VICTORY!

M'KINLEY AND HOBART.

That is What the Sound Money Men of the Nation Have Won.

CREDIT TO WHOM CREDIT IS DUE.

The crushing defeat of the free silver anarchists is another triumphant vindication for the Republic, establishing the wisdom of holding popular elections more firmly than ever. We often say that for business the presidential canvasses come too often, yet never before has the value of one as an educative factor been so marked. The people not only have learned valuable lessons in finance, but have been lifted to a higher level in rebuking repudiation, dishonesty, the preaching of devilish hatred and lawlessness, and the stirring up of class animosities.

The situation looked serious for our future, just as it did in 1861, but as then the patriotic portion of the democratic party put Nation before party and bravely came out for its honor. Too much credit can not be given the sound money democrats because of noble unselfish labors, for they did it knowing that they were casting aside all hope for offices or patronage for four years, whichever way the election went. That is the purest patriotism.

The result is a powerful object lesson to politicians that they cannot win by appeals to the baser elements of human nature. They must find something more elevated than anarchy, financial dishonesty and attacks on the courts.

The states that are said to be sure for McKinley and Hobart are:

State	Electoral Vote
Connecticut	6
Delaware	3
Illinois	24
Indiana	15
Iowa	13
Kentucky	13
Maine	6
Maryland	8
Massachusetts	15
Michigan	14
Nebraska	8
Minnesota	9
New Hampshire	4
New Jersey	10
New York	36
North Dakota	3
Ohio	23
Pennsylvania	32
Rhode Island	4
South Dakota	4
Tennessee	12
Vermont	4
West Virginia	6
Wisconsin	12
Total	284

The majorities given will place McKinley at the head of any president ever elected as far as the popular vote is concerned.

UNDER THIS SIGN

WE CONQUERED!

Washtenaw County Stands by the Old Flag,

SAWYER'S GALLANT RUN!

HE DEFEATS HIS OPPONENT BY 693 PLURALITY.

The returns by precincts for the county will be found on 8th page.

The result in Washtenaw county is satisfactory, though not all that the republicans had hoped for.

The republicans carry the county for McKinley and for Pingree, by handsome pluralities, Mr. Pingree running ahead of his ticket in almost every precinct in the county.

On the county ticket the republicans elect Judge of Probate, H. Wirt Newkirk, by some 200 or 300 majority; Sheriff Wm. Judson by about 60, and this in the face of one of the most persistent efforts to defeat him that could be put up. In view of that fact it is peculiarly pleasing to announce his election.

For county clerk Jacob F. Schuh defeats Mr. Dansingburg, the republican incumbent of the office by about 80 plurality.

John P. Kirk, the democratic candidate for prosecuting attorney, ran a great many ahead of his ticket, and is elected by a large majority.

George A. Cook, republican, is elected register of deeds over Alfred Davenport, by a safe plurality.

The balance of the ticket is republican by a small plurality.

By this election Washtenaw county proves herself in the republican column as far as national politics go, the county officials running according to their personal popularity largely.

The defeat of Mr. Dansingburg for clerk is a surprise, as everyone supposed he would run ahead of his ticket. Sympathy for his opponent can be credited with doing the work, together with the fact that the Germans are very partial to their own countrymen when voting.

Andrew Campbell for senator carries the county.

Andrew J. Sawyer for representative in the 1st district is elected by a handsome plurality.

John K. Campbell has been elected in the second district by upwards of 300.

Andrew Campbell says if returns from Jackson county are correct, he is beaten by 15 or 20, for state senator.

Don't you Believe it—

The Adrian Press refuses to trade Peterses with us. "Spected as much, confound it. But then our Gus isn't such a bad fellow after all.—Ann Arbor Courier.

No, he isn't, "far a fact." The only lapse of perfect virtue, of which he was ever guilty was when, in the course of his congressional campaign, he spoke in a church in Monroe county, and at the close of the speech, as the lights were being turned out, became confused and exclaimed "Where in h—l is my hat?"—Adrian Press.

Anyone who has ever heard Gus make a political speech will know that the assertion of the Press could not be true, for how could he mislay his hat when he was talking through it all the time?

No. The Press can't spring that on us.

Don't you believe it.

OUR NEXT GOVERNOR HURRAH FOR JUDSON!

HAZEN S. PINGREE.

The state of Michigan proves herself opposed to free silver heresies, and a turning down of our courts of justice.

As in 1861 she stands firm for national honor and against repudiation. The republican majority is estimated at between 40,000 and 50,000, with Pingree for governor several thousand ahead of that.

It is difficult to tell about congressmen, but at the present outlook it appears that Linton and Milnes have both been defeated for re-election while others are close.

Hurrah for Michigan!

We are all looking pleasant. How is it with yourself?

This victory has a great Ping! to it.

Party leaders are necessary to party success, after all.

Bryan could nominate himself, but himself he could not elect. That was different.

The rabbit's foot did not seem to bear the right charm.

The Solid South has at last been broken. A blessed thing for the South.

Old Glory waves over the whole country—North, South, East and West. When the reputation and safety of the nation is at stake there is no particular section.

Pitchfork Tillman can now keep that eye of his on his own South Carolina.

The anarchists of Illinois have lost their personal friend and helpmate, Altgeld. He has been buried by popular votes beyond resurrection, it is hoped.

Another Pioneer Passes Away—

It seems as though we had been called upon to chronicle the death of a great many of the pioneers of the county within the past few months. One by one they are being gathered to their reward, and the ranks here are rapidly thinning.

