SWEET EVENINGS COME AND GO.

Sweet evenings come and go, love, they came and went of yore;

When we have passed away, love, shall not feel their wish-ers;

The daisies will be there, love, the stars in heaven will shine;

From earliest childhood thoughts entwined

Her grand old forests bring us wealth

Our lakes and rivers teem with fish

Our vines are rich in shining ore

The veteran soldiers, tried and true

Have shouldered their rifles of arms

Our inland lakes are lovely, grand

Judge C. B. Grant of Houghton was in the city over Sunday. A. J. Sawyer bid in the Buchoz property on Detroit street.

Potatoes bugs are eating up the strawberry vines in Virginia. Charles H. Warren of Foster's Station, has moved into the city.

Lary O'Toole says the sewing machine business was never better. The jubilee singers had another large audience Friday evening.

Andrew Smith of Ann Arbor town has been called to New York. Michael Duffy went to Detroit Saturday on important business.

The funeral of the late "Father" Pierce occurred Sunday in Marshall. The bridge on Felch street near the Collins place, needs repairing.

Kate Claxton is to play at the opera house next Wednesday evening. John Martin of the fifth ward has been arrested for stealing a beer glass.

If you want a fine job of painting, O. O. Sorg is the man to do the job. A special session of the board of supervisors may possibly be held soon.

Jas. A. Coyle, scribe on the Marshall Statesman, was in town Saturday. The last of this month Jas. Kitson will return to England for a short visit.

It is generally understood that city treasurer Schulz will be re-elected. The freshmen were out Saturday in a body sporting their mortar boards.

Rev. Mr. Sunderland will speak next Sunday evening on "Longfellow." An infant child of Julia Ean Gilden died in the county house last week.

The election of John Nowland means that the gambling dens shall remain. W. E. Dewep has been in Lansing arguing a case in the supreme court.

The payment of the Keck furniture company last week amounted to $2,100. Peter Shulters, formerly of this city, is down with the small-pox in Milford.

We publish to day the committees as arranged by his honor, Mayor Kapp. M. Fleming has not sold his place, although having had a number of offers.

Yett Armstrong of Detroit, was visiting his old home the last of the week. Margaret Simson of the sixth ward was taken to the Pontiac asylum Thursday.

Attend the bazar and give the boys a benefit. A $100 picture to be raffled for. Jas. Kitson has purchased the old Hawkins place on Miller avenue for $3,250.

It is generally understood that the temperance people will nominate a ticket this fall. The M. C. R. was not to blame for killing John Burke, was the verdict of the jury.

Rev. Mr. Sunderland will attend the Unitarian conference in Kalamazoo April 18-20. There was no Sunday edition of the Daily News and probably will not be any more.

Rev. Mr. Stringham will carry on a farm in the northern part of the state this summer. Postmaster Clark is skylarking in the west. He is expected home the last of the week.

W. H. H. Boylan & Bro. have the contract for painting the new postoffice building. Hard work saved Mrs. Oliver Bird's old house from being destroyed by fire Sunday morning.

A supervisor elect was anxious to qualify Thursday. The votes hadn't even been canvassed. The Northfield democratic committee for the coming year: Geo. Sutton, E. Clancy, T. Haran.

President Angell will deliver his lecture on China in Ypsilanti tomorrow evening.

Last month, the Ann Arbor agricultural company shipped $12,800 worth of implements.

John J. Walker, the dog fancier, has some 25 different breeds which he prizes very highly.

Jeff Davis says when he was janitor of the court house, barbed wire fencing was not necessary.

That branch postoffice has turned out as many persons expected. There probably won't be any.

Arthur D., infant son of James and Mary Janerett, died Thursday of inflammation of the bowels.

County treasurer Seyler paid Monday $987.12 Pontiac insane bill for the quarter ending March 31, 1889.

Hon. Wm. A. Butler and Hon. Geo. B. Remick of Detroit, spent Saturday and Sunday in the city.

Messrs. Stone of Jackson, and the well known Walker brothers of this city, will build the new postoffice.

James A. Ryan and wife of Howell, have been visiting friends in the city. Crappy was looking well.

