MACK & CO.

A SKETCH OF ONE WHO HAS BEEN ALLIED WITH THE INTERESTS OF THIS CITY FOR A QUARTER OF A CENTURY.

In writing a series of articles relative to the business men of Ann Arbor, the men who carry forward the industries and enterprises of this university city—for it has industries and enterprises—one of the first names that suggests itself, is that of Charles E. Hiscock, the present mayor of our city.

Mayor Hiscock is in every sense of the word "one of us." He was born in this city, on the 1st day of March, 1854. His education was received in the public schools here, and his business education in the Ann Arbor Savings Bank, which bank has a wide reputation throughout the country for being not only a model of its kind, but one of the strongest financial institutions in any interior city of the Union.

Mr. Hiscock's father, Daniel Hiscock, Esq., was one of the pioneers of this county, coming here when the city was not even a hamlet, and is now living upon land he then took up from the government.

The business career of Mr. Hiscock is one that young men may well emulate. He selected a pursuit in early life, and has always devoted his energies to perfecting himself therein. When the Ann Arbor Savings Bank was organized in 1869, he was installed as the office boy. He did the errands, the sweeping, the dusting, and kept the fires going in the winter. Then he became collector; then book-keeper, and so on up, step by step, until 1877, when he was made cashier, which position he has held ever since, to the credit of himself, and the best interests of the bank. His career is an example of the assertion that the best business men are those who start down at the bottom round of the ladder and by climbing to the top, thoroughly understands every detail.

Mayor Hiscock has always been ready to invest money in home enterprises. He is a director, secretary and treasurer of the Michigan Furniture Co., probably the most extensive industry in the city; he is a director and treasurer of the Ann Arbor & Ypsilanti Electric Railway Co., which includes our city street railway; and is also a stockholder in the Ann Arbor Water Co., the University School of Music, and in several other companies that help to make up the business interests of our city.

In fraternal societies Mr. Hiscock has always taken a great interest. He traveled through the various chairs of Fraternity Lodge F. & A. M., of which he is Past Worshipful Master; the same in Washtenaw Chapter Royal Arch Masons, of which he is Past High Priest; the same in Ann Arbor Commandery Knights Templar, of which he is Past Eminent Commander. In all of these organizations he is the present treasurer together with the local Masonic Mutual Ins. Co. He was made a Mason in 1875. In 1889, as E. C. of the Ann Arbor Commandery, he led that body on its pilgrimage to the triennial convocation at Washington, D. C. He is also Past Exalted Ruler in the Elks, and is at present a trustee and treasurer of the same.

Mayor Hiscock is also a prominent Club man, being the first president of the Keystone Club, the pioneer club of the city, having its house at Zubeck Lake, and at present is its treasurer; he is also vice president of the Town and Gown Club.

In politics Mr. Hiscock has always been a strong republican, and an active worker for his party. He represented his ward, the 3rd, in the common council for two terms, was president of the council two years, and then elected mayor, which position he now occupies. He was a delegate to the republican national convention at Minneapolis; and a candidate for presidential elector in 1882, the year the democratic legislature gave us the gerrymandered district system, which fact prevented him from casting his electoral vote for Benj. Harrison.

In all things effecting the city's interests Mr. Hiscock is alive. He is treasurer of the Anti-Tramp Society, which has done so much to lessen the tramp nuisance, and always stands ready to assist any movement that has for its object the benefitting of Ann Arbor.

Although a conservative man, yet Mayor Hiscock is progressive, and the people have the utmost confidence in him in business affairs, and as an upright and honorable citizen.

What the Women Are Doing—

At the annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A., at the rooms of the latter Monday afternoon, Mrs. Wm. Goodyear was chosen president; Mrs. F. A. Howlett, secretary; Mrs. E. S. Gilmore, treasurer for the ensuing year.

The annual reports of the officers showed the Auxiliary in a flourishing condition.

A rising vote of thanks was given Mrs. W. W. Wetmore, who for the past three years had been the able and efficient president, and whose splendid work has shown how thoroughly her heart has been in the cause.

The ladies have taken upon themselves the burden of raising $1,000 for the new Y. M. C. A. building, and although it has been only a short time since they made the pledge, yet the treasurer reported $30 already set aside for that purpose.

The new president, Mrs. Wm. Goodyear, has been the prompt and active secretary of the organization for some time, and is one of the most conscientious workers we have in the city. She will be assisted by two other equally able ladies, Mrs. Howlett as secretary, and Mrs. Gilmore as treasurer. The ladies thus start out upon the fourth year with hope and determination, and we all know what that means.

