THE TWO GATES.

A pilgrim once (so runs an ancient tale), Old, worn and spent, crept down a shadowy path...

A VALUABLE DREAM.

"Mary, look at the bread, won't you? It's done, I guess."

THE MOTE AND THE BEAM.

The Protectionists protest the action of Germany in classifying canned meats from this country by the cans containing them, calling them "iron ware," imposing on the ad valorem duty, instead of fifteen per cent as formerly, when admitted as "slaughtered and pressed meats."

Great Arbiters of souls. Countless throngs of angels hovered near, bursting forth in rapturous "Glory to God in the Highest!" as thousands upon thousands of the redeemed joined their number, or turned weeping away, as others were borne shrieking to eternal gloom.

close again silently. No one knew of the previous night's experience - of the warnings he firmly believed he had received; he could remain forever dumb, and no one would ever be the wiser, but he had determined to fight, if possible, the wrongs of years, and yet - it was not so easy as he had thought.

Entered as Second Class Matter in the Post Office at Ann Arbor, Mich.

SENATOR FERRY is a candidate for reelection, but many republican papers in the state think he has held the position long enough—yes too long, and the names of Hubbell, Burroughs and Gen. B. M. Cutcheon are being mentioned in connection with the office.

A. V. JOHNSON & Co., publishers of the Charlotte Leader, have sold their interest to Frank A. Ellis. Mr. Ellis is a gentleman well known to the people of Charlotte county, having been a resident of that county for many years. He is a ready writer, a gentleman of ability, and under his management the Leader must continue to prosper. Shake, Frank.

A number of students were overheard to remark Monday evening that THE DEMOCRAT did not say anything about the "DARE NOT" are words unknown to THE DEMOCRAT, but whatever the News may say will not draw us into a wholesale abuse of students. We will leave that to the paper which is welcome to all the capital it can make by pursuing such a policy.

THE Toledo Sunday Journal well says however we may question the propriety of Mrs. Scoville giving to the public the letter written by her to Mrs. Garfield, in behalf of her wretched brother, Guiteau, no one will condemn the writing. It is the undying sister's love, imploring forgiveness of its kind, even as it implores the ear of God for the wretched object of its love. The sisterly affection manifested by Mrs. Scoville has been only bright thread running through the entire drama of shame and sorrow.

C. B. DAVIDSON, pressman at the Courier office, returned from New York Monday, where he had been several days learning how to run an electrotyping machine, which was recently purchased by Mr. Beal at an expense of several hundred dollars.—ANN ARBOR DEMOCRAT.

The latter part of the above item is correct for our electrotyping machine is running full blast and is turning out good work. Mr. Davidson, however, has not been to New York, and has had no intention of going. THE DEMOCRAT was entirely too hasty in making the statement. Mr. Davidson has depended entirely upon his own skill and ingenuity to place the machine in running order.—Courier.

If Mr. Davidson did not go to New York, we cannot understand his object in telling us that he had been there. But then this is not the first time persons in the Courier office have deliberately lied.

WHEN an article appeared in a certain paper in this city denouncing the students of the university, we felt constrained to take the students' part, for we believed they had been unjustly attacked. But the conduct of those who marched down town Saturday night, the second time tooting horns, and making the night hideous with their yells, was not exactly the right thing for them to do. If the parties which can intimidate citizens, they may yet find out to their sorrow that it is not an easy matter. The citizens have rights which ungentlemanly students will be made to respect—they have been taught this before. A prominent professor conversing with a DEMOCRAT reporter stated there were perhaps 50 loafers in the university, and if he had his way, he would bounce every mother son of them. These fellows bring reproach upon the whole body of students, and the university is disgraced by their presence. It is only a few days ago that a great big fellow who prides himself on being a knocker, penned an insulting letter, that was published in a city paper in which he abused the people of this place, and aired his grievances. A person of his standing, a man who is known to be a rowdy, should be the last one to attack reputable citizens. And he is one of the fifty the professor referred to.

THE STUDENTS vs. THE DAILY NEWS. As was announced in THE DEMOCRAT last week, the students of the different departments of the university held an indignation meeting in the law lecture room for the purpose of expressing their contempt for the paper that had so unjustly abused them. An immense crowd was present and several speeches were made relative to the proper course to be pursued. A number of resolutions were read, and finally a committee was appointed to report the same at an adjourned meeting Friday afternoon for adoption.

