THE SCHOOL LAW OF MICHIGAN.

Notes Upon Various Changes in These Laws Within Recent Years.

During the past few years there have been made several notable changes in the school laws of the state. Very few people are conversant with these changes and so the following notes on the subject will be interesting and helpful to most of our readers:

COMPULSORY ATTENDANCE.

All children between the ages of 8 and 14 years, or, if living in cities, between the ages of 7 and 16 years, must attend school at least four months in each school year unless physically unable. Children attending private school or those who have acquired the branches taught in the common schools may be exempted, as may those who have to travel more than two miles by the nearest traveled route to reach the school.

TRUANT OFFICERS.

To enforce the provisions of this act, truant officers are provided for. In country districts organized under the primary school law the chairman of the town board of inspectors is made the truant officer. In schools organized under the grade school law the board, prior to the tenth of September, appoints a truant officer for the term of one year. In cities having a regular police force, officers may be detailed for the purpose. The compensation shall be fixed by the boards appointing and shall not be less than $1.50 for each day employed. When the truant officer is informed of a continued non attendance at school on the part of any child he is required to notify the parent or guardian that on the following Monday the child shall present himself at school with the proper books, and that his attendance must be continuous for at least eight half days each week for the balance of the term. Parents or guardians who fail to regard the notice are guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction liable to be fined from five to fifty dollars or imprisoned in the county jail from two to ninety days or both. Provision is made for the establishment of ungraded schools for truants and also for the sentencing of a certain class of truants to state industrial schools.

FLAGS TO BE PROVIDED.

Act No. 56 provides that school boards of all districts in the state shall purchase a United States flag, at least four feet two inches by eight feet, made of good flag bunting, with flag staff and other appliances, and have the same displayed each school day and such other times as they see fit, upon or near the school house. Failure to do so is a neglect of duty and punishable as such.

AG. COLLEGE EXAMS.

Act No. 101 provides for the examination of applicants for admission to the Agricultural College at the regular county examinations by the county commissioner.

TO PREVENT CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

Provision is made in a separate act for instruction in all schools of the state on best methods in preventing the spread of dangerous communicable diseases. Teachers refusing or neglecting to comply are liable to dismissal.

EXAMINATION OF TEACHERS.

Only two regular examinations are provided for by the statute, but the board of examiners are allowed to have two more. At the latter only second and third grade certificates may be granted. No certificate will be granted to a person, being twenty-one years of age, is not a citizen of the United States.

ONLY TAX PAYERS VOTE.

Upon the question of voting at school meetings the law is slightly changed. It now reads that every citizen who has property assessed and who has lived in the district the required length of time can vote on all questions.

AT LEAST FIVE MONTHS.

There must be at least five months school taught in each district each year. Failure in this regard will entail the loss of the primary money.

WHAT SCHOOL DISTRICTS MUST FURNISH.

One fruitful source of dispute has been removed by the statute defining what shall be furnished for the school house by the district. The following are the articles: Set of wall maps, showing grand divisions, United States and Michigan not to cost more than $12, a globe not to cost more than $8, a dictionary not to exceed $10, a reading chart not exceeding $5, a case for library not exceeding $10, also looking glass, comb, towel, water, pail, cup, ash pail, poker, shovel, broom, dustpan, duster, wash basin and soap.

LIBRARY MONEY.

The library money in each township can now be used only for library purposes and will be divided among the school libraries in the township.

NON-RESIDENT TUITION.

Non-resident pupils may be admitted to any school, but the rate of tuition cannot be fixed at an increase of more than fifteen per capita in the district. In case their parents or guardians pay taxes in the district the amount of such tax shall be credited on the tuition.

How it Looks in the Country.

Judge Babbitt took a trip out into the country some fifteen or more miles south east of Ypsilanti Thursday, and he is now telling some pretty fair stories about the crops. He says that corn is the biggest crop he ever saw. The stalks stand up high, and almost every one has two ears on it. Meadows are looking well again. And potatoes and beans are fine, excellent. Apples were poor, but other fall fruits were plentiful, peaches, plums and pears giving evidence of an immense yield.

The Judge said he went over the 1,000 acre farm of Daniel Quirk, of Ypsilanti, and that he never saw one in nicer condition. Everything is tidy and clean; there is hardly a weed to be found on the entire place. There are eight large, nice tenant dwellings on the farm, and they are all kept up in the same manner. "It is well worth a trip down there to see this farm, and the admirable manner in which it is conducted," said the Judge.

"These late rains have done a surprising amount of good," continued he, and fields, especially of corn, that bid fair to be complete failures, are now indicating a wonderful yield. Oh, we most always come out all right in the end, if we only have patience. It doesn't pay to worry over things we can't help."

Sheep Killing Dogs Again.

A few days since John Staebler noticed a couple of hounds jump over the fence and attack the sheep of Fred B. Braun, who lives a couple of miles out of the city on Broadway. Staebler hurried into the house and got a gun and fired at the dogs, but being excited and nervous, his aim was not good, so he did not hit the canines, but they took the hint and dug out. He did not get the second shot at them.

This occurred at about 7 o'clock in the afternoon and Mr. Braun informs us that the dogs were both recognized as hounds belonging to X. Zachman, an Ann Arbor butcher, whom he notified of the affair.

The sheep were Mr. Braun's choicest Shropshires, and as a consequence he feels considerably anxious about the affair.

Dogs have frequently killed sheep for him and his brother, and as may be imagined he does not feel any too good natured about it.

About the Chelsea Fair.

O. C. Burkhardt, president of the Chelsea Fair Association, addressed a letter to the people in that vicinity, through the Chelsea Standard, calling upon them to rally round the officers and give them a hearty support for their fair this fall.

He closes the appeal in this way: "The managers will work for nothing and board themselves if necessary, that you may have your premiums. Can I offer more? Give us a good crowd. Didn't last year's fair beat the state and county fairs? Yes! Chelsea and vicinity beats any place in the United States! (That's no taffy.)"

Remember that the grounds will have to be sold on a mortgage unless the fair is held, as this is the only means of raising money to pay the interest. Remember the date, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Oct. 2, 3, and 4."

WAS HE FOULLY DEALT WITH?

A Highly Sensational Death at the Poorhouse.

WHERE IS FRANK CLANCY?

Grant Stevens of Kalamazoo Dies Here Under Peculiar Circumstances Leading to Belief That he Was Foully Dealt With.

Monday morning a queerly acting stranger was helped off a T. A. A. & N. M. train and left at the depot. The conductor knew nothing about him except that he had been put on the train at Toledo, his fare paid to Ann Arbor and that he either refused or was unable to answer the questions put to him.

He hung around the depot for some time and was finally arrested by officer Wood and removed to the jail. The man was not drunk however. No trace of liquor could be found. Still he seemed in a sort of stupor physically unable to give an account of himself.

Superintendent of the Poor Mason was notified and took the man out to the county poor house. It was not thought necessary to summon a physician and so without any medical attendance whatsoever and without recovering from his stupor sufficiently to give an account of himself the man died there Tuesday morning. The body was at once turned over to the authorities of the University medical school and prepared for the vat. The dark beard and moustache were shaved off, and all supposed the little tragedy to be at an end.

When helped off the train the man had with him a small brown grip containing some unimportant papers bearing the name of Frank Clancy, a newly laundered white shirt, a knife, a razor, night key and some old clothes. One of these papers was dated at Paw Paw and to that place Supt. Mason wrote for information about Frank Clancy. Yesterday Mrs. Clancy, residing at 14 Maynard st., received a telegram from Paw Paw telling her that a body supposed to be that of her son, Frank, was lying in the poorhouse here.

Mrs. Clancy hurried to the poorhouse. The body had been removed to the University medical building but the grip and contents she positively recognized as her son's. But when confronted with the body she was equally certain it was not that of her son. However she identified it as that of her son's brother-in-law, both Clancy and Stevens lived at Kalamazoo.

A week or so ago Clancy's wife, Edith, ran away from Kalamazoo with one Pat Boyle, a married man of that city. Boyle's son traced the pair to Toledo and found them living together as Mr. and Mrs. James Dillon. A few days ago the husband and brother left home and went to Toledo in search of the guilty pair. No news came from either until Stevens was identified here yesterday by Mrs. Clancy.

As soon as the body was seen by her circumstances which had not before appeared suspicious began to be seen in their real light. Coroner Ball yesterday afternoon summoned a jury, a post mortem was decided upon and awaiting that the inquest was adjourned until Wednesday.

The post mortem examination is being held today at the anatomical laboratory by Dr. Darling and his assistant, to determine whether death was from natural causes or from poison.

From this examination, as in fact from everything else about the case the newspaper reporters are excluded, and a great pretense of secrecy and mystery is maintained. The very fact that such is the case leads the public to believe that something to warrant the suspicions that there has been foul play has been discovered.

CLEARING AND DEEPENING.

The Body of Clancy Found in the Vat—The Authorities Having Been Given the Wrong One.

The mystery in the Clancy-Stevens case is clearing and deepening with investigation. This morning Sheriff Judson concluded to visit the pickling vat at the University medical college again. He did so and in company with old Doc. Naegle investigated thoroughly the entire contents. He found the swollen, blackened body of Frank Clancy. It was drawn from the vat and Mrs. Clancy quickly sent for. She at once knew the body of her son, and all her fears ended in a terrible certainty. William Hasenack and William Vernor as positively and as unhesitatingly recognized it.

