THE BEST THING OUT. The Y. M. C. A. Lyceum Course—A Rich Treat for Our Citizens—and all for $1.00.

The Young Men's Christian Association of Ann Arbor, in order to place before the people of this city a number of entertainments of a popular order at a price that all can afford, has secured the following first class class concerts and lectures, to which another will be added if sufficient encouragement is given, making six entertainments for $1.00, or less than 17 cents apiece.

Price of season tickets admitting to all entertainments, $1.00. This is the lowest figure at which such a course has ever been offered.

This course consists of three concerts and two lectures, as follows: 1. Laura Dainty Concert Co., Oct. 17. This company consists of Laura Dainty, the world famous reader and impersonator, accompanied by the Misses Robertson, solo violinist and harpist, nieces of Helen M. Gougar, the noted lecturer, and ladies of the highest social standing, as well as of eminent talent.

2. Nina Drummond Leavitt, and the Ann Arbor Concert Co., Nov. 27th. Mrs. Nina Drummond Leavitt, of Brooklyn, N. Y., has no superior as a banjoist and in rendering dialect songs most of which are those quaint and beautiful melodies of the southern colored people. She gave a recital in the Y. M. C. A. rooms last August, and those who heard her are unanimous in the opinion that they never before heard banjo music.

3. Lecture by Robert J. Burdette, December 19th. Of this world renowned humorist it is hardly necessary to say anything. He is known to everyone. He has, by his wit, humor and pathos, satisfactorily entertained more people than any other living man, and his writings have pleased a multitude of readers. This lecture alone in all prominent cities costs more than is asked for this entire course.

4. Lecture by Dr. J. M. Barkley, Jan. 16th. Dr. Barkley is an entertaining speaker. He will give an extremely interesting and instructive talk regarding his experience in the Rebel Army, in which he served a time during the great Civil War. No one can afford to miss hearing him. Selections will be rendered by a local orchestra during the half hour preceding the lecture, which commences at 8 o'clock.

5. Royal Hand Bell Ringers, Feb. 15th, '96. The finest concert in its line is given by this troupe, with their Carillon of 131 sweetly toned bells, ranging from 11 1/2 lbs. to 3 1/4 oz.

This is the standard company of the world. It is universally conceded that in point of artistic excellence they have no rivals. They are so far beyond all other troupes of bell ringers that no comparison can be made.

In Great Britain and on the continent their reputation is unrivalled. They have appeared many times before the queen and royal family, and the nobility and aristocracy of Europe. Their dress is the court costume of the reign of Edward IV.

The sixth and last entertainment will be equal to any of the above, providing the residents of Ann Arbor give the Association sufficient encouragement so that they can afford to give it.

When asked by the Young Men's Christian Association boys to purchase a course ticket, will you not cheerfully comply with the request, and help an association that is doing a great deal of good for the young men of Ann Arbor, the only association in fact that has this one distinct object in view?

It has been discovered at Ann Arbor (the Courier in authority) that three doses of insect powder will kill all the fleas on a dog. And yet a venal legislature sat around for months chewing tobacco, charging up time to the state and niggardly refusing an appropriation for another University hospital.—Mt. Pleasant Enterprise.

Neither the University authorities nor citizens of Ann Arbor asked for another hospital here, Bro. Coutant. That scheme was wholly and solely one suggested and urged by the State Board of Health. The University authorities did ask for some money for needed improvements, however, and were refused. But by the looks of things that legislature appropriated money for something, even if the University and Mt. Pleasant State Normal school were left out in the cold. How does it look to you?

Attorney General Maynard has handed down a decision in relation as to who shall bear the expenses of poor persons sent to the home for feeble minded and epileptic. In some instances townships care for their poor regardless of the county. A case came up where such a person was sent to the home and the expense was charged to the county. The township had a fund but refused to settle and the attorney general was asked for a construction of the law. He holds that the expense is a charge against the county in all cases.

Worthy Your Confidence.

The success of Hood's Sarsaparilla in conquering scrofula in whatever way it may manifest itself is vouched for by thousands who were severely afflicted by this prevalent disease, but who now rejoice over a permanent cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Scrofula may appear as a humor, or it may attack the glands of the neck, or break out in dreadful running sores on the body or limbs. Attacking the mucous membrane, it may develop into catarrh or lodging in the lungs lead to consumption. Come as it may, a faithful course of treatment with Hood's Sarsaparilla will overcome it, for working upon the foundation of all diseases, impure blood, the system is clarified and vitalized, and vigor, strength and health restores to the body.

Classes Offered by the Y. M. C. A.

Monday at 7:30, Reading and Elocution.

Thursday, 2 to 4, Needlework.

Thursday at 7:30, Vocal Music.

Thursday, Arithmetic.

Friday at 7:30, Conversational English.

The classes this week will be introductory. Any who are interested are invited to be present. Family wines that rival the world in excellence are from Speer's Passie, N. J. Vineyards. The Claret, vintage 1881, the Burgundy and Port are very old superior wines. The Port is especially for invalids. The Climax Brandy is very superior.

AN ASTONISHING REVELATION. How Two U. of M. Graduates Talked About Their Alma Mater—Unhealthy Sentiments.

Apropos to the organization of U. of M. Alumni Associations, two graduates of the University were conversing recently, one from Detroit and the other from Ann Arbor.

The Detroit man said in effect: 'It may be that I do not manifest the right spirit, and it may be treason to my alma mater, yet if I had a son to send to college, and could afford to do it, I should send him to Harvard or Yale, with preference for Yale. And these are my reasons: To graduate from either of those colleges means something more than merely securing a diploma. It means something in after life. The graduates cling together after graduation. There is a bond that ties graduates to the old institution that is never felt in the University of Michigan. The authorities of these Universities have always managed to keep in touch with their alumni, and you never yet heard of a Harvard or Yale man that lost his interest in his alma mater. Here at Ann Arbor it is different. There is no such feeling. It is more like graduating from a high school than from a great university.'

The Ann Arbor alumnus, after coinciding with all that his friend said added this: 'And I would go still further. "If I had a girl to educate I should not send her to the U. of M., or to any coeducational college. I would send her to Vassar or some strictly female college. And I will tell you why: Here at Ann Arbor girls are left to their own sweet will. They are given instruction in nothing but books. They are placed on exactly the same footing that the boys are, and required to pursue exactly the same studies. There is nothing done to polish them, simply to cram their heads full of book knowledge. I should want my daughter to acquire the accomplishments, to be taught how to appear graceful and how to make herself agreeable in the parlor or at the banquet table. Do you think she would acquire any of that sort of an education in the U. of M.? My experience is that she would not.'

