The Verdict

Said Mr. M—the other day: "I want one of your seamless hot-water bottles that you warrant. I had one of them and it lasted six months with constant use. I bought two at —'s and they gave out very quickly."

We can give you the man's name if you want it. These bottles will last two or three years with ordinary use.

FULL FIGURES FROM THE CITY

The Deestrick Skule a Success—A Church Collection—A Sensational Scene in Court—A Pertinent Question Etc.

Results of Town Meeting—

The results of the local elections held in the various townships and wards on Monday last, while not fully up to republican expectations as to supervisors, was abundantly so in other respects. The republicans carry this city by an average plurality of about 200, and a majority, subtracting the prohibition vote of 150, of 50. This is quite a change from the many years that the democrats more than reversed these figures.

In the 4th ward of this city the republicans elected their supervisor by 2 plurality after a very lively and pretty contest. In the democratic rock-ribbed 2d, the republicans made a break in the wall sufficient to capture the fort, and for the first time in history the 2d will be represented on both the city council and the county board of supervisors by republicans. The 3d ward this year puts in a clean republican ticket by fine majorities.

In Lima, although it has been a democratic town, the republicans hoped to win but lost by 1 vote. In Sylvan local business differences and jealousies worked against the republicans and turned the town over to the democracy, and defeated Mr. Gilbert for the first time in his life.

Saline speaks with no uncertain voice. Ed. Hauser is re-elected by 94 majority, and the entire republican ticket comes through with him handsomely.

In York Supervisor Davenport saved himself by 3 votes, but the republicans elect the rest of the ticket, which is a great gain for the republicans.

Scio elects the democratic ticket, except treasurer, to which office Jay Keith was again chosen by 17 majority.

Manchester returns a democratic supervisor again.

Ypsilanti city re-elects Mayor Wells and all republican officials.

Lack of space and time prevents giving a complete list of township officers elected, which will appear in the next issue.

County Board of Supervisors—

The returns from the town meeting Monday, indicates that the board of supervisors will be divided politically, 14 republicans and 15 democrats. The men chosen from the different townships and wards are as follows:

Here's a Question for the B. O. P. W.

Ed. Courier:
A lady patron of this paper living on E. Liberty st., is anxious to know if she or the city, owns the side walk in front of her house. A few days since she was ordered to repair one end of her walk that day, and before she could engage a man to do the work, the same day, a person came without her consent, and after being ordered to desist from repairing it, went on and did such a useless job, that it had to be done over again by the owner. Can the city tax the owner for that repairing?

REPUBLICANS ON TOP.

The Result in the City Very Satisfactory to That Party.

Monday was a fine election day, clear as a bell, but the air was quite chilly, making the candidates hustle to keep warm. The vote polled was very light in all of the wards, with perhaps the 2d and 3d excepted, where there was a lively contest over the ward officers. For the first time in history, almost, the 2d ward has chosen republican officials, which certainly indicates that there is a change of sentiment among our German friends relative to party politics, and that they are returning into the ranks of the republican party where they have always belonged.

The official figures are as follows:

CITY TREASURER'S SALARY.
The vote of the various wards on raising the salary of the city treasurer from $100 to $600 stood as follows:

First ward	Yes	145—83
	No	112
Second ward	Yes	134
	No	237—113
Third ward	Yes	99—39
	No	60
Fourth ward	Yes	99—66
	No	33
Fifth ward	Yes	48
	No	50—2
Sixth ward	Yes	90—26
	No	64
Seventh ward	Yes	62
	No	67—5

These figure up 667 votes for, and 623 against, making a majority of 44 for the raise.

Can Hold Two Offices—

The Daily Times of last Thursday takes the ground that John R. Miner can not hold the office of member of board of public works and that of supervisor, because the charter provides that a member of the board shall not hold an elective city office at the same time.

The office of a supervisor is not a city office. It is a county office provided for in the constitution of the state of Michigan.

Sec. 6. of Article X. of the constitution reads as follows:

"A board of supervisors consisting of one from each organized township shall be established in each county" etc.,

Sec. 7 says:

"Cities shall have such representation in the board of supervisors of the counties in which they may be situated as the legislature may direct"

It seems to be plain enough that our charter does not prevent Mr. Miner from holding both offices.

Neither is the other office which he holds that of a member of the school board, a city office. It is an elective office to be sure, but a school district office, which includes more than the city.

An Easter Collection—

At St. Andrew's church of this city last Sunday the Easter offering or what is termed the "loose collection," amounted to $138.75. It consisted of 647 different pieces of money, as follows:

No.	Denomination.	Amt.
1	$10.00	$ 10.00
4	5.00	20.00
3	2.00	6.00
38	1.00	38.00
30	.50	15.00
96	.25	23.75
117	.10	11.70
243	.05	12.15
115	.01	1.15
647		$138.75

This did not average one piece of money to each one present, by some 300 or more. And taking out the extra number of pieces put in by the same person, it would bring it down to about one piece of money to every two persons present.

A great many people go to our churches on Easter or some such occasion, not for any good they may get from the service, but merely out of curiosity. They go early, want the best seats in the church, crowd out the regular members of the congregation who pay for its support, and feel offended when the plate is passed to them for a contribution.

Of course churches should be free, but they are dependent upon the generosity of the Christian people who worship therein for their support, just the same, and those who attend on these days ought to be willing to contribute their mite.

It will probably be many a day, however, before the class of people who do these things will ever do differently.

There are people also, and quite well to do people, who attend service regularly, who never contribute one cent toward supporting the church they attend. Would you believe it? Well, 'tis true.

Annual Parish Meeting—

At the annual meeting of St. Andrews parish held Tuesday morning, there was a goodly attendance, and the following vestry was chosen for the ensuing year: Senior Warden—Prof. Bradley M. Thompson.

Junior Warden—Geo. H. Pond. Vestrymen—Prof. Chas. S. Denison, Henry J. Brown, Judge Edward D. Kinne, Prof. George W. Patterson, Moses Seabolt, Dr. Fleming Carrow, Dr. Arthur C. Nichols, Harry W. Douglass.

At a meeting of the new vestry direct following, Prof. Denison was re-elected secretary and Henry J. Brown treasurer.