On Tuesday morning another was called away in the person of Stephen Mills, of Pittsfield township, who was found dead in his bed when the family went to call him. He had retired on the evening previous in his usual health, and must have passed into the long sleep without a struggle.

Mr. Mills was born in Dover, Morris county, N. J., Aug. 11, 1809, and lived to the ripe old age of 87 years. He came to Michigan in 1832. In 1836 he settled on the farm where he died.

He was married September 21, 1839 to Clenny McKnight, who, with their seven sons, George, James, Clark, F. Elmer, Myron, Charles and Fred, survive him.

Funeral will be held at the family residence, on the farm, Thursday, Nov. 5, at 2 p. m.

There will be many who will read this announcement with regret, people who knew and respected Mr. Mills for his true worth as a man.

Peace to his ashes.

THIS IS "BILLY" JUDSON.

The above picture represents Wm. Judson, sheriff in fact, and sheriff elect of Washtenaw county. He is the greatest all around republican hustler in Washtenaw county. He defeated his popular opponent and whipped out a faction in his own party, and came out on top.

If any one thinks Billy Judson was born recently they make a mistake. Hurrah for Judson!

Detroit Alumn' all Fight—

The four-ball team rejoiced because of their victory over Lehigh at Detroit Saturday, but wept over the gate receipts, which lacked some $500 of meeting expenses. The Detroit alumni are scored for that by a writer in one of the Detroit papers.

That was a little unjust. The Detroit Alumni have been a great help to the University in times past. They have come to the rescue many times when the University needed their aid, and they are as loyal to-day as any body of Alumni in any city, to any university in the land.

The Detroit Alumni are called upon a great deal for different things the University has needed. The observatory came from Detroit people; the Waterman gymnasium is a gift from Detroit; books without number in the University libraries are gifts of Detroit citizens; the great Columbian organ never would have belonged to the University had it not been for the aid of the fund. Where would the Woman's Gymnasium been had it not been for the generosity of Regent Barbour, and other Detroit citizens?

Simply because the people there failed to patronize one foot-ball game, occurring in the heat of a great political campaign, is not a good reason for scoring the Detroit Alumni. They do not deserve it.

To be sure we are all proud of our foot ball team, and would like to see it as successful financially as it is in play. But Saturday was a day that few people in Detroit thought or cared for anything else but the great political parade there. Had the game been a week later, it would have been many dollars in the pockets of the team.

Then there is another thing. Had the game been played here at Ann Arbor on that day, instead of in Detroit, the boys would have made money instead of losing it. The Courier does not think that such would always be the case, but it thinks that the assertion is true of that game and it would have been only justice to the people of Ann Arbor that they should have had the opportunity.

Altgeld's idea that the highest authority in human government is invested in the mouth of an anarchist is not approved by the people.

There were more business failures in the United States during the month of September 1896, than were ever before known in any one month, the number being 11,290.

When Horace Greeley lay dying he exclaimed: 'Fame is vapor; popularity an accident; riches take wing; those who cheer to-day may curse to-morrow; only one thing endures—character.'

It is said that the largest cargo of arms ever received by the Cuban insurgents reached them lately, and that it came from France. The Cubans seem now to have the sympathy of nearly all the civilized world.

Altgeld, the anarchist, did not seem to convert the people in New York, some way. They appear to take to law, order, and an idea that the supreme court of the United States should stand unmolested by wrong deeds and their friends, whether of high or low degree.

As New York and Brooklyn are soon to be consolidated, St. Louis takes its place as the fourth city in the country. Its registered vote is 20,000 larger than that of Baltimore, which stands fifth in the list. In the rapidity of its growth St. Louis is the second American city.

The experiment of introducing reindeer in Alaska has been a complete success. The animals are increasing at the rate of 60 per cent a year, and will soon supply the natives with excellent and abundant food in place of the now almost exterminated seal and other wild animals, besides serving other purposes at once practically useful and directly civilizing.

Suicide has come to be about as common among Russian physicians as duels in German universities. The London Lancet explains the epidemic by the statement that fees are tragically low by reason of the presence everywhere of heavily endowed dispensaries. It often happens that twenty kopeks or six cents are charged for an office consultation, and even that small sum is hard to collect. There is no danger of the epidemic in the United States.

At a Barberton, O., match factory, recently 177,926,400 matches were made in a day. At that rate the factory can produce in a year 64,943,136,000 matches, which means 927 matches a year, or nearly three matches a day for each one of the 70,000,000 inhabitants of the country. All this work is done by automatic machinery that is without its equal in the world. Just think of it, 177,926,400 matches in one day. If the matches were only of the right sort, all the old maids in the world would take hope.

The Gun Goes Off instantly when you pull the trigger. So sickness may come on suddenly. But it takes time to load the gun, and it takes time to get ready for those explosions called diseases. Coughs, colds, any "attack," whatever the subject be, often means preceding weakness and poor blood. Are you getting thin? Is your appetite poor? Are you losing that snap, energy and vigor that make "clear-headedness?" Do one thing: build up your whole system with SCOTT'S EMULSION OF Cod-liver Oil. It is the essence of nourishment. It does not nauseate, does not trouble the stomach. And it replaces all that disease robs you of. A book telling more about it sent free. Ask for it. SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

JUSTICE TO THE COMMISSIONERS.