Friday morning when William Hasenack called at the anatomical laboratory he asked Doc. Naegle to see the body of Clancy just brought from the poorhouse. He was shown the body of the man that now lies at the cemetery awaiting burial. He was certain it was not Clancy but in order to be sure, Clancy's mother was sent for. She was also positive that it was not her son. Both were tolerably sure that it was one of the Stevens boys, most likely John. The coroner at once took possession of the body, and ordered a post-mortem. While the two surgeons will not tell what they discovered, still it is unauthoritatively stated that enough was found to warrant further procedure.

It is learned from the records kept at the anatomical laboratory that the body which has been taken for that of John Stevens arrived here Monday from Detroit where he had died.

The record shows that the body which the authorities were given was that of a prisoner named Hudgins, who died at the Detroit House of Correction, that he was 27 years old, and had three gun shot wounds, and had been sent there from Texas.

Now the mystery turns on to Stevens. Where is he?

Tuesday morning's train Sheriff Judson went to Toledo to continue investigation into the Clancy-Stevens case. He has a theory of his own with regard to what caused the mysterious death of Frank Clancy. Upon this he is at work. He will also make certain preparations for tomorrow's inquest.

The Courier learns that it was Coroner Ball and not the sheriff who first discovered Clancy's body in the vat. For several days the Coroner has been hard at work on the theory that the body which was in the physician's hands was not that of the man arrested by Officer Wood, taken to the poor farm by Supt. Mason, and thence after death removed to the medical college. He secured minute descriptions of the man from Wood and Mason and found that neither tallied with that of the man identified as John Stevens. Then he went and found the real body in the vat. The sheriff then accompanied Mrs. Clancy to the college to identify the body. The coroner and sheriff are in full accord and are working to gether with all the means in their power to ferret out the mystery.

Old "Doc" Naegle pretends that he did give up the body which he had received from the poor farm but he is not believed. It is probable that he intentionally gave up the wrong body, in the belief that it would not be recognized and so would be returned to him.

There seems to be no new developments today. All is in readiness for the inquest tomorrow morning at Dieterle's undertaking establishment.

The physicians have completed their examination but will not reveal its results.

The body of Clancy has been turned over to his mother Mrs. Margaret Clancy and will receive proper burial probably this afternoon.

The very latest rumor is that there are some sensational developments, but the authorities are clove-mouthed and refuse to divulge anything.

It was a glorious down pour that set in Sunday just as the people were ready for church. It caused many empty seats at church, but many hearts full of joy at home because of the good it did.

ENORMOUS TRAFFIC AT THE "SOO."

Among the big figures which show the growth of the trade of the lake region and the commerce of the lakes themselves, there are no statistics more remarkable than those that measure the prodigious traffic which passes through the ship canal at Sault Ste. Marie.

In the month of July the freight carried through the St. Mary's River Canal was 187,000 tons in excess of the biggest record ever made by the canal in a like period.

For a long time the Suez Canal used to beat the St. Mary's Canal easily in tonnage, both measured and freight, but now there is no longer any competition between the two waterways in respect to the volume of their traffic.

The totals for our record-breaking canal are already wonderful, but the rate of increase is still more astonishing. This year the season of navigation at Sault Ste. Marie began about two weeks later than in 1894.

Such comparisons give some idea of what the St. Mary's Canal will do in the near future. Already it has been the channel whereby a freight tonnage equal to the weight of all the corn that could be grown in a year on a million acres of first class land has passed to market in a single month.

Figures of this sort might be multiplied almost indefinitely, but enough facts have been given to impress upon the most hasty reader some idea of the tremendous importance of the traffic of the lakes and especially of that portion of their commerce which comes from Lake Superior.

Space in the Transportation Building of the Cotton States and International Exposition at Atlanta has been granted for the model of the Nicaragua canal as exhibited in Paris.

Excursion rates from Ann Arbor to Niagara Falls are $5.85. If we lived down at Cincinnati we could go to the Falls for $5. You see distance lends cheapness in this instance. We are not far enough away.

The basement of the First M. E. church is being thoroughly cleaned, painted and partly carpeted with new carpets. Considerable new furniture has been placed in the parlors by the Ladies' Aid Society of the church.

The weather has been flirting with the stay-at-homes this summer. There have been two or three isolated periods in which the sun showed temper; but, with these exceptions, we have had no real oppressive weather at all this year.

S. J. Beardsley brought into this office today a stalk of broom corn nine feet three inches high, grown at his place on Spring st. It was not fully developed, but would have made a foot's growth more. Which shows that vegetation was not all frizzled up this summer.

Supervisor Eugene Oesterlin has been elected treasurer of the D. O. H., which has just closed its annual state meeting at Lansing. The order is in a very flourishing condition. George Vasek, John Meyer and Christian Martin also attended the meeting as delegates from the local lodge.

A writer touches just exactly the right chord when he says: "It is the local paper that prints your home news; that says a word of sympathy when you are sorrowful; that speaks a kind word for your dear dead; that advertises your town and farm; that builds up your city and county; that helps you in thousands of ways, and it you should patronize."

The Executive Committee of the Council of Administration of the Department of Michigan G. A. R. has been summoned to meet at the office of the Assistant Adjutant General, at St. Johns, Mich., on Monday, Aug. 19th, it is presumed to discuss some matters relative to the trip to the National Encampment at Louisville, Ky. W. K. Childs, of this city is a member of the above Committee.

That most talked about person, H. H. Holmes, who is charged with any number of horrible murders, was a classmate of Dr. F. M. Gier, of this city, graduating with the medical class of '84 at Ann Arbor. A large photo group of the class hangs in Dr. Gier's office and No. 38 is H. W. Mudgett, alias H. H. Holmes. Dr. Gier says from what he can recollect of the disposition and actions of the man when at school, he is not surprised at the charges against him.—Hillsdale Standard.

August days are guards that keep Watch while summer lies asleep.

Charles Buehler has bought one of C. H. Jones' trucks and will succeed to his freight business. Mr. Jones has purchased Robinson's bus for service between the depots.

Frank Parker has secured the lots on Washington st., formerly owned by L. D. James, receiving the deeds thereof this morning. He will put up three stores three stories high, as soon as plans can be drawn.

The numerous and variegated smells that greet one's nostrils evenings when passing by places where they burn up the refuse from the table is something truly appalling, and there are many of them in the city.

Jackson Patriot: "Lewis Smith arrived in the city Tuesday night from Battle Creek, having been forwarded from there by the poor authorities. Smith is very ill and being desirous of reaching Detroit was issued transportation to Ann Arbor Wednesday by Supt. Hawley." Very kind, to be sure. Ann Arbor is always pleased over such little attentions.

When a person drops dead, or dies suddenly from natural causes, it is not right, and is often very painful to members of the family to have inquests held over their remains. Where there is even a shadow of foul play, or the least suspicion of something wrong, then of course it is the duty of the proper officials to hold such inquests. The desire to secure the fees, in large cities especially, causes the law to be abused some times.

The Jackson Patriot very truthfully remarks: "Many a bright young man, after getting an education, throws away his opportunities his home, his health and all that makes life worth living, because of the allurements of a fast career. The spectacle, though common, is a sad one; and its lessons should not be lost on those whose school years are closed, and who will be exposed to similar temptations. There is no escape from these temptations. There is no escape from the tempter except by letting him alone at all times and on all occasions."

When the inhabitants of Ann Arbor go to other places, and learn how cheap all sorts of fruit and produce is compared with what they have to pay, it is an eye opener. Here is an item from the Luddington Appeal for instance: "The price of peaches has ruled low most of the time the past week in the Milwaukee market. We learn of one instance where the shipper had to send money to pay the freight charges. Ten cents per fifth basket has been considered a good price, while seven cents has more often prevailed. A gentleman who was at Hart last week informs us that growers thereabouts only received three cents after all charges were paid. Their fruit went to Chicago."

This advice to boys from the Stockbridge Sun, would be a benefit to every boy in the land if he would but follow it: "Boy, throw away that infernal cigarette, and all the rest of them. Here is a young fellow standing on the corner, a victim. His soiled and somewhat shabby garments do not give him a very prepossessing look. Between the puffs of his cigarette, he casts envious glances at a well dressed and respectable appearing youth near by. Does he stop to think that with the ten cents he spends each day for 'coffin tags' he too might array himself in fine linen like that of his friend, with that hat and elegant tie; and have left respectability, and perhaps something to put in the bank? That in one month he could buy just as good a pair of shoes? That five months would bring as neat a suit or that in a year he could purchase a gold watch with what he worse than burns up? No; he goes away and grumbles."

A chattle mortgage for $1,411.73 on the stock of goods belonging to John Elsele, in favor of Lee & Cady, of Detroit, was filed with the city clerk Friday.

The engagement of Prof. Volney M. Spaulding, of the University, to Miss Etta Southworth, a recent U. of M. graduate, is just announced. Miss Southworth is at present engaged in one of the government departments at Washington.

There were over 400 children in the line of march of the Sunday School of Zion's church Thursday p. m. They marched to Relief Park where the regular annual picnic was enjoyed. Supt. Frederick Schmid and Ass't Superintendent George Haler, Sr., are credited with the admirable arrangements, which were carried out so nicely. It was a great day for the little ones, and they all enjoyed it hugely.