The annual report of the treasurer showed that all expenses of the parish had been fully met, and that there was a balance in the treasury. The new envelop and free seat system has proven a success.

Rev. Dr. Boone, president of the Normal School, will deliver the address at the closing exercises of the Y. M. C. A. night school, which will occur now in about two weeks. The other exercises will be of an entertaining character and will show what has been accomplished in this work.

The Prize School of the County—

The session of the Deestrick Skule, held at the High School Hall last Friday evening, was a great success. The audience, however, experienced much difficulty in hearing some of the scholars, especially those of a diffident and retiring disposition and temperament, which included most of the large infants with small voices.

Some of the antics were a little overacted perhaps, and yet many of them brought to mind the old red school house of a half century ago, its ever pleasant memories. The striking feature of this session was singing, while in reality the one great and all-consuming pride of the country school in those days was not singing, but spelling and reading. They used to read and spell twice or three times a day, and then at the end of each week the whole school would choose sides and spell down.

The singing of this skule was more than terrific. It was simply horrible, and had no equal in any school ever heretofore attended by any one of the audience. The popular and familiar airs of "Three Blind Mice," "John Brown had a Little Injun," "Scotland's Burning, Fire! Fire! Cast on Water!" etc., were rendered in such an effective manner as to visibly effect, and at times startle the entire audience. The melody of Master Springer was so striking that it struck a seat filled with spectators, at the other end of the hall in the gallery, and knocked it down, which caused some confusion at the time, but it hurt no one, and defectually proved the power and compass of his voice beyond question. We understand that he has been engaged already for the anvil chorus in the May Festival. (Prof. Stanley is not slow, you see, when musical prodigies or Paderewskis are about).

The sweet and harmonious quartette, consisting of Masters Johnson, Rose, Kitson and Booth, rendered a touching version of "Mary's Lamb" so effectively that the audience could fairly see the lamb and hear the plaintive bleats. It actually took the wool off Master Johnson's head. The encore to which these little fellows responded was really a Choral Union Symphony in black and white.

Trilby passed the water beautifully, and she, with her schoolmate and chum Serephine Key, acted the part of country school girls of years ago to perfection.

In the estimation of the visitors the girls carried off the prize in merit for speaking pieces. Little Miss Dicken, who had studied elocution abroad, gave "Barbara Fritchie," superbly, while Clementha Lazell read her composition in a way that was demure and at the same time deceptive.

The creme de la cream of the evening was Master C. Gustavus Darling's oleaginous composition on "The Cow." One could fairly see the lacteal fluid streaming from the youth's eyes, the butter glistening from his lips and on his cheeks, while the buttermilk curds played tag on his chin as he told in words of two syllables about the female bovine. His manner was childlike and bland, so much so that one could hardly believe that it was he. The art of the professional actor had been used to such an immoderate degree of perfection, that the disguise was incomprehensible. Pinkerton himself could not have guessed it. It was noticed however that this cow composition had no visible effects on the acoustic (pronounced a-cow-stic) properties of the auditorium.

The dunce—well, it was he. No school boy ever enacted the part half so well.

One thing quite noticeable was the absentees when the teacher called the roll.

As an old-time pedagogue, one who had been emaciated and had his days

America has far more attraction for a German emigrant than the colonies of Germany in Africa. Thus far only 700 Germans, including 250 officials, have taken up their residence in Cameroon and German East Africa. Even English emigrants, by a large majority, prefer the United States to the English colonies.

Credit for a good deed, even if it comes from a bad source, should be given. The common council of Chicago has done a good deed. It has passed an ordinance protecting children under 14 years of age from maltreatment, and from overwork and abuse. The law is aimed mainly at the 6,000 children under that age employed in what are known as sweat shops in that city. The law also applies to the employment in streets or alleys, in saloons, playing on musical instruments, rope or wire walking, dancing, begging, peddling, etc., and the fine is from $5 to $100. It is now hoped that the police of Chicago can be induced to enforce the law.

Here is a paragraph from the pen of Josiah Strong, in his book, The New Era, that may be well for everybody to read, and especially those people and organizations of people who are seeking to better the world by being Christians: "Men who seek kingdoms or think to transform society, aim to acquire influence in the high places of the earth. Christ began with the lowly, not as the partisan of a class, but because he saw what men are only now beginning to see, that in order to uplift society we must commence at the bottom. He perceived what the world did not discover until nearly two thousand years later, that the so-called 'common' people are the most important to the nation and to the world. It is because Christ recognized the value of human nature, aside from position or possession, that Lowell called him 'the first true democrat that ever breathed.'"

Science is "knowing how." The only secret about Scott's Emulsion is years of science. When made in large quantities and by improving methods, an emulsion must be more perfect than when made in the old-time way with mortar and pestle a few ounces at a time. This is why Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil never separates, keeps sweet for years, and every spoonful is equal to every other spoonful.

In other emulsions you are liable to get an uneven benefit—either an over or under dose. Get Scott's. SCOTT'S EMULSION has been endorsed by the medical profession for twenty years. (Ask your doctor.) This is because it is always palatable—always uniform—always contains the purest Norwegian Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

The Maltabes will have to be subdued, of course, not only because they have been killing white people, but also because there is gold in their country which the world needs for the uses of civilization.

Montana's production of gold last year amounted to $4,327,040, an increase over 1894 of $676,000, which is a heavy percentage. It is the same story the world over and a feature of finance which economists are watching with interest.

On account of agricultural depression in England, the income of the Dean of Canterbury has declined from $10,000 to $3,900, and that of the canons from $5,000 to $1,950. The British clergy are still able to live, but the farmers have had enough of free trade and are emigrating.

It is estimated by good mathematicians that 200,000 individuals control fully 70 per cent. of the national wealth. In other words, 3-10ths of 1 per cent. of the population control 70 per cent. of the property. Put in another way: 1 man in 300 receives $70 out of every $100, and 299 men out of every 100 receive $30, which on an average would be about 10 cents for each. People who have the faculty for accumulating money will always control the wealth of nations, as they always have done since the days of Croesus and before. But, how many names of men live in history because of that? Take our own nation, and our own times. The names of Lincoln, Douglas, Grant, Sherman, Blaine, etc., all men of little wealth, will live as long as the nation stands, while in but a few generations the Goulds, the Vanderbilts, the Mills, the Goulets, the Astors, etc., will be unknown among the masses. Perhaps in the wealthy circles these names may exist a greater length of time because their manly may extend along down several generations, but when the family dies out their name dies also.

