George of Dexter. The orations by the gentlemen were excellent while the young ladies were especially fortunate in giving essays of merit. The address of Rev. Mr. George was very fine. Prof. Cook again takes charge of the school.

On Sunday a large audience assembled at University hall to listen to the baccalaureate address delivered by president Angell. The doctor spoke especially as to what the Christian religion had done for the nations of the world. His main points were that wherever Christianity had gone among peoples, a higher regard for veracity which had not been Christianized; that woman's condition was better on account of the civilizing influences of Christianity; and that charity was greater; and governments more liberal; and international law more highly developed, where the precepts of Christ were instilled into the minds of the people, than any of the above could possibly be, if the doctrines of Christianity were not known. After speaking for about one hour and a quarter, developing the points above mentioned, the doctor was so effected by the intense heat of the hall that he, with difficulty, finished his discourse. Up to the closing part of the sermon president Angell spoke with his usual ease and fluency.
A well-attended meeting of the democratic state central committee and leading democrats of the state was held in the parlors of the Lansing house on Tuesday evening. COMMENCEMENT WEEK.
An Interesting Program of Exercises.
The Graduates.
CLASS DAY.
The exercises opened at 10 o'clock on Tuesday morning, University hall being well filled with students and their friends from abroad. The first exercise in order was an oration by J. F. Gallagher of Hillsdale. He told how circumstances made nations either friendly or hostile, also an epoch of the world's history could a finer field of study be discovered than the times when the United States were working out their own salvation, together with the period of 100 years following the declaration of independence.
America and England have great points of dissimilarity as well as of likeness. America has a contempt for royalty, England dotes on it. While both countries have the same language, and draw their principles of law from the same fountain head.
If circumstances were otherwise than they had been both nations would have never drawn swords against each other. At present the greatest animosity exists between the two, as is well shown by the interchange of sympathy which took place when Guitaueau took the life of our beloved president; and also when a cowardly assassin aimed at the heart of Queen Victoria.
It was British capital that colonized America, and our population was largely made up of Englishmen. They had learned to love their rights, when at home, they cherish them still, and when Great Britain attempted to abridge their rights, they every man natives of England, resisted most vigorously. We were shut out of all trade, our industries hampered and crushed by England's shore-protected policy.
It is strange we ever came out of the struggle successfully. But it was because of the attitude of the other nations of Europe towards England that forced her to make terms with us.
After the revolution France called us to aid her in a struggle against England. Out of these calls for aid, arose the Jay treaty; it was born of necessity, however we were justly indignant to think that England should dictate to us the regulation of our trade. Out of this arose the war of 1812.
England's next attitude towards us was taken during the war of the rebellion. She was not in a very friendly mood because she believed the United States to be oppressing the south.
Such have been the great events in the history rising from the struggles of the two countries. There is no need of any hate on the part of either. Both countries admire each other. We draw inspiration, during our great struggles to crush evil in our government, from the contest of old England.
We Americans must not believe that a nation can watch the heights of greatness, from a simple study of a betrod ideas. Let us take the hand of England in a friendly grasp. Let us work together until all nations arrive at that condition of affairs pictured by Tennyson;—"Where the war drum throbbed no longer, and the battle flags were furled, in the parliament of man, the Federation of the world."
After the oration a poem was read by F. H. Baker of Goshen Ind. Its subject was, The Beauties of Friendship. Lack of space prevents our giving it.
AFTERNOON EXERCISES.
In the afternoon at 2 o'clock, the exercises were continued on the campus. The first was the class history by W. B. Cady of Ann Arbor.
202 persons entered as the class of '82, only 67 of the original members will graduate, 40 will take the degree of B. A., 20 Ph. B., 18 B. S., 8 B. L.
29 were born in Michigan; 10 Ohio; 9 Illinois; 9 New York; 7 Indiana; 4 Iowa; 3 Wisconsin; 2 Massachusetts; 2 Ireland; and 1 each Vermont, New Hampshire, Texas and District of Columbia. We now reside as follows: 47 in Michigan; 9 in Ill.; 7 in Ind.; 5 Ohio; 2 each in Iowa, Colorado, New York and Wisconsin; 1 each in New Hampshire, Texas, and Mass.

35 are to be lawyers, 15 teachers, 7 doctors, 9 engineers, 3 merchants, 2 journalists, 2 farmers, 10 undecided, 1 preacher, 1 speculator, 1 U. S. senator, 1 loafer.
Our fathers' occupations were: 28 farmers, 16 lawyers, 8 ministers, 7 doctors, 14 merchants, 4 manufacturers, 2 miners, and 1 each teacher, engineer, carpenter, insurance, lumbering and ship owner.

The oldest in the class is 29 years, the youngest is 19. The heaviest man weighs 210 pounds, the lightest man 115 lbs. The lightest lady weighs only 95 lbs.
The tallest man is 6 feet 4 1/2 inches, the smallest person is a lady and reaches an altitude of 4 feet 11 inches.
We have expended $145,585. One man spent $6,000 in four years, another only $75.
Religiously we are as follows: 23 Neutrals, 13 Independents, 10 Presbyterians, 11 Methodists, 7 Baptists, 5 Episcopals, 5 Congregationalists, 3 Unitarians, 1 Lutheran, 1 Quaker, 1 Christian, 1 Heathan.

KALAMAZOO, MICH., Feb. 3, 1880. I know Hop Bitters will bear recommendation honestly. All who use them confer upon them the highest encomiums, and give them credit for making cures—all the proprietors claim for them. I have kept them since they were first offered to the public. They took high rank from the first, and maintained it, and are more called for than all others combined. So long as they keep up their high reputation for purity and usefulness, I shall continue to recommend them—something I have never before done with any other patent medicine. J. J. BABCOCK, M. D.
What the country needs most at present is the discovery of a hand that will beat a straight flush. We have comets enough.
My good woman, why are you so out of sorts, never able to tell folks that you are well? You do not do it all caused in the first place by habitual constipation, which no doubt finally caused deranged kidneys and liver. The sure cure for constipation is the celebrated Kidney Wort. It is also a specific remedy for all kidney and liver diseases. Thousands are cured by it every month. Try it at once.—Toledo Blade.
"The stolen white elephant" is the name of Mark Twain's latest story.
REPORT OF A CLERK OF CIRCUIT COURT.—Clerk's Office, Jackson Co., Ind. Mr. A. Kiefer. During the spring and summer my wife was a great sufferer from indigestion and Dyspepsia, caused by a torpid liver. Reading.

Ours is an age of books. Almost every family in civilized countries is able to have its newspapers, magazines and bound volumes. In earlier periods of the earth's history this was not so. Aristotle is said to have paid $3,000 for a few books, and Plato gave $1,000 for a few more. In that day books were rare and those that did exist were written upon parchment, bark, bronze, marble or slabs of slate. A single one of these, still preserved as a curiosity in the Vatican at Rome, contains fourteen leaves, three inches wide
