The Chicago, Saginaw & Canada railroad, which has been in litigation for the past six or seven years, was sold in Grand Rapids at auction a few days ago by Master in Chancery Hinsdill under a mortgage foreclosure. The oad was bid in by John R. Elwell, the purchase price being $400,000. It is understood the purchase is made in the interest of the Detroit, Lansing & Northern company, and that the road will be extended west to Howard City, connecting with the G. R. & I. road.

An annex to a Kansas "zephyr" struck Lan sing about half-past one Thursday, May 10. Although it did not last over two minutes, it made things decidedly lively. It traveled from southwest to northeast, and signs, feuces, roofs, smoke-stacks and all similar objects were scattered in every direction. The roof of an unfinished steeple of the M. E. Church was raised bodily, carried over 500 feet and landed in front of the opera house, causing two teams to run away. Large lights of plate glass in the hardware store of J. H. State, and in Barker & Parker's grocery were blown in and entirely demolished. Buggles were overturned, and a lady crossing Capitol Square was raised from her feet and carried ten feet. A large cartwas carried nearly a block, lift do over a fence and brought up against the side of a dwelling house, tearing a large hole in the siding. Tress were uprooted, and the damage will be considerable.

that he had obstructed a railroad track with timber, pleaded guilty to such a charge, and was sentenced by Judge Patchin to twenty-five years in prison. "Convict 405" says his misdeeds were purely hypothetical, that there was no proof of them nor could there be, his motive in confessing being a wish to get to prison where he could avail himself of books and in the seclusion of his cell study and become great. This singular epistle prompted Maj. Stevenson to reply in kind, politely suggesting that a course of eleven years in prison does not appear to have sufficiently improved him in scholarship and that he might profitably continue there some additional time time before graduation.

Amssa Stone's SUICIDE.

Amssa Stone, of Cleveland, O., committed suicide a few days ago. Mr. Stone was the founder of Adelbert College, and extensively interested in the railway and iron interests throughout the country, He has been in ill health for a long time and of late has met with heavy pecuniary losses, which have produced mental derangement, and led to this unhappy result. John B. French, who was Seargent-at-Arms f the United States Senate for ten years from 1869, has prepared a lecture upon the Senators and Senate during that eventful period. Mr. French was long connected with the press, and is a clear and forcible writer. Gentlemen who have read his lecture say it presents the Senate of those days in a most entertaining and in-structive light.

PUSHING PENSIONS.

The commissioner of pensions is disposing of pension cases at the rate of 300 to 400 per day. Attorneys and claimants will shortly be notified that if the evidence called for in suspensions is not furnished within a reasonable time the cases thus neglected will be rejected. There are thousands of claims for pensions "hung up" for want of proper evidence, which earnot be passed upon finally, merely because they are not complete in form. When the pension office works up the complete cases it will turn in and reject such as have apparently been abandoned. Such claimants as wish to revive their rejected claims will have to begin de novo. A POINT IN SCHELLER'S FAVOR. Billiard balls belonging to George Scheller, ho was tried for setting fire to the Newhall who was tried for setting are to the Newhait House and acquitted, have been found in the ruins of the hotel, which are being carried away preparatory to building a new hotel. They are eight or nine in number, some being well preserved, but several are burned to the size of a walnut. They were of ivory, and when not found immediately after the fire the question was raised as to whether or not Scheluestion was raised as to whether or not Scheler had taken them from the saloon in prepara-ion of the fire. The finding them in the ruins dds to the already strong public opinion that Scheller is innocent.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office has received complaints from the Postoffice Department that cattle herders in Nebraska have recently inclosed with a fence, for grazing purposes, a large tract of public land, and thereby cut off an important mail route. The case is being investigated, and it is thought at the Interior Department that measures are about to be taken which will result in the breaking up of this unlawful practice of fencing public ands, a practice which has lately grown to be assisted. NO TASTE FOR ART. Mr. Metcalf, who offered to build a $50,000 art museum for the benefit of Milwaukee, has withdrawn his pledge, owing to lack of interest on the part of the people and because of uncharitable remarks. His plain and honest purpose was to construct a valuable building provided other of the citizens contributed a lot for the building. Interest was entirely lacking on the part of the public and a monument to the city's culture is lost for the present.