Much more was said, all in the same tenor, but space will not permit of further quotations. The drift of their conversation is not given for any other purpose than to set our University authorities and others interested, to thinking. If these two worthy graduates think in that way, how many more are there who think in the same way? Is there any reason for it? If there is, can any scheme be devised to change it? Is there any possible way to keep the graduates of the U. of M. in more hearty sympathy with the University after they leave its portals?

An energetic young business man aged 23 years, character and habits of the highest order will invest with services up to $5000 in some first class well established paying business, Hardware preferred. When a person begins to grow thin there is something wrong. The waste is greater than the supply and it is only a question of time when the end must come. In nine cases out of ten the trouble is with the digestive organs. If you can restore them to a healthy condition you will stop the waste, put on new flesh and cause them to feel better in every way. The food they eat will be digested and appropriated to the needs of the system, and a normal appetite will appear.

Consumption frequently follows a wasting of bodily tissues because nearly all consumptives have indigestion. The Shaker Digestive Cordial will restore the stomach to a healthy condition in a vast majority of cases. Get one of their books from your druggist and learn about this new and valuable remedy.

For School-Girls.

If I were a girl again, and could go to school, I would be very careful, at least I think I would be careful, not to lose any time.

A girl at school cannot, of course always be provided with every appliance for her work, but, as a rule, she ought to have her own books, her own pads, pencils, inkereaser, crayons, drawing-paper, penknife, and whatever else she needs in order to do her work.

School-books should be laid aside as you leave them for other and more advanced books, neither given away nor parted with out of the family, though you may allow a younger sister or brother to use them, if you choose.

IN THE SWISS MOUNTAINS.

The Best Descriptive Letter yet Written by Our Wheelman in Europe.

Dear Mr. Editor:

We found as much that was truly Swiss in our ride to Berne as in all the rest of our wanderings. There are numberless taverns along the roadside with their queer signs, which seem to dedicate them to the Lion, to the Bear, the Sword or Crown. Beneath the far-projecting roof is a wooden beam of a Golden Lion or Brown Bear, or some hideous Dragon which asserts the right to the name adopted. Every one seems to have his place of business and residence united, and we find the cobbler, the tinner and various tradesmen all working in their own cottages. Then there are the makers of a 1,000 toys and knickknacks of pine wood, working industriously at home. They have the blocks of wood piled up artistically in front of the house beneath the sunbonnet roof and at the door is nailed a humble sign telling their vocation.

Riding amid mountains is delightful. When we are weary, there is always a clean, grassy plot where we lie down by a stream and allow the babbling brook to talk us to sleep. There is nothing so conducive to slumber as a long bicycle ride and one of these lulling, whispering streamlets. Then the abundance of cherries and harvest apples is not unpleasant. We tried to keep a railroad in sight during this ride but it was a veritable will-o-the-wisp and at times would dodge straight into the side of the mountain and re-appear again, teasingly, after we had a long ride around. I nearly forgot the interesting feature in architecture which gives a Swiss house 60 windows in the front. The gable end is the front and when the roof has made its majestic sweep to either side and sits brooding over 60 windows, there is a decidedly startling effect. The Swiss like effects such as a brown or yellow field of grain, stretched upon a green mountain side where it looks like a huge, tawny lion's skin. But you have been waiting for me to reach Berne. We reached that city just as the sun was descending and the Alpine glow was beautifying all the glorious mountain scenery. Berne, city of many fountains; built on a sandstone peninsular formed by the Aar; its streets flanked by arcades or covered ways for foot passengers; city where is the grotesque old clock with the crowing cock and procession of bears. The bear is the city's emblem and a bear's den is maintained at the city's expense. The old bridge across the Aar affords a fine view of old and new municipal buildings. But I can't make you see those queer old structures so I shall hurry you along to the old city of Freiburg which we reached before noon the following day. We saw it first from a suspension bridge, 200 feet above a large part of the city. Down far below, the tile roofs and streets with moving streams of people appeared strange enough. At each end of the bridge was part of the town on the bridge level. Altogether the oddest town we had seen. An old lime tree, there, has a pleasing legend attached that it was originally a twig borne to the city by a lad to herald the victory of Morat.

After leaving the ancient walls and passing near an old, round watch tower, we rode eagerly under the inspiring thought of soon seeing Lake Geneva. The approach is a superb mountain district where stupendous heights, abrupt precipices and beetling cliffs gave and took our breath in alternating awe, admiration and horror. At one time, we rode into a deep valley filled with a dread inspiring mist, soon we were faced by an almost perpendicular immensity of rock. I knew then that Dante did not imagine the depths of hell but he had seen them in mountain fastnesses. The mist rolled away and mats of forests, mats of wheat and vegetable fields lay upon the mountain side. Ahead was a bare, snow-clad mountain and as we rounded a cliff, Lake Geneva lay before us far below. The first sight stopped the beating of my heart. The sudden burst of transcendent beauty is marvellous. The blue of the lake sheds a blue haze over the mountains of the opposite side. Green hills rolled away from our place of view down to the water's edge. Vevey and other small cities lay white and glistening at the lake side. The blue of Lake Lemane is a River of Paradise blue. We coasted rapidly down into the very bosom of loveliness. Zigzag went the road and now we turned our eyes to our right, now left upon the majestic charms of the lake. At last we were by its side and it was lovely as before with the added grace of lake birds, the swans, gulls and sea swallows. What names this lake conjures with its beauty. Rousseau, Voltaire, Byron, Dumas and Shelley have all woven a poetic web and painted its deep blue enchantments there. So many jagged, snowy peaks rise about it. The fierce Dent an Midi, the saccharine Sugar Loaf, the rocks of Meillerie and the Pledies all win admiration. We rode along the lake shore and passed the hotels with their Elysium modeled gardens and we saw the dingy old Castle of Chillon on its isolated rock and tried to fancy Bonivard peering from his dungeon. Then up the Rhone valley where we passed the night at St. Maurice, a little, old town with a big, old abbey, oldest in Switzerland. Its old-time hospitality is no more; they wouldn't let us stay all night. There is a fairy grotto near. The owner gets 2 francs for exhibiting the fairies and a cascade.

