"Have you heard from Maine?" has been a political phrase used by one party or the other ever since the oldest of us can remember anything about politics. As goes Maine, so goes the Union," is another prophetic assertion that has been in common use presidential years.

There is no doubt about how Maine has gone this year. The telegraph commenced by announcing that the republicans had carried it by 30,000, then 35,000, then 40,000, then 45,000, and the last statement makes it 50,000! The greatest majority ever known in the history of the state. Hardly enough democrats voted to pay for counting. The gold democratic ticket had very few votes, the democrats either voting directly the republican ticket or staying away from the polls. The republicans gained 22 per cent. over the great cyclone of 1892, and the democrats lose 41 per cent. The republicans elect every member of the state senate and 145 out of 151 members of the house.

Maine was once burned with green-backism, and as a burned child dreads the fire, so do the people dread a financial policy that is not honest.

The Schlee-Judson Nuptials—

On Thursday evening last at the home of the bride's parents, the lives of Miss May, daughter of Sheriff and Mrs. Wm. Judson, and of John A. Schlee, were united in marriage, Rev. Dr. J. W. Bradshaw performing the ceremony. Only a few relatives and intimate friends were present.

Miss Judson has lived here but a short time, but long enough to gain many friends by her lady-like demeanor. The groom has been in the employ of George Wahr for several years, and has had complete charge of the State st. store of this firm ever since it was started. He is a clean, honest, upright young business man, with no vices but many virtues to his credit, and is well deserving of the prize he has won.

The couple have taken rooms at the American House for the present.

Here is to a long life and unalloyed happiness.

The Y. M. C. A. have secured a very expensive, and a very attractive, and a very instructive, and a very entertaining course of entertainments for the coming season. The Presbyterian church is where they will be held, the same as last year, and there will be a greater demand for seats than ever before. Every evening will be filled with a first class attraction and no one can afford to let the opportunity of attending go by. There are to be six entertainments, and the cost of the entire six will be only $1. The Y. M. C. A. deserve the hearty support of the people of this city in their efforts to give a first class series for a nominal admission fee.

Political Ingratitude—

It is strange how injustice gets in its work in a political convention. As to gratitude, it is unknown in politics. In the recent democratic convention, one of the gentlemen who spoke attacked the opposite candidate, Mr. Wm. G. Doty, because, as he said, he had been in public office for the past twenty years. Mr. Doty and his friends resent that statement. To be sure he has held the office of deputy probate register for that many years nearly, but not at the sufferance of the democratic party. He could have been dismissed any minute by the probate judge and the party could not have helped themselves. He held the office because of his capabilities for it. He has built up a system, and conducted the affairs of the office in such a business-like, methodical way that he has made himself invaluable to it, that is why he held it. And they further believe that the party is indebted to him for past services and for implied promises which have been regularly made, but never fulfilled. Mr. Doty feels that he has been ill-treated in his own political house by those who ought to have been his friends. And who can honestly say that he has not?

A grand Campaign Song, called "Prosperity, Protection and McKinley," has just been written, composed and published by F. A. Blackmer, 49 Cornhill, Boston, Mass., that is bound to be a feature of the campaign and a substantial aid in downing the "Silver Bugs," for the power of song must be conceded. The republican and "Sound Money" papers are unanimous in its praise.

Almost Six Centuries—

It is seldom that here, in this new land of freedom, a man can trace his ancestry back a great ways. But once in a while a man is found who can follow the family tree way back into the dim past. Such an one is John R. Miner of this city. He goes back nearly six centuries, away back to 1339, through eighteen generations.

The person who first bore the name of Miner in England lived at Menditite Hills, Somersetshire, and the name was given him by Edward 3d, because he owned mines at that place.

Mr. Miner has an unbroken record from this first person bearing that name, to the present day.

The first ancestor to come to America was in the year 1630, coming over with the famous John Winthrop, who afterwards became governor of Massachusetts.

In 1645 he settled permanently at New London, Connecticut. The son of this English emigrant, born in 1643 commenced the line of John Miners, and our John Miner is the seventh descendant by that name. That the name will not die with him is already assured for there are two other John Miners following—son and grandson.

The records in the old towns of Stratford, opposite Bridgeport, in Conn., and of New London, show the Miner family to have occupied prominent positions at various times.

Mr. Miner knows all about the family from its start to the present time, knows where they lived, what they did, where they are buried, and so on. It is quite a remarkable fact, and one not often equaled.

The reporter happened to stumble on to this remarkable family record a few days ago, or he never would have secured this excellent item.

Good News from Montana—

A private letter to a gentleman in this city from his son, who is now in Montana, dated Glendive, Montana, Sept. 2d, says:

"This is a very pretty little town, situated on the Yellowstone river, in between the young mountains that they call 'buttes' in this country. I should say there were 1,200 people here, and a majority are for McKinley. From what I see and hear in traveling over the state, I judge that 16 to 1 has not the strong hold in Montana that it had two months ago. "Everyone I talk with here says that it would not be surprising if McKinley carried Montana. What do you think of that?"

On This District—

It is understood that all other candidates for the republican nomination for representative in this district have stepped aside and left the field to Hon. A. J. Sawyer. This being the case it will give him a powerful push for this place, and one that will land him on the side of victory next November.

Mr. Sawyer has been a member of the legislature in times past, and one of the very best this county ever had, and the fact that he would consent to run at this time ought to unite the people of this district for him.

We have great interests at stake here, and this district needs a powerful man to represent it. Mr. Sawyer can certainly fill the bill.

With Mr. Sawyer in the house, and Mr. Freeman in the senate, Washtenaw county would have a team that would be hard to equal.

A Fine Recital—

"Leotta" is Miss Longfellow, and she occupies a high place as a reader and impersonator. She has studied under some of the most able masters of voice and physical culture and expression on both continents, and has recited in most of the larger towns in both America and Europe. She includes in each evening's entertainment some sixty representations of famous statuary. The Y. W. C. A. made arrangements with Miss Longfellow last June, for a recital to be given Oct. 12th. She will be accompanied by Miss Charlotte A. Hills, a harpist of fine ability, and an elegant entertainment is to be expected. Posters will soon be out announcing place and admission and further notices will be given later.

A Happy Marriage—

On Wednesday afternoon last, Sept. 9th, James S. Handy of this city, lit. 95, and a member of present senior law class, was married to Miss Charlotte, daughter of the late Col. and Mrs. Delos Phillips, of Kalamazoo.

The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Chas. B. Hayes. The house was beautifully adorned with flowers and vines for the occasion, and the rooms being darkened were lighted with wax candles, producing pretty effect.

Of the event the Kalamazoo Telegraph says:

"The first one to enter the room was the rector of St. Luke's wearing his surplice. Following him came the bridegroom and his best man, Mr. Benjamin Miller Austin. Then came Miss Blanche Phillips, sister of the bride, who acted as the maid of honor. Miss Phillips carried bridesmaid roses. The little Misses Marion and Helen Hays, nieces of the bride, were the flower girls and looked extremely dainty in white and pink organdies. They strewed flowers from their baskets in the pathway of the bride who followed with her uncle, Mr. George T. Bruen.

"The bride wore a brown tailor canvas suit with hat in harmony. She carried American beauties. Her ornament was a pearl sunburst center.

"After congratulations, a buffet luncheon was served in the dining room which was elaborately decorated with nasturtiums, the centerpiece being especially handsome. There were many elegant presents. About fifty or sixty guests were present.

"Mr. and Mrs. Handy will leave at 6:40 for a northern trip. They will be away about two weeks and will be at home in Ann Arbor after October 1. Mr. Handy was graduated from the University of Michigan and will receive his diploma from the law department in the class of the ensuing year. He expects eventually to practice in Milwaukee."

"Let not him who is homeless pull down the house of another, but let him labor diligently and build one for himself; thus, by example, assuring that his own shall be safe from violence when built." Those are words of Abraham Lincoln, whose memory is so dear to every true American heart, and they should be pondered well by the class who are to-day upholding the dangerous Chicago platform of the soft money wing of the democratic party.

If Wm. J. Bryan wants to discuss the silver question why not tackle Carl Schurz? He would relish it.

