THROUGH SWITZERLAND.

Which is a Promised Land For Cyclers
—An Interesting Description.

ON BOARD "WERRA," Aug. 21, '95.

Dear Mr. Editor:

With Strassburg behind us and Basle
as our goal, we wheeled over a perfect macadamized road and through a fertile district where tobacco was the chief article cultivated. Every city along the Rhine valley is strongly fortified,
but except being stopped occasionally
when Harry tries to ride into an arsenal or I attempt to cross a prairie ground, we were not hindered because of moats and walls and forts innumerable.

At Basle, we were hailed by custom house officials and informed that a deposit of 22 francs was necessary before we could enter Switzerland with our wheels. This was to be returned at our departure. We complied, were properly tagged, ticketed and receipted and entered Basle. There was a fair going on and as we pushed our wheels slowly through the throng, we observed the various contrivances which fakes and venders invent to coax the sous from the Swiss, who like to be gulled as well as Americans. The flimsy toys and goods indescribable, are there in myriad forms. With bicycles upon our hands, we were prevented from buying,
with exception of Harry's purchase of some abominable cakes. But that is an infirmary of his and must be overlooked.

We were in

THE LAND OF THE HELVETH,
of the mythic William Tell, where,
as Goldsmith writes:

"The bleak Swiss their stormy mansion
break,
And force a churlish soil for scanty bread."

I must tell you in advance that it is the "Promised Land" for bicycle riders.

Only a photograph can describe Basle.
It is ancient. It is odd. It is grotesque and fantastic. Nothing is symmetrical.
No, not even the people. The language is partly German partly French. After you escape, you can remember nothing in particular, but you recall a phantasmic conglomeration of all.

We

CROSSED AN OLD BRIDGE
which had figured basilisks at both ends (these are the heraldic symbols of Basle), and after wheeling half a mile, were in German territory again and received our deposit. We were to ride up the Rhine to Constance on the German side. It is at Basle that the grandeur of the Rhine scenery begins again after its far extending, even surfaced, simple beauty found continuing from Mainz to this point. The sun was low in the west as we left Basle and it was raining slightly from an overhanging cloud.
The Rhine lies far below the road between steep banks of mingled rocks and grassy plots. An eight-oared crew, floating and singing, were returning from a row up the river.
Boys from the villas on the opposite bank were paddling in boats beneath the steep shore. All very picturesque but we wanted a resting place. Darkness closed above us. The moon was among the clouds above the mountain tops, and there was a solitary dim loveliness which almost compensated for our physical discomfort. The rain made the roads slippery and Harry took

AN INIGNOMINIOUS TUMBLE

into the dirt. Every house was a tavern. Beer was plenty, but beds, scarce. We were getting desperate when at last, a patronizing German, a loafer at one of the taverns, told us to follow him. We did and listened respectfully while he informed us that he had studied Greek and Latin, and could talk innumerable languages except English—and French also—after I said that I could speak a little French.
He did, however, show us a small but clean hotel and left us to marvel over his learning. Next day we followed the Rhine as it wound its way among the many-folded mountains. At every turn

SOME NEW BEAUTY

or superb vista opened before us.
Streams rushed down the mountainside to join the Rhine. They enter through gullies and chasms with a roar and surge.
High above, we see the tongueless caverns and hear the whispering pines.

The valley sides vary from a gray rock
declivity to a lovely, grassy incline.
The color of vegetation changes with rapidity. Apple-green, mile-green, every green which is conceivable. Sometimes the grooved and pitted mountainside bristles with crags and then, a new turn, and there is a mantle of velvet.
The cottages in the valley are generally thickly thatched with straw and this often overgrown with mottled velvet moss. Very nice to look at, but to live in—no, I have been inside. I could not take space to tell about all

THE PICTURE-LIKE TOWNS

through which we passed; the town with Gothic roofs of red tile and whose walls were also the wall of the river and in whose midst rose an inaccessible, solitary rock crowned by a castle, and near which the broad Rhine stream was confined in a narrow gorge where it became a maelstrom, a seething, writhing torrent with romantic, legendary lore of heroes who had passed valiantly through it; then the town whose main street was closed at both ends by a castle-like building and into which we entered by an arch while, above, a gate hung threateningly. How poetic these towns are to tell about, but if you could smell the odoriferous stench and see the heaps of manure which stand before every house and hear the sickening jargon of the venders and feel the pitiful presence of poverty, if you could experience all these, I would toil in vain
to make you see the poetry.

During the second day from Basle,
we rode

ALL DAY THROUGH EVERGREEN ARCHES,
flower arches, maple arches and flanking us were flags in profusion.
Everybody was dressed up and seemed to be expecting someone. We received so much attention that we might easily have been convinced that all was not
us. Soldiers patrolled the whole road, seemingly on sentry duty. At last,
when it began to rain and we entered a small town, the conundrum was solved.
The German prince and the Duke of Bavaria were driving with their retinue from Lake Constance to Basle. The crowd blocked the highway and when we, with American audacity, attempted to push through we were very decisively ordered by a huge German officer to step back and wait. We pulled our waterproof over our shoulders and watched. There were crowds of wide-eyed little girls, dressed in white, and large girls in similar garb.
Besides the diverse uniforms of the soldiery, there were local clubs with their uniforms. The Duke and Prince came.
Everybody took off their hats, put down
their umbrellas and made themselves

AS UNCOMFORTABLE AS POSSIBLE
while the royalty passed. We saw,
and while the crowd followed, we hastened on. The rain soon became so bad that we ceased riding for that day. The tavern where we stopped was adorned within by mottoes, one of which I will translate: "Be happy in this world—don't think it will be better," in other words, "Drink my beer and be merry." We passed the evening studying the tavern characters: the blusterer, the charlatan, the fool, and the sober old Dutchman, who never smiled but just steadily drank glass after glass of beer, and blinked. Next morning, after taking toll from a harvest apple tree, we started for Schaffhausen and the Falls
of the Rhine, twenty miles away.

TO ENTERTAIN THE MASSES.

The Y. M. C. A. Course is One for the People, and Aims to Give Profit
and Pleasure for All.

There are a class of people in Ann Arbor, and a large class at that who do not attend any of the courses of lectures or concerts, given by the various associations and societies. It is not because they can not afford to go, it is because they do not enjoy them. The music is of too high a grade for the masses, the lecturers
are too learned and do not come down to where the average person is interested. It has been noted by those attending the courses given here, that practically the same faces are met at all of the lectures and concerts. Now what the Y. M. C. A. has aimed to do in selecting their course, is not only to secure the very best talent, but to give a series of concerts and lectures that the people will enjoy.
The music, while given by artists,
will be of the popular order that has melody as well as technique. The lecturers are famous the world over,
especially is this true of Robert J.
Burdette, who has probably entertained as many people as any one man in the United States. The common people, the average, every day man and woman can attend these entertainments and enjoy them and so can every one, as for that matter. But the especial desire of the association is to reach a class of people that have never been reached before, and get them interested. It is quite an undertaking for the association and means much to them whether they are successful or not. Every dollar invested in these tickets is money given for a good cause. Will the people of Ann Arbor stand by the Y. M. C. A. in their good work?
That is the question.

Electric Wiring.

This summer more electric wiring has been done in this city than in any two years before. Nearly every new house and church has been wired, either for present or future use. The manner of wiring is a more important matter than is generally supposed. For instance, bids are usually called for and the builder is surprised at the difference between them. We know of two cases in Ann Arbor. One man, who knew something of such things, took the highest bid and had all his wires placed in interior conduits. He will never have to get them repaired and will be free from any trouble about their getting out of order. Another man, building a fine house, took the lowest bid. The cheap electrician put in cheap work. He used No. 18 wire—much too small to carry the current with safety—because it was the only way he could get out with a profit. The result in this case will be the house-owner will always have trouble with repairs until the system can no longer be patched up, when he will have it all torn out and a proper one installed. In the meantime the fire insurance companies will find out the danger and either raise the rates or refuse the risk.

It takes a long time to get people educated to these new things, and there should be inspectorship to protect the citizens from fraud and the city from fires. It is just as necessary as it is to inspect the sewers. If the fire insurance companies do not see to this for their own protection the city should see that an inspector is appointed.

The nineteenth annual fair, which opens at Stockbridge Tuesday Oct.
1st, and continues three days, promises to be the most popular in the history of the society. Entries are very numerous and indications are that the exhibits will be simply immense.
The speed program is a good one, and there will be a large number of entries for all the races, which are:
3:00 trot, 2:30 pace, 2:35 trot, free
for all trot and pace, and one-half mile running race. During the last two days of the fair, there will be also very exciting ball games, and gents' and ladies' bicycle races for good purses. Several noted bicyclists have already entered.

