The fish in New Boston Lake a beautiful sheet of water lying in Plainfield township, 14 miles from Grand Rapids, are dying from some cause unknown. There are all sorts of theories advanced in attempting to explain this strange condition of things. Some think that a large quantity of poison has been thrown in to the water; others that death is from fish cholera, while still others talk about a poisonous spring breaking out at the bottom of the lake. The water was formerly clear as a crystal, so that the eye could see into its depths for many feet. Now it is thick and murky as though some dreadful cruption had taken place at its bottom, disturbing the entire body.

body was found about five o'clock in the morning. Mr. Redfield had taken with him when he started out for his walk, a small satchel, which contained towels, soap and a black suit of clothes. Among the letters which he had left to be delivered was one requesting that he be laid out where he was found and buried at once, and $38 was inclosed to the undertaker for funeral expenses, he having had some conversation with the undertaker about two years ago with reference to the amount of movey it would deal with no middleman, but must negotiate alone with the principal. He would have nothing to do with it except with the principal himself. It is stated that Dorsey was fully informed of the determination on the part of this juror, and, though much against his will, submitted to an interview. The man who arranged that interview is the man who has collected this evidence. Big money was demanded and paid, and the control-ling stock in the star route jury thus secured. the grounds of non-support and authrety. Detectives are in search of both of these men.

There is another crime, however, greater than the foregoing in which strong circumstantial evidence would seem to implicate Fausler, if not his late partner. On the 11th of June, 1850, Cassie B. Schamn was married to a man who gave his name as Charles D. Raymond. She belongs to a respected family in Fenusylvania, and had known her lover for more than a year. Having implicit confidence in him, she indiscreetly yielded to a secret marriage, and the ceremony was performed on the above date at Irwin's Station, Penn., in the presence of one witness, James Jacobi. The secret of the marriage was closely kept, Raymond visiting his wife at regular intervals, until in January of this year the wife's condition was such that flight or confession was an immediate necessity. They chose the former alternative, and came to Cincinnati, registering at Hunt's hotel as "Charles D. Raymond and wife, Wheeling, W. Va." Shortly after their arrival he sought and

When the agonized mother learned this she became almost distracted. She had learned that the ceremony which she had gone through at Irwin's station was a mock marriage, as none of the parties whose names she heard while there had ever been known in that vicinity. Ever since she has been looking for the man Raymond that she might have reparation. A specimen of his handwriting was obtained from Mrs. McHurom. Not long ago a letter came to the Cincinnati postoffice directed to Paul Raymond, in care of N. O. Fausler. Shortly afterward a letter came to the postmaster asking that this letter be forwarded to Toledo. Then, too, a letter came signed by N. O. Fausler himself, asking that his mail be forwarded to Cleveland. These two requests and the letter obtained from the ASPHYXICATED. A colored man descended into a well in Greenwood, S C., for the purpose of cleaning it out. The well had been covered for about two years, and shortly after the Negro went down the presence of a noxious gas was discovered by those on the surface, but too late to save the man's life. Another Negro went down to rescue the first, but he also was immediately overcome by the poisonous gas. A third colored man now descended and succeeded in tying the second one to the rope, but before he could secure the first one he likewise began to grow faint, and giving the signal the two men were quickly drawn up, but in an handwriting. Then, too, it has been learned that Fausler was in Toledo at the time the letter signed Paul Raymond was mailed at the postoffice there.

These two circumstances seem to link the two cases together, and Miss Schamn's relatives were at once applied, and every effort was made to resuscitate the unfortunate men, but without avail, and both died in about an hour. A REVENGEFUL MISTRESS.

The Philadelphia police arrested, on the morning of September 3, a handsome and accomplished woman, giving her name as Emma Beckert, on the charge of murder. She shot and instantly killed one William Mener, as he was on his way to work, about 7 o'clock. Some days ago, she hired a room in a house which her victim always passed on his way to work, so that it is evident that the deed had been determined on, and planned for some days. As Menor passed the houseshe fired twice in rapid succession through the window, and at the second shot the man fell dead upon the pavement; then the woman fired two more shots at the prostrate body. It is believed by the police that she was the abandoned wife or discarded mistress of the deceased. The case is involved in mystery.