Will the silverites please explain why Senator Teller, Senator Stewart, Mr. Altgeld, Gov. Pennoyer, and other enormously wealthy leaders of the free coinage movement each and every one of them require all their contracts to be made payable in gold?

Nourish Him. That's the whole secret in a word. We can cure no disease unless we can keep up the patient's strength. And there's only one way to do that—feed him. But if the system refuses food? Then use SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites. It goes STRAIGHT TO THE BLOOD, stops the wasting, rekindles the vital fire, makes new flesh and so renders a hopeful fight possible against ANY disease. Especially is this so in bronchial and lung troubles, in the relief and cure of which Scott's Emulsion has won its reputation. Book about it free. Scott's Emulsion is no mysterious mixture. It is palatable, non-nauseating and infinitely preferable to the plain oil. The genuine has our trademark on salmon-colored wrapper. Get the genuine. For sale at 50 cts. and $1.00 by all druggists. SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

Not all free silverites are anarchists, but all anarchists are free silverites.

Tom Watson says that Sewall, his political twin, is a wart. Tom evidently doesn't like his brother.

Candidate Bryan is making another brass band tour of the country. If the people don't all see him and hear him talk it will be no fault of his.

The unscrupulous attempt on the part of the silverite press to array different classes of people against each other is astonishing. The venom is only equalled by that of the fire eater in 1861, and is quite as dangerous to the nation.

Combination or fusion by political parties has always worked disastrously in this country. It remains to be seen whether the two little tails can wag the democratic dog in this country now or not. Several democrats have said that they could not swallow the pops. That was too much.

Mr. Bryan, in his elegant Labor Day speech at Chicago said that "one of the functions of government was to put rings in the noses of hogs." A beautiful conception; but how about opening up the mills of this country to the American laborer? Not a word. He is all free silver and nothing else. He is a monometal maniac.

This is true: Nearly every business man of the nation is arrayed upon the sound money side of this financial question. Every street corner loafer, who will not work, but who allows some noble, industrious, true woman to earn his livelihood, is upon the silver side of this question. Look about you and see if this is not true. Count them up right in your own town. Don't take anyone's word for it. Now which is the safest class with which to entrust the affairs of this nation?

The best plan that suggests itself to my mind is that we should go back to the teachings of our fathers, and that we should restore the old discriminating duties; that we should impose a tax of 10 per cent. ad valorem, in addition to whatever tax is imposed by law, on all goods, wares and merchandise imported into the United States in vessels not of the United States. It seems to me that this would settle the question upon the best possible basis and in time revive and restore our shipping.—Hon. Stephen B. Elkins, U. S. Senator, of West Virginia.

"Coin" Harvey had occasion to draw $2,000 from a Chicago bank the other day, and he demanded and received it all in gold. This gold he took to a safety deposit vault and left. What does Harvey mean? Just this. He is preparing for free silver coinage, and to save himself from its evil consequences. He is willing to bring ruin and destruction to others, but proposes to make a nice thing for himself. He is on a par with Altgeld, Stewart and the other who demand gold rents and gold interest. What a wickel farce this is getting to be.

Mr. Bryan again calls attention to the statement made by himself that he only wants one term as president. The attention of Mr. Bryan is called to a similar emphatic statement by one Grover Cleveland when he was first candidate, and also to a similar statement made by one Benj. Harrison when he was first a candidate. Mr. Bryan is human just as these men are, and is possessed of no more stamina than they. The one term cry is a weak attempt to get votes, and has no weight.

The recent election in Arkansas was a wonderful thing for a free country. It has been shown by indisputable evidence, that in several counties there was a greater majority returned than there were votes in the county. In several counties the republicans remained away from the polls entirely, because they were afraid that their votes would be counted against them by the villains who composed the election boards. But it made no difference, there was a greater majority returned for the democrats than there were people voting, and they were all counted as voting the democrat ticket whether they went near the polls or not. The law says that both parties shall be represented on the election board, but in hundreds of precincts the law was ignored, and no one placed on the board who would not act as directed by the democratic bosses. Such an election is not only a farce, but a disgrace to this nation, and Chairman Jones will not have the cheek to deny it, either.

Almost every man in America has some digestive trouble. When men meet, the greeting is "Well how are you?" That develops health talk. The man who has no bowel or stomach trouble is always a curiosity. Trouble is men take no care of themselves. They eat as though they had copper stomachs and bowels of brass. By and by, over worked nature rebels. Then come headaches, nervousness, bad blood, liver and kidney troubles. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets furnish help for constipation and torpid liver, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, sour stomach, loss of appetite, indigestion, or dyspepsia, windy belchings, "heartburn," pain and distress after eating, and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. Accept no substitute.

A GEM FROM SPEAKER REED.

Thos. B. Reed has said and written many pungent paragraphs but none better than the following in his introduction to "PROTECTION AND PROSPERITY: Somehow or other, times like these are great educators. How very fine used to be the sneer about lifting one's self by the boot straps? How clear used also to seem the demonstration that taxes could create nothing! What a fine large mouth the consumers had those days, how puny and unworthy seemed the producer! How the unfilled mouth has discovered who owns the hands. This book will show you that this has been the history of nations, a hundred times; nay, it has been the history of our own nation half a score of times in our own short life. Like the Spanish Grandee in the Cemetery we were well and wanted to be better, took medicine, and here we are. Is it worth while to undergo this death and resurrection again? We shall never do it if we lay fast hold on the facts of the universe. There may be a time come when nations will be no more, when the brotherhood of man may be established, when communication may be so rapid, when we shall be so equally advanced in civilization, that nobody will care where he lives or is buried; when distance shall break no ties, and when the universal language is spoken by everybody without accent; in that time we may lose nationality and become citizens of the world. Then free trade may reign. But such a time will not happen within the hundred years which centre in that week when two English speaking nations were ready to clutch each other by the throat about a boundary thousands of miles away, and the German emperor was ready to fight the kingdom of his grandmother about some people in Africa whose ancestors left the fatherland so long ago that history is not quite sure that they did leave it. Nationality is a fact, brotherhood is a hope. Perhaps if we live up to our fact, that may be the best way to arrive at our hope.

HIS SILENCE WAS GOLDEN.

When Mr. Bryan delivered his 16,000 word speech in New York, as well as during his tour Eastward, he has not once mentioned the tariff. Well, that is his safest course, considering his record, and a very shrewd course it is. His avoidance of the Tariff issue is Mr. Bryan's way of saying, "The Tariff is settled." Not that Mr. Bryan believes that the Tariff is settled, any more than does Mr. Whitney or any of the other Tariff reformers. Three years ago, Mr. Bryan declared the Tariff a vital issue and advocated Free-Trade as the panacea for ills. Nor did he except the Wilson-Gorman bill as a settlement of the question. He said, during his discussion on the Wilson bill:

"I think the duties all the way through this bill are higher than necessary and I favor the bill not because of its perfection, not because the duties are brought down as low as they might be, but because the bill is infinitely better than the law which we now have, and is a step in the right direction."

Why does Mr. Bryan falter in his "steps" toward Free-Trade? Why does he not labor for that "perfect" bill which would give us Free-Trade? Can it be because he is afraid to face the issue, after two years' test of only "Tariff Reform"—Am. Economist.

The annual sales of delinquent tax lands in Washtenaw County is now being advertised in the Ann Arbor Courier. A comparison with the sales of 1892 show 160 descriptions this year as against 46 then. This clearly demonstrates the fact that the gold standard is robbing the people of the ability to keep their homes. The sales are for the tax of 1894, with one exception—one description of 1893—Ypsilanti Sentinel.

When the popocratic papers resort to such cheap clap-trap as that to bluster up a waning cause they must be hard up.

If the editor of the Sentinel will step in this office we will show him the tax sales of 1873, also published in the Courier. That was a great inflation, free coinage year, made memorable by "that awful crime." That year there were 205 descriptions in the tax sales.

What was the matter then? Will the Sentinel please tell? As every one knows the legislature of 1891-2 passed a law in reference to the owners of tax-deeds, and the supreme court rendered a decision that scared real estate owners, and never, in the history of the state, were taxes so nearly all paid as in that year. That is the reason why the tax sales published last year were so small, and the editor of the Sentinel knows it, but attempts to ascribe it to something else.