It is perhaps not generally known that Prof. Mark W. Harrington, formerly director of the Detroit Observatory connected with the University in this city, and appointed chief of the weather bureau by President Harrison, from which position he was recently bounced by President Cleveland, has been offered the presidency of the University of the state of Washington. It is intimated that he may accept, and if he does he will still hail from Washington, see! not D. C.

It was a pleasant birthday party Thursday at the home of C. H. Major in the second ward. Quite a crowd of his brothers from Otsenigo Lodge I. O. F., spent the evening there and with their families sat down to an elegant spread. For the lodge W. C. Jacobus presented Mr. Major with a fine gold watch charm, embellished with the emblems of the order, and not forgetting the hostess, presented her with a handsome rocking chair. The occasion will be long remembered.

Nowhere in the city is such a cordial and hearty welcome extended to young men as at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association. They also may find there all the city dailies and weeklies, Detroit dailies, magazines, Harpers Weekly, Youths' Companion, Scientific American, and other leading periodicals. Ann Arbor's young men should not fail to patronize an institution which affords both instruction and entertainment, pleasure and recreation, and helps for body, mind and soul.

There is considerable cholera morbus about. Dr. Walker reported 2,500 cases in Detroit a few days since, and Ann Arbor has had quite a large number also. The cause is said to come from eating unripe vegetables and fruit. This season has been a peculiar one, and with potatoes especially, there is said to have formed in them an acid fluid that is dangerous to the human system when taken internally. It is more important than ever this year to see that all fruit is ripe before you eat it yourself, or the children are allowed to partake of it.

Next Thursday evening the ladies of St. Thomas' church will give a social on St. Thomas' school grounds. They are working very hard and will surely make a success of it. Miss Celia Brennan of the Chicago public schools, will give a practical exhibition of the Kindergarten work, and Jim Harkins is going to abandon camp in order to sing for the crowd. St. Thomas' Glee and Banjo Club which has always done so well, will play, and the Misses Katie Burns, Lizzie Fitchel, Lizzie Kinney, Nellie Brown and May Clarken will be the other numbers on the program.

This is not original but it is a good thought: "An editor sat in a bottomless chair within his sanctum cheerless and bare; his noble brow was furrowed with care and misery. A tough looking customer entered the place, with rolled up sleeves and an ugly face, and straight for the editor noble did pace, maliciously. The sanctum emitted a warlike sound; its contents went spinning round and round; a heavy weight down the stairway did bound, decidedly. Then the editor put out the chair from his hat, extracted the shears from the office cat, scraped up the paste, and dished out 'fat' complacently."

Hudson P. Ellis, writing to L. Gruner, among other things, tells how Texas City, Texas, is booming. One firm of cotton dealers has contracted to ship from two to three hundred thousand bales of cotton through there this year, another one hundred thousand bales, another thirty thousand, etc., making it lively for the vessels and stevedores. As it requires only fifty bales of compressed cotton to fill a car, one can readily imagine the amount of labor it takes to handle that enormous amount. The first mentioned firm is to put in a $40,000 crooked dock, and buildings such as storehouses, stores and dwellings are constantly springing up. He thinks Texas City is destined to be the great sea port of the south.

SOME QUIANT REMARKS.

Made by the Adrian Press Man About Some Things.

Mr. Wisdom resides at Milan. Members of the Folly family can be found in most all towns.

The recent exciting chess contest between Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti, developed the most consummate skill on the part of the participants—in prevaricating about the result.

Says the Dundee Ledger, "burglaries in Dundee are becoming unpleasantly frequent occurrences." But they assist the news columns in dry time and hazard the interests of few publishers.

A frescoer in the Jonesville Presbyterian church, last week, fell from grace across the back of a pew. The pew-back is all right, but the frescoer's back is nearly broken, as was "predestinated" from the beginning.

Little Johnny Ritz, of Ann Arbor, peered into the barrel of a child's rifle, to see how it looked inside, but owing to a severe scalp wound he received at just about that time, he has no distinct remembrance of how it did look.

"The Devil up to Date" is the title of an article in Scribner. It might be thought to refer to the liquor-phobia at Clayton or Ypsilanti, but no where in the article are those places mentioned.

The result of the attack on Ann Arbor by the Salvation Army, was quite a surprise to all concerned. Each side appears to have misunderstood the others strength. Both sides are in council.

Daniel Scofield, of Ypsilanti, sat on the porch to see it rain, when lightning struck a tree eight feet from him, and jumped down an old well. Scofield dodged and saved himself, and undoubtedly has a great future, barring set-backs.

"Flying" Into the Face of Providence.

James Murnan, the popular day clerk at the Cook House, handed the following clipping to us. It is taken from the little Falls N. Y. Times, and records a feat in railroading that is simply remarkable:

"A feat in railroading was performed Saturday on this section of the New York Central, which, though not unfrequently paralleled on this most efficient and speedy of roads, is certainly calculated to make one wonder. The feat was nothing less than the accomplishment by the great Empire State Express of a distance of 148 miles in 140 minutes, something scarcely possible, with safety, to a less thoroughly governed and mechanically perfect road.

"The Empire arrived in Syracuse Saturday afternoon forty-one minutes late, was delayed three minutes by its stop at Utica, and four minutes in this city by accommodation train No. 72, but arrived in Albany at 7:05, having made the 148 miles from Syracuse in 140 minutes, this of course being actual running time with stops deducted. Such moving across country for such a distance is enough to convince any old time obstructionist that we of the present day are actually "flying" into the face of Providence.

"Old 888, the railroader's criterion of excellence, had Jacob Vrooman of Schenectady at the throttle and was fired by Peter Wagner of St. Johnsville, both of whom feel justifiable pride in the latest achievement of their iron steed."

Great Day at Chelsea.

Thursday was the day of sports at Chelsea, and it was a great day. There was a good attendance, and those who were there enjoyed the occasion very much.

Ex-Congressman James S. Gorman acted as master of ceremonies. There were 1,120 paid admission to the grounds.

All teams and all children were admitted to the grounds.

Among those who had horses in the races, was Hon. John V. N. Gregory, of Dexter.

Among those from Ann Arbor our correspondent noticed the following: Harry Benham, Deputy Co. Treasurer P. J. Lehman and wife, Deputy Register of Deeds Alexander and family, Sheriff Judson, County School Commissioner Wedemeyer, City Atty. Chas. Kline, Assistant City Atty. J. C. Lewis, Dep'y Sheriff William Eldert, William Burke, Bert Ellis, and a number of others.

The crowd from Ann Arbor returned on the 9 o'clock express which stopped there to take them on.

The ball team from here, made up of High School, University, and town boys, defeated the Chelsea nine in the afternoon.

City Attorney Kline umpired the ball game in the morning between the Grass Lake and Chelsea clubs, and Charlie still lives.

All voted the day a success and Chelsea people all prices.

Eureka Chemical and Mfg Co., La Crosse, Wis.

Dear Sirs—I have been a tobacco fiend for many years, and during the past two years have smoked fifteen to twenty cigars regularly every day. My whole nervous system became affected, until my physician told me I must give up the use of tobacco for the time being at least. I tried the so-called "Kely Cure," "No-To-Bac," and various other remedies, but without success, until I accidentally learned of your "Baco-Curo." Three weeks ago to-day I commenced using your preparation, and to-day I consider myself completely cured; I am in perfect health, and the horrible craving for tobacco, which every invidious smoker fully appreciates, has completely left me. I consider your "Baco Curo" simply wonderful, and can fully recommend it.

Yours truly,
C. W. HORNICK.

John Hopkins, a young millionaire of Philadelphia, rode fifteen miles on a bicycle the other day and died a few hours later from over-exertion. The bicycle is a good thing, but it is not wise to push it along too hard.

It looks bad to brag, but we are told by people who keep track of the building operations in the state, that there is more building going on in Ann Arbor to-day, in the residence line, than in any other city in the state, save Detroit, even the city of Grand Rapids not excepted. How is that for Ann Arbor?

Ed. L. Seyler at E. F. Mills & Co's, has a silver dollar that didn't stand the test, and broke in two very easily. It is a good looking counterfeit and would readily deceive the majority of people. One handling much money could detect its light weight, but otherwise it was not so easily distinguishable. There is enough glass in its composition to give it the right ring. Ed. was not deceived by it, but others may be, so look out for the dollars that are not worth even 50 cents.

The clouds come up when our life is bright, And cover the sun away, And the heart grows chill in the sudden night, And longs for the vanished day. One of our livermen, noted for his likeness to G. A correspondent writing to the press from Cornell states that twenty years' record of co-education at Cornell University, show that the women lead in scholarship. They have a higher record throughout the four years' course than the men; more women than men received the highest record for scholarship, and, with the exception of oratory, women took more than their proportional share of honors and prizes.

E. church, of Ann Arbor, of which Rev. Wm. Collins is pastor. Special rates have been secured for the meeting on the motor line.

Out in Kansas they have discovered the proper way to get rid of weeds along the highways. Not by hiring it done, and making an appropriation therefor, but by adding to the taxes of the farmer who neglects to cut them down. It is hardly necessary to say that the weeds are disappearing rapidly out there.