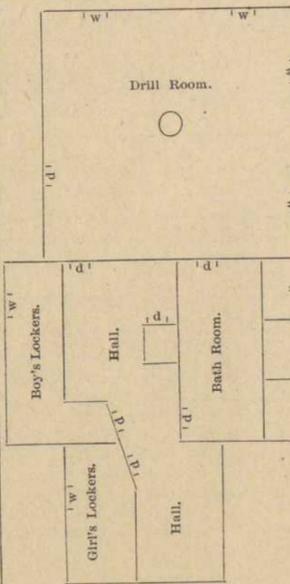

The Women's Auxiliary is certainly a pillar of strength to the Y. M. C. A., and gives that band of workers in a good cause much encouragement to keep steadfastly going forward.

HIGH SCHOOL GYMNASIUM.

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE TO PROMOTE PHYSICAL CULTURE AMONG THE STUDENTS.

Monday evening the School Board made an examination of the rooms which have been fixed up on the ground floor for gymnasium purposes. They were unanimous in the opinion that the money appropriated had been well spent. When the suggestion was first made four years ago, that a gymnasium could be established in the present quarters it was not received with favor by either the faculty or members of the board. The board recognized the value of gymnastic training, and made a sufficient appropriation so that McMillan Hall was secured for two years. Each year between 80 and 100 of the high school students availed themselves of the advantages offered. The closing of McMillan Hall last year made it necessary that other quarters be secured. An attempt was made to secure for high school pupils the benefits of Waterman Gymnasium, but it was not successful, although several of the boys were able by means of friends among the University boys, to obtain lockers. The question of a "Gym" of our own was again proposed and this time it received sufficient encouragement from the authorities so that estimates were secured as to its probable cost.

The accompanying design will give the reader an idea of the rooms as they are at present. No combination of lines could adequately show them as they were at the time work began. The part of the ground floor now occupied as a gymnasium had been used as a store room for about twenty years and the janitor had been so true to his trust that the accumulation of a score of years was wonderful to behold.

The management of the gymnasium was placed by the school board, in the hands of a board of control and the principal, and all of the work has been under their supervision. The drill room is 30x36, 10 feet in the clear. Around the entire room is a stationary seat. Four windows supply the needed ventilation. A pillar in the center of the room furnishes a support for four of Spalding's best pulley machines; a chest machine, inter cistal machine, sculling machine, and chest expander. A punching bag occupies one corner, a 10x12 wrestling mat, another, while a twenty-foot ladder is hung from the ceiling. A medicine ball, dumb bells and Indian clubs complete the equipment at present.

The Thomas Concert, Nov. 12—

The Choral Union Series will open on November 18th with a concert by The Chicago Orchestra under Theodore Thomas. Every effort has been made to make this first concert a brilliant affair. It may not be out of order to ask "Why should we not have a different orchestra?" There is a natural desire on the part of concert goers to hear different organizations; but it must be remembered that concert orchestras cannot be secured as readily as many suppose. Negotiations with a prominent eastern orchestra were in progress all the summer, and it was supposed that the organization would make a western trip. The trip was given up at the last moment, causing a great deal of annoyance. Theodore Thomas has this year the finest organization he has had for many seasons, and in as much as the orchestra is the only great permanent organization of the kind in the country—with the exception always of the Boston Symphony—no apology seems necessary for offering the patrons of the course a concert by one of the finest orchestras in the world. Included in the program is the ever beautiful G minor Symphony by Mozart, which will be heard for the first time in Ann Arbor, the "Flying Dutchman" overture, Wagner; a suite based on a story from the "Arabian Nights," and several other novelties.

The Ann Arbor Railroad and Car Ferry Lines.

The History of the Car Ferry Service Across Lake Michigan--What the Route has Done for Lumber Shippers--Its Growth and Popularity--The Vast Country for which it Furnishes an Outlet.

The Ann Arbor railroad bisects the lower peninsula of the state of Michigan from southeast to northwest—a stretch of main line some 300 miles in length. Its southern terminus is at Toledo, O., where it connects with the dozen or more main trunk lines reaching all parts of the country. Its northern terminus is at Frankfort, Mich., on Lake Michigan, where it possesses an excellent harbor, open all the year round. From this point diverges the Ann Arbor railroad car ferry system to Manitowoc and Kewaunee, Wis., and to Menominee, Gladstone and Manistique, Mich. For a trade-mark the Ann Arbor railroad has always used the "key," and in railroad circles it is known as the "Key of Michigan." Its several car ferry routes, making up a digital number, may be likened unto a giant's right hand and strong arm that is reaching out for business all through the great northwest.

Of special interest to lumber shippers is this great ferry and rail system. The Ann Arbor railroad was the first to undertake the operation of car ferries across Lake Michigan. Ferry No. 1 made its first trip early in November, 1892, and ferry No. 2 was placed in commission in January, 1893. The two months of 1892, which was the inception of the business, showed a handling of only 323 cars of freight eastbound, out of Wisconsin and upper Michigan. People generally, both shippers and other railroad men, were afraid of the system, and the general opinion was that it would be a failure. This feeling was wide-spread and long-felt, and not until 1895 did shippers become less suspicious of the innovation.