Senator Stewart publishes a paper, and is so anxious to make all possible out of it that instead of having it published in Washington D. C., where he would have to pay union prices, he has moved the office to Alexandria, Va., where there is no union, and where he can get printers at his own price. It would be a nice thing to learn how much he expects to raise the wages of these workmen when he secures the debasement of the dollar he pays them in to half its present value.

McKinley is of Scotch descent, and Bryan is of Irish descent the later name being originally O'Brien.

John W. Hayes, general secretary of the Knights of Labor is in the employ of the silverites, and is doing all in his power to force the members of that order to vote as he wants them to. He thinks that free trade has not injured the American workingman sufficiently, so he wants him hit again this time with free silver. It would seem as though the lesson taught four years ago ought to be bitter enough for almost every workingman in the land. It doesn't seem as though this partisan official or any other could influence workingmen to take another step toward their own degradation, and that of their families. Every vote cast for free silver is a vote to rob the laborer of half his pay. It is a vote to add starvation to present misery.

The popocratic press are picking up the mortgage foreclosures in papers and publishing them as "the result of a gold standard." Such things may be made to work as Barnum once said the people like to be hum-bugged, but the thinking people will be apt to remember the prosperous times under the republican policy of protection, they may possibly lay the blame where it belongs, to the free trade and anti-reciprocity features of the democratic Wilson bill. There's where the trouble lies in this nation today, and just where it lies.

Women Who Suffer pain each month can find relief and emancipation from their troubles. Congestion and inflammation of the internal organs are generally induced by exposure to wet or cold, excitement of the emotions, or a morbid condition of the blood. For the radical cure of these derangements Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a safe and certain remedy, permanently correcting all abnormal conditions, so that these trying ordeals are passed with ease and comfort. Ulcerations and displacements of the uterus are cured by the "Favorite Prescription," and the cure is lasting. Hysteria, Spasms, Nervousness, Indigestion, or Dyspepsia, often depend upon irregularities of function and displacements of the womanly organs. The "Favorite Prescription" cures by regulating and correcting these functions and organic changes. For all irregularities, suppressions and obstructions, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a specific, and has a record of over a quarter of a century of cures.

Mrs. MALVINA WILSON, of Boothville, Marion Co., Va., writes: "For twelve long years I suffered greatly with extreme nervousness, stomach and uterine disease. I had doctored with four physicians with little or no good, and one of them was as good a physician as could be had here; he gave me up to die. None of my friends thought I could get well. We had tried almost everything, and at last I thought I would try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I had been bed-fast most of the time for almost two years. After taking several bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' and following the directions strictly, I now enjoy better health than ever before in my life. I now weigh a little over one hundred pounds and now I weigh 167 pounds."

UNRIVALED IN ALL THE WORLD.

Lieut.-Governor of Vermont Made Well by the Great Conqueror of Disease, Dr. Greene's Nervura.

Known and Honored All Over the United States, Famous Brigadier General Thomas, Lieut.-Governor of Vermont, Tells Those Who Desire to Get Well that Dr. Greene's Nervura is the Medicine Which Will Surely Cure Them.

The honored Lieut.-Governor of a great state has been cured by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

Dr. Greene's Nervura is the medicine which always cures.

Who can doubt this after reading of its wonderful cure of Gen. Thomas, Lieut.-Governor of Vermont, given in the illustrious soldier-statesman's own words. General Thomas, who resides in Montpelier, Vt., is one of the foremost figures in America to-day. From state Representative he became Senator, was afterwards Judge of Probate, and then made Brigadier-General. He was commissioned by President Grant Pension Agent for Vermont, and elected by the people Lieutenant-Governor of the state.

Here is what this man of eminence says of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and of his cure by the use of this wonderful medicine:

"I am pleased at this opportunity to add my testimonial to the worth of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. The eighty-six years of life's journey left its touch upon me in the form of rheumatic pains. I have found benefit and relief from the use of Dr. Greene's Nervura and give my permission to publish this letter for others' good."

Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy will cure you just so surely as you take it.

It will certainly make you well and strong.

It is by far the greatest and best medicine in the world to-day and has a record of cures unparalleled in the history of medical science.

The ablest physicians everywhere recommend Dr. Greene's Nervura as the one remedy sure to cure, the one restorative absolutely certain to replace weakness and disease by health and strength.

And now the Lieut.-Governor of Vermont speaks to the people from his high official position, and for the good of all who are sick, suffering or out of health, tells what this most marvellous medicine of the age, Dr. Greene's Nervura, has done for him and advises all to use it and be restored to health.

Now is your golden opportunity to get well. Now it is for you to decide whether you will remain in your condition of weakness and ill-health, or be cured as you surely can be, by this grand restorer of strength and vigor Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

You cannot afford to be sick; you owe it to your friends, to your family, to yourself, to get well, and here, right at your hand, is the means to once more make you strong, energetic and robust, to give you again the sturdy power of sound vigor and perfect health. Try Dr. Greene's Nervura. You will never regret it.

Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is not a so-called patent medicine, but the discovery of the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene of 35 W. 14th St., New York City, who can be consulted, free of charge, personally or by letter.

Opening Valentine Theatre, Toledo.

Bills are out announcing the opening of the regular season at the Valentine Theatre, at Toledo, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 21, 22 and 23, with Hoyt's spectacular comedy, "A Milk White Flag," undoubtedly the best production from the pen of that prolific writer of satirical comedy. A prominent western writer said: "A Milk White Flag" is a bouquet culled from all that is prettiest in the Hoyt flower garden. It is a performance upon which the dramatist, the composer, the costumer, the scenic artist, the mechanic, and the electrician have bestowed their highest talents, and for which Dame Nature has picked her handsomest women. It is the climax in a series of Hoyt successes, which began fifteen years ago, and which have climbed higher and higher until it would seem money and brains had reached their final end. Such stage settings have never been seen before—even the furniture especially carved, being carried. Fun bubbles, effervescent, in every line. Summarized and condensed, "A Milk White Flag" can properly be called "Hoyt's Attar of Roses," the sweetest of his extracts."

Following "A Milk White Flag," will come "In Gay New York" with the original cast and production, just as it has been running at the New York Casino since last season and crowding that house nightly through the hot summer months. The company numbers seventy people, and in this engagement something exceptionally brilliant may be expected.

The box office will be open on and after Thursday Sept. 17th, and seats may be ordered by mail or telegraph, addressed Treasurer, Valentine Theatre, Toledo, Ohio.

At a special session of the circuit court yesterday, Eby C. Carr, was sentenced to Jackson for one year on charge of uttering a forged note on the State Savings Bank of Fenton, for $25. It seems that his sister had deposited that amount in the above bank, and taken a certificate of deposit. This certificate was stolen by her brother, a young man about 21 years old, and he came here and got E. T. Edmunds of W. Huron st., to identify him at the bank. This was in March last, and the officers did not find him until July. At the same session of court, Judge Kinne released Celeste an dMilo E. Gage from their marriage bonds. He also denied an injunction prayed for by one Lulek, to prevent Chelsea from having water works put in. Court stands adjourned until Oct. next.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

On reading and filing the petition of the Auditor General of the State of Michigan as aforesaid, praying for a decree in favor of the State of Michigan, against each parcel of land therein described for the amounts for taxes, interest and charges on each such parcel of land, and that such lands be sold for the amounts so claimed by the State of Michigan.

It is ordered that said petition will be brought on for hearing and decree at the October term of this Court, to be held at Ann Arbor, in the County of Washtenaw, State of Michigan, on the fifth day of October, A. And it is further ordered that in pursuance of said decree the lands described in said petition for which a decree of sale shall be made, will be sold for the several taxes, interest and charges thereon as determined by such decree, on the first Monday in December thereafter, beginning at ten o'clock a. m. on said day, or on the day or days subsequent thereto as may be necessary to complete the sale of said lands and of each and every parcel thereof, at the office of the County Treasurer, or at such convenient place as shall be selected by him at the court seat of the County of Washtenaw, State of Michigan; and that the sale then and there made will be a public sale and each parcel described in the decree shall be separately exposed for sale for the total taxes, interest and charges, and the sale shall be made to the person offering to buy for any given tax and paying the full amount charged against such parcel, and accepting a conveyance of the smallest undivided fee simple interest therein; or, if no person will buy for any of said several taxes and pay the balance thereof and take a conveyance for the time being, then the whole parcel shall be offered and sold. If any parcel of land cannot be sold for taxes, interest and charges such parcel shall be passed over for the time being, and shall, on the succeeding day, or before the close of the sale, be reoffered, and if, on such second offer, or during such sale, the same cannot be sold for the amount aforesaid, the County Treasurer shall bid off the same in the name of the State.

