OUR CITY DADS.

They Rush Through a Lot of Business—Tax Levy for the Year—Another Slap at Street Commissioner.

The seats belonging to the aldermen were all filled last night after a while, though some of them were late, no doubt hesitating to come up into that heated room and swelter through two or three hours' business.

The first thing on tap was a communication asking the council to collect a private debt for F. B. Crego, he of the varied replies in the Clark investigation, supt of the Jackson Tile Co.

A report of the sidewalk inspection was received from the Board of Public Works, and referred to sidewalk committee. George Kirn was given a contract to build a piece of walk on W. Huron st., for $2.10. The same board also reported Wm. Collins to be the lowest bidder for the Hill and Huron street sewers, and recommended that he be given the contract after giving the required bond, etc. This caused much discussion. Ald. Prettyman insisting that some arrangements ought to be made for Ann Arbor laborers, to which others assented heartily. It was finally referred to the sewer committee to see Collins and investigate his responsibility, etc., and report to the council on June 10.

Ald. Butterfield argued that it was not good policy to give contracts to men who were not perfectly responsible, although they may be able to give a bond, and that the lowest bidder was not the man who should always have the job.

J. H. Nickels asked the council what they intended by ordering him to build a five foot stone walk in front of his State st. stores Nos. 44 and 46, and suggested it better be changed. The matter was finally referred to the sidewalk committee.

The Board of Public Works called attention to the unsafe condition of the bridge over the M. C. R. R. tracks at foot of Detroit street, and a little later on in the proceedings were authorized to put the same in good condition at once.

A communication was received from Mr. Miner stating that he had examined the books of the clerk and treasurer and found them correct.

Albert Hunter asked to place a sign on a pole at his place of business on W. Liberty st. Referred to sidewalk committee.

A petition signed by Emmett Coon and seven others, asking the council to lay tile to drain the surface water on Washtenaw ave., at the intersection of S. University ave., was read and referred to street committee.

From W. S. Perry and 21 others asking for a street light midway between Fifth ave. and State st. Also petition for light on S. Ingalls st., at corner of S. University ave., were referred to lighting committee.

Of W. D. Condon and 15 others asking that S. University ave., be parked to save the trees, the same as has been done on the other sides of the University campus. Referred to street committee.

Ald. Brown, from finance committee reported the bills allowed for the month on the different funds, as follows:

Contingent fund	$1,209.82
Sewer fund	557.73
Street fund	712.11
Fire fund	734.88
Police fund	283.45
Water fund	62.75
Poor fund	125.86
City cemetery fund	32.25
Total	$3,711.40

The same committee reported in favor of the levying of the following city taxes for the year, which was properly adopted:

Street fund	$8,500
Fire fund	6,500
Police fund	3,000
Poor fund	2,500
Water fund	5,500

Contingent fund	4,000
University principal fund	3,600
B. C. & C. fund	5,000
Sewer fund	8,000
Sewer bonds fund	3,500
Total	$50,100

The same committee reported in favor of adopting the report of the Soldier's Relief Commission, granting relief to several soldier's widows. Also in favor of accepting the bid of the State Savings Bank for keeping the city funds, and also requiring the bank to give $80,000 in bonds for the same, both of which were adopted.

Ald. Taylor from street committee, reported a resolution requesting the city attorney to find out what rights the city had on Miner st. Also appropriating $35 for improving the alley east of N. Main st., between Catharine and Kingsley sts.

Ald. Coon from sidewalk committee reported a series of cross walks, sidewalks, grades, and changes of grades, and repairing of walks, that it took the clerk a full half hour to read. This committee are evidently putting in some good hard work. All adopted.

Ald. Moore, from fire department committee, reported in favor of allowing Mr. St. Clair and Dr. George making repairs and additions to their residences which are within the fire limits. Adopted.

Ald. Maynard, from police committee, reported verbally the action of the committee in having the city lock-up taken out of fireman's hall, satisfactory arrangements having been made with the sheriff for lockup privileges.

Ald. Butterfield from the bond committee, reported the bond of Chas. H. Manly as city treasurer, in the sum of $50,000 with the following sureties: John Kapp, Wesley Hicks, J. R. Miner, J. D. Ryan, D. Rinsey, M. Seabolt, O. M. Martin, L. Gruner, D. F. Schaefer, H. T. Morton, F. A. Howlett, M. J. Cavanaugh, Arthur Brown, W. W. Watts, Aug. Herz, Eli W. Moore, George W. Weeks, Jas. Boyle, George Spothoff, Jr., Eli S. Manly, Wm. F. Lodholz, and the same was approved.

The city marshal reported nine arrests during the month, the board of health 15 deaths, Chief Siplely that the water pressure had been below the standard of 65 four times during the month, and the city treasurer reported balance of hand in the bank of $23,204.58.

Ald. Allmendinger offered a resolution calling for bids for street lighting on a five year contract, which was referred back to the committee.

Ald. Ferguson offered a resolution which was adopted, instructing the board of public works to report the cost of paving the gutter on the south side of Catharine st. between 13th and Clark sts.

Ald. Taylor got $35 appropriated to fix up the inlet pipe to the drinking fountain on Cedar Bend ave.

Ald. Moore got through a resolution directing the street railway co. to remove the switches and tracks from the streets abandoned by them.

Ald. Koch made things a little hotter than normal by offering a resolution reducing the salary of the street commissioner one-half, or to $33 per month. It was finally referred to street committee.

Ald. Ferguson moved that North State street be opened across the M. C. R. R. tracks. Referred to city attorney.

The general wind up came with a resolution from Ald. Prettyman, electing Ald. Brown president pro tem. to act as mayor in the absence of the two head city officials the coming week.

The council then adjourned to Monday evening June 10.

About the Art Exhibition.

The exhibition of the Ann Arbor Art School will be held this week on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, all day and evening. Pictures are being hung to-day and the collection is large, much stronger and better than usual.

No famous artists are represented, as was in the recent Detroit collection, but some of these pupils may become famous, and it may be interesting to compare the work of amateurs and professionals. This exhibit is given primarily for the benefit of the pupils of the school but we hope that all lovers of pictures will drop in to the Masonic block sometime during the week, and see what is being done in this young school of art, and so encourage both pupils and teachers.

There will be an unusually large collection of out-of-door sketches from the northern resorts, Grosse Isle and Ann Arbor.

A number of life studies will also lend interest and the work in black and white and clay modeling will be attractive. Everybody is cordially invited to come—with fifteen cents—and have a cup of tea, either hot or iced according to the weather.

MRS. W. S. PERRY, President.

Summer Church Program.

The following church program for Sunday evenings during the summer was arranged yesterday at the Ministerial association:

June 30—Presbyterian—Rev. T. W. Young.

July 7—Baptist—Rev. C. M. Coburn.

July 11—Methodist—Rev. J. W. Bradshaw.

July 21—Congregational—Rev. G. P. Coler.

July 28—Disciple—Rev. W. L. Tedrow.

Aug. 4—Presbyterian—Rev. J. M. Gelston.

Mail Carrier Sun Struck.

Earl Ware, one of the mail carriers, suffered a severe sun stroke yesterday morning, while on his usual rounds. He was in the Michigan Central freight house and seemed to be all right, when he suddenly fell backward unconscious. Drs. Kapp and Smith were called and after doing what was possible on the spot he was taken home. To-day's reports are that he is doing as well as possible.

The greatest need of the country is more republican prosperity to offset democratic deficits.

The democratic party seems to be more inclined to follow Coxe than Cleveland on many questions.

Secretary Carlisle is more of a success as a financial talker on financial affairs than as a manager of such things.

Carlisle's sound money speeches will come handy next summer for circulation as republican campaign documents.

Senator Hill says that the democratic situation is growing better. His idea of what constitutes "better" is eccentric, to say the least.

It will be a good deal easier for a democrat to obtain the nomination for governor of Kentucky this year than to get himself elected.

When President Cleveland speaks of the democratic party as "the party of the people," he manifests an easy forgetfulness of the latest election returns.

The legislature had another capital punishment bill and killed it in the closing hours of the session. Better kill the bill than kill the men.—Howell Republican.

Report comes from Kentucky that there are now three democratic parties in the state. It may be found difficult in November to gather up fragments enough for one.

Senator Hill speaks about silver in the cursory and indefinite way which implies an intention to wait and see which side offers the best inducements to a man of his practical instincts.

The trouble with which most of the street corner advocates of cheap money is that their financial wisdom is discredited by the fact that they are unable to get credit at the grocery stores.

Georgia will soon be bombarding the country with the largest watermelon and peach crops ever grown in the state. Macon is arranging a peach carnival and it promises to be a big affair.

Last year's receipts from the income tax in England were $78,000,000. The figures will be increased this year through profits on handling United States bonds under a democratic administration.

A Louisville paper gives a long list of newspapers in the state that are in favor of sound money. Kentuckians of the 16 to 1 persuasion should look it over and take a second thought before swallowing the popular bait.

It may be true, as charged, that sound money is an acquired taste with Secretary Carlisle; but he has no reason to be ashamed of the company in which he has thus placed himself.

Michigan democrats will no doubt present the name of Edwin F. Uhl to President Cleveland for secretary of state. He would be an honor to the administration. To be sure he has not a national reputation, but he has the ability, and that is all that is needed.