In that year general public sentiment began to turn, and 1895 proved a prosperous year for the Ann Arbor ferry service. In 1896 the two ferries of the Ann Arbor company hauled, eastbound, over 6,000 carloads of the products of Wisconsin, Minnesota and upper Michigan, to say nothing of the immense quantities of soft coal handled from the Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia mines westbound. The coal thus supplied almost entirely furnished the fuel for the vast paper mills along the Fox and Wisconsin rivers in Wisconsin during the past three years. During the present year the volume of business via the Ann Arbor ferry route has been still further augmented. During all this time not one pound of freight has been lost to shippers. The Ann Arbor Railroad Company insures freight while on its boats just as it does while in transit on its railroad, and if any is lost from any cause it is promptly paid for. Shippers have finally become convinced that the car ferry service is just as safe as though hauled "all-rail."

Of the boats themselves, of which the Timberman takes pleasure in presenting several illustrations: The large picture shows the two transfers plowing through the ice in midwinter, and is inscribed "The Ann Arbor's Grand March Across Lake Michigan." Another illustration is a second winter scene at the entrance of the Frankfort harbor; the third shows one of the transfers in the slip at Frankfort with the beautiful little city of Frankfort in the background. Then there are several smaller detail pictures, showing the loading of one of the ferries with carloads of cedar poles at Menominee, Mich.; unloading one of the boats at Kewaunee, Wis.; and the third small picture, photographed at Gladstone, Mich., shows how the cars are substantially fastened to the deck of the vessel. All the pictures are practically self-explanatory. Each of the Ann Arbor ferries carries twenty-four cars, and is enclosed, as the pictures will show, except sufficient space at the stern for the handling of large furniture cars. This makes it possible for this company to handle cars of any size offered. The boats make daily calls at Kewaunee, Wis., where they connect with the Kewaunee, Green Bay & Western railroad, and at Manitowoc, Wis., where connection is made with the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, and with the Chicago & Northwestern systems. Calls are also made four times weekly at Gladstone, Mich., where connection is made with the "Soo" system. The Gladstone harbor, at the head of Little Bay De Nocquet, not having proved an available harbor, the Ann Arbor Railroad Company is now putting in a slip and apron transfer at Manistique, Mich., which is an open harbor all winter, and gives the company a thorough surety of being able to handle business to and from the "Soo" line the year round. This new harbor opens a new outlet for the vast lumber interests on both the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic and the "Soo" lines, and avoids the necessity of sending cars through the more northerly channel, via Sault Ste. Marie, where there is vastly more snow and ice to delay traffic. This route also makes a new outlet from Duluth and the Superiors to all eastern and southern ports.

been filed for a large boat and shoe manufacturing plant, which will be ready for operation next spring. Other similar enterprises are sure to follow, and the future of Menominee is assured, even after the immense lumber interests are exhausted.

Marquette, Wis., is also feeling the benefit of the Ann Arbor route by the establishment of large wholesale interests. A big wholesale grocery house has recently moved there from Milwaukee. These are not the only places directly benefited by the Ann Arbor route. Oconto has been able to find a market via the lake and rail route for its immense lumber production. Kewaunee and Manitowoc have also been benefited, as through these cities have been opened up direct lines through southern and central Wisconsin, shortening the route very materially from these points to the east. Chicago has long been overcrowded with traffic, which has meant delay and serious loss of time on through shipments. The natural outlet for business from the northwest is bound to be via the ferries across Lake Michigan.

Being first in the field of car shippers across Lake Michigan, the Ann Arbor company naturally claim the credit for everything which has followed that has been beneficial to the shippers in the northern cities and towns. This company is surely entitled to this credit, and shippers should bear in mind that to the enterprise of the Ann Arbor Railroad Company alone is due the fact that they are to-day enjoying the favorable freight tributing fraternity generally. The Timberman desires to commend the facilities and inducements offered by the Ann Arbor railroad and steamship lines for the transportation of their freight; and it trusts that they will give due weight and consideration to the fact that to this company they owe no inconsiderable debt of gratitude for both the services and rates now enjoyed.

What it Means.

When we advertise that we will guarantee Dr. King's New Discovery, Electric Bitters, Bucklen's Arnica Salve, or Dr. King's New Life Pills, it means that we are authorized by the proprietors to sell these remedies on a positive guarantee, that if purchaser is not satisfied with results, we will refund the purchase price. These medicines have been sold on this guarantee for many years and there could be no more conclusive evidence of their great merit. Ask about them and give them a trial. This link across upper Lake Michigan, and the one from Menominee to Frankfort, places the upper and lower peninsula of Michigan in close touch with each other, and makes travel and shipping as easy and prompt as though they were joined solidly together by rails of steel, and not separated by the waters of Lake Michigan.

