PERCEBE.

Kro pales in heaven the morning star.

It is a we, sad-colored thing.

It seems pain-prompted to repeat Phoebe! Phoebe! earth and sky.

Phoebe! It calls and calls again.

A pain articulate so long Whose ghost still haunts the faintest thought.

Wait of the young woman's wonder-hour.

Like Frogs, did I feel the stress.

Phoebe! It calls and calls again.

it safe for you all to be off to meeting to-day; I am in a hurry, neighbor,

This communication placed our friend Daniel in an unpleasant dilemma.

It had been settled that no one was to be left at home but his daughter Mehitable, a beautiful little girl about nine years old. Shall I stay or go? was the question. Daniel was a Puritan; he had strict notions of the duty of worshipping God in His temple, and he had faith that God would bless him only as he did his duty; but then he was a father, and little Hitty was the light and joy of his eyes.

But these feelings were stern and unmolding. I will not even take Hitty with me; for I will make her cowardly.

The thieves may not come; neighbor

Perkins may be mistaken, and if they do come to my house they will not hurt that child. At any rate, she is in God's hands; and we will go to worship

Him, who never forsakes those who are in His trust in Him. As he settled this, the little girl and her mother stood by the door; the father, however, was not there. He had been in the street, and he had seen the thieves. He had seen them enter the house, and he had seen them take the child. He had seen them

A CHINESE PIRATE.

The sea robber's reign is not yet at an end in the Tachow Islands, if we are to judge from recent reports. From the district which has just been mentioned comes a most interesting story of a pirate chief who is now occupying a large place in the consideration of the topics of the day with Chinese of the district. The sea robber possesses more than ordinary courage and audacity; he seems to be one of those bold, bad men whose talents invest his crimes with a good deal of romance.

His exploits are of a most daring character and he forms exactly one of those persons that a novelist of the Mayne

Reid stamp would delight to henn and present to the public as a hero of original romance. The history of the pirate chief is a remarkable one. To commence in true dramatic style we shall state that in the Village of Ning Ye, in the District of Ning Lo, which is near Ningpo, and the Chusan Isles, some twenty years ago, there lived a gentleman of the name of Kwang-kingman. He was the son of a rich and honorable family, and he was educated in the classics. He was of a noble and generous nature, and he was much respected by his neighbors. He was a man of high character, and he was much respected by his neighbors.

He was a man of high character, and he was much respected by his neighbors. He was a man of high character, and he was much respected by his neighbors. He was a man of high character, and he was much respected by his neighbors. He was a man of high character, and he was much respected by his neighbors.

He was a man of high character,

Tooth-Ache in Horses.

The Veterinarian of the Prairie says: Undoubtedly, the horse is subject to tooth-ache as well as his owner. The structure of the horse's teeth is similar to that of man; they are also, but not so frequently, subject to the same diseases, such as caries and costosis of the fangs, and it is therefore, not by any means unreasonable to presume that these diseases will have the same effects in producing pain in the horse as in man. It is, however, a very difficult matter to prove this, as the horse, unfortunately, cannot give verbal expression to his ailments.

Symptoms which characterize it are not so distinctive, but that they may be taken as the concomitants of dentition. We will suppose an animal to be the subject of tooth-ache. In the first place, he would very likely be off his feed, and, if free from pain and feeding, he should all at once become very restless, and, if the diseased tooth, he would suddenly leave off masticating, perhaps rest the head affected on the mane, rub it gently against the edge, or toss his head up and down; the eye on the affected side might shed a few tears, and the glands under the jaw on that side may be more or less swollen. But these things, however, as before stated, are not so decidedly distinctive as to authorize us in at once setting down the case as one of tooth-ache. Other marks may, however, come to our Entered as Second Class matter in the Post Office at Ann Arbor, Mich.

THE POSTOFFICE

When the question of removing the postoffice from its present location some months ago was first agitated, THE DEMOCRAT called attention to the fact that the best place in the city for a postoffice building was on the corner of Main and Ann streets directly opposite the Duffy block. Now that the whole matter has been reopened by the government, we again call the attention of the officials who will soon decide the controversy by locating a site, that a number of citizens stand ready to contribute a sufficient sum to erect a large and commodious building on the corner above referred to. As there is no probability of the postoffice being retained here it now is or that a building will be erected by Messrs. Booth & James for that purpose, we understand a large number of business men who are opposed to having the office removed to the Hamilton block, are in favor of the new project, and there is no doubt the question will be finally settled this week. It is well known that to locate the postoffice on the corner of Main and Ann streets, it will better accommodate the citizens of the third, fourth, and fifth wards, and a portion of the second—which includes more than one-half of the population of the city. In fact this corner is the proper place for a postoffice as the building can be arranged with entrances on three sides, if necessary, thus affording ample room for egress and ingress to citizens and students. Thus, will all rushes in the future be avoided, and there would be no jamming, as will always be the case in tucked up quarters. To move the office opposite Baxter's barn as was contemplated, would be out of the way as everyone knows. Opposite the Duffy block would be a central location and one that would suit the convenience of a majority of the citizens.