A California clergyman proposes to abolish taxation by making national, state and local governments earn their own living by operating all lines of transportation, the telegraph, and other forms of business now carried on by large corporations. Details of the plan are omitted, and no wonder.

ASTONISHING CANINE FACTS.

The official statistics show that during 1893 there were 29,915 sheep killed by dogs in the state of Ohio, valued at $107,431, and that from 1880 to 1893 inclusive, there were 403,348 sheep killed by dogs, the value of the sheep being $1,456,003. That was quite a loss to the farming community of that state.

Added to that should be 325,585 sheep that were injured, but not killed, valued at $642,374, making a total loss by dogs of $2,098,377.

The agricultural statistics of Ohio further show that in 1893 there were 152,764 dogs in the state, and 600,463 milch cows, or one dog to every four cows. The dogs are probably as numerous in nearly every state in the Union, and certainly Michigan can easily duplicate Ohio's figures in this line.

Considering the comparative value of the two animals, does it not seem strange that people will insist upon keeping so many of the worthless kind? It costs considerable to keep a dog. Perhaps not quite as much as to keep a cow, but very near. It costs on an average more to keep a dog than it does a sheep, and yet the worthless animal is kept in astonishing numbers.

There are people, and they are more common than one would think for, who would rather part with a whole herd of milch cows, and several flocks of sheep, than to part with a pet cur, even though he be of the meanest mongrel breed.

Not only are dogs enemies to other animals, but often to the human family, and it is not uncommon to hear of deaths of people, children especially, who have been bitten by dogs, while those who have hydrophobia caused by a dog's bite, might better by far be dead.

THE STINGY APPROPRIATION.

The legislature even in its appropriations seemed to wish to hit Ann Arbor and the University, for of all the things asked for, it gave what would least help the city and be a burden to the college financial budget.

It voted $25,000 for an electric light plant, hardly a dollar of which will be spent either in the city or state, as the great part of it will be for engine, dynamo, wire, lamps etc. It is not like the building of a law department annex to employ laborers and to buy materials here.

On the other hand, with this new drain on the slender resources of the University to keep buying duplicate machinery, supplies, extra boilers, coal and employing more help, the regents will not be long in discovering that their lighting expenses will be double what they now are.

The Colorado republicans will not bolt in 1896 when their party condemns free coinage. The Republican League clubs of that state have made this point clear.

The young lady who ran for attorney general in Montana and was defeated, is about to marry her successful competitor. Even in politics when a woman will she will, you may depend on't.

The governor of South Carolina admits that the state "is still in the Union and in its stay." South Carolina was reminded of that fact by men as eminent as Andrew Jackson and Abraham Lincoln, and the worst mistake it ever made was when it disputed their opinion.

The democrats who are denouncing the president as no democrat should remember that Mr. Cleveland represents all that remains to the party of its recent control of every branch of the government. The coming congress is literally one of the most un-democratic the country has ever seen.

Englands' movement to annex Amantogaland, in Africa, is intended to prevent the South African republic from obtaining a seaport of its own, and is creating much excitement among the Boers.

Germany also is understood to object to the grab, and expects France to join in a protest. Africa comprises 11,621,530 square miles, of which England now holds 2,194,880, France 3,326,790, and Germany 884,810. Portugal, which once almost monopolized the continent, now retains but 826,730 square miles; Spain claims 153,834, Italy 548,880, the Congo Free State 905,000, and the Boer republic 177,750.

The Ohio republican convention is sound on the silver question, and so will be five out of every six state conventions held by the party this year and next. The republicans will not be stampeded on that issue.

Senator Palmer's description of Vice Pres. Stevenson as a man who never expresses an opinion on a question that has two sides is very good; but he is by no means the only democratic leader who is secreting his views on the silver issue.

Seventeen years ago Pittsburg was so recklessly involved in wild municipal schemes that its 7 per cent bonds sold at 55c on the dollar. That era of plunging passed away long ago, and last week the city sold some bonds at a price showing that it can borrow money at less than 3 per cent. It is a fair illustration of the value of sound municipal government.

The thirty-two men who have been secretaries of state, and who, excluding those who became presidents, comprised Clay, Webster, Calhoun, Clayton, Everett, Macy, Cass, Seward, Fish, Blaine and other distinguished men, averaged higher intellectual than did the twenty-three presidents. A man at the head of the state department has to be great to avoid being dwarfed by comparison with his predecessors.

President Hayes was not a Weak Man.

Partly the mode of his accession to office, and partly the rage of selfish placemen who could no longer have their way, made it fashionable for a time to speak of President Hayes as a "weak man." This was an entire error. His administration was every way one of the most creditable in all our history. He had a resolute will, irrefragable integrity, and a comprehensive and remarkably healthy view of public affairs.

Moreover, he was free from that "last infirmity," the consuming ambition which has snared so many able statesmen. He voluntarily banished the alluring prospect of a second term, and rose above all jealousy of his distinguished associates.

Resolutions of Thanks.

At the regular business meeting of Welch Post held in their hall, Tuesday evening, May 28, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously passed:

WHEREAS, Welch Post, No. 137, Department of Michigan, G. A. R., having received and accepted the kind invitation of Fr. Kelly to attend divine services at St. Thomas church, on Memorial Sunday, May 26, 1895, and having been courteously and kindly received by said Fr. Kelly, his assistants and congregation; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That this Post tender its sincere thanks to Fr. Kelly, his assistants and congregation, for the kind reception, the appropriate and entrancing music, the sincere, patriotic and eloquent address of welcome delivered by the Rev. Father, and most especially for the fine display of our national emblem—"Old Glory;" and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded by the Adjutant of this Post to the Rev. Fr. Kelly, published in the newspapers of the city, and spread upon the record of this Post.

MEMORIAL DAY.

It Was a Glorious Day and Properly Observed.

Memorial Day was fair and pleasant a trifle hot perhaps, but taken as a whole an admirable day, nevertheless.

The business places of the city were open in the forenoon quite generally, but in the afternoon were almost without exception closed, and everybody did as they felt inclined.

Hundreds of students and citizens went to Detroit to witness the Cornell game, hundreds more went to Ypsilanti to be present at the unveiling of the Soldier's Monument, and others went to Jackson, to Whitmore Lake and elsewhere.

Observance of the Day as planned by Welch Post, G. A. R., was carried out according to the printed program. Details were sent to the various cemeteries of the city with flowers to decorate the graves at 7:30 and 8 o'clock a. m. Special services were held at the Soldier's Monument in the 5th ward cemetery, and were very fine indeed, reflecting much credit upon the teachers and pupils of the Northside.

At Forest Hill cemetery the regular ritual services were held, the singing being by the school children.

At 1 o'clock Welch Post, about 75 strong, left for Ypsilanti, to be present at the unveiling of the Soldier's monument there, accompanied by a detachment of the Sons of Veterans, and W. R. C. At Ypsilanti the services were excellent, Capt. E. P. Allen delivering a magnificent oration, touched with a peculiar sentiment that only soldiers can feel.

The comrades returned from Ypsilanti at about 6 o'clock and at 7:30 repaired to University Hall where a large crowd assembled to listen to the literary program for the day. Prof. A. A. Stanley presided at the Columbian organ and on the stage were two or three hundred boys and girls from the ward schools, who had been drilled by Miss Lucy K. Cole.

Rev. J. M. Gelston read a passage of scripture and offered prayer, after which the children's choir rendered the National Hymn.

Then followed a grand, patriotic and eloquent address by Rev. C. T. Allen, of Detroit. The noise and confusion in the hall caused by the restlessness of the little folks and the constant running in and out of boys, who were there for a good time for themselves only, was very annoying to the speaker, and he called the audience down, very justly, for their lack of manners.

Hereafter the Post would do well to station men at the doors and in the corridors to put a stop to the annoyance that has always been an unpleasant feature of these exercises in the hall.

We have neither time nor space to give a synopsis of Mr. Allen's address. He reviewed the events of the war and was eloquent over the results of the war. He spoke about one thing that many had forgotten, and that was the sending of 30,000 troops under Phil Sheridan into Texas, after the close of the war, "to fight Indians," it was said, but in reality to fight the foreign armies in Mexico had they not been discretely withdrawn.

The children sang "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," in a manner worthy of much praise, and Miss Zena Thompson gave a patriotic recitation entitled "Our Defenders," in a very graceful and taking manner. The exercises closed with a benediction by Rev. Mr. Gelston, Prof. Stanley playing a voluntary on the organ while the audience was passing out.

The Woman's League has elected the following officers and advisory board for the coming year: Miss May Taylor, president; Miss Annie Stevens, vice-president; Miss Katherine Reed, recording secretary; Miss Maud Cooley, corresponding secretary; Miss Jessie Smith, treasurer; Mrs. W. P. Lombard, Mrs. G. S. Morris, Mrs. F. R. Mechem, Mrs. J. N. Martin, Mrs. Walker and Mrs. G. S. Lamson, members of the advisory board.

Weak, Tired, Nervous

"I was feeling as miserable as any one could feel, tired all the time, many times unable to go out on the street even after I had started. If I went up one flight of stairs I felt as though I should fall. I had palpitation of the heart and suffered greatly with catarrh of the head and throat. I finally decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon felt better. I used the third bottle and I then felt like a different person. I hope others in ill health will do as I did. If you take Hood's Sarsaparilla and use it faithfully I am sure you will be benefited. I have also found Hood's Pills to be of great benefit and I highly recommend them." When the Frost Gets Out.