SITTING BULL AGAIN. Sitting Bull, with 147 followers, has reached Dakota. He says he wants to live peacefully with all men, and to engage in agriculture.

Large quantities of whisky have reached Newport News, Virginia's new port, en route to the Bermudas. This point seems to be the most favored of the many places to which exportation has been attempted. Pretty soon, however, the ware-house there will be filled, at the rate it is going now. Where it will go next is difficult to tell, perhaps to Canada, for under the new regulations of the Bureau it can now be transferred into 100 gallon packages and sent there. ON THE WAR PATH. An enormously large crowd witnessed the cpening ceremonies, which were carried out in full, according to a previously arranged programme. After introductory remarks by the Duke of Richmond the Prince of Wales was formally bade welcome. In his reply the Prince expressed his great pleasure at being able to assist at this ceremony, and regretted has an unfortunate accident unavoidably prevented the Queen being present. He hoped the exhibition would be the means of bringing to the notice of the people the latest and most exhibition would be the means of bringing to the notice of the people the latest and most effectual methods of securing the bounty of the streams, lakes and oceans, and would thereby be a practical benefit to them. He dwelt at some length on the importance of the life-sav-ing section of the display, and commended the attention of the people. In conclusion he con-veyed the thanks of the Queen to all countries and colonies taking part in the display, and to and colonies taking part in the display, and to their representatives for their untiring efforts in bringing the exhibition to a successful issue. THE HANGMAN'S ROPE. Joe Brady, the first "invincible" convicted of participation in the Phoenix Park murders, was hang on the 14th iust. in Dublin. An immense throng assembled outside the jail, but only officials witnessed the execution. Masses were said in all the Catholic churches in Ireland on that day, for the repose of the soul of the doomed man. Contrary to the expectation of many, Brady made no statement on the scaffold.

The tradesmen of Dublin are greatly excited over a circular which has been sent them. The title of the document is "An analysis of the special jurors on eighteen trials under the crimes act." With the circular was a slip of paper with these words: "Woe to you if you have any of the goods of these jurors, for you and likewise they, will have the blood and suffering of innocent people on your heads. By Hook or Crook." FRIGHTENED TRADESMEN.

MACLEAN'S DEFEAT.

The proprietor of the Register does not made up letter in the Free Press, to let o'clock, on the 30th inst. his readers know how glad he is that he failed in his attempts to elect Dr. Maclean its president. It seems to have been those whose plans were defeated were better pleased than if they had succeeded.

A few plain statements of facts which, we believe, cannot be denied, will enable the reader to understand the situation,including "those tears"-and why the Register thinks the grapes sour.

The society is composed of reputable practitioners of the State, graduates of more in this country, Canada, and Europe. Its members, therefore, naturally oppose any attempt to manage it for or against the interest of any college or individual.

The best men in the society, including many personal friends of Dr. Maclean. believed it in bad taste for any man's private or public quarrels or law suits to be brought before it. They did not know anything of the facts in Dr. Maclean's libel suit, which they considered still pending in the courts, and they did not want to vote on his candidacy because it involved his case.

They would have equally opposed any proposition to commit the society against him or his case. They wanted nothing to do with it one way or another, and were incensed at the methods resorted to, to get a professional verdict,

It is a fact, somehow not stated in the Register, that its proprietor was formerly self out some years ago, in a fit of anger at not being able to bulldoze it then, leaving on record a denunciatory letter, since which time of course he has contributed nothing but opposition to its maintainance. Now that it has prospered and has Welch Post, No. 137 of Michigan, influence he had the assurance to go into its sessions and constituting him elf its only lobby member, attempt to influence its work and to negative the opinions and wishes of its members, and for personal ends use its machinery which had been kept in operation by their efforts and money, despite his withdrawal and oppo-

He had been the candidate of Dr. Maclean's friends for two or three years, when they could not elect him. This year when they could elect him, he was asked and repeatedly urged to withn draw favor of Dr. Maclean.