The time has arrived when the most gigantic monopoly of this continent has grown so all-powerful as to absolutely control the only rapid news-transmitting system known. The Western Union telegraph company practically owns the continent, and all efforts tending to a modification or restriction of its franchises will be quickly squelched in the future as they have been in the past. The business transacted by this company is gigantic in proportions. It is the repository of the most important secrets of the government and of individuals, and charges high for the trust it has rarely abused. Every day business more and more calls for the establishment of a line of governmental post-telegraphy for the transmission of messages at a merely nominal tariff. There is plenty of work for a line of that kind without materially interfering with the business now transacted by the Western Union company. There are thousands of communications sent by mail which would be sent by wire if the telegraph rates were lower. Then the question may be asked, will it not pay the Western Union to lower its rates for the purpose of catching this increase of business? No, because the company's lines are now taxed to their utmost to meet the demands made upon them at the present rates of tariff. The company is continually putting up new lines but it cannot keep up with the business which flows to it, and to expect a reduction of the tariff under these circumstances is ridiculous. No other company can build a line and maintain it three months before the Western Union steps in with its millions of capital and absorbs it, and it is now a notorious fact that every telegraph company which has been started in late years was organized for the purpose of selling out to the Western Union at an immense profit—in other words, for the purpose of black-maling the Western Union. With these well known facts staring us in the face, there is no hope of this monopoly being broken by private enterprise and the only relief must come from the government.

They have a pleasant way of trying murder cases "out west" which is refreshing to read about. In cases of acquittal the prisoner "sets it up" to the jury and the latter always feel "jolly" when they bring in a verdict of "not guilty," for they know that an oyster supper, a champagne blow-out or a serene awaits them, depending on the financial condition or credit of the respondent. It is not stated whether this expectation enters into the deliberations of the jury when they are making up their verdict, but in some cases it probably does. Not long ago a western woman who had been acquitted of murder, immediately treated the jury to an oyster supper. Still later at Booneville, Ind., a man named Schoenfeld, acquitted of a similar charge, treated his enthusiastic jury to a fine serenade. But it is in New York and Michigan that women repay the acquittal of murderers with kisses. In New York, when Macfarland was found innocent of murder in shooting Richardson, ladies distributed their lips among the jury, and also kissed the prisoner; while in Detroit "Mother" Curtis imprinted several kisses on the lips of members of the jury who acquitted her.

The case of Fitz John Porter is to be reopened, mainly through the instrumentality of Gen. Grant, who has at last recognized the great injustice done to his gallant officer by the court martial of 1868 and is seeking to right a wrong largely of his own making. This change of sentiment does Grant more honor than it does Porter to have him espouse his cause. Gen. Grant has written a manly letter, after a careful perusal of the records, and says: "The reading of the whole of this record has thoroughly convinced me that for these 19 years I have been doing a gallant and efficient soldier a great injustice. I feel it incumbent upon me now to do whatever lies in my power to remove from him and from his family the stain upon his good name." Grant goes on to say how his prejudices and the influence of others have prevented him from heretofore viewing the facts with candor and unprejudice. This letter, which is in the nature of an appeal to the president, has been sent to Mr. Arthur with other important documents, and the friends of the gallant Porter may now reasonably expect to have justice done him at last. His condemnation was an outrage, prompted by spite, envy and malice.

PERHAPS some of our liberally educated contemporaries will tell THE DEMOCRAT and its farmer and workmen readers what benefit the laborers of the United States receive from the high tariff, when the pauper labor of Europe and the Chinese labor of Asia are permitted to come here free and compete with them at wages on what a clean-bodied, decent American labor could not exist? Then will these same intelligent contemporaries tell us by what right the manufacturers who employ this cheap foreign labor have to say to the wronged American laborer who is schemed out of his independence and out of his skill and his value, you must buy of us the articles you need for yourself and your family, and pay much more than you would have to pay the English or French or German manufacturer for the same thing, although this protected article is made by cheap foreign labor, to your cost and detriment? Might does not make right, and the fact that congress has the power to pass such unjust laws does not justify congress for doing so. Voters of Washtenaw county, look to the manner of men you send to Washington next fall.