The last Argus closes a bitter attack upon the election commission of the county with this paragraph:

There must have been an object in changing the place of the regular democratic ticket on the ballot. That object must have been to cause some voters to make mistakes in voting and so lose the democratic national and county tickets some votes. The immediate beneficiaries would have been the republican county officers who were candidates for re-election. They were responsible for the contemptible trick and should be held to a strict accountability for it next Tuesday.

The Argus knew, if it knew anything about it at all, that there was no trick played by anybody.

After the supreme court had decided the question of location for Wayne county, the commission met and Judge Babbitt insisted that the decision applied to the state at large. Messrs. Dansingburg and Rehuss held that it only applied to Wayne county. Judge Babbitt insisted and said before he would allow the ticket to remain as it was in the proof, he would go to the courts. He maintained that the Republican ticket should have first place, the Prohibition second place, the People's party third place, under the law, and the others go wherever the commission chose to put them.

Then the republican members of the board said if there was any change in the ticket as first agreed upon, they would change the position of the silver ticket from sixth to fifth place. Mr. Babbitt still insisted, and the changes were all made with the consent of every member of the commission. This statement is correct, the writer being a witness to the entire proceedings.

The Argus in accusing honorable people of trickery should investigate and find out the truth before stigmatizing men as tricksters. To be sure election is past, but the stigma of the Argus accusation of doing a disreputable deed remains, and the Argus owes it to itself to right a wrong it has done.

The proper thing for that commission to have done would have been to have kept the ticket in the form in which it was first printed.

The senior proprietor of the Argus, together with Mr. Duffy and Mr. Kearney were each members of an election commission in this city that refused a republican committee the use of a vignette simply, solely and only because it had the power, and the advice of Ezra B. Norris. That was not considered disreputable by them, but it was. Two of those same gentlemen were the great kickers in this instance, which was no injustice but a perfectly fair, honorable, honest thing to do. The arranging of the ticket as far as new parties are concerned, is a thing entirely in the hands of the commission, and they had a right to do it as they pleased. But no commission had a right under the law to refuse any party the use of a vignette. If there is any law compelling the commission to arrange a ticket just the way the democratic bosses want it, the same never has been heard of as yet.

This was a plain case of bulldoze, nothing else in the world, and the men who acceded to the demands of the bulldozers are kicked, abused, and called tricksters and the people asked to condemn them at the polls—why? Because they yielded and did an injustice to themselves and their party, to please their opponents.

The only injustice about the transaction was in the last change made; which was an injustice to every man on the republican ticket. They were the only ones who had any right to kick, and the only ones who suffered.

Do you think, for a minute, that had the situation been reversed the republicans would have been granted one iota of favor? Not a bit of it. The past actions of the democratic election commissioners proves very conclusively what they would have done.

As a prominent democratic politician remarked in a chuckling way, just after the bulldozers had succeeded in their scheme: "If the republicans do win this county it will be because the good Lord favors them, not because of their own political shrewdness or ability."

Passengers who get injured on railroads, when they sue for damages, do so on the theory that they pay their money and are entitled to all due care and diligence from the company which contracts to serve them. People are beginning to apply the same principle to the town governments possible to a greater degree than heretofore and we hear of a considerable number of suits brought against townships for damages sustained by reason of accidents on the public roads and bridges. The taxpayer pays his money and he is entitled to have it spent to the best advantage to the public. Possibly after a while the various local governments will find it cheaper to have at least safer roads.—St. Johns News.

POLITICAL PROSCRIPTION.

The sober, second-thought people of the county, democrats and republicans alike, believe that when the democratic supervisors fired Elisha Loomis, of Ypsilanti, from the superintendency of the poor, because he believed in an honest dollar, they did not only an unwise, but a contemptible deed. If there is no other reason for the dismissal of such an efficient and wise official, as Mr. Loomis has always been, than that he disbelieves in fiat money (and none other has been offered) then those who voted against him had a mighty gauzy excuse for their action. Mr. Loomis has been a man on the board who has had the confidence of all the people of this county for his good judgment, and wisdom in business affairs. He is a man who is fitted by experience for the place, and should have been retained. The republicans on the board would have shown themselves wise had they turned in and voted to retain him. We have no criticism to make upon the young man who was chosen to the position. He will no doubt make a capable official, but that is not the point. It is the spirit of coercion, of bulldozing, that the Courier is condemning. The spirit that says to a man: "You believe as we do or we will cut your head off." Such a spirit is unworthy true American citizens.

How many young men and young women are cut off just as the future seems brightest and fullest of promise! They are taken away by the disease which causes over one-sixth of all the deaths in the world—the disease which doctors call consumption. There is absolutely no reason in the world why consumption should be fatal—why it should be even serious. It is a disease of the blood, and can be cured absolutely and always by purifying and enriching the blood. The only exception to this is the case where the disease has been neglected and improperly treated until it is stronger than the body—until the body has become so weak as to have lost the ability to recuperate. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption if used according to directions. It also cures all lingering coughs, bronchial and throat affection.

LIT. NOTES.

One of the serial stories which St. Nicholas will publish during the coming year has an unusually unique plot. It is a tale of three Union soldiers, members of the signal corps, who get news that the entire Union army has surrendered, whereupon they decide to hold out to the end. They cut a bridge across a gorge and become soldier-Crusoes, exiled from civilization, and for many months they believe themselves to be the only loyal Union soldiers who have not been obliged to surrender. The author William H. Shelton, is a soldier and an artist as well as a writer.