It was cold, bitterly cold, when we started next morning. Not even enthusiasm could warm us when we saw through a lateral valley the snow-dusted Mt. Blanc. The spray of a cascade which we passed only made us more chilly. The Rhone valley is low and marshy but with a gigantic range of mountains on both sides. A turn in the valley revealed the first rays of the sun and as the valley runs east and west, thereafter we were warm enough. The vegetation began to be rankly luxuriant. Apples, plums, apricots, peaches and all ripe and in easy reach as we ride by, is my remembrance and dream of that ride. Everyone carries a basket balanced upon the head and the women all knit industriously as they walk along with laden baskets.

The lower slopes of the great parallel mountain ranges have vineyards and vegetable plots but high above all is bare rocks, snow and solitude. Again and again the valley seems blocked by a Cyclopean rock surmounted by a castle and wall. Sometimes there is a break in the continuous wall where a turbid stream rushes through a gorge to join the Rhone.

The outer tube on the rear wheel of my bicycle bursts regularly once a day now and we sit down resignedly to wind one more piece of leather or old tire about it. The chances of a puncture are small because there is a double layer of outer wrapping at nearly every point in the circumference. The old ship is getting unseaworthy but we shall not abandon her while patches will keep her up. We had just finished one of these repairs when a crowd of young men with alpenstocks appeared and we recognized them as the old crowd on the "Veendam." Truly, the world is not very large. We exchanged greetings and they asked in astonishment if we were really going up the pass among the glaciers with those bicycles. We answered by bidding them goodbye and wheeling on toward Brieg where the great pass begins to ascend. Before reaching Brieg we made a purchase of a quart of luscious mountain strawberries for about 2 cents. More about them later; at present, remember that we put them carefully in my case. Upon our arrival at Brieg, we were surrounded and harassed by a crowd of hotel drummers who assured us that at that hour (6 p. m.) it was impossible and absurd to start over the Simplon. We, half in wrath because of their importunities, and half in spirit of adventure, pushed the too eager mob aside, bought a loaf of bread and started up the pass, walking and pushing our wheels.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

C. H. VAN TYNE.

Drink at Meals.

The real trouble with tea and coffee drinking is not generally understood. It is common knowledge with every one that physicians advise the discontinuance of both tea and coffee when a person is sick, particularly when the digestive machinery is affected. Any person with a slight knowledge of chemistry can make the following experiments, securing the results as given. Coagulated egg albumen when mixed with artificial gastric juices, will practically be entirely digested in eight hours.

When tea is added during the process of digestion, 66 per cent. of albumen will be digested, leaving 24 per cent. undigested, while if a decoction of coffee is mixed with the albumen, the result will be but 61 per cent. digested and 39 per cent. undigested. This means one thing, and the experiment speaks that fact plainly. When tea or coffee is taken into the human stomach, they very seriously interfere with the natural and healthful operation. Where a person has an exceedingly powerful digestive apparatus, he can stand this abuse for a time, but it is sure to tell sooner or later.

In addition to the above it may be said that any ordinary analytical chemist can analyze coffee and show the poisonous alkaloids of much the same character as found in strychnine, whisky, tobacco, and morphine. These poisons have a direct effect upon the liver, and a furred tongue, constive bowels, bad skin and various other indications of approaching sickness are apparent. These facts have been recognized by physicians for many years, but it is difficult to induce people to leave off their habits even when those habits are shown to be injurious and to shorten the existence of the human body.

The manager of La Vita Inn, a health institution at Batt's Creek, Mich., made a large number of experiments in the direction of a food drink that would be at once nourishing, palatable and fragrant, without any of the poisonous or injurious properties. His experiments were confined to compounding and arranging products of various cereals, or grains, such as were intended by nature for man's subsistence. Being in a position to note the effect of the beverage upon weak stomachs and patients who needed the most nourishing food and drink that could be obtained, his experiments were conducted under what would probably be considered the most favorable circumstances. After continued use and the most positive evidence of the healthful proportion of the food drink patients who had been healed wished to continue the use of the cereal drink after their return to their homes and others made demand for it.

In order to supply this demand and the public generally, the Postum Cereal Co., Limited, was formed. All people who drink coffee and tea do not care to discontinue their use although quite satisfied of their hurtful properties. There are enough people however, in America who hold their health in high enough esteem to be willing to give a little attention to their food and drink. There is no habit the creature acquires which produces as much real enjoyment as the old-fashioned habit of being thoroughly well. When a man can inhale a deep breath of pure air and feel that every part of the machinery of the human body is working perfectly, the feeling of comfort produces a deep sense of easy content and thankfulness to the creator for the mere privilege of living.

Postum Cereal is a thoroughly healthful food drink. It can be taken at every meal by all members of the family, including the children. It quickly establishes itself as an important part of the meal, and when left out, one misses the fragrant odor, the comforting flavor and the health-giving properties.

3 lb. coffee (30 cents) gives 40 to 45 cups.
1 package Postum Cereal (.25 cts.) gives 100 cups.

About 3 to 1 in favor of the Cereal. This item of economy is by no means the chief consideration. Health comfort, and red blood speak out strongly for the natural drink.

This pure food drink brews exactly the color of the richest coffee and has much the same fragrance and taste, with none of the harmful properties.

MRS. SAGE AND BLOOMERS.

Wife of the Great Financier Is in Favor of the Bifurcated Dress.

Mrs. Russel Sage has pronounced for bloomers, says the Boston Herald, not only for bicycle use, but for wear generally. She thinks that woman needs a street or walking dress which can be worn on every outdoor occasion, and a dress that must do away with long skirts and petticoats. "If," she says, "woman will follow the pursuits of man she must have a practical costume. She can not wait to grasp her skirts if she must catch hold of a particular railing to leave a street car. She can not get on a chair to wind the clock without danger from her skirts." She can not see how a woman should think of riding a bicycle without wearing bloomers. The conventional woman dress should only be kept for the opera, the dinner party, the club luncheon, and such other occasions, and should be for women what the clawhammer attire is for men. She thinks that the knell of the long skirts, which she characterizes as dangerous as well as inconvenient, has sounded, but she adds that "women can only afford to sacrifice the grace of the skirts at the altar of necessity." But why all this arguing, and why not adopt bloomers incontinently? The principal opposition with which they met has been from the comic papers and the newspaper paragrapher, and poor, persecuted woman has survived all the fun they poked at bangs, at hoopskirts, at big hats and their hearse-like, tall ostrich plumes, and at all the other fashions that have, from time to time, been so dear to femininity. Let those who covet bloomers for everyday wear don them without more ado, and thus show the courage of their convictions. The chances are, however, that an overwhelming majority of the sex can not bring themselves to remain indifferent to the plates in the fashion periodicals and to the charm which a pretty, well-fitting, and tasteful gown exercises over every susceptible and admiring he thing.