We cannot help admiring a man who never gets discouraged, even under the very worst conditions in life, and therefore we admire "Brick" Homerooy on account of his pluck. He is more clear grit to every cubic inch of flesh than any man we know of. We cannot help thinking, however, that there must be something lacking in his composition for he never enjoys success long, but is soon again engaged in a scramble for fortune. His career has been one of ups and downs more literally than any other quasi-public man in this country. He made a fortune after the war, his Democrat sales amounting to 200,000. Losing every thing he went to New York, made a great fortune, lost it, and emigrated to Denver with $2 in his pocket. There he got back in mining what he had lost in all other enterprises, and enjoying $10,000 a day income published a fine paper. Now he is poor again, and has to "stain round" lively to make a living.

The local interest in the Gaiter trial has largely subsided since the beginning of the famous Evening News libel suit at Detroit. The whole state is watching the outcome of this trial, and the sympathy and good-will of citizens is with the News. May it triumph in its war on women slavery!—Binghamton Register. A—"Once I had a dog who could tell rascals from honest men." B—"What became of him?" A—"He bit me, and I gave him away."

LEAKY RUBS BY HEART.—My nerves will regain their vigor. My brain will become more clear and powerful. My muscles be made strong. My bowels be made regular. My stomach and digestion no longer trouble me. My heart's regular action restored. My blood be made more pure. My weak lungs made more healthy, and all the functions of the body restored to their normal condition, and every symptom of weakness, nervousness, and debility be removed, if I use Brown's Iron Bitters.—News.

"You made a fool of me," said an irritated man to his wife. "My love," she sweetly responded, "you lo yourself in trouble. Call yourself a fool, if you wish but remember that you are in all respects a man."

PILES! PILES! PILES! A Sure Cure Found at Last.—No one Need Suffer. A sure cure for the Blind, Bleeding, Itching and Disordered Piles has been discovered by Dr. Williams' Indian remedy called Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. A single box has cured the worst cases of hemorrhoids and piles. No one need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions, Instruments and Electrodes do more harm than good. Williams' Ointment absorbs the tumor, stops the intense itching (particularly at night after getting warm in bed), acts as a poultice; gives instant and painless relief, and is prepared only for the relief of the private part, and nothing else.

Insurance Meeting. At the annual meeting of the Washtenaw mutual insurance company yesterday the secretary, S. Fairchild, presented the annual statement for the year ending December 31, 1881: Number of members, 2,050; amount of property at risk, $4,135,530; assessments on hand, $193,31; outstanding assessments, not cancelled, $104,43; claims for resisted losses, $1,839,65. Premiums received during the year, $403,39; amount collected on assessments levied the present year, $9,896,23; assessments levied in prior years, $116,01; from membership or policy fees, $176,50; cash balance of previous year, $604,89; ten per cent penalty and cancelled fees, $117,56; burned money, $5,920; total income for the year, $17,043,27.

In the afternoon Judge Joslin gave the court room to the "bone and sinew of the county," as he termed the farmers. The meeting was called to order at half past one o'clock. Hon. John J. Robinson, of Sharon, presiding. After the reading of the minutes, Mr. Robinson read a paper relative to the expense of conducting the affairs of the company compared with previous years. For the five years preceding 1876, 796 members were added and for the same time the number of members cancelled added 793. Five years since 1876, number added 268, a gain of 181. Five years preceding 1878 the assessments were on an average $2.90 on each $1,000 of capital stock, per year. Five years since 1876 the assessments averaged $2.08 on each $1,000 of capital stock per year.

Previous to 1876 for five years 118 distinct losses were paid. For five years since 1876, 135 losses were liquidated. Five years preceding 1876 the salaries of officers paid were $5,342.32; five years since 1876 the company paid in salaries $1,565, or an average since 1876 of $913.00 per year while the average before 1876 was $1,288.64. The total amount of cash expenditures, including assessments for five years before 1876 was $70,549.92, while the total amount of cash expenditures including assessments for five years since 1876 is $48,143.63 making a difference of $22,399.29, in favor of five years since 1876. In the five years preceding 1876 there was $737,215 lost to the capital of the company, while since 1876 there was a net increase of $357,010. The following directors were elected: S. Fairchild, Ann Arbor; E. A. Nordman, Lima; T. B. Goodspeed, Superior; H. D. Platt, Pittsfield; H. Burch Manchester; auditing committee, D. M. Finley, Seioj. J. Robinson, Sharon; A. Campbell, Pittsfield; special committee on revising by-law No. 7 changing the liability of the company on personal property, E. W. Coddington, E. D. Lay, and J. J. Robinson. The salary of the secretary was fixed at $500 for the present year.

