana announces some weeks ago to the correspondent of an American paper that she was coming to this country to sing in German opera. The manager whose name was linked with her statement says he would not bring her over if she would play for nothing. There is evidently a misunderstanding somewhere."

Statistics on Consumption.

Of the total number of deaths the percentage traceable to consumption in the several states and territories is as follows: Alabama, 9.6; Arizona, 6.1; Arkansas, 6.4; California, 15.6; Colorado, 8.2; Connecticut, 15.1; Dakota, 9.8; Delaware, 16.1; District of Columbia, 18.9; Florida, 8.3; Georgia, 7.9; Idaho, 6.8; Illinois, 10.3; Indiana, 12.6; Iowa, 9.9; Kansas, 7.3; Kentucky, 15.7; Louisiana, 10.4; Maine, 19.2; Maryland, 14.0; Massachusetts, 15.7; Michigan, 13.2; Minnesota, 9.3; Mississippi, 8.8; Missouri, 9.8; Montana, 5.6; Nebraska, 8.8; Nevada, 6.3; New Hampshire, 5.6; New York, 8.1; New Mexico, 2.4; New Jersey, 8.1; North Carolina, 9.5; Ohio, 13.8; Oregon, 12.1; Pennsylvania, 12.6; Rhode Island, 14.6; South Carolina, 9.8; Tennessee, 14.5; Texas, 6.5; Utah, 2.8; Vermont, 16.1; Virginia, 12.2; Washington, 13.2; West Virginia, 13.0; Wisconsin, 10.4; Wyoming, 2.6; Average, 12.0.

Florida for Sport.

A few men from Boston and New York go down to Florida or the West Indies every winter and pay their way wholly or in part by shooting birds of bright plumage. Sometimes three or four buy a schooner and make the journey under sail, managing the boat for the main part themselves. Others go down by steamer to Florida, build their own boat, and explore the rivers in the southern part of the peninsula.

ABOUT LADY EDEN.

THE WOMAN WHOSE PORTRAIT CAUSED TROUBLE.

Artist Whistler Admired the Picture to Such an Extent that He Placed It on Exhibition in Paris, but to This the Husband Objected.

LADY EDEN, whose portrait by the Anglo-American artist, Whistler, exhibited last year in the Champs de Mars, has recently been the cause of an amusing controversy between her husband and the painter, is a woman of altogether exceptional beauty, and famous as not only in England, but also on the continent of Europe, and in America as well. She has been a favorite subject for great artists, perhaps the most successful and best-known portrait of her being that exhibited a few years ago at the Royal Academy in London, by Herkomer, and which now hangs on the walls of her country seat, Windlestone Hall, opposite Sir Peter Lely's celebrated and historic portrait of Neil Gwynne, from whom the present Duke of St. Albans is descended in direct line. Prior to her marriage Lady Eden was known as the lovely Sybil Grey, and her great-grandfather was the first and famous Earl Grey. With regard to the portrait which has been the subject of dispute between the baron and the artist, Sir William declares that Mr. Whistler undertook to make a sketch of Lady Eden for 100 guineas. On receiving notification that the portrait was ready Sir William sent his check for that amount and received an acknowledgment from Mr. Whistler for the same. Sir William left on the following day for India. On his return he found that the sketch, which was about the size of a sheet of note paper, had been exhibited at the Salon, without his permission, where it had been greatly admired. On Sir William demanding its delivery the artist refused to comply therewith, claiming that the price paid was preposterous, and that the picture was worth a great deal more. Sir William then instituted legal proceedings to compel the artist to surrender the picture, whereupon Whistler, in a fit of petulance, painted out the whole head. The French courts have now issued a decree commanding the artist to restore the picture, and to turn it over to the baronet, with 1000 damages for delay in delivering the picture, besides paying the entire costs of the proceedings. It will be curious to see how the restored head of Lady Eden will compare with that originally painted by Mr. Whistler.

PRINCE LUITPOLD.

General and Inspector-General in the Bavarian Army.

Prince Charles Joseph William Louis, regent of Bavaria, was born at Wurzburg, March 12, 1821. He is general and inspector-general of the Bavarian army; chief of the Bavarian artillery and proprietor of the first regiment of Austrian artillery. He married April 15, 1844, the Princess Augusta, archduchess of Austria, and has four children. On the death of Louis II, king of Bavaria, he was appointed regent, on account of the mental derangement of Prince Otto, the succeeding titular king.