There's suthin' 'bout this kind o' weather Not like all the rest the year. Rain and shine mixed up together Makes me feel so kind o' queer. Some days warm, but others colder. All the days seem pretty long. Wish I was 'bout six weeks older. But then, I s'pose that that is wrong. Still a feller can't help wishin' When he thinks of bass and trout, and you bet I'm goin' a fishin' When the frost gets out.

You needn't look for spring-time's season Till the pussy willows burst. They are smarter far some reason And they seem to know it first. When I see them put their shoots off That a ways jump and shout, 'cause ma says I kin take my boots off When the frost gets out. I'm good deal bigger'n I was last year, Last year's clothes don't fit me now. Pa says maybe time spring gets here I'll be big enough to plow. Ma says way I grow I'm farm'n. My! I feel so big and stout; Kindly think you'll see me farm'n' When the frost gets out.

Resolutions of Respect.

The following resolutions have been passed by the Lyra Singing society on the death of Miss Emily Eberbach, who was a member of the society:

"Whereas, it has pleased Providence to call from among us our beloved sister, Emily Eberbach, and her death has filled us with a profound grief which has cast a deep gloom over our society; and

"Whereas, her faithful and untiring devotion to the interests of the society, her lovable disposition and noble character we deem worthy of commemoration in this public way:

"Resolved, That the heartfelt sympathy of the Lyra Singing society be tendered the family in this their hour of grief and affliction and that the family be presented with a copy of these resolutions."

DO YOU EXPECT To Become a Mother? If so, then permit us to say that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is indeed, a true "Mother's Friend," FOR IT MAKES Childbirth Easy by preparing the system for parturition, thus assisting Nature and shortening "Labor." The painful ordeal of childbirth is robbed of its terrors, and the dangers thereof greatly lessened, to both mother and child. The period of confinement is also greatly shortened, the mother strengthened and built up, and an abundant secretion of nourishment for the child promoted. PAINLESS CHILD BIRTH.

Mrs. FRED HUNT, of Glenville, N. Y., says: "I read about Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription being so good for a woman with child, so I got two bottles last September and on December 13th I had a twelve pound baby girl. When I was confined I was not sick in any way. I did not suffer any pain, and when the child was born I walked into another room and went to bed. I kept your Extract of Smart-Weed on hand all the time. It was very cold weather and our room was very cold but I did not take any cold, and never had any after-pain or any other pain. It was all due to God and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Compound Extract of Smart-Weed. This is the eighth living child and the largest of them all. I suffered everything that flesh could suffer with the other babies. I always had a doctor and then he could not help me very much, but this time my mother and my husband were along with me. My baby was only seven days old when I got up and dressed and left my room and stayed up all day."

Hutzel's Water Back!

A very important invention which will be hailed with delight by every body using a stove or range for hot water circulation. After years of experience we have succeeded in producing a simple and perfect WATER BACK.

It overcomes all the present troubles of extracting lime and other sediments which accumulate in water backs, often making them useless and in great many instances becoming dangerous.

The outlay of dollars is reduced to dimes. No household using a range can afford to be without it.

No more trouble by using city water for hot water circulation.

Can be used in any stove. Ask your stove dealer for Hutzel's Water Back.

Mason & Davis Co's. ranges for sale at C. Eberbach are provided with our improvement.

Everybody call and examine this useful invention.

Bourbon and Bonaparte.

A remarkable feature about the marriage of the Duke d'Aosta and Princess Helene d'Orleans is that it unites the houses of Bourbon and Bonaparte for the first time in history. The duke is first cousin of Prince Victor Napoleon, and also of his own stepmother, Princess Letitia, the widowed Duchess d'Aosta, sister of that prince. Therefore the Princess Helene becomes first cousin-in-law of Prince Victor Napoleon and first cousin-in-law and stepdaughter of the widowed duchess. Though Bonapartes have married into the reigning houses of Austria, Wurtemberg and Italy, no member of the family has ever succeeded to a crown.

WATKINS PITCHED BALL.

An Old Base Ball Grudge Evened Up in a Manner Calculated to Please Everybody.

Oberlin met more than her match in the art of base ball playing on Saturday when the 'varsity nine got at her. Although at the close of the game the score was 13 to 1, there should have been a shut-out for the Ohio college. They richly deserved it. Their only run was in the fourth, when C. Fauver got first on a good hit, advanced to second on a bad throw by Bloomington and an error by Russell, went to third on Condon's passed ball and home on Bloomington's failure to handle G. Fauver's hit. It was an inexcusable combination of errors. Michigan started in at a winning clip and kept it going until the game was safe. The men then seemed to think that it was too hot to play unnecessarily hard, and they slowed up until the last inning when they went in for three runs to show Oberlin what they could just as well have done in each inning.

Watkins pitched a model game for Michigan despite the almost intolerable temperature. He displayed wonderful head work at critical points and saved Oberlin from the trouble of scoring several times. Only three hits were made off him, one of them questionable. His strike out record ended in the seventh notch. Though he was a little free with bases on balls, none of them resulted seriously. Voorhees, on the other hand, was unmercifully pounded. In the first inning he was hit for four doubles. Sexton's hit should have been a triple, but Pierce, Oberlin's first baseman gave an exhibition of "bummer" base ball that stopped Sexton at second. Throughout the game Voorhees was hard hit. A total of fifteen hits was made.

In batting Bloomington again took the lead with two triples, a double and a single in five times at bat. Sexton hit for a double and two singles, while McKenzie came next with three singles. Doubles and triples were the rule, singles the exception throughout the game. Oberlin's story at the bat is too near a blank to call for comment.

Michigan did some good base running, as the detailed score shows. Sexton and Deans led the procession around the bases. Oberlin tried once to steal second, but the result was disastrous and not another attempt was made.

Michigan's fielding was perfect, except for the errors that gave Oberlin her chance to score. The outfielding was perfect. Shields distinguished himself by making two long running catches that looked certain to be triples at least. McKenzie and Condon made a neat double play in the fourth. With the bases full, Mosher hit hard to McKenzie, who made a pretty stop, threw to Condon to retire the runner from third and receiving the ball back in time to cut off the runner to first. Clancy did excellent work at short for Oberlin. The score:

'Varsity Team Receives Unfair Treatment in Saturday's Chicago Field Day Events.

The university track team was treated shamefully in Chicago on Saturday. At the same time the Western Inter-Collegiate management demonstrated its entire incapacity to manage even a game of two-old-cat. After LeRoy had been reinstated the middle of last week, and it had been decided in committee that Hall should be allowed to compete under protest, objection was made to both of them as soon as they had won twelve points and Hall was thrown out, while LeRoy's case was referred to the Amateur Athletic Union for final adjudication. The charge against LeRoy is too well known to necessitate its repetition. The fact that he was regularly reinstated should completely relieve him from any further necessity for defense. Hall's case is this. He once coached a foot ball team somewhere in Alabama, and for this was declared a professional in the face of the fact that Secretary Sullivan of the A. A. U. has already ruled that such an offense does not constitute professionalism. The highest athletic authority does not seem to go with the western inter-collegiate people.

The result of the rank injustice and petty jealousy of some of the western colleges will probably be this. Michigan will have nothing more to do with the association, which already seems to be on its last legs. Another result may be the canceling of the field day date with California on Wednesday, as the Golden Gate athletes expressed their disinclination to come here, if LeRoy and Hall were allowed to compete. They were promptly told that if they did not want to come under those conditions, they could stay away. The most that can be said is that there is considerable doubt whether or not they will come.

Michigan showed up finely in the events. Hall made a phenomenal shotput, extending both the collegiate and inter-collegiate records, of Hickok of Yale, to 44 feet 3-4 inch. LeRoy set the record in the broad jump at 22 feet, 7-8 inches, only four inches short of the collegiate record. Hodgman made the quarter mile run in 50 secs. and could have reduced it a second if he had been pushed hard enough. Baughman showed up well in the 100 yard dash as did also Stuart in the hurdles. The winners were as follows:

100 yards, trial heats: First, J. H. Maybury, Wisconsin; first, Scoggins, California; second, 10:15 sec. Second heat—Stuart, St Albans; Patterson, Chicago, second; 10:2-5 secs. Third heat—Crum, Iowa University; Porter, Michigan; second; 10:1-5 secs; Fourth heat—Baughman, Michigan, won Jackson, Lake Forest; second; 10:2-5 secs. Heat for seconds—Scoggins, first; Jackson, second; Porter, third; 10:3-5 secs. Final heat—Crum, first; Stuart, second; Scoggins, third; 10:3-5 secs. Mile walk—Merrill, California; first; Johnson, Chicago; second; Gundlach, Northwestern, third; 31:30 secs. 120 yard hurdle—First heat—Torrey, California; first; Stuart, Michigan; second; 17:1-4 sec. Second heat—Dyer, of California; first; Richards, Wisconsin; second; Wolcott, Michigan; third; 16:3-5 sec. Final heat—Dyer, California; first; Richards, Wisconsin; second; Torrey, California; third; 16:3-5 sec. 440 yard run—Hodgman, Michigan, first; Whitley, Iowa college; second; Barnes, California; third; 1:30-5. 800 yard run—Hodgman, Michigan, first; Whitley, Iowa college; second; Barnes, California; third; 3:30-5. Mile bicycle—First trial heat: Bachelier, Chicago; first; Garrison, Iowa university; second; time 2:32. Second heat: Brackett, Minnesota; first; Hall, Illinois; second; time 2:36-4-5. Third heat: Morris, Michigan; first; Moore, Northwestern; second; time 2:36-3-5. Fourth heat: W. Moore, Northwestern; first; Bachelier, Illinois; second; time 2:39-4-5. Final heat: Bachelier, Chicago; first; Hall, Illinois; second; W. Moore, Northwestern; third; time 2:48.

