THE STATE ENCAMPMENT.

The Pinckney Dispatch Stirs up a Hornet's Nest Right Here.

THE BOYS DENY THE STORY.

The Encampment is all That Could be Desired From Sunday School Boys—Two Communications Therein.

In giving the clipping last week about the annual state encampment of troops, from the Pinckney paper, the young men composing the home company have taken what was said very much to heart, and as a consequence they have resented it. The result is as usual. Those who did not need the rebuke have been hurt, and they fly to the rescue of those who did need it.

The Courier wishes to say for our home company that it is composed of good principled, honorable, pure minded young men, who are not only a credit to the city but the state.

But that does not change the purpose of the article reprinted last week nor the fact that unless the state encampments are improved that these very young men may suffer both in reputation and reality. It is for the benefit of such young men that the article was printed.

We do not believe for instance that the baggage of the Ann Arbor company contained several casks of liquor when it left here yesterday, but the writer knows that the baggage of a company that went at the same time did.

As to the replies given below, they are printed cheerfully. The hits, whether given to or through the editor of the Courier notwithstanding.

The letter of Maj. Soule will have weight, as all letters do where the writer has the courage every true soldier should have, to sign his own name. All that he says about the value and courage and need of these troops the Courier has heretofore endorsed, and heartily so.

But the Pinckney editor was talking of a wrong that many people of the state, who are not fanatics either, believe ought to be righted, in the interest of these very troops. The calling of names, and the use of sarcasm may have some effect, but it never passes for argument, and seldom serves to blind the eyes of the reader to the real question at issue. The only question here is, if the annual encampment is not conducted as it should be; if there is drunkenness, and conduct unbecoming true soldiers by any portion of the troops, those in authority should put an end to it, and not allow the wrong to go on from year to year.

Another thing, this paper believes that the encampment should be held on the state park at Mackinac away from the crowd. This change would be better not only for the discipline, but for the real soldierly experience that the troops are supposed to get out of this encampment.

An old soldier, and one who saw three years of hard fighting says: "It is the temperate man who makes the true soldier. The man who disgraces himself and his company by getting drunk, is nearly always the first to drop out on the march or in the battle field. If I was commandant at the state encampment, any soldier who was found under the influence of liquor, would at once and peremptorily be dishonorably discharged from service. That would end all talk and all scandal, and protect the faithful and good soldier from the disgrace brought upon all by the conduct of the few."

The communications are as follows: Editor Courier:

The scathing article by the editor of the Pinckney Dispatch is a fair sample of ill-directed ignorance. He is probably one of those who visit the annual camp and loading himself with every possible example of misdemeanor that he sees or hears of, returns to his home and publishes that which will draw attention to his otherwise obscure sheet. He says that many a young man who never touched a drop of liquor in his life, has gone to the encampment (his first) and return a wreck and a disgrace to his family. Is that not rather a short time to evolve a confirmed drunkard, Mr. Dispatch?

A prominent citizen of Ann Arbor, one who was connected with the state troops for fourteen years, said that he never knew of a young man that was ruined by association with the troops, unless he had a good start before he enlisted. And the writer of this article, who has seen several years service,

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

The Free Silver Wing of the Democratic Party of this County Meets.

WARD'S SILVER RESOLUTIONS.

They Jingle and Jingle With 16 to 1 Tinkle and Were Passed Without a Kick but not With Enthusiasm.

The democratic county convention, to nominate delegates to the state, congressional and senatorial conventions, was held at the court house last Friday, being called to order by Chairman Arthur Brown of the county committee, at 11 o'clock a. m. M. T. Woodruff, of the Ypsilanti Sentinel, was called to the temporary chairmanship, and Walter Voorheis of Superior, was made temporary secretary.

Upon assuming the chair, Mr. Woodruff referred with much glee to the heroic consistency of his free silver record, and he threw out that suggestion for the convention to contemplate.

The usual committees were appointed as follows:

Credentials—M. J. Cavanaugh, Alfred Davenport, H. Lighthall
Permanent Organization and Order of business—W. L. Watkins, Frank Palmer, Michael Brenner.

Resolutions—J. W. Babbitt, Chas. A. Ward, W. B. Osbornes.

After the committees had been appointed, J. Nelson Lewis, of this city, gave the audience a red hot speech on political economy, endeavoring to prove by high English and American authorities that if the United States adopted free silver, all the nations of the earth would cut their monetary cloth from the same pattern. He made a very learned and able speech but one that failed to rouse up the blood of partisanship.

In fact he fired over the heads of his audience.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The report of the committee on credentials was made and accepted and adopted without reading.

Mr. Watkins from the committee on permanent organization etc., reported in favor of making the temporary officers permanent officers, etc. Mr. Woodruff again thanked the convention for the honor and proceeded to give some of his ideas as to free coinage. He asserted the demagogic and unpatriotic and traitorous assertion that "this is a fight of the masses against the classes."

The officers of the convention were then sworn in, after which Chas. A. Ward, of this city read his resolutions, and the same were adopted, and it is needless to say were for free silver.

Whereas, the underlying principles of bimetalism have always been a part of the Democratic faith and since the demonetization of the silver dollar by the Republican party its restoration to its constitutional and time-honored place in the monetary system of our country has been the constant aim and endeavor of the Democrat party in congress, and

Whereas, the national Democracy in convention at Chicago has deemed it wise to make the remonetization of

A PRETTY RESORT.

Cavanaugh Lake and its Summer Homes for Weary Humanity.

A SWEET HAVEN OF REST.

A Full Description of This Washtenaw Resort—Its Happy Families and Jolly Fishermen.

How many people of this county know anything of Cavanaugh Lake? We venture to assert that not many for if they did its shores would be lined far more thickly than they are now with summer cottages.

It is one of the beautiful places of Michigan. Not too wild, or too rugged, or too rough, but just right for an ideal summer home. And especially is this true where one has a family of children.

The shores of the lake on the south, east and north are ideal shores. On the south it is of sand, and recedes gradually so that it is perfectly safe for children for a long distance out, and those who come here allow their children to run about as they please, and so they become perfectly familiar with the water and the handling of boats before they venture out into the deeper waters of the lake. It is quite a sight to sit on the beach and watch the children amuse themselves in and over the water. They get to be as expert in handling boats as are the older ones.

On the south side of the lake rises a wooded bluff, about 25 feet above the water at its top, and on the bluff is located the summer resort of the Cavanaugh Lake Association. It is crescent in shape, so that a person standing at any point along the line can get a good view of all the cottages, and it is a pretty view. The cottages are not large or expensive. They are all built for summer use only, and yet most of them are provided with fire places for any damp or cold day that might overtake the occupants. The grounds are kept clean and neat. In front of the cottages tennis and croquet courts and grounds have been fitted up, and between the young folks and the older folks, they are kept in use most of the time. There are no boat houses, and very few docks along the sandy beach, but one can step from the shore into the boat and push off with little trouble, so the beach is kept clean and nice. The front lawns are seeded, and as good a sod as is possible to get in the shade of trees, covers the earth. The trees are of all varieties native to this climate. For instance, one can stand in front of the cottage where the writer was and count 13 varieties without stirring from his tracks. The soil is sandy and easily worked. At various points on the grounds, are naphtha street lamps, which are kept lighted in the evening for the benefit of the cottagers. They have not aspired to electric lights yet, but no knowing what will happen to this enterprising summer community.

Ex-Sheriff George C. Codd, of Detroit, is one who comes with his family early in the season, and remains until the last one is gone. He has been mutually agreed upon as mayor. The magistrate is Ex-Judge Henry M. Look, of Detroit; the "pleader on the hustings," is the Hon. Andrew J. Sawyer, of this city, and the village marshal is Ex-County Clerk P. A. Howlett, of Ann Arbor. He receives no salary, and never yet arrested anything but an old horse that was strolling about the lawns, and come to find out it was his own horse.

The Board of Health should not be overlooked, being composed of two skilled physicians, Drs. J. A. Palmer and R. S. Armstrong, who are so efficient that no sickness ever makes its appearance there. The sanitary arrangements, all joking aside, are admirable, all refuse both from houses and barns being cleaned up and carried away by people who use the same to enrich their land.

There are other high officials in the community, no doubt, but one could not learn everything in a two or three day's stay.

The eastern shore of this lake is a very inviting place for cottages that has never yet been improved, but no doubt will be before long, for its beauty is great, and living here is inexpensive. In fact a family can live here much cheaper than in cities. There are fine farms in the vicinity, and all sorts of farm products can be purchased at moderate prices. It

Farmer's Picnic—

Following is the program of the 18th annual basket picnic of the Farmers' Picnic Association of Washtenaw, Wayne, Oakland and Livingston counties, to be held at Whitmore Lake, Saturday, Aug. 29, 1896:

Music.

Prayer—Rev. H. W. Hicks.

Music.

Address of welcome—Pres. Wm. Ball of Hamburg.

Music.

Address—Hon. E. P. Allen, Ypsilanti.

Music.

Address—Rev. E. D. Kelley, of Ann Arbor. Subject: "The Greatest American."

Music.

Address—Cyrus M. Starks, Webster.

Music.

Impromptu speeches.

Music.

The three speakers named in the above program are representatives of different vocations. The statesman, the divine and the agriculturalist will give their best thoughts. James Harkins will entertain with his inimitable and mirth-provoking music. It is also expected that the impromptu addresses will be an interesting feature of the exercises. Farmers are fast becoming the thinkers of this neck of the woods and the number capable of entertainingly expressing thought is fast increasing. The audience may reasonably expect to listen to some short, tart remarks by calling on some of this class. R. C. Reeve, Sec'y.