He said he had tried to make a man of himself, had failed and was no good, and wanted to die. He was taken to jail and within fifteen minutes had climbed to the top of the corridor and threw himself himself to the stone flagging below, fracturing his skull, dying in a few minutes. He had been despondent for some time and the last morning of his life bade his family good-by, saying they would probably see him no more.

A short time before the tragedy Donohue went to a trunk and took therefrom a revolver. His mother urged him to put the weapon back, but he threatened to shoot her if she interfered. Then he sat on a lounge in the sitting room, revolver in hand. Presently his stepfather, a large man, came into the house. He saw Donohue, and walking toward him said, "James, give me that pistol." Donohue immediately rose to his feet, fired a ball through O'Connell's heart, then lay down on the lounge seemingly unrepentant and unconcerned. O'Connell walked a few steps and fell dead. Ex-Senator Sharon was arrested at San Francisco the other day, on a charge of adultery, as he was taking the train for the east. The charge was preferred by Miss Aggie Hill, well known in society circles. The lady claims a contract of marriage was drawn up and agreed to between them; that in addition she loaned him $90,000, $78,600 of which he had repaid her She placed the matter in the hands of a man named W. M. Neilson, of unenviable reputation, with instructions to claim the balance of $12,000 said to be due her, and at the same time swore out a writ charging Sharon of $12,000 said to be due her, and at the same time swore out a writ charging Sharon with adultery. It is stated that Sharon drew his check for the amount and gave a bond for $5,000 to answer the charge. Miss Hill bases her claims of marriage on the fact of an agreement of marriage, as she states, having been entered into between herself and Sharon, holding that in point of law it is equivalent to marriage having been consummated. The affair is openly pronounced a miserable case of blacknail kept back until the last moment when Sharon was leaving for the east.

> "A Blessing in Disguise." 484 ADELPHI ST., BROOKLYN, N. Y., March 20th, 1881.

No family should be without All-cort's Porus Plasters; their healing powers are wonderful, and their efficacy far reaching and lasting. For years past I have seen and known them to cure and relieve the most obstinate and distressing ases of rheumatism, kidney complaint, bronchitis, neuralgia, lumbago, inflam-mation of the lungs and throat, paralysis, asthma, spinal weakness, and coughs and colds. In my own case they have afforded me almost instant and permanent relief. My friends consider them an invaluable and speedy remedy for all kinds of aches and pains. They are a blessing in disguise; and no wife or mother should be without them if she values her peace and comfort and freedom from nervous exhaustion and other ailments. As a strengthening plaster, also for backaches and weaknesses, they have no equal. I have never yet found a plaster so efficacious and stimulating, or to give so much general satisfaction. Used in connection with Brandreth's universal life-giving and life-healing Pills, no one need despair of a speedy restoration to good sound health.

ONE TRIAL. If you have been using other Plasters one trial of Allcock's Porus will convince you of their wonderful superiority. Take no other so-called porous plasters that claim to be better, they are all frauds, gotten up to sell on the world-wide reputation of the genuine article.

sion and has a world of meaning. How much suffering is summed up in it.

The singular thing about it is, that pain in the back is occasioned by so many things. May be caused by kidney disease, liver complaint, consumption, cold, rheumatism, dyspepsia, overwork, nervous debility, &c.

Whatever the cause, don't neglect it. Something is wrong and needs prompt attention. No medicine has yet been discovered that will so quickly and surely cure such diseases as BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, and it does this by commencing at the foundation, and making the blood pure and rich.

Wm. P. Marshall, of Logansport, Indiana, writes: " My wife has for many years been troubled from pain in her back and general debility incident to her sex. She has taken one bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters, and I can truthfully say that she has been so much benefited that she pronounces it the only remedy of many medicines she has tried."

Leading physicians and clergymen use and recommend Brown's Iron Bit-TERS. It has cured others suffering as you are, and it will cure you.

Are none to return to the port at last?

Shall I vainly wait at the seaward gate,
Beaten and bruised, and scarred by fate,

Chilled by the winter blast?