IS THIS THE NEW FACULTY?

A Full List of the Men to be on the New Homeopathic Faculty.

It was announced in the Detroit papers this morning, that the homeopathic committee of the board of regents, have chosen the following for the new faculty of the Homeopathic college: Dr. W. B. Hinsdale, of Cleveland, dean of the school and professor of materia medica; Dr. R. S. Copeland of Bay City, a former house physician
at the homeopathic hospital here, professor of ophthalmology, otology and pedology; Dr. O. R. Long, for nearly twenty years at the head of the asylum for the criminal insane at Ionia, professor of theory and practice of medicine. Dr. Oscar LeSeure of Detroit, professor of surgery and clinical surgery. It is also expected that Dr. W. G. Willard, of the Chicago Homeopathic College, will accept the chair of gynaecology and obstetrics. This list will, it is said, be acted upon by the regents at their meeting of Sept. 25.

Dr. Wilbert B. Hinsdale, who has been chosen as the professor of the practice of medicine in the Homeopathic department of the University, and as dean of the department, was born in Wadsworth, Medina Co., O., in 1851. He is a brother of Dr.
B. A. Hinsdale, of the Department of Literature, Science and the Arts.
He graduated at Hiram College, Ohio, in 1875, and spent several years in teaching in the common schools and high schools of Ohio. Later he studied medicine. He was registered in the office of Drs. Seyton & Schneider, Cleveland, at the time two of the best known Homeopathic physicians in the state. He graduated at the Old Cleveland Homeopathic college, now
the Cleveland University of Medicine and Surgery, and entered upon the practice of medicine in which he has since been engaged. Several years ago he became a member of the faculty of the institution in which he had received his professional education, and has become an increasingly prominent member of the faculty from the time of his election. For the last two or three years he has filled the chair of materia medica and practice. At the time of his election to the position to which he has been called,
he was the registrar of the institution, performing duties very similar to those that are attached to the dean's office in the Homeopathic department of the University. Dr.
Hinsdale has been eminently successful as a teacher of medical students, and possesses also the qualifications of a successful administrator. He comes to the University in the prime of life, and will devote all his energies
to up-building the department.

Public Meeting of the Anti-Tramp Society.

All citizens interested in the tramp
question are invited to attend a public meeting to be held in the council room of the court house at 8 o'clock
p. m. Friday Sept. 27. At this meeting the officers of the society will make their annual report of the work and new officers will be elected. It is hoped that the matter will be fully discussed and that new members will soon join the society.

Those who have taken part in this work are convinced that the tramp nuisance can be abated with benefit to all concerned, including the tramp.
They are desirous of securing the active co-operation of citizens to this end.

Instead of one ticket for $2, the Y.
M. C. A. offers two course tickets for $1. Something never known before in Ann Arbor. And the entertainments are of the very highest order obtainable, at that, nothing cheap
about it except the price of admission.
This is an honest effort on the part of the Y. M. C. A. to give the people a popular course of entertainments at a price that all can afford to attend.

INTER LAKE ITEMS.

E. J. Smith, of the Monroe Democrat Talks of His Neighbors.

The University foot-ball team is getting ready to fulfill the regular annual program of manslaughter.

Greatness of station is no certain index to nobility of character. The Wyandotte poundmaster has just had to give $300 bonds to keep the peace, on complaint of his wife.

An Ann Arbor sprinkling cart horse fell dead in front of his "juggernaut" last week. Prohibitionists say it was a judgement on the owner, for carrying a brewery advertisement on his wagon.

It is learned that the perpetual motion machine of Mott, the Ypsilanti inventor, is in the mud, it having turned out that the slot arrangement is patented. Go right ahead with your perpetual whang-dang-us, Mr. Mott. A patent on a hole is invalid. Isn't a hole void?

It has been discovered at Ann Arbor (the Courier is authority) that three doses of insect powder will kill all the fleas on a dog. And yet a venal legislature sat around for months, chewing tobacco, charging up time to the state and niggardly refusing an appropriation for another University hospital.

Samuel York At Lee, a former Kalamazoo editor, is dead. He was one of the last surviving members of "the frost bitten convention" at Ann Arbor which instituted steps to get Michigan territory into the Union "through the back door." Now she is at the front door.

Ginn & Co. will have an exhibition of fowls at the Washtenaw fair which prompts the suggestion by the Adrian Press that "Gin & Co." will make an exhibition that will attract far more attention. Gin's silent partner is doubtless one Lager Beer, by name.

Whatever prejudiced people may say against bloomers, there is the "practical" reason in the world for wearing them at Ypsilanti. The splendid crop of corporation burdocks, by the bounty of heaven and the protection of the authorities, is now ready to deliver its burrs. They will cling to a woman's skirt as nobody else will.

For his efforts in behalf of the Salvation army at Ypsilanti, Capt. Allen has been presented by that grateful people with a large box of red, white and blue flowers. The Captain be carried to the shells, On flowery beds of ease, While others fight to win the prize, And sail a kind of Valkyrie race for the kingdom? Speak, Captain!

It offended Bishop Turner, of the Detroit African M. E. church conference, so highly, because many churches of numerous membership sent in small contributions that he emphasized his displeasure by walking out of the church. Instead, he should have been lessened by a lesser African clergyman who once took for his text: "And they covered the tabernacle with badger skins," but not being a scholar rendered "badger," "beggar," and said: "Brethren, be industrious and prosperous and give to the church, or de-fusing you know, snap will go yo' beggarly hides to cubber de tabernacle."

The Discovery Saved His Life.

Mr. G. Caillouette, Druggist, Beaver-ville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store, I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial bottle at Eberbach Drug & Chemical Co's Drug Store, and Geo. J. Heausser, Manchester.

An Old Pioneer Gone.

Mrs. Lucinda Barker, the mother of Frank Barker, of Whitmore Lake, and of Mrs. Mary Bush, of this city, and who had quite a number of relatives here, died on Friday, Sept. 13; at the home of a daughter in Genesee Co. She was one of the early pioneers of Northfield, in this county, and although passed 92 years of age, was remarkably bright and active, up to a short time previous to her death, which will be heard of here with regret, for she was a woman that was held in the greatest respect by those who knew her.

The following in relation to her life is taken from the last issue of the Flint Globe:

"Mrs. Lucinda Barker, mention of whose death was made Saturday, was born in Madison county, N. Y., May 7, 1803. In 1836, with her husband she removed to Washtenaw county where she remained until about ten years after the death of Mr. Barker, which occurred in 1861. Since that time she has resided with her children. She leaves the following children to mourn her loss: Mrs. Benjamin Todd, of Genesee, George H. Barker, of Covert, Allegan county; Frank Barker, of Whitmore Lake; Mrs. J. C. Todd and Mrs. Jane Hawkins, of Detroit; Mrs. Mary Bush, of Ann Arbor and Capt. R. M. Barker, of this city. She was a remarkably bright old lady and was never ill but always active up to her recent illness which was of about four weeks duration.

"The remains were taken to Hamburg this morning, (Sept. 14) where the funeral was held at 2 o'clock and interment was made beside the remains of Mr. Barker."

"Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Rosencrans and Capt. R. M. Barker, of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Todd, of Genesee, accompanied the remains to Hamburg this morning."

Convict Labor on Roads.

It is reported that the employers of convict labor at Fort Madison have decided not to renew their contracts with the state for the reason that their products are boycotted and their trade very considerably injured and restricted. In the event of the convicts being without work within the walls, the State should consider the policy of utilizing the convicts for the improvement of the public roads. The opposition of the trades unions to convict labor is being felt in all the states, and it is being recognized as right and just, and a number of the states have solved the problem of profitable employment of the convict by putting him to work on the public highway.—Burlington (La.) Gazette.

It costs the county about twenty-six cents per day for each convict maintained and worked on the roads. This cost includes food, clothing, shelter and guarding. The convicts live in camps at points along the road, near where the road building is being done. The shelter is a cheap structure of wood and canvas, something better than a tent.

The advantages of using convict labor are:—

1. That an organized force can be better maintained than could be done with free labor for roadbuilding.
2. It is cheaper than free labor would be.
3. It frees the county from the expense of keeping prisoners without any return value.
4. It engages convict labor in healthful occupation without bringing it in competition with free labor.
5. It is the best possible punishment for the common criminal.
6. It cures the tramp nuisance.
7. The result (Ga.) Banner.