Some Perinent Questions.

Ed. Courier: Being present at the High School Hall during the "Deestrick Skule" performance, the thought came to me when the seat broke down in the gallery, what an awful thing a panic would be in that place. The modes of exit from the hall seem cramped and cluttered, and if a cry of fire or any other scare should create a panic, which would be a horrible loss of life, and injury there would result.

Allow me to suggest to the school board the erection of at least one pair of outside stairs, on the north side of the building, similar to those erected at the University Hall. Perhaps another pair could be put up at some other point to better insure the safety of an audience therein. As a citizen and tax-payer I have one question to ask: Should such a panic occur, and loss of life result, as it surely would, would a suit against the school district for erecting a public hall without a sufficient number of exits, result in a verdict against the district? What do you think about it? Would the tax payers find themselves in a costly dilemma? What is true of the High School hall is doubly true of Newberry Hall. A panic would be a terrible catastrophe there. It seems to the writer that the lack of facilities for getting out of that hall ought to receive the attention of the building inspectors or other proper authorities of the city. Is there not a state law governing this point?

This communication is written, not in a spirit of fault finding, but to call attention to a defect in the construction of these buildings that may lead to serious consequences. CITIZEN.

A Soft Answer.

Young Sloam was ever noted for his perfect breeding, and though as a college student he was sometimes a trifle the worse for a late supper, he never forgot to be true to his code. On one such occasion, after a most determined effort to enter a house which he believed his own, he was met at the door by the scantily attired master of the mansion with information as to his whereabouts, and the added news that the householder had a sick wife and child upstairs who had been disturbed. Sloam made abject apologies, and departed; but his home seemed to elude him, and again the same irate householder was brought to his door by Sloam's knocks for admission. "Didn't I tell you this was my house?" cried the indignant man. "And don't you remember that my wife and child are ill?" "I remember perfectly," answered Sloam, sobered for the moment, "and I merely returned, sir, to ask how they were getting along."—Harper's Magazine for March.

Why

Nerves are weak, many people say, and yet they do not seem to know that they are literally starving their nerves. Weak, pale, thin blood cannot give proper sustenance—that is why you are nervous, tired, exhausted. The cure for this condition is to purify, vitalize and enrich your blood. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla fairly and faithfully, and the rich, red blood, which it makes, will soon feed the nerves the elements of true strength they require; they will cease their agitation and will resume their proper place—being under the control instead of controlling the brain and body. Read Miss Bartley's letter:

"I want to express my gratitude for what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. My health has been very poor for three years, due to trouble with my

I was nervous, had pains in my back. I cannot tell what I suffered. My eyesight became affected and I was so dependent I did not have any interest in life. I had two physicians, but my complaints became worse. I was told that I was affected with Bright's disease. A relative urged me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I did so and in a short time I began to notice a change in my condition. Things began to appear brighter, my eyes improved and Outing for April has caught the sunshine of the bright spring days.

Among many pleasant features of an excellent number are two complete stories: "Gluck Auf," by Jean Potter Rudd, and "From Out the Ruins," by Mary B. Goodwin. The first is a story of Tyrolean peasant life, while the second tells of a Southern romance, and what came of it. "A Good Old Fox Hunt" is one of Ed. W. Sandy's characteristic yarns of the field.

"Hunting With Beages," by Bradford S. Turpin, describes the many valuable qualities of the popular small hound. A paper upon "Model Yachts," by Franklyn Bassford, will be of great value to the amateur designer, and "Yachting on Frisco Bay," by Arthur Inkersley, reveals the present situation in Southwestern waters. The illustrations are up to the usual high standard.

Theatre Toilettes' reception gowns, marvellous spring, hats children's frocks, and everything bewitching and appropriate to the season, will be shown in illustration and description in the number of Harper's Bazaar issued on April 11th. A striking and timely paper on "Woman's Student Life at Oxford," by Cynthia Barnard will be a feature of the number.

Pure blood is the safeguard of health. Keep the blood pure with Hood's Sarsaparilla if you would always be well.

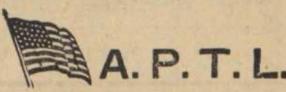

A CONFIDENTIAL CHAT

between two men or women generally develops the fact that one or both are troubled by sickness of some kind. One man is all right except his rheumatism, another has a "slight touch" of dyspepsia, another has bilious headaches, and another is too nervous to sleep well. What's to be done about it? The situation is serious. Little things have a way of getting big. Big diseases are bad things. Sleeplessness brings irritable nerves, loss of flesh, loss of appetite. Sleepless people soon get their bodies into such a condition that disease germs find it easy to lodge there and propagate. People die from the aggravation of an aggregation of little things. The more promptly a disease or disorder is met the more quickly it is cured. Most all sickness starts in the stomach, liver or lungs. Rheumatism, scrofula, eczema, consumption, come about because insufficient, impure or impoverished blood is present. The diseased blood finds the weakest spot in the body and a local symptom appears. If the impurity is supplanted with good, rich, red, healthy corpuscles, the disease will have nothing to feed on. If the proper cleansing medicine is sent to the seat of the trouble, it will force out the germs and repair the damage done. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a cleansing, purifying medicine, a blood enricher, a nerve strengthener. It is an efficient tonic, aids digestion, creates healthy appetite and healthy flesh. It does not make people "fat." It makes them strong. It makes useful flesh—solid muscle. It will cure any sickness that has its source in the digestive organs, or through them in the blood.

The Cook Book issued by the King's Daughters of Northville is a publication of a great deal of merit, and is selling well too, as we judge by this from the Record of that village: "And still the orders for the King's Daughter's cook books continue to pour in. The ladies have a few books left yet and are busily supplying the demand as fast as possible."

DON'T STOP TOBACCO. IT'S INJURIOUS TO STOP SUDDENLY and don't be imposed upon by buying a remedy that requires you to do so, as it is nothing more than a substitute. In the sudden stoppage of tobacco you must have some stimulant, and in most cases, the effect of the stimulant, be it opium, morphine, or other opiates, leaves a far worse habit contracted.