A Delightful Event—

A very pretty and enjoyable home wedding was one that occurred at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Muma, on E. Huron-st., last Wednesday afternoon, August 12, which united the lives of Rice Aner Beal, of the State Savings Bank, and Miss Anna Estelle Muma. The couple have a large circle of friends among the young people, and having been leaders in the life and pleasures of young society for some years, the dignity and solemnity that so often marks these events was thrown aside, and the classmates and companions of the couple made the occasion a jolly one. They had some harmless yet cute jokes for each other, which reminded the older people of the happy days of their own youth, before care and worry had furrowed their brows and brought crow's feet to their eyes. The house was handsomely decorated with flowers which gave it the appearance of a bridal fete.

The best man was George Muma, of Detroit, brother of the bride. Miss Alta Beal, the young sister of the groom acted as bridesmaid, and little Miss Jennie Bowman, of Flint, as flower girl, each carrying a bouquet of sweet peas.

Rev. Dr. Camden M. Coburn, pastor of the M. E. church, performed the ceremony, using the Methodist Episcopal form, with a ring, which was not only beautiful in itself but made very im-

BLAINE ON FREE SILVER.

Many of our silver friends have asked us to quote James G. Blaine's opinion of free silver coinage, and for their benefit we give an extract from a speech made by him in 1878. Will our silver friends please read and profit:

"As current rates of silver, the free coinage of a dollar containing 412 1-2 grains, worth in gold about 92 cents, gives an illegitimate profit to the owner of the bullion, enabling him to take 92 cents' worth of it to the mint and get it stamped as coin and force his neighbor to take it for a full dollar. This is an undue and unfair advantage which the government has no right to give to the owner of silver bullion, and which defrauds the man who is forced to take the dollar. And it assuredly follows that if we give free coinage to this dollar of inferior value and put it in circulation, we do so at the expense of our better coinage in gold. If we coin a silver dollar of a full legal tender, obviously below the current value of the gold dollar, we are simply opening our doors and inviting Europe to take our gold. With our gold flowing out from us, we shall be forced to the single silver standard, and our relations with the leading commercial countries of the world will be not only embarrassed, but crippled."

—James G. Blaine, 1878.

BRYAN'S GREAT FAILURE.

Last week the democratic candidate for president, who, by a speech at Chicago, gained great reputation and the nomination, made his reply to the formal notification in New York City. Instead of being notified at his own home he wished something more spectacular. Accordingly he journeyed to the east for the purpose of making the effort of his life.

His effort had 13,000 words in it, but not one sentence that will be remembered. Its style was in quite a contrast to that of his opponent. For instance, on that same day Major McKinley in addressing the members of his old regiment, made this happy statement: "It is a good deal better to open up the mills of the United States to the labor of Americans than to open up the mints of the United States to the silver of the world." It is such telling truths told in terse ways that stick in the memory, making the truth and the speaker remembered. Harrison, Blaine and McKinley always helped their followers by such intellectual nuggets of gold.

Bryan's speech was a great disappointment to his friends. This is shown by what has happened since it was made. His plans were to go up to Maine to assist in the campaign. But his managers confessed his weakness by persuading him he had better stay away, and go off to rest. Another thing showing how he injured himself in New York, was the decision of the democratic committee to move the headquarters from there to Chicago, thereby confessing there was no use fighting there after that speech. Still another straw was that stocks rose next day. New York business men had been frightened over the apparent strength of the silver craze, but when Bryan showed its weakness in a two hour speech, they said: "Oh well, if that is all their argument amounts to no body can be fooled by that. Let's go ahead and do business." So prices advanced.

It has become evident that the "Boy Orator of the Platte" is rightly named after a stream which has the peculiar description of being a thousand miles long and six inches deep. He has been talking too much, so the committee has decided to dump him up.

THE TARIFF IS THE TROUBLE.

The Cleveland, Ohio, "World," July 19, interviewed Mr. Tallies Evans, financial secretary of The American Protective Tariff League, on the political issues of the day, asking the following question:

"What has caused this agitation of the currency question, Mr. Evans," was asked.

"It is the distress of the country, because we have $31.96 of currency in existence per capita, while we are only using in circulation at the present time $21.15 per capita, and in 1892 we were using within a fraction of $25 per capita. Why less now than in 1892? Because of the loss of labor. That explains the matter in a nutshell. The employment of labor brings out the largest per capita circulation of our currency, as the labor is always paid in currency, while the merchant and the manufacturer pays his other accounts by checks and nearly all other business transactions are paid by checks."

Asked for a further illustration of his argument, Mr. Evans said: "In 1892 in a certain New England city with a population of about 9,000, nine mills, whose aggregate payrolls amounted to $78,000 per week, were running in full blast, while this year the payroll for the same nine places amounts to but $25,000; therefore $48,000 per week is lost to circulation in that little city alone."

The democratic state convention takes place at Bay City next Tuesday Aug. 25.

Reciprocity and a protective tariff is what this country needs to enter again on prosperity.

Remember that fatal tin peddler, my former friend, and don't get fooled again on the same game.

Four years ago the free trade cry caught the farmers and laborers napping. It will not do so this time.

To every workman and wage earner: Is the dollar you receive for your work worth too much?

After the campaign the democrats who fooled with the populist gun, will have the same old excuse: "Didn't know it was loaded!"

What our farmers need is what the Wilson bill killed: James G. Blaine's Reciprocity. Silver won't help them a cent's worth, but Reciprocity will sell their products.

The national or sound money democracy are receiving wonderful encouragement from all parts of the nation showing conclusively, that the people have commenced to think.

If silver was demonetized in 1873, wasn't it very singular that no one could get it out until 1893? Where were our silver mine owners all that time? sleeping—Rip Van Winkle fashion?

We are buying of foreign nations and paying them in coin instead of paying them in our products, that's where the shoe pinches. The Wilson bill killed reciprocity.

Democrats who have been shouting for Pingree all summer, can now come forward and do a very commendable thing, viz: Vote for Pingree, the principles he represents, and the ticket he is running on.

"Protection is the most vicious political principle that has ever cursed this country."—Wm J. Bryan. What do you think of that, my farmer friend? That means a continuation of free wool and hard times.

The past record of the democratic party is not just the thing you approve, is it, my republican free silver friend? And yet you propose to perpetuate that party in power by the same sort of a game that brought it into power four years ago.

Gov. Altgeld of Illinois, compels the 1,200 tenants of his, in the Unity block Chicago, to sign contracts making their rent payable in gold. Ex-Gov. Penoyer, of Oregon, compels all of his tenants to sign iron-clad gold payable contracts for farm and city property alike. Both free silver apostles.

The fact is worth noting that the court records at Lincoln, Neb., show that the cases in which Attorney Bryan appeared when he was practicing there were mainly of the kind that served to "press the crown of thorns on the brow of labor." That is to say, they were suits to foreclose mortgages and take homes away from unfortunate debtors.

If you wanted to hire some one to manage your financial interests, who would you hire, a practical man who had made finance a study, and and knew all about it, or a man who had been in some other line of business, and knew little or nothing of finance? In managing the financial affairs of a great nation, is it not wisdom to use the same good judgment that you would in your private affairs?

By the powerful way in which the Hausfreund wriggles and squirms in its last issue, it is quite evident that it has been struck in a vital place. It rages, madly rages, because the Courier classed Altgeld among those who advocate anarchistic doctrines. (Corrupting, probably, his pardon of the red-handed murderers of the Chicago police), and asserts that he is a philanthropic millionaire. Yes, his generous soul is overflowing with the milk of human kindness(?) He advocates free silver, and makes his 1,200 tenants sign contracts to pay their rent in gold. Is that a lie, Mr. Hausfreund? Is it a lie that he pardoned the Chicago anarchists out of prison, who were convicted in open court after a fair trial? Is it a lie that he framed the plank in the Chicago platform that looks to the wiping out of existence our courts of justice? Is not such a man an anarchist in principle? If not, what is he?

If this government should coin two billion dollars in silver or gold of her, and leave the farmer's market circumscribed as it is to-day, what benefit would result to the farmer?

The most prominent man to head the committee which met Candidate Bryan on his tour to the east, when he entered Ohio, was Carl Brown, the leader of Coxe's army in its tramp to Washington. No one objects, of course, for when you take into consideration the crowd that nominated Bryan, it was quite proper.

Prosperity will not come from free silver any more than it did from free trade. The result will be about the same. The trouble comes from something else than our monetary system. For instance, the government statistics show that for the first year of the working of the Wilson bill the manufacturers of woolen goods in this country paid over $20,000,000 to the wool growers of South America and Australia alone, that had formerly been paid to the farmers of this nation. Is not that one item enough to convince any reasonable man of the cause of hard times?

Great sales prove the great merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and great merit enables it to accomplish wonderful cures.

The mirror doesn't lie. It is not a flatterer. Its story is plainly told, and cannot be contradicted. Women whose blood is poor and whose whole system is run down by sickness and weakness, are afraid and ashamed to look in the glass. The condition of all the body is written in the face.

Thousands of women are dragging out a weary, miserable existence, because they do not fully realize what is the matter with them. They know that they have "female weakness" but they do not really appreciate what that means. They do not know that to this one trouble is traceable almost all of their bodily ills. They consider it a disease by itself, and if they have also neuralgia, nervous headaches, biliousness, kidney troubles and other things, they see no connection between them and the derangements of a strictly feminine nature. Busy and overworked physicians often treat these things as separate ailments, when the whole trouble has the one source. The reproductive organs are so important a part of the body that when they are out of order, the whole system is deranged. Whatever illness a woman has, she will do well to look there for the cause.

A great many women knowingly neglect themselves, because they dread the telling of their troubles to a physician and the subsequent examination and "local treatment." All this is needless for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been found to perfectly and permanently restore lost strength and promote regularity of functional action.