Prior to the advent of the Ann Arbor ferry line people at the upper end of the state having business at the capital, Lansing, or in the great metropolis, Detroit, were obliged to travel via Chicago, just about double the present direct distance via the Ann Arbor line. The opening of this through water and rail line has done more for the development of upper Michigan than anything else in its history. It has been the means of placing this territory on a lower basis of freight and passenger rates than ever before enjoyed, and has made it possible for people of the upper peninsula to import goods direct and land them at their doors as cheaply as can be done by Chicago dealers. This has had the effect of giving Michigan merchants the trade of their own state instead of having it all go to Chicago.

Menominee, the metropolis of the upper peninsula of Michigan, is now beginning to feel the importance of this, and has commenced the erection of a mammoth wholesale grocery establishment, and articles of incorporation have just rates and prompt services that they are, in both shipping and receiving bulk commodities in unbroken car lots.

While the car ferries of the Ann Arbor company are not as beautiful and sumptuous as some, they are substantial and first-class crafts for the purpose for which they were built, and the passenger accommodations thereon are entirely satisfactory to the traveling public.

ATHENS THEATRE

The great play "Secret Service," which was booked for February, will be given at the Athens Theatre November 22d.

The Elks Charity Benefit Friday evening will be one of the events of the season. Full of wit, humor, fun and mirth combined in what photographers would call a composite.

Roland Reed, in The Wrong Mr. Wright, will fill the Athens Theatre to its full capacity to-night. There is no broken Reed about Roland. He is about as good as S. Smith Russell.

Frederick Warde, the great tragedian, comes to the Athens Theatre on the evening of November 24. He plays "Iskander."

The John Thomas Concert Company, one of the best companies of entertainers on the road, is to appear at the Athens Theatre next week Tuesday, Nov. 16, in the Y. M. C. A. course. This will be the star of this series of entertainments, and every one who attends will be glad that he was there. Mr. Thomas says so good an authority as the New York World: "The absurd whimsicalities and spontaneous humor of Mr. John Thomas, the famous humorous and elocutionist of Boston, were irresistible. The song about the "Man with the Cork Leg," and the sermon on "Mother Hubbard and Her dog," sent volumes of uncontrollable tears of joy coursing down the cheeks of his auditors. Mr. Thomas was indeed a genuine success."

One of the great plays on the road this year and one that excites the greatest enthusiasm wherever it is presented, is the new southern play "At Piney Ridge." The Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegram of Nov. 2, says: "One might easily imagine himself to have stepped into the midst of some Tennessee mountain settlement while witnessing the various scenes which follow one another in David Higgins' new four-act southern play 'At Piney Ridge.' The presence of the author, Daniel Higgins, in the leading role, gives assurance that the character of Jack Rose of Piney Ridge will be ably interpreted, and so the vast audience regarded Mr. Higgins' performance last night. The sturdy character of the young mountaineer appeals to every good human sentiment." At the Athens Theatre next Saturday evening.

The Elks will Entertain You—

On Friday evening, the 12th, occurs the great Charity Benefit Entertainment to be given by the B. P. O. Elks, of this city. The Elks are very numerous, and their entertainment has been under preparation for a considerable time, and will be an admirable one.

The "cast of characters" appears to be something like this:

Manager—Fred Huntoon; assistant manager and dictator—Clay Greene; musical director—Prof. R. H. Kempf; stage manager—James E. Harkins; manager of properties—Marshall D. Moore. Interlocutor—Fred Huntoon; Tambourines—Jas. E. Harkins, Frank Ryan; Bones—Geo. H. Parker, Dean M. Seabolt, James H. Boardman. Chorus—W. A. Gwinner, Geo. H. Fischer, August Koch, R. M. Gwinner, Vin Crittenden, Eugene Wagner, Wm. Dunn, Frank McIntyre, Fred J. Dansingburg.

Solos by McIntyre, Ryan, Harkins, Boardman, Dunn and Dansingburg. Seabolt and Ryan in dances.

Specialties—Jacobs & Rose in the "Pas-ma-la" Buck and Wing dances. Musical Comedians—Stark & Benoit. Feats in Legerdemain—Nate Leipsiger.

Full orchestra in connection.

This "cast" is a sure indication of the high character of the entertainment. If you want a good time; if you desire to throw off the cares and worries of the day, and give your laugh muscles some exercise, the proper thing to do is to attend this great benefit entertainment. It will benefit you as well as the Elks if you will.

The street parade will be given at noon Friday, and be headed by a squad of Detroit police—the finest. Don't fail to see the parade. It will be a corker.

NANSEN.