A DRUGGIST'S EXPERIENCE.

The Sands of the Desert.

F. T. Icenbarger, a prominent druggist of Dayton, Ohio, has lately made an extended trip through the dry, alkali plains of Western Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado, and discovered how intensely penetrating are the sands and irritating dust of the desert, making speech difficult and breathing sometimes almost impossible, the passages of the head and throat being filled with this almost impalpable and irritating powder, and this, with the stifling heat, made the bodily condition almost unbearable. Fortunately he had with him a jar of Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm, which he snuffed up into his head and throat, and allowed the other travelers in the car to use, and the nasal passages were kept open during the entire journey through the desert. Mr. Icenbarger is of the opinion that the horrible choking sensations so common among catarrhal sufferers is caused by a similar dust that is in our atmosphere, though unseen, and says that in his drug store at Dayton, O., he has had numbers of customers who have been almost instantly relieved when suffering painfully. He recommends it to everybody who is suffering from catarrh or any other disease of the head or throat.

DON'T STOP TOBACCO

IT'S INJURIOUS TO STOP SUDDENLY and don't be imposed upon by buying a remedy that requires you to do so, as it is nothing more than a substitute. In the sudden stoppage of tobacco you must have some stimulant, and in most all cases, the effect of the stimulant, be it opium, morphine, or other opiates, leaves a far worse habit contracted. Ask your druggist about BACO-CURO. It is purely vegetable. You do not have to stop using tobacco with BACO-CURO. It will notify you when to stop and your desire for tobacco will cease. Your system will be as free from nicotine as the day before you took your first chew or smoke. An iron clad written guarantee to absolutely cure the tobacco habit in all its forms, or money refunded. Price $1.00 per box or 3 boxes (30 days treatment and guaranteed cure), $2.50. For sale by all druggists or will be sent by mail upon receipt of price. SEND SIX TWO CENT STAMPS FOR SAMPLE BOX. Booklets and proofs free. Eureka Chemical & Mfg Co., La Crosse, Wis.

Eureka Chemical and Mfg Co., La Crosse, Wis.
Dear Sirs—I have been a tobacco fiend for many years, and during the past two years have smoked fifteen to twenty cigars regularly every day. My whole nervous system became affected, until my physician told me I must give up the use of tobacco for the time being at least. I tried the so-called "Keeley Cure," "No-To-Bac," and various other remedies, but without success, until I accidentally learned of your "Baco-Curo." Three weeks ago to-day I commenced using your preparation, and to-day I consider myself completely cured; I am in perfect health, and the horrible craving for tobacco, which every inveterate smoker fully appreciates, has completely left me. I consider your "Baco-Curo" simply wonderful, and can fully recommend it.
Yours truly,
C. W. HORSTICK.

Mrs. George H. Kempf of Chelsea and Mrs. S. G. Ives of the same place, have been visiting friends in New York state.

A beautiful monument to the memory of the late Philip Clark, his wife and daughter, has been erected in Mt. Olivet cemetery, Chelsea, by Miss Rose Clark of Chicago. The work was done by Mr. August Neuberger and is very creditable.—Chelsea Herald.

Ever since the great blow that demolished the Ypsilanti opera house the people there have been continually dazzled with the footlights of an imaginary new theatre. They have had promise upon promise—scheme upon scheme flashed before their vision and it looks now as though they would behold the New Jerusalem coming down from heaven before they see a show in that new opera house. It is the most deceptive air castle that never was built.—Monroe Democrat.

The two most critical times in a woman's life are the times which make the girl a woman, and the woman a mother. At these times, Dr. Pierce's favorite Prescription is of incalculable value. It strengthens and invigorates the organs distinctly feminine, promotes regularity of the functions, allays irritation and inflammation, checks unnatural, exhausting drains, and puts the whole delicate organism into perfect condition. Almost all the ills of woman-kind are traceable to some form of what is known as "female complaint." There are not three cases in a hundred of woman's peculiar diseases that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will not cure.

Andrew J. Lucas died on Monday evening of Bright's disease, at his home on 13th st., aged 63 years, 4 months. Funeral services will be held at the 2d Baptist church to-day, Rev. Mr. Johnson of Ypsilanti, officiating.

The dancing season opened Monday evening at the State st. dancing academy, Nickel's Hall. There were a large number of young people in attendance and the prospects are very flattering. Mrs. Tyler furnishes the music.

The opening party at Granger's on Saturday evening was a brilliant one, and many of Mr. and Mrs. Granger's friends and former pupils passed an exceedingly pleasant evening. Music for the season will be furnished by Minnis' Society Orchestra.

The subscriptions for the Ypsilanti Underwear Co. are still being made, and the committee now have considerable hope of succeeding. If they do, they will deserve the praise of everybody in Ann Arbor, for it will be a grand thing for her business interests.

There were the largest number of visiting brothers at Fraternity Lodge F. & A. M. last Friday evening that has been their good fortune to see in many a day. It took about an hour and a half to examine the visitors, and they were from Florida on the south to California on the west and Massachusetts on the east.

Another total eclipse has been announced by astronomers which we do not find recorded with the others for 1895. It is a recent discovery and takes place Thursday night Oct. 17. The eclipse will commence at 6:55 in the evening, the moon's beauty will then slowly cover until 11:06 when the total eclipse will be on.

The annual meeting of Zion Lutheran church was held last evening and was a heated and lengthy one. George Miller was elected deacon and Michael Brann and John Walz, Sr., trustees. The resignation of L. Boes as school teacher was asked for and Rev. Max Hein, pastor of the church, was requested to hand in his resignation within four weeks.—Daily Times October 8th.

The common council met Monday evening in a lengthy and somewhat warm session. Bills were allowed amounting to $12,701.53, of which over $8,000.00 was for sewers. The Board of Public Works received its semi-monthly scoring, and many other things of a progressive nature. The Ann Arbor Water Company asked for an increase in its rate for the flushing tanks for sewers, and a committee was appointed to return thanks for the re-christening of the T. & A. R. R. to the Ann Arbor Railway Co.