Druggists say "We sell more of Gessler's Magic Headache Wafers than all other headache remedies combined." This needs no explanation, if you wonder why, just think it over. Merit wins every time. A. E. Mumery says, I guarantee Gessler's and offer to return the money if they do not cure. I have sold them for years. They cure headaches and neuralgia, nothing else, but that in a very few minutes; that's saying a good deal. Price 25 cents.

TWO WEDDINGS.

An Account of the Marriage of Two Couples Well Known in This City.

An account of the marriage of two couples well known in this city. From the Jackson Citizen of Sept. 19, we clip the following marriage notices. Both couples are well known in Ann Arbor. "Tinker-Lockwood—At the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lockwood, 204 S. Jackson street, Wednesday, Sept. 18, by Rev. E. R. Currey, Mr. Fredrick A. Tinker, of Ann Arbor, and Miss May Pearl Lockwood.

"The rooms were beautifully trimmed with white flowers and greenery. G. Edward Boos and orchestra rendered the wedding march as the bridal party entered the parlor. The bride was preceded by R. E. Currey, the maid of honor, Miss Florence Tinker, of Ann Arbor, and Misses Gertrude Ford, Josephine Kingsley, of Hammond, Ind., Dorothy Silsbee, Marion Quivey, Georgia Wright, and Allie Ford, the bridesmaids. They were met by the groom and D. C. Hunt-oon, of Waterford, the best man, The bride was attired in a beautiful gown of white satin trimmed with pearls. Miss Tinker wore white silk, Miss Kingsley was dressed in white silk and chiffon, while the remainder of the bridesmaids wore pretty dresses of organdie. An elaborate wedding supper was served by W. N. Eastman, after which Mr. and Mrs. Tinker took the fast train for Ann Arbor, where they will be "at home" to their friends after Oct. 15. Many beautiful gifts were given the young couple.

"The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Tinker and daughter of Ann Arbor; Mrs. W. A. Eager, of Chicago; F. N. Lockwood, of Titusville, Pa.; Mrs. L. L. Smith, of Detroit, and Miss Franc Stedman, of Lansing.

"Both the bride and groom have many friends here. Mr. Tinker resided in this city until a few years ago, when he removed to Ann Arbor, where he is at present established in business with his father. The friends of the young couple wish them much happiness."

"Vankirk-Smith—At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Smith, Wednesday, Sept. 18, by Rev. R. B. Balcom, Mr. Russel E. Vankirk, of St. Paul, Minn., and Miss Anna B. Smith.

"After the ceremony the wedding supper was served. The bride was attired in white silk and mull. Among the guests from out of the city were Miss Lulu and Harry Vankirk, of Chicago, Arthur Herbert, Charles Burkhart, Miss Minnie and Martha Drake, of Ann Arbor, and Miss Helen Stevens of Whitmore Lake.

"Mr. and Mrs. Vankirk left Wednesday evening for Chicago, from which city they will go to their future home in St. Paul."

NEW LAW PROFESSOR.

Dean Hutchins Has Chosen Prof. H. L. Wiglus.

Professor H. L. Wiglus has been chosen by Dean Hutchins, of the law department, to occupy the new chair of law made necessary by the extension of the course from two to three years. Prof. Wiglus comes from the Ohio State University at Columbus, Ohio, where as secretary and one of the founders of the school he has the reputation of being a "hustler." He was formerly at the famous Cincinnati Law School and is considered one of the best teachers it has been our good fortune to secure. He will have charge of the extra text book work.

"I Can No Other Answer Make, But Thanks and Thanks."

In addition to the resolutions adopted by the Conference, I desire in my own name and in the name of the church, to express my cordial appreciation for all the hospitality shown us in our attempt to entertain our visitors during the past week. We shall never forget the kindness of those who opened their houses or gave of their substance to "entertain strangers." We assigned over 600 visitors to places of entertainment—more, we think, than has ever before been cared for at an annual conference—yet we still had room for a dozen or twenty more. We also wish to thank Mr. Keech for the loan of a telephone, and the Ann Arbor Organ Co. for the loan of an organ during conference week.

CAMDEN M. COBERN,
Pastor M. E. Church.

Cure for Headache.

As a remedy for all forms of Headache, Electric Bitters has proved to be the very best. It effects a permanent cure and the most dreaded habitual sick headaches yield to its influence. We urge all who are afflicted to procure a bottle, and give this remedy a fair trial. In cases of habitual constipation Electric Bitters cures by giving the needed tone to the bowels, and few cases long resist the use of this medicine. Try it once. The Up-to-Date Girl and Her Balloon Sleeve—Morrissey McMuigan Plays a Desperate Part and Wins—The Tramp and the Mermaid.

Y comely, fin-de-siecle love
To-day is just as fair to me
As when we roamed, with stars above,
Along the secret-keeping sea;
My arm would seek her pliant waist
And linger there

in honeyed bliss;
And O, 'twas Paradise to taste
The nectar of the twilight kiss!

We're lovers still, just as of old,
But ah! a shadow's come between;
She does not deem me overbold,
And beats her heart for me, I wean.
I try to reach her melting lips,
But cannot; this my spirit grieves.
The fashions all my love eclipse—
I can't get near here for her sleeves!
—T. C. Harbaugh in Truth.

Why He Did It.

The deed was done; a bright flash in the grate and all was over. Mortimer Maxwell had burned his uncle's will. He and his three brothers would inherit the estate equally.

Why did he do this thing? His uncle had loved him and had treated his wild escapades with leniency and when the old man realized that his health was failing, his heart yearned for the handsome, wayward youth, and he made a will leaving his entire fortune to Mortimer Maxwell.

It was this document that fell into the young man's hands. After he read it he buried his face in his hands and remained for some moments in profound thought. Suddenly he started up and cried: "It must not be! My brothers shall never have an opportunity to contest this will, and let this princely fortune be devoured by the greedy voracious of the law! Nor shall they lay the flattering unction to their souls that they have bluffed me into an amicable settlement."

And he destroyed the will as above mentioned.

Then he went forth into the air with the free, glad step of a man who thinks he has a level head.—Exchange.

Some Truths About Truth.

There are few persons to whom the truth is not a sort of insult.—Segur.

Truth, like a medicine, must be qualified for the weak and infirm.—Zimmerman.

What we have in us of the image of God is the love of truth and justice.—Demosthenes.

Truth is too simple for us; we do not like those who unmask our illusions.—Emerson.

Some people look upon truth as an invalid, who can only take the air in a close carriage, with a gentleman in a black coat on the box.—Holmes.

The greatest truths are commonly the simplest.—Malesherbes.

Those Long Nights.

The clock struck Jan. 1 and then Feb. 15, but still she was alone.

The Esquimaux wife slept but fitfully, starting from a troubled dream every two or three weeks.

"Will he never come?"

Presently, however, she heard a familiar footfall.

"Tanked again!" she groaned. "It is hardly ten weeks since he was drunk before."

It was very late.

The gray dawn was already breaking, and in less than a month it would be broad day.—Detroit Tribune.

A Pretty Mystery.

Just why it is so there's nobody knows, But its truthfulness none have denied.

The young lady's shoe that is apt to dis-close

The daintiest foot and the prettiest hose

DON'T STOP TOBACCO

IT'S INJURIOUS TO STOP SUD-DENLY and don't be imposed upon by buying a remedy that requires you to do so, as it is nothing more than a substitute. In the sudden stoppage of tobacco you must have some stimulant, and in most all cases, the effect of the stimulant, be it opium, morphine, or other opiates, leaves a far worse habit contracted. Ask your druggist about BACO CURE. It is purely vegetable. You do not have to stop using tobacco with BACO-CURE. It will notify you when to stop and your desire for tobacco will cease. Your system will be as free from nicotine as the day before you took your first chew or smoke. An iron clad written guarantee to absolutely cure the tobacco habit in all its forms, or money refunded. Price $1.00 per box or 3 boxes (30 days treatment and guaranteed cure), $2.50. For sale by all druggists or will be sent by mail upon receipt of price. SEND SIX TWO CENT STAMPS FOR SAMPLE BOX. Booklets and proofs free. Eureka Chemical & Mfg Co., La Crosse, Wis.