Twenty-one cents sent to World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y. will bring a 100 page book, called "The People's Medical Adviser" full of sound advice.

Hutzel's Water Back!

A very important invention which will be hailed with delight by every body using a stove or range for hot water circulation. After years of experience we have succeeded in producing a simple and perfect WATER BACK.

It overcomes all the present troubles of extracting lime and other sediments which accumulate in water backs, often making them useless and in great many instances becoming dangerous.

The outlay of dollars is reduced to dimes. No household using a range can afford to be without it.

No more trouble by using city water for hot water circulation.

Can be used in any stove. Ask your stove dealer for Hutzel's Water Back.

Mason & Davis Co's. ranges for sale at C. Eberbach are provided with our improvement.

Everybody call and examine this useful invention.

COUNTY AND VICINITY.

The Sharon court house is to be repaired.

There will be plenty of work for the cider mills this year.

The plum crop is rotting on the trees—too much wet.

Mrs. Anna Row, of Ypsilanti, died
Aug. 11, aged 76 years.

Mrs. John Rushton, of Manchester, died Aug. 4, aged 62 years.

It is said that the great quantity of rain is injuring the celery crop.

Remember the excursion to Detroit and Port Huron, to-morrow.

Capt. Allen will speak at the Farmer's Picnic at Whitmore Lake, Aug.
29th.

Mrs. E. D. Webb, of Ypsilanti, died
Aug. 9, after a lingering illness, aged 59 years.

Postmaster Bogardus at Ypsilanti, continues to make improvements in the office.

The school house in the Pierce district, Sharon, has been receiving much needed repairs.

Prof. M. A. Whitney, formerly of Ypsilanti, has moved to his new home in Elgin, Ill.

Capt. John Geddes has been appointed to the command of the Salvation Army at Ypsilanti.

Col. Fenn of Bridgewater, had to buy a new watch dog to keep the thieves away from his barn.

Good butter is very scarce in the market since the creamery started, says the Manchester Enterprise.

The Hankee cider mill has been bought by John Seckinger and moved to his residence in Bridgewater.

Doc Snyder has set up a cider mill on his farm in Webster, and grinds out apple juice at one cent a gallon.

Storms have caused considerable damage in various sections of the county during the week, both from wind and lightning.

The "Morgan store" at East Manchester, has been sold to Wray Graham and leased to W. C. Tew for the use of the creamery.

When threatening clouds come up these days, there are many nervous people who watch them with anxiety until they pass over.

Chas. Senger, of Manchester has a pear tree that blossoms twice a year, and this year has borne fruit from both sets of blossoms.

A meeting of the Michigan, Indiana and Ohio Butter, Egg and Poultry Association was held in Ypsilanti last week. Said not to have been bad.

A barn belonging to M. E. Keeler, of Sharon, was struck by lightning
one day last week, and the fluid glanced off and killed two cows standing near.

W. L. Watkins of Manchester, says he wants to talk with his friends before he shies his castor in the ring for the county clerk nomination. Very thoughtful.

On Monday of last week the barn of Wm Schurring, of Bridgewater, was struck by lightning and burned.
Loss $400, insured in the Southern Washtenaw.

The wind mill of W. B. Osborne, of Sharon, was tackled by lightning recently but gave the job up as too tough to handle. It couldn't out-wind that mill.

Saline Maccabees hold a picnic Aug.
25, 1896. The speakers are Hon.
H. S. Pingree, D. D. Aitken, Emma Bower, and J. N. Lewis. A good place to go for a good time.

The horse barn of Myron Pierce,
of Sharon, was struck by lightning
Monday before last and was destroyed, together with a quantity of hay.
Two tons of wool and the horses therein were saved.

Mrs. Henry Gregory has supplied the Dexter railway station with Bibles and prayer books for the Woman's Auxiliary of the Episcopal church.—Dexter Leader.

While sinking a well on the farm of John Pidd, four miles south of this village a vein of salt water was struck at a depth of 180 ft. The water is too salty to be good but does not contain much mineral.—Pinckney Dispatch.

Saloon business, like every other, is suffering from the effects of hard times. It is said that local saloon keepers will shortly combine and sell no more 5 cent whiskies.—Dexter Leader. Another argument for free silver. See?

Some men insist on showing what they don't know by telling what they think they do know about gold and silver. Which would be the most profitable, to keep it up or stay at home and pull your wild lettuce?—
Chelsea Herald.

The German Workingmen's Society of this place will take part in a body at the German American Day celebration in Ann Arbor, Aug. 27, '96. All members are requested to meet at the hall at 7 a. m.—Chelsea Herald.
That's business.

Supervisor L. D. Watkins of Manchester, has announced his candidacy for county clerk. He will make a stiff fight for a place on the democratic county ticket.—Ypsilanti Sentinel. Now who is "Supervisor L.
D. Watkins?"

Mr. M. O. Skeeto invaded the sanctity of our sanctum sanctorum one day last week and presenting his bill demanded and proceeded to extract blood from us.—Stockbridge Sun. A wrong spell. The last syllable should be "ter" and not "to."

Our townsman, H. Wirt Newkirk bids fair to make a lively canvass for the nomination for Judge of Probate.
Wirt has hosts of friends among the county republicans and they are all working for his success.—Dexter Leader. Yes, Wirt is decidedly in it, though we have heard it suggested that the speaker's chair of the state house of representatives would about fit him.

How the chicken stories pile up!
Here is one that comes all the way from Fowlerville. A merchant in that village of veracity was counting out eggs, when he heard a strange sound issuing from the basket. He put one of the inoffensive looking eggs under a hen, and next morning a sprightly chicken came forth and entered upon the perplexing cares of this life.—Stockbridge Sun. The lady who sold the eggs—and the merchant—does not peep.

To be frank, we owe some money and the parties we are indebted to want it, and we will have to raise it out of our outstanding accounts and stock of merchandise. Any who are indebted to us will please call and set-

Commercial Travelers at Work.

The executive committee of commercial travelers of the United States are at work, pushing their organization. The following letter has been sent broadcast over the country:

Dear brother traveler: We take this means of informing you that the national Republican executive committee have recognized the commercial men in this campaign as never before, having established a department to be known as the National Executive Committee of Commercial Travelers of the United States.

They have placed at the head of this department Mr. G. J. Corey, an old traveler, who has had years of experience on the road, visiting all sections of the country. The other members of the committee are old travelers, and familiar with the valuable work which can be done by commercial men.

We invite traveling men to organize wherever they can, and suggest that they name their clubs "Commercial McKinley Clubs."

We invite all travelers, regardless of former party affiliations, to become members of the Commercial McKinley Club, No. 1 of Chicago, and unite with us in an effort to maintain the financial integrity of our country.

Major McKinley fully appreciates the great influence the commercial men exert, and Mr. Hanna believes that very effective work will be done by his great army of ambassadors of commerce in this campaign, which presents the most important business issues since 1890.

"Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty," and if there ever was a time when we should work, it is now. With this spirit prevailing in our organization, we shall win a great and glorious victory in November.

We are going to Canton Aug. 28 to visit Major McKinley, and desire to make this the greatest demonstration of the campaign. Please arrange to either go with us or meet us there.

For information address G. J. Corey, chairman, room 42, Auditorium.

This is signed by N. S. Florsheim, secretary, and G. J. Corey, chairman,
G. J. Reed, Charles H. MacDonald, H.
B. Parker, G. W. Powell, and H. H.
Osgood.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASH-TENAW, ss. Notice is hereby given, that by an order of the probate court for the county of Washtenaw, made on the 11th day of August, A. D., 1896, six months from that date were allowed for creditors to present their claims against the estate of Eli S. Manly, late of said county deceased, and that all creditors of said deceased are required to present their claims to said probate court, at the probate office in the city of Ann Arbor, for examination and allowance, on or before the 11th day of February next, and that such claims will be heard before said court, on the 11th day of November and on the 11th day of February next, at

JUDGE OF PROBATE.

ESTATE OF ELEN E. DRAKE.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Washtenaw, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, on Friday, the 31st day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-six.

Present, J. Willard Babbitt, Judge of Probate.
In the matter of the estate of Ellen E. Drake, deceased.
Almira Delphin Drake, the executrix of the last will and testament of said deceased, comes into court and represents that she is now prepared to render her final account as such executrix.
Thereupon it is ordered, that Tuesday, the first day of Sept., next, at ten o'clock, in the forenoon, be assigned for examining and allowing such account, and that the devisees, leggees and heirs-at-law of said deceased,
and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, in said county, and show cause, if any there be, why the said account should not be allowed. And it is further ordered, that said executrix do notify in writing the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said account, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Ann Arbor Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

DON'T STOP
TOBACCO

IT'S INJURIOUS TO STOP SUD-DENLY and don't be imposed upon by buying a remedy that requires you to do so, as it is nothing more than a substitute. In the sudden stoppage of tobacco you must have some stimulant, and in most cases, the effect of the stimulant, be it opium, morphine, or other opiates, leaves a far worse habit contracted. Ask your druggist about BACO-CURO. It is purely vegetable. You do not have to stop using tobacco with BACO-CURO. It will notify you when to stop and your desire for tobacco will cease. Your system will be as free from nicotine as the day before you took your first chew or smoke. An iron clad written guarantee to absolutely cure the tobacco habit in all its forms, or money refunded. Price $1.00 per box or 3 boxes (30 days treatment and guaranteed cure), $2.50. For sale by all druggists or will be sent by mail upon receipt of price. SEND SIX TWO CENT STAMPS FOR SAMPLE

Eureka Chemical and Mfg Co., La Crosse, Wis.
Dear Sirs—I have been a tobacco fiend for many years, and during the past two years have smoked fifteen to twenty cigars regularly every day. My whole nervous system became affected, until my physician told me I must give up the use of tobacco for the time being at least. I tried the so-called "Kooly Cure," "No-To-Bac," and various other remedies, but without success, until I accidentally learned of your "Baco-Curo." Three weeks ago to-day I commenced using your preparation, and to-day I consider myself completely cured; I am in perfect health, and the horrible craving for tobacco, which every inveterate smoker fully appreciates, has completely left me. I consider your "Baco-Curo" simply wonderful, and can fully recommend it.
Yours truly,
C. W. HORNICK.