The little girls of Boston are reported to be over-educated. The story goes that a child was asked in a tram-car, for her age, with a view to "half-fare for children." Whereupon the premature little damsel murmured, "If you don't object, conductor, I'll prefer to pay full fare and keep my own statistics."—Boston Home Journal.

The inhabitants of the 6th ward in the neighborhood of Felch Park, were much alarmed Friday night by fire breaking out again in the rubbish in the north side of the "cat hole." It was put out before any damage could be done, but the residents of that section are loud in crying for the prompt punishment of any who throw garbage there. It ought to be stopped at once by the authorities.

Mrs. F. Harris, at No. 41 Catharine st., has four nice rooms on the ground floor, that are now vacant, and that she desires to rent to some nice small family. These rooms have quite a happy history, as they have been the starting place in married life for four brides, and as Mrs. Harris expresses it, they were all beautiful, lovely ladies, and she would be very glad to have another young couple as neighbors.

The road roller is now at work on W. Huron st. and is doing good work. There is no question but that the machine is a good one, and the investment will prove to be, as the Courier has from the first claimed, a wise investment for the city. It goes over the streets after the sewer diggers get through and makes them level, hard and smooth, while heretofore we had to wait month after month for the elements and travel to accomplish the work, and then the surface would be uneven and bad.

Why should you dread the morrow, And thus despoil today? For when you borrow trouble You always have to pay. It is a good old maxim, Which should be often preached— Don't cross the bridge before you, Until the bridge is reached.

Prof. Samuel Osborne, teacher of sciences in the Manistee schools, who is attending the University summer school, returned Monday from a visit to his father, Ex-Supervisor Wm. B. Osborne, of Sharon. While there he met his brother Will, who is at the head of the Buffalo Business University, one of the largest schools of the kind in the east, and who returned home to Buffalo this morning via Ann Arbor.

L. C. Goodrich has in his possession the official badge and button for the 26th triennial encampment of the Knights Templar to be held in Boston. It is of bronze metal, the lettering in enamel, and a very pretty badge. The circle pendant has in its center a medallion of St. George and the dragon. The button is of the same metal, having on its face a kettle of beans, together with the cross of Salem. Some twelve or fifteen knights here have already secured these badges, which are furnished for the remarkably low price of $1.25 each. Considering the material and beauty the badge is a wonderfully cheap jewel.

A mother who has the care of a babe attached to her other household duties, thinks this item would be of interest to some of the Courier readers: "When babies are sleeping they often perspire so freely that the pillow is quite wet under their heads. This excess of perspiration is weakening, and shows too much heat in the system, and causes restless sleep and frequent waking. It is best to use a thin hair pillow, and to see that the bed clothing is not too heavy or warm. A mattress of good light hair is better than a feather bed, and if it becomes soiled or damp with perspiration, should be taken to an empty room, the hair poured out on a sheet, thoroughly picked over and aired, the tick washed, then made up again and re-tufted."

There is one thing that is truly quite a nuisance, and that is people who get into the habit of calling a policeman for trivial things, when their services are not actually necessary. This should be avoided. It is surprising and often amusing to hear the complaints of people who call for a policeman. Sometimes neighbors' children will get into a scrap, wee fellows they are, and one side or the other will send to police headquarters for an officer. Often people will call who have had trouble over chickens and sometimes even cats and dogs cause neighborhood quarrels, and the people think that the police can settle the trouble for them. In fact, "children and chickens" seem to be a prolific source of trouble among neighbors. If you have any trouble of this sort do not call the police. You should go to a justice of the peace and make your complaint before him.

Henry C. Waldron, sec'y, writes us that ex-Senator Palmer will surely attend the Farmer's Picnic at Whitmore Lake on Aug. 24th, and make a speech. He says: "The senator is not only willing but anxious to visit the stamping grounds of his college days."

Sec'y Childs received notice Monday morning of a small loss at the house of Aaron Campbell, who lives one-half mile west of Dixboro, in Ann Arbor town. On Saturday evening a lamp exploded in the sitting room and damaged the contents of that room considerably before the fire was put out. Damage not yet estimated. This will not be pleasant news to the stockholders, though they will thank their stars that the entire house did not burn up.

Worth Recommending.

Under the above caption the Evening Herald, published at Shenandoah, Pa., has the following reference to Pawnee Bill's Wild West that gives a show here on August 22.

"It is a gratifying task to commend a good thing. Lack of space yesterday prevented us from paying the compliments deserved by our old friend, Major Gordon W. Lillie, (Pawnee Bill), and his wild west show and hippodrome. Many of our people witnessed Pawnee Bill's show at Lakeside a few years ago, and that they were well pleased with it was proved by the large audience at the shows on Thursday. They were agreeably surprised to find that the shows have been greatly enlarged and improved since the previous appearance in this region and are conducted on a more elaborate scale generally. We do not hesitate to say it is the best 25-cent show under canvass in the country, and none in the large audience of Thursday left the grounds dissatisfied. Pawnee Bill is also to be commended for keeping all fakirs off his trail. He gives a good, wholesome entertainment and affords his audience all the comfort and protection they can expect."

Taylor-Cowan Nuptials.

This evening at 8 o'clock, Mr. Edward E. Taylor, of Owosso, and Miss Elizabeth A. Cowan, of this city, will be married at the home of the bride, at No. 89 S. Main st., Rev. Henry Tatlock performing the ceremony. There will be present only the immediate family. Mr. Taylor is a graduate of the University lit class of '93. He was at one time treasurer of the Athletic Association, and quite prominent in University circles when a student.

Miss Cowan has been a teacher in the ward schools here for the past few years, and is familiarly known as "Lee," and is a young lady of refinement and culture.

The couple leave to-night for Detroit, from where they go to Owosso, to his home, and eventually to Muskegon where Mr. Taylor is engaged in teaching.

Druggists say "We sell more of Gessler's Magic Headache Wafers than all other headache remedies combined." This needs no explanation, if you wonder why, just think it over. Merit wins every time. A. E. Mumery says, I guarantee Gessler's and offer to return the money if they do not cure. I have sold them for years. They cure headaches and neuralgia, nothing else, but that in a very few minutes; that's saying a good deal. Price 25 cents.

The First National's New Safe.

A new time lock safe of recent design, manufactured by the Detroit Safe Co., has just been put in the vault at the 1st National Bank.

The safe is divided into compartments, the doors for each, as well as the outside door being controlled by the clock that runs the time lock. This is an entirely new feature. The time lock is so arranged that the outside door could be blown off by dynamite or destroyed by cutting out, and yet the time lock would be uninjured, and no one could get into the inner apartments. The clock can be set to run 72 hours.

The safe is not very large, but it is a beautiful piece of work, and the mechanism of the clock and the locks is such that a mechanical genius would find pleasure in studying them.

The safe cost $1,500 spot cash, and since it was bought the rise in every thing that is made of iron is so great that it would take $1,700 or $1,800 to purchase it now.

The bank certainly has a safe place to store its funds, and can give burglars and daylight robbers both a merry go-by.

A Chance for Ann Arbor.

The trouble the Ypsilanti Underwear Co. is experiencing in getting help. It is impossible to obtain sufficient help in Ypsilanti to do the work that must be done.

The impression given by the Courier's recent article that the people of Ypsilanti would not give them the assistance needed is erroneous, and arose from misunderstanding the situation, for they would do anything in their power to retain the works there.

We understand that it is possible that the works may be divided between the two cities, the company to retain their present plant in Ypsilanti, and start another one here providing the people of Ann Arbor furnish the building.

The citizens of our city should be alive to the situation, and some action should be taken at once to secure this factory. The only limit there seems to be to the output of this factory is the ability of the company to secure workers.

Where is Ann Arbor's Business Men's Association?

Is it sleeping?

An Old Oak Gone.

The city authorities cut down this morning, the old oak tree which has been for so many years the pride of residents in its vicinity. It was located at the corner of Hiscock and Spring sts., and before the dry seasons came on had been a grand old beauty.

The tree had died because of the continued droughts, and perhaps old age had something to do with it also, as the rings would indicate that it was over two hundred years old.

At the place where it was cut, about one foot from the ground it was forty-two inches in diameter, and about eleven feet in circumference.

It was an old landmark that residents thereabouts were sorry to see pass away.

Look Out

for breakers ahead when pimples, boils, carbuncles and like manifestations of impure blood appear. They wouldn't appear if your blood were pure and your system in the right condition. They show you what you need—a good blood-purifier; that's what you get when you take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It carries health with it. All Blood, Skin, and Scalp Diseases, from a common blotch or eruption to the worst Scrofula, are cured by it. It invigorates the liver, purifies and enriches the blood, rouses every organ into healthful action. In the most stubborn forms of Skin Diseases, such as Salt-rheum, Eczema, Tetter, Erysipelas, Carbuncles, and kindred ailments, and with Scrofula in every shape, and all blood-taints, it effects perfect and permanent cures of the worst cases.

ALL FIGURED OUT.

Wall Street has Got the Great Corn Crop of 1895 Divided Into Train and Car Loads.