Office of THE PIONEER PRESS COMPANY, C. W. Houston, Sept. 7, 1894.
Dear Sirs—I have been a tobacco fiend for many years, and during the past two years have smoked fifteen to twenty cigars regularly every day. My whole nervous system became affected, until my physician told me I must give up the use of tobacco for the time being at least. I tried the so-called "Keely Cure," "No-To-Bac," and various other remedies, but without success, until I accidentally learned of your "Baco-Cure." Three weeks ago to-day I commenced using your preparation, and to-day I consider myself completely cured. I am in perfect health, and the horrible craving for tobacco, which every inveterate smoker fully appreciates, has completely left me. I consider your "Baco Cure" simply wonderful, and can fully recommend it. Yours truly,
C. W. Houston.

The Torpedo Fish. At the last meeting of the Academy of Sciences, Prof. D'Arsonval of the College de France, read an interesting paper on a series of experiments which he made lately with the torpedo fish.

A fish 30 centimeters in diameter could give out a shock of twenty volts. Prof. D'Arsonval applied some small electric lamps to the fish and they were lit by the discharge from its body. In some instances the discharge was so powerful as to carbonize the lamps.

The electric current generated by the torpedo fish is sufficiently powerful to kill small fish coming in contact with it. The electric discharge can even go as high as 120 volts.

No Danger from the Breath. It is said that there are no bacteria, specific or other, in the expired breath in the ordinary respiration of persons affected with diphtheria or consumption; therefore the warning against inhaling the breath of such persons is unnecessary. The real source of danger is in the discharges from the throat, nose and lungs. It is more important than ordinary persons realize that all these discharges should be disinfected. Under no circumstances should well people use towels or handkerchiefs or, indeed, any article of clothing worn by patients suffering from these diseases.

Men of great strength have always been the subject of jeers from feeble men. Goliath didn't escape—even David had his fling at him.

LOCAL.

There will be 130 cases on the October docket of the circuit court.

George Spatthoff, the jovial north-side butcher, rejoices in the arrival Tuesday a. m., of a pair of bouncing twins.

Rev. J. C. Speckmann of Massac Creek, Ill., the new pastor of the German M. E. church, preaches his first sermon next Sunday morning.

The circuit court docket for the October term will be one of the largest the county has known. Last term there were 98 cases, this term over 130.

Jack Loney appeared in Justice Pond's court Tuesday and changed his former plea of not guilty, to guilty, and paid $1 fine and $3.50 costs.

A little year old child named Mary Smithers, will be taken to the State School at Coldwater by County Poor Commissioner Mason to-day. The child is fatherless and practically motherless, and it is a blessing that the state can care for it.

The school board met Tuesday in adjourned session. The first ward school was reported overcrowded and the board ordered that the small house next south of the school building in that ward be made ready for occupation. Several other cases were taken under advisement. Miss Power's bond was placed in the hands of the finance committee.

Joe Bull, a dissipated old soldier, aged 63, living on the northside, attempted suicide Monday night, cutting himself badly with an old case knife. Dr. J. A. Wessinger sewed up the wounds. This morning the old man tried again, this time using a lead pencil, trying to stab himself with it. He was arrested and lodged in jail and continued operations there by beating his head against the wall. Chief Peterson has made application for permission to send him to the asylum at Pontiac, as he is undoubtedly insane.

Judge and Author.

Robert Grant, whom the book-reading public knows as a clever author, but who is known in Boston as a probate judge as well, is a hard-working lawyer on the shady side of 40, but apparently younger. His pen and his bicycle consume almost equally his intervals of leisure. When he was nominated for judge his novels were alleged against his fitness for the place, and it may be that he took the objection to heart, for his later writings are in a somewhat more serious vein.

Herman Hutzl has commenced suit against the city of Ann Arbor in the sum of $5,000. The suit arises out of the dispute of the city with him in regard to work done on the Washington st. sewer.

"I have heard of men wearing summer pants in the winter, and fur caps in the summer, but it was always because they had no other," said a chronic yesterday, "but I have been asking for a week to find out what under the sun the ladies wear those big feather collars for when it's so hot the ice man grows!"

Rev. Mr. Kimball, of Hartford, Conn., has been secured for the regular supply of the Unitarian church the coming year, and he will commence his duties on the first Sunday in October. In the meantime Rev. Mr. Forbush of Chicago, will fill the pulpit. Rev. Kimball has the reputation of being an excellent pulpit orator.

The record kept by the librarian of the public library kept at the high school building, reveals the fact that 126 new books were added last year, and the surprising number of 13,235 books were drawn out during the year. Which shows that our public library is one that is doing good. It is probably doing as much service as any library of its kind in the state.

The annual canvass for rooms and boarding places, made by the S. C. A. will be begun Thursday. The list thus obtained will be posted as usual in Newberry Hall, and will be complete and valuable. Be ready to describe your rooms and to fix prices when the canvasser calls. The Association would particularly like to know of places where work can be done for room or board. No charge is made for registration.

E. J. Ottaway assumed editorial charge of the Ann Arbor Argus last Tuesday. The proprietors of the Argus have shown great good judgment in securing the services of Mr. Ottaway. He is a hustler, a brilliant news writer, a clean, reliable young man, and any newspaper gains greatly by his connection with it. As University editor of the Daily Courier last year and as managing editor of the Petoskey Daily Resorter for several seasons he has proven himself fully able to do the best work such positions may demand. The Courier welcomes Mr. Ottaway to a seat on the editorial tripod in this city, and congratulates Messrs Deakes & Hammond upon their good fortune.

The Newsboy's Band, of Detroit, has been engaged to furnish music at the county fair on School Day. Miss Lucy K. Cole's chorus of children's voices will surely be there on that day also.

Pleasure riding on the Ann Arbor St. Railway ends with this month. The sale of tickets has already been withdrawn but the tickets already sold will be received during the month. The scheme has been quite a success for the first year's trial.

Chas. Meyer having served one year as a carrier has been recommended by Postmaster Beakes for promotion from 3d to 2d grade, and the department at Washington has made the change, together with a raise of salary to $850 per annum. All of which Charlie's friends in town will be very glad to learn.

The postoffice department at Washington, D. C., has sent inspectors here several times lately and collected $10 from various people who have endeavored to cheat Uncle Sam by writing messages on papers, etc., that are sent at cheaper than letter rates of postage. Three citizens here have paid $10 each of late for violating this law.

The attorney general has handed down a decision in relation as to who shall bear the expenses of poor persons sent to the home for feeble minded and epileptic. In some instances townships care for their poor regardless of the county. A case came up where such a person was sent to the home and the expense was charged to the county. The township had had a fund but refused to settle and the attorney general was asked for a construction of the law. He holds that the expense is a charge against the county in all cases.

The new deer law provides an open season from Nov. 1 to Nov. 25, inclusive, in all sections of the state. The killing of deer in the red coat or fawn in the spotted coat, is prohibited, as is also the killing of deer while in the water, or by the aid of pit, pitfall, traps, dogs or artificial lights. The new deer license will entitle the holder to kill no more than five deer in any one year. A coupon from the license must be attached to each deer or portion thereof, in case of shipment, and must be detached from the license in the presence of the shipping agent.

Whether you fight or work, don't make much fuss. The hen cackles after she has laid the egg. The noise and sizzle of the locomotive are not force. All force is silent. The he-haw of the mule may startle you, but it is not near so dangerous as his hind legs. Bear in mind that it is the empty wagon that rattles when in motion. The noise of the drum is due to the fact that there is nothing in it. Remember that you can't startle the world by jumping up and hallooing "boon!" Thought is the greatest motive power, and don't you fall into the mistake of believing otherwise.

When the Knights Templar went down to Boston on their triennial trip, a thief came into their car at night and stole a considerable amount of money from different ones. One of the K. T.'s came near having to make the journey after the first night without any pants, as the dexterous thief, who was after a $20 gold piece in the pocket of the hereof, hid them so cleverly that it was only at the last minute, when all of the occupants of the car were ready to go that they could be found at all. It is understood that the pedigree of a certain train hand that was furnished for the occasion, is being looked up. This incident, however, is not one that the boys have told for publication, and it only leaked out by accident the other day.

The new Bethlehem church edifice is being wired for electric lights.

Wm. Kidd, of Calumet, has rented the house at No. 23 Thompson st.

The new sign on the J. T. Jacobs' Co. block will be cutting, Ryer & Co.

Hon. E. P. Allen is to speak at a Sunday School Rally at Cadillac on the 27th inst.

The people who are complaining about their lateral sewer tax should remember that the city pays one-fourth of that tax.

C. A. Maynard has received a fine new safe with which to replace the one recently destroyed by cracksmen at his State st. grocery.

