Comptroller Knox's Statement.
The new internal revenue tax law provides for the repeal of the tax upon the capital and deposits of all banks and bankers, except such taxes as are now due and payable. The tax on capital and deposits therefore ceased March 1, 1913. S. Comptroller Knox says the passage of this act relieves national and state banks and private bankers from a tax on an average of about $1,000,000 a month. The amount of tax collected from national banks on capital and deposits last fiscal year was $5,939,702, of which $437,774 only was upon capital, the remainder being on deposits. The tax upon state banks and private bankers was $5,219,172, of which a little more than one-fifth was upon capital. The total tax collected upon deposits and capital during the last fiscal year was $11,158,876.

annually collected from the two-cent check stamp is about $2,500,000. The act repealing the use of these stamps takes effect July 1. In order to have basis for the levy of taxes bankers would have to make semi-annual returns to the commissioner of internal revenue. From these returns for a number of years the comptroller of the currency has been enabled to make a complete showing of the financial condition of the banks. The repeal of the stamp is no necessity for such returns under the new law and the valuable details in regard to banks will no longer appear further than can be obtained from the reports of the banks compiled by the officers of the various state banks. In the states do not require such returns to be made, and the aggregate will of necessity be much less complete than heretofore.

Overworked Congressmen.

Washington Cor. N. Y. Tribune.

The pressure upon Congressmen of letter-writing and errand-running seems to be steadily increasing, and seems so certain to increase with the growth of population that some of them have been wondering whether the State could not be induced to establish agents here, whose duty it should be to answer inquiries from citizens at home, and other proper business that now falls upon the pestered Congressman. Meantime, some of them say that they cannot understand why so many people business men especially, who know the value of time and who also understand business methods, should constantly call upon their Congressmen to do the most trivial things for them. A Senator from one of the larger States, who has to keep two secretaries—paying them out of his own pocket—in order to hold his head above the water of his com-responsibility at all, was complaining to me the other day. "There," said I, "is a letter from a business firm, asking a simple question about a department matter, which they want me to forward. It takes a day to reach me, and another day before I can start it off to the department another day or perhaps two."

department, another day, or perhaps even before the answer can get back to me and then another day before I can start it off to the firm. A letter addressed to the department would probably have brought an answer in half the time. There is justice in this criticism, because the arrangements for furnishing information in the departments are information in the departments is such, as a rule, that answers are remarkably prompt—much more than in the British Government, for example. Some persons say who have had experience with the other.

England's New Field Gun.

A new and powerful field-gun, designed to supersede the sixteen-pounder as the weapon of the field artillery, has been proved at the butts in the government marshes adjoining the Royal Arsenal, Woolwich, this week, and success a satisfactory trial. The new gun weighs the same as the sixteen-pounder, namely, twelve hundred weight, but is a breech-loader, and, like all the modern guns, has an elongated chase or barrel. The construction is in all respects identical with the most recent de-

The several advances made in the art of gunnery since the sixteen-pounder was produced by the experimental committee in 1870 have enabled Col. Maitland, Superintendent of the royal factories, to bring out this new gun of the same weight to fire a projectile six pounds heavier, and it will consequently be known in the service as the twenty-two pounder. The sixteen-pounder fires only three pounds of powder behind the shot, but the twenty-two pounder can with safety take seven and a half pounds, and with this change has this week registered the remarkable velocity of 1,775 feet per second, which is 420 feet higher than the best performance of the gun which is to supersede. Such a velocity implies a very extensive range, and the gun will probably do effective work with the shrapnel.

ner shell at a distance of three miles. A number of the new guns are to be soon manufactured at Woolwich.

Position of the New Comet.

Prof. Brooks, of the Red House Observatory, Phelps, N. Y., discoverer of the new comet, says: "Although the comet was discovered by me with the nine-inch telescope, it may be well observed with moderate-sized instruments. Its rapid motion eastward, and away from the sun, causes it to appear fainter than at discovery, but its position for observation is improving. Its position on March 6 was right ascension, 0 hour 32 minutes; north declination, 32° . On March 9 it will be very close to the mouth of Pisces Borealis, or the Northern Fish, and about 3° southeast of Merach, or Beta Andromedæ. On the 13th inst. the comet will be in the constellation Triangulum, just north of Alpha, or that constellation. From these pos-tions, the direction and rate of motion may be readily ascertained, and, consequently, the comet's place beyond the dates here given. About 7:30 p. m. is a good hour to begin observations."

C. H. Stone, of Manchester, is the new landlord at the St. James. The bill of fare, the clever clerk, and the much ad-

At the Unitarian church, next Sunday, there will be in the morning a special Easter service, for old and young, with commemoration of members of the congregation who have died during the past year, and welcome of new members joining the church. In the evening, Mr.
Sunderland will speak upon "The Church; its Meaning and Value, as Understood by Unitarians."

Why is it that every person who has old boots, shoes, or articles to shed, feels that he is not doing his full duty to the city of his residence unless he throws these cast-offs in the street? We counted no less than forty old boots and rubbers, in the middle of the street, the other day, while in quest of obituary notices and a dog fight. There is nothing like ornamentation of this sort to impress strangers with the real beauty and grandeur of our beautiful little city.
There is a genuine aesthete in the sight of old rubbers, and we hope there will be another shower of them.

"One by one the roses fall." And thus we miss our law, literary and medical friends, as they depart for their future homes. Bro. Gray has "skipped out" for the wilds of Missouri, and left a vacuum that will never be filled; our stalwart Virginian is about to depart for his native hills, and our good looking chum, of the dental class, B. G. Miller, goes to Grand Rapids to extract molars; while our brilliant little Republican friend, Register, will "get away" with a first-class diploma and leaves for his Delaware home, and Bro. Lockwood will throw curve balls at a bat for the Albany base ball club, the coming season, and thus we are left alone to our feelings and a few delinquent subscribers.

temporary relief.
About two years ago she commenced sia, Indigestion, want of Appetite, loss of Strength lack of Energy, Malaria, Intermittent Fevers, &c.

BROWN'S IRON BIT-TERS never fails to cure all these diseases.

Boston, November 25, 1881.
Gentlemen:—For years I have been a great sufferer from Dyspepsia, and could get no relief (having tried everything which was recommended) until, acting on the advice of a friend, who had been benefited by Brown's Iron Bitters, I tried a bottle, with most surprising results.
Previous to taking Brown's Iron Bitters, everything I ate distressed me, and I suffered greatly from burning sensation in the stomach, which was unbearable. Since taking Brown's Iron Bitters, all my troubles are at an end. Can eat any time without any disagreeable results. I am practically another person.
Mrs. W. J. FLYNN,
Maverick, E. Boston.

BROWN'S IRON BIT-TERS acts like a charm on the digestive organs, removing all dyspeptic symptoms, such as tasting the food, Belching, Heat in the Stomach, Heartburn, etc. The only Iron Preparation that will not blacken the teeth or give headache.