To drift with thee, not against thy tide, All-powerful Nature! to pursue thy law, Attentive with devout and childlike awe, Seeking unto thy voice, and none beside: To drift with thee! With thee for friend and guide, In fragile bark, careless of cold or thaw, To brave the ice-panels and dread sea-maw! So are man's conquests won, so glorified, The truest compass is the seeing soul. Oh, wondrous Earth! did not thy spirit glow, Calling to mind the deathless Genesee, As Nansen, pilot of the frozen Pole, Like a young Viking rode the icy floe, Wreathing his secret from the Arctic Seas? —FLORENCE EARL COATS, in Harper's Magazine for November.

He Was a Success in Boston—

President Sadler of the S. L. A., tells us that a private letter has been received by a member of the board from a lady in Boston, who attended the lecture of Dr. Nansen there. She states that the house was crowded, that it was one of the most enthusiastic lectures ever given in Boston, that what he had to say was of intense interest, and that she has been secured for another lecture on his return from the west in December. She also states that he speaks English fluently, was easily heard in all parts of the hall, and that only occasionally could any foreign accent be discovered in his speech.

Here is a little sketch of this man who is just now attracting public attention, that will be of interest: Dr. Nansen has an interesting personality. He is a big, blond Norwegian giant, and is more than six feet tall. His head is large, his shoulders unusually broad and his entire frame gives evidence of the remarkable endurance he has proved himself to possess. He has an attractive smile and in spite of his generally stern expression and physical prowess he has a poetic temperament, a philosophic trend of mind and is much given to scientific inquiry. He speaks English fluently; in Paris he lectured in French and in Berlin he spoke in German at the emperor's banquet, while at Oxford, England, when he received his doctor's degree, he pronounced his thanks in Latin. His lucky number is 13; he started on his famous voyage the 13th day of the month, and including himself there were 13 members of the crew on board the Fram, a vessel carefully built and fitted for his venturesome trip.

The Great Explorer's Wife—

The Sunday Times Herald of Chicago, publishes a fine portrait of Mrs. Nansen, with this account of that admirable lady:

"Mrs. Nansen, wife of the famous explorer, who accompanies her distinguished husband on his visit to the United States, is, like the doctor, one of the pets of the people of Norway. She is the favorite concert singer of that country, and her voice, while not equal in grandeur to that of Gina Osello Bjornsen, the great operatic singer, of that country, surpasses it in sweetness and purity of tone. Wherever she appears Mrs. Nansen is always received with boundless enthusiasm. It may be that much of her success is due to the sympathy she excites as the life partner of Europe's greatest explorer, but there can be no doubt she deserves much of her own merit. She is a warm admirer of the music of her compatriot, the immortal Grieg, and she is likewise a friend of the founder of the northern school of music. Dr. Grieg permits Mrs. Nansen to sing his music before it is put into the types. Nansen's wife belongs to one of the best families of Norway. Her maiden name was Sars, and her mother is a sister of John Sebastian Cammermeyer Welhaven, the poet. Mrs. Nansen is not a beautiful woman, but is charming and interesting. She is a semi-brunette of middle height of a well-built and symmetrical figure."

Does the State Protect?—

The following, relative to insurance companies doing business in the state, is being published by the press of the state:

"It has come to the knowledge of the state insurance department that the citizens of this state are, in many localities, being swindled and defrauded by worthless and irresponsible insurance companies. Companies that have any financial standing desiring to do business in the state will and do comply with our laws, but companies who are not authorized to write insurance in this state, have no standing here whatever, and should a loss occur, the insured would be without legal remedy in the state. The agents who solicit for such fraudulent companies or aid in placing policies for them are criminals before the law. Several fires have lately occurred with insurance in such companies and not a dollar of loss has been recovered and the department is powerless to aid. A list of some of these disreputable, out-law concerns now known to the department and others, has been published. Most of these are mere myths without legal existence anywhere, but are scattering policies and collecting premiums wherever they can. The public should be guarded carefully in these matters, and know thoroughly the kind of companies in which they are insured."

"Now how much is the state's guarantee worth? We know a poor woman who was induced to invest $500 about all she possessed, in the late Granite State Loan Association, doing business under state authority. When she gave up the money the person who represented the company agreed to make over to her as security a mortgage upon property in Big Rapids, which the lady knew was good. The promise was not fulfilled. The outcome is that this lady will probably never get one penny of what she invested, and upon which she was depending for support in her old age.

Isn't there a crew loose somewhere? If there was ever a swindle perpetrated in this world, that transaction was a swindle of the very dirtiest and meanest type.

Good Sense About Farmers—

At a recent meeting of La Fayette Grange, of Lima, O. C. Burkhardt, had the following commendable paragraphs in a paper upon "The Outlook for the Farmer:

"This is a question, that we farmers differ in, in our opinions; which it is right should be so. If I should say the outlook is favorable, and prosperity for agricultural interests is at hand, you would want me to give you some reason for making this prediction. I dare not say from the present outlook for the farmer, that it would be possible to succeed financially, without putting our best energies in our occupation.