A little daughter of Tony Schiappacasse was severely burned Thursday by falling against a red-hot stove.

The prospectus of that staunch democratic paper, the New York World, will be found in another column.

Roswell Goodale, on the Whitmore Lake road, caught a person stealing his potatoes one day last week.

Mrs. H. Foster lectured last evening to an audience of several hundred. Her remarks were well received.

A new town hall is to be one of the improvements in Chelsea. The Herald says the building will cost $5,000.

The cigar makers of Ypsilanti are to give a benefit ball to one of their members on the evening of April 20.

W. K. Childs, alderman elect of the sixth ward, was one of the speakers at the temperance meeting Sunday.

O. O. Sorg has half a column advertisement in to-day's DEMOCRAT. He believes in the liberal use of printers ink.

One of Roger's statues valued at $25, was stolen from Miss Chittenden's session room during the school vacation.

The Walker Bros. have taken the contract to build a $7,000 stone and brick residence for Dr. V. C. Vaughan.

Dr. O'Toole has sold his home and is going to California to live. The doctor wants to get into a milder climate.

A tramp answering to the name of Bailey was before one of the justices Monday on the charge of vagrancy.

Henry Whitmot received a telegram from 4 Paw's great show yesterday, that the great menagerie would be here in June.

There is no truth in the report that in case D. J. Loomis is elected marshal he will appoint Henry Whitmot deputy.

An Evening News reporter was here from Detroit last Thursday, and interviewed Dr. Angell on the China question.

Clara, 18 months of age, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Lyons of Scio, was drowned in a tub of water Saturday.

It took the State street postmaster four hours to get his mail Monday morning. It will take twice that time to get it in the evening.

There has been a large amount of figuring over the marshalling. On this officer there is said to be considerable money at stake.

Mr. Frederick Rettick, Jr., and Miss Sarah C. Stabler were married yesterday afternoon. The presents were many and beautiful.

Children who persist in jumping on and off of trains on the Toledo road should be arrested. That would soon stop them.

Henry Matthews is making arrangements to build a brick store two stories high and 60x22 feet, adjoining his Huron street market.

A young lady named Clark fell in the river below the dam Friday afternoon, and but for timely assistance would have been drowned.

Candidates for marshal: Geo. Clarken, Geo. W. Cook, J. G. Johnson, J. W. Johnson, John Nowland, D. J. Loomis, Wm. Merrithew.

As certain aldermen propose to have a new deal all around the bush, perhaps they will conclude that gambling dens are bad institutions.

It has been suggested that perhaps it would be cheaper for this county to charter special trains in which to convey tramps to Lonia.

An old man named June and a man named Chambers died at the county house last week. Their bodies went for the benefit of science.

Fr. Daniel Coyle celebrated his first mass at St. Thomas Catholic church Sunday. Some years ago Father Coyle was a resident of this city.

O. H. Twist's house in the township of Superior was destroyed by fire last week. Loss $2,500. There was an insurance of $1,000 in the Washenaw mutual.

J. A. Polhemus has run into Rhode's coal wagon Monday forenoon and was tipped over in front of A. D. Seyler's store. It will take $25 to repair the damage.

E. S. Millen of Farwell, after a year's absence has returned on a two weeks' visit to his old home and friends. Edward was an honored member of the Grub club.

The citizens of the third ward demand of the Toledo, Ann Arbor & Grand Trunk road, that the coal sheds on Miller avenue be removed at once, and it has got to be done.

It is to be hoped that the officers elect will make it interesting for the gamblers who have been plying their vocation for the past few days on certain students and citizens.

C. A. Spence is entitled to considerable praise for the way he worked the jubilee singers. It was on account of his persistent effort that they had full houses each evening.

Everett G. Clark is not a candidate for re-election for county clerk. He does not believe in a third term. At the expiration of his term of office he will go to Dakota to live.

The remains of the old gentleman run over by the cars Monday afternoon, have been taken to the university where they will be kept ten days before being thrown into the pickling vat.

It is a mystery to many old residents of the Sixth why a carpet bagger should be elected over an old timer like P. D. Woodruff. But it turned out to be no more Child's play.