THE RESOLUTIONS. WHEREAS, The Ann Arbor Daily News, in its issue of the 14th inst., makes certain charges against the students of the university, which, if true would not only be a disgrace upon the institution which whose honor we all seek for knowledge, but would also brand us with well earned infamy; and

WHEREAS, Not we alone are interested in the truth or falsity of the charges, but also the homes which we have left and the people of the State of Michigan, the fair fame of whose university is attacked; resolved,

Resolved, That we, the students of the university of Michigan, pledge our honor to the following declarations:

1. That the scandalous charges, one and all, are without even foundation of fact.

2. That so far from being rude and insulting to women, we believe that they themselves will bear us out in saying there is no city in the land where ladies are treated with more respect, and that by the students.

3. That we believe the students were not responsible for whatever of disturbance took place at the present season, even in isolated and individual cases, it is only without our approbation, but also without our knowledge.

4. That if any ground for such charges existed during the present season, it is only without our approbation, but also without our knowledge.

5. That these facts are known to every well informed citizen of Ann Arbor, the editor of the News not excepted.

6. That if any ground for such charges have existed during the present season, it is only without our approbation, but also without our knowledge.

7. That whatever charges could be made true by subsequently explaining that they were not meant to apply to many; falsehood does not become truth by removing half its falsity.

8. That whatever the motives of the author may have been, the charges are a calumny, in which every one with a good name is interested.

Resolved, That we send to our homes the tidings that they are yet undisciplined; to the people of Michigan that they are not the enemies of the State, but that their beneficence affords us; to the public that, whatever Ann Arbor may have done for us, honor has taught us to act like men.

Resolved, That these resolutions be given to the papers for publication, with the request that they be not slower to publish the good concerning us than to parade the evil.

C. S. CARELINS, A. MIREN, T. PACKARD, L. JACKSON, H. P. HARD, Committee.

The next day after the article appeared in the News, which was the cause of the difficulty alluded to, the paper came out with a second article endeavoring to SMOOTH MATTERS over, by qualifying what it had already said. But the students didn't take kindly to it, and from the abuse this paper has since heaped upon them, it was evidently thrown out as a "feeler."

That loafers and rowdies are to be found in every community THE DEMOCRAT will cheerfully admit, but when the News makes the sweeping assertion that young men, residents of this city or any other city are better behaved or conduct themselves in a more gentlemanly manner than the great body of students, it is so disgustingly absurd that comment is almost unnecessary. In commenting on the article in the News, THE DEMOCRAT felt

AN INJUSTICE had been done the students, and in this there has been no change in opinion. To circulate such a report, (when there was no foundation for it) naturally tends to prejudice people against the university.

At a meeting in the law lecture room again Monday afternoon the students' committee appointed to inquire into the conduct of manager Hill, in relation to the opera house disturbance heretofore referred to in these columns, after due investigation reported the following resolutions which were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, We find that Mr. Hill was not present at the opera house, when the difficulty commenced, and from the evidence furnished when he did arrive was not able to judge correctly, but since then has explained the matter to the satisfaction of all directly concerned; and

WHEREAS, We find that he was in no way concerned in the publication of the article which occurred in the Daily News therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the committee, recommend that Mr. Hill be exonerated, and that that part of the resolutions previously adopted concerning our refusal to patronize Hill's opera house be and is hereby rescinded.

OUT OF THE RACE. A. A. GREGORY IS NOT A CANDIDATE FOR THE OFFICE OF SUPERVISOR.

What He Has to Say On the Subject.