"The present is a time and age of vast improvements, both in farming, and also in methods of taking advantage of the farmer; but I can safely say that the farmers of to-day, as a rule, are posting themselves on the general topics, as well as keeping a close watch of the markets. I must admit that the farmer and his wife must labor early and late to bring necessary work to a close before the winter months come with their ice and snow; but, my brother farmers, is it not a fact that when winter comes we are better prepared, than most any other of the laboring classes?

"To be sure there are avocations which seem to us, to be easier and more profitable. In some cases this is so; in less cases than we often think.

"I am not looking for something to happen in the near future to make farming an easy road to wealth. I think with the present prices, the outlook for the farmer is quite encouraging, a change for the better at least from the last few years.

"The farmer and his family of to-day, demand respect, equal to any occupation. There is none more honorable; good schools and plenty of good reading has enlightened the mind and brought pleasure to our homes. Worthy patrons, we must keep a close watch of our own interests—the merchant will look out for his—we must keep posted on prices of what we buy, as well as what we sell. Raise less acres, but more per acre, with less expense. Be awake to all improvements in our line of business, not too ready to buy until tried. Farmers to-day are doing as well as are people in almost any avocation of life. Let the law makers know what you want in their line, by uniting and asking for it at their hands. I say, of the outlook for the farmer there is a good living and fair wages in sight for the tillers of the soil."

The October statement of the Treasury Department shows that the money in circulation to-day is, in round numbers, $100,000,000 in excess of one year ago. Curiously, more than one-half of this increase is in gold. The following table, issued by the Treasury Department on October 1st, shows the money in circulation October 1, 1897, as compared with October 1, 1896:

The deficit of the second month of the Dingley law was over three million dollars, but the deficit of the second month of the Wilson law was over $13,000,000. Does anybody want to trade back?

Silver is being discriminated against all the time. Last year the mints of the United States coined only the trifling sum of $153,000,000 in silver.

Now and then an old mossback pokes his head out of his hole and looks about him in vain for signs of prosperity. There are some people who don't know a good thing when they see it.

The export trade continues heavy, notwithstanding the fact that a protective tariff law is in operation. It was 22 per cent. larger in September 1897, than it was in September 1896.

The treasury officials are finding difficulty in handling the gold reserve which has now passed the $150,000,000 mark. This condition presents a slight contrast to the bond-selling Cleveland administration.

Great Britain's refusal to open the mints of India to silver in advance of any international agreement does not signify, as many assume, that she has no interest in the expansion of silver as a money metal. On the contrary, it is understood that she will promptly send delegates to attend an international conference looking to this end.

The late George M. Pullman "disinherited" his sons with $3,000 a year income each. There are many young men in the world who would jump at the chance of being "disinherited" on the same terms.—Ypsilanti Commercial.

Housekeeping.

If a woman is in good health there is no more healthful employment than housework. Generally speaking, there is no happier woman in the world. But how different when every breath is pain, every step torture! This state of health, in nine cases out of ten, comes from derangements of the delicate, feminine organs generation. The family doctor inquires first concerning these. He most usually insists upon an "examination." From this the modest woman naturally shrinks. She is right. Except in very unusual cases of "female weakness" examinations are unnecessary. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a simple, natural remedy for these ills. It cures safely, permanently.

What will the cheap-money men do, now that silver coinage at 16 to 1 is becoming more and more unpopular? Will they abandon the issue entirely and drift into greenbackism, pure and simple, or will they adopt single-taxism and such other fallacies? It is a logical step from forty-cent silver to unlimited paper money, and it is only a question in the minds of silverites as to whether this will be sufficiently popular with the masses.

Right Rev. William Crowell Doan, S. T. D., Bishop of Albany, is to deliver the series of lectures before the Hobart Guild, at Harris Hall, upon the Socum foundation. Wallace Bruce, at University Hall, last Friday evening, gave his audience a very good idea of the distinction between wit and humor. The poem recited as a prelude to his lecture was good, but just a trifle tedious. The audience was pleased when he got down to the business of the evening. The anecdotes, the wit, the sarcasm brought out were excellent, and although some of the anecdotes had a trifle of dust upon them, accumulated by age, yet he dressed them up so neatly that the audience took them all for fresh, and applauded enthusiastically. He dressed up Col. Ingersoll—or rather Col. Ingersoll's religious unbelief—in a very neat manner also. All in all Mr. Bruce delivers a good lecture, and the audience went away pleased.

The proof-reader said, with a sigh, "It would make me most happy if I could make up my mind if some things that I find are dialect pieces of pl." —Washington Star.