Mile run—Clyde, Iowa college; first; Palmer, Iowa college; second; Cragin, Lake Forest; third; 4:30-4-5. 220 yard run—First trial: Crum, Iowa university; first; Downer, Wisconsin; second; time 2:21-5. Second trial: Scoggins, California; first; Patterson, Chicago; second; time 2:23-5. Third heat: Bullard, Illinois; first; Motter, Center; second; time 2:21-5. Fourth heat: Maybury, Wisconsin; first; Montgomery, Wisconsin; second; time 2:23-5. Heat for seconds: Patterson, Chicago; first; Downer, Wisconsin; second; time 2:23-5. Final heat: Crum, Iowa university; first; Maybury, Wisconsin; second; Ballard, Illinois; third; time 2:28.

220 hurdles—First heat—Torrey, California; first; Clark, Illinois; second; 26:3-5 sec. Second heat—Dyer, California; first; Wolcott, Michigan; second; 27:3-5 sec. Third heat—Richards, Wisconsin; first; Lamay, Chicago; second 28:2-5 sec. Heat for seconds—Wolcott, Michigan; first; Stuart, Michigan; second; 30:2-5 sec. Final heat—Dyer, California; first; Torrey, California; second; Richards, Wisconsin; third; 27:1-5 sec. Wolcott was an easy third, but fell over the last hurdle. 880 yards—Koch, California; first; Palmer, Iowa; second; Horton, Michigan; third; 1:59 4-5.

Running high jump—Clark, Illinois; first; 5 feet 9 inches; Koch, California, second, 5 feet 8 inches; Washington, Center, third, 5 feet 7 inches. Shot put—Hall, Michigan, first, 44 feet 3-4 inches; Coehms, Wisconsin, 38 feet 10 1-2 inches; Sweeney, Illinois, 38 feet 1 inch. Running broad jump—Leroy, Michigan, first, 22 feet 7 1-8 inches; Woolsey, California, second, 21 feet 9 inches; Lees, Wisconsin, third, 20 feet 1-2 inch. Hammer throw—Edgren, California, first, 123 feet 9 1-2 inches; Fouts, Illinois, second, 119 feet 9 inches; Hall, Michigan, third 101 feet 6 1-2 inches. Pole vault—Culver, Northwestern, first 11 feet; Hirschberger, Chicago, and Jackson, Wisconsin, tied for second at 10 feet 7 inches. Chicago won on the toss.

The summary of points is as follows: California 1, 5, 5, 1, 1, 5, 3, 5, 3, 5, 3, 5—37
Michigan 5, 1, 5, 5, 1—17

UNIVERSITY NOTES.

Three weeks from next Thursday will be commencement day.

Wisconsin defeated Northwestern on Thursday last by the score of 4 to 3.

The unveiling of the bust of President Angell will occur on senior lit class day, Tuesday, June 25.

A party of ten S. C. A. men spent Sunday in Detroit and furnished music at McGregor mission.

The Ohio senior laws went to Columbus today to take their examinations for admission to the bar. There were about twenty of them.

J. G. Halaplan, chairman of the '94 lit scholarship committee, will spend the summer in Oscoda, Mich. Anyone wishing to write to him relative to scholarship matters should address him at that place.

Chicago university was badly defeated by Wisconsin Saturday forenoon, the score resting at 16 to 4. Chicago had just returned from her western trip and has probably come to the conclusion by this time that a lengthy and tedious trip does make a little difference as to the kind of ball playing a man can do.

HIGH SCHOOL VICTORS.

Ann Arbor Won the State High School Championships at the Jackson Two Days' Meet.

Ann Arbor high school won the state high school field day championship at Jackson Thursday and yesterday, with a total of 86 points to Lansing's 76, Grand Rapids coming in third. Ann Arbor also won the championship in base ball, defeating both Jackson and Lansing. She will get the cup offered as general prize while Lansing gets the all-round medal. In yesterday's bicycle races, Stoffel, of Ann Arbor, was in the lead, but he fell from his wheel and the race was won by March, of Battle Creek.

Following are the summaries:
Shot put—Thompkins, Lansing, 33 feet 3 inches; Jones, of Ann Arbor, second.

Hammer throw—N. Eddy, of Jackson, 57 feet, 5 inches.

Half mile walk—Eddy, of Jackson, first, time 3:55. Foster, of Battle Creek, second.

One hundred yards dash—Christopher, of Lansing, first. Time 11 seconds.

Mile run—Fisher, of Ann Arbor, first. Time, 5:30. Grauss, of Ann Arbor, second.

Light weight sparring—Won by Wheeler, of Ann Arbor.

Wrestling match—Won by Cook, of Lansing.

Middle-weight wrestling—Won by Coggswell, of Grand Rapids.

Heavy-weight sparring—Won by Michler, of Battle Creek.

Heavy-weight wrestling—Won by Eddy, of Jackson.

Middle-weight sparring—Won by Morley, of Ann Arbor.

Club swinging—Won by Bartholemew, of Jackson.

Lansing won the base ball game with Jackson by a score of 24 to 15.

The sports closed in the afternoon with a championship game of base ball between Lansing and Ann Arbor. In the first half of the ninth inning the game was called on account of darkness, and it was left to the directors to decide the championship. The score stood Lansing 12, Ann Arbor 13.

The summary of points is as follows: Ann Arbor - 86 points in minor events
Lansing - 71 " " " "
Grand Rapids " " " "
Jackson - 26 " " " "
Battle Creek - 21 " " " "
Ann Arbor won also in tennis, tug of war and base ball.

A GOOD ENTERTAINMENT.

Ladies' Glee and Banjo Clubs Made a Good Impression Saturday Night.

Saturday evening, at University Hall there was not a very large audience out to greet the first appearance of the Ladies' Glee and Banjo Clubs.

Those who were not present, however, lost a fine evening's enjoyment.

When it is considered how little practice these clubs really have had, it is astonishing that they did so well. Mrs. Kedzie, the lady who managed the entertainment, is a good musician, and very energetic, or else she could not have succeeded so well in so short a time. In selecting material for a concert she chose the best musical talent at hand, and was evidently not influenced by other considerations, that sometimes takes the place of talent in drawing a crowd. Either that or the people have been surfeited with music of late, or else the public interest is not very great in the Woman's Gym., or, perhaps, the people are saving what few half-dollars they have for the summer's vacation, or something else, or all combined must be assigned as a reasonable reason for the failure of the crowd to be present.

The entertainment was worth the money. It was worth a half-dollar just to look at the stage after the performers were seated, before a note had been struck.

The glee club might be criticised somewhat for a tendency toward listlessness—not displaying quite enough vim to satisfy a glee club audience. But the club's rendering of Annie Laurie was as beautiful as anything could be desired. It was as near perfect as it is possible to render it.

The banjo club consisted of a mandolin, three banjos, and three guitars and they made good music. We doubt very much the ability of the boys to excel them. The audience were so delighted that encores were insisted upon each time they appeared on the program.

Miss Osborn gave two recitations, "The Meeting of Evangeline and Gabriel," and "The Dutch Lullaby"—Winkin', Blinkin' and Nod, which the Choral Union chorus sang so credibly some years ago, and she did her part well.

Mrs. Kedzie was good in all, but probably gave the best satisfaction in "Ave Maria" from Mendelssohn.

The entertainment was an innovation and the young ladies were a trifle nervous, perhaps, but they are certainly deserving of much praise, and it is hoped that they may appear again some future time at a more auspicious period, when the community shall not be tired out with musical and other events, and when the people feel richer than they appear to just now.

DON'T STOP TOBACCO

IT'S INJURIOUS TO STOP SUDDENLY and don't be imposed upon by buying a remedy that requires you to do so, as it is nothing more than a substitute. In the sudden stoppage of tobacco you must have some stimulant, and in most all cases, the effect of the stimulant, be it opium, morphine, or other opiates, leaves a far worse habit contracted. Ask your druggist about BACO-CURO. It is purely vegetable. You do not have to stop using tobacco with BACO-CURO. It will notify you when to stop and your desire for tobacco will cease. Your system will be as free from nicotine as the day before you took your first chew or smoke. An iron clad written guarantee to absolutely cure the tobacco habit in all its forms, or money refunded. Price $1.00 per box or 3 boxes (30 days treatment and guaranteed cure), $2.50. For sale by all druggists or will be sent by mail upon receipt of price. SEND SIX TWO CENT STAMPS FOR SAMPLE BOX. Booklets and proofs free. Eureka Chemical & Mfg Co., La Crosse, Wis.

Office of THE PIONEER PRESS COMPANY, C. W. HORSTICK, Supt., St. Paul, Minnesota, Sept. 7, 1894.