George F. Parker, the United States Consul at Birmingham, England, will contribute an article to the November Century on the municipal government of that city, showing how public affairs in Birmingham are conducted. It is the story of the redemption of a great community from the hands of incompetent men. It will be fully illustrated by Louis Loeb and A. C. Vanderhoof.

An important feature of Harper's Magazine for several months to come will be Poutney Bigelow's series of papers on the "White Man's Africa," treating in the author's original and striking way the new continent recently opened up to European exploration. The first paper, in the November Number, will give a novel view of Jameson's raid from material placed in the author's hand by an English physician and a Boer official—thus presenting both sides of this remarkable episode. The series is the result of a journey to South Africa undertaken by Mr. Bigelow for Harper's Magazine, and is to be illustrated from photographs specially made for the purpose.

During November some interesting and characteristic features in the progress of the political campaign will be shown in pictures by T. de Thulstrup, who has made a special trip to the National Headquarters at Chicago in the interest of "The Weeklies." Princeton's sesqui-centennial will be fully treated by the Weekly, in illustration and text; and Robert Reid's decorations for the Congressional Library will form the subject of an attractive paper.

Rebecca Harding Davis's new story entitled "Frances Waldeau," will be serially published in Harper's Bazar, beginning in the issue dated October 10th. The illustrations will be by T. de Thulstrup.

Nervous

People often wonder why their nerves are so weak; why they get tired so easily; why they start at every slight but sudden sound; why they do not sleep naturally; why they have frequent headaches, indigestion and nervous

Dyspepsia

The explanation is simple. It is found in that impure blood which is continually feeding the nerves upon refuse instead of the elements of strength and vigor. In such condition opiate and nerve compounds simply deaden and do not cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla feeds the nerves pure, rich, red blood; gives natural sleep, perfect digestion, is the true remedy for all nervous troubles.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. $1 per bottle. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

It cures Liver Tills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

Oldest Resident in Michigan.

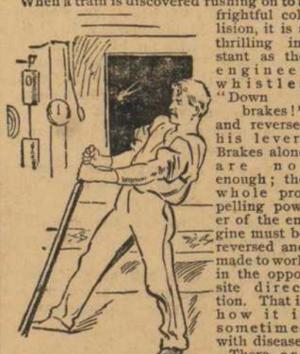

The oldest resident known so far as known, is Peter Wakehim, an Indian, living near Moffatt, on the banks of Rifle river. He claims 115 years. Thirty-five years ago, before Ogemaw, Arenac and Isoc counties were organized, "Pete the Indian," was well known to all the woodmen. Pete used to tell how that he and his squaw paddled on an old bark canoe up and down the Saginaw, when there wasn't a hut or house in the valley. He was married and had five children before the war of 1812 broke out. About a quarter of a century ago, Pete disappeared, and nothing was heard of him until he recently turned up again at Alger. Pioneers say he has changed little in that time though he is more feeble. He still earns his own living, making ax handles, brooms, bows and arrows. Pete's sense of hearing and mental powers seem as strong as ever. He remembers what took place a century ago better than the events of yesterday.

A Bit of Irish Wit.

The well from which Irish stories are drawn is inexhaustible. Here is a good example of Pat's wit and readiness; An Irish witness was being examined as to his knowledge of a shooting affair. "Did you see the shot fired?" the magistrate asked. "No, sorr, I only heard it," was the evasive reply. "That evidence is not satisfactory," replied the magistrate sternly. "Stand down!" The witness turned round to leave the box, and directly his back was turned he laughed derisively. The magistrate indignant at this contempt of court, called him back and asked him how he dared to laugh in court. "Did ye see me laugh, your honor?" queried the offender. "No, sir, but I heard you," was the irate reply. "That evidence is not satisfactory," said Pat quietly, but with a twinkle in his eye. And this time everybody laughed except the magistrate.—Westminster Gazette.

Every one knows how eager and active children are in finding out what they want to know, and how restless oftentimes in learning what their teachers want them to know. Prof. Edward B. Shaw, of New York University, has prepared an article for the November Popular Science Monthly on "The Employment of the Motor Activities in Teaching," in which he will show how much better it is to direct these activities instead of trying to repress them.

"Down Brakes, and Reverse!"

The system is flying along the track at such a frightful pace that no ordinary methods will prevent disaster. There are plenty of medicines which act merely as brakes to "slow up" the disease and put off disaster for a little while; but that isn't enough. What is needed is a medicine that will instantly reverse the entire wasting, degenerating process.

When people are losing flesh and strength and vitality, with the life oozing out of them day after day, they need Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which acts directly upon the vital forces, completely transforms the entire nutritive organism and totally reverses the wasting, debilitating process which is at the root of all diseases.

It enables the digestive and blood-making organs to supply the circulation with an abundance of pure, healthy, red blood. It stops the wasting of tissue, builds up solid muscular flesh and healthy nerve-force. Miss Mary Whitman, of East Dickinson, Franklin Co., N. Y., writes: "For nearly ten months I have had a bad cough, and instead of getting better, it grew worse, until I was advised by a friend to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I hesitated at first, for it seemed to me nothing would give relief only death. My parents were anxious about me, and I was said to have consumption. I tried your medicines, and before I had taken many doses there was a great change. When the second bottle was empty I had no cough and was a great deal stronger."

MRS. GOOLD'S GRATITUDE.

Her Story of How She Was Restored to Health.

Condition Before and After the Birth of Her Child.