Office of THE PIONEER PRESS COMPANY, C. W. HORNICK, Supr., St. Paul, Minnesota, Sept. 7, 1894. Dear Sirs—I have been a tobacco fiend for many years, and during the past two years have smoked fifteen to twenty cigars regularly every day. At Any Cost.

In wrath and tears Edith Howlett had gone to bed. She had been tucked in once, given a drink twice, kissed good-night three times, and the lamp had been extinguished, but the spark of rebellion still burned in her childish soul.

"Mamma" she cried, "Go to sleep, Edith," her mother said sternly. "I shall not come in there again."

"I want a drink, mamma," Edith pleaded.

"You've had two drinks already. Now go to sleep."

There was a brief silence, and then Edith tried again.

"Mamma, come and kiss me good-night."

"You've been kissed good-night, dear and I shall not come in again, so go to sleep at once like a good girl."

There was another pause, while the lonely child cudgelled her little brain for a new expedient.

"Mamma," she cried, at last, "please come in; I'm so hungry."

"You cannot have anything to eat to-night, and if I come in there again," the mother said, with rising cholera, "it will be to give you a good spanking!"

There was a longer pause, and just as it began to look as if the evening's battle were over, the child's voice was heard again.

"Mamma," she pleaded, "I'm so lonely in here. Please come in and spank me!"—Harper's Magazine for March.

Spring Time.

Is when nearly everyone feels the need of some blood purifying, strength invigorating and health producing medicine. The real merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla is the reason of its wide spread popularity. Its unequalled success is its best recommendation. The whole system is susceptible to the most good from a medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla taken at this time, and we would lay special stress upon the time and remedy, for history has it recorded that delays are dangerous. The remarkable success achieved by Hood's Sarsaparilla and the many words of praise it has received, make it worthy of your confidence. We ask you to give this medicine a fair trial.

Saw Him Fed.

Contrary to general belief, Munchausen is not dead, or he must live in the persons of some of the continental tourists who meet around the Metropole and the Victoria. They repeat this conversation of one of those enterprising but prevaricating end of the century explorers: "I visited Russia, Germany, Austria, Italy."

"Indeed! So you saw Venice?"

"Well, I rather guess I did."

"Did you see the lion of St. Mark?"

"Of course I did. Why, I saw him fed."—Washington Post.

Major Handy's Estimate.

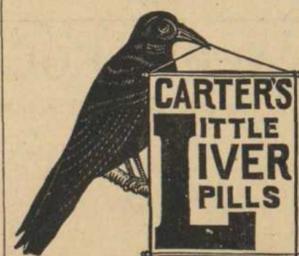

Chicago Times-Herald: Until lately, while regarding McKinley's nomination as assured, so far as anything in the political future could be assured, I have thought that his nomination would not take place until the second ballot. But, going over every state with care, comparing claims, weighing probabilities, looking at movements going on below the surface and giving the ground swell for McKinley its natural effect, I have come to the conclusion that the first ballot will make him the nominee. Here is the way I figure it out:

PROBABLE VOTES FOR MCKINLEY.

Alabama	16	North Dakota	6
Arkansas	16	Ohio	46
California	10	Oregon	8
Florida	8	Pennsylvania	16
Georgia	13	South Carolina	9
Illinois	30	South Dakota	4
Indiana	30	Tennessee	24
Kansas	20	Texas	10
Louisiana	10	Virginia	18
Maryland	10	Washington	4
Michigan	28	West Virginia	12
Minnesota	6	Wisconsin	24
Mississippi	18	Utah	2
Missouri	34	Wyoming	3
Nebraska	16	Territories	2
New Jersey	14
New York	15	Total	471
North Carolina	18

In making this estimate I have thrown out many McKinley probabilities and some McKinley certainties. For example, I have given him only thirty votes from Illinois, whereas the bosses have practically given up the fight made in Cullom's name, and it is an even chance that every one of the forty-eight votes of Illinois will be cast for McKinley. Reed is allowed a solid New England, where as I venture a prediction, contrary to the belief, that McKinley will have votes from every New England state, except Maine and Rhode Island, on the first ballot, and that Vermont and Connecticut, one or the other, will come to him solidly if needed to maintain his lead. New Jersey, too, will be for McKinley when the bell rings. Minnesota will not present the name of Davis, nor Kentucky Bradley's, unless the McKinley managers consider the division perfectly safe. The McKinley people claim every vote from Alabama, California, Mississippi and an even chance for the states.

McKinley's only peril lies in the premature ripening of his canvass. The opposition has nearly three months in which to plan for his overthrow on some new line of attack. On the other hand, the opposition, too, has overtrained. The strength of each of their candidates has been tested. The favorite son business has been made a laughing stock. What arrow may be left in their quiver it is not easy to see. But the people must remember that the bosses are experienced, resourceful and have plenty of money at command. The McKinley lines must not only be formed, but stay formed. The McKinley men must not sleep on their arms from now until election day.

WHAT MAKES THE PIANO RATTLE!

Queer Causes Found by the Tuner—Things in the Instrument.

Piano tuners are sometimes called upon to "tune" gas fixtures as well as pianos. Frequently the owner of a fine upright "grand" enters a vigorous complaint because "that piano rattles so." Then the piano tuner packs his few tools and some extra glue and parts of the "action" into his long, slender valise and proceeds to feel the pulse, pound the chest, examine the tongue and overhaul the internal economy of the offending piano. His experienced ear tells him that the piano is all right. His intimate knowledge of the mechanism and make up of the piano assures him that nothing is the matter with the instrument, and he says so.

"But the piano does rattle," insists the owner. "Now, listen when I touch this key." And, sure enough, a decided buzz and jingle are heard.

"It is not in the piano," replies the tuner, and he touches the key again and again, at the same time glancing around the room. "There it is," he says at last, "pointing to the glass globe around the gas jet. 'There is the rattler,' and the irritating noise is silenced when he removes the glass globe.

This is a common experience of piano tuners. Certain notes in the piano vibrate in harmony with a gas fixture, a picture frame, a china plaque hung against the wall or the brico-a-brac which commonly litters the top of the sensitive instrument, and the innocent piano is blamed for the discordant jangle. Pins, buttons and other things foreign to the instrument set up complaints and harsh cries when certain keys are struck, and recently a piano tuner in Evanston, searching for the "rattle," found and restored to the young woman who used the instrument her upper set of false teeth, which had disappeared mysteriously the week before.