The Eberbach Hardware Co. will place one of their Majestic cooking ranges on the fair grounds and furnish free coffee and biscuits—an excellent advertisement.

Many people are not aware that the Y. W. C. A. is located in new rooms above the postoffice. They have very pretty quarters there and will gladly welcome their friends.

Cards are out announcing the approaching wedding of Miss Minnie A. Schweinfurth, of this city, and Mr. Charles S. Sweeney. The date set is Oct. 3d. Miss Schweinfurth is the charming daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Schweinfurth, of S. State st.

To make the wooden butter dishes seen in groceries, the heavy timber is cut into blocks 10 or 12 inches in length and boiled in huge vats until thoroughly softened. The hot blocks are placed in machines which scoop out the butter dishes at the rate of 200 a minute.

The new law has gone into effect by which the county treasurer is allowed 25 cents for certifying that the tax has been paid for five years on all warranty deeds, and the register under the law receives 25 cents for recording such certificate attached to all warranty deeds.

It has been proven that a large number of the diseases we suffer from are occasioned by people sleeping with their window shut. An open window most nights of the year can never hurt any one. In large cities the night air is the best and purest to be had in any of the twenty-four hours, and it would be a great deal healthier to keep the windows closed during the day than at night. The absence of smoke, etc., tend to make the night the best time for airing the rooms.

Over 3000 business men of Ann Arbor have pledged themselves to close their business places on the last day of the fair, Friday next. The directors will save all the melons, peaches and pears for them, and photographs of the hogs at the show will be taken and placed with the photos of those business men who do not close, so that everyone can see the Washtenaw county swine display. Nothing but an earthquake or a hurricane will prevent the Washtenaw fair from being a success.—Adrian Press.

A very important opinion, affecting fees in connection with the new state fish and game laws, was handed down by the attorney general Tuesday. A clause of the law provides that residents of the state shall pay a license of 50 cents for the purpose of hunting deer. There seemed to be a disposition on the part of the county clerks to gobble this little rake off, which will amount to about $5,000 as it is estimated that 10,000 licenses will be taken out by resident hunters. County Clerk Smith, of Mason county, wrote the attorney general for his opinion, and the latter holds that one-half of the sum shall be paid to the county treasurer where the license is issued and the other half to the state treasurer to be used in defraying the expenses of the game warden and his deputies for enforcing the law. The same disposition is made of the $25 tax paid by foreign hunters.

$100 Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Mrs. George Paltz, of Kalamazoo, has been visiting her parents here for a few days.

On Wednesday evening of this week the Order of Eastern Star will install officers for the ensuing year.

H. L. Rose and Horace Wisner, of Manchester, will be gate keepers at the Washtenaw county fair this week.

Prof. W. M. Wait, of Chicago, has rented No. 6 Olivia ave., which he will occupy at once with his family.

Miss Katie Corey, of Kalamazoo, has rented the Taylor house No. 24 E. William st., and is moving into the same.

There will be a reception given the high school students on Friday evening, from 7:30 to 10 o'clock, by the B. Y. P. U.

Miss Donna Pinckney, formerly of Hamburg, who attended school here, and is well known among our young people, was married last week to Mr. Ames.

Single tickets for the Y. M. C. A. course will cost 25 cents. A season ticket $1. Buy it and try it. It will be the best $1 you ever invested in your life.

Mrs. James M. Smith of Marquette, has rented the Mrs. Rathbone house on N. Division st., which she will move into as soon as her household goods arrive.

Wagner & Co. have some improvements under way at their store that will make things shine. The show windows will be lined with plate glass mirrors, new show cases, and a new sky-light, are being put in.

The common, ordinary person can understand and appreciate the course of entertainments that the Y. M. C. A. offers. It is not necessary to study in Europe six or eight years more or less in order to understand what will be given.

Mrs. Paltridge, formerly Miss Mary Purfield, whose singular marriage was recently chronicled, has returned to Ann Arbor and is at her father's home, and it is definitely stated that she will not return to Kalamazoo or her husband again. The case is one of peculiar interest, and it is altogether probable that the end is not yet.

On Monday evening of next week there will be a reception for men only at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, when the teachers of the various courses will be present and present a plan of their work. All young men in the city, especially those who have an idea that they would be interested in the work of a night school, will be made welcome.

The following item from the Cadillac News & Express will be read with much interest by some of the former acquaintances of the groom: "The marriage of Miss Lionel Pollard of this city, to Mr. Marion G. Paul, of Lake Ann, Mich., took place at the home of the bride's mother, 208 Hensley street, last Saturday morning. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. A. Johnstone, pastor of the Presbyterian church, and the newly married couple took the afternoon train for a wedding trip to Ann Arbor."

Perhaps it is not generally known, but it is a fact that there were more people entertained by the citizens of Ann Arbor during the recent conference than has ever been entertained at any conference ever held in this district, and Bishop Hurst is authority for the statement that it was the largest number that he has ever known of at any conference. There were upwards of 600 just the exact number we are not able to ascertain. And it was done in a remarkably methodical manner, refecting credit upon the executive ability of the committee having it in charge.

Here is a recipe that, it is said, will knock the carpet bug every time: One ounce of alum, one ounce of chloride of zinc, three ounces of salt. Mix with one quart of water and let it stand overnight in a covered vessel, so that all the sediment may be left behind. Dilute this with two quarts of water and apply by sprinkling the edges of the carpet about a foot from the wall. This is all that is necessary. They will leave boxes, bedding and any other resort which has been sprinkled with the solution on the shortest possible notice, and nothing will be injured in texture or color.

The regents of the University of Michigan, through their attorney, H. H. Barlow, have commenced suit against our townsman E. R. Root, to try to compel him to hand over to the University certain pictures that are claimed to be a portion of the collection belonging to the Lewis Art Gallery. Mr. Root claims these pictures in question were never included in the Lewis collection but belonged to the testator's private residence. The residence with all its contents was willed to Mr. Root. The suit was begun in chancery and will be decided by the terms of the will.—Coldwater Courier.

A third warder named Jacobus, was attacked by three men Saturday night while returning home, and when near Hiscock's coal yards. One of the attacking party was left sprawling on the ground, and the other two were left to take care of him. The gang were evidently lay-wait for some one, and tackled the wrong man. The attention of the council has been called to this place and its dangers.

Mrs. Dainty, who will appear in the Y. M. C. A. course on Oct. 17, has been secured as an additional attraction. Mr. William Richards, who has just returned from the Royal Academy of Music, London, and who has a phenomenal voice as a basso. He will appear twice in the program. The committees had selected this company because of its excellence, and now are pleased to announce this additional attraction without additional charge.

The lawyers in Oklahoma are rustlers. They are just now flooding this country with propositions to secure divorces for people, and telling how much easier these documents are secured there than in North Dakota. An enterprising firm at Alva, O. T., have sent to Judge Cheever a proposition to secure such a document for him with full directions how to proceed. The Judge does not care to take advantage of the lax laws of that western territory and believes the work of these western marriage nullifiers ought to be stopped in some way.

Ladies of Ann Arbor who want help with sewing or housework, who need a stewardess or table waiter, whose children wish private tutoring, or who desire help of any kind, which could be given by women in the University, will find it desirable to send their names to the Student's Christian Association. It has been customary to pay for these services by room or board or both. Miss Fisher will be at Newberry Hall from four to half-past four this week, to meet University women and Ann Arbor ladies who desire to make this exchange. Both parties may also call at the general secretary's office and state their needs and requirements.

GALKINS' PHARMACY.

Some months ago Peter J. Lehman, the deputy county treasurer, had a cask of lard and a cask of wine shipped to him from Manchester. The lard was delivered all right, but the wine never came. Mr. Lehman has sought in vain to get the railroad companies to fix up the matter, but they would not. Finally he has brought suit against the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern R'y, who received the freight, the T. & A. R'y having proved to his satisfaction that they never received it. Mr. Lehman says that the L. S. & M. S. R'y officials have already spent enough in fighting the claim to have paid it many times over.

The wisest word on the subject of the woman's bicycle costume has been spoken by Rev. P. R. Ridgeley, who said: "If women must ride, let us leave the question of their attire to them. I have enough faith in womankind to believe that no costume immodest or ungraceful will find much favor." Mr. Ridgeley is wise because nothing can be done but leave the question of their attire to the woman. All the interviews that can be crowded into the news paper, and all the talk of millions of tongues cannot change a tuck or a ruffle in the costume which suits the woman who wears it. The woman's bicycle costume will be the costume that she thinks the best and prettiest. If the wheel must be made over to fit it.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Cycle racing as at present followed by the members of class B is not so bad as a means of starting in life for a young man. He may learn things that he should not know by following the circuit, but these things may be learned elsewhere as well. He may come from the circuit "too strong to work, as it is said some have come, but when the time comes and he is thrown on the world with cold necessity staring him in the face, then he has the independent spirit that will help him in the stern battle.