From every city, town and hamlet on this vast continent, come letters from suffering women; from those whose physicians have been unable to assist them, or from that numberless class whose confidence in Mrs. Pinkham's advice and the curative properties of her Vegetable Compound is unbounded.

Every letter received from women is recorded, and hundreds of volumes of cases treated aid in furnishing practical information for the women of to-day.

No letters are published without the request of the writer. The strictest confidence is observed. The following letter represents thousands:—

"I always enjoyed good health until six months before the birth of my babe. Then I was very weak; my back ached all the time. My physicians said I would be right after the birth of the child, but I was not, although at that time I had the best of care. The pains in my back were almost unbearable. I had leucorrhœa in its worst form: menstruations were painful.

"Any work or care would entirely unnerve me. When my babe was 11 months old, friends persuaded me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I had taken one bottle I felt the effects. My back did not ache so badly, and I felt stronger. After taking four bottles I felt well. My ambition returned, menstruations were painless, leucorrhœa entirely cured, and I could take care of my babe and do my housework. I shall always recommend your Vegetable Compound for all women, especially for young mothers."—Mrs. H. L. GOOLD, Oregon, Wis.

If Mrs. Goold had been well before the birth of her child, subsequent suffering would have been avoided. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should always be taken before and after birth, in order that the system may withstand the shock.

Will Fell, of Ypsilanti, is a great fisherman. One day recently he caught 23 black bass and 1 rock bass, in the Huron river near Geddes. He fell on to them, so to speak.

Ypsilanti election boards compel electors to vote where they sleep, not where they eat. That has been the rule here, but some way it is hard to keep track of the law, it is tinkered with so much.

FATHER'S WAY.

BY EUGENE FIELD.

My father was no pessimist; he loved the things of earth—
Its cheerfulness and sunshine, its music and its mirth.
He never sighed or moped around whenever things went wrong—
I warrant me he mocked at fate with some defiant song;
But, being he wasn't much on tune, when times looked sorter blue,
He'd whistle softly to himself the only tune he knew.

Now mother, when she heard that tune that father whistled so,
Would say "There's something wrong today with Ephraim, I know."
He never tries to make believe he's happy that ere way
But that I'm certain as can be to us something wrong to pay."
And so he whistles, quite natural-like, to his obedient youth
There seems suggestion in that tune of deep, pathetic truth.

When Brother William joined the war a lot of us went down
To see the gallant soldier boys right gaily out of town.
A-coming home poor mother cried as if her heart would break,
And all us children, too—for hers, and not for William's sake!
But father 'traigins' on ahead, his hands behind him so,
Kept whistlin' to himself so solemn like and low.

And when my oldest sister, Sue, was married and went west,
Seemed like it took the tuck right out of mother and the rest.
She was the sunlight in our home—why, father used to say
It wouldn't seem like home at all if Sue should go away.
But when she went, a-leavin' us all sorer and all tears,
Poor father whistled lonesome-like—and went to feed the steers.

When crops were bad, and other ills befell our homely lot,
He'd set of nights and try to act as though he minded not;
And when came death and bore away the one he worshipped so,
How vainly did his lips bellow the heart benumbed with woe!
You see the tell-tell whistle told a mood he'd not admit—
He'd always stop his whistlin' when we noticed it.

I'd like to see that stooping form and hoary head again—
To see the honest, hearty smile that cheered his fellow-men.
Oh, could I kiss the kindly lips that spake no creature wrong,
And share the rapture of the heart that overflowed with song!
Oh, could I hear the little tune he whistled long ago
When he did battle with the griefs he would not let us know.

The Girl in the Boarding House.

"Be confidential with no one," writes Ruth Ashmore in the November Ladies' Home Journal, advising 'The Girl Alone in the City,' who lives in a boarding house. "Do not allow yourself to become the victim of the idle young matron who has not your need for work, who has a great love for gossip, and who is only too willing to tell you an unpleasant story about our landlady, to hint at the various people who own her money, and who joys in seeing you shudder as she hints at some awful story which she supposes is true, and which makes you think less of some one who had seemed agreeable. I do not advise you in the evening to seek the solitude of your gloomy little room, but I would suggest that you be careful, even in your choice of acquaintances. A lively game, some pleasant music, or an interesting chat may be possible, even in a boarding house parlor, provided the game is not allowed to entrancing, the music to continue too late or the agreeable talk to degenerate into gossip.

"Do not permit yourself to discuss whether the pale young man at the end of the table pays four or five dollars a week, whether the landlady's rent is properly attended to, or whether in dividing the most palatable dish, she gives larger portions to some people than to others. She would be more than an angel if she did not find pleasure in showing some courtesies to those who are considerate of her. It might be wise for you to think that she once made a home only for those who were bound to her by ties of love or kindred, and that now it is stern necessity that forces her to make a home for all sorts and conditions of men and women, and that she deserves sympathy, rather than harsh criticism. Put your mother in her place, and try to decide whether she would do better or worse."