It was very generally understood that the faculty and their friends, who now reoice that "it is just as they wanted it," did their best to have it result in some other way, and would have succeeded in disappointing themselves dreadfully but for the sagacity and determined effort of their "enemies" (?), who knew so much better what the faculty men wanted than they themselves did!

The pretense that "enemies" of the University or friends of a particular colquestion, to bond this city, we earnestly lege were favored in the selection of officers, is shown in the fact, that of three delegates to the American Medical Association from Ann Arbor, two of them were taken from the medical faculty. While the president with whom they seem so well pleased, and who was also an examiner for the University, owes his election not to their help, but to the fact that they discovered that they could not defeat

And now if our friends of the faculty would learn one other lesson and not forget it, they would save themselves a deal of unnecessary anxiety, and foolish exhibition of patent right monopoly of friendship for the University; if they would cease the assumption so frequently and variously implied that they are the University-that it can have no friends but their friends-that any one who criticizes their management "attacks the Uni-

The peaceful nursery has disgraced
With hours of unheroic bawling.

The mighty monarch, whose renown Fills up the stately page historic, Has howled to waken half the town, And finished off by gulping down His castor oil or paregoric.

The justice, who, in gown and cap, Condemns a wretch to strangulation, Has scratched his nurse and spilled his pap, And sprawled across his mother's lap

Ah, life has many a reef to shun Before in port we drop our anchor, But when its course is nobly run Look aft! for there the work was done, Life owes its headway to the spanker.

Yon seat of justice well might awe The fairest manhood's half-blown summ There Parsons scourged the laggard law. There reigned and ruled majestic Shaw— What ghosts to hail the last newcomer!

One cause of fear I faintly name— The dread lest duty's dereliction Shall give so rarely cause for blame Our guileless voters shall exclaim, Our guileless voters shall exclaim, "No need for human jurisdiction!" What keeps the doctor's trade alive?

Bad air, bad water; more's the pity!
But lawyers walk where doctors drive,
And starve in streets where surgeons thrive,
Our Boston is so pure a city. What call for judge or court, indeed, When righteousness prevails so through it.
Our virtuous ear conductors need.
Only a card whereon they read:
"Do right; it's naughty not to do it!"

The whirligig of time goes round,
And changes all things but affection;
One blessed comfort may be found
In heaven's broad statute which has bound Each household to its head's protection.

Story of a Composer. A father and son, while traveling, stopped one night at a monastery - where hospitality is always extended. The father took the boy into the chapel the the organ. It was first large organ the little fellow had ever seen. His face lit up with satisfaction, and every motion and attitude It still measures time, while steam and of the little figure expressed wonder.

"Father," said the boy, "explain to me those pedals at the organ's foot, and let me play?" Well pleased, the father complied. Then the little boy pushed aside the stool, and when his father had filled the bellows, the little organist stood upon the pedals, and trod them as though he had never needed to have their management explained. How the deep tones woke the somber stillness of the old church! The organ seemed some great uncouth creature, roaring for very joy at the caresses of the marvellous

The monks, eating their supper in the refectory, heard it and dropped knife and fork in astonishment. The organist of the brotherhood was among them, but never had he played with so much power and freedom. They listened; some grew pale; others blessed themselves; till the prior rose up, and hastened into the chapel The others followed, and when they looked up into the organ loft, lo! there was no form of any organist to be seen, though the deep tones still massed themselves in new harmonies, and made the stone arches thrill with their power. "It is a spirit!" cried the last one of the monks,drawing closer to one of his companians, and giving a frightened look over his shoulder to the darkness of the aisle.

"It is a miracle!" said another. But

Clocks and Their Inventors.