KAFFIR KOLA EXTRACT
Is the Greatest Remedy and Cure of the 19TH CENTURY

It is an extract made from the juice of the nut of the Sacred Kola tree of South Africa. Used by the Kaffirs and Zulus in their tribes for many generations as a positive cure for all nervous diseases in man or women, from any cause; dyspepsia; constipation; kidney and bladder ailments, and diseased liver. It cures rheumatism and blood affections. We are the sole agents for the United States for this wonderful extract. As a guaranty we return the price paid to the person having used one-third bottle and not being benefited thereby. Price $1.00, enough for a full month's treatment, and in ordinary cases enough for a cure. Ask for it at druggists, or order from direct; we pay all charges.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

silver at the old ratio of 16 to 1 to gold the principal issue in the presidential campaign now upon us, and, whereas, this and all other declarations of the platform are in line with Democratic precedent and true Democratic sentiment and worthy of the loyal support of every Democrat, therefore

Be it resolved, that we the Democrats of Washtenaw county in convention assembled do affirm our allegiance to the principles of the party as expressed by the Chicago platform and pledge our unqualified support to the nominees of that convention—to Bryan and Sewall and silver, and

Be it further resolved, that we extend an invitation to all the electors who feel with us the injustice of the single gold standard to co-operate in effecting its overthrow in the interests of the prosperity of the common people of the country.

The failure of the resolutions to mention Populist Watson's name, who is running with Mr. Bryan on the ticket was no doubt an oversight.

Then the convention proceeded to elect the following delegates-at-large: To the state convention, M. T. Woodruff, Ypsilanti; to the congressional convention, Arthur Brown, Ann Arbor; to the senatorial convention, John Gillen, Saline.

The convention then divided into districts and proceeded to elect the following delegates to the state, congressional and senatorial conventions:

First district delegates:
State—Horace Lighthall, Sylvan, Jacob Barris, Lima, Wm. Curlett, Scio, John O'Hara, Ann Arbor, H. W. Robison, Salem, Chas. H. Manly, Ann Arbor, John Koch, Ann Arbor, Clinton Snyder, Ann Arbor, W. M. Forsythe.

Congressional—G. W. Beckwith, Sylvan, Thomas Young, Jr., Lyndon, James Welch, Webster, Samuel Feldkamp, Freedom, Philip Murray, Salem, M. C. Peterson, J. R. Bach, C. H. Kline and J. L. Duffy, Ann Arbor.

Second district delegates:
State—Christian Sailey, Bridgewater, Jas. E. McGregor, Ypsilanti, Walter Voorheis, Superior, James M. Forsythe, Ypsilanti, A. D. McIntyre, York, Dr. H. I. Post, Augusta, John Lutz, Saline, W. B. Osborne, Sharon, J. W. Babbitt, Ypsilanti.

There was but one name proposed for the position of chairman of the county committee and that was Martin J. Cavanaugh. Mr. Cavanaugh was chosen by acclamation and when called to the front made a splendid speech of acceptance. Ex-chairman Brown was called for and made an enthusiastic speech. Densmore Cramer also made a few remarks.

The following county committee was then chosen:

The Republican Ratification

The meeting Saturday evening at the opera house was a success. The speakers were introduced by Col. Henry S. Dean, in a very happy manner, and were received with much enthusiasm. Of the speeches, the Daily Times says: "If any Democrat went there expecting to be called a 'fire-brand anarchist,' 'a beer-guzzling socialist,' 'a dishonest repudiationist,' 'a long-haired, grizzled populist,' 'a shirtless tramp' or any other invective he was doomed to disappointment. The gentlemen who spoke not only treated their opponents with great courtesy, but also attributed to them the best of intentions. The speeches were clean-cut and left no ill feelings in the minds of any who listened to them.

"Col. John Atkinson was the principal speaker of the evening. The doughty Colonel has the reputation of being quite a wit, but he did not turn much of it loose on the audience Saturday night. He compared the Republican platform with the Democratic platform and spent more time on the question of protection than any other one plank. He then devoted a little attention to the currency planks of the two parties and while he substantially conceded the position of the Democrats to be right, he thought a mixture of free trade and free silver was more than the country could stand. McKinleyism was the one panacea for existing evils in his opinion. He talked on the war record of the Republican party, the Cuban question, the Hawaiian stew, the Venezuelan tempest, eulogized McKinley and Pingree, both of which names elicited yells of approval.

"Gen. Spalding was next introduced and spoke at some length on what he considers 'safe' bimetalism—that is by international agreement and treaty, claiming it is as necessary as to have a treaty in regard to international trade. His argument was that the demand for silver should be greater than the supply and thus the price would be kept on a parity with gold. He therefore claimed that if this country would play a game of solitaire bimetalism, the supply would exceed the demand and a parity of the two metals would be an impossibility. He closed with an appeal to the voters to cast their ballots for 'McKinley—and Pingree—and Hobart.'

"Fred Merchant, of Ypsilanti, made a happy speech and kept the audience in good humor. After he had finished Col. Dean led the audience in three cheers for the candidates and the crowd then dispersed."

MONEY! MONEY!
To be frank, we owe some money and the parties we are indebted to want it, and we will have to raise it out of our outstanding accounts and stock or merchandise. Any who are indebted to us will please call and settle either by cash or note for short time. It's not our desire to rush anybody. Our entire stock of reliable shoes will be offered until AUGUST 29 at great sacrifice in price (until the night of Aug. 29). There are no paper-soled shoes in our stock, but all made of best leather and at best factories.

The Late Mrs. J. H. Wade.

The death of Mrs. J. H. Wade, which was noted in these columns last week, caused a loss to the society and citizens of this city, that will long be felt. The following notice of the sad event and of the most estimable lady, was prepared by a friend:

The deceased was born at Jonesville, Hillsdale county, this state, fifty-five years ago. Her maiden name was Elizabeth A. Sibbold. She was married to Mr. James H. Wade in Jonesville, in 1859. They continued to reside in Jonesville, where Mr. Wade was in business until 1883, when the Regents of the University appointed Mr. Wade Secretary, the duties of which office necessitated his removal to Ann Arbor where the family have since resided. Three children have been born to Mr. and Mrs. Wade. One died in infancy. The other two with the husband and father survive the deceased. The older of the children, Mr. Charles F. Wade, is cashier of the bank at Jonesville. The daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Wade Slocum, of Chicago, is well known to Ann Arbor people. Mrs. Wade has always enjoyed excellent health until a year ago last February when she suffered from a severe attack of the grip. From this she never fully recovered, one of the indirect results being the development of cancer which was the immediate cause of her disease. Although everything was done which the best medical skill in the country could suggest and loving friends could do to overcome the dread malady, it was all in vain and the end came last Thursday, and a noble woman gave up a life that had been devoted to family and friends. The death of Mrs. Wade leaves a vacant place in the social life of the University, and among the workers in the Presbyterian church which it will be difficult to fill. Funeral services were held Sunday at the home on S. State st., conducted by Rev. J. Mills Gelston, pastor of the Presbyterian church. Monday the bereaved husband and family accompanied the remains to the former home at Jonesville where they were laid to rest. The many floral offerings by the numerous friends here in the city were very beautiful. One piece especially noticeable was a beautiful column covered with pure white roses, the offering of the campus employes. At Jonesville the whole city united in paying its last respects to one whom they all loved, and who, though she had been gone from their midst for more than a decade, was yet a sweet memory. So strong was the people's regard for her that all business was entirely suspended, every business house in the city being closed while the remains were being carried from the train to the cemetery. At the grave was a scene which proved how strong indeed must have been the love of her friends in the days gone by. Instead of a gloomy vault, the grave had been transformed by loving hands with beautiful flowers into a lovely dell where it seemed more like laying one away for a sweet and refreshing sleep. Thus loving friends parted with a good woman whose life, in her good deeds, will live long after her."

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season but perhaps more generally needed when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine had often averted a long and perhaps fatal bilious fever. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, indigestion, constipation, dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c and $1.00 per bottle at Eberbach Drug & Chemical Co's Drug Store, and G. J. Heusseler, Manchester.

A POPULIST SONG.

Oh, we are rollicking, rollicking Pops!
We can talk, if we wish, till the universe stops.
We're a vigorous sort at a story or song.
Our finances are short and our whiskers are long:
And that's why
We're here to apply
For various changes, both startling and new.
We want a whole lot,
Though we don't know just what;
'Most any old thing (so it's different) will do.
Serenely we're looking ahead to the day
When diamonds won't cost near as much as baited hay,
And a blue gingham shirt, when we've counted our vote,
Will be stylisher far than a swallow-tail coat.
And that's why
We're here to apply
For a share of the spoils which we reckon our due,
And we don't have to wait
For a cause for debate—
'Most any old cause (so it's different) will do.
—(Washington Star.)

"Since the war farmers have steadily retrograded. The Republican attributed this to overproduction and endeavored to improve the condition of farmers by a protective tariff. Result: the panic of 1894. Do republican protectionists imagine that after having by a high protective tariff almost entirely closed our markets to all other nations, these nations would purchase even one bushel of corn or wheat from America?! Stupidity, thy name is McKinley!" — Hausfreund.