To the Editor of the Democrat: I notice in the ANN ARBOR DEMOCRAT your announcement connecting my name with the office of supervisor of the third and fourth wards, at the spring election. I am not a candidate for the nomination for the office. Under no circumstances would I further permit my name to be used in connection with that office. My eyes disqualify me for the discharge of the duties thereof. I have never been myself a candidate for the nomination for the office of supervisor. I have never solicited the nomination from any source. I have never asked any man to vote for me in caucus, convention, or at the polls. I have never circulated any tickets on election day. Being always on the minority ticket I furnished slips for those that desired, but never asked any man to vote on a ticket against me. I was saved from defeat six times by votes from the opposite parties. I think the republicans voted solid for me those six times, but there was not enough of them to elect, the balance of power being upon the opposite side which was thrown for me. Twice I have been defeated by republicans—all right. In 1875 I was in the hotel business and could not take the nomination consistently, and declined it. The republicans nominated me notwithstanding. My friend Eisele received two majority over me in the democratic convention and was nominated. Neither of us took any part in the election. The polls were closed before time, preventing a number of republicans from voting, and my friend Eisele was declared elected by two majority, I giving him one of them. In 1874 and 1875 I was not a candidate. In 1876 I was nominated by the republicans and my friend O'Hearn by the democrats. At the election the democrats took the office from Mr. O'Hearn and delivered it to me, and held me in that position five years in succession. In the latter part of the five years without proper consideration, I made a careless blunder in levying the street tax. It was a natural blunder for a man to make, and our supervisors have committed the same error. That mistake caused the fourth ward to pay more than its part of the street tax, and the third ward less than its part. I certainly had no intention of wronging or benefiting either ward, and am sorry for my carelessness, certain republicans and democrats to the contrary notwithstanding. In 1881 I declined being the republican candidate for supervisor, as I was in poor health and nearly blind, which was a good excuse for letting me alone, in connection with that office especially and upon a minority ticket. The republican convention, notwithstanding my condition, placed my name in nomination. I could not do anything about it and did not. The republicans divided and the office was returned to Mr. O'Hearn which was perfectly satisfactory to me. I have been very fortunate in my unsolicited political career. I have never been confined to the nominating party for support. In the last forty-five years I have been nominated for different offices by the old party, and by the present republican party twenty-three times. I have been only once nominated on a majority ticket. In 1880 I was nominated and elected sheriff for the third ward, having been elected sheriff twice before on a minority ticket. Three times I have been defeated on a divided minority ticket and nineteen times elected on a united solid minority ticket.

M'le Rhea is a skilled performer, who moves with grace and looks charmingly upon the stage, who stands possessed with a voice of powerful quality, and who is able to infuse her acting with dramatic significance and fervor says the New York World. Remember she will appear at the opera house next Monday evening.

Last Thursday morning just after THE DEMOCRAT had gone to press, an accident occurred at the Michigan Central depot which resulted in the death of James Dunsteth, a brakeman. He was run over by an engine and five freight cars, his limbs being badly crushed. He was taken to the university hospital where he died about 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

The stock of the A. A. P. & C. Co., held by the estate of Jas. C. Watson, (489 out of the 500 shares) was sold Friday to Alex. W. Hamilton and others for $7,800.

The house and lot on the corner of Washington and Fourth streets is included. This is a great bargain for the purchasers, who will continue to run the office and publish the Register as usual.

The Commercial is of the opinion that there are enough temperance organizations in that city if united with a single aim, to elect a temperance ticket throughout the city at the coming municipal election. The reform club, the sons of temperance, the good templars and the woman's christian temperance union if pulling together would form an invincible host.

The monthly meeting of the pomological society, March 4, should be well attended by all fruit growers, as the committee on packages and shipping of fruit and the most profitable method of preserving fruit will make their report. The subject of small fruit will also be taken up. Those who have had experience of canning on a large scale are especially invited.

Mrs. Laura E. Swift, wife of the late Franklin Swift, who had been in feeble health for some time, was found dead in her bed Friday morning by the girl who went to call her. When discovered she was lying partially across the bed, and had evidently been dead several hours. She was born in Buffalo, N. Y., and was 60 years of age. For the past 24 years she had been a resident of this place.

Jno. Lucas of the second ward, met with a very narrow escape Friday afternoon. In attempting to get off from the Grand Rapids express his coat caught, and in jumping from the train, which was in motion, he struck on his head, which was cut and bruised. He was also badly cut in the back. His clothing was nearly torn off, even to his shirt. It was a great wonder he was not killed. Dr. George attended him.

We are reliably informed that work on the Toledo, Ann Arbor & Grand Trunk road will commence at South Lyon within a very short time. The company has iron enough on hand to iron the road to Wixom. When this is done a large amount of lumber which is now shipped to Detroit will come by the way of this city. The past winter the Toledo road has been doing a very large business, which will be increased when connection is made at Wixom.