Besides coins, buttons, pins and toothpicks, the piano tuner's salvage includes hairpins, pocketknives, paper cutters, manicure instruments, knitting needles, matches, jewelry, nails, tacks, bits of glass, pieces of picture wire, buckles, collar buttons, sleeve buttons, rings and even money which had been placed in the case for safe keeping and then forgotten.—Chicago Chronicle.

STORY ABOUT LINCOLN.

Senator John M. Palmer Tells of Their First and Last Meetings.

"The first time I met Mr. Lincoln," said Senator Palmer of Illinois, "was in 1839, when I went to Springfield to be admitted to the bar. He was already recognized as a Whig leader. He wore, I remember, a suit of linsey woolsey that could not have been worth more than $8, even in those days. The last time I saw him was in February of 1865. I had come to Washington, at the request of the governor, to complain that Illinois had been credited with 18,000 too few troops. I saw Mr. Lincoln one afternoon, and he asked me to come again in the morning. The next morning I sat in the anteroom while several officers were received. At length I was told to enter the president's room. Mr. Lincoln was in the hands of the barber. 'Come in, Palmer,' he called out, 'come in. You're home folks. I can shave before you. I couldn't before those others, and I have to do it some time.'

"We chatted about various matters, and at length I said, 'Well, Mr. Lincoln, if anybody had told me that in a great crisis like this the people were going out to a little one horse town and pick out a one horse lawyer for president, I wouldn't have believed it.'

"Mr. Lincoln whirled about in his chair, his face white with lather and a towel under his chin. At first I thought he was angry. Sweeping the barber away, he leaned forward, and, placing one hand on my knee, said:

"Neither would I, but it was a time when a man with a policy would have been fatal to the country. I have never had a policy. I have simply tried to do what seemed best each day as each day came."—New York Sun.

The "Arabian Nights" Once More.

A large part of Cairo is very little spoiled. It is still, to a great degree, the city of the "Arabian Nights." The worst injury was done before England took the reins, for it was Ismail who recklessly ran streets through mosques and ancient palaces in order to make a straight drive to the citadel. In the Boulevard Mohammed Aly we certainly find the oddest jumble of east and west, old and new. For example, just opposite the stately mosque of Sultan Hasan, at the head of this unsightly street, you see a cabaret with the signboard, "Grog Shop For Army and Navy;" next door a Moslem school, as the inscription, "Medressa Mohammediyeh," shows.

Across the road stands the shapeless mass of the unfinished Rifa'iyyeh mosque, erected at the cost of £350,000 by the mother of Ismail, and within those unroofed walls, surrounded by rotting scaffolding, lies the body of the princely borrower himself. Under the shadow of Sultan Hasan an Arab barber is cutting hair with a modern clipping machine. A gayly painted harim carriage stands in the road. On the panel is a sham coat of arms. Solemn sheikhs pass by without any sort of emotion at these queer sights. Overhead the citadel guns boom out a salute, for it is the great festival, the Id-el-Kebir.—Saturday Review.

Reminded Him.

"I observe, Brother Rocksworthy," said the Rev. Dr. Fourthly, "that when I spoke in my sermon yesterday of the evils of gambling in stocks, and expressed the hope that no member of my congregation ever frequented places where such gambling was made a business, you slapped your thigh emphatically. I am glad if the sentiment met your approval."

"Why—aw—the fact is, doctor," replied Brother Rocksworthy, "I—I suddenly remembered where I had left my umbrella."—Chicago Tribune.

SCHUMACHER'S HARDWARE STORE

68 SOUTH MAIN STREET.

Trade, territory or interests. For farmers it has no superior, containing an excellent and useful department of agricultural information every week. Nothing is lacking to make The Tribune a good, all round family newspaper or to maintain its position at the head of the Republican press of the United States. The poor inventor can have his ideas exploited in The Tribune free of charge, if these possess enough novelty and real merit. The quaint and masterly writings of Roswell F. Horr will be continued; and love stories, jokes, household matters, fashions and other dear to the heart of woman are given amply. The paper is full of illustrations, which include, among other things, the best and freshest comic pictures of the two continents.

Above all things, The Tribune is decent. If poor erring humanity descends into depravity and crime, The Tribune gives the necessary news, but does not revel therein, gloat over the wretched criminals, or fill its articles with suggestions and remarks which can only debase those who read them. It is probably this, among other things, which has entrenched The Weekly Tribune so firmly in the homes of America.

A dollar cannot be spent to better advantage than in buying The Weekly Tribune for a year. Even more important than keeping one's person and clothes clean and pure is the keeping the mind pure, the conscience honest and the heart patriotic, and that The Weekly Tribune will do.

Its print is large and easy to read. Of the Daily, Henry Romeike, proprietor of the greatest clipping agency in the world, certifies voluntarily, that "day by day and week by week, The Tribune contains far more original matter than any other newspaper in New York." With perfect truth he might have said this same of The Weekly Tribune.

Republicans should go into the clash of battle armed with The Weekly Tribune. Its accuracy of fire is unquestioned, and even the most case-hardened adversary is obliged to admit its penetrating power.

The case against ex-County Treasurer Paul G. Suekey, for appropriating public money to private use, will never come to trial. The bondsmen have concluded to act in unison, and give a $110 each of their surplus funds, thus settling the case as far as the county is concerned.

If any suit is brought now, it will have to be by some of the bondsmen, which will never be done.

On Sunday last Mary, wife of the late Wm. P. Brown, who lived about four miles north of the city on the Whitmore Lake road, died very suddenly, with apoplexy, aged 58 years, 5 months and 15 days.

Her death was a great shock to the numerous friends of the family. She was a lady having many pleasant and neighborly qualities, and her death will be greatly regretted by a host of friends.

Some years ago the government made a two cent letter sheet, being an envelope and letter sheet combined. It never came into general use, from the fact that the intricacies of folding made it unpopular.

Some time since the government ceased having it printed, and a few days since all such stamped sheets were ordered sent to certain post office depositaries. Mr. Beakes tells us that he has 160 of them still on hand.