We cannot answer the above any better than by quoting that great German statesman Bismarck and wondering whether Herr Dancer will say "Stupidity thy name is Bismarck!"

The adoption of the policy of Protection in the German Empire may be fairly ascribed to the study of its successful operation in the United States, which was given the subject by Prince Bismarck. It was on May 14, 1882, that Bismarck, in one of his able speeches before the German Reichstag, said:

"The success of the United States in material development is the most illustrious of modern time. The American nation has not only successfully borne and suppressed the most gigantic and expensive war of all history, but immediately afterward disbanded its army, found employment for all its soldiers and marines, paid off most of its debt, gave labor and homes to all the unemployed of Europe as fast as they could arrive within its territory, and still by a system of taxation so indirect as not to be perceived, much less felt. Because it is my deliberate judgment that the prosperity of America is mainly due to its system of Protective laws I urge that Germany has now reached that point where it is necessary to imitate the Tariff system of the United States."

Loose clothes and downy cushions bring only a negative sort of comfort to a woman who is suffering with some disease or derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Some clothes and some positions make the pain and discomfort seem less. Perhaps the nerves are most affected and this in turn disturbs the digestion. Nothing will ever completely relieve but a radical cure. The start of so-called "emale complaints" may be a very slight thing indeed. It may be that in the beginning some small hygienic measures would stop the trouble. Certainly at this time, a little bit of the right medicine would stop it. When the trouble becomes worse, it is harder to cure, but still it can be cured. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will positively cure any trouble of this character. It may be absolutely relied upon. It affords lasting relief to a woman whose natural modesty has kept her from consulting a physician. Send 21 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

The Two Men

John F. Lawrence has been mentioned in connection with the senatorship. No Washtenaw interest would suffer in his hands. Andrew Campbell has also been spoken of in the same connection. Andrew would never vote for a bill against the public interest, no matter how big or how strong the lobby might be.—Ypsilantian.
The only trouble with Andrew would be that if he once got to talking the legislature would never adjourn. Mr. Lawrence would be an honor to the district and an honor to the senate, alike.

Excursion to Toledo.

Sunday, August 30, the Ann Arbor R. R. will run an excursion to Toledo leaving Ann Arbor at 10:25 a. m. Fare for the round trip, including five mile street car ride to and from Toledo and Lake Erie Park and Casino and admission to the theatre, only 75 cents. The theatre is built out in the lake about 1,000 feet from shore and will accommodate 5,000 people. The performance to be given Sunday, August 30, will eclipse anything heretofore produced at this popular resort, and will be free to Ann Arbor excursionists.

It will be remembered that she married a young man named C. P. Stevens, and they left shortly after on their wheels for Rapid City, S. Dak., where her father resides. Now it is stated that her father has taken her away from her husband, who it is alleged treated her ill. This should be a warning to all young girls. A secret marriage seldom turns out happily.

THE STATE ENCAMPMENT.

asserts that he has seen more citizens intoxicated at camp than he ever saw among the soldiers.

And there is no doubt that the discipline and order enforced has been more strict each succeeding year. Of course there is room for improvement, but is this not true of any organization?

As to the assertion in regard to the girls who visit the Camp being in danger of being ruined, Mr. Dispatch knows not of what he speaks. There is a strict rule that is positively enforced, that no ladies are allowed in Camp at night. And there is no place where ladies can stay in the vicinity of the camp at night. Therefore a lady can make one visit of one day's duration only.

Ask any enlisted man how much time he has to himself at camp and you will find that it is very little. His week at Camp is hard work. And he earns his pay.

An innocent girl who is of sound mind is as safe in Camp as in the village of Pinckney.

ONE WHO HAS SEEN.

Major Soule Defends -

Ann Arbor, Aug. 13, 1896. Through the Editor of Courier to the Pinckney Dispatch:

My Dear Sir: - I was very much surprised to note the article in the last issue of your paper, seriously reflecting upon the National Guard and feel that in justice to that body I must enter into protest against such unwarranted criticism, and especially from such a source as the statement comes. I am surprised, My dear sir, do you not know that at the moment your type was being set for the article in question, that in our neighboring state these same national guard were on duty standing for law and order as against anarchy, destruction and possibly rioting and murder, as against the majority of the law? Do you not know that hardly a year in the last twenty has passed without law and order has been defied, all over our country, and that the meager police force which all communities entrust with such duties, has been proved far too limited, and as a last resort our National Guard has been called to stand for and uphold the majesty of the law? Do you not know that twice within the last two years, inside the borders of our own state, to prevent riot and carnage, the governor has been compelled to call out our National Guard to support the local government in the maintenance of law and order? And I am glad to be able to say that they rallied to the call in full numbers, though it be at the expense of comfort and business, as they were in duty bound to answer the call, and firmly stood on the side of law as against anarchy and riot? Do you not know that our own company, located right here in our midst, "Co. A," was called at an unseemly hour, that they answered the call in full numbers, and that under the direction of the governor, they were held two days and nights under arms in the armory, waiting orders to move to the aid of local authorities for the maintenance of the law which had been trampled upon by mob violence? Do you not know that the state property interests, right here in Ann Arbor - to say nothing of private interests - would seem to appeal to every law abiding citizen the propriety of aiding and upholding the hands of those who are trying to make our National Guard, which they are, an honor to the state as well as the community in which they live?

Now would you, with your property interests, not only at home, but in our state, would you advocate the abandonment of our National Guard, warn the fathers and mothers to keep from its ranks their well beloved and dutiful sons? To hold us up as the recruiting place of vice and sure demoralization? I hope, on consideration, you will not take that ground. Having had some experience in the ranks, and been officially connected with our national guard for a period of over twenty years, and consider myself something of a judge of the personnel of that body, and I do not recall to mind a single instance of any young man who has fallen under the ban of disfavor, unless he had taken long strides in that direction before he became enrolled as a member. Should such a one succeed in getting enlisted, and the restraints and discipline fail to recall him to the walks of propriety, he would be at once dropped from membership, for no bummer is wanted or tolerated amongst the young gentlemen of the National Guard.

You also suggest as to the young girls, and their conduct toward the National guard. I would not undertake to advise the mothers in that connection, for I presume they are quite as competent to care for their daughters without any of my advice. However, let me add, my observation has not led me to the same conclusion as yourself. You have seen more of the unfortunate side of life or possibly your imagination has taken you on a more extended journey in that direction than is good for you. I think if you knew just a little bit about the National Guard and the personnel of our own company right here in our midst, it would be better for your peace of mind and might discover your appeal is mostly wind. You are wrong, my dear sir, very wrong.

Respectfully, H. SOULE.

In buying eggs now-a-days it behooves one to have his smellers with him. One housewife had two dozen sent her a few days since, and there was not one she could use in the lot. It is needless to remark that it was very eggsasperating.

The conference of the A. M. E. church will convene in Bethel A. M. E. church on Fourth ave., Wednesday, August 26, 1896, and hold until the following Monday. A reception will be given to the Bishop and ministers, Tuesday evening, August 25. A fine program will be rendered. All are invited.

The farewell services to Rev. C. M. Coburn will be given on Sunday evening next at the M. E. church. The churches of the city will unite in this service. Rev. T. W. Young, Rev. J. M. Gelston, Dr. C. G. Darling and others will speak. This is the last of the union services, and it will be very interesting as being a farewell service to one of the best loved pastors ever in this city.

The local militia, known as Company A, 1st regiment Michigan National Guard, left for the state encampment at Island Lake yesterday morning with full ranks and colors flying. Of the event the Daily Times said: "The men lined up across the great floor of the hall and after a few directions were addressed by Captain Granger in a helpful final talk on soldierly conduct and the matter of amusement at camp. The Captain spoke of the true marks of a soldier and urged the men above all things to be gentlemen while at camp. It was an earnest attempt to move the company to do its best and every man accepted the charge warmly and heartily. Capt. Granger also read a congratulatory letter from Capt. C. H. Manly. Then he called upon Col. Henry S. Dean, who gave a magnificent talk and concluded by telling the men how proud our citizens are of them. Capt. C. E. Hisecock followed in the same strain, and each talk was heartily applauded by the men."

MONEY: MONEY!

To be frank, we owe some money and the parties we are indebted to want it, and we will have to raise it out of our outstanding accounts and stock of merchandise. Any who are indebted to us will please call and settle either by cash or note for short time. It's not our desire to push anybody. Our entire stock of reliable shoes will be offered until AUGUST 29 at a great sacrifice in price (until the night of Aug. 29). There are no paper soled shoes in our stock, but all made of best leather and at best factories.

The Ideal Panacea.

James L. Francis, alderman, Chicago, says: "I regard Dr. King's New Discovery as an Ideal Panacea for Coughs, Colds, and Lung Complaints, having used it in my family for the last five years, to the exclusion of physicians prescriptions or other preparations." Rev. John Burgus, Keokuk, Iowa, writes: "I have been a Minister of the Methodist Episcopal church for 50 years or more, and have never found anything so beneficial, or that gave me such speedy relief, as Dr. King's New Discovery." Try this Ideal Cough Remedy now. Trial bottles free at The Eberbach Drug & Chemical Co's drug store, and G. J. Haussler, Manchester.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars; free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

Our foreign relations at the present time are instructive. Canada refuses our silver, and English investors are beginning to withdraw their capital. Michigan, among other states, is suffering as a recent dispatch from Houghton witnesses. It says: "Owing to the unsettled condition of the finances and the uncertainty regarding the future of the American money standard, the European capitalists who hold options on the four idle copper mines south of this place, will drop the deal when the options expire next month. The consideration would have involved nearly $1,000,000 capital, and would have given steady employment to 600 men." As Mr. McKinley says, "It is better to fill our mills with men than to fill our mints with silver."