Seldom has a man been heard of that turned out bad, who was once a racing man, and some of the most substantial men of the cycle business today, men who are now worth their millions, were once racing men.

It might be as well to remark parenthetically that beer and the bicycle do not mix.

The Y. M. C. A. have placed on sale season tickets for one of the best courses of entertainments that has ever been given in this city. Every number is first class. Not a second class attraction in the lot, and the price for the course is only $1. If sufficient tickets are sold, to warrant it, six entertainments will be given, which will bring the price of each one down to less than 17 cents each. There is no place where the same can be heard at less than 25 cents each; and in most instances the price ranges from 50 cents to $1 for each entertainment. The Y. M. C. A. hope in this way to accomplish two objects. One is to furnish the association and its friends with a course of entertainments that will be pleasing and the other is the hope of selling enough tickets to make some money to help on the excellent work the association is doing. Buy a couple of season tickets of the boys when they ask you to. You will get the worth of your money over and over again.

AN AFRICAN SCHOLAR.

THE REV. EDWARD W. BLYDEN OF LIBERIA.

A Full-Blooded Negro Who Has Won Distinction Here and Abroad—Distinguished Men Among His Friends—Now With Us.

THE Rev. Edward Wilmot Blyden of Liberia, who is now paying a visit to America, is one of the most eminent scholars of the negro race. He is now 63 years of age, but though his life has been busy and wearing the only evidence of his age is found in his hair, which is beginning to turn gray. His form is still erect and his movements vigorous. He has a large head, with a full forehead. His color proclaims him a full-blooded negro. He is an interesting speaker, having a deep, rich voice and an easy conversational manner.

Dr. Blyden was born in the Danish Island of St. Thomas, in the West Indies, on Aug. 3, 1832. His parents, who were of pure negro stock, belonged to the Dutch Reformed Church, and the boy was baptized as a member of this denomination. His pastor, the Rev. John P. Knox, formerly of Newton, L. I., early picked the boy out as showing exceptional promise, and advised him to come to the United States and enter an American college. Accordingly, at the age of 18, with the assistance of his pastor, Mr. Blyden came to New York. This was in 1850, just after the passage of the fugitive slave law, and in the height of the excitement over the slavery question. The young negro made application for admission to several colleges, but all of them refused to receive him. It had been his intention to go to Africa as soon as he had obtained an education, and when he found the doors of American colleges closed against him he decided to go thither at once. In the fall of 1850 he sailed for Liberia and two years later he entered the Alexander high school at Monrovia, named after Dr. Archibald Alexander of Princeton. At that time the colony of Liberia had been in existence about thirty years, but the republic was less than five years old. In the Alexander school he took a course in classics and mathematics, and in 1858 he became a teacher in the school. In 1861 he was appointed professor of languages in the newly-founded Liberia college. After five years' service he received a leave of absence, and occupied it in a trip to Egypt and Palestine. He also visited the Protestant college at Beirut as the guest of Dr. Jessup, who is now in this country. Here he took occasion to improve the knowledge of Arabic, which he had begun to acquire in Arabia.

On his return to Liberia, Dr. Blyden continued his work of teaching until 1871, when he resigned, and went on a trip through Europe. He was then appointed by the British government as diplomatic agent to make treaties with the powerful Mohammedan and pagan chiefs of the interior tribes of Africa. After three years of this work he again took charge of the Alexander high school, which had meantime been removed from Monrovia to the interior twenty-five miles up St. Paul's river. In 1877 Dr. Blyden was appointed minister plenipotentiary to Great Britain, and served in this capacity for three years. On his return to Monrovia he was elected president of Liberia college. He resigned in 1884, and took up independent educational work among the Mohammedans at Sierra Leone. In 1892 he was again appointed Liberian representative at the Court of St. James, which office he still holds.

Swapped Away His Wife. The very unusual story of swapping a daughter for a wife is reported from Toledo, Wash. A farmer named Thompson lost his wife a short time ago. The child he took to a neighbor by the name of Putnam to be cared for. Of course frequent visits were made to see how the baby was getting along. Mrs. Putnam was quite a comely person, and very soon attracted the attention of the widowed farmer. Then he soon learned to love her, but worse of all his love was reciprocated. The husband discovered the situation. The lovers naturally expected a scene, but there were none. Instead of making the neighboring hills resound with jealous rage Putnam called upon Thompson, and they discussed the matter in a businesslike manner. Putnam professed to be tired of his wife, and said he would as lief that some other fellow would take her away as not, but he wanted something in return. He wanted some one around his house to minister to his wants; some one he could learn to love. Thompson had a daughter who suited him very well, and it was just the same he was willing to trade his wife for her. That suited Thompson and the girl, too. So a bargain was struck and the exchange made. Thompson and Mrs. Putnam went to Aberdeen and the girl to Castle Rock.

WILL WED A COUNT.

Mrs. Yznaga Expects to Be Divorced by That Time.

It is now announced that the wedding of Mrs. Yznaga, the beautiful member of the "400," whose relationship to the Vanderbilts by marriage has been further complicated by divorce, to the famed Count Bela Zichy, of Hungary, will be celebrated at an early day, by which date the lady anticipates that she will no longer be the wife of her present husband. dwelt in South Dakota. This comparatively young woman was originally a Miss Mabel Wright, daughter of George Curtis Wright, who made a large fortune out of carpet designing. She met Mr. Yznaga, a Cuban-American, at Newport in 1890 and married him in the same year. He had already been married and divorced. It is, of course, quite possible that the divorce will be delayed, in which case the wedding will be delayed also.

HYPNOTIZED INTO SICKNESS.

Girl Who Acts Like a Paralytic at a Word from the Doctor.

The most astounding instance of hypnotism by "suggestion" comes in a report furnished to the French Society of Hypnotism and Psychology by M. Gouffier, an expert in mesmerism, says the New York World. The story he has to tell is of a little girl of eleven in one of the French provinces who used to accompany a cousin, who was a country doctor, on his rounds, and in this way got to understand a good many medical expressions. One day she fell ill. The illness was light and she was on the high road to recovery when her cousin, the doctor, happened to say unthinkingly and smilingly in her presence, "Oh, good heavens! She is paralyzed!" At once the child exhibited every symptom of paralysis, and she remained in that state at the will of the doctor. Afterward he asked her if she was not becoming consumptive, and immediately she began to suffer from the dreadful coughing and blood-spitting that consumptive patients have. She seemed so extraordinarily open to every sort of mesmeric "suggestion" that the doctor tried her with half the diseases known in the medical annals, and one by one she responded to them all. He needed only to remark that she was cured to have her perfectly well a moment later. Perhaps the strangest of the experiences she went through was when one of her schoolmates got a paper pellet in her eye. From pure sympathy the child imagined that she had the same trouble, too, and she rubbed her eye to such an extent that she felt the pain of it for nearly a year.

Cork Leg Cause for Divorce. A Connecticut woman has sued for a divorce from her husband because he has a cork leg, although when she learned that he had lost his leg in a duel she was so infatuated with his bravery that she separated from the man who was then her husband to marry the defendant in the present case. Most of the Connecticut folks are persons of steady habits, but there are others.

A FRENCH BEAUTY.

Mlle. de Merode is the most beautiful woman in the ballet and the grand opera in Paris. She is only a coryphée, and is, and will always be, an indifferent danseuse. But her beauty and the fact that she was the first in the French capital to adopt the Mystic, the Leonardo fashion of wearing an overflowing wealth of hair, have led her to celebrity. She is tall, has a placid choreographic grace, and offered in her pale blue domino a rare poetic picture at the opera masked balls last winter, as she threw bouquets from her loge to her admirers below.

An Ornament Indeed.

The LL. D. conferred on Dr. S. Weir Mitchell of Philadelphia by the University of Edinburgh, is the second he has received, the first coming from Harvard; but it was left for the Scotch university to do him the extraordinary honor of referring to him as the "chief ornament to medical science in the new world." In addition to his great attainments as a physiologist, Dr. Mitchell has the unique distinction of maintaining a practice in London as well as in Philadelphia. He is one of the numerous physicians of celebrity, of whom Smollett and Oliver Wendell Holmes were examples, who have excelled in letters as well as in medicine. Dr. Mitchell is well known both as poet and as novelist, and it is not unlikely that a "run" on one of his books would have pleased him even more than the Edinburgh degree.