"The Bible as Literature," will be Dr. Coburn's theme in the Methodist church next Sunday morning. In the evening he will speak on "The Bible as an Inspired Revelation."

We'll Post G. A. R. will have an open meeting on Tuesday evening Oct. 22d at 8 o'clock. Col. Dean and J. Q. A. Sessions will give them a description of their trip to Chickamauga.

John W. Bennett and Henry B. Dodsley have each been elected as honorary members of Fraternity Lodge F. & A. M., they having assisted the members of that lodge in various ways by their services.

The Freshman No. of The Wrinkle is a dandy—that is it is just out—the title page is a novelty in the Beardsley style of art-itecture. The Wrinkles are on every page, of which Mother Goose melodies worked over for the Freshman is not the least. It proves itself quite a barker.

The attendance at the high school has not been up to its past record this year, although about fifty new students have registered within a couple of weeks, bringing the numbers up to about those of last year. The graduating class, however, will not go above sixty this year, a considerable falling off. The lower classes are full.

The Anti-Tramp Society's annual meeting was not a success in way of attendance, but it was considered of sufficient importance to continue its existence as the work already done has been of much value to the community. You can obtain tickets of membership by calling on the treasurer, Chas. E. Hiscock, and paying the price, $1.

Saturday evening a fellow named Fred Williams stole a horse and carriage belonging to Chas. Goodspeed, and in attempting to get out of town with it, the horse became unmanageable and ran into a post, throwing Williams out. And so he was caught and landed in jail. He proves to be an old offender and will probably be tried at this term of court, unless he pelads gently.

It is gently intimated that when the truth is all known about the ferreting out and capture of Cuyler Barton, the Lyndon and Unadilla fire bug, that our Sheriff Wm. Judson, will come in for a share of the good work done. In fact it is not at all improbable that he may get the glory that all the other fellows are snatching after so lively. One thing is sure. But little credit justly belongs to any outside officers. It was all done by our own officials.

The U. of M. foot ball team scored its first victory Saturday, defeating the Orchard Lake cadets by a score of 34 to 0. The O. L. boys took their defeat good naturedly and came down town in the bus giving their yell with as much vim as if they had been victorious.

A visitor to the U. of M. will have to look very diligently, and at the same time hopelessly, about the great school of learning to find brighter pupils than are there from Northville. They are Miss Margurite Thompson, Messrs. Thad. J. Knapp, Ralph Horton, Clarence Clark, George Gibson and Royal Starkweather, all former students of the Northville high school.—Northville Record.

The University School of Music will open with an enrollment of 200, or 50 in addition to the opening number last year. It is thought that a great impetus was given to the course, on the evening of the Columbian organ dedication, when during the breathless hush of the audience, to catch the double strains of a soft symphony, some healthy fellow cracked a sneeze that could have been heard four blocks.—Monroe Democrat. Smith knows all about that sneeze. He was there.

Philip Schumacher and Edward Ryan have gone to the great west to grow up with the country.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moore of Fountain st., lost their son Ray, aged five weeks, with cholera infantum, last Thursday morning.

Miss Mae Estey has moved her millinery business to rooms over Calkins' Pharmacy on S. State st., from the Liberty st. Sager block.

Water mains are being extended on S. University avenue to Oxford st. and thence to Geddes ave. The city place two fire hydrants on this extension.

The ladies of Bethlehem church, who run the dining room on the fair grounds, cleared $184, which will be used for furnishing the new church edifice.

After the tea, to be given by the ladies of St. Andrew's church, at Harris Hall, to-morrow, Thursday evening, the Junior Auxiliary of the church will furnish some amusements.

On account of the war made on the county fair society by the W. C. T. U., the exhibition failed to make any money over and above expenses. But it pays 100 cents on the dollar all right.

An error was made in printing the season tickets for the Y. M. C. A. Lyceum course. Single admission is 35 cents instead of 25 cents as printed thereon. The correction has been made on nearly all the tickets, but some have been sold beyond reach.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. church met last Thursday evening and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President—Mrs. R. A. Beal; vice president—Mrs. W. F. Breakey; secretary—Mrs. C. A. Muma; treasurer—Mrs. C. H. Worden.

On Thursday evening last, the neighbors of Mrs. George W. Weeks, of Broadway, Northside, to the number of 80, dropped in at her house at tea time, and after seating her in a beautiful new rocker, proceeded to have a good time. It was a genuine birthday surprise for Mrs. Weeks.

Bring on the rope, while roars a shout,
Of anger far and high;
With bases full and two men out,
The villain's muffed a fly.

The Choral Union series of concerts are already being prepared.

Some of the new arrivals in the city do not seem to understand that there is an ordinance against riding bicycles on the sidewalk.

On Sunday evening next Prof. D. W. Springer will conduct a Praise Service at the regular Epworth League devotional meeting at the M. E. church.

Read about the Y. M. C. A. Lyceum Course on the first page, and then help along a worthy cause by purchasing a ticket. The result will be a favor conferred upon yourself.

It will be good news to our citizens to learn that long distance telephone wires are being put up in this city to Adrian via Saline. Now for that electric road. It will come in time.

County Treasurer Rehms is moving to Ann Arbor in order to give personal supervision to the affairs of his office.—Manchester Enterprise. That's just the sort Ann Arbor likes to have come here.

A sneak thief stole a handsome robe out of the baby cab of Mrs. Geo. Apfel one day last week, while the cab was standing on the front porch of Mrs. Eugene Mann's house on S. Fifth avenue.

On Friday evening Oct. 11 the Epworth League will give its annual fall reception to all the young people of the M. E. church and congregation. A special invitation is extended to all students and strangers.

Next Sunday the Y. M. C. A. of this city has accepted an invitation to take charge of a meeting at Northville. The boys will drive over in the morning, and in the evening a union meeting will be held in one of the churches.

Mrs. Mary W. Loomis, of Cherokee, Iowa, has been chosen to succeed Mr. Hopkins as assistant librarian of the general library of the U. of M. Mrs. Loomis was a student in '83-'84, and is a graduate of the New York State Library College, and of Lennox College, Iowa.

It is now said that the projected electric road between Ann Arbor and Detroit is all wind.—Dexter Leader. These "air" lines are numerous throughout the country, and there can be no possible objection to them. But in time there will be found to be something besides wind in this one.