The Cuban cause is being promoted by riots in Spain against the tax-gatherers. This may be considered as the closing phase of the war of independence in Cuba.

In the Turkish dominions the Cretan Reform committee has been superseded by a provisional revolutionary government, which has been promised the assistance of Greece, Russia and England, it is believed, have about arrived at an understanding to save both Armenia and Crete from further Turkish outrages.

In England Parliament is still busied with the Irish Land Bill. The bill has passed the House of Commons, and with several amendments has passed its third reading in the Lords. It seems likely that the result will either be the failure of the measure to become an act, or the passage of an extremely landlordish measure. In either case the Unionist government will have failed to justify its existence, and a new parliament, it may be expected, will be dominated by Liberalism or out and out Radicalism.

By long odds the cleverest thing that has been said since the campaign began to warm up came from the great-hearted southerner, Mar. on J. Verdy, says the New York Press. In an interview on the financial situation he says: "No, indeed; no crown with its poisonous prongs shall pierce the suffering head of labor, but instead, the same head by this free silver policy will be made to burn and sweat beneath the scorching sun of hot days, and receive as a reward a spurious coin whose face value belies its real value in the scale of the money-changer. No, 'you shall not crucify mankind on a cross of gold.' Neither was the victim of Calvary's stupendous tragedy so crucified, but He was cruelly betrayed for thirty pieces of silver, and the metal still smells of treachery."—New Orleans Picayune.

Doesn't the success of the farmer depend upon the ability of the laborer to purchase his products? Cut the salary of the laborer in two, and he will stop buying everything but the merest necessities. Every one will admit that. If he can not buy, the farmer can not sell, and down go his prices again, and then where is he? The law of supply and demand must not be ignored even in this free silver talk. If the reader of this is a farmer, and not already so prejudiced that he can not listen to argument, it would be well for him to think over that proposition for a few minutes.

Ex-Gov. Pennoyer, of Oregon, the great apostle of free silver in that state owns a great deal of property that he rents, and he compels all of his tenants to sign a contract to pay their rent in gold. Of course he is for free silver. It is such rich men who will prosper from this change in the financial policy of the government if adopted. The poor will be made poorer, whether they are on the farm or in the city. Mark this prediction.

According to a celebrated anatomist there are upwards of 5,000,000 little glands in the human stomach. These glands pour out the digestive juices which dissolve or digest the food. Indigestion is want of juice, weakness of glands, need of help to restore the health of these organs. The best and most natural help is that given by Shaker Digestive Cordial. Natural, because it supplies the materials needed by the glands to prepare the digestive juices. Because it strengthens and invigorates the glands and the stomach, until they are able to do their work alone. Shaker Digestive Cordial cures indigestion certainly and permanently. It does so by natural means and therein lies the secret of its wonderful and unrivaled success.

Electric Light

THE BEST

Some of the Advantages of Electric Light:

	Cubic feet of air vitiated.	Cubic feet of carbonic acid produced.	Heat produced in 1 lb Watt's raised 1° Fahrenheit.
12 c. p. Incandescent Lamp	None.	None.	13.8
12 c. p. Gas Light	345.25	3.21	278.6
12 c. p. Kerosene Lamp	376.30	3.54	232.6

Some of the Disadvantages of Gas:

Air consumed.	Carbonic Acid thrown off.
Heat.	Unsteadiness of Light.
Freezing Pipes.	Danger of Suffocation.
Humidity.	Danger from use of Matches.
Ceilings Blackened.	Water and Air in Pipes.
Sulphur thrown off.	Metals and Gildings Tarnished.
Ammonia thrown off.	Sulphuretted Hydrogen thrown off.
Gas cannot be inverted to throw light down.

None of these Disadvantages Accompany Electric Lighting.

In general the Incandescent Electric Light is much healthier and much more convenient to use than any other method of lighting, and is more economical for amount of light furnished than gas.

FASHIONS AT NEWPORT.

The Popularity of Black Trimmings—Black or White Hats—Ostrich Feather Capes—Yachting and Bathing suits—"Leggin Hose."

Although black is often somewhat ignored in early Spring or Summer, it asserts itself sooner or later, and particularly during the present month—possibly as a contrast to gay colors, or as heralding the approach of Fall.

Black lace on fine white muslin is very effective, and three or four rows on a skirt, with a ruffle at the edge, and crossbands on the waist, denote truly elegant taste.

Black and yellow combinations are noticeably popular among the gay throngs at the Casino, or in afternoon drives on Bellevue Avenue, black plumose on yellow Leghorns, or mists of black tulle and wings ornament yellow lace straw.

A handsome black and yellow waist are considered very recherche, and a black Neapolitan hat, clouded in black Milane, with black aigrettes and wings, to be worn with white or colored costumes, is essential to every Newport belle.

YOUNG PEOPLE

look lovely in all-white hats of chiffon, tulle and white wings, on their drives or promenades, their charms enhanced by white ostrich feather capes or boas; and homely indeed must be the face that is not attractive in such environments. Heavier wraps are often necessary in view of ocean breezes or cool changes, and velvet or velutina capes serve a greater variety of purposes than those of any other material, it being difficult to distinguish the latter fabric from high-grade silk velvet at the distance of a few feet.

YACHTING IS A PROMINENT

feature of Newport life; consequently, yachting suits command special attention. Those of white duck or linen look cool and appropriate on warm days, but blue or white serge meet all requirements. Plain skirts and short jackets trimmed with gilt, blue or white braid, arranged in crosswise clusters down the front, on a revers or plain Eton (or Zouave) jacket, each strap terminating in a gilt button, constitute stylish costumes, the addition of a white leather belt being optional. White cloth revers on blue or black suits, ornamented with gilt braid, are extremely effective, and rosettes with a gilt button at the centre are much in favor.

The population of Newport is more stationary than that of Saratoga, and apparent wealth and elegance have a background of millions, while only a temporary display is often attained at Saratoga. The same people come here year after year, and a permanent institution in Newport households is Ivory Soap, causing the millionaire's glass and china to sparkle like diamonds, preserving the colors of baby's dainty little fannel saques, or the varied tints of the older sister's handsome shirt waists.

THE SKIRTS

of some bathing suits are noticeably short, so much so that the drawers do not show at all, and the sleeves a single, short puff. Mohair, brilliantine, serge, and even taffeta silk and black satin, suits are shown, and large collars of red, white or blue are a rule, often in addition to elaborate braid trimmings.

o golf and bicycle devotees has come about in the shape of a simulated leggin, which is nothing more than a long tan-colored stocking, the buttonholes made in heavy silk on the exterior, with buttons fastened into proper place. For cool weather stout hosiery in soft plaids or mixed hues, with a gayly-colored "cuff top," is substituted, and these have the advantage of being with or without feet.

It is obligatory again this season that shoes, hosiery and costumes should be in keeping; therefore, tan or black still enjoy great favor. Open work, lace ribs, or small embroidered designs on plain colors, with white or colored tops, enjoy great prestige.

VERONA CLARKE.
The Naming of Ann Arbor.

A recent relation of the alleged origin of the name of Washtenaw's county seat has impelled one of our oldest residents to furnish the following for publication. To the Editor of THE SENTINEL:

Can you spare a small space in your paper aside from political matter? I wish to tell what I know of the naming of our sister city, Ann Arbor.

In the fall of 1831 I came to Ann Arbor, as it was then spelled, with my father and his large family. Mrs. Ann Allen, John Allen's second wife, and Mrs. Ann Rumsey, a widow, were living there at that time. Messrs. Allen and Rumsey were partners in the enterprise of starting the village. I think they came in 1824. At one time we lived in the first frame house that they built. The log house, a two story affair, was still standing beside it, in good condition. We used it for store-room, play house in bad weather, etc.

Mr. Allen's family, at the time I first knew them, were his wife, one child (Sarah Ann), two children by his first wife (who died in Virginia), James, recently died in Ann Arbor, and Elizabeth, afterwards Mrs. Wilson, his mother, a very nice old lady. Other relatives had followed—Mr. Turner Allen, who married Miss Maynard, sister of William S. and John Maynard, and whose third wife was a Mrs. Crofts, sister to Samuel P. Jewett's first wife.

There was then no dispute over the name. Many of the noble forest trees were still standing, especially on the jail square. The jail was of logs. There was a large brick house on one side of the square. For four years Miss Sarah Sargeant taught a select school in this house, and I never missed a day in my attendance. It was occupied by the Methodists as a place of worship.

In 1840, when I became a pupil of Miss Clark's school, Miss Sarah Ann Allen was a classmate, also a pupil of mine, for I taught Miss Clark's arithmetic classes. Mrs. Allen and her daughter (Sarah Ann) returned to Virginia. Mr. John Allen was still in Ann Arbor in 1843 or 1844. I watched with her sister, Mrs. Mary Welch, every Saturday night for months and finally with her corpse. He was an innate of her house at the time. He was a fine looking man, a splendid singer, and had been state senator. Mrs. Welch was stepmother to Mrs. Dr. Denton and Mrs. Olney Hawkins.

I attended dancing school when I was 14, and Mr. James Allen, recently deceased, was the first gentleman with whom I danced.—Ypsilanti Sentinel.

Silver Money and Wages.

The free silver advocates occasionally claim that silver is the money of civilization. Now here are the 24 countries using the gold standard of values: United Kingdom, France, Germany, Belgium, Italy, Switzerland, Greece, Spain, Portugal, Roumania, Servia, Austria-Hungary, Netherlands, Canada, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Turkey, Australia, Egypt, Cuba, Haiti, Bulgaria and the United States. And here are the eight countries using the silver standard: Mexico, Russia, Central American states, South American states, Japan, India, China and Straits settlements.