The following from the Wall Street Daily News of August 24, is of interest, if for nothing else, to show how every possible advantage is used by the dealers in that great gambling center, to boom or depress stocks, and the prices of cereals:

"Unless a blighting frost occurs before its time, the corn crop of the western states this year will be by far the largest in their history. A much larger acreage than usual was planted and the general yield per acre will be above the average. Frost is now the only thing which can seriously interfere with the full maturity of the crop. So much rain has fallen throughout the western section and the ground is so thoroughly saturated with moisture, that were no more to fall from now until the crop is gathered it would not suffer from that cause to any appreciable extent. Conservative estimates of the crop of the three great western corn states—Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas—place the aggregate yield at 1,000,000,000 bu. Such a yield will give the railroads more traffic than they have had since 1892. This amount of corn alone, not to mention the other cereals and farm products which these states raise, would make 2,333,333 carloads of 24,000 lbs each. Allowing forty cars to a train it would make 58,333 trainloads, or 160 trains of forty cars each per day for a whole year. Of course all the corn will not be sent to market in its original form. Much of it will be turned into beef and pork, but when that is done the traffic of the roads will be largely increased by the operation. For twelve months to come, then, the question confronting the railroads will not be how to get traffic, but how to find cars in which to transport it to the markets of the world. Where are the 2,333,333 cars coming from that will be required to haul this one article of freight or its equivalent?"

HON. DAVID A. HAMMOND.

To Resign From the State Board of Education For Business Reasons.

It leaked out last night rather prematurely that David A. Hammond, of this city, intends shortly to hand in his resignation as a member of the State Board of Education.

Mr. Hammond was elected to the board from Charlotte where he was superintendent of schools, in the fall of 1890, for a term of six years. He assumed the responsible duties of his office January 1, 1891, and as the only democrat on the board, has made an active and able official.

Upon his resignation it will be the duty of Governor Rich to appoint a man to fill the vacancy and to serve with the three other members of the board until the end of Mr. Hammond's term, Dec. 31, 1896.

It is understood that Mr. Hammond has been offered a position with a large publishing house the acceptance of which necessitates both his withdrawal from the State Board of Education and from local business enterprises. The citizens of Ann Arbor regret very much the necessity which takes him from their midst.

While Mr. Hammond will not, of course, take an active part in editing and managing the Argus, he will not, it is understood, dispose of his interest therein.

Good Roads And Prosperity.

It is the opinion of well-informed Frenchmen who have made a study of economic problems, that the superb roads of France have been one of the most steady and potent contributions to the material development and marvelous financial elasticity of that country. The far-reaching and splendidly maintained road system has distinctly favored the success of the small landed proprietors, and in their prosperity and the ensuing distribution of wealth lies the key to the secret of the wonderful vitality and solid prosperity of the French nation.

Ann Arbor Talent Appreciated.

The following appreciative words concerning one of our city pastors who preached at Bay View last Sunday, are taken from The Resorter:

"The sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Camden M. Coburn, pastor of the 1st Methodist Episcopal church of Ann Arbor. Dr. Coburn is considered one of the most scholarly men in the church and on many occasions his sermons and lectures have delighted Bay View audiences.

"Good judges pronounce this latest sermon on 'The Wonderful Savior' as not only fully up to the high expectations they had formed from previous efforts of the speaker, but the best sermon thus far during the assembly season of 1895.

"Lack of space makes it impossible to give as full a report of this sermon as the ability of the preacher and the interest of the impressive discourse merit."

ABOUT THE M. C. GROUNDS.

Will Henning's Park Always Remain The Disgrace That it Now is?

Station Agent Hayes, of the M. C. R. R., met a Courier scribe this morning, and called his attention to improvements made in the grounds surrounding the station. All the dandelions have been dug out of the lawn, which was a tedious job, but the good looks of the grass after the departure of these pestiferous weeds, made it pay for the labor.

Mr. Hayes informs us that if the city will live up to its agreement when it was granted permission to cross the grounds with the main sewer, and fix up the strip of sod despoiled by that work, that the M. C. company will remove the iron fence at the foot of the hill on the east side of the station to the top of the hill, and beautify that strip with flowers, etc.

He also states that the company, although having no use for the land, would purchase that which lies east of Beakes st., and north of the Station, fill in the low places with the earth contained in the knolls to the east of it and build up a park there that would be a great ornament to the place.

But it is understood that no amount of money can purchase that strip, as Mr. Henning, having had some trouble about it, prefers to leave it in its present horribly disgraceful condition, rather than to have the city, to which he owes his start in life, have a bit of pleasure out of it.

If the city deserved this sort of treatment the case would be different. Mr. Henning has a great many friends here, who think a great deal of him, and they are astonished that he will not allow this little piece of land to pass into hands that would beautify it.

How much more Mr. Henning's memory would be honored here in future years if he would give this to his old home and have it fitted up as a park bearing his name.

Of course his name is now associated with this land, and no resident of Ann Arbor casts an eye on it but thinks of him in connection therewith, and as the scene is a disgraceful one, it stands to reason that the thoughts of his old friends and neighbors are on a par with the condition of the land.

A stranger visiting the city a few days since remarked: "For mercy sake, who owns that hole over there?" When told who it belonged to he would not believe it, saying: "Why I know Mr. Henning well, and it does not seem possible that he would allow a piece of his property to remain in such a condition." But so it is and "Henning's pestiferous park," as it is derisively termed, will probably always remain a canker sore on the face of the earth for Ann Arbor's eternal benefit(?)

A QUEER HALUCINATION.

A Young Man Who Believes Himself to be a Train of Cars.

On Saturday last there was picked up at Milan a young lad about sixteen years of age, who is afflicted with a very peculiar form of insanity.

He gives his name as Walter Rogers, and says he comes from San Francisco, Cal. From which place he has made the quickest time on record, often attaining a speed of 90 miles an hour.

He is under the impression that he is a train of cars, and will go through with all the noises that an engine makes, and whistle loud enough to be heard a mile away.

When starting up his train he makes his hands go around to imitate the drive wheels of an engine, and he reproduces the chew! chew! chew! of an engine just starting up, also the escaping steam, and the noise of the steam brakes, to perfection.

When the officers went after him he led them a fine chase on the railroad tracks. He said it was time for the train to start, so he ordered the fireman to fill the tender with coal and the tank with water, imitating the whole business perfectly, then he pulled the lever and started the train, and after he got it under headway it took a horse to catch up with him.

In his cell here at the county jail he is constantly keeping up the noise of the train, whistling down brakes, stopping the train, and everything down to the simplest detail is brought out.

It is not believed that his home is in San Francisco, that simply being a vagary. On almost any other subject he is perfectly sane and can talk with a good deal of reason, but he can not get the cars out of his brain, on which subject his head is completely turned.

As soon as a vacancy is made at Pontiac, so that he can be admitted, he will be taken to the asylum there, as an unknown, and the state of Michigan will be obliged to care for him until his home and friends can be ascertained.

If the case was not so pitiable, his antics and imitations would be very amusing. As it is, he furnishes considerable entertainment for them at the jail.

The Ann Arbor Street Car line has issued a new ticket which they sell for a quarter, good for six rides. This ticket will remind one of Mark Twain's poetry about the "Conductaire" and the way he punched with "caire," the ticket given him by the "passingaire."

A U. OF M. VICTORY.

Two Out of Four Fellowships Awarded to Her Graduates on Merit.

President Angell states that he has received notice that two U. of M. boys have been greatly honored by receiving fellowships from the hands of the American Archaeological Institute. This Institute has at its disposal four fellowships, two for the University at Athens, and two for the University at Rome. These are awarded by a committee of three disinterested people, on merit alone. This makes the honor so much the greater.

Herbert F. DeCou, lit '88, A. M. '90, has been given the fellowship entitling him to a year's study and expenses at Athens. He has been instructor in Greek and Sanscrit at the University for the past year.

Walter Dennison, lit '93, and who was the holder of the Elisha Jones Classical Fellowship the past year, has been awarded a fellowship at Rome, with the same privileges.

These fellowships include all expenses. We are informed.

From the fact that there are but four of these prizes to dispose of, it is quite remarkable that two should come here, and as a compliment to the excellence of the instruction given by the University of Michigan.

Prof. Hale, of Chicago University, is chancellor of the University at Rome.

In regard to the Roman Fellowship, Prof. F. W. Kelsey tells us that the American School, at Rome, Italy, which has been established on the same general lines as the American School at Athens, Greece, which has been so successful, offered for the coming year two fellowships, of $600 each, open to competition among young classical scholars of the entire world. It is one of these which has been awarded to Walter Dennison as above stated.

Mr. Dennison who has been studying in Europe for the past year, is now either in Bonn, Switzerland, or in Paris, France.

They Want a Local Member.

The following from the Ypsilanti, will be of interest to many of our readers: "Some days since Mayor Wells received a letter from Mr. Powers of the Board of Education, asking to meet the citizens of this city for a conference on the matter of securing a site for the new Normal training school building, and suggesting Friday evening, Aug. 16, for the meeting. A committee of the Business Men's Association will meet tonight to decide upon the matter, and will probably call a public meeting for the date named by Mr. Powers. It is full time the city moved in the matter and we trust everything possible may be done for the school and for the city. It is understood also, that David A. Hammond has resigned his position on the Board, and it is suggested in view of all interests concerned, whether Ypsilanti should not be represented on the Board. The University has a local member on its Board, and he is proving himself of great value to the school, and there is no good reason why such a member might not be of equal service here. This matter will probably be discussed at the meeting."