Now if a person don't keep off of the grass in the court yard, they are liable to be injured by the barbed wire that has been stretched on posts at the four corners of the court house.

The improvements being made at the Courrier office will consist of an addition to the engine room, a new boiler to heat the postoffice building, aggregating an expenditure of over $5,400.

As the county has gone to the expense of fencing the court yard to keep persons off of the grass, hereafter all trespassers will be arrested and made to suffer. So look out boys, and everybody.

For the year ending Monday when the Cook house was reopened, Mills brothers has furnished landlord Hudson at this house alone 14,800 quarts of milk, or an average of 30 quarts per day.

Bill Porter: John Grant, of Ann Arbor smiled on his Pontiac friends last week. He finishes his university course this year, and will be heard from at the top round of the ladder one of these days.

Byron Green had a big auction sale of horses, carriages and a lot of furniture and other odds and ends Saturday. A crowd gathered in front of the Cook house to listen to Green's melodious voice.

A year ago there was not what you could call a first-class hotel in the city, but when manager Hudson appeared on the scene there was a change, and to-day go where you will in this state, no city can boast better hotels.

The railroad company attempted to fix Felch street, but the road is still impassable when two teams meet. If the street committee are satisfied, the citizens of the ward are not, and never will be until the road is made wider.

Theatre to-night. The play is fine and Miss Davenport is grand. As manager Hill has gone to considerable expense in securing this celebrated actress, the theatre going public should appreciate his efforts and fill the house.

There promises to be an interesting legal fight over the Daily News printing office. The party who knobbed it on a chattel mortgage has been sued for $5,000 damages, by one Herrick of Toledo, who held the bill of sale.

The marshal should cause the arrest of every insulting official, train hand or others in authority, who leave cars standing across the streets in this city. If the council has been bought off, the citizens should take the matter in hand.

Alderman Keech has endeavored to bring the Toledo, Ann Arbor & Grand Trunk railway to time, but has been hampered by other members of the committee. If every alderman felt as Keech does there would be no more trouble.

People wonder what influence was brought to bear on the council to cause them to "let up" on the Toledo, Ann Arbor & Grand Trunk railroad, after making such a fuss about the streets being left impassable, as well as blockaded with trains.

F. P. Bogardus of the Ypsilanti National bank, was the first person to file a statement of the names of the stockholders, and the amount of stock held by each. The capital stock of the bank is $75,000. D. L. Quirk is one of the heaviest stock holders.

To put a stop to the innumerable little branch postoffices started by private persons, the postmaster general has issued an edict that will end the whole matter. As to the branch concern on State street, Mr. Clayton will be out several dollars in boxes, etc.

The annual election of officers of St. Andrew's Episcopal church Monday resulted as follows: Wardens, C. H. Miller, J. M. Wheeler; vestrymen, A. B. Palmer, C. H. Richmond, J. N. Gott, J. W. Johnson, E. Treadwell, Prof. Denison and Morris.

Fire Wardens: First ward, C. Krapp and F. Schmid; second ward, Geo. Werner, Geo. Lutz; third ward, G. McIntyre, W. E. Walker; fourth ward, D. J. Loomis, Michael Clark; fifth ward, E. S. Manly, Thomas Speechley; sixth ward, A. F. Martin, Peter Diagonos Woodruff.

Ypsilanti: The issue decided in Monday's charter election is plain. The hour established by the statute for closing saloons must not be changed. The vote was clearly a case of 9.00 o'clock 'vs. 10, and the former won. Our "city fathers" should take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

Recorder Douglas retires from the office which he has so acceptably and ably filled for two terms, with a splendid record. No man who ever discharged the duties of the office has made for himself a better record, and the city loses an efficient officer. Perhaps Mr. French will do as well.

Col. Dean seems to take a good deal of interest with other people's affairs, and insulted every citizen living in the second, third and fifth wards when he went before railroad commissioner Williams and stated that the Toledo road had not been trespassing upon the rights of anyone. He knew this to be false.

Chas. G. Chapin, a Michigan Central employe, called at THE DEMOCRAT office Thursday, and paid for the paper for a year. He had been a regular subscriber for another city paper, but considered THE DEMOCRAT the best, which is the general verdict of those who have read the other papers. Tally another.