They will become valuable in a short time and stamp collectors better secure them before they are all gone.

Willard Hendrick, of Hamburg, has obtained a pension through the agency of W. K. Childs.

The young men studying medicine may be interested to know that the law carefully guards the secrecy of the relations between a physician and his patients. Not only is he protected in a refusal to disclose facts thus obtained, but when he tells them for any purpose he is liable to a severe penalty. In such a case just decided in England a complaining patient has been awarded $60,000 damages against a physician, and the court ruled that it did not make any difference whether the story was true or false, so far as the question of the defendant's culpability was concerned.

Samuel H. McCord, aged about 60 years, an old citizen of Manchester, died Monday night, of paralysis. He will be buried to-morrow with Masonic honors. On the same night death removed another old resident of the same place, in the person of Mrs. Deborah Morgan, aged 81 years, relict of Thomas Morgan. Her father Mr. Soule, was one of the first white settlers in Manchester.

The Ann Arbor Courier announces that "there is a kick from the North-side, on fencing up the old town pump." Now let there be a kick from the Southside, to give the old pump a brace-up. It never bore a first-class character anyway. It has been heard to use very vile language in the still hours of the night. It should be muzzled as well as fenced.—Monroe Democrat. There is cold-water in the above no doubt, but the spout is a little obscure.

The Adrian Press refers to the "rooster" as the "crowcuss," which spurs the Ann Arbor Courier to the "hope that Bro. Stearns doesn't lie awake nights to listen." Not "lie" awake! Let not the Courier be lured astray by the fox-fire of hope. Mr. Stearns is not the conscience-worshipping lawyer, who, after a characteristic argument to a jury, always sat up all night, on the plea that he ought not to "lie" in bed.—Monroe Democrat. You wouldn't have him "lay" there, would you? Or would you?

"In the Beginning,"

Of a new year, when the winter season of close confinement is only half gone, many find that their health begins to break down, that the least exposure threatens sickness. It is then as well as at all other times, and with people even in good health, that the following facts should be remembered, namely: that Hood's Sarsaparilla leads everything in the way of medicines; that it accomplishes the greatest cures in the world; has the largest sale in the world, and requires the largest building in the world devoted exclusively to the preparation of the proprietary medicine. Does not this conclusively prove. If you are sick, that Hood's Sarsaparilla is the medicine for you to take?

The Woods In Late Fall.

The border of the woods wore a sleepy look of contentment, as if there all were quite ready for winter. We found the clematis trailing over low shrubs and weaving in and out among the thickets. Like the golden-rod in its old age, the clematis had put on silvery plumes in place of flowers, and we bore away with us for decorations at home some of the graceful festoons of this vine. Still more ambitious than the clematis was the greenbrier (species of smilax) which had gone climbing quite above our heads, and had suspended its clusters of small green-black berries, which might have been supposed to be fairy grapes, and which we hoped some late-lingering bird would find and eat, on a hungry winter morning now not far away. And while we were saying this, a number of little people in gray and black, as fantastic as masks, came fluttering into the noses of the clematis and greenbrier. "Dee! dee! dee! what do you here, coming without permission into our territory?" There are not so many words in the chickadee language, but such as there are are most expressive, and we soon beat a retreat. Not long after we entertained ourselves by playing hide-and-seek around a great tree-trunk with a nuthatch. Now, the nuthatch has the advantage of his cousin the woodpecker in one respect—he can go around the trunk of a tree head downward as well as in the upright position; and he was, on this occasion, full of quick and cunning ways.—Edith M. Thomas, in February St. Nicholas.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at Rives Junction, she was brought down with Pneumonia, succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work, and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at Eberbach Drug & Chemical Co's drug store, and Geo. J. Mr. Jonas' Success at St. Louis.

Mr. Alberto Jonas played a few days since in St. Louis, Mo., with the Choral Symphony Society, and scored, as is usual with him, a triumphant success. The immense hall, Exposition Hall (4,700 seats) in which the concert took place, was almost filled.

After the first part of "The Emperor Concerto" of Beethoven, not only the public, but the orchestra and its leader, Ernst, broke into prolonged applause, and compelled Mr. Jonas to bow several times. At the end of the concerto he was recalled three times, even after the piano had been closed and removed. The same enthusiastic recalls were given him after his solo numbers, with which the concert closed.

The Republic, St. Louis, Mo., Friday March 27, 1896, has this to say of the event:

"There was no indication at Music Hall last night that there is a difference between Spain and the United States. An undersized Spaniard, with a wealth of black hair and a promising growth of whiskers, got almost as much applause for his piano playing as Paderewski got. This is saying a good deal for the Spaniard, for he is not the fad, he does not come from the north of Europe and his audience was not as large as the Pole's. Senor Alberto Jonas played a Beethoven concerto with the orchestra; a selection from Wagner's 'Irisan and Isolde,' arranged by Liszt; a Chopin nocturne and Liszt's Rhapsodie No. 12. Senor Jonas is one of the happily undemonstrative pianists. He plays with absolutely no apparent exertion and in pedaling approached the skill of Paderewski."

The Anzeiger des Westens, published in the same city, says of the concert:

"The attendance of the concert might have been yet larger than it was considering that Alberto Jonas, a piano virtuoso of great reputation, was announced as soloist."

"As for the concert itself, it was one of the best that have been given by the Choral-Symphony Society. Both the orchestra and Mr. Jonas did grand things."

"With the concerto of Beethoven, known as 'the Emperor,' Mr. Jonas introduced himself to the public, and recognized as a pianist of remarkable talent. He possesses an absolutely enormous technic that overcomes the most appalling difficulties with greatest ease. His touch is very soft, and at the same time highly colored. He reminds one in that respect of the great D'Albert, with whom he has in common the maturity of interpretation, repose in the execution, depth of feeling, perfect mastery of the tone coloring and perfect phrasing in the most expressive moments. In the 'Emperor' Concerto the orchestra accompanies him superbly."

"The second part of the concert was admirable. The Nocturne of Chopin in B major, the 'Isolde Liebestod' of Wagner, arranged by Liszt, and the 12th Rhapsodie, were the pieces played by him, and especial mention must be made of the Nocturne. He played it in highly musical fashion, with great expression and profound, yet quiet feeling, worked out and polished unto the smallest details. He completely possesses the sympathetic, expressive and poetic temperament to interpret the music of Chopin and Schumann. All the concert was a rare, high enjoyment without one dull or in it."