Dear Sirs—I have been a tobacco fiend for many years, and during the past two years have smoked fifteen to twenty cigars regularly every day. My whole nervous system became affected, until my physician told me I must give up the use of tobacco for the time being at least. I tried the so-called "Keely Cure," "No-To-Bac," and various other remedies, but without success, until I accidentally heard of your "Baco-Curo." Three weeks ago to-day I commenced using your preparation, and to-day I consider myself completely cured. I am in perfect health, and the horrible craving for tobacco, which every inveterate smoker fully appreciates, has completely left me. I consider your "Baco-Curo" simply wonderful, and can fully recommend it. Yours truly, C. W. HORSTICK.

Those who could not go to Detroit can not afford to miss this display. The members of the art school earnestly solicit the liberal patronage of former years. The rooms will be open from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m., and an admission of 15 cents will be charged.

J. C. Knowlton, as dean of the law faculty, has a communication in today's Free Press, regarding the statements being made relative to Mr. Cameron's—the Detroit Evening News correspondent—expulsion from the University, which many papers throughout the state, that have been very quiet to condemn the University authorities, ought to print, in justice to themselves. There is no desire on the part of the University authorities to muzzle the press, but there is a very commendable desire to prevent the University students and faculties from being misrepresented and held up before the world in a disreputable way. Dean Knowlton's communication is very clear and directly to the point.

Notwithstanding the intense heat, a large audience convened at the M. E. church Sunday p. m. to listen to the first of a series of sermons (in "The Gospel in Great Oratorios," by Dr. C. M. Cobern. Mendelssohn was the composer selected. The lecture was full of interest, showing that the Bible was the inspiration of his genius. The music was all from Mendelssohn. The organ numbers were rendered by Prof. Stanley. The choruses "Lift Thine Eyes" and "He That Shall Endure to the end," from "Elijah" as the two chorals from the same oratorio, and "How Lovely are the Messengers" from "St. Paul," were given with fine effect and made a delightful sacred concert. The next composer considered will be Gounod, next Sunday evening.

CORNER STONE CEREMONIES.

At the Age of Sixty-two Years Bethlehem Church Lays its Third Corner Stone.

WAS ORGANIZED IN 1833.

Frederick Schmidt was the First Pastor—Hermann Reuther was the Second—Rev. J. Neumann is the Third.

In the presence of a throng of 2,000 people, the ceremonies attending the laying of the corner stone of the new Bethlehem German Evangelical church occurred yesterday afternoon, commencing at 2:30 o'clock. The site of the church, between William and Packard streets, was covered with members of the church congregation and friends of the church. Rev. J. Neumann, the pastor was taken, which amounted to $60, the cost of the stone. The exercises were closed with the benediction.

The edifice, which will be built entirely of field stone, and at a cost of a little over $25,000, will, it is expected, be ready for dedication about the last of next November. It will not only be the handsomest, but also the largest church in the city. The accompanying cut will show something of its general appearance.

Coffee Room Society

At a meeting for the completion of the coffee house organization held last week, the following constitution was adopted:

Article I. Name.—The name of this society shall be the Coffee House Association of Ann Arbor.

Article II. Object.—Its object shall be the establishing and maintaining of a coffee house or cheap restaurant, where no intoxicating beverage shall be sold; the maintaining of a free reading room, and the engaging in appropriate religious work as the way may open.

Article III. Members.—All adult persons who are willing to co-operate in the work may become members, by paying an annual fee of 25 cents and signing the constitution.

Article IV. Officers.—The officers of the association shall consist of a president, a vice president, a secretary and a treasurer, and of an executive committee consisting of the above mentioned officers and as many other persons as shall be deemed desirable.

The duties of these officers shall be those which usually pertain to those offices. The executive committee shall have full charge of the business of the association, and with the officers, shall make a full report to the association at the annual meeting.

All officers shall be elected at the annual meeting and shall hold their offices for the term of one year, or until their successors shall have been elected.

Article V. Superintendent.—The coffee house shall be placed in charge of a superintendent of good moral and religious character, elected by the executive committee. The superintendent shall be responsible to the executive committee for the management of the house and the maintenance of good order in it, and shall endeavor to make it attractive. He shall keep a full account of receipts and expenditures, and shall make a full report to the executive committee, or to an auditing committee appointed by them, whenever required to do so, and regularly once a quarter.

The compensation of the superintendent shall consist of home and a stipulated sum per month.

Article VI. Guarantee Fund.—A guarantee fund shall be raised by subscription to meet the expenses of the first year, with the understanding that it shall not be used except as it may be needed. Further arrangements shall be made for the future as necessity shall arise.

Article VII. Games.—Games, with the exception of cards, shall be allowed, but no playing for stakes of any kind shall be permitted.

Article VIII. Meetings.—The annual meeting shall be held on the first Monday in June; other meetings at the call of the president.

Article IX. Amendments.—This constitution may be amended by a vote of two-thirds of the members present at any annual meeting, or at any special meeting called for this purpose, provided a written notice of such amendment shall have been presented at a previous meeting regularly called.

BY LAWS.

1. Quorum.—A quorum of the association shall consist of fifteen members.
2. Amendments.—Additional by laws may be adopted and amendments made at any regular meeting.

The officers for the ensuing year are: President, Robt. Campbell; vice-president, W. S. Perry; treasurer, W. W. Wetmore; secretary, Geo. O. Higby; executive committee, the president, vice-president, treasurer, and secretary and the following persons: Mr. Hedrick, Mr. E. A. Spence, Mr. V. Armstrong, Mr. William Biggs, Mr. A. J. Mummery, Rev. J. T. Sunderland, Mr. J. H. Montgomery, Rev. W. L. Tedrow, Mr. S. A. Moran, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Doeg, Mrs. Pardon, Mrs. Hawey, Mrs. Worden, Dr. Garwood, Mrs. Sarah White, Miss Matilda Brown.

At a meeting of the executive board, held at the close of the association meeting, it was voted to raise the guarantee fund as soon as possible and the president was requested to nominate a committee of seven for that purpose.

KNOWS 3,000 NAMES AND FACES
Sherlock Holmes Starting the Elevator in the Postal Telegraph Building.

Jim Lovett, the elevator starter in the Postal Telegraph building, at Broadway and Murray street, has succeeded in mastering the names of the 3,000 people who work in the office there. Lovett's feat would be remarkable under any circumstances, but is particularly so in this case, because the building has been open only a few months, and up to a week or so ago new tenants were coming in daily, each tenant bringing with him three or four clerks, says the New York Sun. Among the people in the building Lovett is known as the walking directory. Clerks, bookkeepers, stenographers and typewriters, as well as the 180 men and girls employed in the company's operating room, are all known to him, and in most cases he is able to give an accurate description of any of them. There are a couple of dozen John Smiths, and no end of William Joneses, to say nothing of a string of Browns and Whites; but if you happen to want any Greens, particular John Smith or Bill Jones, all you have to do is to give Lovett a slight description of him and he will answer: "Oh, yes, I know him. Got a mole behind the left ear. He's with Blank, Blank & Blank, sixth floor, 605. Going up," and before you realize what has happened you find yourself in an elevator going rapidly skyward.

In a modest way Jim Lovett is a sort of Sherlock Holmes.

"I started in life as an elevator man in a hotel," he said, "and being fond of studying human nature, I made a practice of remembering the names and features of the guests of the house. I got so that I could call men by name who had not been inside of the house for a year, and who had been entirely forgotten by the clerks and other employees of the house. I discovered in this way that I had a good memory, and I can tell you it has served me in good stead many a time. I have been in hotels all over the country ever since, and have become a master of faces and names. My last place was at the Waldorf, where I had charge of the hat, coat and umbrella stands, and there, more than any other place I was ever in, I had to exercise my powers of memory. I came here as an elevator man, and in a few weeks secured the place of starter. There are now about five hundred tenants in the building, and including clerks and operators some 3,000 people. I managed to get the office-holders in my head first, and in a few months had them all down fine. Then I started in on the others, and now I think I can tell you the floor and number of the room where anybody is employed."

Lovett is very proud of his accomplishment, and takes offense if anybody consults the directory by the elevators when he is around.

ESTATE OF ISAAC C. HANDY, DECEASED.
STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Washtenaw, ss.
At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, holden at the Probate Office in the City of Ann Arbor, on Friday, the 13th day of April, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five.

Present, J. Willard Babbitt, Judge of Probate.
In the matter of the estate of Isaac C. Handy, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified by William R. Clark, Executor, praying that he may be licensed to mortgage certain real estate whereof said deceased died seized, thereupon it is ordered, that Tuesday, the fourteenth day of May next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the devisees, legatees, and heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of the Probate Office in the City of Ann Arbor, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted. And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and of the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Ann Arbor Courier, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

FOREIGN FANCIES.
One consequence of the battle of the Yalu is the proposal made in Europe of establishing a naval Red Cross society, whose vessels, painted in some distinctive color, shall accompany hostile fleets and pick up the crews of vessels sunk in action.

Gypsies in France have hitherto managed to avoid being numbered and traced. They roam through the country in bands, and as long as they do no serious harm were let alone by the police. Now the gendarmes have orders to take a census of these nomads and to see that those who are not French are registered like other foreigners.