Unhealthy or inactive kidneys cause Bright's disease, rheumatism, and a host of other serious and fatal diseases, which can be prevented with Hop Bitters, if taken in time. If our ancestors were monkeys they could not have been ignorant. They all rebelled in the higher branches. Why wear plasters? They may relieve, but they can't cure that lame back for the kidneys are the trouble, and you want a remedy to act directly on their secretions, to purify and restore their healthy condition. Kidney-Wort has that specific action—and at the same time it regulates the bowels perfectly. Don't wait to get sick, but get a package to-day, and cure yourself. Full particulars on Hop Bitters at all druggists.—Binghamton Register.

HAPPY NEW YEAR! I now take the liberty to extend to my friends my kindest congratulations for past patronage, and I hope and trust the season of 1882 may be one of peace and prosperity for you and your families, and that I may so share in your kindly remembrances as to be permitted to enjoy an increased portion of your valued patronage in the future; hoping that 1882 may prove to us all, and in every respect a Happy New Year. The present seems an appropriate time to remind those that have hitherto paid to give this matter their full attention, as all remedies that apply in summer should never run out in the following year. Now I shall expect every one that owes to come right up and pay, except those dead heads who have avoided me out of all, and in every respect I hope in the future that I will not be annoyed by dead beats, liars and hypocrites. I would like to see Guitauet lost among these miserable scoundrels, while his shooting iron, before they put him under the process of half breaking. I shall send no more DUNS. M. ROGERS.

York Sunday Courier says the play is infinitely better than anything the Knights have ever been seen in before, and although that versatile artist, Mrs. Knight, has not quite as much to do as she should have, she wears three very elegant toilets and fills her role most acceptably. As Rudolph Mr. Knight does a remarkably fine piece of acting, especially in the second act, where he appears as a tramp. His voice is strong, manly, and as effective in pathos as it is in comedy. His make-up is simply wonderful. The Knights have drawn the largest audiences ever known at the Grand Opera House.

A Correction.
To the Editor of the Ann Arbor Democrat:
By a notice in your last issue, it appears as if Mr. Davis, superintendent of the poor of this county had loaned the money of the county to certain men, on the promise that they would pay it back. The case as follows: Five men who had worked for the Ann Arbor, Toledo & Grand Trunk railroad company and to whom I had loaned money for their claims into my hands for collection; during Christmas week these men with their families were reduced to such want that I called on Mr. Davis for assistance. Mr. Davis responded by giving $5 to each. Supt. Davis did not loan the money to these men, but the men insisting to me, that they were neither beggars or paupers desire to reimburse me for the money. As I should be able to make a collection from the railroad company, I have not yet collected a cent. However, as soon as I shall receive any money from that source, the wishes of the men will be carried out. F. PISTORIUS.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Feb. 2, 1892.—I know Hop Bitters will bear commendation honestly. All who use them confer upon them the highest eulogiums, and give them credit for making cures—all the properties claimed for them. I have kept them since they were first offered to the public. They took high rank from the first, and maintained it, and are more valued for their other combined. So long as they keep up their reputation for purity and usefulness, I shall continue to recommend them—something I have never before done with any other patent medicine. J. J. BABCOCK, M. D.

In good old Bible times it was considered a miracle for an ass to speak, and now nothing short of a miracle will keep one quiet.
Refined and educated women will some times sit in a room for years from kidney diseases, or constipation, and piles, which could easily be cured by a package of Kidney-Wort. There is hardly a woman who does not feel that at some time suffer from some of the diseases for which this great remedy is a specific. It is put up in liquid and dry form, equally efficient.—Springfield Union.

Exhaustive diseases that lead to insanity, consumption, and a premature grave, are quickly cured by using Brown's Iron Bitters. It strengthens every part of the body.
It doesn't look well for a deacon to take an umbrella to church, and carry it into his pew and hang to it. He should leave it out in the vestibule, with that supreme confidence that a man has when he bets on four aces.
Mr. Chas. B. Wayman, Erie, Pa., writes: "My physicians had given me up to die. They told me my lungs and liver were all decayed and gone. I was very weak, pale, and emaciated. By chance I saw Brown's Iron Bitters advertised. I immediately purchased a bottle, and in a few days the blood life could not exist. With trembling anxiety I sent a servant, who procured for me a bottle. I must have taken it with great faith, for almost immediately I felt the beneficial effect. Soon all dyspeptic symptoms disappeared, my lungs grew strong, pains in the region of the heart vanished, my urine became free from sediment, and in a word I have regained perfect health. Now I feel able to thank the doctor that attended me, and really believe I ought to do it."