John Burk who had been staying at the county house for some weeks, started to walk to Detroit Monday afternoon. He took the railroad track, and when nearly two miles from here was run over by the New York express. His remains were brought to this city and in the evening corner Clark held an inquest. No blame attached to the M. C. R. R.

Mayor Kapp has appointed the following committees: Finance, Keoch, Swift, Hiscock; general fund, Henderson, Wright, Swift; general street, Besmer, Henderson, Dow, Swift, Wright, Sumner; police, Heinzmann, Besmer, Hiscock; sidewalk, Luick, Gates, Childs; fire department, Dow, Hienzmann, Sumner; park, Besmer, Gates, Childs; license, Kapp, French and Hiscock.

The fire department elected officers Friday evening: Chief engineer, M. Seabolt; assistants, R. F. Sanford, Wm. Carroll; secretary, Norman G. Gates; treasurer, C. H. Worden; warden, Charles Atkinson. A committee consisting of Moses Seabolt, Charles H. Worden and

Wm. Wagner, was appointed to confer with the aldermen, requesting them to take immediate action to cause to be erected a $10,000 building for the use of the fire department.

Saturday Byron Green talked to a crowd of 500 persons on the subject of morality. He pitched into the common council for not closing the saloons on Sunday, and at 10 o'clock at night; gave two church members particular fits for renting a room in the Haven block for a gambling den, and raked an alderman over the coals for going security for the carpets that covered the floor.

John Hagen says the Toledo, Ann Arbor & Grand Trunk railway company burned up for him several stacks of barley and 130 rods of fence, worth between $300 and $400, and that his house and barn were nearly saved by the utmost exertion; that he wrote Mr. Ashley in regard to the matter and he has never even replied to his letter. John has an idea if the company was not bankrupt he would put things in shape so they would pay some attention to him.

It is now more than two years since the farms from Ann Arbor to South Lyon were cut and opened to the public by the Toledo, Ann Arbor & Grand Trunk road for the purpose of grading the road, and it is more than eight months since they commenced to operate the road, yet no portion is fenced, cattle guards are not built, and very few farm crossings are provided. The farmers having endured the treatment as long as they proposed, to appeal to the railroad commissioner, who has instituted proceedings to compel the company to fence the road.

Fanny Davenport will appear at the opera house this evening, in "The School for Scandal," and a fine audience to hear her may be considered a foregone conclusion. The Louisville Courier Journal says that Lady Tezle is perhaps the artist's smoothest, most successful portrayal, and the Boston Herald says: "It is in such parts as Lady Tezle and Lady Gay Spanker in 'London Assurance,' we think, that Miss Davenport appears at her best; and when she is at her best it is always a pleasure to follow her fine, graceful, finished, and effecting acting, so illustrative of her rare talents as a comedienne."

A correspondent of the Post and Tribune in mentioning the death of Dr. A. S. Kapp, of South Lyon says the community loses one of its best and most influential business men, always straightforward, pleasant and agreeable, ever ready and willing to aid in any and all improvements that would tend to place our village in the front rank. He was a prominent politician, being a thorough-going republican, occupying positions of trust and importance at different times in our state, county and congressional conventions. He was a member of the legislature of 1872-73, and during his term the bill incorporating this place was introduced by him. He was president of the village for four terms and occupied that position at the time of his death. He also was justice of the peace of this township.

The Detroit Evening News says: There is no end of candidates for congress in this district. The name of senator Dickerman of Hillsdale, has been favorably mentioned by slate makers of late, and it is usually understood that Capt. Ed. P. Allen of Ypsilanti, A. J. Sawyer of Ann Arbor, John K. Boies of Hudson, and Dr. Rynd of Adrian, are always open to conviction that their longing to see Washington at $5,000 per year should be appeased. Neither of the four last mentioned are burdened with a modesty that would prevent their accepting a nomination, and each keeps his weather eye upon the others. The names of state senator John Strong of Monroe, and John J. Robison and Charles H. Richmond of Washtenaw, are mentioned on the democratic side.