Now which represents the best civilization, the 24 gold standard or the eight silver standard countries?

With reference to wages in two of the silver countries, the Hon. S. E. Gracey, formerly consul to Foo Chew, China, gives the following account of the conditions existing in China and Mexico:

"When I went to China in 1890 the Mexican silver dollar was the common currency in use by the natives in their dealings with foreigners and were worth 93 cents in gold. After the change of the value of the rupee in India the value of the Mexican dollar rapidly declined, and in less than a year the Mexican dollar was only 63 cents, and in '93 it fell to 53 cents, and since then has maintained an average of 51 cents or 53 cents.

"The price of all foreign goods was immediately affected and was soon doubled. All native products were also advanced, but not to the same extent. Native labor continued at the old price. We paid our help just the same number of dollars per month in '94 with the same silver dollars we bought for 53 cents of gold, that we did in '90 when we paid 93 cents for them.

"The natives will not work for foreigners as cheaply as they do for contractors of their own country, and we had to pay the high wages of $4 Mexican per month, or about 14 cents per day, which on a gold basis was about 8 cents, and they found themselves in everything. Native contractors could obtain the same class of laborers for from $1.50 to $2 Mexican per month, and for the best skilled labor, mechanics, citizens, etc., not more than $3, which at the present value of the Mexican dollar in gold in that country is about $1.10 to $1.60 per month, or from 4 cents to 6 cents per day in gold.

"My son spent last winter in southern Mexico, and he tells me that laborers on the coffee plantations there are usually paid about 20 cents per day in Mexican silver. This would be much better than the wages of Asiatic laborers in their country, for in China there is no Sunday, and men work from 10 to 12 hours a day and call it a month.

"I recently met a gentleman in Boston, who was here to secure four or five American citizens as superintendents for departments in a watch factory he has established at Osaka, in Japan, and he asserted that he could obtain the best classes of native skilled laborers for work in his factory at 20 cents per day Mexican, labor which in this country commands $2.50 to $3 per day gold.

"What can our American workmen be thinking about when they crowd Paneeul hall and shout themselves hoarse over a proposition to pay them in silver dollars worth only 53 cents, when all the world except countries like China, India, Japan, Mexico, etc., which are on a silver basis, is maintaining a 100-cent dollar as the medium of payment to all wage earners?"

A short time ago Mr. Bryan, Demopop candidate for president, was speaking in Ackley, Iowa, when one of the lecturers asked the question: "Mr. Bryan, will the adoption of the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 cause a business depression and panic, as Secretary Carlisle and other great financiers predict?" Mr. Bryan answered promptly as follows: "Yes, in my opinion, it would have that tendency. But if a man is sick there is no use putting off giving him his medicine and letting him get worse. I think it will cause a panic. But the country is in a deplorable condition, and it will take extreme measures to restore it to a condition of prosperity." This deliberately courting a panic and business depression in order to cure it afterwards, is an odd kind of financial vagary.

A prominent southern Democrat said the other day in New York: "We want to push our products into all the markets of the world, and the only thing which stands in the way of our so doing is the high price of our labor. Everything that we make has come down in price. But while everything else has declined in cost, our labor still sticks at the old prices, and there doesn't seem to be any way to bring labor down except through some sort of a protracted revolution. Free silver, however, would solve the question in an hour. It wouldn't advance the price of any kind of labor, because all labor is now at inflation prices, and just as high as it would be under any conditions. But if free silver were adopted, we would pay labor in 50-cent dollars. That would cut labor in two at once, thus fetching it down to the plane of everything else. This accomplished, we would be in shape to successfully compete with England or any other country for the markets of the world."

Kalamazoo celery-growers demand $5,000 from the city for damage to their crops. They claim their lands were flooded by the attempt of the city to force the water that once ran through the Coldstream mill race and Portage creek under a bridge intended for the creek alone.

The Tariff and the Farmer.

There was nothing that furnished the Democrats quite so much satisfaction during the first part of the Cleveland administration as the abrogation of the reciprocity treaties that had been negotiated by Mr. Blaine. The Democrats seemed to have a particular spite against Mr. Blaine and were in great glee whenever one of his carefully prepared treaties was wiped out. It is true those treaties were making such markets as we never had before for our farm products and manufactures, but that made no difference; they were Blaine's work and they must go, and go they did, with sorry results as regards trade.

The American Protective Tariff league recently compiled from official figures a statement of the exports and imports of various classes of articles for a series of years, and selections from these figures make very interesting reading just now. The fiscal year ending June 30, 1892, was the first full year of the McKinley tariff. That ending June 30, 1894, was the last full year under some parts of that tariff, and the year ending June 30, 1895, was the first full year of the Wilson-Gorman tariff.

We take first barley, in which Michigan farmers are especially interested on account of their close proximity to the Canadian border. The exports of barley from this country for a series of years were as follows:

Year ending June 30.	Bushels.
1891	973,612
1892	2,300,775
1893	3,025,297
1894	5,219,495
1895	1,563,754

The imports of barley showed a drift in the opposite direction. For a number of years they were over 10,000,000 and 11,000,000 bushels respectively, but under the McKinley tariff they were brought down as follows:

Year ending June 30.	Bushels.
1892	3,144,913
1893	1,999,761
1894	791,061

In 1895, under the Wilson-Gorman tariff, they rose again to 2,116,816 bushels. In other words the McKinley tariff and reciprocity treaties caused an increase of exports from 973,602 bushels to 5,219,495 bushels, and a decrease of imports from 11,327,052 in 1890 to 791,061 in 1894. This was certainly a very satisfactory condition of the foreign trade to the American barley grower, a condition which the Wilson tariff has exactly reversed.

Of beans and peas under the McKinley act in 1892 the exports were 637,972 bushels, and the imports were 874,050 bushels. In 1895, under the Wilson tariff, the exports had dropped to 242,682 bushels, and the imports had increased to 1,535,913 bushels.

Of bacon and hams the exports in 1892 were 584,776,389 pounds, in 1895 they were 538,044,009.

Of cattle we imported in 1892 only 2,168, valued at $47,466, and in 1894 only 1,592. In the calendar year 1895, under the Wilson tariff, the imports had risen to 236,888. With this increase of imports of cattle, there came a decrease of exports from 394,607, valued at $35,099,095 in 1892, to 289,350 with a value of $26,997,701 in the calendar year 1895.

In corn the exports in value fell off from $41,590,460 in the fiscal year 1892, to $14,650,767 in the calendar year 1895. The butter exports were 15,047,246 pounds in 1892, and 11,822,092 in 1894, while in 1895, under the Wilson tariff, they fell off to 5,598,812. The cheese exports were $2,100,221 pounds in 1892, and 73,852,134 in 1894, and only 40,800,934 in 1895.

Under free trade in eggs in 1888, 1889 and 1890, we imported over 15,000,000 dozen each year. With a duty of five cents a dozen levied the imports fell off to 1,791,430 dozen in 1894, and under the Wilson tariff they rose again to 2,709,411 dozen in 1895.

In 1894, with a total potato crop of 170,787,338 bushels, we exported 803,111 bushels, while in 1895 with a product of 297,237,370 bushels, we exported only 572,837 bushels.

In 1892 we exported to the countries on the American continent with which we had reciprocity treaties, 8,843,688 barrels of flour. In 1895, with the reciprocity treaties abrogated, we exported only 4,563,905 barrels to the same countries.

And so it runs through a long list of exports of which the following are additional samples:

	1892	1895.
Rye—bushels.....	12,041,316	9,437
Oats.....	9,425,778	570,257
Seeds—value.....	$ 6,571,282	$ 2,849,145
Tallow—pounds.....	89,790,010	23,804,390

FREE SILVER INCONSISTENCY.

"All financial roads lead to England," our free silver friends say, and then they turn around and assert: "What do we care for England, or Germany, or any other country on earth? We can take care of ourselves and tell them all to go to hades." And yet the truth exists, so the London Standard tells us, that since the free silver agitation, and the feverish sentiment in regard to the finances of this nation, there has been accumulating in the Bank of England immense amounts of gold until the sum has reached $250,000,000. This money had been invested in foreign countries, quite largely in the United States, but had been called in because of the unsettled feeling. And that paper states that depositors have directed their agents to hold it until a healthy, settled public sentiment shall exist in regard to our monetary system, then send it over here for investment.

This money is not invested in bonds and mortgages, etc., but in railroads, and factories and enterprises that require the expenditure of money among laboring men, manufacturers, etc. It would help the wheels of industry, and aid in filling the empty dinner pails. Because it is English money is no reason for being prejudiced against it.

There is not a county in one of our western states but is now and has been for years using every possible endeavor to secure outside capital to come in and help develop their resources and build them up. Why should not this nation gladly welcome outside capital for the same purpose?

DOWN THE BLUE DANUBE

In an Open Boat—Second Letter of this Interesting Voyage.

On the Danube, July 14, '96.

DEAR MR. EDITOR:—In describing our boating trip from the Black Forest to the Black Sea on the Danube, I had to close while the great river was showing us what it might do if trifled with. The powerful eddy drew us back steadily toward a pier of the bridge, until, by a desperate tugging at the oars, I shot the little craft into another swirl which carried us toward the wall of masonry at the shore. The boat came against that pretty roughly. A small boy who had crawled down on a ledge, caught the end of the boat and held on until I was ready to pull against the returning waters. Now every body on shore cheered while we slowly conquered the current and, at last, darting away with the busy river. Calm and innocent as the Danube now looked once more, yet we realized that we must watch it.