Harper's Young People. In the Kensington Museum at London is shown an ancient clock that was made in 1325 by a monk for Glaston-bury Abbey. It is going still. For more than live centuries it has been keeping time It told the hours long pefore Columbus came to America, and when a few painted savages wandered over the sites of New York and Brooklyn. It was going when Henry Hud-son first sailed into New York harbor. electricity are moving all around it.

But when it was first made the venerable clock was as much an object of wonder as a steam-engine or an electrical machine. Only kings and monesteries could purchase a clock. There were only a few in all Europe. It was thought at first that these wondertul machines whre the inventions of sorcerers and magicians.

There are two kinds of clocks-spring clocks, in which the wheels are moved by power from the uncoiling of a coiled spring, and pendulum clocks, which are moved by the gradual falling of a weight, the falling being regulated by the swinging of a pendulum. When a pendulum is set swinging it makes each swing backward and forward in just the same tine until it stops, no matter whether it is over a long or short space. Its swing is over a longer space at first than towards the last, when it is about to stop, but it goes faster, so that the ime of the swing is always equal. This is called the "isochronism" (equal time, from Greek, isos, equal, and chronos.

time) of the pendulum. But the real inventors of clocks were probably the Arabs. These children of the desert soon became as fond of invention as the people of Connecticut or New York. Bagdad and Cordova, their fine cities, were famous for their wonderful machines. Our ignorant ancestors thought the Arabs gained their rare learning from a compact with satan. The clock was one of those inventions, and it appeared in Europe about the twelfth century. At first it was used only in monasteries to direct the monks in their prayers. But very soon clocks were set up on some high "It is a miracle!" said another. But tower or steeple in the European cities, when the oldest of them mounted the In New York we have the City Hall

But in the cities of early Europe there was no way of telling the hour except by the sun and the When the first clocks were set up they were thought to be the most wonderful of inventions. The first public clock was raised on a tower at Padua in Italy. A famous striking clock was placed on a tower at Bologna in 1356, nothing, saw nothing, besides; his eyes beamed like stars, and his whole to France and Germany, and in 1364 Paris for the first time possessed a pub lic clock. It was set up on a tower of the King's palace, and was built by German workmen. No one in France it is said, could make a clock. Town clocks and church clocks are est melody lingered in the air, like much the same way, but the wheels are very large and strong, and the weights and pendulums very heavy. It is very hard work to wind up a church clock, The boy was John Wolfgang and it needs a strong man to do it. In winding up the clock in the tower of Trinity Church, New York, the crank or handle has to be turned round 850 times. Many wonderful clocks have been made, in some of which the machinery moved can keep him in the office so late at of Versailles, and from that hour he night? Hark! About the year 1500, clocks, which in many cities, are found in private houses, but still only the very wealthy could purchase one. Who has a more wise and faithful little dog than this one, told about in a western newspaper? A woman left her baby, eighteen months old, on the floor of the front room playing with its toys and a little terrier dog that is its con-stant companion. The mother was away just three minutes, but when she came back and opened the door her infant's head, arms and shoulders were hanging beyond the stone sill of an open window, and near it, with its feet on a chair, stood the little dog, holding on to the child's dress with all his might. The child, unconscious of any danger, was crowing at some object in the yard, while the dog, holding on the dress, looked a mute appeal for haste and help. In an instant she was by her baby's side, and the danger was passed. burden he pranced around the mother and child with a delight that was almost frantic. Do you think the mother would sell that dog?

A cat out in Nevada has found out what almost every boy and girl knows by experience—that bees sting, and that the sting hurts. The cat was playing around a hive. her eyes changed, just as the moon changes, which is sometimes full, and sometimes only a little bright crescent or half moon, as we say. Did you ever notice your pussy's eyes to see how they change? So these people made an idol with the cat's head, and named it Pasht, the same name they gave to the moon; for the word means the face of the moon. That word has been changed to pas or pus, and has come at last to be puss, the name which almost every one gives to the cat. Puss and pussy cat are pet names for kitty everywhere. Who ever thought of it as given to her thousands of years ago, and that then people bowed down and prayed to her?