It is maintained that cars and sparks will soon be flying and men killed on the trolley line between Ann Arbor and Detroit, via Ypsilanti, Sheldon, Denton, Wayne and Dearborn, for a round trip fare of "haluf a tollar."—Monroe Democrat. Now who is the maintainer? That's what we should like to know.

Several Ann Arbor citizens have lately donated $10 apiece toward corking the drainage in the United States treasury. This was for the privilege of writing messages on newspapers to save the price of a letter stamp. It hardly pays to spoil a jack knife worth a quarter, to skin a flint worth a cent.—Monroe Democrat.

Over 3,000 business men of Ann Arbor closed their places of business last Friday, for the last day of the Washtenaw county fair.—Pinckney Dispatch. There's no use of talking, Ann Arbor is a great place! Three thousand business men! Gee Whillicens! Why, yes, come to think about it, that's all right. We are all business men.

In speaking of the death of the late Judge Montague of that city, the Howell Republican remarks: "Mr. Montague during his sickness had the very best of nursing and medical attendance. Not only local physicians attended him, but Dr. McHench, of Brighton, was called, and Dr. Vaughn, of Ann Arbor. The Ann Arbor railway sent a special train over with Dr. Vaughn, Saturday, and took him back Sunday. Mr. Montague was attorney for the road."

It is understood that a gate and flagman will be ordered at the M. C. R. crossing of Fuller st. It's certainly a desirable thing.

The board of supervisors convene in annual session next Monday. There will be a larger number of new faces than usual on the board.

B. F. Herbert, brother of A. Herbert, and father of Mrs. A. J. Sweet, of this city, died very suddenly last Friday at his home in Muir.

To-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock the Womans' Christian Temperance Union will meet in the Y. W. C. A. rooms over the post office.

J. H. Cutting has purchased the fine lot of E. B. Hall on Hill st., next to Prof. Bogle's, and will erect a beautiful residence thereon at once.

J. Q. A. Sessions, of this city, is secretary and treasurer for the 7th Mich. Cavalry Association, that holds its reunion at Saginaw next Friday.

Miss MacMonagle is conducting a class in elocution for the Y. W. C. A. again this year. The fall term commenced Monday evening in their rooms over the P. O.

The bass solo rendered by Joseph Nelson Krolik of Detroit, at St. Andrew's church last Sunday evening, was an extremely fine one, and pleased the audience immensely.

The annual bazaar of the A. M. E. church will be held in the lecture room of the church this week, commencing to-morrow, Thursday evening. This society is deserving and needs your help.

The effort to lower the overhead bridge of the M. C. R. R. on Beakes st., and raise the river bridge on the same street, is said to be in a fair way to meet with success. Both are desirable changes.

A class in vocal music will be organized at the Young Womans' Christian Association rooms Thursday p. m. at 7:30. Miss Lucy Cole has been secured as teacher of this class. For further information, inquire at the rooms.

Bert Cahoon brought into the Courier office Saturday a large bunch of ripened red raspberries he had picked about a mile out of town by the roadside. If Jack Frost will give us a little more time we will get two crops a year.

The work of Prof. R. H. Kempf as choir master of St. Andrew's church, has already begun to show. The choir last Sunday did excellent work both morning and evening. The evening service will have especial attention paid to its musical parts hereafter.

Last week the Courier spoke of Toledo as the proper place for the annual meet of the L. A. W. Allow us to urge upon all wheelmen the desirability of holding the meet there. It is easy of access, has 75 miles of the best streets in America, and elegant macadamized roads in surrounding country, has one of the best local bicycle clubs in the United States, and is a city that is fully alive to the wants and desires of all wheelmen. Vote for Toledo.

The great interest shown in the series of Faculty Concerts in the University School of Music justifies one in saying that the concerts are among the great attractions of the season. Lovers of music will be pleased to know that the first concert of the season in this series will be given on Thursday evening Oct. 10 in Frieze Memorial Hall. There will be five concerts during the first semester. Tickets are now on sale at the usual price. As the number is limited it would be well to secure tickets as soon as possible. The Choral Union Series this year will be more brilliant than ever and will consist of at least nine and possibly ten concerts.

The Unity Club have made up their slate for the season and offer a series of 20 entertainments for $1. The series will be opened by a concert by the Ypsilanti Orchestral Society, Mr. Oscar Garelsen conductor. The course will include a lecture by Mr. Edward Waldo Emerson, of Concord, Mass., illustrated. A lecture by Hon. E. P. Allen of Ypsilanti, upon "The Greatest American." Two or more lectures by James Kay Applebee of Boston. A lecture by Rev. John Snyder, of St. Louis, Mo., on "The Evolution of Humor," one by Rev. Lee S. McCollister, of Detroit, one by Prof. Charles E. Greene, of the University. A Grand Army Evening under the direction of W. K. Childs, etc. It will be a very interesting course.

Lagrippe.

During the prevalence of the Grippe the past season it was a noticeable fact that those who depended upon Dr. King's New Discovery, not only had a speedy recovery, but escaped all of the troubles after effects of the malady. This remedy seems to have a peculiar power in effecting rapid cures not only in cases of La Grippe, but in all Diseases of Throat, Chest and Lungs, and has cured cases of Asthma and Hay Fever of long standing. Try it and be convinced. It won't disappoint. Free Trial Bottles at Eberbach & Son's Drug Store.

During the war the chaplain of one Indiana regiment very often preached to the boys from the text, "If God be with us, who can be against us?" This was so often repeated that one of the boys—of course he was an Irishman—shouted the reply: "If yez raley must know, sor, it's the devil and Jiff Davie."

Be Not Deceived.

The experience of the Speer N. J. Wine Co. after a continuous career of more than forty years in Grape Culture and Wine making has resulted in the production of Grape Brandy that rivals Hennessy and Martell of Cognac. A fine, delicate fifteen year old Grape Brandy is rare; their Clima vintage of 1876 is becoming celebrated among Europeans who appreciate a pure article. Druggists sell it.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Temperance and the Home.

(Conducted by the W. C. T. U.)

The floral emblem of the World's W. C. T. U. is the water lily. The roots of this blossom are in the mud but its white radiance comes from its passion for the sunshine, and the home finds in it a true emblem because only as the sunshine of love and truth keep its atmosphere wholesome and pure can little children hope to grow up according to the law of God.