BETHLEHEM GERMAN EVANGELICAL CHURCH.

tor of the church, began the exercises promptly at the appointed hour with a short word of greeting to the people present. The people joined in singing a hymn, after which Rev. Schweinfurth read a scripture lesson. The church choir rendered a selection and Rev. Paul Irion, of Freedom, gave the principal address, or sermon, of the afternoon, taking his text from Ephesians, 12:19-22. He was followed by Rev. L. G. Nollan of Detroit, who spoke from the words contained in Psalm 90:17. Rev. W. L. Tedrow, of the Trinity Lutheran church, spoke a word of congratulation to the congregation of the Bethlehem church.

Pastor Neumann then read a short history of the church and its continual growth and advancement. Bethlehem German Evangelical church was organized in 1833, and in therefore 62 years old at the present time. It was the first German Lutheran church in Michigan, as well as the first German church of any kind in the state. The first pastor was Rev. Fred Schmidt, father of our fellow townsman, Fred Schmidt. Since its organization, the church has had but three pastors. Rev. Schmidt was succeeded by Rev. Hermann Reuther, who was here for some six years, giving way nineteen years ago to the present popular pastor Rev. J. Neumann. The church organization has also had three church buildings, or will have had when the present edifice is completed. The church has invariably had a prosperous career and is to be congratulated on its prospects for what will probably be the finest church home in the city when completed.

The history of the church, as read by Rev. Neumann, was placed in the corner stone, together with many other interesting documents and articles. Photographs of the three pastors of the church were placed inside the granite block, photographs of the three church buildings that have been the property of the congregation, a list of the officers, trustees, and building committees of the church, the contractor's name, copies of both the church and local papers, the catechism, the constitution of the congregation, reports of the work of the young ladies' society and of the Y. P. S. C. E.

The handsome corner stone of solid granite was then laid, according to the custom of the evangelical churches, by the pastor, Rev. J. Neumann. This part of the program was followed by prayer, and singing by the audience, after which a col-

RECALLS A HEROIC ACT.

The Widow of a Johnstown Flood Martyr Accused of Blackmail.

The widow of a man who gained undying fame in the flood at Johnstown in 1889 is accused of blackmail in an answer to her suit filed the other day. She is Mrs. Anna Malzi, whose husband was the Paul Revere of that terrible disaster. He rode through the valley of the Conemaugh, warning the people of the coming of the torrent of water, and lost his life through his bravery. In her suit Mrs. Malzi claimed she had loaned John Noey, who is a friend of her husband, at various times about $4,219, and he refused to pay any of the sums back. Noey in his answer relates an entirely different story. He says he received $240 from Mrs. Malzi, which he returned; that Mrs. Malzi owes him $3,000, and because he will not give her any more money she has threatened a pretended exposure, which he says is an attempt at blackmail.

Snakes at Home Inside a Cow.

Nicholas Gradner, a well-known and prosperous farmer of near Portersville, Butler county, Pa., was in the city and told the following remarkable story, which is vouched for by reliable people. He said that seven days ago a valuable cow belonging to the family was missing, and that yesterday the animal was found dead, lying among the cranberry bushes in the swamp. A veterinary surgeon named Porter happened along by that time and said he had a curiosity to know the cause of the animal's death. He proceeded to hold a post-mortem on the body. While he was at work a four-foot black snake crawled from the mouth of the dead cow and succeeded in escaping in the underbrush. The doctor was considerably startled, but he proceeded with his work, and when he had reached the stomach he was horrified to find that it was fairly alive with little black snakes from six to eight inches in length. Thirty-two of the reptiles were slaughtered and a few escaped. It is now supposed that the mother snake in some manner crawled into the nostrils of the cow while she was eating and that the little snakes, which are known to find refuge in the interior of the old one, followed.

OUR OWN ANN ARBOR.

Early History of the University.

Founded on Land Grants and Lotteries—The Institution's Early Struggles—President Angell and his Work—Improved Educational Methods.

[From the Grand Rapids Democrat.]
Ann Arbor, May 31.—Outside of New York, Washington, Chicago, and half a dozen other of the largest American centers of population, no other city on the American continent is better known throughout the civilized world than the quiet, pretty little burg of Ann Arbor with its grand university and only 11,000 inhabitants. Its purely literary atmosphere does not draw dollar-chasers from the scholastic town. The majority of the inhabitants support themselves by ministering to the mental and physical wants of the 3,000 students who annually assemble at this brilliant center of learning whose beams lighten every state in the Union and frequently break across the broad oceans.

THE UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN.
It was 1817 when Governor Lewis Cass and the three United States judges, who then ruled the territory of Michigan, decided that it was time to organize a state university with the two towns and three sections of United States government land which had been set apart for Michigan schools. Judge A. B. Woodward, a friend and neighbor of Thomas Jefferson, who was appointed by him as a judge for Michigan, drew the first university charter which was adopted by the territorial government. It was very broad and very grand in its language and terms. It provided for the "Catholopistemiad, or the University of Michigan," with "thirteen didaxim, or professorships," and was to control and manage all inferior schools in the state. It was to be supported by fifteen per cent, of the territorial taxes collected and four licensed lotteries. The lotteries were to be fairly conducted with an advantage of fifteen per cent. in favor of the university. Under this law the Rev. John Montieth, the Presbyterian pastor of Detroit, and the Rev. Gabriel Richard, the Roman Catholic apostolical vicar of Michigan, were appointed professors and opened a "college" school in Detroit. In 1821 the name of the institution was changed to the University of Michigan. The school was maintained by private subscriptions mainly, and the trustees did little but look after the land grant. There is no record that the lottery clause was ever used.

MOVED TO ANN ARBOR.
When Michigan was admitted as a state the Rev. John D. Pierce, a graduate of Brown University and a man of broad ideas and great executive ability, was made superintendent of public instruction. He commenced the work of giving Michigan a university in fact as well as in name. In 1837 the legislature established it at Ann Arbor and money was provided to erect buildings, etc. In 1841 Profs. Whiting and Williams opened the institution with six students. Fifty years ago the first class of five was graduated. Two years later the attendance had increased to eighty-nine students. In 1851 the regents decided to provide a president, and were very fortunate in securing Dr. H. P. Tappan, an able, broad, energetic instructor, whose work gave a great impulse to the young college. He introduced two important reforms. It was decided to abolish the dormitory system and devote all available funds to hiring instructors instead of building boarding houses, and to appoint professors on their merits as instructors rather than parcel them out among the various religious denominations, as had been the rule. President Tappan increased the attendance to 662, opened the medical and law departments and established partial courses before he left in 1863. Dr. Haven, a prudent and successful president, followed for six years, when he left 1,255 students in attendance. For two years Prof. Frieze acted as president, until the appointment of President Angell in 1871. I cannot better describe the career of this modern, practical and progressive president than to quote the following editorial which appeared in The Democrat a few months ago:

ANGELL AND ELLIOT.
When Harvard University was opened 250 years ago, the inscription on the gateway announced that the main object was to educate ministers. For 200 years after that time the colleges of the country were managed almost solely by clergymen. Piety and profound scholarship were the main requisites of a college president. It is only within the last thirty-five years that the policy of putting men of executive ability, men of affairs, at the heads of our great educational institutions has become popular. The two most conspicuous examples of this radical change of policy in the United States were the appointments of President Angell to the University of Michigan and President Elliot to Harvard in 1871 and 1869. Neither was a clergyman, but both were men of great learning and wide experience as public educators, although only forty-two and thirty-five years old. They owed their promotion, however, more to their practical, progressive ideas than to other qualifications. Harvard was then at the head of eastern colleges and Ann Arbor led in the great and growing west. The appointment of these two young men to the prominent positions named was a new departure in the conduct of American colleges. Elliot had a college nearly 250 years old, richly endowed and liberally supported; but antiquity entailed traditions which in their rigidity hindered his work in the line of progressive reformation.

ANGELL CAME WEST.

Angell, with his finished eastern training, was transplanted to the vigorous and virile west, where he found a comparatively young but stalwart institution, where his broad advanced educational methods were adopted readily. A promising graduate of Brown university, ripened by two years of European study and trained by eight years experience as a professor in Brown, he resigned in 1860 to take the editorship of a leading New England daily newspaper for six years during the mind-stretching war period. Five years more as a Vermont college president admirably fitted him for his new post in the west where, with limited financial support, he has put Ann Arbor neck-and-neck with old and powerful Harvard. But that is not his greatest achievement. He has made Ann Arbor the distinctively American, democratic college of the United States, where neither wealth nor family count, but where student life is simple and inexpensive. In educational methods, learning of purpose goes hand in hand with learning of classics. Women sit in the recitation rooms on terms of perfect equality and the noise of the hammer and forge are heard on the grounds once sacred to the classic lecturer. President Angell is, to-day unquestionably the most successful educator in America. His selection as president of the educational congress at the Columbian Exposition was a graceful recognition of that fact by the world's fair officials.

REAL LEARNING.