Witness the Hon. E. D. Kinne, Circuit Judge, and the seal of said Circuit Court of Washtenaw County, this fourth day of August, A. D., 1896.

[Seal.] E. D. KINNE, Circuit Judge.
Countersigned, WM. DANNEBERG, Register.

To the Circuit Court for the County of Washtenaw in Chancery:

The petition of Stanley W. Turner, Auditor General of the State of Michigan, respectfully shows that the list of lands hereinafter set forth and marked "Schedule A," contains a description of all lands in said County of Washtenaw upon which taxes were assessed for the years mentioned therein, and which were returned as delinquent for non-payment of taxes, and which taxes have not been paid; together with the total amount of such taxes, with interest computed thereon to the time fixed for sale, and collection fee as provided by law, and the cost of advertising and other expenses of sale of each of said parcels of land.

Your petitioner further shows to the Court that said lands were returned to the Auditor General under the provisions of Act 206 of the Public Acts of 1895, as delinquent for non-payment of said taxes for said years respectively, and that said taxes remain unpaid.

Your petitioner further shows and avers that the taxes, interest, collection fee and cost of advertising and other expenses of sale, as set forth in said Schedule A, are a valid lien on the several parcels of land described in said schedule.

Your petitioner further shows that the said taxes on said described lands have remained unpaid for more than one year prior to the first day of May, 1896; and the said taxes not having been paid, and the same being now due and remaining unpaid as above set forth, your petitioner prays a decree in favor of the State of Michigan against each parcel of said lands, for the payment of the several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee, cost of advertising and other expenses of sale, as computed and extended in said schedule against the several parcels of land contained therein, and in default of payment of the said several sums computed and extended against said lands, that each of said parcels of land may be sold for the amounts due thereon, as provided by law, to pay the lien aforesaid.

And your petitioner will ever pray, etc.

Dated August 1, 1896.

STANLEY W. TURNER, Auditor General for the State of Michigan, and in behalf of said State of Michigan.

DEMOCRATIC CO. CONVENTION.

A Full County Ticket Nominated and a Free Silver Resolution Re-Enacted.

The democrats favoring the free silver ideas of the Chicago convention met at the court house last Thursday.

At 11:05 Martin J. Cavanaugh rapped the convention to order and called Hon. J. Nelson Lewis, of Ann Arbor, to the chair as temporary chairman.

In taking the chair Mr. Lewis said that he was highly honored in being called upon to preside over the organization of the convention that would later in the day place in nomination the men who would occupy the county offices. He advocated the utmost harmony in order that the best and strongest candidates might be selected for the ticket.

The following committees were appointed, and adjournment affected until afternoon.

Eugene Oesterlin, of Ann Arbor, was made temporary secretary, on motion of M. J. Lehman.

On motion of Arthur Brown the chairman appointed the following committees:

On Credentials—Jas. S. Gorman, Sylvan; Amos G. McIntyre, York; Henry Kuhl, Freedom.

On Permanent Organization and Order of Business—Arthur Brown, Ann Arbor; O. M. Kelsey, Saline; James Kelly, Manchester.

On Resolutions—Tracy L. Towner, Ypsilanti; Frank Duncan, Northfield; Dr. Post, Augusta.

Upon reassembling the following business was done:

The committee on permanent organization and order of business recommended (1) that the temporary organization be made permanent; (2) report of committee on credentials; (3) report of committee on resolutions; (4) appointing a committee of three to confer with the populist convention in session in the court house and see if a fusion can be effected within 15 minutes; (5) appointment of four tellers; the order of business from 5 to 14 inclusive provided for nomination of candidates; (15) limited the nominating speeches to five minutes each.

In assuming the duties of permanent chairman Mr. Lewis thanked the convention for the honor thus conferred upon him, and made a short but effective free silver speech during which he was frequently applauded.

The committee on resolutions reported as follows: Resolved, that we, the democrats of Washtenaw county in convention assembled, do hereby cordially and unanimously pledge our most earnest and hearty support to and by these resolutions do endorse the action taken by the national democratic convention held in Chicago and also the state convention held at Bay City.

Resolved, that we commend the ticket to be placed in nomination by the convention to the careful consideration of the voters of Washtenaw county and particularly to all those who stand on the money plank adopted in its Chicago convention.

The chair appointed M. J. Cavanaugh, Ann Arbor, James S. Gorman, Sylvan, and John Terns, Ypsilanti, the committee to confer with the populists. The four tellers appointed were Tracy L. Towner, Ypsilanti, J. D. Blum, Lodi, Sid W. Millard and Fred Howlett, Ann Arbor.

A recess of ten minutes was ordered to allow the committee to confer with the populist convention. On its return the committee reported that after due consideration it was the unanimous decision that the naming of a representative to the legislature from the first district of Washtenaw county be conceded to the populists as they desired.

Nominations were now in order for judge of probate. M. J. Lehman nominated W. G. Doty; Dr. John Kapp presented the name of Ezra B. Norris; Arthur Brown placed Thomas D. Kearney in nomination, and Tracy L. Towner did a like service for Judge J. Willard Babbitt.

The first ballot taken was a foul, 232 votes being cast and only 229 delegates present.

The next ballot stood Kearney 122, Doty 69, Norris 24, Babbitt 14. Mr. Kearney was declared the nominee.

For sheriff M. J. Lehman named William Walsh, of Arbor; J. Nelson Lewis nominated M. C. Peterson, of Ann Arbor, and James S. Gorman presented Hiram Lighthall's name.

One ballot decided it. Lighthall had 128 votes, Peterson 70, Walsh 28, Fred Siple 3.

For county clerk J. Nelson Lewis presented Jacob F. Schuh, of Ann Arbor, Jas. Kelly named Willis L. Watkins, of Manchester, and Jas. Gallagher nominated Marcus S. Cook, of Scio.

In the first ballot 227 votes were cast, of which Schuh had 104, Watkins 75, Cook 48. No choice.

The second ballot showed a full vote and closed the contest. Schuh had 118 votes, Watkins 76, and Cook 38.

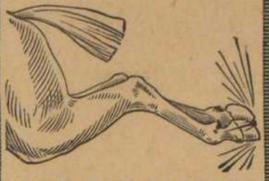

For register of deeds four candidates were named. Henry Meuth nominated Andrew T. Hughes, of Ann Arbor; Frank Duncan named Patrick S. Purcell, of Northfield, and Amos G. McIntyre nominated Alfred Davenport, of York; Lee N. Brown presented Jas. H. McKinstry, of Ypsilanti.

The first and final ballot showed 228 votes cast. Davenport had 157, Purcell 35, McKinstry 32, Hughes 4.

John P. Kirk, of Ypsilanti was nominated for prosecuting attorney by M. J. Lehman, of Ann Arbor His was the only name presented and the nomination was unanimously carried.

For county treasurer J. A. Wessinger nominated Emanuel Wagner, of Ann Arbor, Walter Bilbie named Henry Braun, of Ann Arbor town, and Ira Wood named George J. Mann, of Lodi. James S. Gorman, of Sylvan, James Kelly, of Manchester, and Frank Detling, of Freedom, pledged the support of their delegations to Mr. Mann. John L. Duffy, of Ann Arbor, seconded the nomination of Henry Braun. The ballot resulted in the choice of Mr. Mann, the vote standing: Mann 148, Braun 60, Wagner 16.

For circuit court commissioner M. J. Lehman nominated Philip Blum, jr., of Lodi, John Hoey named Henry A. Conlin, of Webster, and Milo B. Schafer presented the name of Lee N. Brown, of Ypsilanti.