THE FRUIT OF THE SALOON.
Why does the Woman's Christian Temperance Union wage its relentless war against the saloon? Because it invades our homes, it destroys our loved ones, it is a menace to our country, it hinders the coming of Christ's kingdom. Sometimes the mother who lives in a quiet country home imagines her boy is safe. No dramshop is near to lure him with its witchery of music, and its painted screens that shut in the hideousness that lurks in the bottles and decanters behind a few bars.

But only a few years, and her boy is grown to manhood. On either hand, only a few miles away, is some great city, with its numberless pitfalls spread for unwary feet, and the ones who oftenest stumble into them are these same boys. Many a young man reared in the country has become so debased by rum as almost to forget the home of his childhood, with its meadow grasses and waving grain and mellow fruits. As almost to forget the little church and Sunday School, and the Father, who gave His only begotten Son, and the Christ who died to save him.

It seems strange that this can be, but to my mind it is not one-half so strange as the fact that every sober, industrious, intelligent, right-minded man and woman in this great land is not thoroughly awake to the peril of their homes and dear ones, and arrayed against their deadliest foe.

You talk of "hard times." If the $1,000,000,000 that each year go into the till of the rum seller, could be placed in the legitimate channels of commerce and trade, there would be no "hard times." If the 100,000 who sink each year into dishonored graves, drunkard's graves, with the 100,000 just back of them ready to take their places, could be clear-headed, kind-hearted, steady, industrious citizens, that they would be it the evil of drink could be put away, they would be both producers and consumers, and their families would be fed and clothed and housed instead of buying beer they would buy beef and mutton and pork, instead of buying whisky they would buy flour and vegetables. They would patronize the clothing house and the shoe store and the merchant and the grocer. We would not be taxed to support an army of constables and sheriffs and lawyers and courts. Our country would not be dotted over with almshouses and work houses, reformatories and prisons, for there would be no wrecked, wretched, non-producing multitude to fill them.

Is this to go on forever, each year bringing in a large harvest of pauperism and crime, and disease, and death, and everlasting woe?

Our Foreign Trade in Cattle.

The raid upon the markets of the world that has been made by American cattle growers seems to have fallen short of expectations during the current fiscal year. From returns of the Bureau of Statistics of the Treasury Department we find that last July we shipped 14,302 head less than in the preceding August, the total decrease being 32,915 head for the two months of this year and the money loss being $20,887,538, as can be seen from the following figures:

FOREIGN TRADE IN CATTLE.
	July.	Aug.	Total.
1884	41,429	35,414	76,844
1885	22,867	21,112	43,979
Loss, 1885	18,562	14,302	32,915
	Value
1884	$3,752,644	$3,210,282	$7,062,926
1885	2,171,351	2,064,137	4,235,488
Loss, 1885	$1,581,293	$1,386,245	$2,887,538

We did not look for such returns as these. They are hardly in keeping with the promised capture of the world's markets. We surely cannot be getting a tight grasp upon them when we are losing at the rate of nearly $1,500,000 a month in our foreign trade in cattle alone.—American Protectionist.

She Was Equal to Him.

Of all the expedients devised by debtors, whether by Micawber or Murgor, few have been more simple and effectual than that of a Mrs. Martin in San Francisco recently. She had ordered a ton of coal delivered at her residence. The coal dealers had not yet received their pay for previous tons, so they instructed their driver to take the coal to her house, go to the door, present the previous bill, and refuse to deliver the coal until the bill was paid. He did so. The lady looked a little surprised, but an ominous glitter came into her eye when she heard her ultimatum. But she repressed her feelings, and suavely invited the coal man to "step into the parlor while she went to get the money." The coal heaver was rather grumpy, and did not seem exactly to fit the furniture, but he accepted her invitation, stepped into the parlor, and Mrs. Martin disappeared. Many minutes passed. The coal-heaver became impatient; but the lady did not return. Finally he heard the crash of coal. He looked out of the window. To his horror, he saw his coal being unloaded by another man. He tried the door, but it was locked, and the grimy coal-heaver grimly sat down and waited. After the coal was unloaded the lady appeared and let him out. There was a triumphant twinkle in Mrs. Martin's eyes as she told him to "call again with the bill."—San Francisco Argonaut.

WILL VIRTUE BE REWARDED?

A West Point Cadet Who Compelled His Colonel to Obey the Regulations.

The establishment of the color line in the West Point summer encampment recently gave rise to a good story on the commandant of cadets, Colonel Samuel Mills. The regulations prescribe that everyone crossing the color line or passing the colors should salute by lifting his cap with the right hand and placing it upon his left shoulder. Colonel Mills neglected this important ceremony not long ago and the sentry on duty promptly stopped him and compelled him to obey the regulation. The commandant next day sent for this cadet, a third class man, who, by the way, comes from Indiana, and talked to him long and earnestly. The young man refused to divulge the substance of the interview, but the general opinion is that the cadet will be given corporal's chevrons in the fall, when changes are made in the officers of the battalion.

Andrew Mitchell, the celebrated chemist, formerly professor in chemistry in the University of Michigan, writes: I have made a careful examination of Gessler's Magic Headache wafers and find them free from Antipyrine, Quinine, Morphine Chloral or any harmful narcotics. I cheerfully recommend them for headache and neuralgia. Physicians and druggists everywhere say they are the only remedy we have ever found that will positively cure where all others failed. 25 cents at A. E. Mummary's.

Ben Stillman, an old miser, living in Marion county, Ala., lost the savings of a lifetime a few nights ago. He had opened a box in which he kept his fortune, about $5,000, and was counting the money on a table with the intention of depositing it in a bank, an attempt having recently been made to rob him. While thus engaged he imagined he heard some one trying to effect an entrance into his house, and, rising suddenly, he overturned the table, on which, beside his greenbacks, was a kerosene lamp. The lamp exploded, burning the money, the dwelling, and all of its contents, excepting the miser, who barely escaped with his life, being so badly burned in trying to save his treasure it is thought he will die.

GOOD SHORT STORIES FOR THE OLD HEROES.

The Major's Story—Slang of the Barracks—Military Service Balloons—Lincoln's Hand—Jeff Davis Would Not Be Pleased.

"AAL, yes," said the Major, unfolding his knife, and shaving a slice from his chair, "I came from a family of purty long life—the longest, I reckon, 'round hyar.

"My gran'father lived to a mighty old age—

He died at two hundred an' four—" But the Major stopped short in his yarn at this stage.