The Detroit, Ypsilanti & Ann Arbor Electric Railway line secured a franchise from the town of Springwells yesterday, entering into an agreement not to charge over 1.1-2 cents per mile for passenger rates. This would indicate that the fare from here to Detroit will not exceed 60 cents.

It is unfortunate that two such great attractions as Dr. Nansen and the John Thomas Co. should both be here on the same night, for our citizens will desire to hear both. As a result probably the literary inclined people will doubtless desire to see and hear Nansen, and those who want to pass a delightful and amusing evening will go to the Athens Theatre and hear the John Thomas Co. There are no better companies on the road, and they never have appeared in a place yet but what there has been a strong demand for a return engagement.

We observe that the Ann Arbor Courier kicks vigorously because the silver men ousted a republican county superintendent of the poor and gets a solid democratic board, instead of one representative from the republicans. The objection is sustained. Taxation without representation led to the rumpus where young America licked his mother, in 1776. Representation, without some chance at the taxes, isn't fair. The McKinley era of prosperity lands many a deluded republican over in Washtenaw into the county house. They should be represented on the board.—Adrian Press. A little off on your bearings. It is the Wilson bill that has swelled the bills at the county house. They are growing fess now.

The editor of the Adrian Press criticizes Sheriff Judson because the three men arrested for the murder of the old man Richards were not convicted, and insinuates that he did not do his duty in securing evidence, etc. The Press strains a point to get in a dig at a political opponent, and does not understand the case. Sheriff Judson had nothing to do with the arrest of those men. M. C. Peterson was at that time the democratic city marshal of Ann Arbor, and he arrested the men, although it is generally considered the duty of the sheriff to attend to the criminal business of the county. It is possible that Mr. Peterson had an ambition to be sheriff himself, and hoped by shrewd manipulation to make a reputation for himself that would put him there. If there is any fault in the case, Bro. Press, it lies with the democratic marshal, not with the republican sheriff. Had the sheriff been allowed to proceed as sheriff usually do, there might have been less expense and better results in this particular instance.

Which Shall it Be—Kill or Live?

The miserable pot hunters, who go out into the country with the idea that they must kill something, anyway, are destroying many of our native and insect-eating birds. The result will be that insects and worms will become such pests within a few years that no one will be able to raise anything. The plagues that once visited Egypt will be renewed here in the new world, and mankind will have to pay the penalty for its own foolishness. The person who lawlessly or uselessly kills a bird commits a crime against the human family. The same is true of the one who needlessly cuts down a tree. Both the birds and the trees are necessities to human life, as the human family will learn to its sorrow if the wanton destruction of both does not cease. Every farmer ought to post notices forbidding hunters—and we are glad to say many have done so—from going on their premises, and if they persist in doing so, arrest them for trespass. No crime ever goes unpunished. And this crime of slaughtering everything in sight which seems to have taken possession of some people, will surely have its punishment, in which thousands of innocent will have to suffer. The penalty for trespassing, where signs have been put up, is in substance as follows: "To hunt for game, with firearms, dogs or otherwise on the enclosed lands or premises of another without the permission of the owner or lessee is a misdemeanor. The penalty, on conviction, is a fine of not less than five nor more than twenty dollars, in the discretion of the court, and costs. And if the fine is not paid, the defendant shall be confined in the county jail not less than five nor more than thirty days."

Stop! Women,

And consider that in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman—a woman whose experience in treating woman's diseases is greater than that of any living physician, male or female.

You can talk freely to a woman when it is revolting to relate your private troubles to a man; besides, a man does not understand, simply because he is a man.

MRS. PINKHAM'S STANDING INVITATION.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read, and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman. Thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

Ferdinand Brunstere, the editor of the "Revue des Deux Mondes," in Impressions of America in the last McClure, says, speaking of Universities: "There are likewise different types of American Universities. There are state universities—like the University of Virginia, for instance; or the University of Michigan (Ann Arbor) which are independent, no doubt, in the sense that they manage themselves absolutely, and yet whose independence is in respect limited by the grant they receive from the states. Their principal obligations are to admit to the university course without previous examination, pupils who come from the high schools of Michigan or Virginia, and to establish alongside of their liberal instruction, technical training—scientific agriculture, for example—or legal or medical courses."

HIGH SCHOOL GYMNASIUM.

two showers and a closet. The showers are supplied with both hot and cold water. The hot water tank is supplied with heat from the regular heating plant, and a stove is in use on Saturdays.

The locker rooms are two in number, one for the boys and one for the girls. Each has accommodations at present for about 50 persons. Each room is furnished with stationary seats.

Entrance to the gymnasium is obtained by means of a stairway leading from the hall near Room 6 to the hall below. All of the rooms are lighted with electricity and receive enough heat from the steam pipes which pass through them.