Lee N. Brown's name was withdrawn from the first nomination. Mr. Lehman then withdrew the name of Mr. Blum and the nomination of Mr. Conlin was made unanimous. Lee N. Brown, of Ypsilanti, was nominated unanimously for the second commissioner.

For coroner for the Ann Arbor district, Martin Clark was nominated by M. J. Lehman, and Dr. E. A. Clark by Fred Howlett. Dr. E. A. Clark was nominated. Walter P. Beach received the unanimous nomination for the Ypsilanti district.

Charles S. Woodard was unanimously nominated for county surveyor.

Here is a man who is working on a salary. He receives $12 a week. In 1873, in inflation times, he received no more than he does now. A few years ago he bought a house and has been paying for it in small installments. The original price was $1,500. He has paid $800, and there is $700 yet to pay. He has a wife and four children to support. If the prevailing monetary system is left alone he can complete pay for his home. If free silver carries, and he is obliged to double the expenses of living, what will become of him? The chances are that he will go to the wall. He can not support his family under a free silver system and lay up a cent for a rainy day, which is the duty of every good citizen. Salaries do not increase as money decreases in value. This is an actual case here in this city, and it is only one of hundreds. If free silver would increase business the case might be different, but no man has yet shown, nor can he show, how free silver will add one job or little to the business of the nation.

The Milan Leader has D. L. Quirk nominated for prosecuting attorney on the miscegenated county ticket. Mr. Quirk is not an unsound money man, and consequently not with the fusionists this year. John Kirk will make the run however.

THE TWO PLATFORMS.

SOME OF THE DEMOCRAT AND REPUBLICAN UTTERANCES.

Long Array of Things Omitted from the Democratic Pronouncement—Revolutionary Sentiments—No Declaration of Foreign Policy.

While the tariff and financial planks of the Republican and Democratic platforms deservedly have a large share of the public attention, there are certain other differences between them that ought not to be overlooked. The presence of a large Populist, and even anarchist, element in the Chicago convention was noted at the time, and had its influence in dictating the platform and making the nominations. It found plain expression in the following paragraph of the platform adopted: "We denounce arbitrary interference by federal authorities in local affairs as a violation of the constitution of the United States and a crime against free institutions, and we especially object to government by injunction as a new and highly dangerous form of oppression, by which federal judges, in contempt of the laws of the states and the rights of citizens, become at once legislators, judges and executioners."

The plain intent of this is to deny to the general government the right to protect its own property or its postal service when interstate commerce is imperiled by riots. It is simply a reflection of Governor Altgeld's protest against the use of government troops to protect the mails and public property at the time of the Chicago strike riots, after Altgeld himself had shown his incapacity to deal with the mob, and when not only the railroad and government property, but the city itself was in danger.

The same hostility to the constitutional and orderly conduct of public affairs is found in the covert threat, found in the Chicago platform, to reorganize the supreme court. After deploping the decision of the supreme court on the income tax, the platform, continues: "We declare that it is the duty of congress to use all constitutional power which remains after that decision, or which may come from its reversal by the court as it may hereafter be constituted, so that the burdens of taxation may be equally and impartially laid."

This means nothing less than that the men who made the platform propose, if they come into power, to force resignations from the present bench and to fill the vacancies with judges appointed with a special view to overturning the income tax decision, or else to accomplish the same purpose by increasing the number of judges, the new ones to be appointed with the same design. In either case the purpose is essentially revolutionary in its character.

The omissions of the Democratic platform are hardly less offensive to the patriotic voter than its utterances. With the exception of a single mild sentence of sympathy to the people of Cuba in their heroic struggle for liberty and independence, it has not a single word upon our foreign relations, nothing about the Hawaiian affairs which the present administration so badly bungled; nothing about the attempted British aggressions in Venezuela; nothing about the application of the Monroe doctrine to that affair; nothing about our interests in Nicaragua and the West Indies.

The Republican platform, on the other hand, reasserts the Monroe doctrine to its full extent, and reaffirms the right of the United States to give the doctrine effect by responding to the appeals of any American state for friendly intervention in cases of European encroachment. It gives generous expression of sympathy to the Cubans in their determined contest for liberty and declares that the United States should actively use its influence and good offices to restore peace and give independence to the island. It declares that the Nicaragua canal should be built, owned and operated by the United States, and that by the purchase of the Danish islands we should secure a much needed naval station in the West Indies. Finally, referring to the destruction of American property in Armenia, it declares that, there and everywhere, American citizens and American property must be absolutely protected, at every hazard and at any cost. The one platform, as if ashamed of the colorless and unpatriotic policy of the present administration, is almost absolutely silent on foreign affairs. The other gives clear enunciation of our claims and demands as a self-respecting power among the nations of the earth.

The Republican platform also declares in favor of the early American policy of discriminating duties for the upbuilding of our merchant marine, for the continued enlargement of our navy, and for a complete system of harbor and seacoast defenses; for a free and unrestricted ballot for every American citizen, with a fair count of the ballots thus cast; favors a national board of arbitration for the settlement of differences between employers and employed engaged in interstate commerce; favors an immediate return to the free homestead policy of the Republican party, and denounces the uncivilized and barbarous practice of lynching.

Upon all these questions of internal administration the Democratic platform is entirely silent. That platform is, in fact, so much taken up with the advocacy of a false system of finance and the denunciation of accumulated wealth, that it had little space for declarations in respect to good government, even if the heterogeneous mass that composed the convention had felt any inclination to consider the subject.

FREE WOOL.

DISASTROUS EFFECTS OF THE WILSON TARIFF ACT ON THE WOOL INDUSTRY.

Imports Enormously Increased.—Prices Ruinously Reduced.—Flocks Greatly Diminished.

The farmers of Michigan and of the northern states generally have suffered in the prices and demand for many of their products under the operation of the Wilson tariff act. Some of the details of this injury to their markets have already been published in this paper. In nothing has the loss been more general than in the wool product. And this feature is deserving of an article by itself.

There is no other product of field or pasture that the "tariff reformers" have been so eager to attack as wool. One of President Cleveland's earliest messages to congress was devoted largely to an argument in favor of putting wool on the free list. The Mills bill proposed the same thing, and the Wilson bill, which is the first tariff measure the Democrats have been able to pass, accomplished what had long been threatened. The reduction on wool and woolsens took effect Jan. 1, 1895, although the influence of the threatened attack upon the industry had been felt on prices for two years preceding that. Some of the figures relating to this industry are interesting and significant.

The imports of wool, of classes, for the calendar year 1894, which was the last year under the McKinley tariff, and for 1895, which was the first under the Wilson tariff, were, in pounds as follows:

Class 1, clothing.....	32,539,599	126,455,469
Class 2, combing.....	5,666,820	15,757,643
Class 3, carpet.....	77,556,691	193,796,696
Total.....	115,763,830	346,009,817
Value.....	$19,322,412	$33,770,159
Increase pounds.....		133,226,987
Increase value.....		$20,507,747

It may be interesting to Michigan flockmasters to know who their competitors are for this supply of wool that materially diminishes the demand and price of their own product. The source of supply for the two years named was as follows:

	1894	1895
From United Kingdom.....	38,576,307	109,583,124
France.....	5,284,949	13,008,748
Germany.....	79,629	8,779
Other Europe.....	13,905,422	21,379,259
South America.....	17,899,359	57,194,467
North America.....	2,869,507	7,266,571
China.....	19,634,497	25,711,308
Other Asia.....	13,764,742	20,140,146
Other countries.....	3,573,405	16,855,538
Total.....	115,536,820	345,989,217

The wool which was imported from the United Kingdom was not, of course, very largely the product of the British Isles. It was mostly South American and Australian wool, imported by way of English ports, and paying tribute, in the way of freight and profits, to our English cousins.

American flockmasters have not only had their market invaded by increased importations under the free trade policy of the Democracy and the Wilson bill, but they have suffered in the price of their product. The wool schedule of the McKinley law went into effect Oct. 6, 1890, and the New York prices of the different grades of wool in that month were: fine 33 cents per pound, medium 37, and coarse 31 cents. In October 1895, under the influence of the Wilson tariff law and increased importations, the prices were: fine 18½, medium 21½, coarse 23.