Dr. Angell belongs to that type of university executives who believe that a modern college education should consist of two things—book learning and real learning. I give the former first place purely on the merit of seniority, for in this practical generation the latter is of at least equal importance. Fifty years ago college life was religiously divided between book study and sleep with a perpendance of study and graduates entered the struggle of life very full of learning and generally very full of dyspepsia. Yet they got along very well in those quiet days of Puritanism when farming teaching and preaching, by the old fashioned melancholy methods, were about the only vocations open to graduates. But to-day four-fifths of our college men plunge into a business career, either directly or through the legal profession, attracted by the vast and profitable material interests developed in this wonderful age, and the up to date graduate to succeed must enter the contest with a knowledge of human nature and material affairs, which the old fashioned college course failed to furnish. He must have a sound body and be prepared to acquire himself with credit in any place and under any circumstances, from making a supreme court argument to conducting a horse trade. You can no more build such a man mentally with books alone than you can build him physically with bones alone.

FEWER STUDY HOURS.

The tendency of modern educational methods under our Angells, Elliots, Lows and Harpers is toward fewer hours for study and more for football and other invigorating physical and mental accomplishments that go to make up a complete man. At old Oxford the student working simply for his diploma is required to devote but three months out of twelve to books and is given the other nine to fit himself for the practical affairs of life in this very practical age. In the University of London there are no study hours or recitations. Students study under private tutors when and where they like and simply appear for examination for their diplomas. Outside of the profession of teaching, those graduates who are only average in classes and give much time to mixing with the world's people and the study of human nature succeed better in life than those who devote themselves exclusively to the study of books. With all the progress which has been made in college methods during the past half century there is yet room for great improvement and the present tendency is toward yet shorter hours, fewer days each week and fewer month each year for routine study. The present college courses require too much seclusion from the world for too long a period at that important time of life when the character and habits of life are forming.

MICHIGAN SPEAKS.

The Story of a Marvelous Transformation.

A Lady of the Pine Tree State Tells of the Experience of Herself and Her Son—Willing to Make Affidavit to the Truth of Her Story.

From the Courier-Herald, Saginaw, Mich.

Several days ago a representative of the Courier-Herald was called to Dover, Clare County, Michigan, to investigate and report what was purporting to be a marvelous occurrence. In order to reach Dover it is necessary to go to Clare by rail and thence by team. After a drive of about fifteen miles into the country the reporter proceeded to find his item of interest which was not an arduous task, for the first man met knew very well indeed the subject of this article, Mrs. Sarah E. Coulter. Everybody in Clare County knows the Coulter family, if not personally, by the sickness that has brought poverty into their home and made them prominent figures in the community.

As the scribe knocked at the door of their residence he was met by Mrs. Coulter who, upon learning his mission, extended a hearty welcome and the following interview took place.

"I understand, Mrs. Coulter, that you have been close to death on several occasions, and that through certain means have been, figuratively speaking, resurrected. Have you any objections to giving me, in brief, a short review of the circumstances?"

"Certainly not," quickly responded the lady, "I will be only too pleased to tell the whole story so that it may be read by others:

"About fourteen years ago we decided to take up our abode in Dover and everything went along smoothly for several years, business progressed and, being of a saving temperament, we accumulated quite an amount. Our family increased as the years rolled by and we now have five children living, the oldest fifteen, youngest three; but sickness made its way into our household, and doctors' bills flooded upon us, until we have nothing left but our home and these sweet children. Everything went to satisfy the claims of physicians.

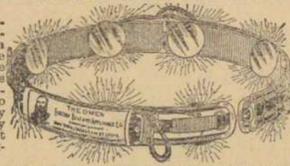

"About three years ago I had a miserable feeling at the back of my ears, my right hand became paralyzed, and the paralysis extended to my arm and throat, and would affect my head and eyes, sometimes for days I would lose my sight, my face was deformed, lifeless as it were, my nose was drawn to one side, and I presented a pitiable appearance and never expecting to regain my natural facial expressions. I employed the best physicians that could be procured expending thousands of dollars for their services, but could not obtain relief. At last, they stated my case was beyond the reach of medical skill, and it would be but a short time until the end would come. This certainly was not very encouraging to me, but I never gave up hope. In connection with receiving the attendance of physicians I have tried every medicine known to the apothecary but never received any relief until Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People came to my assistance.

Before I had taken half of the first box the deformity in my face had left me, and before four boxes had been consumed the paralysis had disappeared entirely and much to my surprise I felt like a new woman. I have not taken any medicine since last spring, just about a year ago, and my trouble has

MIRROR OF FASHION.

LATEST EDITIONS IN WOMAN'S WEARING APPAREL.

One of the Newest Frocks for Girls—The Empire Fan—The Correct Swing—The Greatest Charm of the Skirt—Notes of the Modes.

HIS PRETTY frock, with the fashionable yoke blouse effect, is one of the newest styles for girls. Pretty figured challis in old-pink and pale blue on a cream-colored ground is here shown, daintily decorated with old-pink satin ribbon and creamy lace insertion. The blouse portions of waist are stylishly adjusted over a comfortably fitted body-lining, the upper portions of which are covered with the material and exposed to square yoke depth. The yoke is outlined above the fullness and over the shoulders by a decoration of insertion laid over the satin ribbon. The standing collar is covered with ribbon and insertion to match. Full puffs are becomingly arranged over fitted sleeves that are trimmed at cuff depth with ribbon under insertion. The full skirt is gathered at the top and sewed to the lower edge of the body, the blouse almost entirely hiding the seam. The stylish waist decoration here shown consists of a crushed ribbon belt, with rosettes placed on each side of front, single ends falling over the skirt. The waist closes in center back invisibly or with buttons and buttonholes, as preferred. The design is well adapted to silk or woolen materials, as to the pretty cotton fabrics now being prepared for the coming season, and can be handsomely decorated with ribbon and lace, or completed as plainly as desired. The yoke and fitted lower portions of sleeves can be omitted, if desired, to be worn with a gimp.

Mislead the Purchaser.

There are on the counters of some of the stores crinkled materials that absolutely mislead the unwary purchaser. There are alternate puffs and plain stripes, deep-crinkled waves, and apparently close and firm shirtings that are made entirely by pressure between hot dies. The light touch that one is supposed to bestow upon such goods fails to warn the buyer of the utter worthlessness of it in the item of durability. Every one who desires to investigate crinkled things should take the material between the thumb and finger of each hand and gently and firmly pull it. If it straightens out into perfectly smooth-surfaced material, its possibilities of wear are clearly apparent. Of course, if one merely wants a fabric for ornament this is immaterial, but it is almost always the case that the buyer wants to get what she pays for, and when she buys crinkled goods, it is scarcely comforting to discover that a few hours' use will entirely destroy its beauty.

The fancy waist and plain, flaring skirt are the established models for the season. A few skirts have trimming, and a number of them have front or side sections of different material; but these are the exception, and usually indulged in by women who have many dresses and want variety. There need be no relation whatever, even the remotest, between the fabric of the skirt and the waist; indeed, the less relation the better, unless the colors absolutely quarrel.—New York Ledger.

Empire Fan.

Empire fans of the most delicate and elegant design are now made and vie with the old-time ones in beauty. Indeed, if the truth be told, many of the old-time fans have only age and small size to recommend them, while the newer ones are exquisite in painting, decoration and design. Fans, spangled closely all over, are accepted as very dressy, and they can be had spangled with real gold or silver, but the fun of it is that such spangles are not a bit brighter than the ordinary ones. To brighten up a slightly soiled silk with spangles be careful not to put on too many, and be exact about intervals. It may seem that to just "scatter them here and there" will be all right, but it won't. Lay barred netting over the material to be spangled, sew on the spangles according to the bars, and then cut away the net. That is the best way to accomplish "scattering." While spangles might add to the beauty of the fan presented herewith there is no need of them on the dress, which is plain but for a white satin ribbon belt with long flowing ends and but for the rich white guipure over the shoulders. The dress goods is scarlet surah, made in plain godet skirt lined with white moire. The waist has draped fronts and is worn inside the skirt, the sleeves being very full puffs that do not extend below the elbow. White suede mousquetaires are worn.

Used for Waists.

Plaids and very high-colored fancy goods are used for waists, with crinkled and crape surfaced skirts of any stylish color. One costume has a skirt of dove-colored, crinkle-surfaced wool material. The waist is of dove color and rose pink changeable silk, with stripes of very pale yellow—a sort of daffodil shade. The body is full in front, the sleeves are enormously large and the Eton jacket is of ruby velvet, with cordings of dove-colored satin. The collar and yoke are of lace, and the bonnet is of ruby velvet, with pink-and-yellow aigrets and ruby and dove-colored ostrich tips. The general effect of this was exquisite beyond description.

The Correct Swing.

The greatest charm about the fashionable skirt is its definiteness. It is possible for every woman to know exactly how her skirt should look and if it has not the correct swing it is because the wearer is too careless or too economical to make it so. There is no use trying to make a fashionable skirt out of last year's old one. Better economize some other way than attempt it. People who live in the city find it very profitable to buy separate skirts ready made. The only difficulty is to get the right length and this is sometimes solved for a short person by going to the misses' department. A very nice black serge can be purchased for $5 and moire silk sometimes sells for as low as $12. This is because moire silk is going out of fashion for skirts. Satin is more fashionable and another material which is something on the crepon order, moire poplin. Very few skirts are trimmed around the bottom and when they are it is with a narrow band of velvet or satin or passementerie. The above gown is a crepon in an odd green shade, with a band of black satin around the bottom of the skirt and a strip across the front of the bodice. It is a pretty receiving costume.

Fabrics Increase.