The use of the gymnasium is divided between the boys and girls as follows: the girls have Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons, from 3 to 6, and the boys take the same time on the other days. The instruction for the girls is given by Miss Whedon and Miss Ladd, while Messrs. Jocelyn and Springer perform similar service for the boys. Enough pulley machines are provided to exercise every muscle in the body and by means of the bell and club drills, elasticity is given to the muscles.

Two questions have been asked by the taxpayers with regard to this improvement. The first relates to its cost, the second to the sanitary condition of the rooms used. As it stands at the present time, it has cost the city $700, every dollar of which, save $100 for the bath room, has been expended in cleaning up and putting into good sanitary condition a portion of the building which should have been attended to long ago. If the rooms are never used, it has been a good investment. The cold air boxes which supplied air to the various rooms, were removed, and revealed the fact that dirt had accumulated to an average depth in the horizontal boxes of one and one-half inches. Think of the pure air that must have been obtained through these boxes.

The apparatus has been purchased by the Board of Control. An entertainment will be given during the winter at which time it is expected that part of the cost will be realized. An admission fee of $1 per year is charged each student who joins the "Gym." This includes the use of the baths, locker and class instruction. An attendant is in charge of the rooms all the time that they are open.

A beginning has been made. We hope it is but a start. Physical training is coming to be recognized as necessary to mental development. The time is not far distant when it should be made compulsory upon every student to devote an hour a day to some form of physical gymnastics.

A Desirable Course of Lectures—

The Students' Christian Association has arranged for a series of lectures upon present day problems, to be delivered in Newberry Hall by prominent people. In order to defray the expenses tickets for the course will be sold for 50 cents, and single admissions 25 cents.

The list is as follows:
 Nov. 20—Professor Graham Taylor, professor of Applied Sociology, Chicago Theological Seminary; Subject: "Some Practical Phase of the Labor Problem."
 December 2—Rev. Washington Gladston. One of the greatest pulpit orators of America. Subject: "The Sermon on the Mount, as the Basis of Social Reconstruction." Also December 3—At 4 p. m.—at University Hall. Subject: "The Form and Substance of Culture."

December 7—Samuel M. Jones, mayor of Toledo, Ohio. Subject: "The Golden Rule in Real Life."
 January 20—Jane Addams, made famous by her work in Hull House, Chicago. Subject: "The Study of a Chicago Alderman." This subject is one of intense interest as handled by this intensely interesting lecturer. Also January 21—Subject: "Tolstoi."

This is a series that will be of great interest to Ann Arbor people, and one that they will desire to hear from beginning to end. The merely nominal price asked for the course will be used to defray the expenses. Newberry Hall should be filled to overflowing each evening.

Every newspaper treasures up in its memory the names of its friends and, likewise, its enemies. It seldom if ever, overlooks an opportunity to assist the former, but never goes out of its way to boost the latter. Human nature is pretty much the same everywhere. People who show the newspaper man kindness never made a better investment or one that more surely pays them a hundred fold, sooner or later. As it has been truly said, there comes a time in the life of every man when a word said by a newspaper either makes or un-makes the individual mentioned.

WANTED—A LITTLE GIRL.

ELLA WHEELER WILCOX.
 Where have they gone to—the little girls, With natural manners and natural curls, Who love the dollies and like the toys, And talk of something besides the boys?
 Little old women in plenty I find, Mature in manners and old of mind; Little old girls who talk of their "beau's" And vie with each other in stylish clothes.
 Little old belles, who, at nine and ten, Are sick of pleasures and tired of men, Weary of travel, of balls, of fun, And find no new things under the sun.
 Once, in the beautiful long ago, Some dear little children I used to know; Girls who were merry as lambs at play, And laughed and rollicked the livelong day.
 They thought not at all of the style of their clothes; They never imagined that boys were "beau's"; "Other girls' brothers" and "mates" were they; Splendid fellows to help them play.
 Where have they gone to? If you see One of them anywhere, send her to me. I would give a medal of purest gold To one of those dear little girls of old, With an innocent heart and an open smile, Who knows not the meaning of "flirt" or "style."

County Roads in Michigan.

The county road system in Michigan can be adopted by a majority vote in any county. Five road commissioners are elected, none of whom can in any way be interested in any contract that may be entered into by the Board. They have full power to lay out county roads; to change the width, direction or location of existing ones; purchase property; unite with adjacent counties in laying out and maintaining roads; adopt any road as a county road, except that in incorporated villages the consent of the village must be obtained. They can grade, drain, gravel, macadamize or improve in any way according to their judgment; construct and maintain culverts and bridges, but can contract no indebtedness in excess of the amount at their disposal in the hands of the county treasurer. A county may by vote bond itself for road purposes and is liable for damages growing out of their bad condition. The system was adopted by Chippewa county in 1894, bonds for $100,000 issued, and in two years following nearly 160 miles of road were improved and built to the satisfaction of the people.—L. A. W.