It was announced a week ago Sunday, and also printed on the bills that the temperance meeting to be addressed by Col. Beard, would be free. But imagine the astonishment of those who attended to find that such was not the case. Not that any one cared about the admission charged, but the people like to see men live up to their word. Many ladies went unprepared to pay, and some turned away because they did not wish to be considered dead heads.

Again is THE DEMOCRAT called upon to chronicle the death of one of Washington's oldest citizens, a pioneer of this county for over 50 years. Mrs. Polly Root, wife of the late Erasmus Root of this city, died Saturday of typhoid pneumonia at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Julia Colgrove, in Freeport, Ill., where she had been visiting for the past year. Mrs. Root came to this county in 1850. She was stepmother to Tracy W. and Charles Root, and a sister of Mrs. E. Richardson, of this city. The remains were brought here Tuesday for burial.

Among the many accomplished artists who have come from foreign countries to teach us how to play Shakespeare, few have more distinct qualifications for the task than the latest arrival. Among the qualities of the new comer which fit her to be of service to our stage, must be counted very attractive physical gifts. Finer features, a more gracious presence, and a more musical voice, are possessed by no living actress. M'le Rhea supplies an intelligent, and in many respects, a definable conception of the part. It is said to be a pleasure to listen to her banter of Benedict. As with syllabic articulation she pronounces the words of the part, an effect described in Bianca among the nightingales is relished, and there is more thought of grace and music than of short coming in listening to the lovely lady.

An old reprobate by the name of Torrey, about 75 years of age, who owns a farm in Sharon, was at the county house a few days ago looking for cheap female help. He had selected one of the inmates who consented to go with him, and while she was getting ready, another one of the inmates—a former victim—caught sight of the old Turk, and went for him in such a sharp and decisive manner, that he was glad to get away, minus his cheap female help. This Torrey is the same old chap who was accused a few years ago of debauching a young negro girl he had taken to his bed.

He was arrested at the time on a capias issued from the circuit court, but the matter was hushed up in some way, best known to a lawyer in this city, and another in Adrian. The negro girl and her child, we are informed, are living in Lenawee county.

The following jurors for the March term of court were drawn Saturday. The first day of term March 13—the jury to be present March 30: Chas. C. Robison and Wm. F. Hall, Sharon; John H. Devine, Jacob Jeddle, Jr., Scio; Jno. R. Campbell, Abram Culver, Superior; T. I. Fallam, Edward Pierce, Sylvan; Jno. Alexander, Michael Conley, Webster; Chas. M. Biscamper, York; Jno. H. Uhl, Ypsilanti town; Lorenzo D. Showerman, O. S. Bur, Ypsilanti city; Augustus Sav-age, Ann Arbor town; Christian Schmidt, W. G. Tibbles, Luther Boylan, Ann Arbor city; Alfred Sanderson, Augusta; Henry Calhoun, Bridgewater; Chas. Dwyer, Dexter; Henry Kuhl, Jr., Freedom; Jno. M. Kaercher, Lima; Jno. G. Jedele, Lodi; Jno. P. Daniels, Lyndon; Milo P. Carpenter, Manchester; Henry King, Northfield; Henry Paul, Pittsfield; Lancaster Gerton, Saline; Wm. Crane, Saline.

Patt's stocking slipped down while she was singing "Il Barbiere" at New Orleans recently, and the musical critic of the Times-Democrat nearly turned a double somersault in his attempt to describe the event. Hear him: "Her short Spanish dress afforded scope for the display of a pair of beautiful silk stockings elaborately embroidered with delicate rosebuds and tender leaflets. She had toyed with the notes of the middle register, playing with them without seemingly any effort, and had just purled out a flood of high success, when slowly down slipped the right stocking, rosebuds and all, until it hung about her shapely instep a limp and subdued mass, displaying an ankle of alabaster whiteness." It appears to have troubled this gentleman much more than it did Patti, for she "quietly walked to the side scenes, when, presto! she reappeared and the stocking was in place again, and the rosebuds were once more shining out."