Since harvest the farmers feel very much encouraged. The oat crop, which they thought ruined, has turned out well, and many pieces have yielded from 30 to 50 bushels per acre. Wheat too has turned out quite abundant and the kernel is plump and good. Hay it is true is a failure in Michigan generally, yet there are sections where it was a good crop. The price at present for hay is rather high, good for those who have it to sell but hard for those who have to buy. We venture that the present price is of short duration, and will before snow flies have decreased much.—Saline Observer.

Boys and girls do not like a pent-up life. Give them good roads to go on when and how they will. The highway is the great thoroughfare along which the world passes. Ambitious, purposeful youth will not live back in the fields in solitary confinement. It is going to get up close to the front gate of existence and see what's going on. Fix it so the farmer boys can get somewhere and and they'll come back again.

RAINS WERE BENEFICIAL.

The Bulletin Shows that Crops are Making Progress.

The following is the summary of the crop bulletin issued by the Michigan weather service Tuesday:

Over the upper peninsula and the two southern tiers of counties in the lower peninsula rainfall has been very light. Over the northern two-thirds of the lower peninsula it has been more ample and very beneficial to all growing crops. Generally speaking, corn has made some progress during the past week besides holding its own, but the long continued drought has stunted it somewhat and correspondents are already predicting a crop which will be below the average. Late potatoes are looking well and have made good progress during the past week. Early potatoes are generally a very light crop, the general report being "small and few in the hill." Pastures have been much revived by the rains of the past week but are still very short and afford practically no fodder. Some farmers are sowing millet and rye for winter fodder; at present stock is very generally fed by hand. In the southern section the oat harvest is about completed; it is well along in the central section and will soon be cut in the northern section. In the southern part of the state wheat and oat thrashing has been quite general and thrashers report the yield as light, but of fine quality. In the southern half of the state plowing for fall seeding has commenced although the ground is in very poor condition for such work it is so dry and turns like dust. Berries of all kinds are reported as scarce. Fruit is ripening fast and, with the exception of apples, in some localities, will be a good crop.

FARM BOYS AND GOOD ROADS.
Here are Some Thoughts That May Open the Eyes of Farmers.
For years the students of social and industrial problems have been viewing with alarm the fact that the sons of men employed in agricultural pursuits do not as a rule follow in the footsteps of their fathers.
"Why do the boys leave the farm?" is the question they ask. Well it may be that the boys leave the farm because they don't wish to take the mean old thing with them when they go to the city. And boys may prefer to live in the city for the reason that with the miserable roads found in many communities, to be removed a few miles from a town means almost complete isolation from the centres of thought and activity.
If the average boy wishes to go into the town, he must drive a mud-road plug of a horse and a rock-rocked cart of some sort. A farmer can't be expected to keep up a neat appearing turnout and drive over roads that are ruinous to horse and carriage.
It is the isolation of farm life a boy dreads. He cannot get about freely to keep in touch with people. There is a lack of society in the country because there is wanting the means necessary for people to get together happily and conveniently.
If every rural community, naturally the most charming place to reside, had plenty of good, smooth roads, there would be a social life among farmers that would be quickening, educating and elevating in its influence, and farm life would possess a charm for young people that is now sadly lacking in many localities.

Condition, circumstance, is not the thing; Bliss is the same in subject or in king.

What is thought to be the finest apple orchard in southern Michigan, is in Hartford township, Van Buren county. The orchards of that region had been swept by the canker worm in the spring, but the owner sprayed the trees with paris green twice before they blossomed, and twice after the blossoms were gone, with the result that the trees are heavily laden with perfect fruit.

In spite of the much lamented hard times, the business institutions of Ypsilanti seem to be in a prosperous condition. The stay factory is running a full force, and the tag and box factory has as much business as can conveniently be managed. Their force is diminished by nine brave men who have gone to camp. The usual force numbers about 65. The woolen mill is constantly taking in new operatives, and seems to have no reason to complain of a lack of business.—Ypsilantian.

In regard to lighting that village properly evenings, the Saline Observer remarks: "We find the electric light subject not dead by any means, but simply working quietly. It is daily gaining friends and new life, and we believe the near future will develop something surprising to many. There is true some high kickers, as there always is in every enterprise that gives any sign of advancement, but this will have little weight when the proper time comes. Several companies have made estimates on equipping our village and the market falls far below the enormous figures talked by some of our people at previous times. The question now is shall we be classed as one of the back number towns, or shall we wake up and show our colors."

Misses Emma Gross and Vadah Clough, of Saline have been the guests of Ann Arbor friends this week.

John A. Fry, of Salem, was brought into Justice Pond's court Saturday a. m. on complaint of Paulina Baur, whom he had threatened to kill. He is in jail awaiting hearing which occurs Monday.

Dexter has an ordinance prohibiting bicyclists from riding their wheels on the walks. On Sunday last one of Pinckney's citizens was in the little Ville and was much pleased in the way they enforce the same. A couple of Ann Arbor chaps came sailing along on their bikes, of course taking the walk. They were greeted with a shout from some citizens to "Get off the walk!" This did not have the desired effect so the next citizen took up the cry "Get off the walk!" and each house they passed the same cry met them until they began to reply "Go to!!!" They passed on up town, and so did the citizens, but before the Marshal could get onto his job the wheelsmen were small specks in the horizon and didn't "get off the walk," either.—Pinckney Dispatch.

How to Make Lavender Water.

Lavender water is a delicious and essential clean odor, delicious for the bath, from which it derives its generic name—lavendula—and preferred by many to bay rum or Florida water. Here is a formula, said to be an excellent one, if any of our lady readers desire to make up a quantity for their home use. This will make a half gallon, and will be as good as any that can be bought already prepared, and much cheaper, so we are told. If you do not care for as much as given you can divide the amounts named by 2 or by 4, and thus make a quart or a pint respectively: For lavender water take two ounces (avoirdupois) finest oil of lavender; essence of musk (finest), one imperial fluid ounce; essence of ambergris (finest), and oil of bergamot (recent), of each one-half ounce; rectified spirits (90 per cent scentless), one-half gallon; mix by agitation.

AN INDIAN TRADITION.

A Story of the Deluge Which Corresponds with the Biblical Narrative. Here is an Indian version of the story of the flood, as it was taken by a writer connected with an Australian journal. Says he: "All of the northern coast Indians have a tradition of a flood which destroyed all mankind except a pair from which the earth was peopled. Each tribe gives the story a local coloring, but the plot of the story is much the same. The Bella Cooola tradition is as follows: The Creator of the universe, Mes-mes-sa-la-nik, had great difficulty in the arrangement of the land and water. The earth persisted in sinking out of sight. At last he hit upon a plan which worked very well. Taking a long line of twisted wairus hide, he tied it around the dried land and fastened the other end to the corner of the moon. Everything worked well for a long time; but at last the spirit became very much offended at the action of mankind, and in a fit of anger one day seized his great stone knife, and with a mighty hack severed the rope of twisted skin. Immediately the land began to sink into the sea. The angry waves rushed in torrents up the valleys, and in a short time nothing was visible except the peak of a very high mountain. All mankind perished in the whelming waters, with the exception of two, a man and his wife, who were out fishing in a great canoe. These two succeeded in reaching the top of the mountain, and proceeded to make themselves at home. Here they remained for some time, until the anger of Mes-mes-sa-la-nik had cooled, which resulted in his fishing up the severed thong and again fastening it to the moon. From this pair thus saved the earth was again populated."—Harper's Round Table.

Millions of Watermelons.

Thomasville is the center of the watermelon district, which covers in area about 150 miles square, including the southwestern portion of Georgia and the northwestern portion of Florida, and when the season opens the freight departments of the railroads in this section move their headquarters to Thomasville, and the telegraph company sends down five extra operators to handle the increased business occasioned by the purchase and shipment of the crop says the Chicago Record. The season lasts about two months, beginning with July and ending with August, and last year there were 7,000 and 8,000 carloads were shipped outside the state, carrying an average of 1,200 melons to a car, which makes a total of about 9,000,000 melons contributed to the northern and western appetite.

A Parlor Pistol.

The parlor pistol will afford much amusement and is very simple of construction. For the cylinder take a goose quill five or six inches long. The piston can be made from a pen handle or a small rule rounded off except at the top, where the square part serves as a handle. The projectiles should be safe, elastic and slightly moist. A potato will furnish you with very good ones. Cut it in slices of the thickness of a finger and press the quill through it as many times as you need projectiles. These will be of the exact caliber of your pistol and in every respect satisfactory. A target made of pasteboard and pierced at the center with a hole through which the projectiles may pass can be set up in any convenient place for practice.

IT ANNOYED HIM.

He Came from the West and Was Puzzled That New Yorkers Knew It.

His coat was a trifle too long and his trousers an inch too wide at the knee to be strictly and exactly fashionable; but, aside from these nice discriminations, he was dressed according to the fashion autocrats, says a writer in the New York World.

"We took the 'L' together at Park place, and I noticed a puzzled expression, on his face. At 33d street he surrendered his seat to an elderly woman and stood in the aisle in front of where I sat. It was evident that he was anxious to tell some one of the subject on his mind, so I was not surprised when he caught my eye and opened the conversation.

"Just now," he said "as I was hurrying to the station a man caught hold of my arm and stopped me. He was a respectable looking fellow, well clothed and wore a grayish beard parted in the middle.

"I've been on a drunk," the man said to me, and I am sobering up. I live in Hackensack and I want to get home. I haven't a cent and want a quarter."