This sort o' green cheese tale is reeled off by the Daily Times scribe: A modest young lady who desired to make a purchase at a dry goods store addressed the young man behind the counter thus: "It is my desire to obtain a pair of circular elastic appendages, capable of being contracted or expanded by means of oscillating burnished steel appliances that sparkle like particles of gold leaf set with Alaskan diamonds, and which are utilized for retaining in proper position the habiliments of the lower extremities, which innate delicacy forbids me to mention." The clerk thought a moment and said he believed she needed a pair of garters.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at Rives Junction, she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work, and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at Eberbach Drug & Chemical Co's drug store, and Geo. J. DON'T STOP TOBACCO

IT'S INJURIOUS TO STOP SUDDENLY and don't be imposed upon by buying a remedy that requires you to do so, as it is nothing more than a substitute. Dear Sirs—I have been a tobacco fiend for many years, and during the past two years have smoked fifteen to twenty cigars regularly every day. My whole nervous system became affected, until my physician told me I must give up the use of tobacco for the time being at least. I tried the so-called "Ketchy Cure," "No-To-Bac," and various other remedies, but without success, until I accidentally learned of your "Baco-Curo." Three weeks ago to-day I commenced using your preparation, and to-day I consider myself completely cured; I am in perfect health, and the horrible craving for tobacco, which every inveterate smoker fully appreciates, has completely left me. I consider your "Baco Curo" simply wonderful, and can fully recommend it.

Yours truly,
C. W. HORNBOUR.

The annual meeting of the Womens Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. occurs Monday afternoon Nov. 9th, at 3 o'clock, at the association rooms. Every member is urged to be present, as important business is to be transacted.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. J. Keech have given the sewing school a donation and Mrs. John H. Cutting made glad the workers of the same school by presenting them with a large bundle of new cloth. Others would be wise in doing likewise.

Schumacher & Miller have a very attractive aquarium filled with gold fish, in their new drug store. The fish have a black streak on their backs and look like a new species. Mr. Schumacher says he has sold 400 of these beautiful fish.

A team hitched to a wagon load of potatoes, ran away in Ann Arbor, and sowed the streets with free potatoes, each of which winked an eye painfully, as much as to remark: "This takes the starch out of me!" --Adrian Press.

Ex-Supervisor James L. Gilbert of Chelsea, was married on Wednesday last, Oct. 28, to Mrs. Fannie Watkins of Grass Lake. Mr. Gilbert kept very quiet about it when he was down here a few days since, and our county clerk kindly hid the license, and so he sprung the thing on us very suddenly. Nevertheless, the groom's many friends wish him happiness and success.

A lad 12 years of age was killed at Ann Arbor, last week, while jumping upon a moving train. In his company was Jimmie Blytheman who of course escaped. Loaded down with crimes and escapades of all sorts, that boy Blytheman, bears a charmed life and slips safely through, while misfortune, the prison and death await others at the threshold. "It's a strange world!" --Adrian Press.

The people who went to Detroit Saturday to see the great Sound Money parade, were not disappointed. It was one of the finest things Detroit ever saw. The only thing to criticize was the fact that it should have started in an hour earlier. A lot of hoodlums around the Soldier's Monument tried to raise a disturbance once or twice, but the police were too numerous and quick for them: And they finally quieted down from sheer exhaustion.

Mrs. J. L. Babcock rendered "Calvary" as a solo at the Presbyterian church Sunday, and it was greatly praised. Bridget Egan, who lived at No. 8 Elizabeth st., died on Thursday last, aged 73 years. Funeral services were held on Saturday morning from St. Thomas church. An After Camp Inspection Hop is to be given by the Ann Arbor Light Infantry, at the Armory on Wednesday evening next, Nov. 11. Inspection will occur at 8:15. The remains of a brother of David Henning, who died some time since at Washington, D. C., were brought to this city for interment in Forest Hill cemetery last Thursday. The talk of Rev. Graham Taylor of Chicago, at the Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday afternoon, was one of the finest events that association has ever enjoyed. Those who missed it missed a great deal. The first concert of the Choral Union Series will be given by the Theodore Thomas orchestra on Tuesday evening next, Nov. 10. This is the only engagement outside of Chicago that the Thomas orchestra has accepted. The 82d birthday of Mrs. Florella Harris was celebrated, one day last week by ten of her friends, at her home on E. Catharine st., the youngest being near 80, two being 87, two 84, two 82, etc. The occasion was an enjoyable one, however. The new flag stone walk around the Masonic block, and the fresh new paint all over the exterior of said block, makes a wonderful change in the appearance of things there. It is one of the most striking improvements the business part of Ann Arbor has had in many a day. Do not forget the next entertainment in the Y. M. C. A. Lyceum course. It will occur on Thursday evening next at the Presbyterian church, and be given by the Boston Temple Quartette, one of the very best musical troupes traveling. You will miss a great evening if you miss them. Once again are the newspaper men of the city under obligation to Manager Thos. J. Keech, of the local Telephone exchange, for his kindness and generosity in furnishing free of expense election returns. A complete scheme had been evolved by him to have the returns from every precinct of the county brought to the nearest telephone station and forwarded here. By that means nearly a complete return was secured from the county last night. One of the old and highly respected residents of this city, died on Wednesday last, in the person of Elizabeth T., widow of the late Andrew J. Sutherland. The deceased had been in poor health for a long time, and resided with her daughter Mrs. Alice L. Haven, at No. 27 E. Jefferson st. The funeral services were held at the house on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Sutherland had been a resident of Ann Arbor since an early day, had always been a constant member of the M. E. church, and in her prime was one of its most devoted workers. She was held in the highest esteem in the community. Of a former Ann Arbor lady the Wheeling, West Va., Register of a recent date says: "Mrs. Stella Sebastian McClure, of Ann Arbor, Mich., sang two very beautiful solos in St. Matthew's church yesterday that will be long remembered by those fortunate enough to hear her. The singing of 'Judith' was most artistic; the recitation was clear and distinct, and the air was a severe test of the wonderful control of her voice, which was rendered with perfect comprehension and unflinching art. Mrs. McClure possesses a soprano voice of long range and of extremely fine quality. It is hoped she may be heard here again before her departure."