Carlyle's Old Home.

At length, and except for a few pounds, the fund for the purchase of Carlyle's old home in Chelsea has been raised, and the house will hereafter be a museum of Carlyle relics—"a shrine for visitors, mostly Americans," in the words of the London Daily News. The price paid is £2,059. The dwelling is unimposing and even shabby, and is likely to prove disappointing to visitors from this side of the ocean. It contains nine small rooms and a mean little garden in the rear. Perhaps the most interesting feature of it is the attic room with a skylight, built by Carlyle to escape the noise of the crowing cocks and barking dogs of the neighborhood.

EXPERT SEAMEN.

Are the Monks That Man the "Holy Prophet Ilja."

An Odessa letter of recent date says: "One of the oddest vessels afloat arrived a few days ago in Odessa, and is moored on the lower quay. She belongs to the convent on Mount Athos and is called the Holy Prophet Ilja (Elias). She is brig-rigged and sails under the Turkish flag, but a Greek cross is carried on both mastsheads, and she differs from the ordinary Turkish ships by her scrupulous cleanliness. The captain is a Jeromonach, a monk ranking higher than a friar, and all the sailors are monks or lay brothers; still, they are expert seamen. The pilot, Father Irakli (Hercules), has crossed all the oceans and zones, sailing around the wide world since 1866. The entire crew speak both Russian and Greek. Service on the ship alternates with worship in the little church in the fore-castle. It is quite a curious sight to behold these monks in their long frocks and sandals climbing up the masts, along the yardarms, reefing sails or hanging almost over the water on the foremost point of the bowsprit. The brig brought here a load of bricks from Constantinople, and goes in ballast to Marimpol, where she will take a cargo of flour, corn, fish and other provisions which are to furnish the supply for the convent for a whole year. According to the sail-monks' own statements, the Holy Prophet Ilja is a smart sailor, and runs eleven knots an hour in a fair wind. She is 105 feet long and carries a cargo of 200 tons."

What use is there in eating when food does you no good—in fact, when it does you more harm than good, for such is the case if it is not digested.

If you have a loathing for food there is no use of forcing it down, for it will not be digested. You must restore the digestive organs to their natural strength and cause the food to be digested when an appetite will come, and with it a relish for food.

The tired, languid feeling will give place to vigor and energy, then you will put flesh on your bones and become strong. The Shaker Digestive Cordial as made by the Mount Lebanon Shakers contains food already digested and is a digester of food as well. Its action is prompt and its effects permanent.

Doctors prescribe Laxol because it has all the virtues of Castor Oil and is palatable.

ESTATE OF JEROME A. FREEMAN.

COUNTY OF WASHTENAW, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the 8th day of September, 1895, the estate of Jerome A. Freeman, deceased, was presented for probate.

Present, J. Willard Babbitt, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Jerome A. Freeman, deceased.

Emma V. Freeman the administrator of said estate, comes into court and represents that she is now prepared to render her final account as such administrator.

Thereupon it is ordered, that Tuesday, the 8th day of October next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for examining and allowing such account, and that the heirs-at-law and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court, then to be holden at the Probate Office, in the city of Ann Arbor, in said county, and show cause, if any there be, why the said account should not be allowed. And it is further ordered that said administrator give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said account, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Ann Arbor Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county, three successive weeks previous to the day of hearing.

ELECTRIC WIRING.

Ed. C. Burdick Takes Exception to the Courier Item Thereon.

[To the Editor of the Courier:

In your issue of the 18th inst. appeared an article entitled "Electric Wiring" the writer of which was either quiet ignorant of the subject he was dealing with or else was moved by motives other than a desire to warn the public. Will you kindly grant space for the statement of a few facts in answer to the false assertions made in that article. There are but two parties who make a business of house wiring for Electric Light Co. of Ann Arbor, one the Thompson-Houston Electric Light Co. of Ann Arbor (of which the Courier Editor and proprietor is known to be directly connected)—the other—the undersigned. Therefore the writer must have had wiring done by me in mind when he made his statements which were certainly not intended to recommend my work to the public. In this day and age of the world it is not an uncommon thing to see a large corporation, try to down its smaller rivals, and the methods used are not always such as are recognized by honorable competitors. The writer states: first that good work could not be secured except from the highest bidder. It is needless to say that this is in direct contradiction to all business methods. But where a company have been doing work for a number of years at rates for above what the work was actually worth, it is not strange that when one comes to compete with them at reasonable prices they object and throw all possible hindrances in his way. The same writer gives as an example of poor work that the cheap electrician was obliged to use "No. 18 wire a size much too small to carry the current with safety, because it was the only way he could get out with a profit." The writer either knew nothing at all about electric wiring or else he misrepresented facts. The wire in question had to carry a current of one Ampere while the safe carrying capacity of No. 18 as given by the Edison table and all recognized authorities is 5.3 Amperes or more than five times what the wire was intended to carry. While it is true that some rules laid down for electric wiring object to using No. 18 wire, it is equally true that similar rules object just as strongly to using No. 16, which size is now and has been used continually by the Lighting Co. of this city—not however because these sizes are too small to carry the current safely, but because it is liable to be injured when put in by the unskilled use of tools in the hands of bungling workmen who are too often engaged to do this class of work by Electric Light companies in general. The matter of wiring houses is not however so important as the article in question would signify. Fires from wiring are very rare and wiring is always done with such care that insurance agents in this city will insure any building containing electric light wires without taking the trouble to inspect.

The instance above alluded to where No. 18 wire was used was thoroughly discussed at the time the work was done by the undersigned and the superintendent of the company and although no technical reason was given for objections to said wire, he threatened to refuse to connect same to the company's supply wires, thus assuming an authority to which he was not entitled. It is as well to mention that in order to prevent trouble I did remove the wire in question (not because it would have been of insufficient carrying capacity) and replaced it with No. 16, the size used by the company, immediately notifying them of the change. This was weeks before they saw fit to attack me with an unjust slander.

I have been criticized by the superintendent and other employees of the Lighting company at every turn, yet an examination of wiring done by them will show the same so called defects. I think that this fact alone will show that their criticisms are intended to injure and not because the work itself was defective.

The article closes by saying that the city should have an inspector, in order to protect the people from fraud, poor work, and liability to fires. This is the meritorious point in the whole communication and would be heartily endorsed by all who are interested in electric lighting, for it would take the business of inspecting out of the hands of interested parties who assume inspectorship to conceal an unjust and dishonest motive, and place it in the hands of a disinterested man who would inspect with equal care the work done by different parties and decide on the merits of the work itself. This would secure to the citizens the benefit of fair competition and fair play for,

Respectfully Yours
Ed. C. BURDICK.

Our correspondent takes the article in last week's Courier too personally, as others besides himself and the T.H. Electric Co. have been and are doing electric wiring in Ann Arbor. The Courier's editorial was in line with the general discussion of the electrical papers (see the "Plea for Better Construction Work," by Keppeler Hall, p. 288, The Electrical World and it's editorial on the same; articles by insurance men in the Inter Ocean insurance column. As to the attitude of the local lighting company, it simply does wiring because it has to. Its main interest is to get houses wired. It cannot afford to have them wired poorly, since that would hurt it's chief business—that of selling electricity for light. In all respects its interests are identical with the public's, i. e. to have good wiring, to satisfy its customers, and to give them a cleaner, safer, healthier, and more cheerful light than is obtained by ghoulishly Welsbach burners.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
A Pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder.

BISMARCK

Germany's Great Leader Speaks A Startling Truth

And Gives a Lesson We Will Do Well to Heed.

HE SAYS, "BLOOD AND IRON RULE THE WORLD."

Just What This May Mean to Every One of Us.

Such Startling Words Bring the Truth Home to Us.

When Prince Bismarck, Germany's great leader said, "The world is not ruled by parliaments and political meetings, but by blood and iron," he uttered a truth, the extent of which few comprehend. The world is ruled by race—race is ruled by blood—pure blood. All genius and all talent, in war and in peace, is dependent on the conditions of the blood. It is the main spring of individual force and power. It vitalizes or enervates the physical and mental strength. We speak of blooded stock in the animal kingdom; it will apply with equal force to the human race.