"I looked him over carefully," continued my chance acquaintance, concluded he was telling the truth and gave him the money. As I tried on he shouted after me:

"I knew you were from the west and I knew you would give me the money. They are white out there."

"Now, what I want to know," said my acquaintance, "is how did he know I was from the west. It's true, but how did he know it? Would you know it? Am I marked? Have I a tag on me to tell others that I am a westerner?"

"None that I know of," I assured him, "unless it be such little things as giving your seat up to ladies. That generally indicates that a man is not a native New Yorker."

"I got out at 50th street and left him with the same quizzical expression as if the question had only been half-answered.

USEFUL ELECTRIC LAUNCHES.

The Norwegians Have Utilized Them for Harbor Passenger Service.

An employment has been made in Norway of the electric launch that is sure to be widely followed. The city of Bergen, which is the center of the Norwegian land and sea commerce, ranges on two sides of a narrow harbor forming an inlet and surrounded by rapidly rising ground. Rapid transit from one side of the harbor to the other became imperative and a line of electric ferries-boats has been established. As the harbor is very narrow, only about 330 yards, it was found desirable to construct the boats so that they could operate without turning about to go from one station to the other. They were consequently made double-ended, with two screws, one at each end, both connected directly to motor shaft. The motor weighs 660 pounds and is of three-horse power capacity. Thirty-two cells of storage battery weighing 5,280 pounds are placed in each boat. The speed of the boat is seven feet six inches per second—quite enough for threading safely the crowded shipping of the harbor. Each boat covers thirty-seven miles daily, and the average number of passengers carried since the boats have been in service has been 1,800. The cost of the fleet of eight boats was $16,000, and of the charging station $12,800.

A Miraculous Escape.

While storming the first line of forts at Port Arthur a soldier belonging to the Twenty-fourth Regiment raised his rifle to fire at an unusually conspicuous Chinaman, says the Japan Mail. Just as he was about to fire, a bullet from the enemy's side came whizzing on, and, marvelous to relate, entered the barrel of his own gun as smoothly and neatly as if the muzzles had been placed mouth to mouth. Of course there was an explosion, and the soldier's piece was shattered to the stock, but without his receiving any injuries whatever. A fractional variation to the right or left would have caused the hostile bullet to enter his head or face, so that his escape was nothing short of miraculous. He preserved the stock of the now useless weapon, and afterward exhibited it to his colonel, who permitted him to keep it as a memento of his narrow escape.

Sympathy of a Cherokee.

How poor an instrument may do a noble deed.

—Shakespeare.

If records of the noble deeds of Indian women had been kept they would doubtless fill many volumes. One instance will show the high impulses that may fill even the savage heart. During the revolution a young Shawanese Indian was captured by the Cherokees and sentenced to die at the stake. He was tied and the fagots were gathered for the fire, when a Cherokee woman went to the warrior to whom the prisoner belonged, and throwing a parcel of goods at his feet, said she was a widow and would adopt the captive as her son, and earnestly plead for his deliverance. The warrior granted her request and the prisoner was taken under her care. He rewarded her by his fidelity, for, in spite of the entreaties of his friends, whom he was allowed to visit, he never left her.

Bogus Leather in Shoes.

"For years," said a Maine manufacturer, "shoes of a cheap grade have been made of what is known as leather-board. It is a compressed paste. There is a factory in my state which turns out tons of it every month. Many of these shoes are sent to Central and South America, and, as a matter of fact, thousands are sold here. "As long as the weather is dry, they wear first rate, but when you strike a rain you're gone almost surely. Two wettings and you want to look out. When you invest in your summer shoes be sure they are what you want. Leather is expensive, and you can't cover your feet with it for a trifle."

PRETTY FAIR

At Stage Robbing, But No Good as Business Men.

"Yes, 'Buck' English was always my friend," remarked Judge Lawler when the Nana stage robbery and the wounded desperado were under discussion, says the Philadelphia Item. "He was a pretty fair robber, but no business man. I remember one of his first ventures in a business way. A couple of Germans were running a butcher shop in Lake county and making money hand over fist. 'Buck' English and his brother Charlie purchased the business and soon the stock commenced to suffer. One day a rancher met 'Buck' on the road and inquired:

"Have you seen anything of that cow of mine?"

"What kind of a cow?"

"Red, with a white blaze and one horn gone."

"The one Sleeper raised and sold Faught, and he sold to that carpenter at Middletown," asked 'Buck'.

"Yes, that's the one."

"Say, Jim, we butchered her about a week ago. She was the fattest beef I ever saw. If I'd a known she was yours I wouldn't have killed her without lettin' you know. Good-by, Jim."

"That's all Jim ever got for his cow. A few weeks later the English boys were closed out. They had lost every cent of their capital. 'Buck' came to me and said: 'I can't understand this at all. Those Dutchmen bought all their stock and paid their bills when they came due and made money. We stole all our stock, never paid a bill, and still we lose. It's too much for me. I guess I'm no business man.' I suppose his failure in business enterprises drove him into questionable pursuits."

STOREHOUSE OR HUSBANDS.

Boston Is to Have One Managed by a Refined Widow Lady.

Ladies leaving the city for the summer have keenly felt the need of a place where they could, as it were, store their husbands. Now comes a refined widow lady who can give and will require the highest references, who offers for a consideration to lodge and board respectable husbands, look after their linen, give them a mother's care if ill. Everything will be done to amuse and interest them while under her care, while at the same time discipline will be maintained and no lachkeys will be allowed. Wives need have no apprehension on that score. There will positively, says the prospectus, "be no funny business." A look, a word, will, it is thought, be enough to quiet, and, if need be, break the spirit of the proudest and most bullying of husbands. Hundreds of certificates as to refined widow lady's skill in handling desperate cases can be had. Money refunded in case of dissatisfaction.—Boston Herald.

BEAUTIFUL, WICKED PARIS.

Some of its Peculiarities—Its Singular Sights—Its Wicked Men and Naughty Girls.

July, 18, Near Waterloo.

Dear Mr. Editor:

I concluded my last letter at St. Germain where we got our first glimpse of Paris. From there we rode through suburban towns, noisy and busy as a city, to the gate of Paris. The fortifications are so distinguished at this point, that one sees only an iron gate wide and hospitably opened. We rode in without having our tires examined by the officers to see if they contained wine. That is the latest mode of smuggling wine into Paris and several have been detected. At once we saw the Arch of Triumph in the distance and so immense is it, that we were greatly deceived regarding the distance to it.

ATTRACTED ATTENTION.

Harry's red cap and our general saddle-sore appearance as well as the extreme height of our wheels, at once got the attention of the crowd. Even Paris stopped in the midst of her mad riot and paid the homage of curiosity to those long, lank, American globe-trotters.

We passed the Arch of Triumph, glided among the myriad cabs in the Champs Elysees, and reached the gardens of the Tuilleries. Here we swerved aside and passed the Louvre, the Pont Neuf, and reached our hotel, St. Pierre, where we were glad to get four brick walls about us and recover from the vertigo which Paris had given us.

COULDN'T ASTONISH THE SPHINXES.

I don't wish to annoy you with the oft told tale of seeing Paris but there may be interest in knowing the rapidity of an American bicyclist in 'doing' Paris. On the first morning, there was rain and we went to the Louvre where we wandered through endless galleries of paintings, sculpture, antiquities, and curiosities. We saw the Venus de Milo, but her great age prevented the ecstasies of admiration due so famous a beauty. Had she been younger—well I can't speak for Harry. The sphinxes stared at us with the same fixed and stolid features which they had preserved for ages. We could't astonish Paris but if the sphinxes were moved they did not show it. Among the paintings, we found difficulty in going into spasms just at the correct and conventional time. Great masters wearied us while lesser lights won our sympathies. Rubens, Murillo, and Raphael, however were masters of our feelings and we graciously granted them unstinted praise. By noon we had traveled nearly every gallery of the Louvre and we left it to tramp for a while amidst the wonders of Paris.

A WILD PLACE.

First, the Bourse, or chamber of commerce, where we arrived at the busiest hour and watched the writhing, gesticulating, shouting and apparently mad Frenchmen buying and selling stocks. It was a Babylon, Bedlam, and purgatory loosed. Chicago and New York chambers of commerce are mere sheep-folds compared with this. Here again, we attracted attention and we modestly withdrew.

SOME PECULIARITIES.

We strolled on toward the Opera House, and made several ineffectual attempts to deposit mail in fire alarm boxes. The system of mailing letters in Paris is a mystery yet.

There are some phases of Parisian life peculiar to say the least.

There are four places in Paris where you can get a drink of water and 400,000 where you can get wine.

Bananas cannot be bought in Paris. You can drop a nickel in a slot and get a cup of hot chocolate.

If you sit down beneath the Eiffel tower, an old lady comes around with a receipt for two sous and collects it, too.

THE MADELINE, ETC.

But our sight seeing. After the Opera with its magnificence and grandeur of architecture, we went to the Madeleine, the edifice surrounded with monster Corinthian columns and with an interior which awes and overwhelms by its solemnity and the suggestive sacredness of every adornment. Pictures and descriptions of these places are so numerous that I pass them with haste.