DOWN THE BLUE DANUBE.

In an Open Boat—Tenth Letter of this Interesting Voyage.

Heidelberg, Sept. 9, '96.

We are told every day of some danger to which we are coming soon, and are warned with grave looks against trying to go farther. At Mohacs we were informed that there were many "gelsen" below. Not knowing what "gelsen" are, we are rather nervous about them.

It was in August, of 1526, that the Turks defeated the Hungarians in a great battle near Mohacs. Then Hungary came under the Turkish yoke and was only liberated in 1867 on the same battle-field by Charles of Lorraine. Such events as these constantly enhance the interest of these banks. We passed the mouth of the Drave and approached Dalja. Many amusing mills were anchored in mid-stream near here. The Hungarians names are always written with surname first and given name last. The effect is funny enough. Rank George is the owner of a mill, on which is painted a saint and a mermaid. The mermaid's tail looks as if it had been done up in curl papers. Near this mill is one with an inscription in German, "God bless the trade of the Miller," painted in great letters so that the sentiment covers one whole side of the mill. Beyond are several old arks, which, like Falstaff, are "blasted with antiquity." We were wandering about the city, looking for provisions and were not able to find a market. A portly and well dressed old German inquired what we wanted, and when I told our quest, he said, "Kommen sie mit," and we went. He proceeded leisurely until we reached a fine garden surrounded by a high stone wall. There he summoned a workman and giving some orders began showing us the fine points of his garden. At last the servant returned laden with a beautiful supply of corn, cucumbers, tomatoes and a couple of muskmelons. These were sent down to our boat with the gentleman's compliments. He shook hands with us at parting, wished us a happy journey and warned us solemnly against the "gelsen."

We had not gone far before a storm with wind caught us in the mid stream. To face it and row for an island was the only way to keep afloat. It was a hard struggle, and the waves were very high before we reached the shelter of the island. I was so exhausted that I could barely drag the little boat on shore, and with my wife's aid, put up our tent, before the rain descended. The storm having ceased, we proceeded; passed a low muddy island, where long legged storks stood, awkwardly on one leg, and floated by a wharf where a large crowd of workmen were waiting for a ferry, and looking as if they had turned out in their night gowns.

As night came on we came to Vukavar. We landed at the mouth of a black, ugly looking river. The mud was bad there and a man advised us to row up the little river to a grassy bank. I rowed up this modern styx, and camped in the very heart of the town, near the market place. The markets open at dawn and close before a respectable American would get up. We had been in much difficulty about getting our supplies. This time they got us up early enough by crowding about our closed tent and asking questions. Such a sight! The whole length of a long street was lined with round willow baskets, large white umbrellas, and every vegetable conceivable piled in heaps. Nor was this all. Upon wooden racks were hung shoes, circle combs, cloth brushes, ropes, hats, tin-wares, wooden spoons; while soaps, perfumery and jewelry, all suited to present buyers, were displayed on benches. Besides there were queer little booths, where they served soup and hot milk from large iron boilers. Everybody stared as we wended our way up this lane of curiosities. The shop-keepers, who always find what we are doing before they sell us anything, all warn us with grave faces to beware of the "gelsen."

We finally embarked, and as I pulled slowly out of the Styx into the noble stream of the Danube, we speculated in vain as to what "gelsen" were. Just below the town we met a tug towing a flour mill up stream. The banks grew higher and when Peterwarden was reached we had a superb mountain on our right, and the city of Neusatz, beautifully situated in a plain, on our left. Peterwarden is a grand fortress built upon a rock around which the proud Danube curves. Directly under the fortress runs a railroad tunnel. Upon the mountain side are many charming chateaus. The scene reminds one of the shore of Lake Geneva near Vevey. A bridge of the boats connects Neusatz with the fortress. Our little boat asked no favors of the bridge

The Needle Work Guild.

Ed. COURIER:

The Needle Work Guild is now actively engaged collecting garments for the annual distribution on the 12th of November. Enthusiasm in the work seems unabated, and such a large number of voluntary offerings is made as to show the esteem in which the work is held by the people. 1,100 new garments were donated last year, and given out to our own poor according to the best judgment of the officers of the Guild. The giving of substantial, new garments appeals to the good sense of everyone and enables the Guild to make warm and comfortable many a shivering boy or girl—and the thoughtfulness of our merchants in donating shop-worn cloaks and jackets has been of great assistance in clothing school children comfortably. I desire to assure the kind people who contribute to this store of garments, that the greatest care is taken in distributing them. In the first place beggars, who come to the door, are never given clothing unless they are vouched for by some responsible person, and their wants specified. Poor families are visited, needs discovered and garments fitted as far as possible. This takes time, but it is the only way to realize the full value of such a collection, and the work is done cheerfully. The register, containing names of families and individuals assisted by the Guild can be examined at any time by anyone who desires to do so. It has been a great pleasure to unfortunate families, who found themselves in want through sickness or lack of work, and were thus tided over a hard winter and made to realize what a good and cheering thing is brotherly kindness.

It is a beautiful charity and it is hoped that many who have never given before will be prompted to give two new garments this year and so increase the membership and usefulness of the Guild. Mrs. W. S. PERRY, Pres. N. W. G.