The following teachers were given certificates in Chelsea last week: Julie E. Car, Tillie Matschel, Kate Cullinane, Daniel E. Hoy, H. A. Williams, H. P. Briggs, Melissa Hicks, Anna Barnes, Alice S. Thorne, E. J. Isbell, Anna Ferris, Mattie E. Sellers, Hattie McCarter, Nellie E. Holmes, Delia Rook, Anna Carraber, Carrie L. Eesty, Loretta M. Beal, Bertha C. Keys. Third grade certificates were issued in Saline: Ella Day, Macon; Carrie Purchan, Chelsea; Hattie Moon, Saline; Alvin McClur, Macon; Genevieve Lancaster, Clinton; Della Warner, York; Edward J. E. Blum, Bridge water; Annie L. Riggs, Saline; Chas. R. Parsons, Saline; Mary E. Spalding, Grace A. Spalding, Manchester; Mary Mater, Oakville; Carrie A. Kennick, Ann Arbor.

Mrs. Frances Thayer, Chelsea; Tilla A. Mensing, Chelsea. Specials, Carrie M. Comstock, Ann Arbor; Ada Trempner, Ann Arbor; Ester Smith, Ypsilanti.

DIAMONDS.—Oa exhibition Monday and Tuesday, April 17 and 18, at J. C. Watts jewelry store, an immense stock of Diamonds, consisting of rings from $50 to $500, lace pins from $100 to $2,500, earrings from $100 to $650, all of which will be offered at a bargain for ten days. All are invited to call and see them. Notice. All persons having accounts will please call and settle on or before May first, as I shall withdraw my interest there, and must close up my business.

J. C. WATTS.

Death of Hon. J. D. Pierce. Hon. John D. Pierce, for over 30 years a resident of Ypsilanti, died last week at the residence of his daughter in Bedford, Massachusetts, where he had been making his home for a year.

"Father" Pierce, as he was called, was born in Chesterfield, N. H., February 18, 1797. From the age of 2 years until his 20th he lived with his uncle in Worcester, Mass., receiving about eight weeks of schooling each year after he was old enough to attend school. When he was 20 his uncle gave him his time, and he $100 he had earned as a farm laborer and a like amount which he received from his grandfather, he soon started out to seek an education. Earning his own living he prepared himself for college and entered Brown university, where by close application and by teaching three months in each year, he was enabled to maintain himself and graduate in 1823, in the first eight of a class of thirty six. The following year he was principal of an academy in Massachusetts, and in the fall of 1823 he entered the Princeton theological seminary and studied one year. He was then licensed by the Congregational association and on January 1, 1825, was settled as a pastor of a church in Oneida county, N. Y., where he remained until 1829. The next year he acted as principal of an academy in Goshen, Conn. In the spring of 1831, he received a commission from the home missionary society to settle as a missionary in this state, or in Illinois, as he might choose. He decided upon Michigan and located in Marshall, continuing to labor as a missionary until the 20th of July, 1836, when he was appointed superintendent of public instruction.

The important work now devolved upon Mr. Pierce of devising a plan for the organization of the primary schools and the state university, and for the disposal of the primary school and university lands. His first report clearly demonstrated the wisdom of his appointment.

Mr. Pierce continued as superintendent of public instruction for five years, when he resumed his work in the Christian ministry. In 1847 he was elected to the state legislature, when he succeeded in securing the passage of a resolution instructing the Michigan delegation in congress to oppose the introduction of slavery in the territories. At this session he proposed and carried out the homestead exemption law, the first of its kind ever enacted in the United States. In 1850 he was a member of the constitutional convention, and was largely instrumental in securing the incorporation in the constitution of the homestead exemption measure and the provision for free public schools.

In 1852 he delivered the address at the opening of the Normal school and soon after removed to Ypsilanti, where he has since resided, devoting much of his time to the ministry, but for ten years being county superintendent of schools, and at all times maintaining the liveliest interest in all that pertained to the educational welfare of the state, and manifesting this interest by his frequent presence at teachers' gatherings and university and normal school commencements.

Although in his 68th year he retained his faculties and physical vigor to a remarkable degree. For some time past he has been visiting relatives in the east and only a few months ago was present at a reunion of the university alumni in Boston, by whom he was cordially entertained.