THE PANAMA CANAL.

An Engineering Scheme Which May Soon Be Utilized.

One of the latest engineering schemes concerning the Panama canal proposes the construction of four locks—two at each end of a central level—only seventy-five feet above the ocean—instead of the old plan of several levels and from eight to ten locks between 122 and 172 feet above the sea. As this would involve an increased amount of rock and soil cutting, it is proposed by M. Bartsch, the author of the plan, to dispose of the extra material thus excavated by constructing a thirteen-foot tunnel, some 30,000 feet in length through which the debris will be brought through an open channel from a dam on the Chagres river; that is, there would be allowed a fall of about one foot to every thousand of length, the current filling the tunnel to a height of some ten feet, a flow of ten feet per second it is estimated being thus secured, discharging one million cubic meters daily. One hundred shafts cut into this tunnel would empty into it only about forty thousand cubic meters of solid material in twenty-four hours, so that only about four per cent of the discharged mixture would be earth or stone.

WOOL AND ELECTRICITY.

Highly Charged Balls Are Difficult to Handle.

An important fact is discussed by a writer in the Manufacturers' Review, viz., that wool, after it is shorn and cleaned preparatory to the carding and spinning processes, is capable of being highly charged with electricity, and that though the phenomena resulting from this characteristic are familiar to all carders, the influence of this agent is sometimes so active as to interfere materially with the working of the wool; the fact, however, that wool when thoroughly wet, or well lubricated, either artificially or with its own natural grease, shows no effects from the presence of electricity, may be considered as establishing the fact that in all grades of wool the susceptibility to the influence of electricity increases in the ratio of dryness or absence of lubricating material in the fibre, or in other words, to its freedom from the moistening effects of oil or water, while sufficient moisture properly applied will not only prevent all the evil effects of electricity in wool, but will destroy every evidence of its existence in both the picker and card rooms. The writer adds that by making the feed light in bulk, speeding the feed roll and quickening the speed of the card, and reducing the speed of the main cylinders, tumblers, fancies, and the vibrating motions of the condenser, the effects in question are done away with.

FOR SORTING TEA.

A Machine Which is Surrounded with Some Mystery.

Some interest has been created by the announcement that a tea sorting machine has been invented in India. From the description given this machine consists of two angular steel frames measuring 8 feet long at the top and 9½ feet at the base, standing 2½ feet high, placed opposite each other, and stayed together two feet apart. Between these operate with a reciprocating motion two long light steel frames, which are the sifters, placed one above the other, these working on four oscillating levers, securely fastened to the angle steel frame inside at four points by strong case-hardened pins, upon which they act from the center; the upper sifter is firmly secured by trunnion brackets on the side to the levers at the top, and the lower one in the same way underneath. Both sifters have an independent action, and work in opposite directions at 100 to 140 revolutions per minute; the upper sifter inclines toward the crank, and these are fitted with four six 1/2 of meshes, two in each, the trays being interchangeable sliding trays and underneath.

How Bills of Sale Are Made.

A bill of sale is a formal written conveyance of personal property. If the property is delivered when sold, or if part of the purchase money is paid, a written instrument is not necessary to make the conveyance, but it is convenient evidence of the transfer of title. But, to protect the interests of the purchaser against the creditors of the seller, there should also be a delivery of the property. If an actual and continued change of possession does not accompany the sale it is void as against the creditors of the seller and subsequent purchasers and mortgagees in good faith, unless the buyer can show that his purchase was made in good faith, without intent to defraud, and that there was some good reason for leaving the property in the hands of the seller.

Wonderful Cures of a Shepherd.

From the London Daily News. Wonderful cures are attributed by ignorant German peasants to a shepherd named Ast of Radeburg, who professes to diagnose diseases by inspecting the hair of the neck of his patients. Although this quack has repeatedly been fined for this illegal exercise of medicine he seems well enough off to pay his fines and to continue to defy the law. An amusing instance of credulity came to light at the hearing of the case the last time he was prosecuted. A man from Eremberg went to consult him with regard to some real or imaginary ailment. Ast inspected his back hair, and then calmly prescribed an hour and a half's wood-chopping exercise. It seems that Mrs. Ast wanted some wood chopped, and Mr. Ast hit upon this very practical expedient for gratifying her. The patient, strange to say, submitted to perform the task in the full confidence that it would cure him.