Y. W. C. A. Notes—

The Y. W. C. A. have been making improvements in their rooms. Few, if any, of the State Associations have as good an Assembly room as the Ann Arbor girls now enjoy.

The Y. W. C. A. open their rooms on Thursday evening to the members and lady friends of the Association. The teachers will explain the object and methods of the classes offered, and music and light refreshments will help make the evening pleasant.

Women desiring work to do and women desiring work done, ought to get together. They can do so at the Y. W. C. A. rooms for $1.00. One strong woman wishes room-work to do by the day or week.

If you can compass your spirit with meekness and struggle a natural oath, if you can leave all your wrongs to the future and carry your heart in your cheek, if you can do an hour's work in a minute, and live on six pence a week, if you can courteously talk to an equal, and browbeat an impudent dunce, if you can keep things in apple-pie order and do half a dozen at once, if you can press all the springs of knowledge with quick and reliable touch, and be sure that you know how to say, and know how to say too much, if you know how to spur up your virtue, and put a checkrein on your pride, if you can carry a gentleman's manners within a rhinoceros hide, if you can know all, and do all, and be all with cheerfulness, courage and vim, you may make a newspaper man, if your eyes haven't grown too dim.

Passed Over to the Majority—

On Tuesday night of last week, Conrad Krapp, died at his home on Jefferson st., after a long continued illness, caused by the feebleness of old age, he having reached the advanced period of 86 years 9 months.

Mr. Krapp was born at Hesse Cassel, Rotherburg, Germany, Jan. 10, 1810. He was educated in his native place, and acquired the cabinet maker's trade, living there until 20 years of age, when he started out to find what there was in the world. He traveled over Switzerland, Holland, Austria, France, beside seeing all of Germany.

In 1836 he set sail for America, the Mecca of all lovers of freedom. After living in New York one year, he then came to the great and growing west, finally settling here in Ann Arbor. As there was little demand for his services as a cabinet maker in those days, he turned his hand toward carpentry and took contracts for erecting buildings. This he followed to a greater or less extent for a period of 40 years.

In an early day he became a hater of slavery and a strong abolitionist. Many a train did he run on the Underground Railway, and many a slave did he conceal from the officers, and help to Canada and liberty. His views on any subject he never concealed, and he always had the courage to back up his views by physical force if necessary, so that the people who thought to abuse him for his, at that unpopular views, learned to respect him and keep at a safe distance.

In 1847 he was superintendent of the poor for this county, which position he held a number of years. In 1859 he was chosen supervisor for the 1st district of this city, which at that time consisted of the 1st and 2d wards, which office he held for some sixteen years or more. He was also a member of the first school board of this city.

During the war Mr. Krapp acted as enrolling officer, that is he had the duty of enrolling the names of all men subject to draft.

For the past sixty years Mr. Krapp has resided in the house in which he died. He was twice married. From the two marriages four sons and four daughters were born. Herman and Richard of Ann Arbor, Henry C., of New York City, and Ottmar O., of Saginaw, survive him. There are eight grand children and two great grand children, the latter two being the grand children of Herman Krapp.

As a public officer he made a reputation for the strictest honesty and integrity. He believed that public affairs should be treated in just the same manner that one is expected to show in private business. Mr. Krapp was also treasurer of the Grand Encampment I. O. O. F. for many years. He was a member of the Ann Arbor lodge I. O. O. F. for 51 years, and a member of Ann Arbor lodge No. 85 F. & A. M., until it disrupted and went to pieces, when he took a demit and united with Schiller lodge of Detroit.

Funeral services were held on Friday afternoon, Rev. J. M. Gelston conducting the same.

An Old Citizen Dead.

John C. Taylor a citizen of Chelsea for 37 years died at his home at 20 minutes past three Sunday last, after a brief illness of about a week. Mr. Taylor was born in England, December 23, 1834. At the age of six years he moved with his parents to Livingston county, Michigan. In 1859 he moved to Chelsea, where he remained a respectable citizen to his death.

In 1865 he married Miss Hanna Kirkland, who survives him. Four boys and one girl were born to them, only three of whom are living.

In the winter of 1866, in a meeting held in the Methodist church he gave his heart to the Lord, and at once united with the Methodist church, from which time to his death he was an honored member. His funeral was held at the Methodist church Wednesday at 01:30, a. m., Rev. J. I. Nickerson conducting the service.—Chelsea Standard.

The Collector he Couldn't Stand.

"For heaven's sake!" he cried, "I never saw anything like this collecting mania."

"It's a very instructive amusement."

"Yes, may be, but not for me. There's my daughter Agnes, she's collecting buttons and asks me every day to go around to the headquarters and get her some, and I must buy of every street fakir I pass or she doesn't like it. There's my daughter Lucy, she goes over all of my letters and cuts off the monograms, destroying them. I don't like her to do it, but I can't stop it. She says some infernal nonsense about it being "all the rage." Then my son Tom is just as bad. He asks me for postage stamps and cuts them off the letters before I read them in the morning. And they are always having something new to collect. Every member of my family is a collector."

"How about your wife?" "O, she's worse than any of them. She says she is collecting coins and makes it an excuse for going through my pockets every day. She calls it being a numismatist. I think it should be called kleptomaniac." Just then a man with a bill entered the office.

"I am," he began, "a collector for—"

"Confound you, then, get!" cried the infuriated man. "I am a collector myself. I am trying to collect my senses."—Chicago Times-Herald.