The number and variety of crinkled, waved and puckered-surfaced fabrics increase like the flowers of spring. When they are not woven they are machine-crippled in such a bewildering, bewitching way that they capture the fancy at once, regardless of the fact that they are not worth a rap for durability, and will scarcely bear the process of making up without becoming limp, bedraggled and actually good for nothing. It is one of the unfortunate features of the high novelty trade that immediately an elegant fabric is put on the market, some imitation is thrown out to catch and deceive the public eye.

Narrow Trimmings Again.

Among the new ideas in the making of skirts are trimmings of narrow side-plaiting, such as were in demand ten or twelve years ago. The fabric is hemmed and closely pressed, and a single row of plaiting, with a narrow gimp or a ribbon plaiting, will be a popular fashion for dresses for all occasions.

Close Fitting Waists.

There is a decided fancy for close-fitting waists almost covered with lace of various sorts. An attractive design is a fitted waist of pale blue, with a very deep yoke and shoulder ruffles of Venetian point. Another waist is of polka-spotted silk, edged with ribbon about two inches wide, set on flat.

Fashion Notes.

Skirts cut on the bias, that is, so that the stripe will run in diagonal fashion, are among the novelties.

In the purchase of beaded trimmings a great deal of discretion is necessary if one would take any pleasure in this acquisition. The ordinary cheap jet made by machine has no durability. The beads will cut the thread, then it ravel and the garniture is absolutely worthless. Good hand-made fine jet is more expensive, but is always the best to have, and is susceptible of so many changes and makings over that a moderate investment is always profitable.

Embroidery done on the fabric is a possession that every woman cannot hope for, unless she is herself skilled with her needle. This work, however, in view of the recent interest in embroidery, an interest that is shared alike by all classes of women, is likely to develop into some home-made concoctions that will be not only original in themselves but of great beauty and value in the line of art needlework.

The use of ribbons is universal, and the variety to choose from is endless. Striped or brocaded gauze edged velvet ribbons, velvet-edged gauze ribbons, brocaded in velvet, and taffeta with brocaded stripes are among the novelties. The Dresden ribbons are growing more popular, and summer dresses of silk and wool will be profusely trimmed with them.

Ribbon ruchings are made by plaiting two or two-and-a-half inch ribbon in box-plaits at one edge. This is set upon wide, turned-over collars of velvet. Some of these collars have revers extending to the waist-line, and the ribbon plaiting is graduated to about half its width as it extends down the front.

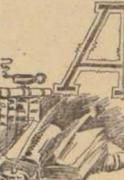

Gauze ribbon ruchings are very much liked for trimmings, especially in black or dark materials. There is nothing softer and prettier than a gauze ruching of black for the collar of a cape or a wrap.

Collars of ribbon and lace are in general use. The one object in making up these collars is to evolve some original idea either in shape, trimming or combination.

SHORT SKETCH OF A NOTABLE PERSONAGE.

His Illness Has Caused Some Anticipation Among Politicians and Anxiety Among the People—Was Appointed to Supreme Bench by Harrison.

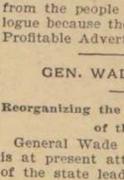

ASSOCIATE Justice Howell E. Jackson of the United States supreme court, whose illness has caused some anticipation among politicians, is one of the most recent accessions to the supreme bench. Although a staunch democrat, he owes his appointment to a republican president, he being one of the last appointments of President Harrison before he handed over the government to Grover Cleveland. Justice Jackson was nominated to succeed the late Justice Lamar. At the time of his appointment he was serving as United States circuit judge in the Tennessee and Ohio circuit, so that his promotion might be regarded as well earned. He was appointed to the circuit bench by President Cleveland during his first administration March 3, 1887. Justice Jackson was born at Paris, Tenn., April 8, 1832, and received a good classical education at West Tennessee College, from which he graduated with honor in 1854, when but sixteen years of age. From that institution of learning he went to the University of Virginia and there took a two years' course. He entered the Lebanon Law School, and at the age of twenty-four was graduated. He began the practice of law in Jackson, Tenn., in 1855. Three years later he moved to Memphis and continued there for twenty years, when he once more returned to Jackson. He was twice appointed to the supreme bench of the state of Tennessee and was once a candidate for judge of the supreme court before a nominating convention, but was defeated. In 1880 he was elected to the state legislature of Tennessee and the following year was elected by his associates in the legislature to the United States senate. He served there with Benjamin Harrison, and it was to the friendship thus formed that his appointment to the supreme bench by a political opponent was largely due. Justice Jackson continued in the senate till 1888, when he resigned. In March of that year President Cleveland appointed him circuit judge and in 1893 he was promoted to his present position. He entered upon the duties of the office March 4, 1893. His decisions as a judge have always been marked by clearness of judgment, sound common sense and an enlightened interpretation of the law, and have always commanded the respect of the legal profession throughout the country. Justice Jackson is regarded as one of the ablest and soundest jurists of the south.

THE ART OF NURSING. Practical Suggestions by an Experienced Observer. A woman who is a trained nurse, occupying, after years of practice, a superior place in a London hospital, has been giving a course of lectures on her profession. Her first proposition at a recent talk was that there is no such thing as a born nurse; the habit of observation was a duty and the basis of nursing, which was an art, only to be learned by practice. Among some practical utterances of the speaker were: A sunny sick room, one that is entered by the sun once in twenty-four hours, is desirable; patients placed on the south side in a hospital ward will recover sooner, by from ten days to a fortnight than those on the north side. Plenty of light is beneficial, except in cases of brain disease. The less furniture in the room the better, and to keep clean a damp duster should be used instead of a dry one. The air must be kept as pure inside as outside, and there was little or no risk about having the windows open top and bottom, if the patient were well covered, head included and a good fire kept burning. Night air is not injurious; it is purer in a city after 10 p. m. than at any other time. The bed should never be in a corner, but accessible from all points. In fever and surgical cases, a "cradle" had sometimes to be used to keep off the weight of the bed clothes; an impromptu cradle could be made out of a handbox with the bottom knocked out. Bed making was the grammar and keystone of nursing; many regular nurses could not make a good bed. It was important to act with decision when the time came for any office, and not to worry the patient by hesitation or talking of what was to be done; to tread quietly, but firmly, not on tip-toe, and never to whisper to a third person. Every effort ought to be made to secure for the patient two hours' sleep before midnight. Amateur nurses often broke down through neglecting to take food when keeping watch through the night.—Philadelphia Record.

D. B. HENDERSON OF IOWA. One of the Leaders of the Next House Representatives. Among the leading men of the next congress will be Hon. D. B. Henderson of Iowa, who was re-elected last year after one of the most brilliant campaigns ever contested in his district. His plurality was vastly increased over that of 1892. He is comparatively a young man, being on the bright side of fifty. In 1892 he was mentioned as a probable dark horse while the memorable convention was assembled at Minneapolis, and had the Blaine-Harrison forces remained unbroken from the start Mr. Henderson might have received the nomination.

What the Secretary of State's Report Shows About the Agricultural Interests of the County. The sixteenth annual report of Secretary of State Washington Gardner relating to farmers and farm statistics has just been sent out. It contains a great many interesting facts relative to the agricultural interests of each county. Table one of the volume contains the land in farms for 1894. In Washtenaw county there is a total of 378,116 acres, of which 277,040 are improved, 101,076 unimproved. The total number of farms is 3,201, and the average number of acres per farm is 118.12. York township takes the lead with 22,154 acres, 17,573 improved, 4,581 unimproved. The total number of farms is 245, averaging 90.43 acres. Dexter leads in size, her farms averaging 172.15 acres. Augusta has the smallest acreage in farms, 13,579, of which 9,184 are improved, 4,395 unimproved; average acreage 75.44 the smallest in the county.

Table two relates to wheat, corn and oats produced in Michigan for 1893, and the number of acres in wheat in May, 1894. Washtenaw is fourth in wheat acreage, Calhoun leading with Kalamazoo county second and St. Joseph third. Washtenaw has a total of 57,366 acres, raising 983,902 bushels, an average of 17.15 per acre. This was 1893. In 1894 she was still fourth in acreage, although the table had decreased to 49,878 acres. Washtenaw was twelfth in per acre average. Luce county being highest at 25.61 bushels per acre. In acreage of corn Washtenaw stood sixth with 28,608 acres, yielding 1,653,641 bushels. In oat acreage this county stood fourteenth with 21,767 acres, a total yield of 694,139 bushels.

Lima township led Washtenaw in acreage of wheat having 3,823 acres, yielding 71,719 bushels, an average of 18.76 bushels per acre. Saline led in bushels per acre, the yield being 19.15 bushels per acre, just two bushels above the average. Sharon led the counties in corn, with 2,173 acres. York led in yield with 146,235 bushels. Saline bears the palm in oat acreage with 1,641 acres with a yield of 54,527. York was ahead in yield with 56,735 bushels. Of potatoes the county raised in 1893 167,646 bushels from 2,044 acres, York township leading with 206 acres and a yield of 20,802.

Of hay there were 57,264 acres with a yield of 78,561 tons, Salem leading with 3,709 acres and 5,281 tons. Scio led in yield with 5,568 tons. Washtenaw county had 127,759 sheep in 1894, and a wool crop of 896,818 pounds. Lodi led in production of wool. Washtenaw is credited with 647.87 acres in peach orchards, a yield of 11,815 bushels, valued at $13,603. Ann Arbor township leads in peach culture.