Here is another point. In 1884, under a duty of 12½ cents per pound on wool, there were 50,500,000 sheep on the farms and ranches of this country. In 1888, under a tariff of 10 cents per pound, the number had fallen to 41,500,000. In 1893, under the McKinley tariff of 11 cents per pound they had increased to 47,500,000. On the first of January 1895, under the free wool clause of the Wilson tariff, they had fallen to 38,500,000.

Do the wool growers of Michigan want another four years of the Wilson tariff law, or do they want a return to the system of protection for wool?

The platform on which Bryan and Sewall are running for President and vice-president declares against any change in this tariff. The platform on which McKinley and Hobart are running declares in favor of a return to the protection system.

Which will you have?

The Tariff and the Steel Industry.

In one year after its enactment the Wilson law doubled the importation of bar iron; it destroyed the cotton industry in this country and closed up the factories; it about doubled the imports of steel ingots, blooms, etc.; it increased the imports of tin plate; and though the iron and steel schedule was not injured to the extent of the wool schedule and the woolen and worsted schedule, yet the imports were increased $5,000,000. In common with all business this great industry, in which probably over half a million of our people are directly or indirectly interested, has been crippled and the consuming power of an army of workers cut down.

Patriotism Above Party.

Men of all sections can unite, and will unite, to rebuke the repudiation of our obligations and the debasement of our currency. In this contest patriotism is above party, and national honor is dearer than any party name. The currency and credit of the government are good now, and must be kept good forever.—William McKinley, Saturday, July 11, 1896.

Under the stimulus of the sugar bounties provided for by the McKinley tariff act the manufacture of beet sugar in this country increased from 5,400 tons to 23,000. Under the Wilson tariff act the amount manufactured is rapidly falling off.

DOWN THE BLUE DANUBE

In an Open Boat—Sixth Letter of This Interesting Voyage.

On the Danube, Aug. 1, '96.

DEAR MR. EDITOR:

Did you ever see a robber's castle, with all the dreadful traditions complete? We saw one at Aggstein. I instinctively put my hand on my purse. The black rocks of the inaccessible hill, and the gloomy walls of the mouldering castle make one shudder. My tender-hearted wife expressed her sympathy for the poor fellows who had to climb up and down those beetling rocks. She hoped they have an elevator after all. Truly the castle and environments were grewsome and oppressive. We were both glad to drift around a bend into view of a magnificent valley, which spread such a vast amount of beautiful country before the eye that the effect was what Burke called "sublime." Then came the Teufelsmauer, a great wall of rock from the river's edge to the mountain summit. Some mysterious force has heaped those rocks with strange regularity, and the Devil gets the credit. Some boats, very much like the Viking boats of World's Fair fame were taking our attention at Spitz, when he was startled by a terrific explosion. Echo after echo rolled and reverberated among the hills. These hardly ceased before another explosion more tremendous awoke the dying echoes. This was exciting but harmless, for it was only the operations of blasting in a large stone quarry.

There is an odd freak in the little town of St. Michael. They have a queer little church, and once had a snow storm which covered the quaint edifice so that hares ran over the peak of the roof. There the good people, humorously or religiously, put along the ridge of the Gothic roof seven hares made of clay. The guide book says six but we counted them.

At nightfall we were at the base of the rock, which is crowned by the Durenstein castle, 680 feet above the Danube. Here it is that Richard the Lion-Hearted was imprisoned for 15 months, and here the faithful minstrel, Blondel, sang Ricard's ballad and was recognized. From here the devil was let loose, as the Austrian king wrote to John, the usurping brother. Tradition had made this spot quite poetic enough even for our camp, so we drew our boat ashore, and passed the night beneath the frowning rocks.

When morning came Sancho insisted upon ascending to the castle, and the poor Don had to acquiesce. In the town of Durenstein, a little way beyond, we found a good-natured gentleman, rather corpulent and accompanied by a short-legged dog. He was out for a morning walk and would guide us part way. While we ascended he told us of three American gentlemen, who were going down the Danube in canoes some years previously. Our friend's adipose tissue began to tell on him. At last he gave us directions, while perspiring profusely, and bad us good-by. We reached the fine old ruin. A wine-cellar, some outer walls, a doorway and a watch tower yet remain. The view was fine, and we don't feel so sorry for poor Richard as once we did. He had a good home, fine scenery and fresh air. What more could he want?

When we started on, the sky had clouded over, and we enjoyed the coolness. An old castle destroyed by Mathew Corvins stands in ruined loneliness near Stein, and at Krems is a suppressed Capuchin monastery. These and the famous old abbey of Gottweig were keeping our attention, while clouds were silently tending to business above.

It was a clear case of conspiracy between the weather and scenery. There were a few premonitory drops, and after them the deluge. We scudded for shore but, alas, the Danube Improvement Co. had so walled the river on both sides, that we could not land. I paddled furiously along the wall of stone, like an imprisoned wild animal.

My wife attempted to keep everything dry with one umbrella and a mackintosh. The rain was merciless and came from everywhere. For a half hour I rowed from side to side of the now broad river. At last I found a sandy beach. We got our boat high, but not dry, upon it. After a struggle and puzzling how not to have the rain and our few dry things in the same place at the same time, we made our tent and crawled in. We looked at each other a moment wofully, and then laughed heartily. It was time something happened to ruffle the perfection of our wedding trip. The rain continued, and we employed the time eating and sleeping.

The rain finally ceased pouring and we soon heard voices. We had landed in front of a small village hidden from the river by trees. Soon there were swarms of clumsily dressed men, women with black silk aprons and embroidered yellow and white head dresses, and small, stiffly arrayed boys and girls. Every man had a dog and no one had an umbrella. There they stood in a fine drizzling rain and gazed solemnly. They seemed to think our tent some new species of mushroom, which had sprung up in the rain. One or two of eminent respectability made some wise and ponderous German guesses, while the rest looked awed and noded ascent. I combed my hair and crawled out. A hush followed by murmuring noise as of theatrical approval, greeted my appearance. The inquisitive genius of the place asked me where we came from, I explained, and, as the rain now ceased, removed the tent and disclosed the interior to the curious assembly. Everything was soaked and we carried the wet clothes up to a clear little inn, where they built a large fire and dried them thoroughly. We had supper there and decided to stay all night. We were shown a neat room with four single beds. There was a like room and outfit of ours, and about midnight we discovered the use for the two extra beds. Six grimy peasants, three men and their wives, stalked in with candles and went solemnly to bed, one couple in our room and two in the adjoining. They took it as a matter of fact and we, as travellers must be content. In the morning we paid our bill, 40 pretzers, about 16 cents and departed.

The day was fine and we would reach Vienna about noon. Tulln is an old Roman town, Comagenae, where one of their river fleets was stationed. A great army of Germans and Poles assembled here in 1683 to aid the Viennese, who were being besieged by the unspeakable Turk.

A few castles, the glittering domes and structural mass of the Augustinian abbey at Klosterneuburg, and at last Vienna appeared.

Charles Spoor's Death

One by one the old pioneers, who came here when the country was a wilderness, and have lived to see the city grow to be a beautiful place, and the country surrounding blossom as a rose, are dropping away. They have lived their days of usefulness, and must pass off the stage. The last one to depart this life was none other than Charles Spoor, who for a period of sixty years had lived among and been one of this community.

Mr. Spoor died very suddenly of heart disease, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. O. F. Webster, in Owosso, on Friday morning, Sept. 11, and the news was a great shock to his relatives and friends here.

The funeral services were held on Sunday at three o'clock p. m., from the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Dr. W. W. Nichols, of Hill st., with whom he had made his home for some time. The deceased was born in New York, Nov. 26, 1813, and would have been 83 years of age had he lived a few weeks longer. He came to Ann Arbor in 1835, and carried on business here ever since, up to a few years ago. He was a harness maker by trade, and conducted that business here successfully. Strictly honest in all his transactions, one who never allowed himself to become excited over anything, he won by his even temperament, and unassailable integrity all who made his acquaintance.