For some time Frankie Downer, son of Dr. Downer of Chelsea, has been in the habit of jumping on and off trains while they were in motion. The boy was remonstrated frequently, but forbearance ceased longer to be a virtue, and he was arrested, convicted and fined $1.50, or in default of payment to be committed to the county jail for 10 days. He did not then pay his fine, and Monday marshal Geo. Foster, of the above village, started with Downer for Ann Arbor. It seems the railroad runs by the boy's residence, nearly a mile from Chelsea, and as he neared the home of his youth, he naturally felt a desire to signal his parents. He took out his handkerchief and commenced waving it, and then asked permission of the marshal to step to the door and "wave" it again. Of course his wish was granted, and although the train was running at a high rate, Downer jumped off, and made his way back to the justice of the peace and forked over $1.50. Marshal Foster was obliged to go to Dexter, where he purchased a return ticket for Chelsea.

The temperance meeting Sunday was well attended. The speaker, Col. Beard, presented the question in a new light, and in a forcible and logical manner laid down certain rules, which, if enforced, would tend to lessen drunkenness in this state. He stated that he was not opposed to prohibition, but argued that in the present law was enforced ninety nine hundredths of the crime would be lessened. To enforce any law, however, the policemen and constables should be temperance men; for a man who was in sympathy with saloonists could not be expected to summon a jury of reputable citizens to try the case, when saloons were made defendants before the justices of the peace. The speaker said you could not enforce the present law or any other law regulating the traffic, if the saloon keepers and their allies are permitted to serve as jurors. He was of the opinion that a majority of the people of Michigan were in favor of temperance, but as to the proper method to be pursued there was a difference of opinion. If the license law can be enforced, he would then go another step and say saloons should not be open after 6 o'clock p. m., and so on until the business is killed entirely.

The Sanitary Convention. Having been made a member of this convention and earnestly requested to attend, with all my friends, it gives me pleasure to say to my own, and all other persons, that the meeting, and the subjects to be discussed, will be of vital importance, and highly interesting to every man and woman in the county.

The lectures are to be free, and, from the best thought in the state. The sessions are to be morning, afternoon, and evening of each day.

Our citizens will do their country friends a great favor, to invite, and entertain them, during the two days and one night of the convention.

Hoping the attendance will be large, I am respectfully, ISRAEL HALL.

CONGRESS.

Feb. 15.—The House Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds agreed to report favorable bill providing for the erection of public buildings at the following points: Boise City, Ia., to cost $50,000; Leavenworth, Kas., $100,000; Hannibal, Mo., $75,000.

Argument in the straw-bond Star Route cases closed to-day. Col. Bliss contended that all that was necessary to establish was the existence of a post office, which was admitted in sending the cases to a jury. Hines, of counsel for the defense, in the course of his remarks intimated that the prosecution of his clients by the government was the outgrowth of private malice. Court announced that a decision would be rendered to-morrow.

February 15.—After a short executive session the anti-Polygamy bill was proceeded with, the question being upon the eighth section, as reported from the judiciary committee. Mr. Vest opposed the bill. Pendleton and Brown proposed a compromise amendment, which was voted down by decisive majority, and after rearrangement of its sections the bill finally passed by a viva voce vote, in which no negative responses were heard.

In the house the consideration of the appropriation bill was resumed, and a stormy debate followed. Various amendments fixing the ratio of representation of various figures were voted down until a vote was reached on some property of constructing new locks on the north side of the old ones, 800 feet long and 70 feet wide, with gates in the middle to be used or not, as the business requires. A lock this length would allow a tow to run in and lock with hardly more trouble than shortening their tow lines. There is no doubt that in a few years there is increase of business on the river, that it will require the services of three large locks. Gen. Weitzel says that this necessity is only a very short distance in the future, and the sooner congress sees it also the better it will be for the commerce of the great lakes.

Dr. McCosh enjoys telling this story: A negro prayed earnestly that he and his brethren might be preserved from their "upsettin' sins." "Brudder," said one of his friends at the close of the meeting, "you ain't got de hang ob dat an' de upstet sin." "Brudder," replied the other, "if dat's so I'd so. But I was prayin' de Lord to save us from de sin ob 'toxication, un' ef dat ain't an upsettin' sin I dunno what am."

Eggs can be preserved in the best and most effective manner in common lime-water at a low temperature, and there is no necessity for trying experiments. When the eggs are kept in a liquid they lose no moisture by evaporation, but when kept dry they lose some "upsettin' sin." It is well to be prepared for the worst.