Mr. Jonas will play this Concerto, "The Emperor, at the May Festival."

SOLDIER, MAIDEN AND FLOWER.

"Sweetheart take this," a soldier said, "And bid me brave good-by; It may befall that we shall ne'er wed, But love can never die. Be steadfast in thy truth to me, And then, what'er my lot, My soul to God, my heart to thee." "Sweetheart, forget me not!" The maiden took the tiny flower And pressed it with her tears: "Lo! he who left her in that hour Came not in after years. Unto a hero's death he rode 'Mid shower of fire and shot; But in the maiden's heart abode The flower forgot-me-not. And when he came not with the rest From out the years of blood, Closely unto her widowed breast She pressed a faded bud; Oh, there is love and there is pain, And there is peace, God wot, And these dear three do live again In sweet forget-me-not. 'Tis to an unmarked grave to-day That I should love to go— What'er he wore the blue or gray, What need that we should know. 'He loved a woman,' let us say, And on that sacred spot, To woman's love that lives for aye, We'll strew forget-me-not. —By Eugene Field.

Arbor Day Proclamation.

Concurrent Resolution No. 6, approved March 26, 1895, requests the governor to call the attention of the people of this state to the importance of planting trees for ornament, by naming a day upon which this work shall be given special attention, to be known as "Arbor Day."

In accordance with the above resolution and with the long established custom of our state, Friday, May 1, 1896, is hereby designated as "Arbor Day." The people are earnestly requested to observe the day by setting out trees, shrubs and vines about their homes and upon our highways and public places.

The exercises in our public schools upon that day should be of a character that will impress upon the minds of our youth the material benefits derived from its observance. By precept and example our teachers should lead in a work that will not only bring its reward to them, but remain as an incentive for future generations to beautify and adorn our fair state.

Our rapidly diminishing forests and the increased demand for shade and ornamental trees has caused the organization of "Forestry Associations" whose purpose is to preserve the forests and educate the people in the science of forestry. These organizations deserve encouragement and it is to be hoped that their numbers will multiply. This occasion is taken to urge the preservation of the shade trees which know stand along our country roads. They may damage the growing crop slightly but in beauty, shade and protection from the winds they repay the damage they do many times over.

Given under my hand, and the great seal of the state at the capitol, in Lansing, this twenty-sixth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-six, and of the independence of the United States, the one hundred and twentieth.

BUYING A PIANO.

You have been thinking of buying a piano for a long time. If you keep putting it off, you will never get it. Now is the time to buy, for now is the time you can save money. If your grocer offered granulated sugar at 3¢ a pound, when you are paying 6¢, you would buy a quantity. You know that is cheap, for you buy it every day. If he offered you Queen Anne soap at 3¢ a cake, you would buy it for the same reason, because you are saving money. If you could buy Royal Baking Powder for 25¢ a pound, when you have to pay 50¢, you would buy Royal, because you know it is good, and could be bought at the price of the poorest. We want you to realize that we are offering just as big bargains on pianos and musical instruments today as granulated sugar would be at 3¢ a pound.

We are obliged to move, and the store we hope to secure will have to undergo extensive repairs, which will consume two or three months before it is fit for occupancy. We are overstocked with pianos, our present warerooms are crowded, and we have about 60 rented pianos coming in the middle of June.

Think of this seriously, and come in and see us. A dollar saved is a dollar earned, and you can save a good many dollars by buying your musical instruments now.

BICYCLES.

We sold 9 Bicycles last week. This shows our prices appeal to careful buyers. Our Dayton Bicycle is unexcelled by any, no matter how famous or by whom made. The Ben Hur at $85 and $100 we believe to be the best value for the money ever offered in Ann Arbor. We also sell the Clipper and Wellington Bicycles at $75 and $65, and we have a few good wheels as low as $50.

Here are a few Removal Sale Bargains:

1 $ 85 BEN HUR (used).....	$55
1 100 RALPH TEMPLE.....	60
1 100 MONARCH.....	65
1 85 GENTS' BEN HUR, '95 MODEL.....	70
1 85 LADIES' BEN HUR, '95 MODEL.....	70
1 85 CLIPPER, GENTS, '96 MODEL.....	75

ORGANS.

Those organs we mentioned as slightly shop-worn, are in first-class condition otherwise, and it will pay you to examine them and get prices. Forty-five to Sixty Dollars will now buy an organ that formerly sold at from Seventy-five to Ninety.

Those Accordions at $1.25, $1.45 and $1.80, and those $6.50 Mandolins at $3.95 will not last long. There is excellent value in them, and in some Violins and Banjos we have listed at equally low prices. Now's the time to buy if you ever intend buying.

—and physique—lengthened by boarding around, Mr. Lament Diabulus Wines could not be surpassed, and he merited the present of a pair of diminutive crutches his scholars gave their teacher. Some of the boys were a little too much for him physically, occasionally, but that made no particular difference with the stern and rigid discipline of the school.

The part enacted by gum was also effective. In this the boys seemed to be equally proficient with the girls. Many of the answers to questions which were really sharp and worthy of a better reception, were lost because of the inability of the audience to hear them.

About the City Street Railway—

The United States Investor of Mar. 21, contains an article in regard to the affairs of the Ann Arbor Street Railway Co., which is of much interest. According to a certified statement of the treasurer, Chas. E. Hiscock, the earnings and expenses of the road for three years, were as follows:

EARNINGS.
For 1891.....	$13,385 53
For 1892.....	15,734 58
For 1893.....	12,896 28

EXPENSES.
For 1891.....	$15,416 47
For 1892.....	17,945 43
For 1893.....	15,496 47

Hudson T. Morton, under date of Feb. 26, 1896, writes to Mr. Reynolds as follows:

"I have to say that the Ann Arbor Street Railway Co. did pay their operating expenses and interest in part but the money was furnished in many cases by the directors personally, of whom I was one; and at the time of the fire, which destroyed the barn, cars, etc., the company was in debt for power and a part of the building; also a debt to the Ypsilanti road, besides a note or notes to the Savings Bank here, amounting to something over two thousand dollars; and the money received from the insurance was used to pay off the note. It isn't right for such statements to be made as will give people the idea that the road was ever prosperous or able to pay its running expenses, for it never was."