During the war times he was a staunch friend of the union cause, and the people elected him mayor of this city during the year 1862-63. He leaves two daughters only, Mrs. Webster of Owosso, and Mrs. Nichols of this city. The sudden death of his daughter Mrs. Engene Mutschel, with whom he had made his home, some two years since, was a great grief to him and he never fully recovered from the shock that event caused.

Seward, state treasurer of Topeka, Kas., a man respected by the community for his integrity and his honor, and occupying one of the highest offices of trust in the state, writes: "I have tried every remedy under the sun for headaches but nothing has given me relief until I tried Gessler's Magic Headache Wafers." When a practical druggist and one holding the confidence of the entire community like A. E. Mummy, will sell them on a positive guarantee, they must be good. Price 25c a box.

Rivers of Money

A couple of gentlemen were standing in front of this office engaged in conversation Saturday afternoon when a fellow about half-seas over, as the expression is, whose appearance indicates that he was a member of Coxe's army in the rear rank, approached and interrupted them with a harrangue something like this:

"Say fellows, its March 4th when Bryan takes his seat at Washington, ain't it?"

One of the gentlemen remarked that he might take it to Washington if he wanted to, but he never would occupy the White House.

"Oh, yes, he will. He's going to be the next president, and say fellows, when he gets there you'll see me a different looking man. Everybody'll have money then. Bryan is going to make silver free for all us. We'll have plenty then, and everybody'll be rich. Those gold bugs won't have it all when Bryan gets in."

"How is he going to do it?" was asked.

"Oh, he'll do it. He'll have all the silver coined up and made so plenty that we'll all have have a lot of it. He's got it in for the gold bugs. He'll make them wish they never were born. Bryan is the boy."

"You are sure he will be elected?" said one of the gentlemen.

"Sure! Sure! Of course I'm sure. Yes sir, I shall use all my influence for him. He'll be the next president,

A Patient Cured who was Afflicted with Rheumatism, Locomotor Ataxia in the Legs and Paralysis of the Throat.

It was in Prescott, Mich., the Patient was an Old Soldier and has Hundreds of Friends. The Case Reads Like a Miracle.

From the Lakeside Monitor, Au Sable, Mich.

The publisher of this paper having some business to transact at Prescott, Ogemaw Co., Michigan, Monday last, repaired to that hamlet. While there he chanced to learn of a remarkable recovery from an illness of thirty-four years standing, the fortunate person being Thomas F. Galvin. The writer hunted that gentleman up, introduced himself, and requested Mr. Galvin to give a brief history of his terrible disease and some history of himself. Mr. Galvin's trouble culminated three or four years since in three diseases—Rheumatism, affecting the general system; locomotor ataxia, affecting the legs; and paralysis, rendering him unable to use lips, throat or palate.

In giving a history of his trouble, Mr. Galvin said:

"In 1861 I enlisted in the army and was made captain of Co. H., 40th Illinois Infantry. I was stationed at Padouca, Ky., in September of that year and while there caught cold and contracted rheumatism. I was in the hospital there three months; when I recovered sufficiently to report for duty, although far from well. Previous to this time I had never been sick a day in my life and weighed 195 pounds. I continued in the service during the war, although suffering all the time from rheumatism. At the close of the war, I was discharged and a few months afterwards granted a pension of $9 per month for my disabilities. I was never free from pain for thirty-three long years until late last fall or early in the winter. I continued to grow worse all the time during the entire period until last November. I was then in a pitiable condition. I had been stricken with paralysis and locomotor ataxia in addition to my rheumatism. For three years I was helpless. I could not talk because of paralysis, I could not walk because of the locomotor ataxia, and my hands, arms and legs were all out of shape, withered and drawn, from rheumatism. You see my knees now. Just as I said, grew gradually worse until I could not move my knees, nor could I get them together within six inches. You see my fingers, straight and nearly recovered from their stiffness. At that time, if I attempted to walk I was liable to go backwards or sideways or fall down as I was to go forwards, because of the lack of power of locomotion. I prayed for years to die and be relieved of my sufferings."

"Had it not been that our Government saw fit to increase my pension from $9 to $17 per month and pay me $8.10 back pension, I should have suffered for the necessities of life."

"Before this time I had treated with the best medical men of Detroit, Cleveland, Milwaukee, Chicago and several other northern cities, but as I said, grew gradually worse until I would not have given $1 for my chances of life last November, and, in fact, would rather have been dead than alive. I only weighed 132 pounds. You see me to-day. I weigh 175 and am free from pain entirely, am slowly but surely gaining strength. You see I get up stairs all right and I come up these stairs a dozen times a day now. You would not discover that I was ever unable to speak. I shall go to work with my tools as a carpenter soon, so as to help me increase in strength. I was so long unable to take a step that I do not feel hardly safe on 'my pins' yet, although I never have fallen down in several months. I am learning the use of my legs, hands, arms and tongue again. I guess you will think I have recovered the use of the latter if I keep on, but I want to practice up again and make up for lost time and tell every one of my new happy lot."

"I want to say now that for ten years previous to last November, I had been able to perform but little labor, and was totally disabled for nearly three years. I was in an awful shape. Mr. Anthony Stone's folks here, with whom I boarded, will tell you that they did not expect to find me alive any morning when they came to wake me, for over two years. But here I am yet, and can walk six or seven miles any pleasant day without discomfort. My appetite is good and I enjoy sleep. If I was taken as bad as ever again to-morrow, I have enjoyed life so well for seven months, that it has a thousand times paid me for the trouble and expense I have had to get relief."

"You ask me how I got relief? Well I had not forgotten that part of it by a good deal. But I am so happy when thinking and talking about my recovery, that I can not get in everything at once. No one but myself can appreciate my condition before last November, and now I want to say to any one who is afflicted with either rheumatism, locomotor ataxia or paralysis, that if they will write me, I will make affidavit as to the facts that I have stated and to what I owe my recovery."

"As I stated, last November I was at my worst, could neither eat, sleep, walk, talk, or use my hands or feet in any way. I read in some newspaper of some one who had been similarly afflicted as I was. This person had sought cure everywhere for years and given up to die, when he commenced taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and was cured. I did not have any faith in them, but was prevailed upon to buy a half dozen boxes for $2.50. I commenced taking them the first of November, and in thirty days by following directions closely, I could see a marked improvement in my condition."

"Well, I kept right on following instructions to the letter. I bought another half dozen boxes and then a third, of which I have left nearly two boxes. It has cost me $7.50 and I am going to make it an even $10 before I stop. Not that I fear that I am not cured, for I never felt better every way in my life. But I don't propose to take any chances on quitting too soon."

"Am I sure that Pink Pills cured me? Why should I not be? Did I not suffer the agonies of hell for years without relief? Then I took Pink Pills and came out in the shape I am, as you see me to-day and then ask me if I am sure? Is a man sure he is going to die some time? I am just as sure Pink Pills cured me as you are sure that you are going to die some time. Sure Pink Pills cured me? Well, I am happy to remark, yes! A thousand times yes?"

"I know positively that I was cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I believe firmly that it is the most wonderful remedy in existence to-day, and every fact I have presented to you is known to my neighbors as well as to myself and they will certify to the truth of my remarkable cure."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after-effect of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, that tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration, all arising from impure blood. They are never sold in bulk. They may be had of all druggists.

These were not the exact words, perhaps, but as nearly so as memory can produce them. We give the incident to show what an opinion this class of people have got in their heads. They think that all Mr. Bryan would have to do if he should be elected, would be to set the U. S. mints running coining silver dollars, open the doors and ask the multitude in. This man did not belong to the laboring class, but was evidently a knight of rest, who never works except to beat some one out of his living. If Bryan is elected he will have a hard time satisfying his constituents.

A prominent business man in this city contributes the following: "Who is the home merchant? He is the man who helps to pay for the streets upon which you walk; for the schools in which your children, or perhaps you, were educated; he helps to keep up the churches in which you worship; he is the man who builds a home, which enhances the value of your property; every subscription paper that is passed has his name on it; he is the man who cannot afford to swindle you—self-interest, if nothing else, would prevent that; he bears his share of the burdens of good government, and stays with you in sunshine and in darkness, in days of prosperity and in days of adversity. These are but few of the reasons why your patronage should be given to the 'home merchant.'"