For the Judge entered in at the door.

"Now, Major," the Judge very gravely remarked,

"I knew your grand'father well; He was just eighty-three when his spirit embarked

For that bourne" where the good spirits dwell.

For a moment the Major had nothing to say,

But finally rose to his feet; "He died at two hundred and four Broadway"—

Then the Judge moseyed up and stood treat.

Military Service Balloons.

Balloons for warfare are a feature of up to date modern improvements. The big European armies have a well-organized balloon corps, and it is interesting to know that Uncle Sam is doing something in the same line. That this government is interested in the air fights of science is shown by the experiments, not only at the Weather Bureau, but in the Signal Service. Out West, at a fort near Denver, the government has a balloon in the course of construction which is to be used as an aid in war. The shape is that of an ordinary balloon, but a drag-rope will connect it with the ground. It will carry several officers, whose work will be to watch the enemy's movements, study the disposition and strength of his forces, to make photographs of the field and get all information possible.

An instrument called the telephone-telegraph, will be taken in this balloon, and by means of the wire, a conversation can be carried on between the occupants of the basket and the general on the field below. Telegraphing can also be done by the same instrument, which has recently been perfected by an officer of this branch of the government service. Bicycles are used by the Signal Service men and on a coil of the wheel the wire is run and paid out as the machine progresses. Thus, when the balloon has started up, the officer on the wheel rushes to the tent of the General and the telephone wire is carried along and let out till the tent is reached. This work makes direct communication between the officers on the field and the man in the air, who from his station has a complete view of the enemy and can thus give important information to his superiors. The general commanding thus gives his orders from absolute knowledge of the enemy's strength, and the disposition of his men. This will be of incalculable value to the mode of fighting in the future.

The balloon, of course, is not designed to fight, but to be a watch-dog and keep a sharp eye on the enemy. In the event of a shot from the foe, the balloon would be so high up as to make its effect uncertain. But even if it were struck there is attached to the top a parachute, which would enable the officers to descend safely into their own camp. This parachute is part of the silken web of the balloon—woven into the top so that it is always spread and ready for action. Should a shot pierce the bag the silk would collapse, but the upper frame which is already a parachute, would simply let the car slowly down to the earth. The French Government is said to have a fine balloon built for use in war. It is kept in a large garden, and no one is allowed to see it, nor has any drawing been made or photograph taken. It is steered as readily as a ship. It is expected that it will be on exhibition in the coming World's Fair in Paris. The French balloon is said to be a cigar-shaped envelope, within which is the gas and a small bag, which is to be pumped full of air. An electric motor drives in the rear a screw propeller. It is said that the ship will be able to make a speed of at least twenty-five miles an hour.

Slang of the Barracks.

The British soldier uses a vernacular of his own, which must appear strange to outsiders. For instance, he calls his bed cot the doss, and when he retires to it he goes bed-filling. His food has curious names. Bread is krotty, and pudding with raisins is known as spotted dog. When he is only supplied with bread and tea for breakfast, he says he has slingers. The gray-bark is his shirt, presumably from its color, jack-boots are John shoes, and a helmet is a war hat. Kit inspection once a month he calls rag fair. The sergeant major is the bloke, the quartermaster sergeant the quarter bloke, a shoeing smith is shoeey, the tailor stitchy, or snip, and a sergeant is No. 1. The medical staff corps are poultice wallahs or linseed laners, and the doctor or hospital he calls black strap. If he thinks a chum is exaggerating—chancing his arm he calls it—he whistles, and that shuts the romancer up. The reveille he terms the rouse. If he is put into the guard room he goes to the clink, and if he gets cells he is said to have got his hair clipped. His exercise is his cheese knife, and sword exercise is wind slicing. Riding drill is bumping drill, and physical drill is monkey motions.

As Abraham Lincoln called them, do not care to argue about their ailments. What they want is a medicine that will cure them. The simple, honest statement, "I know that Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me," is the best argument in favor of this medicine, and this is what many thousands voluntarily say.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO.

Our Great Colleges Were Not Such Institutions as They Are Now.

Dartmouth College consisted of a wooden building 150 feet long, 50 feet wide and 36 feet high.

At Dartmouth English grammar and arithmetic were text-books in the sophomore year.

Princeton, the greatest Presbyterian college, was a huge stone edifice, its faculty consisting of a president, vice-president, one professor, two masters of languages and seventy students.

Harvard University had four brick buildings; the faculty consisted of a president and six professors, and in its halls thronged 130 to 160 students.

Yale boasted of one brick building and a chapel "with a steeple 125 feet high." The faculty was a president, a professor of divinity and three tutors.

The greatest Episcopal college in the United States was William and Mary's. It was under royal and state patronage, and was, therefore, more substantially favored than most of our American schools. At this time, it is said in a serious old state report, the college was a building of three stories, "like a brick kiln," and had thirty gentlemen students.

The students lodged in dormitories, ate at the "commons" and were satisfied with what we would consider prison diet. Breakfast, a small can of coffee, a biscuit, about an ounce of butter. Dinner, one pound of meat, two potatoes and some vegetables. Supper, bread and milk. The only unlimited supply furnished was cider, which was passed in a can from mouth to mouth. The days were spoken of as boil day, roast day, stew day, etc.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, taken at this season, will make you feel strong and vigorous and keep you from sickness later on.

GUARANTEE

THE OWEN ELECTRIC BELTS AND APPLIANCES INSURE TO THE SICK THESE GREAT POINTS OF ADVANTAGE OVER ALL IMITATORS

The Electric Current can be immediately felt, although soothed to the most sensitive. The strength of the current is under the complete control of the wearer, so much so that a child may be treated and cured by the same power of Belt necessary for the strongest man.

It can be changed from positive to negative current in a moment. They have and are curing thousands of cases of Rheumatism, Chronic Diseases and Nervous Affections in man and woman (from any cause) where long continued medical treatment failed to cure.

NO MEDICINES ARE NECESSARY. Avoid all cheap (so-called) Electric Belts and fraudulent imitations of our Electric Belts and Appliances, as these are an imposition, upon the suffering.

THE OWEN ELECTRIC TRUSS is the most retentive and curative Truss made for the radical cure of Rupture.

Inclose six cents and send for our Large Illustrated Catalogue in English, German, Swedish or Norwegian languages; containing medical facts, sworn statements of cures made and descriptions of Belts and Appliances. Address