After visiting numerous smaller places of interest, we returned to our hotel, and on the following day rode out to St. Cloud, Sevres and Versailles. At the latter place, we lingered some time in the magnificent gardens, where every artifice had been tried to make a prince happy. The Gallery of Battles, and the apartments of the queen next and the Salle de l'Oeil Boeuf, scene of famous intrigues.

At noon, post haste back to Paris. A visit to the Trocadero, Eiffel Tower, Champs de Mars and an hour in the Luxembourg art-gallery.

WE CELEBRATED.

Sunday was the French national fete day, celebrated much like our 4th of July, and because it happened on Sunday was celebrated with so much more vigor.

Early we visited the Place de la Bastille, finding that and all the streets extravagantly decorated with the tricolor. Then to the Pere Lachaise cemetery where so many world-famous men are buried and here we rode our wheels through an intricate throng of cabs, hacks and trucks to the Arch of Triumph.

Unless one is as much at home awheel as on feet, one can not venture on Parisian boulevards or narrow streets on a bicycle. The hackmen delight in shouting and attempting to confuse a wheelman.

We saw a cavalry parade and the president of France in his carriage followed by numerous other men of note. Every park was occupied by vendors of useless toys and by fake shows of infinite variety.

GAY SIGHTS IN THE EVENING.

But the evening. Then Paris celebrated and we went afoot both in the swell quarters and the slums. Bacchus ruled supreme; and every one was drunk or verging upon it.

Gangs of students from the Latin quarter, with girls paraded the street. The girls threw one arm about their fellow's neck and made drunken gyrations with the other. Hacks and cabs rolled by with shrieking companies of girls and men. The trees in parks were thickly hung with red chinese lanterns, which threw a fiendish glow over these riotous proceedings. Beneath the trees, danced soldier boys with drunken girls. Old men passed us with their girlish captors whom they ogled and smirked at hideously. One girl, dressed in bloomers with pockets in them, swaggered insolently down a main boulevard shouting and singing, while her hands were plunged in her pockets. To us this was all a feverish dream, a phantasma, and we retired at last we retired and on the following morning after seeing the tomb of Napoleon, we left Paris to recover from its debauchery, and rode out into the quiet and peaceful country toward Brussels.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

ABOUT "DACOLLITY" DRESS.

A Reverend Gentleman Who Evidently Does Not Approve of it.

In this day of so-called "bloomer" costumes, where the ladies abbreviate the length of their skirts and are consequently being called down by over-sensitive men and women, perhaps the article given below by Rev J. F. Cowan in the Golden Rule about "low-neck and short sleeves" costumes will be read with interest. Poor girls, what are they to do? They can't wear trains, nor bifurcated skirts, nor bloomers, nor low-neck, nor short sleeves, but what some one is after them with a sharp stick, and accusing them of being immodest or immoral, or something bad when the girls in fact are seeking only to free themselves from the abomination of heavy and cumbersome skirts, to support which on their hips, as nearly all are obliged to do, has caused more ill health than any other one thing known.

Some girls go to extremes no doubt, but as for the girls having impure thoughts or motives it is all nonsense, and for one we protest against it. All the impurity there is about it comes from those who make impurity of it by their own thoughts.

If the people were accustomed to see the costumes they would think no more about them than they do now about the ordinary street dress of ladies. It is all in custom—that is all there is of it. For instance our mode of dress is as ludicrous and unbecoming in the eyes of the people of the oriental nations, as their costumes are in our eyes. Any costume that decently covers the body is what is demanded, its particular style is the result of fashion and custom, that's all.

But here is the reverend gentleman's tirade on the other extreme of dress:

"A 'dacollity' dress is one worn chiefly on the carpet. For the rest, it consists of a good complexion. In my research for a respectable reason for its use, I found that all the excuses not imported from Dahomey were cut as low in the neck as the dresses. The civilized theory of dress is, that it is for the benefit of the person of the wearer. The savage idea seems to be that it is something worn for other persons to gaze at; hence tattooing the face, or boring an owl-hole through the nose and hanging a brass ring thereon. The low-necked dress seems to be built on the savage rather than the civilized theory. If it were simply a matter of economy, good looks and health, ladies might go bare-footed, instead of bare lunged, and hang their shoes around their necks.

"The low-necked dress always reminds me of a peacock with its tail spread out for admiration. The presumption is against the head. I do not know what better to call it than modesty at half-mast. Eve clothed herself with fig leaves as soon as her attention was called to the fact that a naked complexion was a little bit gauzy. Fortunately there were no female dressmakers in her day, and so a whole dress was used, possibly more. Modern dressmakers could have cut several full dress bodices out of one leaf, and had crazy-quilt patches to spare.

"It is urged that deference to the tastes of the opposite sex is responsible for low-necked dresses. I wish somebody would be kind enough to refer me to the chapter and page. Who is the Christopher Columbus entitled to the honor of the discovery of all this deference? Who will quote an interview between a fashionable dressmaker and any of the husbands or fathers or brothers, in deference to whose tastes the fashions are alleged to be formed? On this basis, the low-necked dress is prima facie evidence of low-necked manhood, and it is a bid for the coarsest in a man's nature instead of the finest. I don't like to see him auctioned off so cheap. If treated kindly, he is capable of developing better things.

"It is urged that fashion demands a low corsage in an evening dress. Let her demand. She cannot order out the militia, can she? Fashion is a tyrant only with the consent of cowards. Men and women command fashion; the only thing fashion commands is fools. I would rather be dressed than president.

"The only people who have an acknowledged right to expose their shoulders are the Cupids and angels, who have wings on them. I am afraid wings would not flourish in company with low necked dresses. They would wilt under the stare of the fashionable libertine's eye-glass, and so would a genuine woman.

"It is true that to the pure all things are pure; but to the pure voluptuary a decollete costume is pure sensuousness, while to the pure girl it is pure degradation. I do not think it will be necessary to start a new dress-reform magazine to advocate the position that sensible girls shall clothe their arms and necks as well as they do their backs and feet."

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
A Pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder.

PERPETUAL MOTION

And Eternal Bliss—Both Have Been Discovered in this County.

Perpetual motion. It has been discovered. An Ypsilanti has at last attained the prize that has been worked for so long, and has sent so many people crazy. He has worked it out on the lever and ball principle, and has a machine that will attain sufficient speed to tear itself to pieces if allowed to do so, but properly governed will run until the material of which it is constructed will wear out.

We have not seen the machine. Our information is second-hand, but comes from a reliable source.

The machine has been on exhibition at the Hawkins house, Ypsilanti for several days, and will be exhibited here at the Cook House some day this week.

To keep company with this step forward Gus Fellows, of Ann Arbor, has invented a machine that will make him famous and his name blessed by the generations of the human family yet to come. In his own words "it is a machine that will entirely revolutionize dish-washing."

All that will be necessary to do hereafter is to put the dish in at one end of a machine, and it will come out clean and neat and sweet, all washed and wiped and ready for another meal, at the other end.

For geniuses Washtenaw county against the world.

Chas. F. Brush, formerly of Ann Arbor, invented the arc electric light.

Sterling T. Morton, also once of Ann Arbor, now Sec'y of agriculture invented Arbor day.

Now Ypsilanti furnishes perpetual motion.

And Ann Arbor furnishes a magic revolutionary dishwasher that will dispense with kitchen servants.

Everywhere We Go

We find some one who has been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, and people on all hands are praising this great medicine for what it has done for them and their friends. Taken in time Hood's Sarsaparilla prevents serious illness by keeping the blood pure and all the organs in a healthy condition. It is the great blood purifier.

Hood's Pills become the favorite cathartic with every one who tries them. 25 c. per box.

Tipped Over the Cube.

A gang of seven young men averaging about 17 or 18 years of age, pushed over the cube tombstone in front of John Baumgardner's marble works, which had been told about in these columns, Saturday evening, and damaged it to the extent of some $25 or $30.

Officer Collins ferreted out the young men engaged in the questionable transaction, and they were given until this afternoon to raise enough money to pay Mr. Baumgardner his actual damage, in which case no complaint will be made against them.

It is unfortunate for some lads that they are not able to distinguish between what is fun and what is wanton destruction of property. These young men however, have doubtless been taught a lesson that they will always remember, and it may be the means of keeping them out of something worse in years to come.

If more of this sort of offenses were looked after as Officer Collins has looked after this, it would be better for the boys themselves, as well as the victims of such so-called practical jokes.

THE OWEN ELECTRIC BELTS AND APPLIANCES INSURE TO THE SICK THESE GREAT POINTS OF ADVANTAGE OVER ALL IMITATORS

The Electric Current can be made instantly felt, although soothed to the most sensitive. The strength of the current is under the complete control of the wearer, so much so that a child may be treated and cured by the same power of Belt necessary for the strongest man.

It can be changed from positive to negative current in a moment. They have and are curing thousands of cases of Rheumatism, Chronic Diseases and Nervous Affections in man and woman (from any cause) where long continued medical treatment failed to cure.

NO MEDICINES ARE NECESSARY.

Avoid all cheap (so-called) Electric Belts and fraudulent imitations of our Electric Belts and Appliances, as these are an imposition, upon the suffering.

THE OWEN ELECTRIC TRUSS is the most retentive and curative Truss made for the radical cure of Erupture.

Enclose six cents and send for our Large Illustrated Catalogue in English, German, Swedish or Norwegian languages; containing medical facts, sworn statements of cures made and descriptions of Belts and Appliances. Address