In 1878 it looked as if the greenbackers, who fused with the democrats just the same, would sweep the country. But when the votes were counted the grand old republican party stood like a rock against the gale caused by the flat craze. To-day another spasm of dishonest money is sweeping over the country, but when the votes are counted it will be found that the people have not been carried away by the craze, and will remain solid for the integrity of the nation.

CARL SCHURZ'S SPEECH

The Patriot Aily Exposes the Fallacies and Dangers of Free Coinage.

NATIONAL HONOR IS THE TEXT.

Enthusiastic Meeting at Central Music Hall, Chicago—The Duties of the Hour.

Ex-Senator Carl Schurz addressed an immense audience at Central Music Hall, Chicago, Ill., on the evening of September 5, 1896.

His speech, which was enthusiastically received, was a masterly presentation of the most cogent arguments in favor of maintaining the present monetary standard of the country.

Carl Schurz: I have come from the East to the West to speak to you for honest money. I do not imagine myself to be an "enemy's country."

There are sporadic discontents in the country, partly genuine, partly produced by artificial agitation. They may be specified thus: There are farmers who complain of the low price of their products; laboring men complaining of a lack of remunerative employment; men in all sorts of pursuits complaining of the general depression.

There is no doubt that the money market is in a state of depression. The price of silver has fallen, and the price of gold has risen.

CARL SCHURZ, THE GREAT GERMAN ADVOCATE OF SOUND MONEY.

Carl Schurz is a native of Prussia and was born in 1829. He studied at the University of Bonn in 1846, where he began his journalistic career by assisting a professor in the publication of a liberal paper.

He was in the United States in 1848, and before the end of the year he was in the rank of major-general of volunteers in the Frankfort Republic, which attempted to take advantage of the revolutionary disturbances that followed in the wake of the revolutionary movement of 1848 in Europe.

He was a radical of the radicals and after the Parliament disbanded he went to the United States in 1852. He is not to be regarded as an exile, for he has not only adhered to his political principles, but he has also been one of the most important objects of the reformers of 1848 and is today in control of the German Empire.

His life has been a life of struggle and sacrifice. He has been a leader of the German people, and his name is a household word in every German household.

He has been a champion of the cause of freedom and justice, and his name is a household word in every German household.

Good for Silver Kings. Such delusions would soon vanish. It would turn out that the men who would have large quantities of silver bullion to be doubled in value are the rich mine owners, the silver kings, who are the heaviest capitalists in the country.

THE FRONT RANK FOR EDITORS

Republican Nominee Assigns Them to First Place in the Great Campaign.

The members of the Ohio Republican Editorial association marched in a body to the McKinley home. They were joined by a number of Cantoniens, and the party which cheered Maj. McKinley when he appeared on the porch numbered several hundred.

Major McKinley's Address.

Maj. McKinley was enthusiastically greeted when he arose to respond to the address. He said: "Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Republican Press Association of Ohio: I have been deeply moved by the gracious words of your venerable spokesman."

Occupy a Post of Honor.

I feel that I know something of the Republican editors of Ohio. I cannot recall a time when they were not so faithful and friendly; nor can I forget that in some of the closest campaigns in our history, their intelligent and unflinching support has been a constant help.

At the Sound Money's Fight.

Fortunately, in this contest the Republican party is not alone in its support of the Republican cause. Conservative men of all parties stand with it. It numbers among its strongest allies many of the most able and patriotic newspaper men of the East and West.

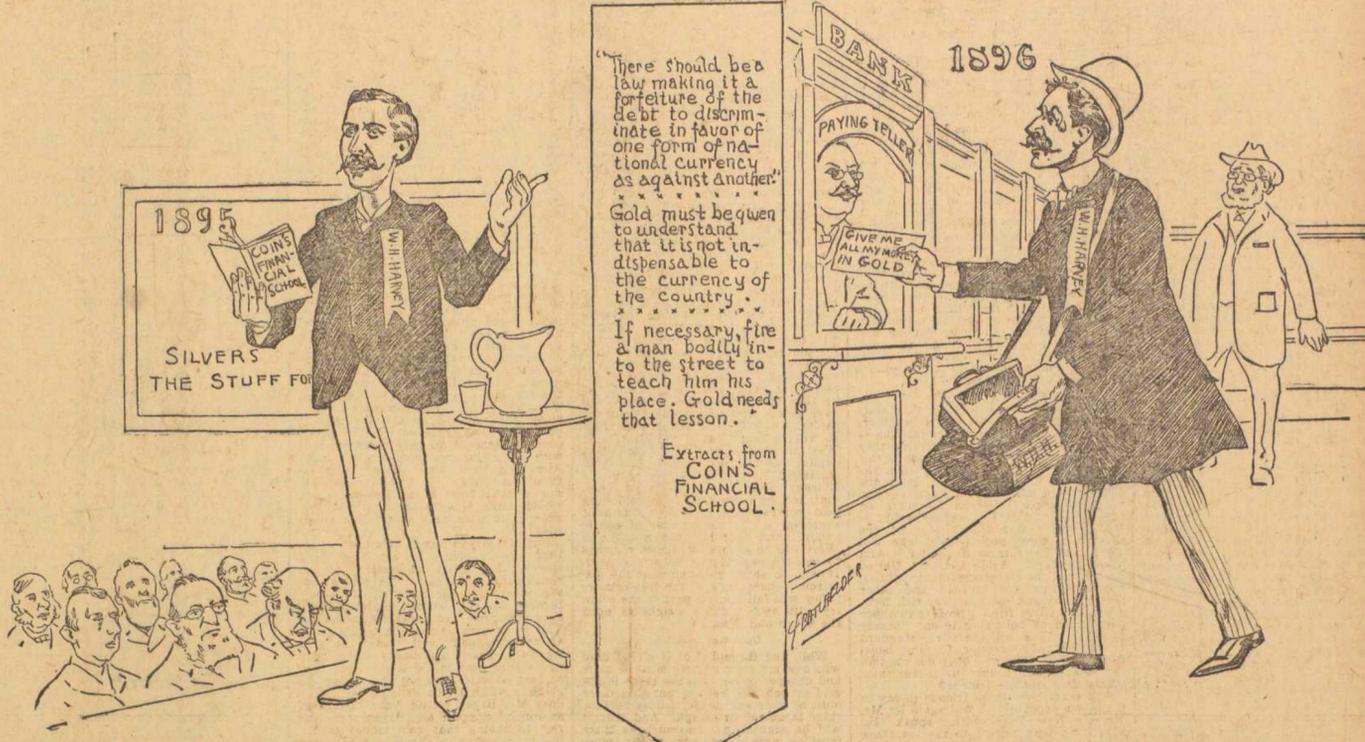

A Populist Crank.

He walked briskly into the telephone exchange and said: "Can you fix me some telephone connections so that the wires will make a complete circuit?"

Work of Modern Newspapers.

To the modern newspaper is so vast and comprehensive that it can not contemplate its possibilities without becoming both interested and enthusiastic about the subject.

Where the Great Shrinkage Would Come.

Table showing the impact of free coinage on various groups. Income to holders of national debt obligations (unsecured in gold) would decrease by $550,500,000. PREACHMENT VERSUS PRACTICE.

There should be a law making it a forfeiture of the debt to discriminate in favor of national currency as against another. Gold must be given to it is not indispensable to the currency of the country. If necessary, fire a man bodily into the street to teach him his place. Gold needs that lesson.

Extracts from COINS FINANCIAL SCHOOL.

The enforcement of this law is the cause of unlimited lying, deception and perjury. There is probably not a native in all India subject to the income tax but will like an Ananias to save a few rupees that the finance minister is paying the proper income tax then Heaven would contain no native of India.

CURRENCY AND PRICES.

Increased Competition is the Real Cause of the Decline in Commodities. BRYAN'S CHILDISH ARGUMENT. Volume of Currency Has Had Nothing to Do with the Condition of Markets.

Mr. Bryan, in his speeches, has a great deal to say about the parity of money and property. This is a new phrase, and it requires explanation. It has not said what he means by it. It is nevertheless clear that it is one way of expressing the fact that there is a ratio between all the money and all the property in the world, and that this ratio is the measure of prices.