When Greece was full of vital energy, when she cultivated her physical health she became mistress of the world, and her great Alexander wept for other worlders to conquer; but when she became effeminate a horde of barbarians over-ran and destroyed her, leaving behind them a path of mournful ruins. In tainted blood, impure and weak, was written that nation's sad epitaph. So queenly Rome and many another nation has suffered in the loss of physical prowess and been destroyed or hurt. We need both as a nation and as individuals, to take this important lesson to ourselves. Be well and keep so; mend up the waste places; strengthen the nerves and purify the blood. Then, long life is assured; good work in the world will come, and you will know the blessings of sound body and happy mind. Nothing has yet been discovered to accomplish this like Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

The great Bismarck did no more for Germany in discovering her elements of unity and enforcing them, than has this distinguished specialist done for mankind in discovering his wonderful remedy for all blood ailments and nerve weakness, giving health and strength and happiness to all who will take it and be cured of their suffering. Do not fail to improve this fortunate opportunity. Take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and you can be well and strong, strong to conquer what end you undertake in life.

Mr. F. A. Arnold, of Woodsville, N. H., says: "Three months ago I was in a very debilitated state. My stomach refused to act, and after eating I suffered pain from indigestion. My blood was in a very low state, and I was in no condition to work. I did keep around, but suffered continually. My kidneys bothered me considerably, and I had continual pain in the small of my back. I was considerably discouraged about my condition, and feared that I should be obliged to give up work. I heard of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and its wonderful results upon others, and I determined to try it. I had no faith in the virtues of the remedy when I began its use, but now I am rejoiced to say that I cannot help having faith, for it completely cured me, and I work with comfort every day."

"My business is railroading, which I could not do if it had not been for Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and I gladly recommend it to all. Why waste time in trying uncertain and untried remedies, when here is a physician's prescription, a discovery made by the greatest living specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th St., New York City. If you take this medicine you can consider yourself under Dr. Greene's direct professional care, and you can consult him or write to him about your case, freely and without charge. This is a guarantee that his remedy will cure, possessed by no other medicine in the world."

STUDYING TO PLEASE HIM.

He Was a Finicky Customer, But the Waiter Was Anxious to Satisfy Him.

A man afflicted with the disease of finickism, an exaggeration of the value of details, was giving his order for breakfast to a hotel waiter. The man was finical in the extreme, and the exactitude of his order respectfully amused the waiter, who was somewhat of a judge of human nature, inasmuch as he had served breakfast to many men, says Kansas City Star. Breakfast time is invariably when you get down to the bedrock of a man's true disposition. It is too early in the day, and he is too close to nature itself to have put on the little frills that he begins to assume along about 11 o'clock. At all events, the waiter understood and took his order respectfully, even servilely, without losing his own estimate of the man.

The man had a morning cough and sipped ice water as he gave his order. "Bring me a pot of coffee," he said. "And mind, it must be hot—hot and strong—don't forget to have it strong. And a sirloin steak, rare; remember, have it rare and no fat. I can't bear the sight of fat in the morning."

"Yessir, yessir. No fat," replied the waiter.

"And bring me some dry toast, hot, mind you; hot toast, and have it made from stale bread. I don't want it toasted outside and soggy within. Now, don't forget that."

"No, sir; all right sir; not soggy inside sir," echoed the waiter.

"And some sliced tomatoes," continued the man. "And take the chopped ice off the tomatoes and drain them. I want them dry, do you understand, dry. Now, don't forget that."

"All right, sir. Tomatoes must be dry."

"And, let's see! Yes, bring me some fried eggs. Fresh eggs, you know, perfectly fresh. And I want them fried on one side only. Don't forget that."

"Yessir; fried on one side. And which side, sir?"

The English Labor Market.

A memorandum prepared by the labor department of the Board of Trade for June states that on the whole there has been improvement during the month in the state of the labor market, and that the percentage of the unemployed in the unions making returns has declined. In the 88 trade unions 5.6 per cent of men are reported as unemployed at the end of June, as compared with 6 per cent in May and 6.3 per cent in the 52 unions making returns for June, 1894. The building trades continue busy. The percentage of unemployed in unions making returns remains the same as in May, viz., 2.5, compared with 3.5, June, 1894. In the cotton trade, employment for spinners shows no improvement, but weavers are somewhat better employed than in May. The woolen trade is brisk, overtime in some cases being worked; the worsted trade is also well employed. The hosiery trade has continued to improve; the silk trade is fairly well employed. Information received with regard to 234 textile mills, employing nearly 66,000 women and girls, show that 87 per cent were in mills giving full employment, as compared with 84 per cent in May.

Silver Novelties for Men.

Among the many novelties now shown by some of the leading jewelers are tortoise-shell boxes, set with silver, to hold two packs of cards, and flat silver cases for bank notes and gold. It is not necessary, however, to present both to the same person, for if he used the one to any extent he would find the other entirely unnecessary. Some handsome match boxes in silver had tiny watches set in the center. When one thinks of the number of pockets a man boasts, the pride most of them take in their chronometers, this last fancy seems rather superfluous. It might be put to a good use in something besides card cases for the poor feminine gender, who owing to fashion's present follies is unable to sport even one small pocket.

Absentminded.

"I believe that absentmindedness is a sort of insanity," declared Mr. Boggs as he walked down town with his friend Beggs. "The extraordinary freaks of persons afflicted with it cannot be accounted for on any other reasonable hypothesis. Now, there is Fogg, who has worn glasses for ten years and can't see ten feet ahead of him, walked clear down to his office the other day before he discovered that he had left his glasses at home. That must be temporary suspension of intelligence."

Boggs started to bite off the end of a cigar.

No Brains to Speak Of.

Dudely Canesucker went into a restaurant on Broadway and gave an order for some fried calf brains. After he had waited almost half an hour Dudely said to the waiter: "Well, what about the calf brains?" The waiter shook his head and intimated that the outlook was gloomy.

"What is the matter with my brains?"

"There ain't any, that's all," replied the waiter, looking at Dudely sadly.

Let It Rest.

Jones came home very late the other night, and his wife found a suspicious lump of chalk in his pocket. "I wish you'd give up those horrid billiards that keep you out so late," she observed, "and take a longer rest."

The Peculiar Will That Puzzled the Pennsylvania Court.

One of the most peculiar wills ever upheld by a court was that of Samuel Eddinger, of Moore township, Pennsylvania. It has twice been construed by the Supreme court of Pennsylvania, which has now held that it conveys clearly the intentions of the testator. Mr. Eddinger was a man of advanced age, and died a few weeks after he made the will. His property was valued at only $5,000, and a large part of that amount must have already been expended in upholding the will. The beginning of the document is apparently copied from a printed form, and the rest of it, entirely without punctuation, is in Mr. Eddinger's handwriting. The Supreme court says that the purpose of the will is to give $1,000 to his son, then a life annuity of $125 to his daughter and to devise the whole of his real estate to his son. As the personal estate amounted to only $400 the court directed that the annuity be paid from the real estate. The words written by the testator as his last will and testament are:

"that is to say my Disire my son John he Shall have one thousand Dollars in Advance before any of the heirs shall have any money from my estate personal property first my Son John shall settle up all my Depts funeral Expense &c till all is paid my Son John he Shall Settle my personal property as soon as it is possible he shall pay of ti money from my person. goods the half of the money to my daughter Magret and what is left from the Balance after the Thousand Dollars he tookt of for himself my Son John Shall pay to my Daughter Margret on Anually one a Hundred and twenty-five Dollars for her Natural Life time or as Long She will Liv in this World and my Son John he shall have all my Real Estate for his own property as soon as my Daughter is Deceased my Son John shall not pay any longer not to her heirs and to no no body it be stopped."

—Bridget, now, many policemen did you have in the kitchen last night?

Bridget (modestly)—Only foive, mum. Mistress—Couldn't you induce one of them to stay all night? You know I'm afraid of burglars.

Bridget (brightening)—Rist aisy, mum; three uv 'em shlapes here regular.—Judge.

Fatally Injured in a Queer Accident
While Martin O'Day and his wife were walking by the side of the Boston and Maine railroad tracks at Lynn, Mass., the woman's dress was caught by the steps of a car on a passenger train. Her husband tried to save her, but both were thrown under the train. O'Day died from his injuries and his wife is in a precarious condition.

The Germanic Record.
The steamer Germanic, of the White Star line, has made 422 passages across the Atlantic, traveling a distance of more than 1,500,000 miles. She has just had a set of new engines put in to take the place of those which were new when she was, in 1875.

Sister-in-Law.
Jinks—"What tender care your wife takes of you. Always worrying about your health."
Blinks—"Yes; I have my life insured in favor of my sister."