Newburg had no attraction except an old castle and we did not care to tarry longer. So we drifted on past old white village churches whose towers were capped by a Moorish ornament painted red, past swamp lands literally filled with heron and sand banks where cranes stalked up and down with the air of "I am monarch of all I survey. Then we reach Ingolstadt, once a famous university town with 4000 students to enliven it, but now lazily basking in the reflected light of departed glory. 1555 saw it possessed of the first Jesuit college in Germany and in 1532 the great Gustavus Adolphus besieged it with the no less famous Tilly within its walls. The tomb of Dr. Eck, opponent of Luther, is in the old Frauenkirche whose massive towers are the pride of the town.

After we do a town we usually bring the population in our wake to the water's edge after the manner of the pied piper of Hamelin. If the sun shines I get them with my kodak much to their mystification, and then we embark amid "Gluckliche reise," good wishes. "Die shone Frau," as the shop-keepers call my wife, is an object of much solicitude. A woman who will abandon herself to the terror of the Danube is a marvel.

It is always pleasant to return to the nervous waters of the river where we move generally without the aid of oars so rapid is the motion. Our second camp at Vohburg was in a beautiful spot. Lest you think that there are all too many pleasant circumstances in this trip to be compatible with real life, I will say that when there are unpleasant adventures I shall tell them as heartily as ever. We have had a week of delightful weather and there is little but pleasure to relate. Eagerness to enter the mountain defile ahead of us got us up at sunrise. We soon embarked and rowed out into the mists, which hung upon the river. The stream soon turned and plunged us between two lofty cliffs of limestone about 200 ft. high. At the entrance was a tiny village whose cottages were built on convenient ledges. There was a sheer descent to the water from some of the walls and the roofs were fastened to the cliff. A woodshed in a cave was one unique sight. The precipitous limestone walls continued several miles excepting an open space on the inner side of an abrupt curve in the river, and this was filled by an old abbey with high walls. Throughout this defile there were iron rings, fastened in the rocks at the water's edge for the convenience of tired boatmen who put their queer crafts up stream.

Here and there in uncomfortable ledges of the rock we saw stiffly carved saints with misfit halos. My faithful Sancho thought mermaids or sirens would be much more appropriate, but I suppose those who placed them there were more religious than poetic. We were obliged to keep alert and row now to one side now another of the steam to avoid the surging rapids, which always lead to a rock with an ugly face that seems yearning for victims.

The Befreingshulle high upon a mountain above Kelheim soon came in sight. It is a rotunda about 200 feet high surrounded by lofty columns and stands white and massive and solitary upon the green summit. Kelheim itself is a busy town with extensive quarries. We drifted by it. The shores of the Danube grew flat and the sun grew hot. We put up umbrellas and dreamily watched the Hall of Freedom vanish in the distance. On low islands in the river geese and cows were herded together. There were myriads of snipe on the sand-bars of the river. Their little weak voices piped defiance when Madame the cooek wished she could wring their necks and boil them in the pot. More hills and more chaggy rocks came to view. The Devil's rock or Teufelsfels with its marble tablet and Latin inscription imbedded in the rock. Many Roman coins were found here during the construction of a railroad.

We were approaching Ratisbon, or "Ratsbane" as my jovial Sancho calls it. Passing under two immense railroad bridges and through a slow moving widening of the river our little blue Argo was suddenly seized by a strong current and borne with irresistible force toward a stone bridge with small arches. The river was high and the

A PRETTY RESORT.

(Continued from 1st Page) is certainly an ideal place for a summer outing. The bluff here rises in a perceptible manner, to a height of 50 or 60 feet. This bluff is wooded, and the shore is of gravel, but runs into deep water sooner than on the south side. It is all well fitted for resort purposes.

The fishing in Cavanaugh Lake is good, but if one gets tired he can go in any direction almost, and find another lake within half a mile or more. The stories that are told of fish and fishermen here are sometimes marvelous. Once get Mr. Sawyer and Dr. Armstrong started on Crooked Lake and its fishing, and you are transported to a fisherman's haven immediately. It is said that the results of Mr. Sawyer's fishing are quite as astonishing as the verdicts rendered by juries occasionally when he has hypnotized them. Here is a specimen:

The fish are so anxious to be caught up there, that most every one fishes with two hooks on the line instead of one, thus making a double catch. Well, Mr. Sawyer had some company come one day and there was no meat in the house for dinner. As may be imagined the women folks were a little nervous. But not Mr. Sawyer. He took a pole and line, put four hooks on it, and in about fifteen minutes had a variety of fish for dinner that would have done credit to a Long Branch hotel. The last haul that he made that day was wonderful. Each hook had a victim. One had a blue gill, another a bass, another a perch, another a bull head, and the astonishing part is that hanging to each the blue gill's and to the bass's tail was a large moss ball mud turtle, to the bull head's tail was an eel some six feet long, and to the perch's tail was a 14-lb pickerel, and he landed every one of them in a boat without the aid of a net. This is one of Mr. Sawyer's very best fish tales.

Then again, Mr. Sawyer and Dr. Armstrong went over to Crooked Lake fishing. This lake is so named from the crooked character of its banks, and not of its fishermen, as many have supposed. Well, Dr. got a bile, and commenced hauling in. He found at once that he had a big one. The fish began to be tired of being hauled in, and so turned the thing around and commenced hauling the boat. The Dr. was in favor of letting go, but Sawyer hung on like a burdock to the curly fur of a water spaniel. Finally the speed got to be dangerous and in turning one of the short curves of the bank, it threw Sawyer out. In his rapid movement his foot caught in the anchor chain, and together, (Sawyer and the chain), they circled around a big tamarack tree that grew near the bank. This brought the fish up so suddenly that it stunned him, and the Dr., having had experience, knew that prompt action was necessary, so he started the hauling in process once more. He jumped on shore, and securing Mr. Sawyer's help they started out for home. After reaching their cottage they started back to bring in the catch. What was their astonishment to find it an eel, and although it's head reached their cottage its tail had not yet got itself out of the first kink in the banks of Crooked Lake, a mile and a half distant. Of course the gentleman who tells this story, and who is its hero, need furnish no affidavits. It is too probable to doubt for a minute.

HOW TO GET THERE. One can leave Ann Arbor on any of the trains that stop at Chelsea, and upon arriving at that village a bus meets the morning and evening trains and make the trip out, a distance of four and one-half miles directly west, and the charge is only a quarter each. The proprietor of this line is a down-east Yankee, who is known as "Zach" Chandler. He is accommodating and kind hearted, and can spin out conversation on the beauties of Cavanaugh Lake, Chelsea and vicinity in unceasing volume.

One can leave the Lake at about 3 o'clock and at half-past 4 be at home in Ann Arbor.

water simply gushed through and seethed and whirled beyond. It was a dangerous venture, there was no alternative then. The change passengers on the bridge leaned eagerly from the rail and shouted useless German warnings. I steadied the boat and aimed it for the arch nearest the quay. The little boat did nobly and went down the watery incline as smoothly as a more pretensions craft could have done. A moment of bathing with surging waves and the staunch little Argo rode again in placid swift moving waters. The admiring public gathered about our boat at the landing place and we left them in possession while we went to see the sights and do some marketing. The once Roman and later Celtic town has many relics of the old German life such as private houses with towers for defense. There is an old cathedral with a fine exterior and what is called the "Asses Tower" with a winding inclined plane as a stairway. We saw the remains of an old Roman gate, the Porta Praetoria, and bought our supply of rolls at the Goliath bakery, a tall building with a huge giant painted on the front, very old. C. H. VAN TYNE. A DELIGHTFUL WEDDING.

(Continued from 1st page) pressive by the admirable manner in which it was conducted. After the ceremony the guests, consisting largely of relatives of the couple were invited to the dining room where dainty refreshments were served by the young lady friends of the bride, which added much to the charm of the occasion.

The couple left on the 5 o'clock train on the M. C. for Detroit, and the hand-fulls of rice that were sent after them on their departure, each had a "God bless you; be kind to you; let you live long and be happy," in its rattle as it descended upon their heads. The bridal trip was not an extensive one, as they only went to Detroit, returning on the Friday following, and going to their home at 88 S. First st., which had been prepared for their reception.

The tables which contained the presents bore many that were not only beautiful but valuable as well, the groom's parents and the State Savings Bank each being very kind in their remembrance.

BAKER'S ICE WATER,

Cereals Mixed Therein.

Not all the harm said to come from lead tea is caused by the cold. Many persons who suffer from stomach and nervous disorders, find great relief by abandoning tea and coffee entirely. It is a common practice of the bakers who work all day over hot stoves at the Postum Cereal factory at Battle Creek Mich., to stir cereals into the j. r. o. ice water. Experience proves that very cold water can be used quite freely in this way without any ill effects likely to follow the free use of plain ice water. This should teach a lesson. If one must drink lead drinks at meals during hot weather, take all the advantage possible and use Postum Cereal, the grain coffee,iced with sugar and a few drops of lemon juice. This gives a delicious cooling drink which is food in a liquid state and very nourishing and strengthening. Postum will agree with weak stomachs that suffer from tea or coffee, and is a great nerve builder, taken either hot or cold; try it.

There is but one genuine original Postum Cereal coffee, with a multitude of imitations offered as "just as good."

The lake itself is about one mile long, and from a half to three-quarters of a mile wide. It is considered a safe body of water, for it is not known that any one ever lost his life there. There is a good carriage road nearly around it. If any one is in search of a quiet, inexpensive place for summer residence, they no need to go any farther than Cavanaugh.

The people here are all jolly and enjoy themselves. They have parties, and dances, and pleasant entertainments of their own, but if one is not pleased with such things they can be located all alone by themselves. Great is Cavanaugh, and long to be remembered.