All this is not to the credit of the company.

affairs. The road was bonded in 1891-3 for $60,000, the interest amounting to $3,600 annually. Taking out that interest the earnings for the year 1891, showed a clear gain of $3,569.06; for, the year 1893, $929.81.

A Sensation in Court—

One of the most sensational endings of any suit tried in this county for many a day, took place at the court house last Tuesday.

The case was one in chancery, and had been commenced the week before. Mr. Thomas E. Barkworth of Jackson, and Ex-Sheriff Michael Brenner of this city, were foreclosing a mortgage upon a farm in Jackson county. The suit had run along as such cases usually do, when the defendants sprung a surprise upon the plaintiffs by producing a receipt for $3,000 purporting to have been paid to the man from whose estate Messrs. Barkworth and Brenner had purchased the mortgage. No endorsement had been made of the amount at the time, and it was a great surprise. But the defendants not only produced the receipt but the son of the old gentleman appeared and swore he was present when the money was paid, and another man swore that he lent $1,000 of the money with which it was paid.

The story, some way, lacked sincerity, so Judge Kinne granted Mr. Barkworth a week's time to investigate the matter. This he did to pretty good effect, as was proven.

When the suit came on again for trial, a surprise was in store for the other side. The young man who swore to being present when his father received the money, had made a clean breast of the whole scheme. It seems that he helped his father in his business and collected rents and other money due, so that when his father died he had a number of blank receipts, containing his father's signature, in his possession. One of these was taken, made out for $3,000, dated back, and then produced in evidence. After the young man had sworn to the false statement he became conscience smitten, and sending for Mr. Barkworth, before his own mother and another witness made a confession. Afterwards he wrote a letter stating that he could not live after this disgrace, and proposed to end his troubles at once by suicide. This letter he gave to a friend with the request that it be not read for ten minutes. But the friend did not wait. He read the letter immediately and rushed to young Morrison's room, and found him just ready to shoot himself, and it took a considerable time and force to disarm him. But it was finally done and the young man was dissuaded from his terrible purpose.

This letter, together with all these facts came like a thunder clap upon the court, the plaintiff and all present, and the scene was a very solemn and affecting one.

The Heroines are Forgotten—

At the recent meeting of the state W. R. C. at Saginaw, Mrs. Florence S. Babbitt, of Ypsilanti, gave a brief talk about some of the heroines of the war, and from the Courier-Herald we take the following synopsis of her remarks: "A prominent citizen of this state, a veteran of the war and one able to endorse his recommendations with substantial contributions, said to me when I introduced the subject of a monument to Gen. Cass as a hero of the war of 1812 and the most conspicuous 'facter of the state,' 'Why don't you erect a monument to some of the heroines of the war—some of the army nurses for instance—who braved the perils of the field and the hospitals, as angels of mercy to the boys who suffered from wounds and disease?'"

"Sure enough I thought, where are the monuments anywhere in all this land? Who has seen a public monument to a woman? We women in our unselfish zeal have been proud to aid in the erection of monuments to the heroes and had not thought of the fact that there were also heroines, as my friend well suggests. It was once said in some felicitous remarks on forefather's day that something ought to be said for the foremothers, who endured all that the forefathers did and endured the forefathers too."

"One of these, Mary Washington, finally has a public monument, tardily, erected after an unfinished shaft lain dishonored and half buried in the sod a good part of a century, and had been tramped over by the soldiers and scarred by the bullets of both armies at Fredericksburg, where her desecrated tomb received the homage and witnessed the sacrificing labors of some of our heroic army nurses. Michigan had a noble corps of them, mostly now passed over to a well earned rest, to 'Fame's eternal camping ground,' which has no need of nurses. Surely it is time they were remembered, and who so fit to lead in the loving service of commemoration as the Woman's Relief Corps? Our brothers who know better than we how noble was the service and great the sacrifice of the army nurses, will gladly support our efforts, but shall not we, who have gladly done our humble part in aiding the erection of monuments to them, claim the honor of leading in a work like this? And may not we, who are proud to be known as the Woman's Auxiliary, so confer upon our state the honor of erecting the first monument to that heroic auxiliary of the army, the army nurse?"

A LITTLE PINK SHOE.

Only a little pink baby shoe
That is stained and wrinkled and torn
With a tiny hole where the little pink toe
Peeped out in the days that are gone.
The little pink toe was the "big little pig"
That to market so often would go,
And over and over the legend was told
As I kissed the little pink toe.
"Piggle some more," the red lips would hiss,
And the story and kiss were given
Again and again, so happy were we
In motherhood's foretaste of heaven.
But there came a night, with desolate blight,
When death bore my idol away,
And no little toe ever peeps from the shoe
To be kissed in the old sweet way.
But my tears have deluged the little pink shoe
And stained it a deeper stain,
And I long for the touch that would chill me in death
If it gave me my darling again.
So, when I am dead, lay the little pink shoe
Near my heart that is silent and cold,
And perhaps up above in the sunlight of love,
I shall kiss the pink toe as of old.
—Kate Thysou Marr, in New York Journal.

Work of the Registration Boards—

The boards of registration in the various wards did quite a good deal of work at their meetings last week. It was not expected that there would be much to do, but the members found time to compare their lists, and as a result a great many names were stricken off.

The figures by wards is as follows:

Ward	Added	Taken off
First ward.....	76	75
Second ward.....	63	59
Third ward.....	86	63
Fourth ward.....	54	102
Fifth ward.....	22	35
Sixth ward.....	72	33
Seventh ward.....	42	9
Totals.....	415	372

This makes a total gain in the city of 43. The light gain comes from the fact that more attention than usual was paid to removing names.

Great Chance to Make Money.

Mr. Editor:—I wish to tell others of my success these hard times. We had so many fires and so many valuables burned, being out of a job, I decided on selling the new family fire-proof Deposit Case for storing deeds, mortgages, notes, receipts money and valuables. I ordered a sample family size from the World Mfg. Co., Columbus, O. Sold six first day, right around home, at a profit of $24, last week I made $67. They are nice and so cheap all can buy.