The ships that carry my grief, alas!
Have hulls of iron and shrouds of brass!
The storm's impact leaves them intact,
Though hurled on the ragged rocks of Fact
Where fearful breakers mass!

WITHIN AN INCH OF MY LIFE.

Chambers' Journal.

During the earlier years of my medico-military career I was selected as the Assistant Surgeon of the Army Lunatic Asylum, then established in one of the eastern counties of England. At the time of the appointment I was given to understand that it was one which paid a high compliment to my professional abilities, and was bestowed as a reward for good services done; but as I did not see it quite in the same light I went and interviewed the chief, who had thought so much more of me than I did of him.

'Sir," said I, "some men are born to honors, others have honors thrust upon them; the latter is my case. I don't understand one bit about the treatment, moral or medical, of the insane. The Youth of Our Land.

There really ought to be some law against the sale of dime novels to young boys. Instances occur almost daily where the minds of young boys have become so listorted by reading trash that they are ready to slaughter their fellow beings in large quantities. A boy who reads about some avenger of the prairie who chops and years' residence here I have never seen splits his cord and a half of Indians regular every day, or some pirate whose scup-pers run off enough blood every minute to make a hundred dollars worth of blood sausage, gets into an abnormal condition of mind and is wholly unfit for the solid

All around were the sinister looking weapons of death, and the treasures and spoils of war, and among them were twelve bottles of lemon beer. This in itself ought to teach boy-that there is no such thing as realizing what novels tell about. There never was a novel yet that told about the duke pac-ing back and forth with a clouded brow, in the elegant drawing room of his castle, and then going to the sideboard and draining a flagon of lemon beer. Not any. The duke always drains a flagon of fine old Rhenish wine, seven hundred years old, before he sets out to mutilate a couple of townships of people. A boy ought to see by this that if he is going to try and fol-low the duke's example he will have to use old Rhenish wine instead of lemon beer. And where would be the fun in slaughtering those two townships of people with skin full of lemon beer or pop? It would be insipid. And not only that, but ridicu

For Young Ladies Only.

ck's Sun.

Notwithstanding the fact that young men are being continually lectured they are not the only cause of all earthly mis ry. To be sure they sometimes give he moral peace of the family a regular holera morbus twist, but the young adies very often give the moral peace shaking up. Parents are, to a certain extent, as much to blame for this state of affairs, as are their children. They lo not teach them, especially the girls, o cultivate a spirit of self-reliance and edependence. They don't teach them what it means to be thrown on their own resources, and what it is to earn an nonest living. If there is anything in this world that is to be pitied, its a louseplant of a woman. She is no earthgood. Her listless, affected airs nakes her anything but ornamental. and beyond that she is of no earthly She might be taught to play a olden harp in the sweet future, but never having cultivated her talents in any direction here, it is questionable about there being a place for her in the angelic choir. To great a number of our young women are brought up to be lieve that they are to be taken care of all their lives. Not three in eight of the young woman in this country are taught o make a good wholesome batch of bread, to keep the house tidy, they leave that to "Bridget"; to cut, fit and make a dress, but nearly all of them can sing a little, play the piano a little, and those who can't paint pictures can their cheeks, so this includes painting. But the hap-piest moments of their lives are when they are eating sweet meats purchased with some foolish young man's money. Too many aspire to nothing greater han spending money and looking sweet. The latter part of their ambition requires hours of patient study and a free use of paint and powper to accomplish, and hen many fail, but don't know it. There may be some gratification in this that ome young man is getting terribly There are, however, hundreds of sen sible young women in the country Women who have common sense moth ers, mothers who know and appreciate the duties of woman. Who teach their daughters self-reliance and indepenlence, thus giving to them that which is far more valuable than gold and putting them in positions to meet any emergency. I should have written you before in egard to the Rheumatic Syrup which you sent me, but have been waiting to see if the result was pormanent. I can confidently say that it has had a very gratifying effect on my wife, relieving her of all pain within three days after she commenced taking it. I also gave away one bottle of the Syrup to a friend, which had the same effect as on my wife. My wife has suffered great pain from rheumatism and kidney difficulty for years, and at times could hardly move. She had tried a great many medicines recommended to no purpose. It is the only remedy that gave her per-
